WASHINGTON BUDGET.

Senate Meets on Sunday to Pass Necessary Appropriation Bills.

Preparations For Inauguration Are All Completed.

Hotels and Streets Crowded and Visitors Constantly Arriving.

Washington, March. 1.—An open session of the United States senate on a Sunday afternoon is such a remarkable and unusual occurrence that crowds were attracted to the north wing of the Capitol an hour before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. All classes and conditions of people were in the crowd.

By a parliamentary fiction the session was a part of the legislative day beginning Saturday, a recess having been taken at 2:30 a. m. until 3 p. m. The sundry civil appropriation bill was under consideration, a number of items in payment of sugar bounties, for rivers and harbors, etc., remaining to be passed upon. A vote on the sugar bounty amendment was taken as soon as the session opened, and it was agreed to, 37-12. The amendment appropriating $1,085,156 for the balance of bounties earned from August, 1894, to June, 1895.

The river and harbor items were next considered, most of the committee amendments being agreed to as reported Mr. Allison, in charge of the bill, explained the reasonableness of the provisions as a whole. No estimates had been submitted in the usual way for any of these items, but they were based on the reports of the chief of engineers, as to amounts which could be profitably used. These amounts had been reduced 25 per cent before being reported in the bill. In the course of the discussion Senator Gorman (Md.) made an earnest speech pointing out the enormous total of the bill and urging that it be not loaded down with new river and harbor items.

The bill carried the unprecedented total of $51,000,000, of which $17,000,000 was for river and harbor contracts. It was more, he said, than the condition of the treasury warranted. In particular Mr. Gorman resisted a new item of $100,000 to prevent the Mississippi river from breaking through into the Cache river, north of Cairo, Ills. It lead to a prolonged contest, Mr. Cullom supporting the amendment as one of urgent necessity. Mr. Blanchard (La.) spoke on the general subject of Mississippi river improvements. The amendment was finally modified and agreed to.

Another protracted contest occurred over the committee proposition to do away with river and harbor appropriations in the sundry civil bill, and directing a separate bill on these items. Mr. Vest (Mo.) said this would result in a river and harbor bill every year instead of every two years as at present. The amendment finally went out on a point of order. The other river and harbor items were agreed to.

Mr. Hill (N. Y.) took occasion to chaff senators on working on Sunday, in connection with a debate on electric light conduits in Washington. He said he seriously doubted the propriety of meeting on the Sabbath to enact legislation. He had received many petitions, urging a law for a "rest day" in the District of Columbia. Moreover, the senator (McMillin) who urged this conduit amendment had himself offered a bill "to protect the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, as a day of rest and worship."

The amendment appropriating 327,000 for the purchase of the Corcoran art gallery building for the court of claims was agreed to.

When the amendment was reached providing for a commission to visit the seal fisheries, Mr. Pettigrew said he believed we should not send a commission to Alaska to visit the scenes of destruction of our seals by Canadian poachers. He advocated the destruction of all the seals. In this connection he ridiculed the treaty relative to the Alaskan boundary, recently sent to the senate.

"If this administration lasted much longer" he asserted, "it would be sending in a treaty between Great Britain and the United States for the arbitration of the multiplication table."

Mr. Morgan (Ala.), a member of the Paris court of arbitration, discussed the "awkward predicament of the United States" on the seal question. Referring to the Paris tribunal, he said that as usual, when the court was made up of European arbitrators, the decision was against us; it always would be so under like circumstances. There was more real danger of trouble over this seal question since the arbitration than there ever was from all the conflicts before arbitration was adopted. The present trouble, he said, was due to the deliberate refusal of Great Britain to carry out, in good faith, the spirit of the Paris award.

"I do hope," said Mr. Morgan, "that the incoming administration will have the fortitude to insist that Great Britain will comply with the Paris award."

The committee amendment, continuing the joint scientific inqury in Bering sea, was agreed to.

The remainder of the session was devoted to the sundry civil bill, which was finally passed. The bill carries an appropriation of $48,000,000. Among the items are $100,000 for a public building at Bridgeport, Conn.

ALREADY FOR THE SHOW.

Inauguration Committee Has Arranged All Details of Ceremonies.

Washington, March 1.—Inaugural program is going on apace. The crowds have begun to show themselves noticeably on the streets; the depot platforms and hotel lobbies are becoming more and more congested with each incoming train. Decorations begin to flaunt along the avenue, that is, of course, Pennsylvania avenue, which no Washingtonian ever thinks of calling by its full name.

The grand arena of the inaugural display will be the short section of the avenue between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets, flanked on the south by the White House and on the north by Lafayette square. Here both sides of the street are a solid front of covered stands. This year the stands are of uniform design and decoration, save that from which the president will review the parade. This, with its white front, Corinthian columns and severely classical outlines, is not unlike a miniature of the White House in its rear. The other stands, those for the multitude, are covered in imitation of stone work, roofed over, against the possibility of bad weather, which is not a remote contingency in this gala month of March. With their wreaths, garlands and bristling flagstaffs, which will soon flutter with countless bannettes, they easily suggest the embattled lists of Ashbey or the Florentine plazza, where the pageants of the Agona wound their way at carnival time.

But the decorations, as they finally will appear, are so far but a suggestion. Now there are sunbursts of bunting over the fronts of the larger stores and hotels and flags floating from every building that owns a flagpole. These are but symptoms. There will be more to follow. After nightfall, too, there are already to be seen garlands and clusters of incandescent lights, but these, too, are only an earnest of somewhat better things to come.

So far as the launching of the new administration can be provided for in advance, there seems nothing left undone to assure success.

The inaugural committee has practically wound up its work, but the headquarters in the Glover building are still open for the reception of more or less distinguished visitors. Among those already here are General Horace Porter, General O. O. Howard, National Chairman Mark Hanna and the president-elect's secretary, J. Addison Porter. All of these gentlemen, who have an official interest in the work of the committee, expressed themselves as well satisfied with the arrangements.

Practically all of the southwest corner of the Ebbitt House on the third floor has been reserved for the McKinley party. The suite of three rooms that has been set apart for the president-elect has been arranged with excellent taste.

Blue and gray are the prevailing tones. All of the desks and tables are of polished cherry and birdseye maple, while the piano, which stands in one corner, is of white enamel, with a fluffy white angora rug spread over the blue carpet in front of it. Tropical plants in jardiniers, but not too many of them, are grouped in the corners of the apartments, and connected with the suite is a marble-lined bath. The whole is not too large to be home-like and may be aptly described as cozy. The location is such as to have the best of the sunlight all day, and Major McKinley could hardly be more comfortably lodged before getting finally settled in his new home.

The side halls leading to this part of the house have all been boarded up, and the entrance to the main corridor will be constantly guarded by a factotum, who will insure the party from intrusion by those who have no real business in that part of the house. Further, and this is not generally known, there has been a special dining hall set apart for the McKinley party. It is a small banquet hall in the rear of the main dining hall. It is capable of accommodating about 75 people, and is the only thing needed to insure the complete privacy of the Canton visitors. The general police arrangements in Washington have also been perfected. Four hundred special officers have been sworn in for inauguration week, and Chief of Police Moore has been in correspondence, as is usual at such seasons, with the chiefs of police in all the large towns of the country. Details of detectives from the big cities will be sent to Washington to keep watch on whatever members of their own criminal population drift this way, while both the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania railroads have massed a number of their own detectives, under their respective chiefs, along the road, 20 miles outside the city, in each direction, in hope of corralling any crooks of prominence before they reach the city.

Mrs. Beecher Still Alive.

Stamford, Conn., March 1.—Notwithstanding that both the attending physicians and the nurses believed that Mrs. Beecher's vitality would have been exhausted days ago, she still retains a tenacious hold on life, and the attendants are now loath to say anything definite about her condition. It was stated, however, that she is weaker than at any time since she was confined to her room, and is conscious only at rare intervals.

SITUATION IN CRETE.

Insurgent Christians Will Not Accept Powers' Scheme.

Hostilities Break Out Again on Island.

Turkey Also Objects to Plan Giving Crete Autonomy.

Athens, March, 1.—A number of Cretan deputies, headed by the bishop of Retimo, have presented King George with a memorial. This states in effect that autonomy, instead of pacifying the island, will only pave the way for another revolution later on, and still further endanger the peace of Europe, and that therefore the Cretans are resolved to continue the struggle until political union with Greece, their long cherished hope, is realized.

It is reported that 300 more volunteers have evaded the blockade established by the powers, and landed on the southeast coast of Crete.

Colonel Coracas, with 15,000 insurgents and three guns, threatens to attack Hierapetra, where the garrison is ill-supplied with arms and ammunition and the forts are weak. It is feared that this may seriously complicate the situation.

A famine is imminent in Candia, and it is apprehended that the troops there may pillage the district. Fighting is in progress at Malata. The Bashi Bazouks lost three killed and five wounded; the regulars lost eight killed and five wounded.

The insurgents bitterly denounce British Consul Biliotti as the chief instrument in thwarting for many years the attempt to liberate Crete. The Mohammedans looted the British vice consul's house at Halepa Friday night; yet only on the previous day he had vehemently denied an act of incendiarism or looting on the part of the Moslems.

Canea, Crete, March, 1.—Fighting between the besieged garrison and the Cretans continues. The villages of Trikalarin and Nerokouro have been, it is reported, burned by Bashi Bazouks. Fighting continues also outside Candia. The Christians have repulsed the Turks. The new military governor, Tewfik Pasha, has arrived.

London, March, 1.—It is stated here that there is good authority for believing that the result of the conference between the representatives of the great powers at Constantinople and Athens will be the presentation of collective notes to Turkey and Greece. Greece will be allowed four days to recall her land and sea forces from Crete.

It is reported from Canea that several insurgent leaders have sent to Vice Admiral Canevaro of the Italian fleet a signed declaration that the Cretans will accept no solution of the pending question but political union with Greece.

Fighting continues between the insurgents and Mussulmans, near Retimo and elsewhere. The Christians besieged the Turkish garrison in the blockhouse at Malata for several days. Yesterday a body of Turkish regulars and irregulars left Canea with a convoy to revictual the blockhouse. The insurgents attacked the column and killed several of the escort, whereupon, the Turkish battleship Fuad opened fire upon the insurgents with shells, and continued firing until stopped by order of the foreign admirals. The convoy was finally compelled to retire.

The Athens correspondent of The Chronicle states that at a conference of the representatives of the powers Sunday evening it was decided to withdraw the collective note inviting Greece to retire her fleet and troops from Crete. He learns on good authority that no date was fixed for the recall, the instructions of the representatives of the powers on this point being at variance. A collective note will be presented Tuesday.

The Constantinople correspondent of The Standard says the sultan has sent a special envoy to invite the co-operation of the Albanians in the event of an invasion of Greece.

The Athens correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

According to a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Bucharest, the Roumanian government has decided to call out all reserves from the year 1853.

The Rome correspondent of The Daily News says the dispatch boat Caprera, with five torpedo boats, left Messina Saturday for Crete. The war minister has ordered a number of gendarmes to be in readiness to start for Crete tonight.

Roma says that 5000 men, now under orders for Africa, are to be made ready to go to Crete under a lieutenant general. The Chronicle believes that, in spite of official denials, Lord Salisbury did propose to France the joint passage of the Dardanelles by European fleets, with a view to deposing the sultan.

The Athens correspondent of The Daily Chronicle declares that no communication has been received from Russia. It is quite certain the Greek army will not be withdrawn. Macedonian forces will be raised within a few weeks, with a view to possible contingencies, and, if the Turks attempt to invade Thessaly, the Bulgarian government is determined to advance its troops instantly to the Agean sea. It is rumored that the secret national committee has decided to commence operations in Macedonia today.

Special dispatches state that the Turks succeded in revictualing the blockhouse at Malaxa, but were attacked by insurgents on their reutrn.

The consuls at Candia have signed a telegram imploring the powers not to delay a decision. The town is so crowded with Moslems that famine threatens great loss of life. Hundreds of sheep and cattle are already dying from want of fodder. The insurgents have completely cordoned Candia. The greatest anxiety exists also as to the situation at Selinos, where the armistice agreed upon by the powers has expired. The insurgents are in a worse mood than ever and throroughly determined.

QUINCY BREVITIES.

Notes from Quincy Point, Wollaston, Atlantic, South and West Quincy.

Lent begins on Wednesday.

Measles are quite prevalent in Quincy just at present.

Roll off tonight in the two men tournament at Gourd's alleys.

It looks now as though the boys would have a little more skating.

There will be a State inspection of Company K tonight at 7.45 sharp.

Faxon's block in City Square looks better since it received a coat of paint.

The second annual ball of the societe Saint Jean Baptiste will be held tonight.

It was colder this morning than it has been for some weeks, being but 4 above zero.

Two children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Read are suffering from very severe cases of the grip.

A fine day for the annual town meetings in adjoining towns. Hot contests are expected in several.

The degree of Princess of Kem was conferred upon two candidatrs at Plumer's hall Saturday evening.

The old town safe that has been kept in the Savings Bank for many years was moved to City Hall today.

The Compass Whist club of Atlantic will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Small on Wednesday evening of this week.

Not a criminal case at the District Court this morning; an unusual thing for Monday. Perhaps the town meetings had something to do with it.

Principal Candlin starts for Washington tomorrow. During his absence Supt. Lull will open the school and remain during the morning session.

Miss Floretta Vining had the pleasant duty one day last week of presenting 175 Daughters of the American Revolution to Mrs. Cleveland at Washington.

At a reception given in the South Congregational church of South Braintree last week Miss Alice Coe of Atlantic rendered some choice selections which were very warmly received.

The Quincy Cooperative Bank was moved on Saturday into the new Quincy Saving Bank building. It will occupy a large room on the second floor in the rear, which will also be the office of R. D. Chase.

Spring came in with more vigor than grace this morning, but with a clear sky and bracing air that are promises of more genial things. By the 21st, which is the time of the actual spring, the buds will have met their liabilities, and paid the debt of winter in this latitude.

A committee of two members of the All Soul's Unitarian Society of Greenfield, Mass., attended services at the Wollaston Unitarian church on Sunday to hear the Rev. James.E. Bagley preach. It will be a severe loss for Wollaston to loose so able a preacher as the Rev. Mr. Bagley.

A valuable solid silver cup has been secured to be awarded to the three-men team holding the best score at Gourd's alleys for three months, and a solid silver pitcher to the best three men team at candle pins. The two pieces are worth $100 and will soon be on exhibition. They are worth trying for. The contest has opened.

The result of the preliminaries of the candle pin tournament for teams of two men each, at the Duck's Nest alleys is as follows: J. W. Sanborn 243, B. Costello 263, total 523; Westland 240, Banton 279, total 519; J. F. Emery and Burns total 508; Freeman 243, Lyman 262, total 505; Starrett 267, Coe 241, total 499. The big pin tournament will be bowled on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. The scores of the teams which did not qualify were: Peverley and Garbett, 494; Bryant and Osborn, 489; Fairbanks and Fairbanks 480; Briggs and Battison, 479; Casey & White 431.

THE CENTENNIAL.

How John Adams Was Inaugurated as President.

George Washington Was Present and the Most Prominent.

President Adams Unhappy Because Tears Were Shed.

President John Adams' memory promises to share inauguration day with Maj. McKinley, because of the action of the Massachusetts Legislature. In the schools of the commonwealth the name of Adams will be even more prominent than that of McKinley, and in Quincy the birthplace and burial place of President Adams Thursday should be a holiday.

The March number of the Century is an "Inauguration number," and from a valuable paper on "Inauguration Scenes and Incidents" the following is taken; the preceeding paragraphs relating to Washington, who was really worshipped through his eight years of service:

"The chief sufferer from this condition of affairs was John Adams when the time came to inaugurate him as Washington's successor. He is the only President we have had, with the possible exception of Mr. Van Buren, who can be said to have played a secondary part at his own inauguration. The people had no eyes for him; they saw only the stately figure of Washington passing forever from the scene.

"The ceremonies were held in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, in the House of Representatives. Washington drove to the hall in his coach and four, and was lustily cheered both outside and inside the building. He passed quickly to his seat, as if eager to stop the applause. Adams entered a few minutes later, dressed in a light drab suit, and passed slowly down the aisle, bowing in response to the respectful applause which greeted him. He took the oath, and then delivered his inaugural address.

"He described the scene subsequently as a solemn one indeed, made more affecting by the presence of Washington, whose countenance was as sereue and unclouded as the day. There was a flood of tears, which he sought in various ways to explain, though no explanation was necessary. There was, he said, more weeping than there had ever been at the representation of a tragedy; but whether it was from grief or joy, whether from the loss of their beloved President or from the accession of an unbeloved one, or some other cause, he could not say.

"He suspected that the novelty of the sun setting full-orbed, and another rising, though less splendid, may have had some thing to do with it. For several days after the exercises he was still bewailing the tendency to weep. Everybody was annoying him by talking of tears and streaming eyes, but nobody told him why; and he was forced to believe that it was all for the loss of their beloved. Two or three had ventured to whisper in his ear that his address had made a favorable impression, but no other evidence of interest in him had reached him. One thing he knew, and that was that he was a being of too much sensibility to act any part well in such an exhibition.

"If the tears at the inaugural exercises made Mr. Adams unhappy, what followed must have added greatly to his sufferings. When, at the close, Washington moved toward the door, there was a precipitate rush from the gallery and corridors for the street, and he found a great throng awaiting him as he emerged from the door. They cheered him, and he waved his hat to them, his countenance radiant with benignity, his gray hair streaming in the wind. He walked to his house, followed by the crowd, and on reaching it turned about for a final greeting. His countenance assumed a grave and almost melancholy expression, his eyes were bathed in tears, and only by gestures could he indicate his thanks and convey his farewell blessing."

—Miss Mary L. Hart, daughter of Maj. John W. Hart of Weymouth and Mr. Hugh J. Molloy of Randolph were married at the Sacred Heart church, Weymouth, on Saturday.

A SUNDAY RAID.

Large and Varied Supply Found; Claimed for Private Use.

Mary Seider who lives on Wilson street had callers Sunday afternoon and they were as unwelcome as they were unexpected. It was about three o'clock Sunday afternoon when Chief of Police Hayden, Inspector McKay, Officers Ferguson and Bradley walked in unexpectedly upon Mary. Chief Hayden had a search warrant stowed away in his inside pocket and acted upon the authority therein conveyed, they proceeded to search the premises. They found plenty of stuff of a drinkable nature which Mary said she did not keep to sell but for her private use. The officers, however, concluded to carry away what they found and when they took account of stock upon their return to the police station they had the following: four gallons of beer, four gallons of cider, three bottles of wine, one gill of whiskey, one empty quarter barrell, 48 empty wine bottles, eight empty whiskey bottles, one pitcher, one tin pail with beer in it, and two faucets.

The Different Churches.

The nipping air of Sunday after several warmer days may have quenched peoples' ardor. The First church vespers were less largely attended, but the galleries were occupied. Rev. Dr. A. P. Putnam gave a seasonable talk upon the different churches that were drawing together. He said a plan in which there was no diversity of belief or opinion would not have been the best, but it had been the design that diverse thoughts should hold people until at last they would mingle in a harmonious whole, completing the structure.

The great Congregational church had always been strong in its hold upon the Bible; strong in its inflexible stand in clinging to the one Bible, and in its congregational form of government. Further, he said that Dr. Hale of blessed memory had declared the world would recognize a deeper debt that had been paid to the Universalists, who clung to broad conceptions of the fatherhood of God. Then a central idea of Unitarianism, development of character in the application of Christian doctrines, emphasized an important fact. The great, strong body of the Methodists, who have gone out to all people in every corner of the civilized world to try to redeem souls, must be valued.

The time for the service being short, the speaker did not add the fact that the Church of England was mighty in its strength. He did not touch upon the healthy grip that Roman Catholicism held over its humble followers, nor upon other bodies of belief that had raised human conjecture and faith to higher levels, but he said, all these paths led to the one end; it was necessary, for many diverse doctrines to live, to make the one church universal. We see the good results even now. He read "The Beatitudes." The music was fine, the liquid notes of the vocalist in "Just as I am, without one plea," enabling the hearers to catch every word. The earnestness of this aged servant of God was unusually impressive, and it was a great privilege to the members of the church to see Dr. Putnam once more in the pulpit.

THE GOLDEN AFFAIR.

Some Blundering Over the Suspension of Officer Golden.

The Golden case seems to be quite as complicated now as it was some weeks ago. Two days after the last hearing at which Mayor Adams, Chief Hayden and Inspector McKay were examined, local secretary C. A. Spear and Mr. Golden were notified that Timothy J. Golden had been suspended for intoxication on January 19, 1896. When this was published in the LEDGER, it was believed by many that the LEDGER had made a mistake in the date and that it should have been July 19, 1896.

It is true that the time alleged was July 19, but the notice received by Mr. Spear and Mr. Golden said January 19.

Mr. Pratt, counsel for Mr. Golden, has been looking up the matter, and as near as can be learned there was an officer in another place who was suspended for intoxication on Jan. 19, 1896, and the clerk in making out the notice made a mistake in the names and instead of sending the notice to the party to whom it belonged, it was sent to Golden.

Counsel Pratt in a letter to Golden informs him that he has seen Mr. Lord of the Civil Service Commmissioners, who informed him that Golden had not been suspended but he remained as he was before, and further he could not be suspended until he had been given a full and impartial hearing before the full board of Commissioners.

If this is true someone has made a bull, which should be straightened out and matters set aright, for as it is now Mr. Spear, the local secretary has marked "suspended" against Mr. Golden's name, as per letter received from the commissioners noted above.

A GRANITE STRIKE.

All's Well in Quincy But Not So in Boston.

Cutters Would Strike Out the Discrimination Clause.

Quincy Polishers Adopt Old Bill—New Bill at Concord.

March 1 had not its usual anxiety for Quincy, which sometimes marks the opening of the year in the granite business. The granite manufacturers and employes of this city are now under a three years' agreement.

The Quincy granite polishers will continue the same bill of prices for another year, having adopted the bill of 1896 at the meeting Feb. 26.

Agreement at Concord.

At Concord, N. H., the granite manufacturer's and employes enter upon a new agreement today, the result of several conferences. Under the new bill the minimum pay will be 24 cents per hour, and compensation for bridge work is particularly specified. Otherwise the old prices are continued.

Boston Cutters Strike.

The union granite cutters of Boston went out on a strike today because of a failure to reach an agreement to go into effect March 1. The movement has been endorsed by the Building Trades' council The Herald summarizes the situation thus:

In 1892, after a protracted strike, the granite cutters of Boston and their employers, through the intercession of the state board of arbitration, entered into an agreement concerning the hours of labor and wages. Ever since that time the agreement has been recognized and accepted by the union and the Granite Manufacturers' Association of Boston.

One of the provisions of the agreement stipulated that when either party desired a change, three months' notice should be given. In accordance with this stipulation, the members of the Boston branch notified the 18 members of the Granite Manufacturers' Association, last December, that a new agreement for 1897 was desired, and that some changes in the terms of the 1892 agreement would be asked for.

Several conferences have been held during the past three months. The union was represented by Conlin McDougal, Charles Curley and William Gray, and the manufacturers by Messrs. Henry Murray, Walter Lyons annd Charles Ricker.

The representatives of the union stated that the stipulation in the old agreement making 31 cents an hour the pay for competent men was so construed as to make these figures the maximum wages, and it was desired that 31 cents should constitute the minimum rate of pay.

One of the articles in the agreement of 1892 specified that there should be no discrimination against union and non-union men. It was requested that this clause should be abolished, and the agreement made that none but union men shall be employed.

While working under the agreement of 1892 the granite cutters have been restrained from taking part in the strikes ordered by the Building Trades' Council. To have struck in sympathy with other trades that might have struck would have been a violation of the agreement. Members of the Building Trades' Council and Granite Cutters' Union did not believe that such restraint was fair or wise. The manufacturers were, therefore, asked to agree that in the event of a suspension of work on any building in course of construction, repairs or alteration, by order of the Building Trades' Council, it should not be considered a violation of the agreement if the granite cutters stopped work under such circumstances.

There is a probability that the difficulty may involve the entire building trades of Boston before the strike has been in progress long. Inasmuch as the Granite Cutters' Union is insisting upon retaining the liberty to assist the Building Trades' Council, it is expected that the unions attached to the council will refuse to handle granite cut by non-union men. If this is done there may be complete suspension of operations on all structures in the city where granite is used in construction.

The representatives of the Granite Manufacturers' Association refused to accede to the terms demanded by the union. Representatives of the union state that the granite manufacturers in all cities where there are branches of the National Granite Cutters' Union have agreed to the terms now asked by the Boston branch. For this reason the 150 men employed in the cutting of granite in Boston have voted to strike.

A Few Cold Facts.

Yes,—the citizens of Quincy do want good stores, and when one grows right in their midst, they know how to appreciate it.

Travelling men from North, South and West tell the same story —"One of the finest and best equipped furniture stores in the country." This is by no means idle talk; the same store in Boston would cost ten times the rent.

Buying right and selling right is the secret of its success. A store that is supported by the people and for the people. No matter what you need for your home, you are sure to find it here in made-to-wear furniture, at a trifle less in cost than the same article can be found elsewhere. Seeing alone is believing, and all are welcome here without obligation to buy.

HOLBROOK THREATENED.

Sunday Morning Blaze in Town House and Public Library.

The Holbrook Town Hall building, occupied as a Town House, public reading room and library, and by J. E. Daniel, grocer; J. C. Nickerson, painter, and the Co operative bank was badly gutted by fire Sunday morning.

The fire which is supposed to have started among a lot of rubbish under the stairway leading from the boiler room, was discovered by a lot of tramps who had spent the night in the building. Sometime previous to the fire Officer Buzzell had unlocked the doors and then gone home to breakfast. The tramps smelt the smoke and gave the alarm.

When the department arrived the fire had worked its way up into the reading room which contained something like 7400 volumes.

The department worked manfully but when it was seen that the adjoining buildings were in danger word was sent to Brockton and Randolph for assistance. An electric car hauled the hose wagon from Brockville and that piece of apparatus made the quickest time on record. Six streams were thrown into the burning building and at 10 o'clock it was under control.

Two of the tramps were arrested by Officer Howard at South Braintree and a man by the name of "Scotty," who had been at work about the building was also held for examination at the fire inquest.

Chief Engineer White had a narrow escape from serious injury. He was leading his men from the library to the basement. He went to step on the stairs but they had been burned and he fell a distance of twenty feet but escaped with a few bruises.

The building which was of brick with freestone trimmings was a gift of the late E. N. Holbrook, and was erected in 1873, destroyed by fire in 1877 and rebuilt in 1878.

The estimated loss is $15,000 and the insurance is as follows: Town Hall, $25,000; library and reading room, $4,500; books, $4,000; furniture, $500. J. E. Daniel's loss is about $500, insured. J. E. Nickerson, $150; insured.

March Magazines.

The complete novel in the March issue of Lippincott's is "Dead Selves," by Julia Magruder. It deals with the emotional and spiritual awakening of two highly superior persons who have managed to reach mature years, and go through a good deal of experience, without becoming acquainted with their latent possibilities—in short, their hearts. "Father Sebastian," the hero of a short story by Kate Jordan, was one of the martyr-priests of the Parisian Commune. Owen Hall relates an Australian legend in "The Phantom Kangaroo."

Godey's Magazine for March is notable for the variety of its topics and the versatility of its general make up. The leading article on "Pastime Photography" shows what pleasing work can be done by a skillful use of the camera and living models. It is fully illustrated with quaint and pretty pictures. Among the "specials" of timely interest is "Handsome Newspaper Women," with portraits, in which Miss Helen Winslow of the Boston Transcript describes the life and work of several prominent beautiful women of the press.

In McClure's Magazine for March there is the opening instalment of a new novel by Robert Louis Stevenson, the last novel we shall ever have from that most charming of romancers. There is a brief critical paper, apt and comprehensive in its interpretation and full and cordial in its praise of Rudyard Kipling as a poet, by W. D. Howells. There is a paper of personal impressions on one of the greatest of illustrative artists, Daniel Vierge, by his intimate friend August Jaccal, with numerous drawings by Vierge, most of them never before published. And there is a paper from Conan Doyle relating his own personal adventures in the Arctic Seas as a young surgeon on board of a Greenland Whaler. Altogether, it is in its contents a most varied, attractive and distinguished number.

Table Talk for March contains ten pages of answers to inquiries from housekeepers all over the country. This is a special feature of this unique little magazine, and is most ably handled by Miss Cornelia C. Bedford. It also gives daily menus for the month, with evening dinners or with noon-day dinners, besides some menus for special occasions.

Regular meeting of the City Council this evening.

Not typical March weather today, but nevertheless rather cold this morning.

Hancock lodge, A. L. of H., will receive a visitation from the grand officers this week.

The city should purchase a new flag for City Hall, the present one being a little ragged.

It has not been determined as yet how much was made at the recent ball of the Firemen's Relief association, but enough is known to assure the committee that it was a financial success.

Klippan lodge of Good Templars will give its annual concert and festival on Saturday evening at Faxon hall. A musical programme has been arranged.

Rev. Charles A. Dinsmore of Phillips church, South Boston, preached at Bethany church, Sunday morning in exchange with the pastor. In the evening there was an interesting service commemorative of the birth of Mary Lyon, one hundred years ago. Papers on different periods of her life were read by Mrs. E. N. Hardy, Miss May Merrill, Miss Zayma King and Miss Frances Lance. Mary Lyon was the founder of Mt. Holyoke college, and a pioneer in the movement for the higher education of women. It was in 1836 that Mt. Holyoke seminary was chartered and it has widened and deepened its influence.

Rev. Walter Russell Breed's sermon on Sunday morning at Christ's church was on "The Value of Lent," and in the evening he told the story of John Wicliffe. The music of the day was fine. March 3 is Ash Wednesday and services will be held as follows: 8 A. M., Penitential Service. 10.30 A. M., morning prayer and address (at St. Chrysostom's, Wollaston.) 7.45 P. M., evening prayer and address. On Friday, litany and lecture in the chapel at 7.45 P. M., subject, "The Sermon on the Mount."

Scollard Elected.

They had a hot time this morning at the Braintree town meeting over the election of moderator. Hon. F. A. Hobart was the choice of Friday night's caucus for moderator but this morning when the polls opened John V. Scollard was on hand with a crowd and upon ballot was elected moderator, defeating Mr. Hobart by one vote.

—The petitioners who asked for the impeachment of Melville P. Morrell have been granted leave to withdraw, in view of the opinion of the Supreme court. It is recommended that Chap. 150 be amended to provide for removals of county commissioners.

The Universal Yankee.

A Yankee is a handy man,
None handier than he.
Whatever there's to do or plan,
He'll do it handsomely—

Apple paring, cutting, drying,
Pumpkin growing, doughnut frying,
Cherry bounce and cider making,
Pork and beans and mince pie baking,
Buckwheat cake and flapjack turning,
Butter making, milking, churning,
Codfish drying, mackerel catching,
Mending, regulating, patching,
Soldering, tinkering, shingle splitting,
Wood clock making, jackknife whittling,
Tough horn spoon and wood bowl turning
Human nature always learning,
Planning, scheming, digging, grading,
Dickering, jockeying and horse trading,
Ciphering, calculating, swowing,
Cutely guessing, vumming, vowing,
Teaching dancing, singing, fiddling,
Still inventing, trading, peddling.

A Yankee is a handy man,
You cannot fail to see.
If there's a thing to do or plan,
He'll do it handsomely.

Stump In Peruvian Stamps.

New York, March 1.—The consul general of Peru in New York has received official notification of an intended stamp sale of great magnitude by his government. The director general of postoffices and telegraphs of Peru will receive bids in Lima from philatelists for 4,536,093 obsolete postage and revenue stamps issued by that South American republic. The stamps will be sold as an entire lot or divided up into various lots, but no offer of less than $5000 will be considered by the Peruvian government. May 31 next is the last day that philatelists can file their offers. A list of the stamps has been sent to the Peruvian consular representatives. Each bid must be accompanied by a deposit of at least 10 per cent of the reserve price put upon the stamps, or $500. If the bidder is not successful, this deposit will be returned. Successful bidders will be notified, and they will be credited with the amount of their deposit on the amount they bid. The sale of such an enormous quantity of obsolete stamps is likely to play sad havoc with the ruling prices now prevailing in stamp collecting circles for certain Peruvian varieties.

Colonel Granger's Funeral.

Winsted, Conn., March 1.—The funeral of Colonel Salmon A. Granger, a member of the staff of the late Governor Morris, and one of the most prominent citizens of Winsted, who committed suicide by shooting himself Wednesday morning, took place from the Methodist church yesterday, and was the largest funeral ever witnessed here. The church could not accommodate half the number desirous of attending, while both sides of Main street were thronged with spectators to view the cortege. The 14 fraternal organizations with which the deceased was connected attended in a body. The services were in charge of the Masonic lodge of Winsted.

ENACTED BY CONGRESS

Total of Appropriation Bills Over One Billion Dollars.

Only Necessary Expenditures Were Passed.

Senate Has Only Three Days to Complete Important Legislation.

Washington, March 1.—But three days more remain for the Fifty-fourth congress to wind up its business and make way for its successor. The close of the session promises no sensational incident, for only routine business is possible. As usual, the house awaits the end with a clean slate. It has finished its work on the big appropriation bills, with which the senate is now struggling. In the upper house the remaining days will be full of work. Indeed, it is still uncertain whether the senate will be able to dispose of the bills by noon on Thursday next. There are four of the big appropriation measures to be voted on. Of these, the naval bill land that making appropriations for the District of Columbia may cause prolonged debate. The other two, fortifications and general deficiency bills, will go through without trouble. Meanwhile the house will sit merely to receive and act upon conference reports, with probably night sessions Tuesday and Wednesday. It will take skillful generalship, but the senate leaders believe they will have the slate clear on Thursday.

Speaker Reed and the Republican leaders of the house entered upon the final session of congress with the avowed determination that no legislation which compelled great expenditures of public money should be enacted during the session. They felt compelled to adopt this policy because of the condition of the treasury, and they have generally adhered to it, although the regular appropriation bills for the support of the government have brought the total appropriations of this congress far beyond the billion mark, breaking the record of former congresses. Many of the appropriations, notably those for river and harbor improvements, and for public buildings, were necessary to continue works authorized by other congresses. No public buildings have been started by this session, and no new battleships or vessels of any description, although the creation of a "new navy," begun several years ago, has by no means been abandoned. The intention of the house leaders at the beginning of the session was to confine the work, so far as possible, to the appropriation bills, and they have been successful in living up to their policy. These bills, moreover, have been cumbered with fewer new projects and less general legislation than usual.

The last week of the session begins with several of the appropriation bills not yet passed by the senate. Much of the time of that body has been consumed in the discussion of the Cuban question, which the house has dealt with only incidentally. Necessarily, the policy of the house to avoid new legislation which involved expeditures has been enforced upon the senate. The Nicaragua canal bill, which was discussed at great length in the senate, but not voted on, was not taken up in the house, nor has the free home bill, which the senate passed, had a hearing at the other end of the Capitol. The Pacific railroad funding bill met a decisive defeat in the house, so the senate found it useless to discuss that proposition. One feature of the session's record worthy of note is the great number of private pension bills passed, many of them placing widows of officers on the pension rolls at ratings ranging from $30 to $75 a month. Private claims and war claims, on the other hand, have been few. Several of the pension bills were vetoed by President Cleveland, but congress enacted some of these despite the veto by the necessary two-thirds majority. Several important bills are in the president's hands awaiting his action, foremost among them the immigration bill, which establishes an educational test for immigrants and bars out laborers who maintain their homes in other countries. The anti-scalping bill may be submitted to the executive for his action within two or three days, and since Senator Chandler has given notice that he will move that the senate accept the house amendments to the bill authorizing the president to call an international monetary conference, it is likely that President Cleveland will be given an opportunity to sign his name to that. The bill for the reorganization of the Atlantic and Pacific company is also on the president's desk.

One act written upon the statute books this session is noteworthy as being the work practically of one man. That is the act to reduce the cases in which the penalty of death may be inflicted, a movement to which General Curtis of New York has devoted the best efforts of his congressional career. The abolition of the death penalty has been a long-cherished enthusiasm with General Curtis. Now, after years of agitation of the subject, he has succeded in erasing from the statute books all United States laws imposing the death penalty for other crimes than murder, rape, treason or piracy, and endowed juries with the power to stipulate whether or not capital punishment shall be inflicted for these crimes.

An agitation by dramatists, composers and theatrical managers has resulted in securing a law at this session fixing heavy penalties for public performances of copyrighted dramatic or musical compositions and empowering all United States circuit coruts to enforce the orders of any such court regarding these performances.

The interstate commerce laws have been extended to prevent traffic in obscene literature or articles designed for immoral uses. The shipping laws have been amended to enable yachts belonging to American or foreign clubs to enter or clear from the customs houses without tonnage taxes, also to require naphtha or electric boats of more than 15 tons burden to be subjected to all requirements for inspection and for pilots and engineers. A new law compels the name and draft of every registered vessel to be marked on the stern and bow. New regulations have been made for the compensation of inspectors of steam vessels for their travelling expenses. All persons who make signal exertions in rescuing a wrecked ship or a drowning person are, under a law of this session, eligible for the life-saving medals which formerly were given only to the life-saving crew men. The friends of the Tennessee centennial exposition of 1897 have succeded in securing an appropriation of $140,000 for a government building and exhibit, while the Nebraska delegation is working to secure a like recognition for the Omaha exposition.

One of the most important pieces of public land legislation permits the patenting of lands containing petroleum or other mineral oils, under the mineral land laws. Another extends to Jan. 1, 1899, the time in which purchases may be made of the railroad lands forfeited to the government under the act of 1890, and another confirms cash entries which have been declared invalid because the lands entered were never offered for sale. Other acts confirm titles of settlers in Greer county, Okla.; Mississippi settlers on swamp lands in the grant of the Mobile and Ohio railroad and settlers on some 80,000 acres in Louisiana.

Among the acts of the session relating to the courts were these: Fixing the fees in the circuit court of appeals, withdrawing from the supreme court jurisdiction of criminal cases not capital and giving it to the circuit court of appeals, directing the filing of mortgages on Indian territory property in the judicial district in which the property is located when the mortgagor is non-resident, constituting a new division of the eastern judicial district of Texas, attaching Audrain county to the eastern judicial district of Missouri.

An act was passed to validate the acts of deputy marshals in the Indian territory sworn between March 1, 1895, and April 15, 1896, when the law was defective; an act providing heavy penalties for selling intoxicants to Indians; an act authorizing the secretary of the interior to use the abandoned Fort Bidwell in California for an Indian training school, and one to enable the town of Flagstaff, Ari., to issue $65,000 6 per cent bonds to construct a water system.

Military acts were passed authorizing the conferring on officers of the regular army of the highest brevet rank held by them in the volunteer service, to authorize officers who served in the regular army during the rebellion to bear the official title and on ceremonial occasions wear the uniform of their rank, for issuing certificates of service to members of the military telegraph corps, for the state of Colorado to use the Fort Lyon military reservation for a soldiers' home, to permit the appointment as medical officers of soldiers' homes of others than those who have been disabled in the military service, to appoint John Marshall Brown of Maine a member of the board of managers of national soldiers' homes. Life-saving stations have been provided at Point Arena, Mendocino county, Cal.; Great Bear's Head, N. H., and one on the Maryland coast between Fenwick island and Ocean City. A survey has been authorized for a water route from the mouth of the jetties at Galveston, through the ship channel and up Buffalo bayou to Houston.

Right of way has been granted the Muskogee (Okla.) and Western railroad through the territory, and Oklahoma and Eastern Nebraska and Gulf Railroad company through the Omaha and Winnebago Indian reservations in Nebraska.

The time for completing the East river bridge between New York city and Long Island has been extended to Jan. 1, 1900.

This session has passed 16 bridge bills and granted American registers to five vessels. There have been several bills enacted for the government of the District of Columbia, a few of them applying to the inaugural ceremonies.

Catholic Indian Schools.

Washington, March 1.—A letter from Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishops Ryan and Keane, constituting a committee on Indian and negro missions, was read in all Catholic churches yesterday. It says the contributions for the missions during the last year have been exceptionally large, but, with the gradual withdrawal of government aid to the Indian schools, some of the bishops report that a number of the schools may have to be closed. For this reason, the cardinal and his associates on the committee exhort liberal private contributions, in order that the schools may be properly carried on.

Anxiety About Drexel Party.

New Orleans, March, 1.—Yesterday afternoon's Daily Item publishes a statement that the millionaire, John Drexel, with his family and a party of friends, in his private yacht, who started from Philadelphia for New Orleand, to attend the Mardi Gras festivities, is now seven days overdue, and nothing has been heard from the party since it first left Philadelphia. Inquiries have been sent out from New York, Philadelphia and New Orleans, but so far have elicted no information as to the whereabouts of Mr. Drexel's yacht.

Corner In Wool.

Chicago, March 1.—A special to The Times-Herald, from Boston, says: One of the largest corners on wool ever attempted in the United States exists at present in this city, in anticipation of the restoration of a tariff on wool. The existence of the corner has been a well-guarded secret for two weeks, but the operations of the men and their agents at London and Hamburg have become so bold as to attract attention, and thus the secret got out.

Will Not Appoint Senator.

Louisville, March 1.—The Commercial (Republican) says: It is the general opinion among politicians at Frankfort that Governor Bardley will not appoint a senator, but convene the legisalture soon after the term of Senator Blackburne expires and give that body a chance to elect a senator. This change of plans is said to have been brought about by the Republican steering committee of the United States senate.

Sensation In Canada.

Montreal, March 1.—The announcement from Rome that Pope Leo XIII has appointed Mgr. Rudini Tedesche as papal commissioner to Canada, following the announcement of the appointment of a commission of cardinals to investigate certain charges preferred by the Liberal government of Canada against the Catholic clergy of Quebec, has caused a considerable sensation throughout the Dominion.

THE PRIZEFIGHTERS.

Fitzsimmons Writes to Friends and Corbett Plays Handball.

Carson, Nev., March, 1.—Work continued as usual on Dan Stuart's big amphitheatre yesterday.

Bob Fitzsimmons did no work at all. He spent a good part of the morning writing letters to friends in Stuart's headquarters, and then drove to the race track to get a look at the structure in which he hopes to defeat Jim Corbett.

Accompanied by Julian, Fitzsimmons drove back to quarters for dinner, but the pair returned to town early in the afternoon and remained until sundown. Julian announced that his man would take no exercise on account of the funeral of Mrs. Julian in New York city.

There was such a big crowd at Corbett's headquarters that the services of three barkeepers were required to satisfy the demand for liquid refreshments. During the morning show, the handball court, or at least that section which is set apart for sightseers, was uncomfortably crowded, and the champion decided to station one of his men at the door, with instructions not to allow more than 20 persons in the court at one time.

A hammer thrower from the Pacific coast, who has been eager for several days to put on the gloves with Corbett, was accommodated. His first lesson was decidedly interesting to the spectators, but the athlete in question, will, in all probability, stick to his own particular branch of athletics in the future

Weyler Has Resigned.

Havana, March, 1.—It is stated on the very highest authority that Captain General Weyler has forwarded his resignation to the Spanish government at Madrid. The captain general, it is said, will leave the island as soon as possible, probably in about three weeks. This decisive step General Weyler determined to take, it is said, as soon as he heard of the release of Julio Sanguilly. The captain general had frequently said he would resign if the crown should interfere with his policy in regard to prisoners, especially Americans, and he was incensed beyond measure at being ignored in the negotiations carried on by the Spanish government in the case of so notable a captive as Sanguilly.

Off For Washington.

Canton, O., March 1.—President-elect McKinley and family will leave for Washington tonight. The inaugural train will run directly through to the capital. Both Mr. and Mrs. McKinley are in good health and spirits. There will be no handshaking or speeches at the leave-taking tonight, and there will be no demonstration at the McKinley home. The citizens of Canton will escort the president-elect from his home to the depot, and an enthusiastic demonstration is sure to take place at the station

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

United States Consul Read at Tien-Tsin has informed the state department that a Danish concern has established a woolen mill at that place at a cost for machinery of about $230,000. The Chinese governor of Tien-Tsin and the director general of the imperial railways are interested largely in the new enterprise, and, as the cloth produced is to be sold to the Chinese army, the officials are expected to realize heavily on their investment.

Rev. George W. Pepper, vice president for Ohio of the American-Irish Historical society, delivered an oration at the Lawrence (Mass.) city hall last night. He is a Methodist, and was introduced by Rev. John A. Whelan, rector of one of the local Catholic churches. Many Grand Army men occupied seats on the stage, Mr. Pepper having been with Sherman on the march to the sea. The oration was under the auspices of the Grattan club.

King Humbert and Queen Margherita of Italy, gave a banquet at Rome yesterday in honor of Wayne MacVeagh, the American ambassador. The principle foreign diplomats and leading representatives of the Italian nobility were present. The function was very elaborate, and King Humbert warmly assured Mr. MacVeagh of his personal regret at the prospect of the latters retirement from Rome.

The North Dakota house passed a bill extending the period for residence in North Dakota from three months to one year before action for divorce can begin. The bill carries an emergency clause, declaring that the state and its judiciary are scandalized, and that the moral standing of the state is degraded by the conduct of those who come to the state for divorce purposes only.

Report of Venezuelan Commission.

Washington, March, 1.—The report of the commission appointed by the president to determine the true divisional line between Venezuela and British Guiana, though a voluminous document, lacks the interest which it migh have attached to it owing to the fact that the commission did not make a report on the boundary question leaving that to be determined by the arbitration decided upon between the two governments most interested, Great Britain and Venzeuela.

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, Saves a Man From Becoming a Cripple.

Mr. Asa Ammons, a well-known citizen of Jacksonville, Florida, was afflicted by a terrible ulcer. Medical skill seemed unavailing in stopping the ravages of the terrible disease. The leg was swollen and intensely painful, as the ulcer had eaten its way down to the very bone. All medicines and treatments having failed to effect a cure, the doctors said the leg must come off. Just when it seemed that Mr. Ammons would become a disabled and a crippled man, he tried P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and the result was wonderful.

P. P. P. SAVES HIS LEG.

"Jacksonville, Fla., July 1, 1895.—Two years ago I had the worst ulcer on my leg I ever saw. It had eaten down to the bone, and my whole leg below my knee, and my foot was swollen and inflamed. The bone was swollen and painful, and discharged a most offensive matter. My physicians said I had necrosis of the bone, and my leg would have to come off. At this stage I commenced to take P. P. P. and to bathe my leg with hot castile soap suds. It began to improve at once and healed rapidly, and is to-day a sound and useful leg.

"I think P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is all a man could ask for as a blood purifier, as I have known it to cure so meterrible cases of blood poisoning in a remarkably short time.

"ASA AMMONS."

TERRIBLE BLOOD POISON.

The body covered with sores—two bottles of P. P. P. made a positive and permanent cure. This is only one of many thousand similar cases.

Catarrh yields at once to P. P. P. That smothered feeling at night, that heavy feeling in the day—can and should be removed; P. P. P. will do it if you only give it a chance.

Indigestion and constipation go hand in hand. Headaches and total loss of appetite are the results. Regulate yourself and tone up your stomach with P. P. P.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

VOL. 9. NO. 51. QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1897. PRICE 2 CENTS.

A Few Cold Facts.

Yes,—the citizens of Quincy do want good stores, and when one grows right in their midst, they know how to appreciate it.

Travelling men from North, South and West tell the same story —"One of the finest and best equipped furniture stores in the country." This is by no means idle talk; the same store in Boston would cost ten times the rent.

Buying right and selling right is the secret of its success. A store that is supported by the people and for the people. No matter what you need for your home, you are sure to find it here in made-to-wear furniture, at a trifle less in cost than the same article can be found elsewhere. Seeing alone is believing, and all are welcome here without obligation to buy.

GOODBY TO NEIGHBORS

President-Elect McKinley and Party Leave Canton For White House.

Fellow-Townsmen Turn Out En Masse to Say Adieu.

Friends and Relatives Who Accompany the McKinley Family.

Canton, O., March 2.—President-elect McKinley left Canton last evening at 7 o'clock, thousands of his fellow citizens bidding him adieu amid showers of fireworks and illuminants, with the accompaniment of hearty cheers.

The citizens, together with the business men, had arranged for a public demonstration to bid farewell to their honored fellow citizen and neighbor The local militia joined in the demonstration, and at 6:30, headed by the Grand Army band, marched to the McKinley home.

As they countermarched, Major McKinley, escorting Mrs. McKinley, appeared at his front door.

The appearance of Major and Mrs. McKinley was the signal for hearty cheers. As they walked from the front porch to the coach in waiting there was a frantic effort to shake Major McKinley's hand. This was impossible, as the programe admitted of not a moment's delay.

Major McKinley paused but a few seconds before he entered the cab, to raise his hat to the thousands of people—men, women and children—congregated there. This was the signal for another outburst of applause. Major McKinley then assisted Mrs. McKinley's maid into the cab, following her a second later, and the ride to the depot was begun.

All along the route, about a mile, the streets were jammed with people, hundreds coming from towns adjacent to bid the major good bye. Cheer after cheer was given, and many women were seen to weep, as the president-elect's carriage, drawn by four richly comparisoned white horses, passed along.

Major McKinley lowered the window in the cab as he left the house, and from the opening waived his hat, while Mrs McKinley waived her handkerchief to the surging, shouting multitude.

The space about the station was packed for squares by people who struggled ineffectually to get near the train, which was guarded by companies of militia. As President-elect and Mrs McKinley stepped upon the rear platform of their car the shouts and cheers of the people again arose.

From the rear platform of the train the major made the following address to his friends who were at the station to bid him farewell:

"My Neighbors and Friends and Fellow-Citizens: On the eve of departure to the seat of government, soon to assume the duties of an arduous responsibility as great as can devolve upon any man, nothing could give me greater pleasure than this farewell greeting—this evidence of your friendship and sympathy; your good will and, I am sure, the prayers of all the people with which I have lived so long and whose confidence and esteem are dearer to me than any other earthly honors. To all of us the future is a sealed book, but if I can, by official act, or administration or utterance, in any degree, add to the prosperity of our beloved country and the comfort and well-being of our splendid citizenship, I will devote the best and most unselfish efforts of my life. The assumption of the chief magistracy is of such grave importance that partisanship cannot blind the judgment or accept any other considerations but for the public good of all to every party and every section.

"With this thought uppermost in my mind, I reluctantly take leave of my friends and my neighbors, cherishing in my heart the sweetest memories and the tenderest thoughts of my old home—my home now, and, I trust, my home hereafter, so long as I live. I thank you and bid you all good-bye."

The inaugural train ran through to Pittsburg without making a stop. Immense crowds were at the stations all along the line and the president-elect stood on the rear platform and waived his hat in response to the cheering. At Pittsburg the major made a short speech from the car platform. Few stops were made during the trip from Canton to Washington.

The occupants of the cars were:

President's car, No. 38—Major McKinley, Mrs. McKinley, Mrs. Maria Saxton, who will be Mrs. McKinley's companion in the White House, Captain and Mrs. L. M. McWilliams of Chicago, cousins of Mrs. McKinley, Clara Thorein, Mrs. McKinley's maid.

Mother McKinley's car, No. 505—Mrs. Nancy Allison McKinley, the mother of the president-elect, Miss Helen McKinley, sister of the president-elect, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Morse of San Francisco; Mrs. Morse is a niece of Major McKinley, James McKinley, a nephew, Mrs. Abner Osborne and Mrs. Clarence Shaffee of Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Barber's car—Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Barber, Mrs. Barber being Mrs. McKinley's sister; Mr. and Mrs. Duncan of Cleveland, cousins of the president-elect; W. McKinley Barber, James Barber, Miss Ida Barber, Captain and Mrs. H. O. S. Heistand, Mr. and Mrs. Seward Bowman of Elyria, O., George Saxton, a brother of Mrs. McKinley; Will Duncan, Miss Sarah Duncan of Cleveland, Joseph P. Smith of Urbana, O., Mrs. George B. Frease of Canton, B. L. McKinley of San Francisco.

Escort committee car, Arden—Colonel G. A. Garrattson, Henry Crouse, Mr. Webb C. Hayes of Cleveland, Colonel and Mrs. John Taylor of East Liverpool, O., Minnie Lancroft, George W. Floyd, Dr. C. E. Manchester, pastor of the president-elect, and wife; Dr. T. H. Phillips, physician to the McKinley's; Private Secretary James Boyle and wife.

Press car—M. A. Havens, W. S. Lloyd, A. N. Howell, E. C. Howland, C. M. Popper, F. B. Loomis, R. P. Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Baillee, George B. Frease, Dr. William Shaw Boen, F. B. Gessner, G. E. McMurray, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Greenwell, H. C. March, L. E. Reed.

MORE FIGHTING IN CRETE.

Insurgents Take the Town of Candamo. Attitude of Powers.

Athens, March 2.—At a crowded meeting of the chamber of deputies yesterday, Senor Delyannis announced in the most positive terms that it was the Turks who provoked the fighting that led the fleets of the powers to bombard Canea. The minister of marine read to the chamber the injunctions addressed by the foreign admirals to the commodore of the Greek fleet, forbidding either a sea or land attack upon occupied fortresses, or an attack by the Greek fleet upon Turkish ships for the advance of Colonel Vassos into the interior; and stating that any attempt at evasion of these injunctions would be repelled by the combined fleets of the powers.

This created a sensation in the chamber. Deputy Seals asserted that the reply of the Greek government should have been a declaration of war.

Canea, Island of Crete, March 2.—The town of Candamo has fallen into the hands of the insurgents. No details have been yet received.

Later advices as to the capture of Candamo by the insurgents state that the Greeks first took the fortress of Vavaros, which dominates the town, where there were 3000 Mussulmans.

The beys having appealed to Tewfik Pasha to get the sultan's protection of besieged Mussulmans, he replied that the sultan was powerless to insure it, and that they must look to the powers. Thereupon, the beys went to the English consulate to ask for assistance.

A Turkish delegation went to the Greek consulate yesterday morning, asking protection for the Mussulmans who are blockaded at Candamo, if they yielded to the Greek troops and declared that they accepted the protection of Greece. The vice consul promised them complete safety. He said that Greece was animated by the most benevolent sentiments.

The Mussulmans of Canea are greatly excited by the news that the Mussulmans of Candamo are in peril.

FROM CARSON.

Corbett Drops Handball In Training---Fitz at Usual Work.

Carson, Nev., March 2.—Fitzsimmons did his usual work in the gymnasium yesterday, keeping his trainers on the jump for an hour, finishing with a rubdown and a hot bath.

Jim Corbett changed his routine labors. He cut out handball, contenting himself with bag punching and boxing. His bout at the latter exercise was unusually interesting. Five men were in waiting to take turns at the gloves—Jeffries, McVey, Ed Green, Woods and Joe Corbett. Corbett sparred with each of the men, in the order named, without intermission, for two rounds each, with the exception of Jeffries, who came in for three rounds. For 34 minutes he kept it up. Each man used a different style. Jeffries, who is the strongest man on the force, does rushing work. Many reports about sparring with Jeffries have been sent out, some writers claiming that Jeffries gave th champion all he could do to avoid his rushes. As a matter of fact, Jeffries' instructions are to rush and corner Jim, if possible.

Giving the champion practice and extricating himself from tight places, he allows the big fellow to corner him, but usually gets away without having the gloves put on him. He reaches Jeffries whenever and wherever he pleases.

A False Report Denied.

Chicago, March 2.—A dispatch from this city to the effect that the University of Chicago had been running behind at the rate of $250,000 a year, that President William R. Harper had threatened to resign in consequence, and that as a result of a discovery of how the University was running behind, and of the determination of President Harper to leave, John D. Rockefeller who has already given the University several million dollars had given a pledge that the University should not in future be hampered by reason of lack of funds, is said by President Harper to be absolutely false in every particular. The story said that in order to carry out Mr. Harper's University plan, Mr. Rockefeller had virtually bound himself for $10,000 000.

TOWN MEETING DAY.

Little Change In Vote of Commonwealth on License Question.

Municipal Officers For the Year Elected In Maine.

Nearly All the Republican Tickets Were Elected by Good Majorities.

Boston, March 2.—Massachusetts oldest institution, a town meeting, originating in 1633 was observed yesterday in a majority of the towns of the state.

Politics played but small part in the elections as there were few contests on party lines. Nearly all the towns held citizen's caucuses last week, and in those communities where there were such, opposing candidates ran on nomination papers. In the larger towns where the business was voluminous an adjournment was taken after the election of officers for a week or more to complete the annual budget of appropriations. Few communities enlarged their appropriations, curtailment being the rule.

Interest centered in the vote on the license question, and the no-license organization made a vigorous campaign, in some cases with success. Amesbury which voted for no license by a close margin in 1896, returned to the no-license column, and Shelburn followed suit, while the no license majority in Athol was considerably increased. On the other hand Scituate voted for license for the first time in many years, and in Hudson the vote for license was much larger than last year. In Ashland the vote was a tie and the town goes dry this year, while in Brewster, on the cape, not a voter recorded himself in favor of the sale of intoxicating liquors. Belchertown also went over to the no license column after voting the other way for two years. Towns not holding their meetings yesterday will elect their officers during the present month.

Maine Mayoralty Elections.

Lewiston.—Mayor Noble, Rep., was re of 363 over Dr. A. M. Garcelon, Dem., elected for the fourth time by a majority and Seth D. Wakefield, Citizens'. The citizens' movement, inaugurated by the Republicans, did not materialize strongly, and 823 votes were cast, 500 of which, at least, came from the Democratic ranks. The regular Democratic vote fell off nearly 700 from last year, and the regular Republican vote over 300. The Republicans elected six out of the seven aldermen, Hartley, Rep., winning by one vote in the Seventh ward, and making the aldermanic body the same as last year. The Republicans elected councilmen in every ward, except the Sixth, where another election will be held. Exciting scenes, especially in Ward 5, where Frank A. Morey, Democratic candidate for mayor last year, was struck by a drunken man at the polls as he was attempting to prove the legal rights of one of the ward clerks to serve.

Hallowell.—The city election yesterday was the least eventful for many years, and a very light vote was cast. Mayor George A. Safford, Rep., was re-elected by a big majority, as there was no Democratic candidate, and the Prohibition candidate received less than 100 votes. The new city council will stand four Republicans and one Democratic aldermen, eight Republican and two Democratic councilmen.

Saco.—For the first time in the history of this city the Democrats carried five out of seven wards, and elected their mayor. It was one of the hottest contests ever known here, and an unusually large vote was polled. Mayor Samuel L. Lord, Dem., was elected over Abram T. Lord, Rep., by 166 majority.

Portland.—The Republicans elected Charles H. Randall mayor, six of the seven aldermen, 18 out of 21 councilmen and the entire ticket in six wards. The vote for mayor stood: Charles H. Randall, Rep., 3458; Edward B. Winslow, 3000; Harris H. Crandall, 78.

Gorham.—The election here resulted in the success of the Republican ticket by majorities ranging from 150 to 160. This is a Republican gain over last year.

Ellsworth.—Perry C. Davis, Rep., was elected mayor over the fusion candidate. The council will stand two Republicans, two Populists and one independent.

Gardiner.—Captain James Walker, Rep., was elected mayor by a majority of 520. The election was very quiet. The entire Republican ticket was elected.

Waterville.—Charles H. Rednington, Dem., was elected mayor by 210 majority. The Republicans elected five aldermen and the Democrats two.

Eastport.—Mayor Cleveland, Rep., was re-elected by 96 majority. Six Republican and two Citizens' aldermen were elected.

Westbrook.—The Republicans carried the city of Westbrook, electing the whole ticket and Francis A. Cloudman as mayor.

Rockland.—Albert W. Butler, Rep., was elected mayor. Both branches of the city council will be Republican.

Deering.—Henry J. Davis, Rep., was elected mayor. The Republicans also elected six out of seven aldermen.

Auburn.—The Republicans re-elected Mayor Harris and made a clean sweep in four out of five wards.

Bath.—Randall D. Bibber, Rep., was re-elected mayor. Every ward went Republican.

Duty on Granite.

Congressman Atwood during the closing days of this Congress has put in some good work for Quincy in his efforts to restore and possibly increase the duty on imported hammered granite. He has enlisted the support of both the New England members on the committee on ways and means, Gov. Dingley, and Mr. Russell, and is hopeful that as a result of their investigations into the subject a higher rate than even the McKinley bill carried will be incorporated into the new bill.

Surprise Party.

On Thursday evening, Feb. 25, Mrs. S. Fowler was given a very pleasant surprise at her residence, Beach street. A number of friends assembled and Mr. A. Shaw in behalf of the company, presented the hostess with an elegant silver cake basket. He made some brief remarks in which he expressed the pleasure of all present, in giving the small token of appreciation for the many good times enjoyed at her hospitable home. The party enjoyed whist [illegible] 10.00 when a bountiful collation was served. At a late hour all separated having enjoyed a delightful evening.

Workers for the Hospital.

The members of the Hospital Ten under whose auspices "The Man in the Case" will be presented on Friday evening are: Grace Louise Burke, Anne Bent Chamberlin, Edith Eaton, Florence Raymond Emery, Jennie Bartlett Field, Mabel Fairbanks, Fay Maynard Hitchcock, Zayma King, Ethel Lathrop Keith, Alice Keith Prescott, Ruth Randall, Jennie Richardson, Kate Marion Sherman, Mary Adams Souther, Helen Sibley and Sarah Helen Whicher.

March Magazines.

"New England in Kansas" is the subject of an important article by Prof. William H. Carruth, which occupies the opening place in the March number of the New England Magazine.

We are taken back into the anti-slavery conflict by the remarkable article by Rev. William E. Barton upon "The Cumberland Mountains and the Struggle for Freedom."

We are in the habit of expecting some important article on a New England town or city in each number of the New England Magazine, and the article this month is upon Manchester, N. H.

Mr. George H. Haynes has an interesting article upon the famous Know-nothing Legislature of 1855.

Annual Ball.

The Societe Saint Jean Baptiste held its second annual dance Monday evening, and was attended by upwards of seventy-five couples. Wilson's orchestra furnished music, and dancing continued until 2 o'clock in the morning with a brief intermission for refreshments. The affair was a very enjoyable one.

CITY COUNCIL.

The School Budget Received--- A Comparison.

Pool License of Harry Price Revoked After Discussion.

Petitions and Reports and a Public Hearing.

There was but a short session of the City Council Monday evening and but for the debate on revoking of a pool table license it would have been considerably shorter. The absent members were Councilmen Anderson, Field, Geary, Little, Nash, Sidelinger.

School Budget.

The annual budget of the School Committee was received and referred to the Committee on Finance. The sums wanted this year are considerably in excess of last year because of the new buildings as will be seen by the following:

	1897.	1896.
Salaries,	$70,080	$62,235
Fuel,	6,100	5,500
Janitors,	6,150	5,100
Transportation,	1,000	1,000
Books and supplies,	8,500	8,200
Evening schools,	2,400	2,800
	$94,230	$84,835

Petitions.

Councilman Johnson presented a petition of Isaac M. Holt and others for the raising of the grade and draining of South Walnut street. To Committee on Streets.

A petition was received from Wollaston citizens for a catch basin on Beach street. To Committee on Streets.

The Quincy & Boston petitioned for a location from Sagamore street near the Atlantic depot, through Sagamore, Prospect, Billings and Squantum streets to the estate of Pauline Burkhardt at Squantum. They also petitioned for a location from the junction of Hancock, School and Elm streets over Quincy avenue and Howard streets to the Braintree line. To Committee on Streets.

Petitions were received from P. J. Murphy for a common victualler's license; from Silas H. Cobb for State aid and Geo. W. Kibbets for soldiers' relief; all of which were referred.

Petitions were also received for the erection of incandescent lights on corner of Prospect and Marion, on Safford half way between Brook and Beale streets, on Highland avenue between Brook and Edmund avenue, and that gas lights on the [illegible] Highland and Edmund avenue be changed to incandescent. To Committee on Lights And that Brook street be laid out and accepted as a public way. Referred.

Reports of Committees.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported inexpedient to legislate on the matter relating to additions to the Quincy school. Accepted.

The Committee on Streets recommended that the communication of the City Auditor relative to bills for sidewalks be referred to the Committee on Finance. Accepted.

The Committee on Streets recommended reference to the executive department of the petition for removal of ledge on Willard street near the Glennon residence. Accepted.

The Committee on State Aid recommended that Asa A. Pope be paid $4 per month. Adopted.

Motions, Orders Etc.

An order from some source, probably at the request of the Chief of Police was offered that the pool license of Harry Price be revoked.

Councilman Packard said Price had come to him and said he had been in jail for selling liquors he never sold. Councilman Packard did not believe that he had sold for he believed Price's story. The Councilman then presented a petition signed by fifty or more residents that Price be permitted to retain his license. The Councilman also said Price had a large family to support.

President Bryant asked, "Do I understand that he was convicted."

Councilman Packard replied: "I do not care whether he was or not, I think it was a put up job."

Upon request of Councilman Sprague the names on the petition were read.

Chief of Police Hayden in reply to President Bryant said: Price was convicted on Feb. 18, and fined $60, which he paid. Eight testified against him all but one of whom were minors. We found liquor in the shop.

Councilman Packard asked how much was found, and Chief Hayden replied a gill.

Councilman McGrath said Price had been to see him. He claimed he had not sold liquor. That those who swore against him were those whom he had put out of his place.

Councilman Pinkham hoped license would be revoked. It was time Council backed up the Chief of Police.

Councilman Badger said he would like to know if this was a proper place. We should be very careful. If it is not properly kept we had better break it up. He would inquire if it had been called an orderly place.

Chief Hayden replied it was not. Officers had been called in there frequently.

Councilman Sprague did not think that a barber shop and pool table were a good combination.

Councilman Nickerson hoped this would prove an object lesson.

The order was adopted.

Elm Avenue.

A public hearing was given at this hour on the laying out and acceptance of Elm avenue as a public way from Hancock street to Huntington street. No one appeared for or against the order and the hearing was closed and the order laid on the table.

Later the petition was taken up and an order offered by Councilman Nickerson laying out the same as a public way took one reading.

A petition was received from M. P. Wright and others for three or more electric lights on Robertson street. To Committee on Lights.

Adjourned at 8.07.

Bethany Congregational Church.

The regular meeting of the Training School was held Monday evening. The lesson on the "Beginning of Church Life," was conducted by Deacon Franklin Hardwick.

The lecture was by Rev. Dr. Curtis M. Geer of Danvers who took for his subject, "The Church and the Roman Empire," and showed the condition of the world at the time of Christ's coming and how natural causes conspired to help the church grow so prodigiously and displace the other religions of the time.

In the time of the Apostles practically the whole of the known world was consolidated into one great commonwealth, and the world was a unit as it had never been before. Among the unifying forces were the Roman law, the magnificent military roads and a universal language.

There was also a very dark side to the life of the period; the prevalence of slavery, the debasing character of the amusements, and the evils existing in the social life were apalling. There was a degradation of religious ideas. The old national creeds were fast disappearing, and the spirit of religious tolerance had succeeded in eating the heart out of what religion they had. The old religion having lost its power there was a longing for a universal religion as well as a universal empire. Christianity was at first simply tolerated, then as it spread rapidly, it was feared, and was severely persecuted, usually more from political than religious reasons. Notwithstanding this it continued to grow in strength and popularity until A. D. 324, when it became the National religion.

Who Should Pave the Streets?

When a company desires to build a railroad through a thousand miles of sparsely-inhabited woods and mountains, over rivers and through tunnels, the stockholders are not only expected to furnish money which to build the road, but must pay in many cases large sums for the "right of way." If, however, the same company desires to build a railroad through the streets of a city where there is no grading to do, and where the people stand on every corner waiting to ride, it has been the custom to practically give the sole right to this valuable privilege without any cost whatever, save the trifling expense of purchasing here and there an alderman.

The public sentiment is changing, and this matter is being looked into more critically, with the result that street railroad companies are being asked to pave and keep in order the entire width of the street over which they run. Such an arrangement has been worked satisfactorily for several years in Philadelphia, and is being agitated in many other places.

A bill has been introduced into the Missouri legislature, which, if passed, will compel all street railroad companies to build and maintain a good roadway twelve feet wide on either side of the tracks.—Good Roads.

OLD FOLKS AT WOLLASTON.

They Gather on the Hill for a Grand Sing.

"Ye olde folkes concerte," which was given at the Wollaston Congregational church on Monday before a big audience would have filled the soul of old Father Kemp with envy if he could have heard it. All of the singers were in costume.

The concert was opened by the tune "Complaint."

"Spare us, O Lord, aloud we cry,
Nor let our sun go down at noon,
Thy years are one eternal day,
And must thy children die so soon?"

But the master piece of the chorus work was the "Anvil Chorus" from Verdi's "Il Trovatore" with the full chorus, orchestra, organ, and anvil, recalling to many in the audience the chorus as it was sung at Gilmore's Peace Jubilee with the cannon and anvil accompaniment. As the chorus sang.

"God of the Nations, in glory enthroned,
Upon our lov'd Country thy blessings pour;
Guide us and guard us from strife in the future,
Let Peace dwell among us for ever—more."

It seemed to send a thrill through every every one in the audience. It was a fitting climax to an artistic concert, reflecting great credit upon Director Wight and those who so ably assisted him.

The programe was as follows:

Ye organ (of many pipes), Almira Makepeace Smith
Ye harpescord, Adelina Desire Hinckley
Ye fiddle (first), Noahdiar Mozart'er Moorehouse
Ye fiddle (seconde), Master Obed Weston
Ye little bass fiddle and anvils, Ichabod Tobiah Faunce

BRAINTREE

The town meeting in Braintree was unusually quiet, the only contest was on the election of moderator and that was done so quietly that it was all over before many knew there was a contest.

The whole number of votes cast for this official was 59. B. H. Woodsum received 1; F. A. Hobart, 26; and John V. Scollard, 32.

This removed a familiar character from the scene of action, for it has been very seldom for many years that Mr. Hobart has not been in charge of the annual town meeting.

Another gentleman that has been a faithful servant of the town for twenty-two consecutive years, the venerable town clerk, Samuel A. Bates, was missed from his accustomed place. Owing to ill health he is obliged to give up the office.

Outside of the appointment of committees and election of officers, no business was done. The polls were closed at one o'clock and at two o'clock the following named gentlemen were declared elected:

Town Clerk,—Henry A. Monk.

Town Treasurer,—Peter D. Holbrook.

Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor,—Ansel O. Clark, William W. Mayhew and J. Parker Hayward.

Water Commissioner (3 years) and Sinking Fund Commissioner,—James T. Stevens.

School Committee for three years,—Thomas A. Watson and George W. Stevens of Tremont street.

Auditors,—Daniel Potter, L. Willard Morrison and Charles G. Sheppard.

Fence Viewers,—William A. Kane, Stillman F. Pratt and Francis W. Crooker.

Constables,—Horace Faxon, Christopher T. Bailey, Joseph W. Stetson, Thomas Downey, Leonard M. Hobart, James R. Qualey, John H. McAndrew, George H. Holbrook, Conrad Mischler, John Gallivan, Charles C. Hill, John Kelley, Benjamin J. Loring, Henry Dugan, Jr., J. Murray Knight and Edward M. Wight.

The meeting adjourned to March 15 at 9 A. M. when the other articles in the warrant will be taken up. The committee on appropriations and the committee appointed to see what can be done towards making the Town Clerk, Collector of Water Rates, Electric Light Rates and on the adjustment of salaries of town officers, etc., will report at that time.

MILTON.

A Turn Over in the Board of Selectmen—the Appropriations.

It was late Monday night before the election officers at Milton had completed their count of the votes for town officers and when the result was announced it was seen that but one of the present board of Selectmen, Arthur H. Tucker had been re-elected. For School Committee Miss Emma F. Ware was defeated by Henry C. Gallagher and Walter C. Sharpleigh was re-elected.

The officers elected were as follows:

Selectmen,—Albert A. Brackett, J. Walter Bradlee and Arthur H. Tucker.

Assessors,—Edwin D. Wadsworth for three years, Thomas N. Perkins for two years.

School Committee,—H. Clifford Gallagher and Walter C. Shapleigh.

Town Clerk,—Henry B. Martin.

Collector of Taxes,—John H. Emerson.

Auditors,—W. Newton Harlow and James S. Russell.

Park Commissioner,—J. Henry Brooks.

Sewer Commissioner for three years,—Joseph E. Hall; one year, Ernest W. Bowditch.

Board of Health,—Henry P. Jaques.

Constables,—Joseph B. Blanchard Peleg Bronsdon, Edwin L. Crossman, F. M. Farrington, Edwin A. Houghton, Jacob S. Lincoln, Timothy McDermott, Peter McIntire, Charles Mitchell, Maurice Pierce, Henry C. Shields, John H. Tucker.

Trustees of Public Library,—Edwin L. Pierce, William B. Weston and Joseph C. Whitney.

Trustee of cemetery for five years,—William H. Kennedy; for three years, William H. Forbes.

The principal appropriations were as follows:

Schools, $51,500; highways, $35,000; improvement of cemetery, $2,000; library, $2,400; poor, $7,500; soldiers relief, $500; fire department, $15,000; police department, $15,000; street lighting, $8966; salaries, $5,600; Town Hall and lot, $1,200; State aid, $1,000; printing, $1,300; miscellaneous, $15,400; health department, $1,500; Memorial day, $6,300; hydrant rental, $6,300; vault in Town Hall, $300; extension of Church street, $500; lights, $1,180; transportation of scholars. $2,700; construction of sewers, $11,500; removal of fire bell on striker on Town hall, $600; insurance of public buildings, $1,850; purchase of land and buildings on Centre street for cemetery, $15,800; salary of town bookkeeper, $800.

Officers Elected.

At a meeting of Bay View lodge, L. O. L., held Monday evening, the following officers were elected:

W. Master,—A. M. I. MacLeod.
D. Master,—Andrew Stuart.
Recording Secretary,—Malcolm MacLeod.
Financial Secretary,—William J. MacLeod.
Treasurer,—William F. MacCalder.
Chaplain,—James MacDonald.
Director of Ceremonies,—E. H. Geddes.

Those who retired last night, expecting that the "six-weeks sleighing in March" had begun, could hardly believe their senses this morning when none of the snow remained.

A theatre benefit is something new for a Quincy organization, but the people are taking kindly to the one arranged for Hodenosaunee tribe of Red Men for March 10 at the Columbia, Boston.

There appears to be no concerted action in Quincy schools looking to the observance of the centennial of the inauguration of John Adams as President, but preparations are being made in some buildings. The pupils of the Coddington school have written invitations to their parents inviting them to be present at John Adams' day exercises on Thursday afternoon. All grades will celebrate.

Town Meeting Notes.

There was a sharp contest for Selectmen, Park Commissioner and on the license question at Dedham, Monday. A spirited no-license campaign has been waged for the past few weeks which resulted in the town giving a majority of 149 for no license, the largest since the question has been voted on. For Selectmen, Edward D. Comerais displaces Charles H. Ellis, and Thomas F. Hannon displaces A. C. Smith on the board of Park Commissioners. The Selectmen elected were:—Edward D. Comerais, David Neal, Lester A. Newcombe, J. Everett Smith and Geo. T. Weatherbee.

Nelson W. Gardner defeated Mr. Dizer for Selectman of Weymouth. The others on the board who were reelected are:—Gordon Willis, Bradford Hawes, Charles E. Bicknell and George L. Newton.

Randolph elected Minot W. Baker, republican, Peter B. Hand, democratic, and John K. Willard democrat and republican, for selectmen.

Sharon appropriates $500 for sidewalks.

The license vote of Canton was close and reports disagree as to which carried the town.

Hyde Park's vote on license was: No, 727; Yes, 489.

Randolph voted nearly two to one against license, 454 to 244.

Holbrook's fire of Sunday did not prevent town meeting from being held in the Town Hall. Daniel C. Belcher, Samuel D. Chase and John A. Holbrook were elected selectmen and overseers of the poor.

Hingham elected DeWit C. Bates as selectman for three years, William Fearing as clerk and F. H. Lincoln as treasurer.

TODAY'S COURT.

Alfred H. Coughlin was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Cornelius L. White of Holbrook was arraigned for felonious assault on Abbie Jackson, aged 10 years. He was held in $5,000 until Thursday.

IN THE SPRING.

Puritana Is the Safest and Surest Remedy.

THE universal custom of taking a spring remedy is founded on a natural instinct implanted in us for our own good.

The heat-producing foods of winter leave the system clogged. Confinement in warm rooms, with lack of outdoor exercise, makes all the organs weak and torpid. Those who neglect to use a remedy or fail to get the right one are inviting serious troubles. Most chronic diseases start in the spring. The end of winter finds thousands with such symptoms as these: A general unfitness for work with either head or hands. A worn-out, tired-out feeling that cannot be overcome. There is sleeplessness, or restless sleep. Numbness of hands or feet. A sence of pressure in the head, with a feeling of gloom or despondency. There may be fluttering or palpitation of the heart. Frequently a pain in the heart or under the left shoulder. There may be rushes of blood to the head, or throbbing in the ears at times.

Kidney and liver troubles may be looked for if your digestion has not been perfect. There is fulness or pain in the right side, or pain under the right shoulder. Distaste for food, with nausea in the morning. Complexion is blotched or sallow. Tongue is coated or mouth foul. There is a dull, sleepy feeling, with disinclination to breathe deeply. If the kidneys are in danger there will be pain, weakness, or soreness in small of back, and perhaps occasional sharp pains. Urine is scanty, high colored, and on standing becomes cloudy, or deposits a red sediment. There are apt to be frequent headaches. Sores and skin eruptions frequently come.

All these various symptoms are common to spring, and show that the vital organs need renovating and prompt repair. Bright's disease, jaundice, rheumatism, and heart troubles start from just such conditions as these. No two persons will have the same set of symptoms, but any of those enumerated are important. The organs must be strengthened and repaired. Repair can only come through active digestion, and Puritana is the remedy to rely on. It will vitalize the entire body and give you a spring of buoyant, vigorous health. Clear complexion, sharp appetite, and the power to do things, is the sure reward of taking Puritana.

FREE TRADERS BANQUET.

Sixty Members of New England League Meet at Boston.

Boston, March 2.—"Missionary Work, Free Trade and Governmental Excesses" were the principal topics of discussion at the banquet of the New England Free Trade league here last evening. Over 60 members were present, and Hon. Harvey N. Shephard presided.

In opening, he said, in part: "The 4th of March is near at hand, when the congress of the United States will be engaged in the old, old business of taxing us. Increasing our industries by putting upon those that are stable the burden of those who travel on crutches. As citizens of our country, we might well regret to see it entering upon these old heresies. It must end in a demonstration that iis impossible to get a sturdy manhood by wrapping the limbs in swaddling clothes."

George S. Merriman was the first speaker. He said, in part: "I think that in all sobriety and sincerity a good word may here be said for one whose name has long been to us a target for assault—Mr. McKinley. His actions, in the choice of a cabinet, indicate a different quality from the narrowness and partisanship some of us have imputed to him. As Massachusetts men, I think we must recognize that he has admirably exemplified the maxim, 'Get the best,' in his selection of John D. Long. If for such an appointment as Lyman J. Gage praise and thanks were offered to Mr. McKinley by the Free Trade league, applause from this quarter might almost damn the new president with some of his old friends. But perhaps we may go so far as to say at present we have hopes of President McKinley—very good hopes.

"For the rising sun, indeed, we have no slurs—our best wishes, and hopes shall go with President McKinley. But let us pay our tribute of gratitude and honor to Grover Cleveland. He has his share of man's faults and a strong man's limitations. We instinctively measure him by the highest standards our nation's history affords, and while in this interested service and iron will we match him with Abraham Lincoln. We know he has lacked something of the breadth, the tact, the sympathy which made Lincoln a harmonizer as well as a captain. But, with whatever faults, he stands out in rugged relief against the prevailing evils of our time."

The other speakers were William Lloyd Garrison and Rev. Charles G. Ames.

Drexel Party Safe.

New Orleans, March 2.—The Drexel party on board the Sultana has arrived here, all well. They had no particular trouble, but struck rough weather around the Florida keys and were delayed. They did not know there was any anxiety about them, as they were only one or two days overdue.

ATTACKS COLLEAGUES.

Tillman Charges That Armor Plate Makers Control Congress.

Almost a Personal Encounter In Chamber.

Bethlehem and Carnegie Accused of Mulcting the Government.

Washington, March 2.—The senate met at 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon and at once got to work in earnest on the appropriation bills.

The District appropriation bill was passed, increasing the amount carried, as passed by the house, by $1,655,866.

At 1:15, the naval appropriation bill was taken up. The bill as reported to the senate appropriates $35,728,234, being an increase of $3,563,000 over the amount in the bill as it passed the house. The items constituting the increase include the following: Naval hospital, Chelsea, Mass., $6000; training vessel for naval academy, $250,000; increase of the navy, construction and machinery, $500,000; establishing a government armor factory, $2,500,000. The appropriations committee reports an amendment authorizing contracts to be made for three torpedo boats, not to cost more than $800,000 in all.

Senator Tillman provoked a turbulent scene in the senate last night, when he charged that the armor plate manufacturers had their paid agents in that body, who are robbing the government. The charge was resented by Senator Hawley of Connecticut, whereupon Mr. Tillman replied that "the galled jade winces," and it looked for a time as though a personal conflict was imminent, until Mr. Hawley was escorted to the cloakroom. Senators Hawley and Squire had spoken against Senator Chandler's amendment to the naval appropriation bill, to reduce the price of armor plate to $300 a ton, and Senator Elkins had complained of the lack of information on the cost of armor plate, when Senator Tillman took the floor.

"Although a member of this naval committee," began Mr. Tillman, who followed Mr. Elkins, "and although I have given as much time to this question as I could spare from my other duties, I am not able to give the senator as much information as he wants.

"But I am able to say," he added, with emphasis, "that no recent expenditure of the government has been so reeking with fraud and so disgraceful to those connected with it.

"When Secretary Whitney made the first contracts for armor plate, it was understood that those enormous prices were to be paid only for a time, and on account of the great expenses necessary to build an armor plate plant. The new navy was now beginnig to be something respectable. When last year, under the impetus of the Venezuelan war scare, the house had sent a proposal for four battleships to the senate, the number had been fixed at three, because there were only three yards in the country that could build such ships. The three companies had agreed upon the prices, had bid in collusion and consequently the government was paying over $1,500,000 more for these ships than was necessary."

Then, coming to the armor plate question, he said:

"Instead of us controlling the monopolies, the monopolies have this senate in their vicious pocket."

Senator Hawley, at this charge, half rose from his chair, as though he would interpose an objection, then changed his mind and sank back.

"I would hate to say or even insinuate," Mr. Tillman continued, twirling his glasses in his hand, "that these armor plate manufacturers have their paid agents in this senate."

Then Mr. Hawley arose, beginning: "Does the senator dare——"

Mr. Tillman took the words from his mouth. "I dare to say," he shouted, "that, so far as I can see, there are things here that can be explained in no other theory."

"If the senator dare's to say, or even to insinuate such a disgraceful thing, he says what is untrue and what is unworthy a gentleman," Mr. Hawley replied very deliberately and emphatically.

The galleries were crowded, and at this exchange of charges a deep hush succeeded their buzzing. Senator Tillman was unruffled. He thrust a hand into his trousers pocket, nonchalantly, and, looking over to Senator Hawley, coolly retorted: "To that I can only say it is the galled jade that winces."

Senator Hawley turned pale and trembled visibly. "If the senator applies that to me, I have a sufficient answer," he said, angrily.

Two or three senators gathered around Senator Hawley, endeavoring, apparently, to calm him. Finally, he walked with them into the cloakroom, while Senator Tillman continued his speech.

"I don't want to say anything harsh," he said. "God knows I've got enough vitriol in me now."

Going on with the subject of armor plate, he said he could see no explanation for the state of affairs except that manufacturers had their friends in the senate chamber. There was proof that the government was to be looted to the extent of $2,000,000 or $3,000,000, yet senators said: "We can't help it." The trusts had the government down and their hands in its pockets. Yet, can anyone oppose them? If anyone proposed that the government do its own work, make its own armor plate, senators were quick to bring out the awful spectre of socialism. Said Mr. Tillman: "The country's eyes are on us. We are already disgraced because we do not hasten to do the bidding of Wall street fast enough. The touch of the button between Wall street and the senate seems to have been broken somewhat lately, and so the metropolitan press is set upon us to whip us into line."

Continuing, Mr. Tillman said there was a still darker page in the history of the dealings of the Carnegies with the government. He referred to the charges of making defective armor in 1894. "The thieves were caught," he said, "but they were released. The secretary imposed a fine, but this glorious president of ours, who, thank God, goes out of office in two days more, remitted the fine. And yet, in the face of these facts, a senator, with his thin skin, gets up and undertakes to twit me with slandering the senate."

He continued to lecture the senate, saying he had no doubt the proposition would go through. "The old guard never surrenders," he exclaimed. "You get up here and squabble over your little $10,000 items, and let these million-dollar steals go through like greased lightning."

He had, he said, convinced himself that the cost of producing armor plate did not exceed $200 per ton. He said, however, the naval committee had placed the amount at $400, because it was necessary to do so, in order to reach an agreement and also because they had in mind that the bill must run the gantlet of the house, "where," he said, "gag law is in full force and effect, where a man, a free American must crawl on his belly like a worm or fawn, like a whipped cur, to get any recognition for anything."

He said they had also borne in mind that it would have to run the gantlet of the senate committee on appropriations.

Mr. Quay followed this speech with a motion to lay Mr. Chandler's motion to reduce to $300 per ton on the table. The motion was lost, 12 to 36. The voting in the affirmative were: Messrs. Aldrich, Allison, Brice, Cullum, Gibson, Gorman, Hale, Hawley, McMillan, Murphy, Squire, Wetmore.

In the House.

The house galleries were thronged with visitors all day, but the crowds witnessed nothing beyond the dullest of routine matters until the last half hour of the session, when the bill to prohibit the transmission of detailed accounts of prize fighting by mail or telegraph was brought up. This led to a very lively skirmish, in which prize fighting was denounced on all sides, and the advocates of the bill insisted that the "sickening details" should be suppressed, in the interest of good morals. But the bill met with most strenuous opposition, on the ground that it would tend to establish a censorship of the press. At the end of the debate, which was participated in by Messrs. Aldrich (Rep., Ills.), Grosvenor (Rep., O.), Morse (Rep., Mass.), in favor of the bill, and Messrs. Dockery (Dem., Mo.) and Cummings (Dem., N. Y.), in opposition, the adversaries of the measure outvoted the friends of the bill on several filibustering motions, but an agreement for a recess until 10 o'clock today put an end to hostilities. The bill now becomes the unfinished business, whenever the call of committees is reached, but, as conference reports have the right of way, it is doubtful whether that order of business will be again reached this session.

BY TRAIN LOADS.

Thousands of Strangers Arriving Hourly in Washington.

Washington, March, 2.—The railroads are pouring inaugural visitors into town, and with bunting flaring from innumerable windows, the city is fairly alive to the fact that the inauguration day is at hand. The new president and vice president reached the city today, and special trains are bringing soldiers, clubs and private citizens into town every hour. Should the estimates of the several railways running into Washington hold good, there will be a crowd of 250,000 strangers in the city on March 4.

Governor Hastings and staff of Pennsylvania are among recent arrivals.

The committee headquarters are constantly crowded.

Mark Hanna, Governor Bushnell of Ohio, Governor Tanner of Illinois, and Senator Elkins of West Virginia are among the prominent visitors at the headquarters.

The pension building is in the hands of the decoration committee to prepare for the inaugural ball. All official business is suspended for the remainder of the week, and the clerks will have a holiday. At the White House matters are being arranged with much care and as little disturbance as possible for the coming change of occupants. Retiring Secretary Thurber and the incoming secretary, J. Addison Porter, are busy together over books and accounts. A new set of books to start with, and the government printing office has sent down such new blanks for commissions of new office holders and the like as need the name of William McKinley substituted for that of Grover Cleveland.

Mrs. Cleveland returned from Princeton last evening and will be at the White House until the evening of March 4, to assist Mr. Cleveland in social functions.

Major and Mrs. McKinley will be the guest of President and Mrs. Cleveland at dinner this evening, so that the first meal the president-elect will take in Washington will be at the White House. The dinner will be purely a private affair and there will be no other guests.

An interesting and somewhat delicate question or what church will heve the honor of entertaining President McKinley during the coming four years has been settled in favor of the Foundry M. E. church at Fourteenth and G streets. Both the Foundry and Metropolitan were anxious for this distinction, and both churches have had delegations in Canton in the past few weeks, but Major McKinley has announced his intention of returning to the Foundry where he worshiped during his last term in congress, principally, it is understood, because the Foundry is within easy walking distance of the White House, and the major objected to making use of his carriage on Sunday.

Three Friends Case.

Washington, March 2.—The United States supreme court has rendered an opinion in the case of the steamer Three Friends, seized Nov. 7 last by the collector of customs for the district of St. John's, Fla., as forfeited to the United States under section 5, chapter 283, of the revised statutes, known as the neutrality act. The opinion fully sustained the position of the government, reversing the judgment of the district court for the southern district of Florida. Chief Justice Fuller delivered the opinion of the court.

Horbart at Washington.

New York, March 2.—Vice President-elect Hobart and his wife and son left Paterson, N. J., at 10 o'clock this morning for Washington. They will first go to New York, where, at 11 o'clock, they will take a special train, and will arrive in Washington at 3:30 p. m., making the run of 240 miles in four hours and 30 minutes.

With Purse For Fighters.

New York, March 2.—Al Smith, the stakeholder of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, left New York yesterday for Carson City, Nev. In his possession was the $30,000 at stake on the contest, which includes the $15,000 purse offered by Dan Stuart and the $15,000 that both the fighters have put up.

Will Build Cars at Laconia.

Laconia, N. H., March 2.—A syndicate, which includes Hon. Frank Jones of Portsmouth, Hon. E. H. Gillman of Exeter, Hon. C. B. Gaffney of Rochester, has bought at private sale the Laconia Car company's plant and will operate it under the name of the Laconia Car Works company. The purchase was made of Dennis O'Shea, assignee. A price was agreed upon satisfactory to the banks which did not sell their claims to the syndicate, Judge W. P. Fellows granting a license for the transfer of the property, which was signed over by Mr. O'Shea to Frank Jones personally. The members of the new corporation will hold a meeting next Monday for organization and election of officers. The sale of the property will relieve Assignee O'Shea from further care of the car shops and he will now proceed to settle up the affairs of the insolvent concern at his pleasure. The new concern is capitalized at $200,000 and will probably increase it to $500,000. Negotiations are already pending for contracts for car building and the plant will be in operation within a few weeks. The city will probably exempt it from taxation for a term of years.

Manchester's Horse Thief.

Manchester, Conn., March 2.—Henry Dimlow, known as the "King of Horse Thieves," who made such a record in holding up officers Saturday, again put in appearance last night and surprised John Gorman, the one-armed mail carrier from South Manchester to Highland park, as the latter was taking his team out of the barn. He covered him with a revolver and obliged him to lead his team out, when Dimlow jumped in and drove away. Gorman soon gave the alarm, and Deputy Sheriff Hall and a posse of 12 armed citizens started in pursuit, but after a chase of nearly six hours were obliged to return home unsuccessful.

Bay State Militia at Inauguration.

Boston, March 2.—The Massachusetts boys in blue who will represent the old bay state in a military way in the inaugural parade at Washington started off on their trip this afternoon. From this city went B company, First regiment, headed by the Cambridge Manual Training School band and a quartet of buglers representing four arms of the militia. With them went a detail of 15 men from the First division Ambulance corps, Boston, Lieutenant W. J. Rolfe.

Surety Company Pays.

Boston, March 2.—The American Surety company of New York have made payment to the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust company of this city on the bond of Frank C. Miles, the defaulting treasurer of the latter institution. Formal claim was presented to the Surety company on Feb. 23, and in response a check on the National Bank of North America, New York, for $30,000 was sent.

Keene Will Have Electrics.

Keene, N. H., March 2.—The aldermen have granted to the Keene Electric railway the right to construct an electric street railway on the trolley system in this city. Last year a similar petition was refused, and the matter was made an issue at the municipal election, and those in favor of the road were elected by large majorities.

Providence Issues Bonds.

Providence, March 2.—The city council last night passed the resolution authorizing an issue of water, sewer, highway and school bonds, aggregating $1,500,000.

First Election Under New Charter.

St. Albans, Vt., March 2.—The city election today is the first under the new charter and the contest is lively.

Rex Reigns at New Orleans.

New Orleans, March 2.—Rex arrived on the government lighthouse tender, Joseph Henry, escorted by a large fleet of boats, en route to the carnival. The pageant of entry was a gorgeous one, and, besides 1500 state troops, there were two companies of marines and two companies of bluejackets from the Maine and Texas. Captains Glass and Crowinshield were decorated with dual honor and rode in carriages with the king's suite. The French and American warships fired salutes and the fleet in the harbor blew whistles and made elaborate displays.

Bullet Removed From Brain.

Toledo, March 2.—The X-rays have been used successfully to locate a bullet in a man's brain, leading to its removal, with every prospect that the patient will live. He is Dan McFarlane, a young railroader of Buffalo, who tried to commit suicide. An X-ray photograph was made of his skull, showing the location of the ball clearly. Surgeons successfully removed the bullet. McFarlane regained consciousness soon after the operation, and his chances for recovery are good.

Town Sinking.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 2.—Wyoming, a pretty little mining town, is threatened with destruction by a cave-in of a mine. Several buildings have fallen, and the danger is momentarily extending. The town has 4000 population. It is five miles north of here and three miles southwest of Pittston, on the Susquehanna river and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad.

Caron Confesses.

Salem, Mass., March 2.—Ernest Caron, a well-known criminal, confesesd to City Marshal Hart yesterday afternoon that he was the man who murderously assaulted Mrs. Frank Rolfe on Fort avenue between 5 and 6 p. m., Feb. 20. The case is one of the most brutal and unprovoked in the criminal history of Essex county.

Pope Leo's Birthday.

Rome, March 2.—The anniversary of the coronation of the pope was duly celebrated yesterday. His holiness, who was in excellent health, received the cardinals and bishops, and delivered an address which was a paraphrase of last June's encyclical. The pope is 87 years old today.

Wayne MacVeagh Starts For Home.

Rome, March 2.—Hon. Wayne MacVeagh, the United States ambassador to Italy, and Mrs. MacVeagh left this city yesterday on their way home.

It is, or should be, the highest aim of every merchant to please his customers; and that the wide-awake drug firm of Meyers & Eshleman, Sterling, Ill., is doing so, is proven by the following, from Mr. Eshleman: "In my sixteen years' experience in the drug business I have never seen or sold or tried a medicine that gave as good satisfaction as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." Sold by A. G. Durgin.

Cutting up pranks with baby is great fun for a young mother. But before she can cut pranks with the baby she must have a healthy baby. A puny, sickly, peevish baby has no use for pranks. It lies in every young mother's power to insure the health of the expected newcomer. If she will see that the organs which make motherhood possible are healthy and vigorous, and will keep them so during the period preceding maternity, she may be sure that the baby will be healthy and happy.

A marvelous medicine for young mothers is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Taken during the period preceding motherhood it makes strong, healthy and vigorous the organs upon which rest the burdens of maternity. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, and restores steadiness to the nerves. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period. It insures the health of baby and makes its coming easy and almost painless. It is the discovery of an eminent and successful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription before my confinement, and I was only in labor a short time," writes Mrs. Minnie A. Peterson, Box 5, Easton, Fresno Co., Cal. "The physician said I got along unusually well. I think the medicine saved a great deal of suffering and I get all my friends who need it to try it."

One of the best-known of American medical men said: "If you want to reform a man, begin with his grandfather." That would be wise if it could be done. Since it cannot be done, try something else. Reform the future grandfathers and grandmothers. Do this through education. The greatest thing for a man or woman to know is himself or herself. To know one-half the capabilities and disabilities of the human body is a liberal education. A good start for this education is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Any one can have this finely illustrated 1000-page book for the small price of twenty-one one-cent stamps. This is simply to pay for mailing. If you would like the book in fine cloth binding instead of paper, send thirty-one stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

NEURALGIA BOUND HIM WITH BANDS OF PAIN

He is now Cured, and He Thanks God and P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, For It.

Mr. George Briggs, of Moore, Okla., suffered almost indescribable torment for three long years. Neuralgia held him captive. The right side of his face was so badly affected that the slightest touch would cause the unfortunate man intense agony. For several weeks he could open his mouth just wide enough to be fed with liquid nourishment, and in this manner life was sustained. Read the following extract from his letter: "Truth is stranger than Fiction."

NEURALGIA, CATARRH AND RHEUMATISM COMPLETELY CURED.

George Briggs, of Moore, Oklahoma, writes that P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him of catarrh, facial neuralgia and rheumatism, after three years of intense suffering. The pain lay in his cheek bone and temple, down the right side of his face, along his upper lip, and from the slightest touch he suffered agonies for weeks at a time. Could only open his mouth wide enough to admit a teaspoon, and any acid in his food would put him in torture. He had a consultation of the best physicians in Texas, but all to no purpose.

Catarrh and rheumatism were also causing him much trouble, until he tried P. P. P. He says he is well and will swear that there are no cases of neuralgia, catarrh and rheumatism, no matter how chronic or how old the cases are, that P. P. P. will not make a total cure of.

Mr. Briggs winds up his testimony by saying he thanks God and our medicine, P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, for the great cure.

Kidney troubles, if neglected, bring about serious and painful and very often fatal results. P. P. P. removes the irregularities, and cures the diseased parts.

Dyspepsia and indigestion, skin and blood diseases, can be speedily removed by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

Ladies, take P. P. P. and rid your face of pimples, blotches, freckles, yellow or muddy skin, wrinkles and vulgar redness.

THE INAUGURATION.

Everything In Readiness at Capital For Tomorrow's Great Event.

Rain Only Will Mar Grand Demonstration.

Washington Thronged With Visitors---Preparations For Parade.

Washington, March 3.—The principals and spectators of tomorrow's great demonstration—the inauguration of William McKinley as president of the United States—are all here and busy preparing for the event. Vice President-elect Hobart and the members-to-be of McKinley's cabinet, with their families, are comfortably located in their temporary homes.

Public men from all sections of the country are here in large numbers and political gossip is flying thick and fast Everything is subordinated to the inauguration program, and until the new administration has assumed control nothing definite concerning future policies and appointments can be obtained

The inauguration ceremony itself will, in all probability be the grandest celebration which has ever accompanied the induction of a president into office Nearly 30,000 men will be in the military and grand civic divisions of the inaugural parade.

Grand Marshal Porter is hard at work at his quarters arranging for the big parade tomorrow. A rough total of the number of the regular and militia soldiers and sailors who will be in line shows an aggregate of 11,000 to 12,000. The escort of President-elect McKinley when, in accordance with custom, he rides down the avenue to the Capitol, to take the oath of office, will number about 5000. The civic organizations vary so greatly in strength that it has been found absolutely impossible to make an exact statement of the number of men they will have in line, but it is estimated at about 12,000.

Crack marching bodies, ambitious to display their tactical skill in the parade before the largest audience they have ever faced, will find pigeon wings and other fancy maneuvers barred, for General Porter his directed, in official orders, that commanders be careful to keep their organizations in the middle of the street and prevent obliquing at any point in the line of march.

The occupants of the reviewing stand and vicinity doubtless will rejoice in the order that "Hail to the Chief" shall be performed by no band except that at the head of the column. Several hundred bands, it may be stated, will be in line. Another direction to the band leaders is that, in the civic organizations, where they will be unusually thick, bands following each other in column shall play alternately.

As the day wears on ,the depots are clogged with the rush of incomers, and there is a constant succession of loaded trains bearing individuals, military bodies and clubs. The most noteworthy of these arrivals is the crack cavalry company of Cleveland, which will form the personal escort to the president, Troop A of the Ohio National Guard. They have a complete new uniform and outfit for the occasion, and, mounted on the 80 coal-black chargers, the officers and men expect to make a fine showing. Their mounts were carefully selected for the occasion and brought on with the men, who are commanded by Captain Russell Burdick.

Arrangements have been perfected by which each important stage in the outdoor ceremonials will be announced by the booming of cannon. A national salute of 21 guns will be fired when President Cleveland leaves the White House, in company with Mr. McKinley, for the Capitol, and another salute of 21 guns will announce that they have arrived at the Capitol. One gun will be fired when Mr. McKinley takes the oath of office, a national salute of 21 guns at the conclusion of the inaugural address, when President McKinley and Mr. Cleveland begin their return march to the White House, and the same number of guns when the tour made, President McKinley enters the White House or the reviewing stand. Locally, the all-important question now is the weather, and of that the weather sharps fight shy and ask for mature deliberation and the further development of meteorological facts before hazarding a prediction.

One thing they will announce and that is that the temperature will be entirely comfortable. Snow is out of the question. Whether it will rain or not is an open question. There is a wet area out West and gathering showers in the South, but, though there has been some gathering cloudiness around the District of Columbia, and a growing haze, which it takes longer each morning for the sun to dissipate, there is a persistent high barometer that brings clear skies long before noon. On the whole, the indications favor showery weather and possibly rain just before or just after inauguration day, with a prospect that that day itself may escape, and, indeed, that the showers may be either light or forced into another direction.

Pennsylvania avenue, the far-famed thoroughfare of the capital city, is choked with people, and the railroad stations are congested with traffic. Owing to the great number of trains, many are several hours behind time, and individuals and clubs are late in reaching the city.

DAY IN CONGRESS.

Both Houses Working Night and Day to Complete Work.

Washington, March 3.—The senate had its share of inauguration crowds yesterday and they were compensated by something more than the routine proceedure of appropriation bills. The bill for an international monetary conference was taken up at 1 o'clock and after two hours of animated debate the house amendments were agreed to without the formality of a yea and nay vote. This is the final legislative stage of the bill and it now goes to the president. The debate on the bill brought out earnest speeches from the silver Republican senators and frequent reference to the St. Louis convention. Mr. Dubois warned his former Republican associates that the silver Republicans had thrown off their old connections for good. Mr. Teller of Colorado, referred to the choice of Mr. Sherman as secretary of state and Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury as indicating that the coming administration would not be in sympathy with an international monetary conference or agreement. Mr. Cannon of Utah, Mr. Mantle of Montana, two silver Republicans, Mr. Stewart of Nevada and Mr. Morgan of Alabama, also participated in the debate. During the day Senators-elect Spooner of Wisconsin, Fairbanks of Indiana, and Heitfeld of Idaho, were on the floor of the senate. The fortification appropriation bill was passed early in the day.

The senate remained in session last night until 12:30. The galleries were crowded by inauguration visitors. The deficiency bill was passed and the sundry civil and Indian bills were sent back to conference.

House Proceedings.

The house is working night and day. The session began at 10 o'clock and continued far into the night. The galleries and surrounding corridors buzzed with inaugural visitors. The spectators were hardly repaid for their patience, however, as the day session was a dull grind of routine, save for an hour when Mr. Dalzell (Rep. Penn.) made an elaborate defense of Justice Shiras of the supreme court, who was attacked a fortnight ago in the house for the alleged reversal of his position on the income tax question. An attempt was made to bring up the anti-prize fighting bill which came over as unfinished business from yesterday, but it was staved off by short recesses, awaiting conference reports, which would take precedent over it.

The house passed the conference report on the sundry civil bill last night after considerable wrangling.

Platt Confers With McKinley.

Washington, March 3.—Senator T. C. Platt had a long conference with President-elect McKinley yesterday afternoon, at which a cabinet portfolio for New York was discussed. The senator says Major McKinley is sure to have a New Yorker in his official family, and is only desirous of securing some man who will be satisfactory to all the factions in the Empire state. Platt thinks Cornelius N. Bliss may yet accept an appointment, although he refused when the proffer was made before.

MRS. CORBETT AT CARSON.

Jim Promises Her Half the Big Purse---Fitz's Hard Blow.

Carson, Nev., March 3.—Mrs. J. J. Corbett and Helen Corbett, wife and sister of the champion, are here, and Jim is enjoying a brief vacation from training. Several well-posted writers of training think Corbett is working too much and is in danger of going stale. Jim, however, scoffs at such a possibility.

Fitzsimmons is working harder than ever, and, now that the snow has disappeared from the ground, he takes considerable outdoor exercise.

Mrs. Corbett will leave tonight for San Francisco. Her husband has promised to give her half of the $30,000 purse he expects to win on March 17.

Refuses to Arbitrate.

Stoneham, Mass., March 3.—The state board of arbitration and conciliation visited the shoe factory of T. H. Jones, where there is a strike of employes of long standing, yesterday, and tried to reach an agreement on the part of Mr. Jones, to have the issues submitted to arbitration. Mr. Jones' reply to the board was to the effect that, as he had nothing to arbitrate, he declined to confer with the board in its official capacity. Mr. Jones says that he has 150 at work, which is all the help he needs.

Admiral Walker Will Soon Retire.

Washington, March 3.—Rear Admiral Walker will be detatched from duty as president of the lighthouse board on the 20th inst., and placed on the retired list on that date.

DINED AT WHITE HOUSE.

President and Wife Entertained President-Elect McKinley.

President Cleveland and Mrs. Cleveland last night entertained at dinner President-elect McKinley. The invitation, which, while not a novelty and not always usual to a change of administration, was extended through Secretary Porter several days ago, but, up to a late hour yesterday afternoon it was doubtful whether or not it could be carried out, owing to the indisposition of President Cleveland. Word came to Mr. Porter at the Ebbitt, however, about 5 o'clock that the president had so far recovered from his rheumatic attack as to be able to carry out the engagement, which was renewed in pressing form. Therefore, a handsome brougham, the same that had conveyed the president-elect from the station to his hotel, stood at the doorway of the Ebbitt House about 7 o'clock last night. The president-elect emerged from the hotel at 7:30, and was greeted with cheers by the crowd, which formed on either side of a line on the sidewalk. He took his seat in the carriage with Secretary Porter, and was driven in a few minutes to the White House. It was expected that Mrs. McKinley would accompany her husband to the dinner, but, owing to the exhaustion that followed the exciting events of the journey from Canton and the day in Washington, she was unable to do so. At the White House, Mr. Porter left the president-elect at the inner doorway, and the latter entered at once the red parlor, where he was greeted cordially by President Cleveland, who had been in waiting with Mrs. Cleveland for the purpose. Without delay, dinner was announced, and the party retired to the private dining room, where a suitable repast had been prepared. There was nothing elaborate about the dinner or the decorations. Mrs. Cleveland had given her personal attention to the arrangements, and the table decorations and menu were exceedingly simple and in good taste. Freed from the restraining influence of others, the retiring and incoming presidents and Mrs. Cleveland chatted without formality.

While President Cleveland was extending this courtesy to his successor, the vice president-elect was entertaining Secretary Porter and some chosen friends at dinner at the Arlington.

Secretary Olney also provided a bouteous dinner, and invited some friends to meet two members of the new cabinet—Messrs. Gary and Gage.

Major McKinley left the White House about 10 o'clock and immediately returned to the Ebbitt. There being nothing definite known as to the time of his return, no crowd had collected about the hotel doors. The major quickly alighted from his carriage, hurried through the corridor and took the elevator for his apartments, where he remained for the rest of the evening.

LABOR BULLETIN.

Chief of Bureau of Statistics Reports on Wages.

Boston, March 3.—The first labor bulletin of Horace G. Wadlin, chief of the bureau of statistics of labor for 1897, has just been issued. From the table relating to the pay of city laborers it is seen that "the largest concentration is on the $2 per day rate, although 28.62 per cent of the quotations indicate a less compensation, and 31.52 per cent a higher compensation per day. No average could be reduced from these rates, as the number of employes to which wage this quotation applies is unknown." The highest rate paid was $6.50, paid to masons in the sewer department at Springfield, while the lowest was $1, which was in several cities.

The statistics of savings run from 1890 to 1896. In that time there was an increase of 8.51 per cent in the number of open accounts, and 24.23 per cent in the amount of money in total deposits. The amount of deposits per capita rose from $157.93 to $175.70 in 1895.

A comparison of the tables shows the banks to have been much less affected by the industrial depression than might have been supposed.

To Remove Mayor's Appointments.

Lowell, Mass., March 3.—Both branches of the city council met last night with a purpose, so far as the Republicans were concerned, to remove the mayor's recent appointees to public offices. This power is given by the new charter signed a week or more ago by the governor. The common council gave a solid Republican vote in favor of the removals, and if the aldermen had done likewise the matter would have been settled, but Alderman Howe (Rep.), the senior member and chairman of the board, refused to act as chairman while Mayor Courtney, who was present and declined to leave the chamber, remained, and this defeated the unanimous party action necessary. The situation therefore remained unchanged.

Statement to Policy Holders.

Boston, March 3.—The announcement is made tonight by John Henry Rolker of his election to the presidency of the Massachusetts Benefit Life association in a statement to policy holders. He says that having decided to accept the presidency he has received the consent of the following gentlemen to form a part of the new directors: Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, director and first vice president; Charles S. Hamlin, assistant secretary of the treasury, director and counsel for the board of directors; Louis Windmuller, a New York merchant, as director, and Henry M. Billings and George E. Curtis, both practical insurance men.

THE PRESIDENT'S START.

Was Rewarded with Coppers for Carrying Corn to Mill.

Speaking of the early schoolhouses of Braintree and Quincy, Whitney in his history says of the one near the foot of Penns hill in 1697 99:

Mrs. Belcher kept the school and it is related "that it was customary with her to carry her corn to mill herself, excepting when some one of her scholars lent her a helping hand. John Adams, afterwards President of the United States, was a favorite among the rest, and when he carried the corn she gave him as a reward three coppers, and charged him at the same time to keep his money to buy land with. It is unnecessary to add how well he profited by early instruction. This school house was a very fine one for those days. It had a bell attached to it for the use of the scholars. But a bell was so novel a thing that, when the master or mistress was not in the school, it was kept incessantly ringing. This was not found so agreeable to those who lived near, and who would oftentimes have preferred to have been spared what the scholars considered so delightful a treat. One morning the scholars came to their bell rope with the accustomed earnestness, but most unfortunately for them the bell had been taken away in the night, and was never afterwards heard of."

Lesson in Patriotism.

Supt. Seaver, on the observance of March 4 in the Boston schools, says to the teachers:

"Herewith you will find copy of proclamation issued by Gov. Wolcott, by which he recommends that, to impress upon the pupils in the schools the significance of the inauguration of a President of the United States, and the importance of the part sustained by this commonwealth in American history, this subject be given special attention in the schools on the fourth day of March. My desire is that on that day you so shape the work of your schools that the topics named by His Excellency the Governor be made as prominent as possible.

"I know of no better lesson in patriotism and in civil government than hearty co-operation with our chief executive magistrate in bringing before the children in our schools the fundamental facts upon which our national life is based, and from which it moves on to even greater achievement."

CALL EXTENDED.

Society in Western Massachusetts Wants a Wollaston Pastor.

[Special from Greenfield, Mass.]

At a meeting of All Souls' Unitarian Parish, of Greenfield, Mass., held on Tuesday evening, a unanimous call was extended to the Rev. Jas. E. Bagley, of the Wollaston Unitarian Society, to become the pastor of the society.

After reports of committees had been made, an informal vote was taken, and Mr. Bagley had a clear majority. On motion of Hon. E. A. Hall, Mr. Bagley was then given a unanimous vote.

The salary will be $1800 a year and the month of August is given for a vacation. The motion for the call also provides that the pastorate, if Mr. Bagley accepts the call, can be terminated by either the parish or pastor at the expiration of three months' notice.

Greenfield is a town of about 7000 population situated in the western part of the state, about thirty miles north of Springfield.

Granites Defeat Chelseas.

At Gourd's alleys on Tuesday evening the Granites defeated the Chelseas 2333 to 2205. The home team was in fine trim and won every string, scoring 800 in one. Perry was high man on totals, his three strings not varying over seven pins.

Massachusetts Benefit.

The surprise of the day to most of the policy holders in the Massachusetts Benefit Life Association is the turn-over in the officers. George A. Litchfield, formerly of Wollaston, for many years the president, is succeeded by John H. Rolker, who has been the manager of the foreign branch of the company. Hon. Carroll D. Wright becomes first vice president, and Charles H. Becall second vice president. Associated with the above on the board of directors are Louis Windmuller of New York, Hon. Charles S. Hamlin, Everett S. Litchfield, Samuel T. Elliott, Henry M. Billings and George E. Curtis.

Ex-President Litchfield has been interviewed by the Journal and says:

"I do not know that I can say much of anything in regard to the matter, except that some of the officers have had in contemplation for some little time the question of resigning, as they considered that the attacks upon them had been unjust and uncalled for.

"It is a matter of record that the association was never in as good a condition as at the close of 1895 and up to March, 1896, when the attacks began. The association did the largest business in 1895 it had ever done, and had reached a point in its history when the new business from regular agencies was largely in excess of all depletions from lapses and deaths.

"The association made a net gain in 1895 of some $6,000,000 worth of insurance and about 12,000 policies. The only serious problem that confronted it was how to deal justly and equitably with the policy holders who entered the association prior to 1890.

"In order to provide for the larger mortality experienced because of the increasing age of these early policy holders, there having been no provision permitted by the law under which these policies were issued, of any accumulation of funds we had to follow the law, which simply permitted the officers to call for money to provide for current death losses without accumulating funds to provide for the increasing mortality cost.

"Undoubtedly, much of the agitation has been from misapprehension and ignorance of the legal limitations by which the company was restricted in its earlier years.

"I have no desire at present to enter upon a more critical examination of the causes that have produced the agitation as it prevailed for about a year, but may feel constrained to do so at some future time.

"Suffice to say that the Board of Managers felt that a radical change in the management might perhaps be beneficial to the association, and they have been willing to set aside all personal considerations with a view to conserving the interests of the policy holders, who have much more at stake than any Board of Managers can possibly have."

I desire to attest to the merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as one of the most valuable and efficient preparations on the market. It broke an exceedingly dangerous cough for me in 24 hours, and in gratitude therefor, I desire to inform you that I will never be without it and you should feel proud of the high esteem in which your Remedies are held by people in general. It is the one remedy among ten thousand. Success to it.—O. R. DOWNEY, Editor Democrat, Albion, Ind. For sale by A. G. Durgin.

The months for renewing and healing in the physical world.

The months for new life, new energy, new blood in men and women.

The months when our need of help from medicine is greater than at any other time of year.

The months when Hood's Sarsaparilla will do us the most good because we are all now especially susceptible to benefit from this medicine.

The months when Hood's Sarsaparilla is taken by the millions because they have found that it is the medicine which does them good.

The months when you should take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it will purify, vitalize and enrich your blood, and put you in good condition to resist the debilitating effects of changeable, warmer weather. Try it now.

Satisfied with Hood's.

"For several years I have taken two or three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla every spring for eradicating the humors in the blood and for building up the system generally. My experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla has been very satisfactory." GEO. FRANK, care of D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Great Blood Purifier.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is our family physician and I believe it needs no recommendation. Wherever it has once been used there can be no substitute for it, as a blood purifier." MISS C. A. ELLIOTT, Grinnell, Iowa.

Builds Up the System.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for weakness with which I was a sufferer in the spring, and I have found it the best medicine to create an appetite and build up the strength that I have ever taken, and I recommend it highly." J. F. WARD, Labelle, Ohio.

Keeps the Stomach in Order.

"I keep Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house all the time and regard it as the best spring medicine I can find. It has proved beneficial in keeping my stomach in order, and since I began taking it I can eat anything I wish." H. STONE, Sherborn, Mass.

A Few Cold Facts.

Yes,—the citizens of Quincy do want good stores, and when one grows right in their midst, they know how to appreciate it.

Travelling men from North, South and West tell the same story —"One of the finest and best equipped furniture stores in the country." This is by no means idle talk; the same store in Boston would cost ten times the rent.

Buying right and selling right is the secret of its success. A store that is supported by the people and for the people. No matter what you need for your home, you are sure to find it here in made-to-wear furniture, at a trifle less in cost than the same article can be found elsewhere. Seeing alone is believing, and all are welcome here without obligation to buy.

Hose 4 Members Anxious.

According to all accounts things are not as harmonious in the Quincy Point Hose company as they should be. In the first place some of the old men were dropped this year and new men added; then the Chief Engineer issued orders that hereafter the Hose house was not to be used as a loafing place by the members of the company.

When the company came to organize there were several who wanted to be appointed steward in order to draw that $40 additional. This was finally settled and then came the order in the City Council reducing the number of men from ten to six and cutting off the steward's salary.

The reducing the number of men in the company is a bad pill for them to swallow, for if the order passes they wonder whose head will have to drop in the bucket.

The members claim that ten men is little enough for the company, but as there were but ten alarms last year to which the company responded, coupled with the fact that the Chief Engineer informed the committee on Fire Department that the members of Hose 4 did not earn $5 last year, their arguments may have little weight.

Has Quincy Done Wrong?

The Committee on Election Laws reported leave to withdraw in the Legislature Tuesday on the petition that in cities and towns the counting of ballots may be commenced before the polls are closed. In Quincy it has of late been the practice to begin the counting before the close of the polls.

Mayors' Club.

It is expected that Gov. Wolcott will be a guest of the Mayors' club of Massachusetts on Saturday at Youngs. The committee appointed at the last meeting to consider a general charter for all cities in the Commonwealth, is expected to report at this meeting, and its report will be the subject of discussion.

To Decorate.

The Quincy Historical society will decorate the Adams house on Franklin in an unique and historical manner, in honor of the centennial of the inauguration of President John Adams.

Connecticut Law and Order League.

New Haven, March 3.—The Law and Order league has issued a statement in reply to the resolution recently presented to the state legislature asking for a repeal of the charter of the league, in which the sensational statement is made that the authors of the movement have the indorsement of the gamblers, brothel keepers and illegal liquor sellers. The statement declares that during the 20 months' existence of the league it has investigated 685 suspected places, has caused the arrest of 232 criminals.

Vermonters Leave For Washington.

Burlington, Vt., March 3.—The Vermont delegation to the inaugural ceremonies at Washington departed on a special train last night. This train consisted of two sleeping coaches for the militiamen and one for the officers, two baggage cars and one filled with evergreens which will be used for decorating purposes on the Vermont reviewing stand.

Report on Free Delivery.

Washington, March 2.—The report of the free mail delivery experiments in the rural districts are reviewed in a special report sent to congress by Postmaster General Wilson. It gives detailed data of the operation of the rural free delivery experimental services at 42 postoffices in 21 states, based upon the record of two months, December, 1896, and January, 1897. It shows as the result of the experiment that an annual appropriation of from $45,000,000 to $50,000,000 would be necessary to defray the cost of the general extension.

Wool Market Strong.

Boston, March 3.—Business in the wool market continues up to the average and shows no sign of weakness. A large trade in South American cross breds has been done during the past week, and over 1,500,000 pounds of this class has been cleaned up. Over 1,100,000 pounds of territory wool is recorded on the week's sales. These wools are firm at old prices and many lots are being withheld from the market. Fleece wools hold firm and under light offerings values are working up somewhat. The market for Australian wools shows no material change in price and the sales are made on about the same basis of quotation.

—There can be no question that this is the age of progress says the Milford Gazette. For example, a trolley road is projected up the valley of the Nile, among the pyramids. The mummies are expected to open their eyes in astonishment as the "broomstick train" whizzes by.

—The expectorator declared as he expectorated on the parquet floor that the high hat must go. The point was conceded, and now spitting is a crime in several cities. It is not a bad idea that reforms should go in couples.

—A young woman in North Dakota, who has saved up $300, wrote to a resident of Lincoln county to inquire if Oregon is a good place to come to. The Leader says, "Let her come. A woman that can save up $300 in North Dakota can keep a husband in luxury in Oregon."

On the morning of Feb. 20, 1895, I was sick with rheumatism, and lay in bed until May 21st, when I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application of it relieved me almost entirely from the pain and the second afforded complete relief. In a short time I was able to be up and about again.—A. T. MOREAUX, Luverne, Minn. Trajan the great Roman emperor, had a summer palace which was completely covered by the waters of lake Nemi. It was 500 feet long, 270 feet wide and 60 feet high.

Granite Bills.

The National Granite Cutters Union is reported to have endorsed the strike of the Boston granite cutters. Secretary Duncan has told the men to stand firm and to insist upon the same terms secured by granite cutters all over the country. He claims that the adoptions of the "discrimination" clause will benefit the manufacturer as well as the workmen, inasmuch as it insures uniformity of wages.

The cutters and tool sharpeners of Westerly will ask for a new bill of prices.

At Hallowell, Me., work has been resumed, the terms being practically the same as under the old bill.

The Shakers have made a discovery which is destined to accomplish much good. Realizing that three-fourths of all our sufferings arise from stomach troubles, that the country is literally filled with people who cannot eat and digest food, with subsequently suffering pain and distress, and that many are starving, wasting to mere skeletons, because their food does them no good, they have devoted much study and thought to the subject, and the result is this discovery of their Digestive Cordial.

A little book can be obtained from your druggist that will point out the way of relief at once. An investigation will cost nothing and will result in much good.

Children all hate to to take Castor Oil, but not Laxol, which is palatable.

In a shingle mill at Grays Harbor, Wash., recently the entire works were kept running all day on the logs of a single cedar tree, from which 188,500 shingles were cut.

IN THREE LEGISLATURES.

Massachusetts.

Boston, March 3.—The senate held another short session yesterday, sitting just 28 minutes. More than 20 bills were put through various stages of legislation, no objection being made in any case.

The Worcester city hall bill was passed to be engrossed, and a bill for the reapportionment of Suffolk county was passed to a third reading. There was no debate on either bill.

The house killed the bill to enable cities and towns to manufacture and distribute gas and electricity for municipal purposes.

The committee on liquor laws reported the bill providing for a continuation of liquor licenses, or the refunding of a part of the license fee money, to the heirs, in the event of the death of the licensee.

The committee on judiciary reported adversely on the proposed legislation to prohibit stock gambling by custodians or trustees of public or private funds.

The same committee reported ought not to pass on the bill authorizing police officers to take bail without fees.

New Hampshire.

Concord, N. H., March 3.—In the senate yesterday the bill licensing itinerant venders was passed. In the house, the special order was the bill to repeal the molety clauses in the statutes. The minority report of the committee was, inexpedient to legislate, while the majority report was, that it ought to pass. The most extended discussion of the session ensued, and when the vote was taken 158 voted in favor of the minority report and 126 in favor of that of the majority.

Maine.

Augusta, Me., March 3.—The fight of the day in the legislature yesterday was in the senate on the Gorham normal school appropriation of $33,000, which was finally passed, after quite a siege of oratory.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

In the current issue of The Electrical Review is the announcement of a new discovery in the art of casting copper. Copper is ordinarily cast by the use of alloys. It is stated that the new metal, which is known as MB copper, is cast pure and therefore is without alloys. Foundrymen have heretofore considered this an impossibility.

The United States ambassador, Mr. Thomas F. Bayard, and Mrs. Bayard will bid farewell to Queen Victoria on Thursday, when they will dine and sleep at Windsor castle.

Rev. Mr. Herrick of Minneapolis, was married at Paris to Miss Jennie Sanderson, sister of Miss Sybil Sanderson, the celebrated singer.

KILLED BY PRESIDENT.

Amendments to Immigration Law Not Approved by Cleveland.

He Points to Growth Under Liberal Admissions.

Time Has Not Come For Restriction on Account of Overpopulation.

Washington March 3.—The president has sent the following message to congress vetoing the Lodge immigration bill:

To the House of Representatives:

I herewith return without approval house bill No. 7864, entitled "An act to amend the immigration laws of the United States."

By the first section of this bill, it is proposed to amend Section 1 of the act of March 3, 1891, relating to immigration, by adding to the classes of aliens thereby excluded from admission to the United States the following: All persons physically capable and over 16 years of age who cannot read and write the English language or some other language; but, a person not so able to read and write, who is over 50 years of age, and is the parent or grandparent of a qualified immigrant over 21 years of age, and capable of supporting such parent or grandparent, may accompany such immigrant, or such parent or grand parent may be sent for and come to join the family of a child or grandchild over 21 years of age similarly qualified and capable, and a wife or minor child not so able to read and write may accompany or be sent for and come and join the husband or parent similarly qualified and capable."

A radical departure from our national policy relating to immigration is here presented. Heretofore we have welcomed all who came to us from other lands, except those whose moral or physical condition threatened danger to our national welfare and safety. Relying upon the jealous watchfulness of our people to prevent injury to our political and social fabric, we have encouraged those coming from foreign countries to cast their lot with us and join in the development of our vast domain, securing in return a share in the blessings of American citizenship. A century's stupendous growth, largely due to the assimilation and thrift of millions of sturdy and patriotic adopted citizens, attests the success of this generous and free-handed policy, which, while guarding the people's interests, exacts from our immigrants only physical and moral soundness and a willingness and ability to work.

A contemplation of the grand results of this policy cannot fail to arouse a sentiment in its defense; for, however it might have been regarded as an original proposition and viewed as an experiment, its accomplishments are such that if it is to be applied at this late day its disadvantages should be plainly apparent, and the substitute adopted should be just and adequate, free from uncertainties and guarded against difficult or oppressive administration.

It is not claimed, I believe, that the time has come for the further restriction of immigration on the ground that an excess of population overcrowds our land. It is said, however, that the quality of recent immigration is undesirable. The time is quite within recent memory when the same thing was said of immigrants who, with their descendants, are now numbered among our best citizens. It is said that too many immigrants settle in our cities, thus dangerously increasing their idle and vicious population. This is certainly a disadvantage. It cannot be shown, however, that it affects all our cities nor that it is permanent; nor does it appear that this condition, where it exists, demands as its remedy the reversal of our present immigration policy.

The claim is also made that the influx of foreign laborers deprives of the opportunity to work those who are better entitled than they to the privilege of earning their livelihood by daily toil. An unfortunate condition is certainly presented when any who are willing to labor are unemployed. But, so far as this condition now exists among our people, it must be conceded to be a result of phenomenal business depression and the stagnation of all enterprises in which labor is a factor. With the advent of settled and wholesome financial and economic governmental policies and a consequent encouragement to the activity of capital, the misfortunes of unemployed labor should be, to a great extent, at least, remedied. If it continues, its natural consequences must be to check the further immigration to our cities of foreign laborers and to deplete the ranks of those already there. In the meantime, those most willing and best entitled ought to be able to secure the advantages of such work as there is to do.

It is proposed by the bill under consideration to meet the alleged difficulties of the situation by establishing an educational test, by which the right of a foreigner to make his home with us shall be determined. Its general scheme is to prohibit from admission to our country all immigrants "physically capable and over 16 years of age who cannot read and write the English language or some other language," and it is provided that this test shall be applied by requiring immigrants seeking admission to read and afterwards to write not less than 20 nor more than 25 words of the constitution of the United States, in some language, and that any immigrant failing in this shall not be admitted, but shall be returned to the country from whence he came, at the expense of the steamship or railroad company which brought him. The best reason that could be given for this radical restriction of immigration is the necessity of protecting our population against degeneration and saving our national peace and quiet from imported turblence and disorder.

I cannot believe that we would be protected against these evils by limiting immigration to those who can read and write in any language 25 words of our constitution. In my opinion, it is infinitely more safe to admit 100,000 immigrants who, though unable to read and write, seek among us only a home and opportunity to work, than to admit one of those unruly agitators and enemies of governmental control who cannot only read and write, but delights in arousing by inflammatory speech the illiterate and peacefully inclined to discontent and tumult. Violence and disorder do not originate with illiterate laborers.

They are the victims of the educated agitator. The ability to read and write, as required in this bill, in and of itself, affords, in my opinion, a misleading test of contented industry and supplies unsatisfactory evidence of desirable citizenship or a proper apprehension of the benefits of our institutions. If any particular element of our illiterate immigration is to be feared for other causes than illiteracy, these causes should be dealt with directly, instead of making illiteracy the pretext for exclusion, to the detriment of other illiterate immigrants, against whom the real cause of complaint cannot be alleged. The provisions intended to rid that part of the proposed legislation already referred to from obvious hardship appear to me to be indefinite and inadequate.

A parent, grandparent, wife or minor child of a qualified immigrant, though unable to read and write, may accompany the immigrant or be sent for to join his family, provided the immigrant is capable of supporting such relatives. These exceptions to the general rule of exclusion contained in the bill were made to prevent the separtion of families; and yet neither brothers nor sisters are provided for.

In order that relatives who are provided for may be reunited, those still in foreign lands must be sent for to join the immigrant here. What formality is necessary to constitute this prerequisite, and how are the facts of relationship and that the relative is sent for to be established? Are the illiterate relatives of immigrants who have come here under prior laws entitled to the advantage of these exceptions? A husband who can read and write and who determines to abandon his illiterate wife abroad will find here, under this law, an absolutely safe retreat. The illiterate relatives mentioned must not only be sent for, but such immigrant must be capable of supporting them when they arrive. This requirement proceeds upon the assumption that the foreign relatives coming here, in every case, by reason of poverty, are liable to become a public charge unless the immigrant is capable of their support. The contrary is very often true. And yet, is unable to read and write, though quite able and willing to support themselves and their relatives here besides, they could not be admitted, under the provisions of this bill, if the immigrant was impoverished, that the aid of his fortunate, but illiterate, relative might be the means of saving him from pauperism. The fourth section of this bill provides "that it shall be unlawful for any male alien who has not, in good faith, made his declaration before the proper court of his intention to become a citizen of the United States to be employed on any public work of the United States or to come regularly or habitually into the United States by land or water for the purpose of engaging in any mechanical trade or manual labor for wages or salary, returning from time to time to a foreign country."

The fifth section provides "that it shall be unlawful for any person, partnership, company or corporation knowingly to employ any alien coming into the United States in violation of the next preceding section of this act."

The prohibition against the employment of aliens upon any public works of the United States is in line with other legislation of a like character. It is quite a different thing, however to declare it a crime for an alien to come regularly and habitually into the United States for the purpose of obtaining work from private parties if such alien returns from time to time to a foreign country and to constitute any employment of such alien a criminal offense.

When we consider these provisions of the bill, in connection with our long northern frontier and the boundaries of several of our states and territories, often but an imaginary line separating them from the British dominions, and recall the friendly intercourse between the people who are neighbors on either side, the provisions of this bill affecting them must be regarded as illiberal, narrow and un-American.

The residents of these states and territories have separate and especial interests, which, in many cases, make an interchange of labor between their people and their alien neighbors most important, frequently with the advantage largely in favor of our citizens. This suggest the inexpediency of federal interference with these conditions when not necessary to the correction of a substantial evil affecting the general welfare. Such unfriendly legislation as is proposed could hardly fail to provoke retailiatory measures, to the injury of many of our citizens who now find employment on adjoining foreign soil.

The uncertainty of construction to which the language of these provisions is subject, is a serious objection in a statute which describes a crime. An important element in the offense sought to be created by these sections is the coming "regularly or habitually into the United States."

These words are impossible of definite and certain construction. The same may be said of the equally important words, "returning from time to time to a foreign country."

A careful examination of this bill has convinced me that for the reasons given and others not specifically stated, its provisions are unnecessarily harsh and oppressive, and that its defects in construction would cause vexation and its operation would result in harm to our citizens.

GREAT WAR IMMINENT.

King George of Greece Will Defy Combined Powers.

Bulgaria Will Join Hellenes In Struggle.

Troops Are Hurrying Night and Day to Borders of Macedonia.

Boston, March 3.—The Globe has the following copyrighted dispatch from Athens by James Creelman:

The secretaries of the six great powers went to the foreign minister here at 6 o'clock this evening and handed him an ultimatum requiring the Greek troops and the fleet to withdraw from Crete within six days.

The ultimatum announces that the powers are in accord on two points: Crete cannot be annexed to Greece, and the powers intend to endow the island with effective autonomy.

If after six days Greece does not withwill exhaust all efforts to compel acquiescence..

I have authority to say that King George will refuse to comply. The Greek minister of foreign affairs told me an hour ago that he had replied to all demands for the withdrawal of the Greek army and navy from Crete. "Never, never, never that," will be the reply of King George. "Greece will shed her last drop of blood to defend the Christians from further massacre."

The king says he is ready to put himself at the head of his army and end the reign of wholesale murder which has horrified the whole world. All the fleets of Europe cannot terrify him or shake his resolution.

Ministers of foreign powers here fully recognize that their governments have made a colossial blunder in firing on the Christian flag and assisting Turks to kill Cretans. Italy has endeavored to withdraw from the entanglement.

The great war is imminent. Greek troops are hurrying night and day to the borders of Macedonia, where 20,000 armed Christians are ready to rise against the sultan.

Bulgaria has offered to join Greece if the powers persist in interfering. It is probable that Greece will at once declare war on Turkey, and if the powers blockade the Piraeus the Greek army will march into Macedonia.

The Turks realize that the Ottoman empire is trembling on the verge f doom, and Mohammedan troops are being massed in Macedonia.

King George has a united people behind him, and will give the powers an opportunity to choose between Christian civilization and Islamism.

It is a wonderful and historic spectacle. The Greek consul at Canea telegraphs that the Turks, in despair at the failure of the powers to deliver 15,000 Turkish soldiers to the relief of 1500 Turkish non-combatants surrounded by Christian insurgents at Candamo, appealed to him to interfere and save them. The consul agreed, but replied that he had no Greek warship to convey him. The Turks then asked other foreign consuls to telegraph their admirals to give the Greek consul a man-of-war.

The consuls asked the Greek consul how he intended to accomplish his mission. He explained that he would go to the camp of Vassos, the Greek commander, and get authority sufficient to save the people when the fort was taken. The foreign consuls would not consent to have their influence lessened and answered that the entente between Vassos and the admirals would be sufficient.

Yesterday M. Skouses, the Greek foreign minister, telegraphed the consul to go to the scene and do everything in his power to see that the population of Candamo is protected when the place is captured.

ANOTHER CUBAN VICTORY.

Five Hundred Spanish Guerillas Put to Rout Near Havana.

New York, March 3.—A special to The World from Havana by way of Jacksonville, Fla., says:

General Rodriguez has signalized his entry into Havana province, as the head of the Cuban army here, by two encounters with the Spaniards that will make them fear him.

A force of 350 insurgents, supposed to be under his personal command, encountered more than 500 Spanish guerillas, commanded by Colonel Jesus Moroso, at the heights of De Los Carson of Carsinez, 25 miles south of Havana. The Spanish had raided a camp of pacificos there some days before, and hearing that it had been re-established, marched again to kill those who were left. The insurgents allowed the guerillas to reach nearly to the top of the hill, where the path was steep and narrow, then fired, rolled down hugh boulders and sprung two mines which had been laid in the path 100 yards apart. The guerillas were panic-stricken by the frightful slaughter, and to complete their route a small field piece sent into their ranks grape and canister in the shape of small pieces of iron gathered from the ruined machinery of sugar mills nereby.

No rear attack was made as is usually done and the surviving Spaniards rushed out of the defile and down the slope into the open fields, the Cubans pursuing in a mad machete charge. The Spaniards reformed, but kept retreating.

Five Spanish officers were killed and 158 soldiers are reported killed, wounded or missing. Colonel Moroso's arm was nearly hacked off by a machete. Only 27 Cubans were wounded or killed.

Report on Ruiz' Case.

Washington, March 3.—The president yesterday sent to the senate a report made by Secretary Olney on the resolution requiring the correspondence in the case of Dr. Ricardo Ruiz. The report suggests the inadvisability of supplying th correspondence at this time, which suggestion the president indorses, saying that it would be "incompatible with the public interest to do so, pending the public and exhaustive investigation about to be instituted." The president adds the suggestion "that the consul general should have professional aid in such investigation, though that matter, together with the selection of the particular persons to act with him, properly devolves upon my successor in office." Instead of transmitting the official correspondence, the secretary supplies an account of his own composition, covering the essential facts in the case.

AT WASHINGTON TODAY.

It Is Now President McKinley and Vice President Hobart.

All Previous Inaugurations Surpassed In Grandeur—Over Two Hundred Thousand Strangers in Washington.

REVIEWING THE PARADE.

Washington, March 4.—William McKinley of Ohio and Garrett A. Hobart of New Jersey are now, respectively, President and Vice President of the United States of America. Before a throng of hundreds of thousands of people the oath of office was administered to President McKinley by Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court, shortly before noon.

The weather is cold, but not unpleasant. This morning the thermometer registered about 30 degrees, and a biting northerly wind was blowing, but the wind went down and the mercury rose a little.

CORNELIUS N. BLISS.

The multitude which peopled the grandstands, housetops, balconies and sidewalks was not greatly inconvenienced by the cold.

The ceremonies attending the inauguration were unusually elaborate.

The decorations exceeded in design and expense anything ever before seen at the capital.

Conservative estimates place the number of participants in the big parade at over 20,000, 12,000 in the military division and 8000 in the civic division.

Nothing happened to interfere with the program arranged by the committee, and everything went off according to schedule.

President McKinley is much improved, but President Cleveland suffers from his recent attack of rheumatism. This did not, however, prevent him from taking part in the ceremonies of today.

Sightseers are everyweher; the streets are congested by crowds and hotels and restaurants are reaping a harvest.

It is estimated that there are nearly 250,000 strangers in the city today. Every available space is filled, and men and boys are perched on telegraph poles watching the parade. Grandstands were erected all alon gthe line of march and in front o fthe government buildings.

Previous to the inauguration President McKinley completed his cabinet by the appointment of Cornelius N. Bliss to the secretaryship of the interior.

Cabinet Completed.

The new cabinet, which assumes charge of our national government in conjunction with the president today, is as follows:

Secretary of State, John Sherman.
Secretary of Treasury, Lyman J. Gage.
Secretary of War, Russell A. Alger.
Secretary of Navy, John D. Long.
Secretary of Interior, Cornelius N. Bliss.
Secretary of Agriculture, James Wilson.
Postmaster General, James A. Gary.
Attorney General, Joseph A. McKenna.

Secretary Long Absent.

All of the cabinet officers are in the city except John D. Long. It was impossible for him to arrange his affairs in time to get here for the inauguration. He will arrive in a day or two and assume the duties of his new position. Secretary Herbert will remain in charge of the navy department until Mr. Long arrives.

Each event on the program was announced by the firing of salutes by a company of United States artillery. When President Cleveland and President-elect McKinley left the White House to go to the Capitol, 21 guns were fired. At the conclusion of the inaugural ceremonies another salute of 21 guns announced that William McKinley had taken the oath of office.

The booming of canon also started the big parade this afternoon. Almost from daybreak till dark the roar of big guns was reverbrating through the city.

The official ceremonies began with the departure of President Cleveland and President-elect McKinley and Vice President-elect Hobart and the senate committee of arrangements and their escort of 5000 troops from the White House for the Capitol, where the oath of office was administered to the new chief executive.

Major McKinley drove over from the Ebbitt House to the executive mansion at 10:30 and met the president at his private office.

Escort to President-Elect.

The presidential party, with its escort of United States troops, Troop A of Cleveland and the District National Guard left the White House at 11 o'clock and reached the Capitol shortly before noon.

The division constituting the president-elect's escort to the Capitol was composed of a brigade of United States forces and the brigade of the District of Columbia National Guard, the whole amounting to about 5000 men. They moved in the following order:

Order of March.

Platoon of 500 mounted police.

Why! Why!!

How about the City Hall flag? Why is it not flying today? Is our Mayor modest? Is our City Council slow? Is our city lacking in patriotism?

Quincy Parkway.

The Committee on Metropolitan affairs will give a hearing on the proposed Boulevard in Quincy, Monday March 8th, at 10 A. M. in Room 357, State House. As this is a matter of great importance, it is hoped that a large number of Quincy real estate owners will be present.

Wollaston Sociable.

A very pleasant social was held last evening in the vestry of the Baptist church, Wollaston. The church was very prettily decorated with flowers, and lamps and rugs added much to the general effect. The chocolate table was presided over by Mrs. J. A. Sparrow and Miss Albee. The young men of the society under the direction of Mr. Sparrow had charge of the entertainment and it was a great success. Mr. J. R. Anderson read several selections and he was heartily enjoyed, Mr. Chas. F. Wilde sang the "The Loveliest Flower" by Osgood. Mr. Critchley rendered a cornet solo, and a trio by Miss Bjorkman, violinist, Miss Sparrow, pianist, and Mr. Critchley, cornetist, completed the programme.

Recount at Milton.

Milton people, particularly the friends of J. Albert Simpson, are not satisfied with the result of Monday's election, and a petition for a recount of the votes cast for selectmen has been filed. Mr. Simpson was defeated by A. A. Brackett by 23 votes. Ordinarily there would not be much likelihood of changing the result when there was so much difference, but it is claimed that during the count there was more or less confusion among the outsiders.

During the evening the moderator went down stairs to the Selectmen's room and while absent a number of citizens surrounded the counter, and by their conversation and questions caused considerable confusion, so much so that the counters were obliged to appeal to the officers to clean the platform.

An Even 2500.

Remarkable scores were made by the "Old Quincy" team in their return match with the Weymouth and Braintree boys at Gourd's alley on Wednesday evening. Not only was the grand total of the home team 2500, but one of the strings was 874 and three of the team had totals of over 500, that of Perry being 542. It was on the first string that the visitors met their Waterloo, although they lost every string. Perry of the Quincys put up the best string, and Thomas of the Weymouths second best.

INAUGURATION DAY.

In Quincy Adams Shares Honors with McKinley.

John Adams of Quincy the Second President and J. Q. Adams Sixth.

The Day Appropriately Observed in All Our Schools.

In all the schools of the city today including the Adams academy, Woodward institute and the High school there was an observance of Inaugural day or John John Adams day.

At the High there was an interesting programme including:

The programme included:

Introductory Remarks by Head Master, F. A. Tupper.

Music, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," by the school.

The Governor's Proclamation by Curtis Nichols, '97.

Essay, Life of John Adams, from 1735-1788, by Miss Helen E. Bemis, '97.

Essay, Life of John Adams, from 1788-1826.

Verses: "John Adams," written for the occasion by Head Master F. A. Tupper, recited by Miss Mary M. Joss, '97.

Remarks by Hon. C. H. Porter.

Music, "America," by the school.

John Adams.

Peer of the elsewise peerless Washington,
Truer than pole-star to the North of Truth,
Second in time yet second in naught else
To him whose shrines are in Columbian hearts;
No other ruler of our glorious land
Hath left a son to govern in his stead,
Not by the fiction of a kingly line,
Not by a power usurped from slavish tribes,
But by the free choice of a Nation great,
That saw the Father's virtues in the Son,
And bowed before that true heredity.
Not jingling verses torturing thought to rhyme,
Not weakly pretty and ephemeral strains,
Befit a theme so nobly masterful.
Give me the power that thrills old Homer's song
Which, after thrice a thousand years have gone,
Is just as young as that loud-roaring sea
Hard by the Scaean gate of wind-swept Troy.
Sturdy defender of Colonial rights,
Thy voice and pen for Freedom never tired,
Thy counsel gave the army Washington,
And to our Navy gave a lasting code.
Thine was "the clearest head and firmest heart"
Of that great Congress famous for all time.
What though small party strife obscured thy fame,
The petty jealousies of weaker men,
So clouds obscure the brightness of the Sun
That on the morrow shines and still shall shine.
Upon the walls of that Memorial Hall
Reared to the name and fame of those dear sons
Who honored Harvard with their splendid lives,
Are words that summon all to like good deeds:
"With brightness of the firmament shall shine
They that be wise, and they who many turn
To righteousness, like stars forevermore."
Of such was he, if not first President,
The Coadjutor of that Chief august,
Equal in greatness, colleague in the strife
That won our freedom in the days of old.
Oh mighty Shades of the illustrious dead
Father and son, so eminent, so blessed,
Look on these scenes familiar once to you,
And by the greatness of your glorious lives
Awake in us a kindred nobleness.

FREDERIC ALLISON TUPPER.

At the Adams Academy.

At the Adams Academy, founded by President John Adams, an address was given by the master of the school on the real significance of Inauguration Day, and the value of the life of John Adams to our town, and particularly to its educational and religious life. The portrait of President Adams, was draped with the American flag and the principal events in his life were outlined upon the blackboard and were alluded to during the session today. A large flag was also displayed upon the grounds.

At the Coddington the primary grades entertain from 2 to 3 this afternoon and the grammar grades from 3 to 4. The boards are filled with appropriate sketches by the pupils, and the rooms were never so gay with flags, bunting and flowers. Miss Elizabeth Adams has written a letter which will be read.

In all grades at the Wollaston school the Governor's proclamation is to be read, also items bearing on the life and services of John Adams. In the eighth grade essays are to be written on Adams. The whole exercises will be of a patriotic nature.

At the Adams school the upper grades gathered in Miss Sheahan's room which was elaborately decorated. Pictures of McKinley, Hobart and Adams and a bust of Washington were trimmed with flags. The exercises will be reported more at length tomorrow.

In all the other buildings, the Washington, John Hancock, Lincoln, Willard, Gridley Bryant, Quincy and Massachusetts Fields schools there were observances of the day.

The war office authorities have under consideration a new universal headgear for the British army. It is to consist of a soft, wide-brimmed hat, and is intended for calvary and infantry alike.

GAS EXPLOSION.

Twelve Killed and Many Injured in Boston Today.

A terrible gas explosion occurred in the subway at the corner of Tremont and Boylston streets at 11.45 this forenoon.

Three electric cars were directly over the subway. Two of them were totally destroyed, twelve persons killed, and forty-two wounded have been taken from the wreck.

Dr. Edwin E. Davis' office in Hotel Pelham was totally destroyed. All of the ambulances in the city are at the scene of the explosion. Two hundred policemen are guarding the scene.

Two horses on the Back Bay cars were instantly killed.

LATER—The number killed is now reported at 6 and the injured at 50.

Gas and electrity together are supposed to have caused the explosion.

J. Marcus Arnold of Braintree had a narrow escape from being injured.

Dr. Davis was not at his Boston office today but he has been assured that the only damage done to his office was the wrecking of all the glass of his office windows.

A Wedding Call.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Pettengill entertained some fifty or more of their friends from Brookline, Cambridge and Somerville. The party which had previously notified Mr. and Mrs. Pettengill of their intended visit, arrived in the early evening and immediately took possession of the house, and proceeded to enjoy themselves. Whist was the leading feature of the evening and with such a congenial party time did not lag and all too soon were they made aware that it was time to depart.

During the evening Mr. Frank Kenrick of Brookline called for silence and in a few brief remarks presented Mr. and Mrs. Pettengill, in behalf of those present, with a very handsome china dinner and tea set.

Although thoroughly surprised Mr. Pettengill feelingly responded, thanking one and all for their most generous gift. Refreshments followed, and when the party left for the late inward train, it was with many wishes for future prosperity and happiness.

At the Woodward.

At the Woodward Institute today Miss Small read a paper on John Adams. In the regular course of study on Tuesday and Wednesday the inauguration of Presidents and of John Adams in particular were considered.

Founder's day at the Institute will be observed Thursday evening, March 11, to which tickets to the limit of the hall will be issued. The programme will consist of exercises by the pupils and addresses by Mayor Adams, Rev. Ellery C. Butler, Rev. Edwin N. Hardy, Rev. E. A. Robinson and Rev. Walter R. Breed. After the exercises the building will be open for public inspection.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Cornelius L White for felonious assault on Abbie Jackson at Holbrook was called, and White was sent to Taunton to await the action of the grand jury.

White, who is 66 years of age, has been confined in the Quincy lockup since his first arraignment and Wednesday he was examined as to his sanity by local physicians, who pronounced him insane. As the lower court does not have final disposition in offences such as White is charged with, the only thing the court could do was to send him to the Taunton asylum until the April term of the grand jury.

AT WASHINGTON TODAY.

any sort, one of which is the famous old Harmony Fire company of Philadelphia and another the Indian school battalion of Carlisle.

JOSEPH M'KENNA.

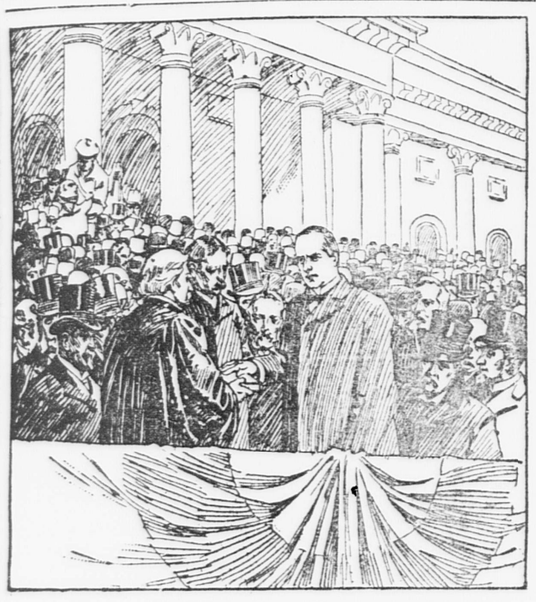

The inaugural ball will be held in the pension building, the doors being opened at 8 o'clock and the ceremonies beginning at 9 o'clock.

Saluted the President.

Mounted staffs of marshals and all mounted escorts, including Troop A of Cleveland, were formed in 12 files, front, stretching in an unbroken sheet of asphalt 150 feet broad and a mile long from the foot of the Capitol to the treasury, and thence after a short break at Fifteenth street, for another mile and a half past the north front of the treasury, past the White House, and the state, war and navy departments to Washington circle. There the inaugural procession turned on its backward march past the reviewing stand of the grand marshal on K street. It is on of the most remarkable of thorough fares among the capitals of the nation and its decoration for the American Olympiad is a matter of long thought and great expenditure of money.

The great trough of buildings from the Capitol to the treasury, one of the most magnificient vistas in the world of cities, cannot brook any cheap adornment and this year the decorations are abundant. The avenue is a wealth of bunting. There are flags of all nations waving from the windows and floating from every available flagpole. Probably every flag in the international code is represented from the Stars and Stripes and the Blue Cross of St. George to the White Elephant of Siam and the black and yellow flag of China.

The presence of the crowd on the street lends a good deal of brilliancy and movement to the scene, and detracts from the need of excessive decorations. From house front to house front, except where the police have cleared a way, there is a solid mass of humanity, many colored and constantly

TAKING THE OATH.

Military organizations marched, close column, 20 files, front, eight paces apart. No fancy drilling was permitted during the parade. As each division passed the president, the marshals and officers saluted by uncovering.

The grand military division was composed of regular army troops, the militia of the several states and the Grand Army.

The civic grand division consisted almost wholly of Republican clubs, belonging to the league.

All along the line of march the different organizations were greeted with enthusiastic applause. If any special favoritism was shown by the spectators it was toward the old veterans, who were given an ovation from the beginning to the end of the march. As the old warriors passed the stand on which President McKinley stood with uncovered head, they cheered themselves hoarse. In return, the new president bowed and waved his hand.

As the military companies passed the president, the officers saluted by uncovering or by the regular sword salute.

Retrospection.

When the first ille of the civic division reached a point opposite the president, bedlam broke loose. The men who worked so hard last fall for the election of McKinley seemed to go frantic over the realization of their ambition. They shouted incessantly, tossed hats in the air and danced about with all the exuberance of college students whose team has been victorious.

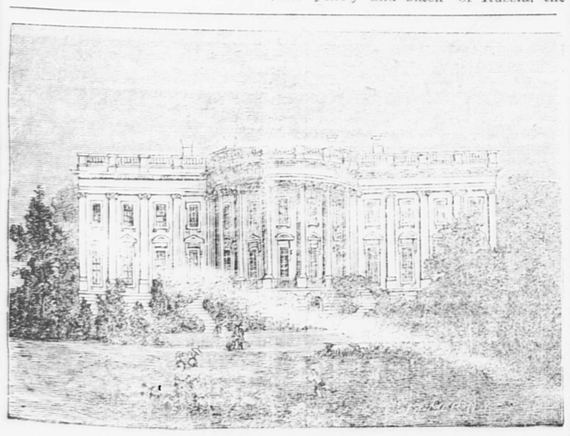

shitting; a veritable human carpet for the great avenue through which the flood of the inaugural procession is rolling.

Above the heads of the crowd on either side rise the walls of the houses,

LYMAN J. GAGE.

enriched with every variety of flag and streamer that mind of the resident property holder can devise. There are sunbursts of red, white and blue under almost every window sill; and where the national colors are wanting there are the yellow and black of Russia, the

THE WHITE HOUSE.

The president was visibly moved while these men were passing in front of him. A thoughtful expression came over his countenance, as if he were thinking of the stirring events and anxieties of the campaign, and that these men were instrumental in placing him at the head of the greatest nation of the world.

Immediately after the parade had passed, the president retired to the White House, and the new cabinet officers and other officials went to their respective headquarters.

The crowd thinned out somewhat many of them going to prepare for the inaugural ball this evening.

The center of interest in the decorations of the city is Pennsylva... venue double headed eagle of Austria, the red, white and green of the Barbary states, and every other national combination that would naturally suggest itself to the naturalized population of a most cosmopolitan capital.

The decorations of the avenue, in fact, may be divided into sections from the Capitol to the Washington circle. At the foot of the Capitol, the Peace monument, that dry rock of statuary that has waited a decade for the Aaron's rod of an appropriation committee to turn it into a fountain, has been surrounded by a neat white picket fence, by a careful executive committee, to keep the economical public from making a grandstand out of the shoulders of Faith, Hope and Charity, as they stand on a tempting eminence from which to gain a view of the parade. From the summit of the white picket fence, however, there are waving innumerable banners, a decorative tribute to the isolated graces.

From this point to Seventh street the decorations are much the same. This is the older avenue, the section which in the days of Webster, Clay and Benton, was the fashionable boarding house section, enriched with substantial brick buildings in strong distinction to the remainder of the shanty capital. These "substantial brick buildings" are now insignificant two story houses with hip roofs and dormer windows, a relic of a bygone era. Their residents have decorated them, each after his inclination, with flags from the ringpoles, banners from the second story windows, and printed banners of welcome to the incoming administration, naming McKinley and Hobart, personally, as "The People's Choice," and "The Advance Agents of Prosperity."

At Seventh street, one of the great business arteries of the city, the stands commence. The reservations on each side of the avenue have been occupied by grand stands, bannered and embattled with canvas fronts, painted in imitation of brownstone, which tends to make imposing display.

Thence on to the foot of the treasury the decorations are of a slightly different character. This is the region of newer and more imposing buildings, though the avenue is not the place in Washington to find the best specimens of business architecture. But the larger stores and office buildings are wealthier than those to the eastward of Seventh street, and they decorate more with real bunting and less with print musilin and cambric. Besides the banners floating from the roofs, there are streamers from the cornices to the awning rods on the sidewalk, red white and blue most frequently, but almost as often some other gay and striking combination, throwing the mere architectual features of the building into abeyance and lending a carnival air to the ordinarily prosaic structures. Garlands of red, white and blue incandescent lights are mingled with the bunting, to be flashed at night into a brilliant display of color, and painted panels help to fill in the blank wall space. But more substantial and extensive than the decorations of private buildings are those of the public departments. Every department, from the interior to the state, war and navy building, has thrown abroad all its store of bunting in honor of the day.

The base of the treasury is one of the favorite vantage grounds from which to view the inaugural parade, and there have been erected stands on the south, east and north fronts. These, with their uniform paling of pink tint and frieze of brilliant crimson, together with their living freight of spectators, add to the decoration of the building.

Further on in the stretch of the avenue, before the president's house, the stands are of the most elaborate form and substantial sort. From over the White House reviewing stand, that of the chief executive, floats a hundred banners, and its festooned walls and sides make it the gem of the collection of reviewing stands. The others on this favored stretch of the great thoroughfare, are decorated with the national colors interspersed with laurel wreathes, golden eagles, and banners of every hue, shape and size. The stretch of the avenue past the president's reviewing stand is the most choice bit of the panorama through which the great procession moved and thence westward the decorations fade gradually away.

Jealous Representatives.

The jealousy between the two houses of congress over platform privileges lent a touch of comedy to inauguration day. This strife had its beginning back in the early years of the government, when the two houses contended for the honor of installing the president in their respective halls. President Monroe solved the difficulty by arranging to take the oath of office on a platform built in front of the Capitol. Since his time the custom of erecting a platform at the east front of the Capitol, midway between the two houses of congress, has been followed, but this year the senate made an innovation by having the platform in front of the senate wing of the Capitol. The house received this innovation as an affront, and felt further hurt because each senator received four tickets to the grand stand, while a house member was given but two.

To equalize the privilege, the house constructed a platform of its own in front of the rotunda and beside the main platform, with a seating capacity of 500. In further pursuit of equal rights, a resolution was introduced by Representative Dockery inquiring by what authority the senate appropriated to its own control the stand upon which the president is to take the oath of office, but this resolution sleeps with the committee on rules. The members of the ways and means committee executed a flank movement of their fellow members by bringing a gang of workmen to the Capitol, who were put to work building a private platform on the east portico in front of the committee room. The supreme court also has one in front of its portion of the Capitol.

The Bible Used.

The Bible on which Mr. McKinley today took the oath of office as President of the United States, is an unusually handsome and costly copy of the Testaments, made especially for the occasion in Ohio and presented to the new president of Bishop Arnett of Wilberforce college, a colorede institution in the Buckeye state, on behalf of the African Methodist Episcopal church. Its covers are of blue morocco, with satin linings, white satin panels and gilt edges. A gold plate in the center will be engraved with the following inscription: "William McKinley, President of the United States of America. Inaugurated March 4, 1897."

The book on which he was sworn into the highest office within the gift of the people was a matter of quite decided sentiment with President Cleveland. Mr. Cleveland asked the privilege of being sworn on a little red Bible which had been given to him by his mother in his boyhood, when he first left the family rooftree, and he took the oath at the beginning of both of his presidential terms on this book, which he treasures fondly. The custom, however, has been for the United States supreme court to furnish the Bible on which the president takes his official oath, and this tradition has been carried out by the clerk of the court ever since that tribunal was established, except on the two occasions when President Cleveland was installed in office. Mr. McKenney, clerk of the supreme court, who has presented the Bible on which Garfield was sworn, and every president after him, always marked the verse which the president touched with his lips, and after the inaugural has presented the book made historic by this even to the president or to his wife. When Mr. McKenney presented to Mrs. Hayes the volume on which her husband had been sworn, she inquired what passage he had kissed. The verse recited in substance that his enemies encompassed him like bees, but he would destroy them. Mrs. Hayes remarked that President Hayes would destroy no one.

"THIS WAY FOR SEATS TO SEE THE PARADE!"

At the second inauguration of President Grant, the clerk opened the Bible and handed it to Chief Justice Chase, who held it to the lips of the president. They rested upon these verses from the 11th chapter of Isaiah:

"And the spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him; the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord.

RUSSELL A. ALGER.

The first inauguration of George Washington, in the federal building in New York, on April 30, 1789, was delayed by the failure to provide a Bible. Just as the arrival of Washington was announced to congress, Chancellor Livingston discovered that there was no Bible in the building. He was master of St. John's lodge No. 1 of Free Masons, and happened to remember that there was a Bible in the lodge room. A messenger was quickly sent to bring the book, and it is preserved to the present day among the relics of the lodge.

Suffrage Debate.

The Q. H. S. debating society met Wednesday. The president, Miss McPherson, opened the meeting, and Mr. McLeary, secretary, offered his report.

The dabate of last week on "Woman Suffrage" was concluded:

The speakers in the affirmative were: Miss Brown, Miss Dinnie and Miss Durgin.

The negative was supported by: Miss Forrest, Mr. C. L. Baker, Mr. Cashman, Mr. Damon, Mr. Field and Mr. Connor.

Miss Ward, Miss Beckwith, Mr. Lyons and Miss Thomas, took part in the general debate.

The critic, Miss Thomas, '97, then read her report which was duly adopted.

The entertainment followed:

Piano solo, Miss Pratt, '97. A very pleasing composition rendered with skill and expression.

The rest of the entertainment was postponed for lack of time.

—What's this story of a newspaper man who six months ago invested $15 dollars in a "flyer" in the stock market, and who today has $60,000 salted away safely, and carries the little sum of $10,000 around in his vest pocket for cigars, drinks and small matters of daily expenditure? The tale is false on the face of it. Where would a newspaper man get $15?

Adams House Decorated.

The Quincy Historical society has decorated the cottage occupied for many years by John and Abigail Adams in honor of the centennial of President John Adams.

The decorations are of a simple nature yet unique. Festoned across the front of the cottage are streamers of buff and blue, being caught up in the centre over the little old front door, over a medalion of John Adams which was copied from Stuart's famous painting.

The medalion is the work of the young artist Samuel Warner of Scanton, Pa., now with Silas B. Duffield, Jr. It is painted in oil on paper of time-worn color, and it is a successful effort to reproduce ye ancient woodcut work of olden times.

At the right of the door is a poster similar to what would have been used in Mr. Adams' day, which was executed by William S. Umpleby of Flemington, N. J., and Silas B. Duffield, Jr., of Quincy. The paper is as near as possible to that used at that time, while the letters used in the posters were copied from the first newspaper printed in Massachusetts.

This poster reads as follows: "John Adams was inaugurated Prefident of thefe our United States, one hundred years ago to day. To this cottage he brought his wife. It was their home till after the revolution. Beneath its fhelter Abigail Adams wrote thofe letters to her hufband. Built A. D. 1716, reftored A. D. 1896."

Mr. W. G. Spear, curator of the Historical society who had charge of the restoration of the old house, has endeavored as far as possible to have it present its old time condition, and the interior decorations are in keeping with those times.

QUINCY BREVITIES.

Notes from Quincy Point, Wollaston, Atlantic, South and West Quincy.

The Brownie coupon advertisement will appear tomorrow.

Mrs. Edward C. Wales of Atlantic has a severe case of the grip.

The annual parish meeting of the Universalist church will be held Thursday evening.

Fred Goss and Henry P. Kittredge are expected home from the south the last of the month.

There are quite a number of West Quincy people confined to their homes with pneumonia or the grip.

Considerable local and telegraph news is crowded out of today's paper because of the prominence given to Inauguration day.

The regualar meeting of Puritan Council No.6, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held in Wilson's hall tonight and six candidates will be initiated.

"The Gleaners," King's Daughters, will meet at the home of Mrs. D. L. Jewell, Grand View avenue, on Monday, at 2 30 P. M.

About four inches of gravel is very much needed on some of the sidewalks in Ward 6. They are worn out and now is the time to even them up.

Because of the illness of Miss Randall who took a leading part in "The Man in the Case," the comedy to have been given Friday evening has been postponed.

Representative Thompson is one of the house committee of 18 to attend the services in the Old South Thursday forenoon to commemorate the centennial of the inauguration of John Adams.

On Sunday the pulpit of the Methodist church at Atlantic will be occupied by Rev. Wilbur M. Mason of Worcester, Mass. Mr. Mason is an old friend of Rev. H. D. Deetz, who formerly preached here, and is a young man of unusal ability as a preacher.

Wollaston will undoubtedly make desperate effort to retain so strong and original a preacher, and a man so deservedly popular, not only among his own people, but with the community, as Rev. James E. Bagley unquestionably has been during his four years in Wollaston.

Representative Thompson, of Quincy, has presented in the house a petition from the city of Quincy for an amendment of the act to authorize the city to construct a system of sewerage by which the provision for "proportionate" assessments is stricken out. The house has suspended its rules and admitted the petition.

"The Merry Go Round" is without doubt the most lively and energetic of all the whist clubs of Atlantic, as it is composed of the young people who take the lead in all society events and they have the "go" to them. They met with Miss Moxon Monday evening and a very jolly time is in store for the members during the balance of the season.

A great many of our readers will be interested in knowing what the cairn erected by the Adams Chapter on Penn's hill last June cost. At the annual meeting held on March first the treasurer gave the cost as something over $234.00. Besides this a bronze tablet was presented by Hon. C. F. Adams and the corner stone by Swithin Brothers making a total of over $300 00 The Daughters are proud of their work and the city has received a gift of a solid and substantial memorial owing to their efforts.

It is, or should be, the highest aim of every merchant to please his customers; and that the wide-awake drug firm of Meyers & Eshleman, Sterling, Ill., is doing so, is proven by the following, from Mr. Eshleman: "In my sixteen years' experience in the drug business I have never seen or sold or tried a medicine that gave as good satisfaction as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." Sold by A. G. Durgin.

S. OF V. MASQUERADE.

Many Characters Represented at Hancock Hall Last Evening.

It was a jolly party that gathered at Hancock hall Wednesday evening, the attraction being the seventh annual masquerade ball of Francis L. Souther camp, Sons of Veterans.

These annual affairs of the camp are looked forward to with pleasure by the many friends of the boys in blue, for whatever they stand behind or are interested in, must be a success, and Wednesday night's affair not only proved to be an unqualified success but there were none present who failed to have a good time.

From 8 to 9 o'clock Hunt's orchestra gave a concert and from 9 to 2 o'clock there was dancing, supper being served at midnight.

When the concert commenced the first character to appear upon the floor was an up to date sport, and he served to attract attention until an Irish member of parliament made his appearance. Then came a diminutive Goddess of Liberty, followed by Little Bo Peep, two nursery maids, a Hobo just off from a long tramp, a Mexican, and a hayseed from way back.

These were all affording amusement for the spectators, when suddenly an unearthly yell was heard that caused everybody to shake with fear, and there appeared upon the floor surface a Fiji islander. He was evidently angry, for he kept up his wild cry, which for a time caused the fair maidens to seek safety. But others were arriving, and among these were girls in red, yellow, blue and white and in costumes combining these colors.

A yachtsman, the pig headed man, the "yaller" kid with its baby face, the highland lassie, the duster girl, clowns, a Spanish prince, school girls with jump ropes, soldier boys in red, and soldier boys in blue, Princesses of Night, and in fact many whom it was hard to tell what they were intended to represent.

There were but few characters impersonated, as the costumes were practically of the home made kind but this only served to make the party more enjoyable. The fun was at its height when the bugle sounded for the grand march. This march was one of the pleasing features of the evening. Something like fifty couples participated, and it was laughable the way some of the dancers paired off.

This however only added to the fun and everybody laughed, including the Fiji islander.

Number four on the programme was a Lancers and before this was ended the masks had been removed and the mystery that had surrounded the merry makers was a mystery no more.

After this anyone could dance that desired, an opportunity which was taken advantage of, and it is safe to say that everybody, even the hayseed had a grand good time.

The few short hours until 2 o'clock soon passed away, and as the strains of the last waltz died away it was with pleasant thoughts that the dancers turned their tired faces toward home.

Those in charge of the affair were:

Floor Director,—Capt. W. C. Hart.

Assistant Floor Directors,—First Lieut. H. Marston, and Second Lieut. C. Anderson.

Aids,—L. C. Hewson, L. H. Parrott, Jr, H. R. Holmes, Fred. Leavitt, M. C. Holmes, J. H. Alden, E. M. Tirrell, Alger Gardner, G. A. Leavitt, A. F. Powell, G. H. Foss, F. S. Merrill.

THREE GOOD MEALS.

Daily Evidence That Puritana Cured Him.

A MAN'S case is really desperate when his neighbors are daily expecting him to die, when his physicians have given him up, and when his system revolts at the simplest sort of nourishment. Yet this was the condition of Mr. Charles E. Phelps, who is a life long resident of Sterling, Mass., having been born there 53 years ago.

For the past 17 years Mr. Phelps has been tax collector and constable, and is also sexton and the proprietor of a livery stable. He is a prominent Odd Fellow, and his acquaintance extends widely into Clinton, Lancaster, Leominster, Boylston and Worcester.

Mr. Phelps was dragged down to the door of death by a serious stomach trouble. He was fighting for his life without much hope for his poor pain-racked body. He was fighting alone against starvation in the midst of plenty, against constant loss of weight and increasing weakness, against dreadful nausea, against pressure on his chest, against belching of wind, sourness of the stomach and terrible pain.

He had all but lost the fight, when Puritana saved him. Mr Phelps is enthusiastic. His friends and neighbors marvel at his wonderful recovery, and another link is added to the long chain of evidence in favor of Puritana. His remarkable letter is as follows:

The Puritana Compound Co.,

Dear Sir—For ten years I have had a very bad stomach trouble. One year ago I had a hemorrhage of the stomach which left me in a still worse condition. My system got entirely run down so that I could eat scarcely anything. A small piece of bread would cause severe pains across my chest and in my bowels, and I would have to go to bed and call a doctor.

My condition kept on going from bad to worse, and last summer I was given up to die. My weight ran down from 140 pounds to 123. After eating, frequently I would vomit everything up. I had employed doctors, but still retained no permanent results. Last summer my attention was called to Puritana, and as a "drowning man" grasps at a straw, so I commenced the use of Puritana.

The results in my case are marvelous. Instead of being in my grave, as many predicted I would be before this time, I am attending to my active business pursuits, and sit down to three good meals of victuals a day, enjoy eating them, and afterwards experience no pains, attacks of indigestion, vomiting, belching of wind, sourness of the stomach, or anything of the kind. Puritana I consider the most wonderful of medicines and am recommending it to many of my friends.

(Signed) CHARLES E. PHELPS.

Vice President Stevenson did not accompany his successor, the vice president-elect, as Mr. Stevenson was engaged in presiding over the session of the senate. Mr. Hobart, instead, was accompanied by the senate committee of arrangements, consisting of Messrs. Sherman, Elkins and Mitchell.

At the Capitol.

At the Capitol, the president and other officials, the president and vice president-elect assembled in the senate chamber, the members of the supreme court and of the senate and house being present.

Vice President Stevenson administered the oath of office to Mr. Hobart, and at the stroke of 12 declared the senate of the Fifty-fourth congress adjourned without day. The new vice president, an extra session of the senate having been called, then administered the oath to the newly elected senators.

The senate then took a recess and the procession moved to the stand at the east portico, in front of the rotunda, President Cleveland and President-elect McKinley leading. On the stand, the oath of office was administered to President-elect McKinley by Chief Justice Fuller. President McKinley then made his inaugural address.

An Extra Session.

In his inaugural address, President McKinley said he would convoke an extra session of congress on March 15 to consider a readjustment of the tariff, to provide adequate revenues for the expenses of the government and thereby prevent further borrowing by the national government.

On concluding, he returned to the president's room in the senate wing of the Capitol, and from there he was escorted to the White House by the inaugural parade, which began to move from the Capitol shortly after 2 o'clock. The parade moved from the Capitol by way of Pennsylvania avenue, west to Washington circle, thence east through K street to Vermont avenue, where the organizations were reviewed by Grand Marshal Porter and dismissed.

From a stand in front of the White House, the president reviewed the parade.

On the return to the White House, which President McKinley reached ahead of the main body of the parade, a luncheon was hastily served for him before he went to the reviewing stand. At this time he and Mrs. McKinley took leave of ex-President and Mrs. Cleveland, who at once left, the former probably going down the river on a trip, and the latter to Princeton, N. J. To-night there will be an illumination and a display of fireworks in the Washington monument grounds, beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

Estimate of Number In Line.

From the best estimates obtainable, there were about 20,000 men in the great parade. Of these about 12,000 were military and 8000 civic organizations. Almost all of the latter are Republican league clubs.

This organization numbers 8000 clubs, scattered over the country, with an aggregate strength of 2,500,000, and was the great fighting force in the past campaign.

The three civic divisions are composed almost wholly of its members, with only about eight detached organizations of

A man cannot run away from Death. If he would conquer it he must stand and fight with the weapons of common sense and science. Thousands of men and women try to escape Death's most active agent, consumption, by running away. They flee from one climate to another, and from one end of the world to the other, forgetting their demon is within them and not to be escaped from by a change of locality. Consumption has been pronounced incurable. It is not. It is curable and without change of climate if the proper remedy is resorted to, in reasonable time.

98 per cent. of all cases of consumption are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It goes to the seat of the trouble. It cures all disorders of the digestion. It makes the appetite keen and the assimilation of the food perfect. It fills the blood with life-giving elements. It is the great blood-purifier, flesh-builder, and nerve-invigorator. It acts directly on the lungs. It not only cures consumption, but all other wasting diseases due to improper nourishment. All good druggist sell it.

"I have used one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and am now on the second one," writes Amanda E. Blankenship, of Templeton, Dyer Co., Tenn. "I am pleased to say that I have received more benefit from it than from all the medicine I have taken from our home doctors in the last twelve months."

Whoever would like a complete medical library in compact form should send for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This is a book of 1,008 pages, illustrated with more than 300 drawings and colored plates. Dr. Pierce is one of the best known medical men in the United States. The best of what he knows is "boiled down" in this book. He talks to you in plain English of all the sickness you ever heard of. Several chapters relate to the physiology of woman's reproductive organs. This book, until recently, sold for $1.50. At this price 680,000 copies were sold. Now an enormous edition in paper covers is to be distributed absolutely FREE. Send 21 one-cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., to pay the cost of mailing only. If a copy in fine French cloth with embossed covers is desired, send 10 cents extra—31 cents in all.

WEAK WEARY WOMEN AND MEN

Are peculiarly benefited by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, the most wonderful Tonic and Blood Cleanser in the world.

P. P. P. restores shattered nerves, gives strength and tone to the entire system, revives the worn out, nervous and debilitated. You cannot but be nervous if your blood is impure.

P. P. P. gives the proper nourishment to the blood, and cures nervous prostration, debility and nervous headache.

P. P. P. cures that tired, languid, "all gone" feeling, cures dyspepsia, indigestion, and that awful distress of the stomach.

P. P. P. cures that weak, nervous condition, that dreadful jumping of the heart, followed by dizziness and sinking spells. Make your blood pure by taking P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and you will be well and happy. Women are benefited, their organization regulated, and their weakness and lassitude cured by P. P. P.

WEAK, TIRED PEOPLE

should take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, without delay. While not actually sick, you feel weak and tired, ready to get sick, and what you need is strength to drive out of your system that which is the cause of Spring Fever. P. P. P. is needed at once.

Mr Hattie Mylius, of 70 East 86th street, New York, says that she was in poor health, and that her case developed into nervous prostration. She suffered from nervous headaches, and at times was unable to do any work at all. She could not sleep, and was so nervous that she would have to get up at all hours of the night and walk the floor, and the opening of a door would startle her. But her weakness and nervousness is all gone. P. P. P. was what saved her. Her appetite improved, her nervousness is a thing of the past, and she thanks P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, for her complete restoration to health.

A Few Cold Facts.

Yes,—the citizens of Quincy do want good stores, and when one grows right in their midst, they know how to appreciate it.

Travelling men from North, South and West tell the same story —"One of the finest and best equipped furniture stores in the country." This is by no means idle talk; the same store in Boston would cost ten times the rent.

Buying right and selling right is the secret of its success. A store that is supported by the people and for the people. No matter what you need for your home, you are sure to find it here in made-to-wear furniture, at a trifle less in cost than the same article can be found elsewhere. Seeing alone is believing, and all are welcome here without obligation to buy.

EXPLOSION IN BOSTON SUBWAY.

Terrible Accident at Corner of Tremont and Boylston Streets.

SIX DEAD AND FIFTY WOUNDED.

Passing Street Cars and Cabs Were Literally Demolished.

GAS LEAK CAUSE OF THE DISASTER.

Windows In Adjacent Buildings Shattered—Hotel Foundation Weakened. Great Loss of Property—Names of the Victims.

Boston, March 5.—A terrible explosion of illuminating gas between the subway roof and the temporary wooden roadway, at the intersection of Boylston and Tremont streets, occurred a few minutes before noon yesterday, causing the death of six persons, injured three others so badly that their lives are despaired of, and more or less seriously injured some 50 others.

Following is a list of the killed:

Rev. W. A. Start, D. D., Medford, bursar, Tufts college.

William L. Vinal, Salem, Mass.

Miss A. M. Bates, Boston.

Guilford B. Bigelow, driver, West End street railway.

Benjamin Downey, herdic driver, Boston.

Delano M. Sibley, cab driver, Boston.

Following are the names of the wounded and their injuries:

Fred Deeley, Boston, dislocated elbow, lacerated wound across the eyes and head and contusion of back. May die.

B. R. Sargent, Boston, compound fracture of skull; expected to die.

William Maybour, Boston, fracture base of the skull.

Paul Hackett, Boston, both legs broken, head cut.

Mrs. Horatio Bigelow, Boston, 80 years, injured back.

Miss May E. Stone, Waltham, fractured thigh, scalp wound.

W. Richardson, Newark, N. J., cut face, head.

S. D. Nickerson, Boston, secretary Masonic Temple, head and face cut by glass.

Samuel Morton, Detroit, scalp wound, five inches long, clear to the bone.

John Gill, Boston, bad wound in shoulder.

Mrs. Sarah A. Peck, 233 Everett street, Allston, severe injuries to back.

Nellie Jackson, 35 Marlboro street, Boston, serious injuries to back and arms.

Miss Sadie M. Brown, Regent street, Roxbury, a reporter, spine injured.

Charlotte N. Nair, 371 Center street, Jamaica Plain, fractured thigh.

Miss Alice Richardson, 9 Fairfield street, Boston, fractured thigh.

Sarah Fleming, 19 Marlboro street, injuries to head and back.

Thirty-five others received minor injuries, which were dressed at the Emergency hospital and the police station, and all returned to their homes.

Unexpectedly the confined gas was ignited and then came a fearful report and upheaval. There were two or three cars just passing, and they were wrecked and their passengers killed and injured. There were many pedestrians on the Tremont street sidewalk, and few, if any, of them escaped injury. Driver Downing, with his herdic, was caught in the flying debris, and he was instantly killed. The street planking was hurled in all directions, glass was broken on all sides, and the towering buildings, notably the new hotel La Touraine, were shaken to their foundations. All these buildings will need a thorough inspection before the damage done to them can be estimated. It was only for an instant that the dreadful disaster lasted, and then came the rescuing of the wounded, the caring for the dead and the extinguishing of the fire by the brave firemen, who responded quickly to two alarms.

With the vibration of the explosion came immediately a dense cloud of smoke, which, in the brisk March wind, was blown through Tremont and Boylston streets. Terror seized upon those on the street nearby and in nearly all the surrounding buildings. The air was full of small fragments of glass, dust, pieces of brick and timbers. The glass, shattered from hundreds of window frames, strewed the sidewalks and roadways as after a brisk fall of hailstones. People turned and ran for dear life, others dodged into doorways, and a few, as the smoke and dust cleared away, rushed toward the scene of the disaster. A ghastly scene was that in the center of the road, at the junction of the two streets. The pillar of smoke was being lighted up by the flames which had taken hold of the wrecked cars, rails were torn up and twisted into all sorts of shapes, broken timbers and fallen electric wires tangled up everything, while here and there was the body of a victim, the ghastliness of the scene being made by the disemboweled remains of the car horses. People who tried to rescue the unfortunates in the funeral pyre will never forget the sight, nor the excitement which reigned for a few minutes.

On the sidewalk, at the northeast corner of Tremont and Boylston streets, lay the mangled form of a man, hastily covered with a blanket and awaiting the arrival of an ambulance. In the excitement, it was hardly noticed, and more than one hurrying man tripped over it. At last the body was taken away, however, and the task of removing those who had been carried into stores and doorways proceeded rapidly.

While the rescuers were trying to reach the wrecked cars, the fire apparatus and ambulances were coming from all directions, together with officers from Station 4, only a few rods away. It seemed ticklish work to rush boldly into the wreck, owing to the danger from electricity. But the people got over their fright and rushed back to the fire, only to be pushed back by officers, to allow the firemen to work effectively. Ambulance blankets and stretchers were in use instantly, and a groan went up as the first form was picked up from the wreck in a blanket. A few minutes later four firemen came from the wrecked car with another form, which had just been reached. All the crowd could see was a pair of torn and blackened feet, which were visible at one end of the blanket. It was evident this victim was a woman, and that she was dead, and a moan of pity went up from a hundred hearts.

The rush of people to the scene after the explosion was tremendous, and it was by circulating a false report of other threatened explosions that the crowd left the immediate vicinity. The police were then enabled to rope off Tremont and Boylston streets in both directions, and the firemen and laborers pursued their work unhindered.

The remaining trolley wires, which momentarily threatened to fall on the workmen, were removed by the West End employes, and traffic, which, at this point is the heaviest in the city, was diverted through other streets. By 3 o'clock the debris had all been hauled out over the hole and active work toward restoring the streets to their normal condition had begun.

The fire in the subway burned persistently and fiercely. The water poured upon it seemed to have little effect, although the knowledge that more bodies were somewhere beneath the demolished Mt. Auburn car spurred the firemen to heroic efforts.

Rev. William A. Start met his death just as he was about to board the illfated Mt. Auburn electric. The force of the explosion blew him to the sidewalk, where he was picked up in a fearfully shattered condition, dying in a few moments. Rev. Mr. Start was bursar of Tufts college and was born in Camden, Me., March 1, 1837. He graduated from Tufts college in 1862, and in 1865 received the degree of A. M. He was secretary of the Massachusetts Universalist convention from 1877 to 1894, and in 1895 was made bursar of Tufts college.

Guilford D. Bigelow, the conductor of the Back Bay car, one of the killed, was about 64 years of age, and had been in the employ of the company since April 5, 1886. Mr. Bigelow was a widower. He leaves two daughters.

Just over the point of the explosion was a herdic driven by Benjamin Downing and occupied by William L. Vinal. Both were killed instantly. The herdic was blown into the air, and came down a mass of rubbish, falling into the debris of the Mt. Auburn car.

William L. Vinal was private secretary to Thomas W. Lawson of Lawson, Weldenfield & Co., and had been associated with Mr. Lawson in a confidential capacity for a number of years.

Benjamin Downing, the driver who met death with Mr. Inal, was a well-known cabman on State street, and a friend of the man he was driving, before whose office he had his cab stand. He was single and 45 years old.

Within a few feet of the herdic was a coupe, driven by Delano H. Sibley and occupied by Miss Amelia M. Bates and her sister Sarah Bates. Both ladies were bound down town from their homes on Arlington street. The coupe was demolished, and Sibley met the same fate as Downing, while Miss Amelia Bates was most horribly mangled. Her sister, however, escaped severe injuries in a most miraculous manner, but her friends think the shock will kill her. Sibley was married.

Property Loss.

The property loss will, it is thought, reach $100,000. It is impossible to estimate with accuracy the business losses that result from the disaster. Not only were all the windows broken in the neighborhood, but from one jeweler's window precious stones, said to be worth $12,000, were scattered about the street and store. The foundations of the Hotel Pelham are said to be shaken badly, while every window display in the neighborhood was injured more or less. In the window of Knapp, dealer in precious stones, in the Hotel Pelham, there were several loose diamonds, valued at several hundred dollars each, lying on a piece of paper. Of the 16 stones in the paper, only four have been found, while the sidewalk was scattered with opals, rubies and other precious stones, several of which are supposed to have been picked up before the police guarded the street in front of the window. In the art store of the Masonic temple, on the corner, Errico Bros.' stock was injured badly, the loss being estimated at $6000. Only two windows were left in this building, while there are but three or four in the upper stories of the Hotel Pelham. Those who suffered the loss of stock in their windows, as well as the plate glass, were:

The different state, city and gas officials, under whose supervision, directly or indirectly, the changes in the location of the different gas, water and electric light mains at the point where the explosion occurred were made, made a careful examination of the scene of the upheaval soon after the disaster.

Mayor Quincy's Statement.

Mayor Quincy has issued another statement, in which he said that all questions of responsibility will have to be settled between the gas company and the Metropolitan Construction company. The latter company had a contract, in which it agreed to be responsible for any damages caused by construction.

OUR BRIEF comments yesterday relative to the absence of the flag on City Hall struck a responsive cord, and several have endorsed the stand. In other cities flags were flying, not because it was the centennial of the inauguration of John Adams as President, but because it was Inauguration day. Quincy has no rival to the claim of "City of Presidents," and it has reason therefore to be patriotic on the inauguration of each new President. After hearing of the life of John Adams—how he lived for his country—it is plain that we should not live so much for self, that we should have a purpose and a duty. Some of the teachers and pupils of our public schools entered into the spirit and zest of the day, but some teachers did it only as a compulsory act, putting little time or study into the occasion. March 4 should have been distinctly a Quincy day, a holiday in the city, as it was the centennial of the date upon which one of her citizens was made the ruler of the country. We are not loyal enough to our city. Our celebration of the day should have been of a character which would attract National attention. Let it be known that we are the "City of Presidents," and that we are proud of it.

Found Unconscious.

A man, who afterward turned out to be John Coughlin, was found shortly before 7 o'clock Thursday night in an unconscious condition at the corner of Adams and Common street. The Hospital was notified and they in turn notified the ambulance wagon, which removed the man to the Hospital.

The man was found to be too much intoxicated to determine what his injuries were. This morning when he had sobered off his name was learned and it was also found that one of his legs was injured. It is not known how the man was injured but it is supposed that he fell from a stone team owned by T. Hayes.

August Banks was the driver of Hayes team and he had another man with him. When they reached the corner of Adams and Common street another teamster, fearing that Banks would fall off, took him off and carried him to Hayes' yard, leaving the second man to drive the team home.

Officer Bradley was called and took Banks in charge and later Hayes team came home alone and it is believed that Coughlin was the second man on the team, and that he fell off.

SCHOOLS PATRIOTIC.

John Adams Exercises General in This City.

Elaborate Arangements Made at the Coddington.

Chairman Porter, Mayor Adams and Other Speakers.

At the public exercises in the Coddington school a large gathering of parents and friends assembled. At two o'clock the youngest children had their exercises in Miss Hall's room and the little tots were alert and interested being taught some simple facts about John Adams, and having evidently had previous lessons about Washington as one answer showed. Tell me a story about John Adams, said the teacher to one of a line of the youngest. "He never told a lie," was the ready response. The answer was not challenged, and so our beloved townsman and President was credited with this valuable quality. In this room simple evolutions and various lessons, with pieces spoken and singing, showed a training of child faculties that was at great variance with primary teaching a century ago, when sharp raps upon the head with a thimble were made to draw the wandering attention of the juveniles.

There were pretty exercises in other grades but space forbids extended report.

The grammar programme included:

Gymnastic exercises.
Singing, Inauguration Hymn, school.
Reading, Governor's Proclamation, Corinne Hayward.
Recitation, True grandeur of Nations, school.
Sketch of the life of John Adams, Louise Steele.
Singing, school.
Reading from original manuscript of a letter by John Adams to his son in 1795, F. Everett Winslow.
Singing, "American Hymn," girls and chorus.
Recitation, "The banner that welcomes the world," Margaret Davidson.
Salute to Flag, school.
Declamation, Webster's Declaration of Inpendence, Norris Wason.
Singing, Memorial Hymn, by ten boys.
Declamation Supposed speech of John Adams, Herbert Arnold.
Singing Columbia the gem of the Ocean, boys and chorus.
Declamation, from Inaugural Address of John Adams, 1797, David White.
Singing, Soldier's Chorus of Faust, by school.

After the programme had been concluded, in the absence of Dr. Hallowell, ex-Mayor Porter, the chairman of the School Committee, made some happy remarks, suddenly turning the tables and presenting Mayor Adams. This seemed unexpected, and after some opening remarks to this effect, Mayor Adams brought a parallel in the life of Lincoln and the events that made him great, and that of the second President his great great grandfather. He told the children that they, both girls and boys, had it within their powers to make us proud of positions in high places that they could take, or by not using their best faculties, of causing grief and sorrow among us.

Mr. Edwin Marsh in his accustomed cheery manner held the audience young and old with some recollections of the early days which affected Quincy and the nation's life as well. He suggested in a timely way, the retaining of "Lawyer's Lane," to a thoroughfare that was now called by a new name.

The splendid singing under the direction of Miss Forsaith, the careful attention of the pupils and their ready response in the numbers will make an impression, it is hoped, not to be forgotten, and the exercises reflect credit upon all in the school.

The letter from John Adams which was read was prefaced by one from Miss Elizabeth C. Adams his descendant, who kindly loaned the letter and also a framed picture of the President, taken when he was 90 years old.

The blackboard drawing in these grades were remarkably fine, being large pictures of historical buildings, including the houses where the Presidents were born, the Stone church where they are buried, the Adams homestead on Adams stree, the Adams academy, Faneuil hall, John Hancock house and others.

In Other Schools.

The Adams school presented a holiday appearance. All of the halls of the building were decorated with long streamers of red, white and blue and in the rooms there were displayed many flags, while many of the pupils carried minature flags. In the lower grades of the school the teachers talked to the pupils about Adams and his birthplace. In the eighth grade the proclamation was read and a sketch of Adams given. Patriotic songs were sung, and the flag saluted. The school was fortunate to have as a guest Mrs. Joseph James, of Washington, who is stopping at Hingham, and kindly talked on inaugurations and Washington in general.

At the John Hancock there were appropriate exercises in all rooms. In the three lowest the children were told about the proclamation and in the other grades it was read and discussed. In the eighth grade the children contributed facts relative to John Adams, and McKinley's cabinet and the duties of its members were discussed.

At the Gridley Bryant the teachers of the lower grades talked to the pupils about John Adams. In the higher grades the pupils wrote compositions about Adams, his life and work and there was a general talk to the pupils by Principal Greene about Adams and his time.

At the Lincoln school in the lower grades there was a conversational talk about Adams and his life, the inauguration of McKinley and the fourth of March, ending with a salute to the flag. In the 7th and 8th grades each pupil was told to take his history and find something about John Adams. Later each pupil when called upon gave something about him. Then there was a discussion about his church and employment, his career in connection with the constitution of the United States and the part which he took in the Revolutionary war. Then there was a talk on McKinley and the oath of office and what was being done that day in Washington.

At the Quincy school there was a general talk about President John Adams, the inauguration of President John Adams, the inauguration of President McKinley, and recitations about Adams by the pupils. No hour was set apart for this talk but it was taken up with the regular work of the day.

At the Willard school owing to the absence of Principal Candlin, the day was not as fully observed as it would have been if he had been present. During the day numerous flags were displayed about the rooms and building and in the afternoon there was a general talk, in the several rooms, to the pupils about Adams. Next week, the pupils expect to hear much about the Washington ceremonies from eye witnesses of the splendor.

The pupils of the Washington school had numerous pictures of McKinley & Hobart and John Adams hung about the rooms. Questions were given about Adams which were answered by the pupils. Frank Higgins read a composition on John Adams, and Fannie Gorman, Freeman Higgins and Elsie Phillips read selections about him. Comparisons were also given of the country as it was under Adams and is today, of the size of cities, and of old and modern methods of travel.

Theatre Party.

How many times during the winter do we say to our friends, "Let's get up a Theatre Party." But ninety-nine times out of a hundred the plan fails, because we can't agree on the date, or the theatre, or the play. Just now, all Quincy people have a chance to become members of a grand sociable party which includes many of our best and oldest residents; the date, place and attraction for the occasion have all been arranged, and it only remains for our citizens to procure the few remaining good seats at E. B. Souther's and go to the Columbia theatre, March 10.

On that date, in addition to Hoyt's "A Temperance Town," by the regular company, there will be sketches illustrative of Indian life by native Indians and Improved Red Men, and the famous snake, war and canoe dances will be given. Dr. Mitchell of Lynn, a full blooded Apache, educated at Yale college, has drilled the team, and they will be given in public for the first time. Extra cars will be attached to the 7.12 train from Quincy and the 11.30 from Boston.

The party is under the auspices of Hodenosaunee Tribe of Red Men of Wollaston, who on several occasions have proved themselves the best of entertainers, and our citizens can take advantage of this opportunity to have a pleasurable evening in the knowledge that they are assisting one of the best charitable organizations.

The sale of seats at Souther's will positively close Saturday, March 6th, at 8 P. M.

Young Men's Christian Association.

Rev. A. A. Brown, of the West Quincy church will speak Sunday afternoon at the men's meeting.

Thursday evening the officers of the Association gave a reception to the members of the "Get One Club" of the Women's Auxiliary.

The fourth annual banquet of the State executive committee will be held at Hotel Brunswick, Boston, Wednesday evening, March 10. The special guests for the evening will be Mr. Luicus Tuttle, President of the B. & M. R. R.; Hon. Samuel W. McCall, Congressman eighth district; C. H. Platt, General Superintendent N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.; and Mr. Cephas Brainerd, Jr., of New York city, twenty-five years chairman of the International Committee.

A New York newspaper building is provided with the largest thermometer in existence. It has a dial plate 40 inches in diameter, so situated as to be in plain view of passersby.

Patch says there is a difference in coal, and he wants to save you dollars.

Mr. Albert R. Moulton of Wollaston is suffering from a severe burn on his face.

Inauguration day was made to order and sandwiched in between two very stormy ones.

The rumors of a strike Thursday upon the house being built by Zenas Howe on Cottage street were unfounded.

George W. Mayo says it is figures that talk and wants every one to call and inspect his ranges and he will pay car fares of prospective buyers.

The prospects are that there will be considerable building at Quincy Point this year as a number of new houses are contemplated on the old Kittredge farm.

If travel continues to increase on the Quincy Point electrics it will only be a matter of a short time before the street railway will petition for a double track.

Inspector McKay was near the corner of Boylston and Tremont streets, Boston, when the explosion took place Thursday and rendered valuable assistance to the police inspectors by arresting a pickpocket, catching the fellow in the act.

The sidewalk committee gathers every night, no matter how cold or how stormy; in front of Miss Freeman's store to decide the important questions of local interest, particularly the fire department. Yet as usual in such gatherings they do not cut much ice and their decisions have but little weight with the powers that be.

Rev. William A. Start of Tufts college, who was killed in the gas explosion in Boston Thursday was well known among the Universalist of this city and the State at large. He has often supplied the pulpit of the Quincy church. He was on the sidewalk near hotel Pelham at the time of the accident.

At a meeting at the Old South in Boston Inaugural day in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the inauguration of John Adams as President, the speakers were: Gov. Wolcott, Julia Ward Howe, Collector Winslow Warren, Speaker Bates of the house of representatives, Bishop Lawrence, Dr. William Everett and Senator Alfred Roe of Worcester.

The clam chowder supper that was served at the Atlantic Methodist church on Wednesday evening by Mrs. Hislop, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Winlock, was a success. The chowder was excellent, as were all the other good things. The entertainment given by the young folks, including the cantata of the Gipsy Queen, readings by Mrs. Blanchard and Miss Edith Greenard, the games, etc., were greatly enjoyed by all who were present.

Employes of the Gypsy Moth Commission have been at work in this city the past week making a thorough examination of the trees and shrubery for the larvae of the gypsy moth. They have been through Atlantic, along the shore and up through Merry Mount Park, South and West Quincy and are at present at work in the Center and Wollaston. As yet they have found no larvae or signs of any. Some were found in Dorchester.

Matinee Whist.

The first of the matinee whist parties of the lady friends of the Granite City club was a very enjoyable occasion. It was held in the new rooms of the club in the Savings Bank building on Thursday afternoon, and they were well adapted for such a gathering. There were twenty-five tables and the prizes were awarded as follows: first to Mrs. Chas. Brigham, second to Miss Lottie Spear, third to Mrs. Warren Rideout, fourth to Mrs. John Curtis and consolation to Mrs. George Crane.

CLOSING SCENES.

Grand Illumination and a Very Brilliant Inaugural Ball at Washington.

Washington, March 5.—The inauguration ceremonies closed with the most brilliant display of fireworks ever seen at the capital. In addition to the pyrotechnic display at the Peace monument, searchlights were mounted on all the public buildings. At intervals, all were converged upon the Washington monument, making it stand out in bright white relief against a black background.

On the state, war and navy department building there was an immense American flag floating splendidly in the stiff northeast breeze, bringing it out in the most vivid colors as though painted in light against the blackness of the heavens.

Private illuminations joined each other from end to end of the avenue. The immense public buildings seemed in flames. At various points, high over them against the blackness of the sky, many flags illuminated by searchlights, waved clear and bright as if the spirit of the upper air were active participants in the national festival. This effect was magical and moved the thousands below to an enthusiasm which even the marvelous scenes of the day had not kindled.

As the general illumination faded the searchlights began to reveal the public buildings and the Washington monument. The Capitol, the public library and the state, war and navy building flashed suddenly into light, each a wonderful and entrancing mirage of the night, alternately fixing the breathless attention of the multitudes and suddenly disappearing into darkness.

The fireworks and the street illuminations have not been equalled in the past, and the entertainment for the thousands, who could not attend the ball, was varied and ample.

The fireworks proper at the foot of the monument were remarkably fine. Beside the regulation bombs, rockets, and showers of colored stars from aerial mines, there were some distinct novelties in the line of parachute fireworks that floated burning through the air like chains of vari-colored stars.

There were none of the conventional set pieces, but the most unique and elaborate contrivance was a great balloon from which, when it reached a certain height, there unfurled an American flag wrought in colored lights that burned for several minuets before disappearing in a line of colored stars.

Verse Kissed by President.

"Give me new wisdom and knowledge that I may go out and come in before this people, for who can judge this thy people that is so great." This is the verse in the Bible that Mr. McKinley kissed when Chief Justice Fuller administered to him the oath of office. It is the 10th verse of the first chapter of Second Chronicles. Clerk McKenney held the sacred book which fell open at this chapter, and when the newly made president bent forward his lips were directed to this verse, probably the most appropriate in the book.

The inaugural ball in the Pension building was a fitting climax to the splendor of the day and was so largely attended that there was a crowd. Everything was on the grandest scale and the costumes of the ladies were magnificent.

MILTON.

There is considerable speculation in regard to the appointments of the Selectmen which will probably be made sometime next week. Two of the official heads that the opposition to the old board of Selectmen were after, were those of Maurice Pierce, chief of police, and George F. Choate, chief engineer.

Both gentlemen are efficient officials, and the only complaint against them is that others desire the appointments. Of the new board, Mr. Tucker will probably support the present incumbents in these offices, and it is well understood that Mr. Brackett will not support either Mr. Pierce or Mr. Choate, so that everything depends upon Mr. Bradlee, the third member of the board. Mr. Bradlee at one time served as deputy superintendent under Chief Pierce, and no one of the board knows the efficiency of Mr. Pierce better than he, and it is a question whether he will listen to the wishes of those who desire a change.

A recount of the votes for Selectmen was held Thursday but the result was not changed, although Mr. Simpson gained six votes.

The Selectmen will meet for organization tonight.

For the first time in the recollection of the oldest inhabitants of East Milton, hacks were used at the election Monday to carry voters to the Town Hall.

I desire to attest to the merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as one of the most valuable and efficient preparations on the market. It broke an exceedingly dangerous cough for me in 24 hours, and in gratitude therefor, I desire to inform you that I will never be without it and you should feel proud of the high esteem in which your Remedies are held by people in general. It is the one remedy among ten thousand. Success to it.—O. R. DOWNEY, Editor Democrat, Albion, Ind. For sale by A. G. Durgin

—North Dakota people want the laws amended so that a year's residence will be necessary in order to secure a divorce. This is shrewd on the part of North Dakota. A good deal more money will be dropped in the state in a year's residence than by one of merely three months. We would make further changes in divorce laws having the same laws in every state. Securing divorces is becoming too easy and too common.

Financial Utterances of Our New President Approved In England.

Newspapers Criticise Policy of Protection.

British Financiers Express Commendatory Opinions on Message.

London, March 5.—All the morning papers contain editorial references to the inaugural address of President McKinley.

The Morning Post says that, in view of the embittered relations produced between Great Britain and the United States by President Cleveland's imputed message, it is satisfying to note President McKinley's words of weight and wisdom with reference to the arbitration treaty.

The paper thinks it also "gratifying to find that he does not encourage the policy of interfernce abroad and keeps an open mind on currency and econmic questions."

The Daily Telegraph regards the message as "a most relentless and unflinching declaration for protection," and adds, sarcastically: "Fortunately, our conviction of the unassailable soundness of free trade principles enables us to regard a comparison with equanimity."

The Daily News considers the address "most satisfying and reassuring, and especially so in its reference to arbitration and non-interference abroad." The paper thinks the president's attitude towards bimetallism "safe, soothing and altogether unexceptionable." It adds: "The tariff paragraph is an endeavor at compromise between conflicting principles. We know what came of McKinleyism before: and it is unlikely that there will be any renewal of the legislation on the old lines." The president's references to the development of the American merchant marine are thought by The Daily News "most significant."

The Daily Chronicle says: "The address is a very safe utterance, showing that President McKinley, if not a great man, is at least a prudent one. Evidently high tariff is to be the sheet anchor of the new administration. We see no serious attempt in the address to grapple with economic problems; and it is hard to believe that a cabinet of millionaires and a president whose election was aided by enormous contributions from trusts will prove zealous antagonists of such trusts. President McKinley will stand or fall, however, by his strength of resistance to the encroachments of organized wealth."

The Times thinks that the "obvious prominence given the protectionist idea in its most uncompromising form must put an end to any active co-operation between the Republicans and the free traders who assisted them in fighting against Bryanist propaganda. The president's language on the currency is encouraging, though vague. He has given the jingoes a cold douche, which should bring all except the utterly incurable to their sober senses; and, though we do not feel as confident as we might, it is to be hoped the senate will ratify the arbitration treaty without mutilating or minimizing its provisions."

The Standard says:

"The address is smooth and kindly, but it has one serious underlying purpose, namely, protection. Experience has been useless either to President McKinley or to the American people. They have not yet suffered enough for their economic mistakes and heresies. Their reversion toward high protective duties, however, relieves us of all fear of their destructive competition in other parts of the world.

The financial clauses of President McKinley's message have been received in business circles here with every expression of satisfaction. They were read to the representatives of the Rothschilds' banking house, who said they were much pleased with the position taken by the president, adding:

"It is excellent, most excellent."

The governor of the bank of England, Albert C. Sandeman, said the financial clauses of the message were "Thoroughly sound, and of a clear, honest, conservative tone." He would not express an opinion on the international bimetallism clause.

Mr. Howard Potter of Brown, Shipley & Co. remarked:

"It is quite in line with what I expected. If President McKinley appoints a good commission to revise the monetary laws, there is no doubt that good will result. The country must be thoroughly sick of the situation.

"In view of Japan's adoption of the gold standard and Russia's accumulation of gold, it is very doubtful if international bimetallism will proceed very far."

Secretary Neal of the Bimetallic league said: We are delighted with the clause referring to international bimetallism. It is all we hoped for and the British bimetallists believe they can also speak for those of France and Germany. If a common internal monetary affairs commission is appointed it will be the best thing done in the United States in a long time."

The Gold Standard Defence association is not pleased with the clause in the president's message referring to international bimetallism. Its members express the belief that when President McKinley comes to settle down, he will find all the government officials against him.

Mr. Richard B. Martin, chairman of the Martin bank (limited) remarked:

"President McKinley's work is cut out for him. He promises well. Let us see the performance.

"We know Mr. Lyman J. Gage (the secretary of the treasury), and have faith in him, as most London bankers have."

Corwine Speculated.

Newport, R. I., March 5.—Detective Rice and Sergeant Griffiths of the local police left yesterday for Chicago to bring back Paymaster Corwine, under arrest at that place for the alleged embezzlement of $15,000 from the government. In addition to the $3000 recovered from him at the time of his arrest, the police have succeeded in getting an additional $1950 from Mrs. Corwine at Washington. This accounts for all but $50 of the money which Corwine secured on the check which he cashed in the name of the government before he left Newport. Corwine has been speculating heavily in stocks, transacting his business through a third party, and he left Newport heavily in debt.

WAR REMINISCENCES.

An Interesting Talk by School Teacher to Quincy Teachers.

The Quincy Teachers Association held a meeting at High School hall Thursday evening, which was quite largely attended. President Pollard presided and after the little preliminary business Miss Johnson gave a pleasing piano solo, and a double trio from the Woodward Institute gave a selection.

Mr. Dimick principal of the Wells school of Boston was then introduced. Mr. Dimick gave an interesting talk on personal experiences in rebel prisons during the war of the rebellion. He said he enlisted in the 11th New Hampshire regiment under Command of Col. Harriman and was assigned to the 9th army corps. His first battle was at Fredericksburg. He was at Petersburg on June 16, 1864, and fought until midnight. The next morning while in command of the two left companies of the regiment he was taken prisoner. He was taken back to Petersburg and then south, arriving at Andersonville on June 22. Being an officer he was not confined at this famous prison but was the next day taken to Macom, then to Savannah, Charlestown and Columbia S. C., from which prison he escaped on Nov. 3, and travelling thirty days, mostly by night he reached the Union lines at Knoxville, Tenn.

Mr. Dimick minutely described the several prisons in which he was confined, the mode of living and the meagre supply of food that was given them.

Fortunately he was an officer and did not suffer the hardships that the privates were obliged to endure. Some of the rebels he found gentlemanly, who would treat prisoners like men, and in a gentlemanly manner, while there were others who treated the men over whom they kept guard in the most brutal manner. None of the food supplied was any too good and in many cases the water was filthy. Mr. Dimmock talked nearly an hour and held the closest attention of the teachers.

At the close of his talk he was given a vote of thanks and the meeting closed with another selection by the double trio.

TURKS READY FOR WAR

While Grecian Army Is Far Below Modern Requirements.

Greece's Reply to Ultimatum Will Be "No."

Crowds Gather Before Palace at Athens and Shout For War.

Dispatches from different points in Europe indicate that war is liable to break out any moment between Greece and Turkey. Both nations are mobilizing troops in Thessaly. King George has indicated that he will refuse to comply with the orders of the powers to evacuate Crete. His people are clamorous for war. Turks are murdering Christians in old Servia.

London, March 5.—The rapid mobilization of the Turkish troops on the Greek frontier confirms the belief which prevails among military men here that Turkey is more ready for war than Greece. Experts express the opinion that the Turkish troops being collected at Salonica could, unless the powers or the Balkan states interfered, reach Athens in a fortnight. The Greek army is admitted to be far below modern requirements. If the Greek army reserves are remobilized, it is stated, they will be little better than mobs, armed with obsolete rifles and lacking in artillery.

The newspapers in this city contain an advertisement, inserted by the Greek consul here, notifying all reservists to present themselves at the headquarters of their respective regiments within two months.

Mr. Gladstone has sent the following telegram to The Daily Chronicle:

"To expel the Greeks from Crete and to keep as police the butchers of Armenia will further deepen the disgrace of the powers." A dispatch signed by a hundred Liberal and Irish Nationalist members of the house of commons was sent last evening to the king of Greece expressing sympathy with his efforts and the efforts of the Greek nation and government on behalf of Crete.

Greece Will Not Evacuate.

Athens, March 5.—There is no longer any doubt that the reply of Greece to the identical notes of the powers, delivered on Monday last, and insisting on the Greek fleet and troops leaving Crete within six days from that date, will be in the negative. The reply of the Greek government will explain the reasons why Greece cannot recall her forces and why she considers the scheme of autonomy, proposed by the powers, to be inapplicable to Crete.

After a cabinet counsel yesterday, the premier, M. Delyannis, had a long conference with the king.

It is stated that the government has decided to call out the army reserves of 1890, 1889 and 1888, and that this step will be followed by a general mobilization of the Greek forces.

Meetings, in favor of war with Turkey and resistance to the powers, are of daily occurrence, especially in Thessaly.

Reports are published here that the German officers in the Turkish army have been appointed to command the troops on the Greek frontier.

Last evening a great public meeting was held here to protest against the action of the powers. At its conclusion, the crowd marched to the palace, shouting: "War! war! war!" Before the palace several persons addressed the people, and then, in response to their urgent demands, the crown prince, Constantine, Duke of Sparta, appeared on the terrace, wearing the uniform of a general, and made a short speech. He thanked those present in the name of the king, for the loyal and patriotic sentiments expressed, and begged them to retire, saying, at the present juncture, an attitude of calm best benefited the dignity of the nation. The prince was loudly cheered.

The new minister for war, Colonel Mextaxes, has enjoined the greatest activity upon the commanding officers of the Greek forces. The French volunteers who have arrived here are everywhere hailed with the greatest enthusiasm.

Rome, March 5.—The whole Italian nation is in a state of enthusiasm in behalf of Crete and Greece. Manifestations in behalf of the union of Crete to Greece are being held in all parts of the country and resolutions denouncing the bombardment of the insurgent position near Canea by the warships of the powers are being adopted.

The German embassies and colleges are being repeatedly and strongly hissed, and the air re-echoes with the cries, "Down with the Turks and their friends."

Gendarmes' Pay Withheld.

Canea, Island of Crete, March 5.—A sensation was caused here by the unexpected discovery that Turkish authorities have had ample funds in hand to meet the arrears of pay due to the gendarmes who mutinied on Tuesday, but that they intentionally concealed the fact. Governor Ismail, during the day, in reply to a representation from the needy policemen, said it was impossible to pay them, as he had no money for this purpose, and, later, he asked the foreign consuls to advance him the money necessary from the fund raised as an indemnity for the victims of the disorders of last May. The consuls were about to comply with the governor's request, when they ascertained, in some manner not explained, that the other Turkish authorities had ample funds on hand to meet the demands of the gendarmes. This has led to the suspicion that the mutiny of Tuesday afternoon may have been instigated by the Turks.

Servian Christians Persecuted.

Vienna, March 5.—Advices from Belgrade say that murderous outrages have been committed by Turks and Arnauts during the last few days on Christians in various parts of Old Servia. Near Prilip a priest and two peasants have been murdered, and in the vicinity of Tetomo a wedding procession was attacked and 21 persons were killed or wounded.

Italian Vessel Fired Upon.

Constantinople, March 5.—While an Italian mail steamer was passing through the straits of the Dardanelles a shot was fired across her bows from one of the forts ashore, although the vessel displayed the usual signals and had obtained the necessary permit to pass through the straits.

STATE BOARD OF CHARITY.

Permanent Body Suggested by Special Legislative Commission.

Boston, March 5.—The special commission appointed in 1896 to investigate the charitable institutions of the state have submitted their report to the legislature. The commission recommend that a state board of charity be created, to which shall be given all the powers and duties which would have remained to the present state board of lunacy and charity, after withdrawing from that board the powers and duties given respectively to the state board of insanity and the department of children. This board of charity is to consist of seven members, to hold office for seven years, appointed by the governor, one to be designated a secretary, and to receive $3500 and his actual expenses, the other members to receive no compensation except their expenses. The board also recommend the state control of all the county prisons.

They recommend that the distinction between county prisons and prisons under the control of the state be done away with, and that all of the prisons within the commonwealth be placed under the control of and be maintained by the commonwealth. By such change, they say the following results may be attained:

1. The abolition of unclassified prisons.
2. The initiation and development of reformatory measures for a larger number of prisoners who are susceptible to reform.
3. Uniformity in the management of the prisons and the prisoners.
4. Uniformity in the terms of sentences and in the granting of permits to be at liberty.
5. The better regulation of labor in the prisons.
6. The more complete separation of the sexes.
7. The abandonment of prisons now quite unfit for their purpose, as, for, instance, the house of correction at South Boston, and wiser provisions of relieving our overcrowded prisons.
8. The more intelligent study and treatment of the problems of drunkenness.

HIS HONOR VINDICATED.

Jury Orders Restitution to Estate of a Suicide.

Providence, March 5.—A jury in the United States circuit court brought in a verdict of $6150, the full amount claimed, with interest and costs, in the suit of the executor of the estate of Cyrus C. Armstrong vs. M. Steinert & Sons. This suit has been on trial for a week and the evidence was quite exhaustive. The facts in brief are that Cyrus C. Armstrong, bookkeeper for the local branch of Steinert & Sons, in 1892 was charged with embezzling $6150 from the firm, according to the books.

Mr. Armstrong was so grieved at the charge that he repaid $3000 of the sum with money taken from the Roger Williams Trust company, of which he was treasurer. On the day before the annual meeting of the company last year finding that he could not realize on certain securities which he held in time to pay back the trust funds which he had taken before the shortage would be discovered, he committed suicide. His executor, Warren B. Wesly, learning something of the way business was done at M. Steinert & Sons, began suit to recover the money paid to the firm by Mr. Armstrong, which was the full amount of the alleged embezzlement, claiming that the firm had doctered the books and compelled Mr. Armstrong to wrongly pay over the money.

The jury's verdict exhonorates Mr. Armstrong and vindicates his honor. Mr. Armstrong was highly respected and his suicide was a shock which was widely felt.

DAN STUART'S PROSPECTS.

He Will Realize a Fortune If Amphitheatre Is Filled at Big Fight.

Carson, Nev., March 5.—Dan Stuart's big ampetheatre is about completed. Tickets of admission to the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight on the 17th inst will cost from $5 to $40, according to location. Two rows of seats, completely inclosing the ring and close to it will be reserved for reporters. The seating capacity of the structure is over 15,000 and if every seat is sold the receipts will amount to $284,000.

A report sent out that Fitzsimmons is freely indulging in liquor is emphatically denied by his friends and trainers.

Corbett has taken to outdoor exercise and runs eight or 10 miles daily.

Physicians examined Corbett yesterday and declared him to be all right.

Paupers' Bodies to Medical College.

Boston, March 5.—In the house yesterday the bill providing that medical schools may have the bodies of unclaimed paupers for dissection was up for engrossment. With one or two exceptions the members who debated it did so in a spirit of levity. Speaker Bates had to call to order several times and the members frequently received the warnings of his gavel with utter disregard. The bill was passed to be engrossed—76 to 44.

John D. Long Goes to Washington.

Hingham, Mass., March 5.—Hon. John D. Long, the new secretary of the navy in President McKinley's cabinet, left his home here last evening for Washington, quite unexpectedly. He expects to return home about April 1, when he will make preparations to move his family to Washington.

Fate of Competitor.

Tampa, Fla., March 5.—Passengers arriving on the Havana steamer say, positively, that the Competitor and her crew were released by the Spanish government Sunday. The boat had been repainted by the government. It is believed that the boat and crew were seized by a Spanish gunboat afterwards and the boat sunk and the crew killed. It is thought the release was made for that purpose.

DYSPEPSIA DID IT

Weakened One Man's Constitution Until It Brought Him to Death's Door.

Mr. James S. Harrison, a well-known and highly respected citizen of Cleveland, O., was for years a sufferer from dyspepsia and general debility, and in his weakened condition, resulting from the above causes, he had the additional ill-luck to fall a victim to malaria from this complication of disorders. Mr. Harrison's condition was becoming very serious, when he commenced to take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy. Its effects were marked and immediate. Read his letter to us. Its earnestness is apparent:

GENTLEMEN: For the benefit of all suffering from dyspepsia and general debility I beg to submit my testimonial as to the efficacy of your P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, as a positive cure for all the distressing complaints from which I suffered.

My system was also full of Malaria and my condition was growing very serious; I had no appetite, was losing strength and was completely broken down in health, but now my health is completely restored, and I can eat like a field laborer, without the slightest fear of any serious results.

I take great pleasure in telling the world that P. P. P. did the grand work of restoring me to my accustomed health. Yours truly,

JAMES S. HARRISON,
Cleveland, O.

If you get up feeling tired and stupid, P. P. P. should be taken—it will make you feel well.

P. P. P. cures eczema, that torturing, itching disease of the skin and blood. If your blood is kept pure, you will not be disfigured with pimples, boils and blotches.

P. P. P. is the deadly foe and vanquisher of rheumatism. Its effects are immediate and lasting, and it not only relieves, but permanently cures.

Scrofula, which is hereditary and deep-seated in the blood can be cured by P. P. P. It is the one and only positive cure for this dread disease.

Sufferers from kidney troubles find immediate relief when they take P. P. P. as it cures all irregularities and restores to nature her proper functions.

Q. Y. C. REPRESENTATIVE.

Capt. Wood and His Experience as a Skipper and Builder.

Commodore Sanborn has appointed Mr. Robert M. Wood delegate to the Massachusetts Yacht Racing association from the Quincy Yacht club.

Mr. Wood is well known as an expert in all matters pertaining to yacht designing, yacht building and yacht racing. Since 1875 he has devoted his whole time to yachting. Having been taught by his father in East Boston, his native place, to lay down the lines for a vessel, he branched out as a model maker. His first yacht, the Lottie, raced by Wood Bros. was quite a success, winning a number of cups. Then followed the Actress, the Gem, Lena Hector, Daisy, Maud, Cricket No. 1, Cricket No. 2, Gleam, Fanny, Adelaide, Whileaway and Duchess, besides twenty or more steam yachts. All of these with one or two exceptions have made good records in their seasons. The Gem was especially successful.

Cricket No. 2 was built for Commodore Mott of the Oswego Yacht club of Lake Ontario and Mr. Wood sailed her at the beginning of her career, winning her first race sailed July 4, 1882.

Capt. Wood, as skipper of the Canadian Yacht Sygnet won $100 in gold and champion flag of Bay of Quente. He also won the Prince of Wales challenge cup under the auspices of the Royal Canadian Yacht club. The Adelaide, a forty-six footer designed for New York parties, with Capt. Wood at the helm, won nine firsts out of eleven starts.

As ship draughtsman, Capt. Wood, while with Lawley & Sons Corporation, had much experience laying down the lines of many vessels in the mould loft, his largest being the cruiser Marblehead of 2000 tons.

Capt. Wood is now Naval Architect for the Fore River Engine Co., of Weymouth, and is well known as the designer of the Gleaner, Satanic, Sartar, Erycina, Hyperion, and steamers Rajah, Hybius and City of Quincy.

We need not mention the success of the Gleaner, as every yachtsman knows her and how she has won 50 prizes out of 64 entries.

Capt. Wood is a fine skipper, and with him at the helm a yacht is sure to do her best. He is a bright and jolly yachtsman, well liked, a man of ideas and a good talker, and Commodore Sanborn believes that the Quincy Yacht Club is fortunate in being represented by such an able and experienced yachtsman.

N. E. O. P. Notes.

One of the most enjoyable as well as successful events in the history of Quincy lodge was its whist party held last evening in Wilson's hall. At the close of a brief business meeting, tables were arranged for the large gathering of members and friends who were to participate in the contest.

Play lasted from 9 to 10 30 P. M. with the following result: Ladies' first prize, cut glass toilet bottle, won by Mrs. B. Porterfield; ladies' booby prize, music box, by Mrs. Davidson. Gentlemen's first, celluloid cards and case, by Mr. Howard Jewett; booby, a rattle, by Mr. Roulston. After the distribution of prizes fruit was served by Mr. Spooner. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly occupied with dancing and in social intercourse.

Two new applications were received at the regular meeting.

Preparations for the basket party are now complete and the advance sale of tickets assures its financial success.

PICTURES OF WAR.

WHAT A SOLDIER IN THE RANKS SAW IN THE ARMY.

An Amusing Story of a Foraging Expedition—A Moral Goes With It—Thrilling Account of an Army Execution Given by an Eyewitness.

WAR is a favorite theme for descriptive writers because of its picturesque and stirring features, and for specialists and trained soldiers with literary inclinations. Still there are realms unexplored, glimpses of which are furnished in campaign and battle narratives. Stories from the ranks usually come after the writer has overlaid his real experience with riper knowledge, and they lack spontaneity. In writing his reminiscences for a local newspaper, Private Theodore Gerrish of the Twentieth Maine aimed to tell a regimental story, and the result is a matter of fact narrative of army life.

A sketch of that much misrepresented feature a bummers' foraging expedition is given without gloss or other attempt to make it more or less than the real thing. "Foraging soon becomes a science in the soldier's life," says the writer. "We had just entered the army and did not understand it as well as those who had been longer in service, but we applied ourselves closely to the work, and soon became quite expert. We must always remember that customs in the army vary from those in civil life, and things which in the latter would not be tolerated for a moment would be commendable in the former. Many laughable incidents occurred.

"While marching through Loudoun valley our regiment encamped one night at a small village, and the following day a squad of us sallied forth, without permission, 'to seek whom we might devour.' Some few miles from camp, in an outbuilding on a large plantation, we found a very large beehive, which appeared to be well filled with honey. Now, honey and hard tack made a most desirable diet, and we knew that we had found a prize; but, as I have already intimated, foraging was new business to us and we were a little timid, and consequently concluded that the better course for us to pursue was to return to camp and then come out after dark and secure it. We returned to camp highly elated at the prospects Of course our comrades of the regiment were to know nothing about it. We held a small council of war and arranged our plans. Late in the evening we passed through the guard lines unnoticed by the sentinels and quickly tramped over fences and across fields until we reached the plantation, and, to our joy, found the hive of honey as we had left it in the afternoon. It was a huge, old fashioned affair, some 4 feet high and 2½ wide, and so heavy that it required our united strength to carry it.

"We soon found that the way of the transgressor is hard. We had just passed from the building to the open yard when a smothered exclamation from our leader, Joe, which was half way between an oath and a yell, attracted our attention. We hurriedly dropped the hive, and Joe began to make the most lively antics around the yard. We soon learned the cause. He had placed his hand near the opening, and the bees, aroused by their removal, had crawled out and intrenched themselves in a cluster on his arm underneath the sleeves.

"'Confound them,' muttered the victim, smarting under his first war wounding, 'I'll fix them.' Taking off his overcoat, a new one just drawn from the stores, he wrapped it around the hive so as to completely cover the opening. We then lifted the burden and tugged away. We passed out into a lane inclosed by a high fence, and soon, to our horror, heard a party of men approaching. 'Here they are!' cried one, leaping upon the fence. 'Surrender, surrender!' cried the newcomers. 'The provost guard!' we exclaimed in chorus. Now, if there is anything in the world a raw soldier is afraid of it is the provost guard. Guns rattled, and, dropping the hive, overcoat and all, we sprang over the fence and skedaddled, our pursuers crying out that if we did not stop they would shoot.

"At breakneck speed we went across a broad field, cleared a wide ditch with a most desperate leap and rushed on to our camp. When we arrived there, we lay down to talk over our narrow escape, highly elated to think we had eluded the grasp of the dreaded provost guard. If we had made a charge upon the enemy and covered ourselves with honor, we could not have felt much better than at that time. We were so excited that we could not sleep.

"In about an hour we heard a commotion in an adjoining company. Some men seemed to be carrying a heavy burden while others were convulsed with joyous laughter they vainly tried to suppress. We listened. They were talking. Their whole company seemed to be gathered around them. As we listened we became disgusted. They had got our honey. They had overheard us in the afternoon as we made our plans, and an armed squad of them had followed us up to make believe they were the provost guard, and they had succeeded. We tried to induce Joe to ask for his coat, but he declared he would rather freeze to death like a man."

The army bummer of the front line takes deeper risks than arrest and petty punishment by the provost guard. There is a spice of adventure in the hunt for forbidden game and the habit springs as often from love of excitement as from hunger.

Truthful chronicler that he is, Private Gerrish stops at nothing in his task of depicting war. He gives a story of an army execution, a topic most writers merely hint at as something too dark for elaboration. The unfortunate men evidently did not belong to Gerrish's regiment, and, in fact, he leaves no clew for their identity. Says he: "In the month of August, 1863, while our regiment was encamped near Beverly Ford, on the Rappahannock, a report was circulated through our corps that five deserters had been arrested and would probably be found guilty and executed. This caused quite a ripple of excitement in camp. Years before we had read of deserters being shot, and our boyish hearts had been thrilled with vivid descriptions given, but we had never witnessed such a spectacle. We had seen death in almost every form but this.

"The court martial found all the deserters guilty, and sentenced them all to be shot. The whole Fifth corps was paraded to witness the execution and the regiments massed around a hollow square. The lines were so formed that every man could obtain a view, and for some moments we awaited the arrival of the solemn procession. Every detail had been arranged with the special object of making a deep impression upon the spectators. On a broad level the old Fifth corps, with its bronzed veterans and tattered flags, closed in solid columns around the square. The silence was not broken by a single sound. Each line of soldiers looked more like a section of a vast machine than a line of living men.

"The silence was suddenly and sadly broken by the sounds of approaching music—not the quick, inspiring strains with which we were so familiar, but a measured, slow and solemn dirge, whose weird, sorrowful notes were poured forth like the moanings of lost spirits. Every eye turned in the direction whence came the sad and mournful cadences, and then we saw the procession. First came the band of music, with slow and measured step; next a detachment of the provost guard, numbering 60 men. The guard consisted of men detailed from the several regiments, and in their selection special regard was made to soldierly qualities. This detachment, as well as one of the same size bringing up the rear of the procession, was composed of the finest looking men that could be selected from the entire guard. Every one was tall and erect in form. All were well drilled and dressed in bright, new and neatly fitting uniforms. With the precision of trained veterans they marched in step with the slow and solemn music. This was the firing party. Next followed a black coffin carried by four men, and close after it came one of the condemned; then another coffin, followed by the second unfortunate, and thus in regular order they came, the rear of the procession being made up of the detachment of provost guard. The condemned were all dressed alike in blue trousers and white shirts. Each man's hands were manacled behind him and a guard was on either side. They were marched to the center of the square, where the graves had already been prepared. Each of the doomed men was accompanied by a priest or chaplain.

"Of what could those men have been thinking as they marched to the gateway of eternity? I can imagine how men may face death under almost any circumstances, but to be thus marched to the place of execution between the massed columns of their own comrades and keep step to the music of death must have awakened emotions in their breasts that can only be rivaled by the stern events of the judgment day. Four of the condemned men walked steadily and to all outward appearance with perfect unconcern to the place of death. One was weak and tottering and was evidently leaning for support upon his attendants. When the coffins were properly arranged at the graves, each prisoner sat down upon the foot of his coffin in such a manner that he would directly face the detachments of the provost guard. Then followed a long, low conversation between the condemned men and their spiritual advisers. It was a most affecting scene—five men, beings of immortal destiny, about to be hurled through the gateways of death for crimes against their country.

"The last exhortation was given, the last word spoken, and the clergymen withdrew from the presence of the condemned. Each of the doomed men was then blindfolded with a thick and heavy bandage. The officers in charge then stepped back upon the line with the soldiers who were to fire. The 60 men were ready to perform their sad duty. One rifle in each 12 was loaded with a blank cartridge, so that not one of the firing party should know that he had taken the life of a fellow being. The second detachment was placed in such a position that they could complete the work if any of the condemned should survive after the first fire.

"After the bandages were placed upon the eyes of the men there was a moment of awful suspense. To the anxious spectators it seemed to be an age. Then clear and sharp the voice of the commanding officer rang out, 'Ready!' and instantly each of the 60 guns obeyed the command. Once more the officer's voice was heard, 'Aim!' and 60 rifles were brought into position, 12 being pointed at the breast of each of the condemned. Intently we watched and listened.

"At last we heard the fatal word, 'Fire!' There was a gleaming flash, a line of curling smoke, a sharp crash like the report of a single rifle. We looked again. The provost guard was standing at 'shoulder arms.' Five bleeding forms were limp and lifeless upon the ground, where they had fallen; the deserters had met their doom. Law had been enforced, the penalty inflicted, the outraged government avenged. The lines were quickly set in motion and the regiments marched to their respective camps."

Executions were very few, and those for the terrible crime of desertion in face of the enemy were made the most of as spectacles by way of example and warning. GEORGE L. KILMER.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 7. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Opportunities to do good; seeing them; using them.—John iv, 5-15; I Cor. ix, 19-22.

Opportunities to do good are all around us in life. The sun of no day need set without looking upon some act of philanthropy if we only have the desire to use the opportunities which we see about us. There are many about us who are in temporal want and distress whose wants need to be supplied. Many are suffering mental agony because of the trials, hardships, tribulations and afflictions of life, and they need the sympathy and encouragement of loving hearts and helping hands. Many are in spiritual woe. The burden of sin lies heavily upon them, and they need some one to lead them to the Saviour, at whose touch the burden of sin will roll away. There is many a weary soul at the wells of life with nothing by which to draw. There is many an unfortunate person who has fallen among thieves and robbers and lies bruised and bleeding and unable to care for himself. The mission of Christ in the world was to do good. This should also be the mission of His followers.

We see many opportunities in life to do good, but we do not always use them. There are many reasons given perhaps for our indifference or our neglect. Sometimes it is because we cannot do as much as we would like to do, or in the way that we would like to do it. Often we think if we only had the means or the ability of certain others to do good how much we would do. This is a serious mistake. Because we cannot do all we would like to do is no reason why we should not do all we can do. If ten men are starving and I can only save one of them, it would be folly not to save the one because I could not save the other nine. If God has only given us one talent, He will only require us to account for one, but He will demand an account for that one. Again, we sometimes think men do not deserve our sacrifice and labor. The question of desert is not for us to decide. If God dealt with us on this basis, not one of us could stand before Him. It should only be a question of need and our ability to supply the need.

There are many reasons why we should use all opportunities for doing good to our fellow men. It is a positive pleasure to benefit others. It is the desire of the Lord Jesus Christ, and for His sake, if no other, we ought to do it. In feeding the hungry and clothing the naked and visiting the sick, Jesus looks upon it as being done unto Him. It pays to be philanthropic. The reflex influence is always good, and one good turn not only deserves another, but in the providence of God usually receives it. We know not when we may need what some one else now needs. Let us do to them as we would have them do to us under changed conditions.

Bible Readings.—Jer. viii, 19, 20; Math. v, 16; xxv, 34-46; Acts viii, 26-39; Luke x, 25-37; John ix, 4; xii, 35, 36; I Cor. xv, 58; II Cor. viii, 1-12; Gal. vi, 10; Phil. iv, 10-14; II Thess. ii, 16, 17; Heb. x, 23-25; xi, 13-16.

Chinese Mission Hospitals.

Nearly every missionary society at work in China has established medical missions, and the missionaries consider the presence of a Christian hospital an immense advantage to them in their work of soul winning. One missionary declares that even itinerancy is of less value. In one case a patient traveled 1,000 miles to reach a Christian hospital. In another case last summer 180 patients were on the mission premises at one time.—Golden Rule.

Seeing Christ.

It is in Him that we meet the highest we know. In His person, speaking human language, mingling freely in human society, the world saw that which permanently raised its idea of God. Seeing Christ, it was God men saw, and they saw Him to be more and better than they had thought. God is revealed in Him, and our hope of knowing God better is our hope of knowing Christ better. —Professor Marcus Dods, D. D.

Appearance Versus Character.

Personal appearance at first attracts the greater attention, but personal character produces the most lasting impression. While dress and manners are to be duly cultivated, our chief concern should be to so feel and act that we may make the deepest, most vital and most beneficent effect upon all with whom we come in contact.—Presbyterian.

Influence of Conventions.

The influence of Christian Endeavor conventions never adjourns. There has been reported from Chicago a band of 15 Endeavorers, who, as a result of the Washington convention, meet weekly for Bible study and preparation for evangelistic work and after the meeting take entire charge for the evening of the services in a rescue mission.

A Suggestion For Endeavorers.

Dr. Clark sends from Europe, as a suggestion to the Christian Endeavor societies of the world, the plan of occupying a few moments in every Christian Endeavor prayer meeting, or at least occasionally, with a summary of the pastor's morning sermon. The plan should prove helpful alike to young people and pastor.

Sin Is Attractive.

It is a mistake to say that sin is repulsive and unattractive. The truth is there are thousands of naughty things that the unregenerate think are nice. Sin is often attractive and enticing, else fewer people would be sinners. Too often men are in sinful ways because they like the ways of sin.—Rev. C. B. Mitchell, Kansas City.

Failures.

The failures in Christian life are not due to lack of power, but to failure to use the power that is in us.—G. F. Pentecost.

CHRISTIAN THEATER.

NOVEL PLAYHOUSE TO BE ESTABLISHED IN PARIS.

Only Plays of a Strictly Moral and Religious Tendency Will Be Performed In It—Has Caused a Lively Discussion Among the Leading Paris Newspapers.

"What will happen next?" is the question which the theatrical managers and the theater going public of Paris are asking just now. And no wonder, for verily some strange sights have been seen on the French stage of late. Psychological plays are no longer a novelty, and M. Sardou has shown how the theater can be made an effective instrument in the work of popularizing the doctrines of spiritualism. Now, however, the theater is to undergo a still greater metamorphosis, or rather one theater is to be used for a purpose which is strikingly novel and which smacks of the old days when mystery and miracle plays were in fashion.

A Christian theater is to be established in Paris. This is the news of the week in the French theatrical world. It will be erected in the Faubourg Poissoniere and will be known as the Theater Corneille, this name being chosen because Corneille was not only a great dramatist, but also a devout Christian, as can be seen from the many pious utterances in his plays as well in "The Cid" as in "Polyeucte."

The theater will be directed by Mme. Nancy-Vernet and will have as patrons the following well known persons: Urbain Gohier, editor of Le Soleil; De la Tourrasse, editor of La France Nouvelle; De Merolles, president of the Society of Christian Publicists; Albert Monniot, secretary of the Libre Parole newspaper; Nemours Godre, editor of La Verite; Edmond Turquet, formerly undersecretary of state, and Charles Vincent, editor of La Gazette de France.

The theater will open with Rostron's play entitled "St. Genest," and this will be followed by several new plays, all of a strictly moral and religious tendency. Carefully selected plays will also be performed from the works of Corneille, Racine and Alfred de Vigny.

The news that this novel theater is to be established has given rise to a lively discussion in the French press. Thus La Libre Parole says, "The Catholics of France will at last have a theater in which they will run no risk of hearing their faith insulted or of seeing the professors and ministers of that faith turned into ridicule."

Le Gaulois looks at the matter from a practical point and simply asks, "Will this new theater succeed?" Then, in reply, it makes some suggestions. "The people," it says, "may flock to see a play on spiritualism, but that is no proof of their willingness to support a Christian theater. Still they might like to see such religious plays as their forefathers delighted in, especially plays based on the picturesque traditions of religion. Again, the 'Passion' of Oberammergau would be quite as successful in Paris as it is in Bavaria. M. Bouchor played for some time in a mystery of this kind in a small Parisian theater and drew immense crowds."

But then Le Gaulois naturally points out that if plays of this kind once become thoroughly popular any manager would be glad to produce them, and consequently there would be no logical reason for the existence of an exclusively Christian theater. If one can see a Christian play at any theater, why go out of one's way in order to see a similar play at a Christian theater?

"And we have today," says Le Gaulois in conclusion, "a theater in which we can see the most sublime and touching sights of Christian art. This theater is the church. There the people can see the King of kings and the court of heaven, with all its pomps and all its ceremony. Golden copes, silken garments, flowers, marbles and lights are there to gladden the eyes and soothe the heart, and while the incense floats toward the many colored windows, on which are pictured images of the holy family and of the saints, the ears are charmed by sounds of music, whose sole aim is to fill the soul with the highest conceptions of love and duty."

Time alone can tell whether this Christian theater will be a success or not. That the utmost will be done to make it a success is certain.—New York Herald.

An Ancient Prophecy.

Queen Olga of Greece is a daughter of Constantine, a grand duke of Russia and mother of Constantine, duke of Sparta. He will probably come back from Crete, this Prince George, "with his shield" revealed as Russia's present mighty play on the chessboard of European power. The old prophecy thrills the modern Greeks with hope that "when a Constantine shall wed a Sophia the Greeks shall possess Constantinople." The Princess Sophia, wife of the young Constantine, is a sister of the emperor of Germany, but it will be Russian power that will aid Greece to push her way toward Turkish conquest, the power of the empire whence Prince George inherits his name of Constantine. His own 6-year-old boy, by the way, is called Georgias.—Boston Transcript.

Breeding Ground Hogs For Food.

Mr. Henry Singer, a well known and thrifty farmer of near Duvall Station, Ky., has for the past two years been domesticating the ground hog with much success. Mr. Singer found a burrow, in which he captured 17 ground hogs, and, taking them to a small lot on his place, he built a close wire fence through which none could escape. Last year the hogs increased to 205, and this year there were 1,673. Of this number, Mr. Singer killed 1,000, which he has salted away and will smoke dry, as Kentucky farmers do with ordinary pork. The ground hog when so cured is a great delicacy, and Mr. Singer has more than enough to furnish his meat for the coming year.—Georgetown (Ky.) News.

A Few Cold Facts.

Yes,—the citizens of Quincy do want good stores, and when one grows right in their midst, they know how to appreciate it.

Travelling men from North, South and West tell the same story —"One of the finest and best equipped furniture stores in the country." This is by no means idle talk; the same store in Boston would cost ten times the rent.

Buying right and selling right is the secret of its success. A store that is supported by the people and for the people. No matter what you need for your home, you are sure to find it here in made-to wear furniture, at a trifle less in cost than the same article can be found elsewhere. Seeing alone is believing, and all are welcome here without obligation to buy.

RESERVES CALLED OUT

Greece Now Has Nearly 150,000 Men Under Arms, Prepared For War.

Bulgaria Stands Off and Watches Movements.

Views of Situation Telegraphed by London Correspondents.

Athens, March 6.—It has been decided that there shall be a general mobilization of the Greek forces, and to this end the two classes of reserves that had not been summoned previously have now been called out.

The reserve forces alone give a total of 104,500 men, and behind that is what is called the territorial army, which numbers upward of 146,000 men. The standing army numbers about 25,000 men of all arms.

Ammunition and supplies for the troops are being supplied as rapidly as possible, and in a few days the whole available war strength of the nation will have been prepared for any eventuality that may occur.

Advices received here yesterday afternoon state that the Christians who are investing Heraklion number 15,000 men. The insurgents have stopped all communication with the town by land, and unless the foreign warships actively intervene in behalf of the Moslems, the town will shortly be compelled to surrender.

The small detachment of sailors and marines landed from the various warships still occupy the town, but without the aid of the fleets they could make little defense against the overwhelming numbers of the insurgents.

Feverish activity continues throughout the whole country. Large quantities of arms, ammunition, provisions and military stores are being conveyed by transports to Thessaly. The massing of troops on the frontier is proceeding with the utmost speed, and public feeling is at the highest pitch of excitement. Those taking the coolest view no longer conceal their opinion that in the event of coercion by Europe the centre of interest will be transferred to the Turkish frontier, where the most serious events may be expected. Many foreign correspondents have already started for Thessaly.

The Greek fleet has been divided into four squadrons. The eastern squadron, composed of the ironclads Psara and Spetzai, the cruiser Nanarchosmiaulis, the armored corvette Basileusgeorgios and the dispatch vessel Paralos, under the command of Commodore Apostolis, will cruise in the Sporades islands. The western squadron, composed of four armored and four unarmored gunboats, under the command of Commodore Ombazio, will cruise in the Gulf of Arta.

The southern squadron, comprising the ironclad Hydra and the cruisers Mykali, Alphelos and Eurekas, under Admiral Sachtouris, will remain off Crete. The Geoges torpedo flotilla, forming the fourth squadron, will cruise between Milo and Crete.

London Dispatches.

London, March 6.—A dispatch to The Times from Athens says that much significance is attached to the visit of the King of Servia to Sofia. There is no doubt that it has reference to the intention of Servia and Bulgaria to profit by the Cretan trouble. Both are preparing for war, though unlikely to do anything to precipitate it. Bulgaria will remain quiescent if the Cretan question continues localized; but, in the event of a Turco-Greek war, she will wait until both combatants are exhausted before stepping in. The Bulgarian army, however, is in excellent condition and ready for all emergencies.

The Athens correspondent of The Times states that it appears the combined fleet has not attempted an effective blockade of the southern coast of Crete. At all events, Greek vessels have landed large commissary supplies, and the army is now revictualled for three months.

A detachment of the Greek force, under Colonel Constantinides, has actually reached Candamo, and will endeavor to induce the besieged Moslems to surrender to the Greeks and not to the insurgents, in order that the Greeks may get the credit of a pacific mission in Crete.

A dispatch from Constantinople to The Daily Mail says that Mr. Terrell, the American minister, was refused admission to the ceremony of Leilei Kader at the mosque of St. Sophia, to which Europeans have hitherto had free access. On this occasion it was feared that their presence might arouse fanaticism and lead to bloodshed.

A dispatch to The Daily Chronicle from Athens at midnight says there are grounds for believing that the situation is improving. The correspondent learns that "more than one power has intimated, unofficially, that if Greece is willing to meet the powers half way, an amicable exit from a difficult situation is still possible."

It is believed, continued the correspondent, that Greece is willing to consent to a temporary Turkish suzerainty over Crete, if the powers will allow the Cretans, when order is restored, to decide their own fate by plebiscite, and will appoint a Greek governor for the present.

Under these conditions, it is suggested, Greece might consent to withdraw her army and fleet, on the assurance that there would be no general massacre. "I presume," he says, "it is generally known that three constitutional countries of Europe not only sympathize with Greece, but actually made proposals which Greece could have accepted, but that Germany repulsed them. Unless other leadership of the European concert is substituted for Germany's, a peaceable issue is impossible."

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c.

It is, or should be, the highest aim of every merchant to please his customers; and that the wide-awake drug firm of Meyers & Eshleman, Sterling, Ill., is doing so, is proven by the following, from Mr. Eshleman: "In my sixteen years' experience in the drug business I have never seen or sold or tried a medicine that gave as good satisfaction as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." BETTER FEELING.

Bradstreet's Says Induction of New Administration Has Created It.

New York, March 6.—Bradstreet's says:

The new administration, the certainty of an extra session of congress, within a fortnight, and the promise of a new tariff at an early date, which shall provide adequate revenue and protection, have done much to stimulate a better feeling in trade circles and increase confidence in the near approach of an improvement in business.

February this year was a short month, 22 business days, against 25 in January, and 23 in February a year ago. Clearings were consequently smaller than in either of previous months mentioned, but compare well with those for February in 1895 and 1894. Gains are few, the only groups reporting increases over a year ago being those of the New England and Southern cities. Total clearings at 74 cities for February aggregated $3,668,716,266, a decrease of 17.8 per cent from the January total, and 10.2 per cent from that for February a year ago, but a gain of 8 per cent over February clearings, 1895, and 14.8 per cent over 1894. Compared with 1893 the February falling off is 27 per cent. Groups reporting gains over 1896 are those in New England, 5 per cent, and the Southwest, 6.3 per cent. Northwestern cities show the heaviest loss, 15½ per cent. Only 14 of 77 American cities show gains, and only 3 of the 20 leading cities report February increases over a year ago. Total clearings for 74 cities for two months—$8,146,428,592—show a decrease of 6 per cent from a year ago, but a gain over 1895 of 4.8 per cent, and over 1894 of 12.6 per cent.

Other favorable features are found in higher prices for wheat, Indian corn, pork, lard and spirits of turpentine, as well as for steel billets. Steel mills are fairly filled with orders and in some lines are inclined to advance prices. Recent low quotations for various forms of iron and steel have been withdrawn, notably for wire and structural material. Confidence is expressed in an early advance of prices for tin, and for shoes and leather, based on the activity in hides.

Quotations are firm and unchanged during the week for lumber, wool, print cloths, resin, petroleum, coffee, steel rails and Bessemer pig iron, but there have been decreases for wheat flour, oats, sugar and cotton.

General trade has been interfered with by rain, high water in the Ohio valley and snow in the Northwestern spring wheat states. South Atlantic and gulf state cities have had some better weather, with the merchandise movement equal to expectations. At Chicago and St. Louis there has been a marked increase in the volume of purchases from jobbers, both by interior merchants in person, and by mail orders, yet it is probable that the total trade at neither city equals that at a corresponding period a year ago.

Bank clearing this week, amounting to $1,012,000,000, show an increase of 30 per cent over the total last week, which included one holiday. Compared with a year ago, this week's aggregate is 5 per cent smaller, but it is 1 per cent larger than in the like week of 1895, and 8 per cent larger than in the first week of March, 1894. The falling off as compared with the corresponding week of 1893, a period of large volume of business, is 26 per cent, and as compared with the like period of 1892, it is 16 per cent.

There are 262 business failures throughout the United States this week, compared with 258 last week, 270 in the week a year ago, 252 in the week two years ago, and smaller totals in like weeks in two preceding years. This marks a return of the ratio of business failures to the total number in business more nearly to the normal.

Exports of wheat (flour included as wheat) from both coasts of the United States this week, amount to 2,075,435 bushels, compared with 1,372,000 bushels last week, 2,407,000 bushels in the week a year ago, 3,272,000 bushels in the week two years ago, 2,851,000 bushels three years ago, and as compared with 2,894,000 bushels in the like week of 1893. Exports of Indian corn continue heavy, amounting to 5,255,785 bushels this week, compared with 4,744,000 bushels last week, 2,775,000 bushels in the week a year ago, 498,000 bushels in the like week of 1895, 1,947,000 bushels in 1894, and as contrasted with 679,000 bushels in the corresponding week of 1893.

They Hate Gringoes.

St. Louis, March 6.—A special from Gaudalajara, Mex., says: Almost a war-like spirit has been aroused among the people of Mexico by the coming of Messrs. B. W. Stone and Pierce of Boston, to begin negotiations with the Mexican government for the return of the flags captured by the Mexican troops during the war of 1847. The newspapers are indulging in intemperate language regarding the mission of the gentlemen, and they are denouncing America and Americans in most incendiary language, going so far as to demand of the United States, at cannon's mouth if necessary, a return of all the territory taken from Mexico. They specify California, Colorado, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, as the property which has been "stolen" from their country. So strong is the sentiment against Americans that the ladies are openly insulted in the streets and stores, and if their escorts resent the offense they are dragged off to jail and fined.

Saved by Fire Drill.

Boston, March 6.—The lives of 400 little children were placed in jeopardy by fire yesterday afternoon in the Sleeper primary school building, corner of Cedar and Dudley streets, North Cambridge. To the coolness and presence of mind of the teachers in forming the lines for a fire drill is due the safety of the little ones. By the time the fire apparatus arrived on the scene every child was out of the building. Several of the older ones, when they realized the danger through which they had just passed, succumbed to the strain and were removed to neighboring houses. One of the teachers who had been largely instrumental in bringing the little ones out of the burning building also fainted away after the danger was over.

Miles' Brokers Must Pay.

Boston, March 6.—A final decree has been entered by the supreme court in the case of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust company vs. Frank C. Miles, its former treasurer, et. al. The defendant firm of Richardson, Hill & Co., is ordered to pay over to the plantiff $8472, the amount for which stock in the American Sugar Refinery company was purchased for Miles on margins and held as collateral security for money he owed to them.

BORDEN'S BIG DEAL.

THE NEW KING OF THE PRINT CLOTH MARKET.

Sensational Operation by Which He Has Made Enormous Profits—Forced His Competitors to Pay an Advance the Day After His Coup—His Remarkable Career.

John Gilmer Speed once characterized as "A Fall River Incident" the realization of an ambition to build, own and equip the very finest print cloth mill on the western hemisphere—a structure which reared its head on the million of profits which a New York man secured by his energies and bold business operations during 1894.

This same man sat at his desk in his office a few days since, and those who came in contact with him, had they not known him well, would never have guessed that he had just completed a most stupendous deal in the trade of which he is the Napoleon. Yet he is the same Matthew Chaloner Durfee Borden, who caused the "Fall River Incident" referred to and who a week ago created a furore in dry goods circles from one side of the continent to the other. At 57 he is king of the trade which knew him only as a commission merchant up to 1889. He has just taken out of the market of Fall River 750,000 pieces of print cloths and thereby sent trade conditions in that bustling city from the slough of despond to a point where prosperity will no doubt take the place of a year's bad business.

He purchased 37,500,000 yards of cloth, which will soon make its appearance in the form of the calicoes and shirtings which for years have had associated Mr. Borden's name with them, and, though he spent in his purchase something over $900,000, his profits will be enormous, for he so deeply operated in the market that his competitors had to pay an eighth of a cent more for similar goods the next day. He was after 1,000,000 pieces, but found only half of this number available for immediate delivery, but to clinch the position he found himself in he made contracts for 250,000 pieces more, which he was disappointed not to find in the warehouses.

Mr. Borden's purchase represents nearly five weeks' short time production of 2,200,000 spindles, engaged on the numbers of coarse yarns spun on the 2,800,000 spindles whose work is turned out from the looms of the 70 Fall River mills that manufacture cloth. No such gigantic deal was ever before completed in one day in our market. His deal has made history in the trade. The sales reported from the Fall River market were 1,196,000 pieces, the greatest on record for one week.

Mr. Borden has had a remarkable career during the past nine years. Manufacturing was bred into him. In the forties, when he was a little shaver, his father was the most prominent man in the town of Fall River. Matt Borden was the fourth son, and, while his father was operating the print works, building railroads, organizing steamboat lines and serving in the state legislature, between times Matt went to Yale and graduated, the most popular man of the class of 1862. Later he entered the employ of Low, Harriman & Co., and, after his father had turned over the print works to the elder son, Colonel Thomas J. Borden, the younger brother was the American company's representative in the house of Bliss, Fabyan & Co.

This business connection followed the failure and reorganization of the American Printing company, in 1879. Still later Thomas J. and Matthew Borden operated the American together, as their father and uncle had done in years gone by, and one day Colonel Thomas Borden was surprised to receive an offer from his brother for his share in the concern. This was in 1888, and M. C. D. Borden entered upon the ownership of the printing company. Since then he has built a plant of four fine cotton mills, the output of which is handled by his company.

Fall River mill men gave Matt Borden one or two tight squeezes, and this led him to bend his energies to erecting the factories which stand as monuments to his ability. In December of 1893 he came into the Fall River market, bought everything in sight, and, not having enough goods to suit his desires, operated in the Providence market and secured, all told, 700,000 pieces. This bold stroke simply astounded the conservative manufacturers of Fall River, and they saw in Mr. Borden a factor to whose importance to the trade they had not given full credit. Mr. Borden boosted a falling market from 2⅞ cents to 3 cents, and then the Fall River manufacturers did something which Mr. Borden never quite forgave. Instead of giving him the protection which his operations seemed to warrant—for he had cleaned out the surplus and raised the price an eighth of a cent—they sold off again to 2 15-16 cents and finally to seven-eighths again.

But Mr. Borden got his revenge, and in a novel way. The mill men wanted to cut down wages in 1894 and the spring of 1895, but they couldn't do it successfully unless Mr. Borden joined the movement. The Manufacturers' association agreed to the reduction in the schedule of compensation, but Mr. Borden was not, and is not now, a member of this body, and his refusal blocked the whole scheme. This made him popular with the 27,000 operatives who would have been affected, but he disclaimed any philanthropic motives. He said he couldn't see the necessity for so doing, "for business reasons," for he regards his operatives as consumers of his product, and the history of the trade has ever been that a cut down was always followed by a falling off in the market for goods.

Last July the silver agitation had a most depressing effect on the print cloth market, and 4,000,000 spindles were stopped from 8 to 13 weeks, but the market didn't mend and the surplus stock didn't disappear, and the only ray of hope that struck Fall River mills was when in November Mr. Borden made a purchase of 800,000 pieces at 2⅝ cents. The market gradually went off to 2½ cents, the lowest point in the history of the trade. The stock of 1,500,000 pieces was still in evidence, and this prevented printers from showing very much interest in the market. Finally, on Jan. 7, this year, it was decided that another curtailment of print cloths was necessary. Mr. Borden is given the credit of making the now famous agreement which is in operation, and which so materially assisted him in clearing out the market. A peculiar provision was that all print cloth mills in Fall River should shut down before the agreement to run but 42 out of the 58 hours a week became operative. Mr. Borden headed the list, and on Feb. 1 the 3,500,000 spindles necessary were pledged.

The market was 2½ cents, but went up a point, to 2 9-16 cents. The production in Fall River print mills was bound under the signature of treasurers to cut off 60,000 pieces a week for 13 weeks. However, the agreement was only five days old when Mr. Borden made one of his periodical visits to Fall River. His presence was kept secret. The market would jump if the sellers knew Mat Borden was in the city. He met three mill treasurers and told them he would buy all the spot regulars they could find in the market. These men made haste to discover the 720,000 pieces of "extras" that were labeled in the reports as being in the warehouses. They could find but 500,000 pieces, but agreed to sell these and make contracts for 250,000 more at 2 9-16 cents. The deal was completed and caused the biggest trade sensation in years. By clearing the market of spot goods and contracting ahead Mr. Borden put his competing printers in the class of men who wanted goods quickly and couldn't get them, and the market rose in two days to 2 11-16 cents.—New York Herald.

THE NEW RELIGION.

Chicago Preacher Wants No Religious or Moral Test For Church Membership.

Dr. Frank Crane, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, has stirred up Chicago church circles by this suggestion:

"Why is it not probable that God is using the earth as a breeding ground from which to populate the universe?"

In explanation he said there are 50,000 persons who die every day.

"Where do they go?" he asked. "Do they not go to populate the stars?"

What stirred up the meeting most was a suggestion to throw open the church doors to every one, not requiring any religious, moral or intellectual test for admission to membership.

"What is the church for?" asked the speaker. "It is to preach to men, to reach them and throw around them the right influence and organize them in doing good work. None of these functions would be hindered, but, on the other hand, would be helped. We want to admit honest and respectable unbelievers."

In answer to his critics Dr. Crane said that the church need have no fear that gamblers and saloon keepers would join them. No one, either, could use the church as a cloak, as it would not stand for anything.

WANTS PHILADELPHIA ACRES

A Chicago Man Will Be Satisfied With $400,000,000 Instead.

Dr. D. R. Brower of 597 Jackson boulevard, Chicago, is after 600 acres of land in the heart of Philadelphia. His great-grandfather, John Pawling, lived in that city in 1788, he says, and owned the property. He leased the land for 99 years to the city. Time passed, and the city saw many changes. Sometimes the rent was paid, and sometimes the city treated the land as its own. They conveyed some sort of title to a German for part of it, and he opened a big beer garden.

Streets were laid out in the rest, and houses were built. The speculators acted as if they thought an alderman's permit was as good as warranty deed. Pawling died, leaving a son and daughter, the latter being Dr. Brower's grandmother. In 1887 the lease expired, and some of the heirs in the east instituted an inquiry.

The 600 acres of land lie between Fairmount park and the new city hall. Lawyers have been retained. The members of the family now ask Philadelphia to pay over $400,000,000 and avoid a lawsuit.

Bigger Than the Great Eastern.

Some incorrect reports have been sent out regarding the new fast liner which will be built at Belfast this year for the White Star line. The Oceanic will be 704 feet long, or 25 feet longer than the Great Eastern, and 17,000 gross tonnage. It is expected she will be as fast as the crack Cunarders, but there will be no attempt to get 27 knots, which has been reported as the expected speed. The company announces that a much higher speed than that now contemplated is quite practicable from an engineering point of view. It has been determined to aim at a regular Wednesday morning arrival both at New York and Liverpool, making Queenstown by daylight and enabling passengers traveling to places beyond the port of arrival to reach their destinations during the day.

It is calculated that the Oceanic will be able to steam round the world without recoaling, at 12 knots if necessary, as a reserve vessel of the British navy. It is expected to launch the vessel next January. The White Star line now has no less than 103,000 new tonnage under construction at Belfast.—New York Sun.

To Be Healthy.

Professor Shuetuck says: "Eat fruit for breakfast. Eat fruit for luncheon. Avoid pastry. Shun muffins and crumpets and buttered toast. Eat whole meal bread. Decline potatoes if they are served more than once a day. Do not drink tea or coffee. Walk four miles every day. Take a bath every day. Wash the face every night in warm water and sleep eight hours. You will never need nerve medicine."

Editors in Mexico.

The editors who attended the National Editorial convention are in a hot place. They reached the City of Mexico Thursday, Feb. 25, and remained over Sunday, and were the recipients of much attention.

The Two Republics, a local daily says of the weather Feb. 25—"Owing to the near approach of the newspaper scorchers the temperature rose a trifle, and, as they reached the city, a strong breeze blew up. At 8 A. M. the temperature indoors was 64 degrees, outdoors 63 degrees; at noon indoors 72 degrees, in the sun 83 degrees; at 5 P. M. indoors 73 degrees, at 6 P. M. outdoors 71 degrees."

The entertainment Feb. 26 included a trip to the historic church of Guadalupe and a reception by President Diaz. They stopped on the way to Guadalupe at the handsome Collegiate church and then passed on to the Chapel of the Pocito, the site of the third miraculous appearance of the Virgin, Our Lady of Guadalupe. A number of the visitors availed themselves of the opportunity and laid in quite a supply of beads, rosaries and other relics. The next step was the climbing of the Cerrito, the hill which towers just back of of the church from which elevated point a bird's-eye view of the ancient city of Tenochtitlan and the valley of Anahuac with its mountain frame was obtained. Here the little chapel first erected in honor of Our Lady was visited and also the cemetery where Santa Anna and a number of illustrious men and women, lie at rest, awaiting the resurrection morn.

The visitors were all enchanted with the Collegiate church, its wonderful inner decorations, the silver railings, wood carvings, handsome paintings and works of priceless sculpture. The time allowed was all too short for the visitors, who one and all wished to linger and enjoy the rare treat which the visit afforded them.

At two o'clock all repaired to the National Museum, at which an hour and a half proved all too short to see the interesting collections of antiquities embracing many centuries.

From the Museum the editors were conducted to the National Academy of Fine Arts. Here again the time was just long enough to convince the visiting editors that Mexico could not be properly or thoroughly done in a limited space of time.

From the Academy they repaired to the Palace where they were presented to the hero, soldier and statesman, Mexico's offertory to the history of the closing years of the nineteenth century, President Porfirio Diaz.

The reception which was tendered the delegates by the President at four o'clock was very largely attended. All were extremely anxious to see the man who has been so largely instrumental in the upbuilding of his country, and it is doubtful if there was a single absentee from among the two hundred and sixty visiting newspaper people. The reception room was crowded to its utmost capacity, and when the President entered promptly at four o'clock, there were many standing in the ante-room, unable to effect an entrance.

In introducing the assembled body of newspaper men to President Diaz, Judge Ignacio Sepulveda, Secretary of the American Legation, said: "Mr. President, I have great pleasure in introducing to you these members of the press of the American Union. They belong to that body of men who are of the greatest aid to humanity and to civilization, and who jealously and tirelessly labor for the safety, progress and security of nations."

Several speeches followed, President Diaz saying that he would feel more at ease facing cannons than so many pencil pushers.

After the reception, the party broke up into groups, some visiting the war department, others the Viga canal, others the various curiosity stores, while many returned to their cars to rest and write letters to loved ones far away.

At eight o'clock, by the courtesy of the War Department, Mexico's crack band was ordered to serenade the editorial party in the patio of the Hotel Iturbide. The members were all present and until after 10 o'clock they enjoyed the best selections of music that even Mexico, celebrated for her musical talent, could present. The editors evidently appreciated the treat from the frequent and rapturous applause which they extended the musicians. The medley of American airs especially aroused their enthusiasm.

Saturday was spent at pleasure in the city, although the party were invited to make an all day trip over the scenic Cuernavaca railroad. In the afternoon the editors met at the plaza in front of the Cathedral, where through the courtesy of General Manager McLean, of the District Railways they took tramcars and were conveyed to Chapultepec Castle—the Mexican White House. After a sufficient time spent rambling about this historic spot the party continued on to Tacubaya where time was given to see some of the handsome summer residences of the wealthy Mexicans and a visit paid to the Mexican Monte Carlo.

Saturday evening Orrin's circus was an attraction. Sunday the party started homeward, but will tarry on the way, and Mr. Prescott and daughter are not expected home for a week or ten days.

Prize Fighting.

On Monday, the 1st, the National House of Representatives had under consideration a bill to forbid the publication or transmission through the mail by telegraph or by interstate commerce of the details or pictures of prize fights. Congressman Morse, of Massachusetts, supported the bill, and spoke as follows. He said:

Mr. Speaker, I want to say that I believe in this bill. I believe it is a just and proper bill, and I hope it will pass both Houses and be signed by the President and become a law. Every State in the Union, save three, makes prize fighting a crime, and the suppression of the details and of pictures of this degrading, brutal, and disgusting business is in entire harmony with the laws of the States, with the laws of United States, and with the sentiment of our people. The brave stand taken by Governor Culberson, of Texas, whose father, Judge Culberson, has been an honored member of this House for many years, won for him the praise of all the right-minded people throughout this great country.

For a year or two past two big brutes named Corbett and Fitzsimmons have been looking for a place to pound one another. Up to this time they have done most of their fighting with their mouths. One after another, where they have attempted to have a meeting, the States have taken action to prevent it. In Louisiana, in Mississippi, in Florida, in Minnesota, in Texas, in Arkansas, and New Mexico. Then it was proposed to have the fight outside the country, in Mexico. The Mexicans are not particularly pious. They do not object to a bull fight, but they drew the line on these brutes, and the Mexican Government said their country should not be disgraced by this brutal exhibition. Now, to the everlasting shame and disgrace of the State of Nevada the legislature of that State has passed a bill, and the governor has signed it, to legalize this brutal, disgusting exhibition. My district contains 200,000 inhabitants, and has the misfortune to be represented on this floor by so humble an individual as myself, and has only a piece of a Senator at the other end of the Capitol; while the State of Nevada, with 40,000 inhabitants, has one Representative in this House and two Senators at the other end of the building.

If there was any constitutional method by which Statehood could be taken away from that State, which is little less than a mining camp, I am sure a vast majority of the people of this country would favor such action, and would be glad to remand the State back to the condition of a Territory, especially since this last disgraceful, humiliating, and shameful act of the legislature of that State.

This bill, as I understand it, does not forbid a brief statement of the fight as a matter of news, but forbids the transmission through the mail, or by interstate commerce, or by telegraph, of the disgusting details, or of pictures of the brutal encounter.

I repeat, Mr. Speaker, this bill is in the interest of virtue and public morals. Pass this bill and relieve these brutal exhibitions of the notoriety which they are given by the press, and the business of the prize fighter will be gone, and the county will be saved from this everlasting humiliation and disgrace. It has been well and truly said here that the large and great metropolitan papers would be glad to be relieved of publishing these disgusting details, but they are compelled to do it by the rivalry of the sensational and more unprincipled newspapers. For my part, I would be delighted if the United Press and the Associated Press were allowed to telegraph over the country at the close of the fight that these two big brutes had met each other at Carson City and had killed each other and neither of them would be able to give any more challeges or except any, or fight any more either with their mouths or fists. [Applause.]

Mr. Speaker, the whole business is brutal, degrading, disgusting, repugnant to the moral sense of our people, demoralizing to the young men of our country, and this bill should pass and become a law. [Applause.]

Against Contract Labor.

The committee on labor of the Legislature has reported a bill providing that when the Commonwealth or a county, city or town hereafter determines to have work of any character done, such work shall not be let to contractors or any corporation, partnership or firm engaged as contractors. The act if passed to take effect Jan. 1, 1898.

The Mill Tax.

A motion was made on Monday last, at the Braintree town meeting, for the appointment of a committee to attend a hearing at the state house, Boston, before the Committee on Education of our present legislature, upon a bill which has been introduced in the house, the object of which is to give state aid to the public schools of our commonwealth, in such a manner as to more equally divide among our towns and cities the burden of expense in maintaining said schools. Upon a point of order which was raised the moderater ruled that the motion could not properly be entertained, and he was undoubtedly right in his decision.

The OBSERVER however which is always alive to the interests and welfare of the people of this state, and of the citizens of Braintree in particular, had a representative at that hearing and offers to its readers the following report of the same. Briefly summarized the bill provides for the levying of a tax of one mill on a dollar on all taxable property in the state, on the basis of the average public school attendance, (not enrollment) in the towns and cities. To illustrate—

The State averages are as follows:

Total valuation, 1895,	$2,542,348.993
Pupils' average attendance,	321 685
Valuation per pupil,	$7.903
Tax rate for schools per $1.000.00 if equally divided,	$3 42

It is proposed to remedy the inequality to the extent of a little less than one third by the State tax of one dollar on a thousand, the proceeds of which are to be distributed among all the cities and towns on the basis of average school attendance. There would be yielded on this basis seven dollars, ninety cents and three mills ($7.903) per scholar.

"Suppose now the town of A has a valuation of $856,800 and 200 pupils. Her share of the State tax would be $856 80, but she would receive back 200 times $7.903, or $1,580.60. In this case the town should appropriate at its annual meeting about $900 less than if there was no educational State tax. She would have to pay, however, $856.80 more on her State tax, but she would get it back, and with it $723 80 additional for her schools. There would be no increase of taxation for schools in such cases.

All towns having an average valuation per scholar less than $7.903 would gain by the law; those having more than this would lose."

Braintree having a valuation of $5.301 per scholar would be a gainer to the extent of $2,055.58.

School superintendents and town representatives from all over the state were present to advocate the favorable reporting of the measure. Among our neighbors present were the mayor and school supt. of Brockton, and the superintendents of the Weymouth and Quincy schools, and Ex-representative French of Holbrook. It would be impossible to give in the space at our disposal anything like a full report of the arguments in favor of the bill, but from the consensus of all the testimony, it appears that under our compulsory educative laws, grave injustice is done many cities and towns by the heavy and disproportionate burdens of taxation, for the support of the public schools, which are forced upon them. For example: The town of Milton with a valuation of $18,991.431 and a per pupil valuation of $22.019 raises $2.08 per $1000.00 for the support of her schools, while the town of Braintree with a per pupil valuation of only $5,301 raises $4 93 per $1000.00, and the town of West Stockbridge with a valuation of only $493,022, and a per pupil valuation of $2,304 raises $9.64 per $1000.00.

The first and last are extreme cases, but they serve to illustrate the principle set forth. Many towns also find it impossible to give their children anything like the educational advantages they ought to have in order to be able to enter life upon fairly equal terms with boys and girls of other places. They are hampered in their choice of teachers by the extremely low salaries they are obliged to offer, and of course poor teachers cannot turn out good students. Is this fair? A gentleman from the Western part of the state spoke of a school that he visited not such a very great while ago, where the best the towns could afford in the line of school furniture was a shelf around the room, set against the walls, parallel to which was a bench upon which the scholars were seated facing the wall, backs to the center of the room, and when they recited they lifted there legs over the bench and faced the teacher in the middle of the room. Think of this in Massachusetts, the birthplace of the common school system of the United States.

Books Burned.

The town of Holbrook lost a valuable collection of books by fire on Sunday morning. That town has a good water service and judging from the manner in which the fire was controlled she must have an efficient fire department. The library was located in the Town hall and in the library there was a valuable collection of some 7,500 volumes. This is the second time that the library collection has been nearly destroyed by fire, and the third time that fire has crippled its resources. The total insurance on the building and contents is $29,900, of which $4,000 is on the public library books. The estimated loss is from $8,000 to $12,000.

—The committee on cities of the Legislature reported ought not to pass on bill requiring votes of city councils on granting franchises to railways, expenditure of money, etc., to be by yeas and nays.

March April May

The months for renewing and healing in the physical world.

The months for new life, new energy, new blood in men and women.

The months when our need of help from medicine is greater than at any other time of year.

The months when Hood's Sarsaparilla will do us the most good because we are all now especially susceptible to benefit from this medicine.

The months when Hood's Sarsaparilla is taken by the millions because they have found that it is the medicine which does them good.

The months when you should take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it will purify, vitalize and enrich your blood, and put you in good condition to resist the debilitating effects of changeable, warmer weather. Try it now.

Satisfied with Hood's.

"For several years I have taken two or three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla every spring for eradicating the humors in the blood and for building up the system generally. My experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla has been very satisfactory." GEO. FRANK, care of D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Great Blood Purifier.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is our family physician and I believe it needs no recommendation. Wherever it has once been used there can be no substitute for it, as a blood purifier." MISS C. A. ELLIOTT, Grinnell, Iowa.

Builds Up the System.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for weakness with which I was a sufferer in the spring, and I have found it the best medicine to create an appetite and build up the strength that I have ever taken, and I recommend it highly." J. F. WARD, Labelle, Ohio.

Keeps the Stomach In Order.

"I keep Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house all the time and regard it as the best spring medicine I can find. It has proved beneficial in keeping my stomach in order, and since I began taking it I can eat anything I wish." H. STONE, Sherborn, Mass.

The oldest of the four was 82 and the youngest 70, the remaining two being 74 and 80.

The death of Mrs. Price widow of the late Thomas G. Price, occurred at her home on Granite street on Friday, after a brief illness. Although for some years afflicted with impaired sight, added to an advanced age, she displayed great fortitude, being ever cheerful and amiable and endearing herself to all. She possessed the highest qualities of Christian womanhood and her gentle words and kind deeds will ever remain a sweet remembrance with many. Such lives tend to make the pathway of life brighter and happier. She leaves a faithful and devoted son, Mr. William H. Price, to mourn her loss. Funeral services, which will be private, will be held from her late residence Sunday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Hardy officiating.

Class Marshal.

Mr. James H. Bayley, Jr., who is one of the popular young men of Braintree has been elected Class Marshal of the College of Liberal Arts, in Boston; showing that he is held in the same esteem by his classmates as he is in his native town.

He is fond of his studies and his home. He is a regular attendant at church and Sunday School, and many of his hours of recreation are spent working in the garden and upon the lawn.

JAMES H BAYLEY, JR.

The ever hustling Boston Globe kindly loaned us the cut which appears herewith, and in speaking of Mr. Bayley, says: "The class marshal hails from Braintree, and made his preparatory course at Thayer Academy, where he graduated in '92. He entered the freshman class of C. L. A. in the fall of the same year. His college career has been marked with many student and faculty honors. He is a prominent member of the Philosophical club and Beta Theta Pi. He is one of the most popular men among the undergraduates.

Administrations were granted on estates of F. E. Reed and F. E. Preston of Braintree, and Augustus Beals of Weymouth.

Baptist Church Notes.

Mr. Gilleim is no stranger in Braintree, having conducted meetings in this town two years ago, preaching to audiences that filled Town Hall. Since that time he has achieved wonderful success in large cities and towns, and the place in which he is now holding meetings, he regards as the place of his greatest victory. Services will be held afternoon and evening at 3 o'clock and 7 30.

—If Mr. Lehmann really is telling Londoners that students at Harvard are mostly sons of wealthy men, he had better come back and spend a few months getting thoroughly acquainted with the people whom he has been training. All the same, the many Harvard students who are dependent on their daily labors or on scholarships for their education are to be congratulated on the "front" which they successfully "put on." It isn't always that an impecunious scholar gives a Britisher the impression that he is "the son of a wealthy man."—Boston Home Journal.

President McKinley's Cabinet Confirmed.

Bills That Died by "Pocket Veto"---Notes About Capitol.

Washington, March 6.—The opening proceedings of the first session of the Fifty-fifth congress were witnessed yesterday by a very large assemblage in the galleries of the senate chamber, the senate being without the legislative partnership of the house of representatives, which body will wait until the first day of the extraordinary session is called by President McKinley.

Many floral offerings had been placed on the desks of numerous Republican senators who took the oath of office Thursday, as well as on that of Vice President Hobart. The Democratic side of the chamber was fre from such offerings.

The new senator from Ohio, Mr. Foraker, presented the credentials of Mr. Hanna as successor to Mr. Sherman, resigned, and both were read. Then Vice President Hobart administered the oath to Messrs. Foraker and Hanna, and both of the new senators took their seats, which are some distance apart.

Acommittee (Mr. Allison and Mr. Gorman) was appointed to wait upon President McKinley, and inform him that the senate was ready to receive any communication he might desire to make.

A resolution was adopted, directing that until otherwise ordered, Mr. Davis (Rep., Minn.) be acting chairman of the committee on foreign relations. The senate then went into executive session.

President McKinley's cabinet appointments were all confirmed quickly without opposition. There was, for a time, a threat of opposition to Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury, because of his views on the silver question and because he is a banker, but there was more of this among senators in the cloakrooms than in the senate.

The senate went into executive session upon the receipt of the nominations, and, as soon as the announcement was made of the appointment of Senator Sherman, whose name headed the list, he was confirmed.

It is the practice to refer all nominations to committee, but it was the desire of Mr. Sherman's friends to signalize their regard for him by immediate action. No opposition was made, and the nomination was confirmed without comment. There was more form than reality in the reference of the other nominations to committees. Not one of the committees held a formal meeting, they being polled on the floor of the senate in every instance. No objection was made in committee to confirmation. The senate was in recess while the polling was in progress, and only a little more than an hour's time was spent in discussing the nominations. Most of this time was devoted to the appointment of Mr. Bliss as secretary of the interior, which called for attention from Senators Teller and Stewart, who stated that, while they had no intention to make any effort to balk the president in his selection of his cabinet ministers, they still felt constrained to point out the inadvisability of selecting a man who was not a lawyer for a position which requires the exercise of so much legal ability as does the place at the head of the interior department. Senators Hoar, Chandler and Lodge replied in support of the selection of Mr. Bliss. Mr. Teller said that Mr. Bliss was an estimable man, and one who would have filled other positions with credit, but, because he was not a lawyer, he did not consider him qualified in all respects for the place at the head of the interior department.

Senator Hoar of Massachusetts paid a high tribute to Mr. Bliss. He pointed out that many of the questions decided by the secretary were prepared by law clerks, and argued that no matter how good a lawyer a man might be he could not investigate all the matters that came before him as the head of a department of this government. For that reason, a law force had been provided to assist the secretary in his work. He said that the business ability of Mr. Bliss was unquestioned.

Senators Lodge and Chandler followed in much the same strain, calling attention to the fact that Zachariah Chandler had made an acceptable secretary of this department, notwithstanding he was not a member of the bar. Mr. Lodge suggested that possibly there was some feeling that this office should go to the West.

Senators Teller and Stewart both declared they entertained no feeling on this score, saying that the location of a man's residence would not count with them, provided he was familiar with the questions which would require his attention. They instanced Senators Platt of Connecticut and Chandler of New Hampshire as Eastern men who could fill the place acceptably to the West. Senator Stewart added that with a man like Mr. Bliss at the head of the interior department he would not feel easy until he heard that most competent men had been chosen for the offices of assistant secretary and attorney general for the interior department.

The references to Mr. Gage were mainly on account of what was termed his gold standard views, and it was intimated that, as secretary of the treasury, he would maintain the gold standard, notwithstanding the promises of the administration to promote bimetallism. One objection would have been sufficient to send any of the nominations over a day, but the senators who had raised the point against Mr. Bliss said they had no desire in any way to hamper the president in the selection of his confidential advisers. Hence, they would content themselves with pointing out this defect in one of the selections. When the list had been confirmed, in the order of appointment, the senate adjourned until Monday.

Pocket Vetoes.

Washington, March 6.—A large number of important bills failed to receive the signature of Mr. Cleveland before the expiration of his term of office, and as a result they failed to become laws. Most important of these are the sundry civil appropriation bill, containing river and harbor, and many other items; the Indian appropriation bill, the agricultural appropriation bill. The first three received what is known as "pocket vetoes," being received by the president on March 3, and not acted on. The deficiency appropriation bill, carrying about $10,000,000, failed in conference by the senate and house.

Guilty Americans Must Leave Cuba.

Washington, March 6.—Secretary Olney has just received the following cablegram from Consul General Lee at Havana: "All quiet. No excitement here now. I hope to secure prompt trial of all Americans imprisoned. Those found innocent to be released and those guilty sent out of the island." This dispatch indicates a most important change of attitude on the part of the military authorities in Cuba, under orders from Madrid, as guilty Americans, on conviction, are to be expelled from the island instead of being otherwise punished.

Gage Takes Charge.

Washington, March 6. — Secretary Gage took charge today of the treasury, with a plump gold reserve of more than $150,000,000, and an available cash balance, including the gold reserve, of $212,725,207.

News and Gossip.

Ex-President Cleveland is at Washington, N. C.

The resignation of Ambassador Bayard was received yesterday.

Senator Wolcott of Colorado has returned to Washington after a long absence abroad.

The first official act of the new president was the signing of the commission of John Sherman as secretary of state.

Ex-Vice President Stevenson, accompanied by Mrs. Stevenson, have left for Bloomington, Ills., where Mr. Stevenson will resume the practice of law.

Ex-Congressman Bellamy Storer of Cincinnati has accepted the office of first assistant secretary of state, now filled by Mr. Rockhill of Maryland. Mr. Storer is a Harvard graduate.

President McKinley spread disappointment among the office seekers by announcing that he would make no appointments except such as were absolutely necessary until after the tariff bill became a law.

Senator Hanna of Ohio will occupy a seat next to Senator Butler of North Carolina, in the senate. This will bring the chairman of the Republican national committee and the chairman of the Populist national committee side by side.

Members of the diplomatic corps express indignation over reports that they had indulged in an ill-tempered protest over the treatment of foreign ministers during the inaugural ceremonies. There is authority from one of the corps for the statement that the report corps for the statement that the reports are false.

Secretary Carlisle yesterday suspended from office Mr. Rome, deputy collector of internal revenue at Brooklyn. It is understood that Deputy Rome, the senior officer, claimed the right to act as collector, inasmuch as the senate failed to confirm the nomination of Mr. Kelly as collector. Mr. Carlisle, using the descretion conferred upon him by law, designated Mr. McKenna, the second senior deputy, to act as collector. Mr. Rome, however, refused to deliver up the office, hence the suspension.

The city looks very much like a theatre in daylight, or a picnic park after a barbecue. The brilliant weather of the 4th has given place to a drifting rain and mist. Flags and streamers hang limp and dejected, while under foot, streets are litered with torn paper, orange peel and the countless debris left by the surging crowds of the sightseers. Few of the decorations have been removed and most of the reviewing stands are still intact, but they are dark and deserted, and all wear a dishevelled air.

The failure of President Cleveland's cabinet to attend the inaugural ceremonies on the east front of the Capitol, and the absence of Secretary Olney from the whole proceedings, which has been construed in some quarters as an indication of friction between Mr. Cleveland and his prime minister, as well as a lack of consideration for the cabinet on the part of the new administration, was really due to some slight oversight of persons charged with the active preparations of the inaugural program, for which neither the old or the new administration can be held chargeable.

President and Mrs. McKinley last night entertained at dinner, at the White House, a number of the members of the party who came with them on the special train from Canton. It was entirely an informal affair and was intended mainly as an honor to the younger persons. Mother McKinley also was present, and in addition the following: Miss May Barber, Miss Ida Barber, Miss Mabel McKinley, Miss Grace McKinley, James McKinley, Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams, Miss Sarah Duncan, James Barber, Samuel Saxton, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McClymonds, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Russell.

Progressive Melrose.

Melrose, Mass., March 6.—At an adjourned town meeting, appropriations to the amount of nearly $100,000 were voted, the principal items being schools, $58,000; highways, $20,000; fire department, $9000; health department, $2000. The selectmen were given authority to borrow $75,000 in anticipation of taxes.

SOUTHERN WOMEN'S WORK.

Plan For an Exhibition of It at the Great Paris Show In 1900.

A southern woman—a Macon woman—has conceived a project of such merit and so worthy of notice that space is given to a presentation of it.

No one need be told that we have a Woman's Exchange in Macon, for it has won its way to recognition. There are like exchanges at Augusta, Savannah and Atlanta, Ga.; Montgomery, Ala.; Richmond, New Orleans and Chattanooga and Memphis.

Miss Annie Napier, manager of the Macon Woman's Exchange, has conceived the plan of uniting the woman's exchanges in the different southern cities in an exhibit of the handiwork and skill of southern women at the Paris exposition. It is not only a laudable and possible proposition, but a very sensible one as well.

It is proposed to make the exhibit a veritable history in the story it will tell of southern women, from the days when they armed sons and husbands and fathers to fight under Marion, Sumter and Morgan, and their loyal devotion, their self sacrifice, nerved the arms of patriots to greater deeds; of the southern women of a later day, who were just as loyal, just as tender and true; of the southern women who had done so much in the days since 1865, helping by their patience, their self denial and their inspiring influence to build up what war's stern exactions had destroyed.

To the people of the old world it will be a revelation of the American, the southern woman, of which they never dreamed. To the American who shall visit the great exposition in the gay capital of France it will tell the story of a womanhood in which he takes a greater pride and interest than any exhibit he may see. It will be a story of the self helpfulness which the women of the south are learning, and in learning are preparing themselves to teach to the women of the nation.

The movement is well under way, and today a request for space in one of the exposition buildings at Paris will be mailed from Macon.

The headquarters of the movement will be in this city and in charge of the Macon Woman's Exchange. Other exchanges will be solicited to join in the project, and there is no doubt that every woman's exchange in the south will indorse the plan.—Macon Telegraph.

OAK ISLAND'S MYSTERY.

A Solution Likely to Be Found by Nova Scotians Hunting For Treasure.

Oak island is situated at the head of Mahone bay, Nova Scotia, four miles from the town of Chester. About the close of the last century the curiosity of some prospectors was aroused by a circular space near the eastern end of the island. In the center of this stood an oak tree with marks and figures on the trunk. The surroundings were such that a shaft was sunk, and discoveries were made which led to the formation of a company. It was suspected that a treasure was buried there, and the company proposed to get it. Subsequent digging proved beyond doubt that the place had been dug up before. Oak platforms and stone marks were discovered at regular intervals till a depth of 100 feet was reached. Then the water poured in at such a rate that the work had to be abandoned.

Some years afterward borings were made there. The augers passed through oak floorings and other obstructions, among them what was supposed to be metal. The augers also brought to the surface some gold links. No means could be devised at that time by which the water could be kept out of the mine, and little or nothing was done till last fall, when another company was organized to dig up the treasure. It has a capital stock of $60,000, among the stockholders being residents of Halifax, Amherst and other Nova Scotia towns. Two pumps worked by powerful engines were installed, and the work is now being pushed.

Among the recent discoveries made is a sluiceway leading from the site of the diggings to the shore, several hundred feet distant. By damming this it was found that the water in the mine was checked. That there is a mystery about the island no one can doubt. Oak walled underground sluices are not accidental.

The Popular Lancers.

The lancers are much the mode this season. The reason for this is that all sorts of novel additions are being introduced, which make the dance both amusing and picturesque. In one of these new features each couple carries a long pole of bamboo, at the top of which is a forked pennant of gay colored silk, or, in its stead, long streamers of bright ribbons are used. The young man who, with a fair partner, figures in the "leading couple" has a silver whistle attached to a ribbon which crosses his shoulders. This whistle sounds as the music strikes up, and it is the signal for the lifting of the lances. In every alternate figure the lances are carried by the young women. After all the figures have been gone through the dancers fall into line and march about the room. The lances are carried away as souvenirs by the young women.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HOOD'S PILLS cure Liver Ills, Biliousness, Indigestion, Headache. A pleasant laxative. All Druggists

On the morning of Feb. 20, 1895, I was sick with rheumatism, and lay in bed until May 21st, when I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application of it relieved me almost entirely from the pain and the second afforded complete relief. In a short time I was able to be up and about again.—A. T. MOREAUX, Luverne, Minn. The light in the window after midnight but too frequently tells the old, old story of the awful torture of approaching motherhood for some ill-prepared women. All too often death lurks on the doorstep. This is a story that would seldom be told if women would but properly prepare themselves for the duties of motherhood. If a woman will take the right care of the organs that make motherhood possible, approaching maternity will have no fears for her. Nature intended that all women should bear children, and did not mean that this duty should be a cruel torture. Woman's own ignorance and neglect has made it so.

All weakness and disease of woman's reproductive organism are cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly upon these organs. It makes them strong and healthy. It prepares them for approaching maternity. It allays the discomforts of the expectant period. It makes baby's coming easy and comparatively painless, and insures the health of the child. All good druggists sell it.

"I have had three miscarriages," writes Mrs. J. L. Shaffer, of Ney, Sully Co., S. Dakota, "Last Spring I received one of your Memorandum Books in which I found your 'Favorite Prescription' recommended to prevent it. I took eleven bottles of it and have a bright boy five months old, which I owe to God and your medicine."

What woman does not wish to make her family cares as light as possible, consistent with her family's well-being? The greatest care of all is the fear of sickness. It is a common saying amongst conscientious mothers: "As long as the children are well I don't mind anything else." For these mothers Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser would prove "The shadow of a great rock in a weary land." This book of 1,008 pages, profusely illustrated, gives plain talks and kindly sensible medical advice. It is peculiarly valuable for mothers of young daughters. More than a half million copies of this book have been sold for $1.50 each. Now there is an enormous edition to be given away. To the Young Face

POZZONI'S COMPLEXION POWDER gives fresh charms; to the old, renewed youth. Try it.

The Honorable J. F. Greer, one of the best known and most highly respected county Judges of the State of Florida, writes of his horrible sufferings from Inflammatory Rheumatism:

OFFICE OF J. F. GREER, COUNTY JUDGE, Green Cove Springs, Clay Co., Fla.

GENTLEMEN: Twenty-three years ago I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism. I was attended by the most eminent physicians in the land. I visited the great Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the noted Hot Springs of Arkansas, and many other watering places, always consulting with the local physicians for directions, and finally came to Florida, ten years ago. About two years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, was confined to my room for twelve weeks, and during that time was induced to try P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, knowing that each ingredient was good for impurities of the blood. After using two small bottles I was relieved. At four different times since I have had slight attacks and each time I have taken two small bottles of P. P. P., and have been relieved, and I consider P. P. P. the best medicine of its kind.

Respectfully, J. F. GREER.

James M. Newton, of Aberdeen, Ohio, says he bought a bottle of P. P. P. at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and it did him more good than three months' treatment at Hot Springs.

Rheumatism, as well as sciatica and gout, is cured by a course of P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is a friend indeed to weak women. It is a positive and speedy cure for general weakness and nervousness.

All skin diseases are cured by it; anything from pimples to the worst cases of eczemas succumbing to the wonderful healing powers of P. P. P.

Dyspepsia and indigestion in their worst form are cured by it. As a tonic to restore the appetite and to regain lost vigor, it is simply marvelous.

P. P. P. is the best spring medicine in the world. It removes that heavy, out-of-sorts feeling and restores you to a condition of perfect physical health.

For Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Headache, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Heart Failure, Fever, Chills, Debility and Kidney Diseases, take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, the most wonderful medicine in the world

Puritana in the Spring.

The universal custom of taking a spring remedy is founded on a natural instinct implanted in us for our own good.

The heat-producing foods of winter leave the system clogged. Confinement in warm rooms, with lack of outdoor exercise, makes all the organs weak and torpid. Those who neglect to use a remedy or fail to get the right one are inviting serious troubles. Most chronic diseases start in the spring. The end of winter finds thousands with such symptoms as these: A general unfitness for work with either head or hands. A worn-out, tired-out feeling that cannot be overcome. There is sleeplessness, or restless sleep. Numbness of hands or feet. A sense of pressure in the head, with a feeling of gloom or despondency. There may be fluttering or palpitation of the heart. Frequently a pain in the heart or under the left shoulder. There may be rushes of blood to the head, or throbbing in the ears at times.

Kidney and liver troubles may be looked for if your digestion has not been perfect. There is fulness or pain in the right side, or pain under the right shoulder. Distaste for food, with nausea in the morning. Complexion is blotched or sallow. Tongue is coated or mouth foul. There is a dull, sleepy feeling, with disinclination to breathe deeply. If the kidneys are in danger there will be pain, weakness, or soreness in small of back, and perhaps occasional sharp pains. Urine is scanty, high colored, and on standing becomes cloudy, or deposits a red sediment. There are apt to be frequent headaches. Sores and skin eruptions frequently come.

All these various symptoms are common to spring, and show that the vital organs need renovating and prompt repair. Bright's disease, jaundice, rheumatism, and heart troubles start from such conditions as these. No two persons will have the same set of symptoms, but any of those enumerated are important. The organs must be strengthened and repaired. Repair can only come through active digestion, and Puritana is the remedy to rely on. It will vitalize the entire body and give you a spring of buoyant, vigorous health. Clear complexion, sharp appetite, and the power to do things, is the sure reward of taking Puritana.

A DAY OF DISASTER.

Two Massachusetts Towns Visited by Costly Fires.

Firemen Injured While Fighting Flames.

Another Deluge and Flood Reported From Middle West.

Worcester, Mass., March 6.—The most destructive fire which ever occurred in this city was discovered at 3:35 o'clock yesterday morning in the Day building on Main street, in the heart of the business section of the city. It was feared that the fire would spread to the many important blocks in the vicinity, and aid was secured from Boston and Fitchburg, and many other places nearer. None of the out-of-town apparatus was unloaded, however, as the local department at 6 o'clock had succeeded in controlling the flames. The loss will be not less than $350,000.

There were two accidents, in which nine firemen were injured, three seriously. These are William P. Cavanaugh, who was completely covered by a copper cornice which fell 50 feet, head badly cut and internal injuries; Edward Brady, injured about the head and internally; G. W. Clem, shoulder injured and probably hurt internally; Mrs. Nicolai Jansen, wife of the proprietor of the Turkish bath, was in delicate health and had to be moved to the Memorial hospital when the building was threatened. Her condition is serious. Practically none of the property of the tenants was saved. The principal losers, including the Main street stores, were the A. S. Lowell company, millinery, in the boiler room of which store the fire originated; L. D. Buffington, manufacturing druggist, whose loss includes a valuable stock, prescriptions and receipts; L. R. Mitchell, dentist supplies; the M. Steinert & Sons company, pianos; the Bates Piano company; Clifford & Johnson, upholsterers. There were a number of lodge rooms and society halls in the building and all their contents were lost. The Grand Army will lose a valuable collection of records, and the Republican city committee loses the entire enrollment list, which must be replaced by registration, as the party has adopted the caucus law of 1895. The larger tenants are all partially covered by insurance. Aid was sent from Boston, Springfield, Fitchburg and Leicester.

FLOODS AND CYCLONE.

Central West Again Devastated by the Elements.

Chicago, March 6.—The storm which raged throughout the middle west on Thursday night stands unparalleled, not only for the great extent of territory over which it ranged, but for the amount of water reported precipitated. At Cincinnati, the rainfall reported by the weather bureau officials amounts to 5.38 inches, and floods are reported from almost all telegraphic stations from Pittsburg on the east to Kansas City on the west, and from the Lakes to the northern boundary of Tennessee.

In some instances, the wind reached the velocity of a hurricane, and much damage to dwellings, barns, fences, orchards and forests has been reported from various points throughout the district. At Cairo, several buildings were unroofed and one dwelling was blown down, causing the death of an infant inmate.

Throughout southern Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, the damage to railroad property, in the form of washouts, making traffic impossible, and in the wrecks caused by the softening of the roadbed, is immense. A not inconsiderable loss to the people as a whole will be caused by the washing away of bridges and roadways which have been built up in the rural districts, at a cost of millions of dollars, and which, in many cases, have been totally destroyed. Mails, local to the deluged districts, have been greatly delayed, while the through service over the trunk lines, east and west and north and south, has been badly crippled, greatly to the annoyance of the vast business interests involved.

$35,000 Blaze at Salem.

Salem, Mass., March 6.—Almost the entire plant of the Chadwick Lead company, situated at Forest River, half way between this city and Marblehead, was destroyed by fire last night, at a loss of $35,000. The night watchman discovered the fire in the northeast corner of the main building about 8:30 p. m., and immediately notified the fire department in this city and Marblehead. It was, however, a long run to the scene of the conflagration, and by the time the first engine arrived the main building was a seething mass of flames, and the fire had extended to the engine house and other smaller buildings. The buildings, which were of wood, were saturated with oil and burned fiercely, defying every effort of the firemen to subdue it, notwithstanding the immense amount of water that was poured into the building. The corroding sheds in the rear of the main building, a large one story building, was saved, floods of water being poured into it. In the main building there were over 150 tons of lead in process of manufacture, besides a large amount of costly machinery and tools, all of which will be a total loss.

Seventh Subway Victim.

Boston, March 6.—William Maybour, whose skull was fractured by Thursday's explosion, and who was reported as being in a critical condition yesterday morning, died at the Emergency hospital late yesterday afternoon. He is the seventh victim of the fatality. The inquest on the explosion will be held March 13, when the judge of the municipal court, who acts as coroner, will fix the responsibility for the accident. All traces of the explosion have been removed from the street, but many of the surrounding buildings still present a strange aspect, all the large windows being boarded up. The injured, with the exception of one or two, are all doing well, and no more deaths are expected. The rumor that Mayor Quincy, in order to secure the city, financially against suits, had attached the Boston Gas Light company, is false.

Cyclone In West Virginia.

Huntington, W. Va., March 6.—A hurricane in southwest Virginia yesterday afternoon proved more destructive than the recent flood. Hundreds of buildings were unroofed, and many smaller ones were upset. The south end of Marshall college building here collapsed, causing a panic, and many ladies fainted and had to be carried from the building.

In Central City every industry suffered a heavy loss, while the massive chimneys on Washington school fell through the roof and went to the second floor. A dozen children were injured. Several churches were badly damaged. Trees falling across the railroad tracks have paralyzed travel and crippled the telegraph wires.

The Ohio Rising.

Cincinnati, March 6.—The Ohio river is rising rapidly, owing to a protracted rain. Mill creek is a roaring torrent half a mile in width. Great damage is reported from the valley and many persons have been compelled to fly for their lives. Bridges in this and adjoining counties have been swept away, and others are threatened. Washouts are reported from all points, and all railroad travel is greatly impeded. At Milford, fifty families have been compelled to move out on account of the flood.

Removal of Police Commissioners Asked.

New York, March 6.—A committee from the confederated council of Good Government clubs called on Mayor Strong yesterday, with a petition and resolution from the council, asking for the removal of Police Commissioners Parker and Grant, on the ground that they are encouraging insubordination in the police department. Mayor Strong, after receiving the petition, said to the committee: "The course of the police board is demoralizing the police force. It has caused me more anxiety and worry than I can well express. As to removing the commissioners, the trouble is that we cannot always get others to think as we do. I might remove them and the supreme court might put them back again, and when they would return to office they would probably be worse than ever. However, I will take the papers you have and lay them before the corporation counsel, and find out what can be done in the case."

Bay State Lawmakers.

Boston, March 6.—When the house yesterday reached the resolve providing for the representation of the commonwealth at the centennial exposition of the state of Tennessee, a measure which originated in the senate, Mr. Reed of Boston offered a substitute, which, referring to the existence in the public statutes of the state of Tennessee laws which are in direct violation of the constitution of the United States, and which operate to deprive citizens of the commonwealth of Massachusetts of their equal rights, declared that it was not a proper thing for this state to take an official part in the exercises of a state which denied equal rights to those of her citizens of color, who visited that state. A rather sharp debate followed, at the close of which the substitute of Mr. Reed was rejected, and the original resolve, as amended in the senate, passed to a third reading.

Daily Fight Indications.

Carson, Nev., March 6.—Jim Corbett gave out that he would "tire out" his big boxers yesterday, and that there would be no play about it. The Californian settled down to a hard grind after two or three days of comparative light work. He did not take to the road, on account of a gale that has been blowing for 12 hours. Corbett is still nettled about the stories that he is not in good health. He points to his work in refutation of the charges. Fitzsimmons has increased his schedule of work. Martin Flaherty of Lowell commenced training with Billy Smith at Genoa yesterday. Al Smith, the noted backer of pugilists, is on the way to Carson with a big amount of money to back Flaherty. It is also said he will favor Corbett on wagers on the big fight.

Smuggling Phenacetine.

Chicago, March 6.—The combination which controls the phenacetine supply in the United States has secured an order from the postmaster general directing postal officials handling Canadian mail to give a close scrutiny for the arrest of the shipment of the drug from Canada without payment of duties. The drug is of foreign manufacture, and for some time druggists have been getting supplies from Canadian combinations controlling the supply in that country, and under-selling the United States combination. Considerable quantities are alleged to have been smuggled through the Chicago ports, and local officials will now give closer attention to Canadian mails.

Bank Must Pay Assessment.

Boston, March 6.—The judgment of the New Hampshire circuit court in the action brought here by Edward Hawkins, receiver of the Indianapolis National bank, vs. the First National bank of Concord, N. H., holding the defendant as liable as a stockholder of the plaintiff's bank to an assesment amounting to $10,000, made by the comptroller of the currency, has been affirmed by the United States court of appeals here. The Concord bank claimed the purchase of the stock by its directors in May, 1894, as an investment, did not render them liable.

San Francisco Shylock Dead.

San Francisco, March 6.—Asa Fisk, a noted character of this city died yesterday, aged 80. Fisk came here 30 years ago from Boston and engaged in business as a money lender. He charged high rates of interest—5 to 10 per cent a month—and frequently when he sued to recover money on notes the interest was found to greatly exceed the principal. He leaves a fortune valued at $1,000,000. Asa Fisk was born in Somerville, Mass., and was in the shoe business in Boston before going West.

Was Not a Pauper.

New York, March 6.—John Fitzgerald, who died the other day in this city from injuries received in a fire, and who was called a pauper and misanthropist, is now supposed to have been worth $100,000. His relatives, while rummaging through the squalid basement in which he lived, have discovered bank books showing deposits amounting to $30,000, which is supposed to be only the accumulated interest on a vast real estate fortune.

Whiskey Combine.

Louisville, March 6.—The fate of the big whisky combine rests with the committee of three, Messrs. H. C. Shirley, A. P. Moorman, and J. B. Wathen, appointed at the conference in this city. It developed that the Eastern syndicate is willing to put $8,000,000 into the enterprise, and it is alleged that the Rothschilds have a hand in the matter. The committee will submit a plan within the next two weeks.

HOWELL ON WHIST.

Classes of Hands From Which Small Card Plain Suit Opening Is Advisable.

XII.

The latter day long suiter, who is on the borderland of short suitism, but dares not cross the Rubicon, is trying to discover what kinds of long suits are fit to open and what kinds are not. This is not our business. We want to know what kinds of hands, in their entirety, and not what kinds of suits alone, are adapted to the long suit form of stategy, and we find that there are four main classes of hands from which the small card plain suit opening is advisable, as the initiative of the long suit game, or, as we understand it, of the attempt to establish and bring in a long suit with some show of success. Our classification is very important, and it should be thoroughly understood and constantly borne in mind by the student of logical whist.

The first and most distinctive of the four classes is composed of hands containing trump strength—at least four good ones and generally five or more—and a weak long suit, with re-entry in a second suit and nothing of account in the third. Examples of such hands are:

1. Hearts (trump), A, K, J, 7, 3; clubs, J, 9, 3, 2; diamonds, Q, 8, 6; spades, 3. Lead the C 2.

2. Hearts (trump), K, 10, 6, 5, 2; clubs, Q, 8, 6, 5; diamonds, A, 8, 2; spades, 4. Lead the C 5.

3. Hearts (trump), 10, 9, 7, 6; clubs, K, 8, 7, 5, 4, 2; diamonds, K, 9, 3; spades, none. Lead the C 2.

A variation of this class of hands, forming a second class, which, however, is rare, presents the trump strength in a less degree, with a much stronger long plain suit, but without re-entry—e. g.:

Hearts (trump), A, J, 8, 2; clubs, A, Q, 10, 7, 6, 2; diamonds, J, 6, 5; spades, none. Lead the C 2.

But it must be remembered that with so good a plain suit as the clubs here, and five trumps or more, the trump attack is the proper opening, since the fifth trump may then be regarded as re-entry.

The third distinct class of long suit hands is marked by a good plain suit, with re-entry in another, but with trump strength only of supporting value—that is, containing an honor or two, but not numerically long. Examples of this class are:

1. Hearts (trump), A, Q, 3; clubs, K, J, 8, 6, 5, 4, 3; diamonds, A, 9, 8; spades, none. Lead the C 3.

2. Hearts (trump), A, K, 10; clubs, K, 10, 8, 5, 2; diamonds, Q, 9, 8; spades, A, 6. Lead the C 2.

3. Hearts (trump), Q, J, 4; clubs, A, J, 9, 5; diamonds, A, 7, 5, 4; spades, 5, 4. Lead the C 5 or the D 4.

Still another, and the last class of hands from which the small card opening is worth considering, contains all round strength; but a trump suit, such as king and one small, or queen and two small, which cannot be opened safely—e. g.:

1. Hearts (trump), Q, 8, 5; clubs, Q, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6; diamonds, A, Q; spades, A, 8. Lead the C 6.

2. Hearts (trump), K, 2; clubs, K, J, 10, 9, 8; diamonds, A, J, 10; spades, K, 3, 2. Lead the C 8.

The foregoing examples cover, I believe, all varieties of hands demanding long suit treatment. If we take away some element of strength from one of these classes, the theory is that the hands then call for short suit or gambit openings. For instance, 11 cards of a hand are: Hearts (trump), J, 10, 7, 5, 4, 2; clubs, J, 8, 7, 6, 5. Now, if we had a re-entry in either diamonds or spades, we would open with the C 5. But suppose the remaining cards are the D 8 and the S 5. Then I recommend the gambit opening—D 8. Similarly with the hand: Hearts (trump), K, 10, 7, 3; clubs, K, 9, 8, 5, 4; diamonds, 10, 3; spades, 9, 3. If we had the D A instead of the D 10, we would lead the C 4; but, as the hand is, I consider the D 10 the correct opening. Again, from hearts (trump), A, 10, 9; clubs, K, 10, 9, 6, 2; diamonds, 9, 7, 5; spades, 8, 5, we should lead the D 9 or the S 8—preferably perhaps the former; but with re-entry in either diamonds or spades the C 2 would be best.

An essential characteristic of these long suit openings is that the partner of the original leader is frequently able early in the play of the hand to draw from the small card lead comprehensive inferences concerning the contents of the leader's hand. This branch of our art is as yet but imperfectly developed, but its possibilities are great. Let me give a few illustrations. Suppose that from the first hand cited above—hearts (trump), A, K, J, 7, 3; clubs, J, 9, 3, 2; diamonds, Q, 8, 6; spades, 3—I lead the C 2. Suppose, further, that partner has the ace and queen of clubs. He finesses the queen, and fourth hand wins with the king. Partner at once credits me with long trumps, probably five or more, since he knows that my clubs are not better than jack high, and I would not open so weak a suit without great strength in trumps. Moreover, he knows that I have a winning card in either diamonds or spades, but not in both, since, if I had, I would have begun with the trump attack. Now suppose that the adversary, having won the first truck with the C K, leads the S K, which wins, and then the S A, which I trump. Partner now knows that I have a probable trick in diamonds. Such information as this materially assists an observant and shrewd partner in shaping his play to the best advantage.

Again, suppose that from another hand given above—hearts (trump), A, Q, 3; cubs, K, J, 8, 6, 5, 4, 3; diamonds, A, 9, 8; spades, none—I lead the C 3. Second hand plays the 9; partner, having the queen, 7 and 2, plays the queen; fourth hand, the 10. Partner infers that I have the 4, 5, 6 and 8, and either the ace or king, with perhaps the jack. My opening, therefore, he judges to be from a hand of the third class—a good long suit, with re-entry, and an honor or two in trumps, but not more than three of them, although, to be sure, it may be from the second class—four trumps and no re-entry. But this class is very rare as compared with the third, and the probability is consequently much in favor of my hand belonging to the latter variety. Now, if partner has four trumps he leads them immediately, knowing that with his length and my supporting strength we may probably exhaust them and bring in the clubs. But if he has not four trumps and is not strong in both diamonds and spades, he returns the clubs in order to establish them and force the adversary, if possible, knowing that the commanding strength in trumps is probably against us.

Beautiful as such developments and inferences are, I must warn the player against expecting them in every long suit hand. The small card opening, however judiciously it may be selected, is not bound to succeed. You do not always bring in the long suit that you try to bring in, even though you make the attemp.

The Quincys Put Up a Good Score with Meyers.

The Two Local Teams Now Close Together in the Race.

Two City League bottle pin games were bowled in Quincy last night, one at Costello's alleys between the Quincys and Meyers, and one at Gourd's alleys, between the Granites and McCarthys.

The highest score was made in the Quincy-Meyers game, which resulted in a victory for the Meyers by 23 pins. Quincy led 23 pins on the first string but fell off badly in the second string, which was won by Meyers by 78 pins, giving the latter a lead of 55 pins. Quincy braced up again on the third string and put up a total of 840, to Meyers 808, which reduced the latter's total lead to 23 pins.

The highest single string was 209, and the highest total 559, both of which were bowled by J. Fratus.

The Granites Won.

The Granite-McCarthy game was the first league game on Gourd's alleys and the home team came out victorious.

The Granites lost the first string by two pins but they warmed up in the next string which they won by 58 pins giving them a lead of 56 pins.

On the third and last string both teams settled down to work and there was some good bowling. The Granites however kept up their good work, and won the string by 93 pins, giving them a total lead of 149 pins.

The score:

The other league games resulted as follow: Carruths, 2372; South Bostons, 2311; Columbia, 2152; Rexford, 1954; Sherman, 2297; Murray & Irwin, 2073; Boylston, 2337; Jameson, 2191.

The big pin league game of last Monday evening between the Granites and Shermans will probably have to be bowled again, the claim being that it can not be counted as a league game as one of the Granite team had previously bowled on the Quincy team and had not been officially released.

Maternity as a Learned Profession.

Motherhood, once a merely individual affair, has now become an organized profession. A mother can no longer be content with a knowledge of what food is good for her children. She must be an expert in dietetics. Instead of singing those thoughtless lullabies she studies "the value of music in the development of character," and the artless fairy tales of her own youth must be co-ordinated by comparative folklore and a knowledge of the habits of "mothers of the submerged world," while the children's games are regulated not only by the mysteries of Froebel, but by the "principles of physical development."—Philadelphia Times.

—Have you noticed that those persons who praise the good old times hustle to keep up with the present in a shameful disregard of the blessings of the past? Telegrams and telephones are none too fast for them. They are just as much provoked when the car is a minute behind time as we. They heat their houses by steam and berate the meter for the size of water, gas or incandescent bills. They buy a sixteen-page paper and scold because a bit of news (?) is a day old. They live at a two-forty gait and would make it two-ten if they could. They fear rust as much as we, yet I sympathize with them. Those peaceful days by contrast do have a restful look in their distant perspective.—Milford Gazette.

—It is asserted that free rural delivery of letters would cost this county $40,000,000 a year, and that therefore it is an impossibility. Those who are fond of quoting the example of Great Britain should remember says the Boston Home Journal, that all England, Ireland and Scotland might be put inside of Texas, and then leave room for another Great Britain round the edges.

—The really valuable person is not the one who can do one thing well, but the one who can do several things well. One-idea people may run well on their particular track; but supposing all railroads started from some one given point and ran straight to another given point, what would they be good for as developers of the country? Just so is it with the development of manhood and womanhood—don't run your trains all on one track.—Milford Journal.

Castle Square Theatre.

A revival of "Trovatore" is announced as the attraction at the Castle Square Theatre the coming week and earlier successes of Verdi's popular opera, as produced by the Castle Square Company, insure a series of most enjoyable performances of this tuneful work. The cast of the leading role will be as follows: Lenora, Clara Lane; Azucena, Hattie Belle Ladd; Manrico, Richie Ling or Martin Pache; Ruiz, John Read; Count, J. K. Murray and Ferrando, W. H. Clarke. It will be remembered that "Trovatore" has always been given with a succession of fine stage pictures and the coming production will have the same characteristics. The re-appearance of Clara Lane as Leonora will be an event of much interest to the Castle Square patrons, and Richie Ling and Martin Pache will both be heard for the first time here as Manrico. Following "Trovatore" there will be a grand production of "Tannhauser" on Monday, March 15th.

Keith's Theatre.

Notwithstanding its long run, the wonderful motion picture machine at Keith's, the biograph, still continues to be one of the most popular features of the delightful entertainment given at that model playhouse each week. This, of course, is because of the changes constantly being made in the programme, which renders it practically a new act from week to week. On Monday next another great railroad picture will be shown. This time it is the famous limited express of the Pennsylvania road, photographed at a point near Barre, in the Alleghany mountains. The view gives glimpses of the beautiful scenery and the winding curves of the road, also showing the approach and passing of the train. Another is the interesting military series, and a funny subject, "The Monkey's Feast," will also attract attention.

WILL PUSH TARIFF BILL

Republican Leaders Arranging Plans For Work of Extra Session.

Sabbath Quiet Surrounds the White House.

President McKinley and His Mother Attend Divine Service.

Washington, March 8.—Republican leaders are determined that the new tariff bill shall be rapidly put through the house, and if possible through the senate without factious delay. In this they will have the co-operation of the administration, if needed.

There is not very much that the administration can do in the way of advancing tariff legislation beyond summoning congress in extra session. The holding up of appointments, which some have supposed might be a potent weapon, will be of very little account. The key to the situation lies with Speaker Reed and not with the president. It is in the power of the speaker to prevent the enactment of any legislation by the house until the tariff bill will have been disposed of, and it is almost equally in his power to compel reasonably speedy action by the senate. It is his present plan to have the tariff bill passed by the house early in April after a debate of a fortnight, and then to let the house lie on its oars while the country looks to the senate for action. This can be accomplished by holding up the appointment of committees until after the tariff bill will have gone through, and Speaker Reed is quite ready to do this.

There are four appropriation bills remaining over from the last congress—the general deficiency, sundry civil, Indian and agricultural. These bills will have to be passed sooner or later, and it happens that they are the very bills in which individual senators and representatives are especially interested. The sundry civil carries appropriations for public buildings and river and harbor improvements, and contains all sorts of items which mean a great deal to the local constituents of congressmen. The general deficiency, as its name implies, is also an urgent bill, and is an omnibus affair in which every senator and representative likes to have an interest. With clubs like these to hold over the head of the senate it can be seen that Speaker Reed may be able to accomplish a great deal. For if it be once thoroughly understood that neither the sundry civil nor the general deficiency bill can become law until after the tariff bill has been enacted, the senate will be very likely to devise some means of hastening its labors. To cut off appropriations will prove a discourager of hesitancy. The speaker holds the situation in his own hands, because such appropriations as are absolutely essential to the running of the government can be provided for by joint resolutions containing the present laws for another year.

The only prominent subject now up which might be expected to interefer with speedy action in the senate is the arbitration treaty. This is a constant temptation to debate, and it might be used by the opponents of tariff legislation, if they desire, with great effect. But it looks now as though the arbitration treaty might be out of the way before the tariff will have reached the senate.

Senator Lodge and Senator Frye, who have it in charge, now that Sherman has retired, will push it at once, and they hope to secure speedy action. Conditions favor their hope. The senate will be in session for over a week before the house will have convened, with nothing to do except to confirm nominations, and almost all this time can be devoted to the treaty. There will also be at least a fortnight, and perhaps three weeks, after March 15 before a tariff bill can come over from the house, and all that time can also be devoted to the discussion of the treaty. There has already been a week of debate, and the senate is really ripe for action now. When the treaty comes to a vote there is little doubt that it will be ratified. The test votes in the last congress indicated this, and a canvass which has been made by Senators Lodge and Gray helps to confirm the indications.

SENATE FORECAST.

No Legislation Can Be Enacted Until House Is In Session.

Washington, March 8.—The probabilities are that almost the entire attention of the senate will be given during the present week to an effort to get its committes in working shape, and that the senate will adjourn for two or three days at a time without attempting any business of consequence. No legislation can be attempted with the house not in session, but there are two or three treaties that could be considered. The arbitration treaty is one of these. It has been reported to the senate, but it is understood that Senator Davis, who is chairman of the committee, does not feel free to proceed with the treaty until the committee contains its full membership. Any nominations sent in by the president will, of course, be considered.

MOTHER AND SON.

Large Crowd Gathers at Church Door to See Mrs. McKinley and President.

Washington, March 8.—President McKinley's first Sunday in the White House was a quiet one. No callers were received, and the president had an opportunity of resting from the fatigue of the week. He arose later than usual, after a refreshing night's rest. Breakfast was served at 9 o'clock.

At 10 o'clock he prepared for church, and, accompanied by his mother, attended services at the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Four-and-a-half and C streets, N. W., where President Grant was accustomed to attend. As the president's intention had been announced, the crowd was very large, and the president and his venerable mother had considerable trouble in reaching the church vestibule.

HE DEFENDED CLEVELAND.

Rev. Charles Arey, D. D., Passes Away at Salem.

Salem, Mass., March 8.—Rev. Charles Arey, D. D., for 15 years rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church, died at his home on Church street Saturday night. Dr. Arey was born in Wellfleet, Aug. 22, 1822, and his father was a member of the legislature which formed the constitution of Massachusetts. He entered Dartmouth college in 1840, but a year later entered the class of '44 at Harvard college, and later went to Kenyon college in Ohio, from which he was graduated in 1846. The same year he was ordained to the deaconate and given his first parish, that of Trinity church, Toledo. In 1848 he was ordained to the priesthood by Bishop DeLancy of the western diocese of New York.

Among the rectorships he has filled were those of St. Paul's chuch at Erie, Pa.; Christ's church at Ballston Spring, N. Y.; Grace church, Jersey City; Trinity church, Fredonia, N. Y.; St. John's church, Buffalo, and St. Peter's church of this city, to which he was called in October, 1875, resigning in 1890. When in Buffalo, Dr. Arey was an intimate friend of Mr. Cleveland, and during the latter's first campaign he published a defense of him, which proved the direct cause of his resigning the rectorship of St. Peter's church. He received his degree, doctor of divinity, from Hobart college in 1874.

Dr. Arey, in 1849, married Miss Sarah Crosby of Fredonia, N. Y. By the marriage a son and a daughter were born, the son, William Wisley Arey, surviving his father and residing in this city.

Effects of Flood.

Cincinnati, March 8.—While the flood of last Wednesday is over, the effect of it will be felt in northern Kentucky, southern Ohio and southern Indiana for weeks. The railroads are all running their trains here as usual, but most of them are by circuitous routes over other tracks. Roadbeds as well as bridges were washed away along the Big and Little Miami rivers. The damage to highways is also the greatest ever known, including thoroughfare bridges. The manufactories along the Mill Creek valley will be crippled for some time, and these include the largest concerns in the suburbs of this city. The Ohio river has done no damage the past week. The flood was limited to a few tributaries here and south of this city, and in that territory the records were all beaten. The damages here and within a radius of 100 miles of this city are now estimated in the millions. The extent of the losses could not be learned at the time because the telegraph wires were down and railway communication was cut off.

Mexico's Oldest Resident.

Guadalajara, Mex., March 8.—Jesus Camprehe died on Friday, and according to his affirmation and other testimony, he was 154 years old. He was living with his great-great-grandson and had copies of the church register at Valladolid, Spain, showing the date of his birth and baptism, Dec. 12, 1742. Camprehe was in full possession of his mental faculties to the last, and this fact led many persons to doubt his veracity. He frequently related incidents which occurred in the last century. A priest in the church which he attended, who is now 84 years old, says he remembers Camprehe as being an old man when he was a little boy.

Canard From Mexico.

City of Mexico, March 8.—The story telegraphed to the United States that bitter feeling existed among Mexicans on account of the demand for restoration of the flags captured from American troops in the war of 1847, and that American ladies are insulted in the streets, is a pure falsification. No request has been made for the flags, nor has any commission appeared here from the United States.

Brazilian Fanatics Murder Soldiers.

London, March 8.—A dispatch from Rio De Janeiro by way of Paris says that a band of fanatics, led by Conselheiro, have killed Colonel Moreire Caesar, three officers and 200 soldiers in Bahia. There is much excitement in Rio Janeiro, where the populace has pillaged and burned the offices of the monarchists papers, Liberade and Gazetadatarde.

Playhouse Burned.

Indianapolis, March 8.—The Park theatre, formerly the Metropolitan, the oldest theatre in Indianapolis, burned last night. The theatre was a landmark of Indianapolis, and in former years the most famous players on the American stage, including Edwin Booth, John McCullough and Edwin Forrest, appeared there.

Women In Politics.

Haverhill, Mass., March 8.—Religion and politics are getting a trifle mixed in the neighboring town of Groveland apparently, if the developments of last week indicate the feeling among voters there. The contest over a school committee man for the three years term, to be elected at town meeting, has waxed warm, and was made especially interesting by the appearance, Saturday night, of many women of Roman Catholic belief before the registrars of voters, in order to be registered for election day. The board is now accused of discrimination in registering these women, and in so doing delaying the work so long that the lists were declared closed before women who are opposed to the Catholic faith, and who were present, had time to register. Those who got left now claim that they will ask a decision of Secretary of State Olin, in order to have the privilege of voting.

Politics In the Pulpit.

Augusta, Me., March 8.—Rev. C. S. Cummings, pastor of the Methodist church, preached his third sermon on the conduct of the city overseers of the poor last night. His denunciation of these officials made a stir. His sermon was more scathing than either of the previous ones, and he did not hesitate to accuse the overseers of using their position for their own ends. The election today is lively, especially over the adoption of charter amendments.

No More Subway Victims.

Boston, March 8.—All the unfortunate individuals who survived the awful explosion of Thursday are now in a fair way to recovery, and no more deaths are anticipated. C. F. Surry, who has been on the dangerous list for the past two days, in rapidly improving and his recovery is now assured. No suits for damages have as yet been brought, but it is known that many of the injured have given their claims to different lawyers.

Canadian Ablegate Appointed.

London, March 8.—A dispatch to The Times from Rome says: The pope has decided to send Monsignor Merry Del Val as apostolic delegate to Canada. By sending one so closely attached to his person, the pope gives exceptional assurance of his special personal interest in the welfare of Canada.

ELECTRICIAN REMOVED.

He Put In the Fire Alarm System and Has Operated It.

Mr. Gilbert M. Wight, electrician of the fire department, has been removed by Chief Engineer Williams and William A. Gavin has been appointed as his successor.

Mr. Wight was formerly employed by the Gamewell Fire Alarm people and while with them he run the wires for the fire alarm when it was first introduced into Quincy.

Since that time he has had charge of the fire alarm lines for the larger part of the time, being appointed to the permanent force March 4, 1888. Since the advent of Chief Williams the two have not agreed as well, perhaps, as they should, and his removal is, therefore, not much of a surprise.

Chief Engineer Williams when seen this noon by a LEDGER reporter admitted that Mr. Wight had been removed but refused to say anything about the matter for publication.

George W. Prescott, the proprietor of the DAILY LEDGER and PATRIOT, who is almost entitled to the title of "great American traveller," returned unexpectedly today from Mexico. It is reported that the editors thought it best not to visit some of the places proposed because of the feeling over a report that the United States had demanded the restoration of flags captured in 1847. A dispatch in this issue shows no demand was made. Mr. Prescott, besides visiting nearly every State in the Union, has been in the Provinces several times and now to Mexico, and probably will not be content until he goes across the Atlantic.

—The longest regular daily run made without a stop by any railway train in the world has just been placed on the schedule of the Great Western Railway of England. It is made between Paddington station in London and Exeter, a distance of one hundred and ninety-four miles, in three hours thirty-six minutes, by what is known as the Cornwall Express. It is remarkable not so much owing to the time as for the fact that not a stop is made from one end of the run to the other.

Swedish Good Templars.

There was an unusually large party present at Faxon hall Saturday evening at the second annual concert and festival of Klippan lodge, No. 184, I. O. G. T. Every seat was taken and many in the back of the hall unable to find seats were obliged to stand.

At about 8 o'clock Mr. O. Gelote addressed a few words of welcome to the audience in the Swedish language, afterward repeating the welcome in the English language. The programme opened with a song entitled "Brothers of the North" which was rendered by Messrs. A. Molin, E. Erickson, E. Livendal, A. Fagerstom, E. Hedman, O. Gelote and Gus Livendal. This was followed by a piano and violin duet by Anna Jacobson and O. Gelote, and a bass solo that completely captivated the house by Gus Livendal, entitled "My Little Woman."

Rev. Mr. Svensson of the Swedish Methodist church then addressed the audience in the Swedish language upon the aims and objects of the order of Good Templars. This address was followed by a song by Miss Anna Jacobson and a piano solo by Miss Emma Witting.

Mr. A. Wigger, Deputy Grand Chief Templar, followed with a brief address, in the English language, upon the order, Gus Livendal then gave another bass solo, entitled "The Giant." Miss Anna Anderson followed with a reading and Miss Anna Jacobson and Mr. O. Gelote with a piano and violin duet. The programme closed with a song entitled "Norden" by the quartette.

At the close of the entertainment refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed. The committee in charge of the affair, and to whom its success is due, was, Gustaf E. Livendal, Otto Gelote and Edward Livendal.

Death of Miss Morton.

Miss Sarah B. Morton who died in Milton, last week, was a sister of the late William S. Morton of our city. One other sister, Mrs. Safford, is now the only remaining one of that family. Mr. Morton was the only brother, and while a family of his children and grand children and great grand children are living, there is only one among them who is a male representative of the family, Mr. George W. Morton of Quincy.

Miss Morton lived to the age of eighty four years and six months, her surviving sister being still older. She had an active mind which was alert to her last days. In past years she was active in Unitarian church work and in her private life active in personal charities. The home an old time mansion is on Milton Hill and it has seen many generations go in and out.

Mrs. Morton of our city, her children, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Morton and their families, two grand daughters Mrs. Whitton and Mrs. Bixby, and Mr. Woodbury and son of Francestown, were among those present at the burial which took place in the old Milton cemetery.

A Boon for Housekeepers.

Housekeepers have at last been able to find a flour that is always uniform and by the use of which, bread will never be found to vary from a high standard of excellence. Its name is King Arthur Flour. It makes bread white in appearance, delicious to the taste and gives to it the property of keeping moist longer than when other flours are used. Above all, the bread produced by this famous flour is invaluable on account of the great amount of nutrition that it contains. King Arthur Flour is made by a secret improved process whereby the most nourishing parts of the wheat are embodied in the flour, instead of being wasted and sifted out in the milling. A great proof of the present popularity of King Arthur Flour and of its assured success for the future is that one trial will do more to convince the bread-maker of its great merit, than anything that can be said in its favor. Housekeepers everywhere should give this flour that trial.

Q. Y. C. NOTES.

Executive Committee Meet to Arrange for the Season.

The first meeting of the season of the executive committee of the Quincy Yacht club was held in the Adams building on Saturday evening. Commodore Sanborn was elected chairman, and Mr. James S. Whiting secretary.

Messrs. Walter B. Holden, Frank F. Crane and Harold B. Faxon were elected members of the Membership committee for the ensuing year.

Secretary Whiting was authorized to have the floats repaired and put in order for the coming season. It is estimated that about 500 pounds of chain will have to be bought to replace that destroyed by a storm which occurred last September.

The fleet captain's flag which was adopted will be a pointed burgee with a blue field, having in its center a white foul anchor.

The painting of the club house was placed in charge of Commodore Sanborn and Mr. George E. Pfaffmann.

The delegates to the association were instructed to secure Aug. 19, 20 and 21, for dates for the series of open races which the club will give.

The arrangements for the annual club cruise were delegated to Commodore Sanborn and Fleet Captain Saville.

The locker question was discussed and the secretary was requested to send a note of inquiry to members to ascertain who would pledge themselves to lease lockers in case the club should decide to build additional ones.

A Friend to Many.

The funeral of Mrs. Laura J. Randlett, a faithful wife and friend, was held Sunday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Badger, on Crescent street, and was largely attended by relatives neighbors, friends and fifty members of Paul Revere, W. R. C., of which she was assistant guard. She was a lady possessing lovable qualities and was highly esteemed and respected, and her smiling disposition endeared her to the hearts of all with whom she associated.

The services were conducted by Rev Amos A. Brown, assisted by Rev. E. W. Virgin and were very impressive. A quartette, composed of Miss Moore, Miss Thayer, Mr. Geddes and Mr. Goucher, rendered three selections, after which the W. R. C. service was read.

The floral offerings were elegant and profuse, among which were; an open book, with the words "Wife and Mother;" a crescent, with "Grandma;" calla lilies, from Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Barnes; ivy wreath and violets, from Mr. Ernest W. Gourd and son; flat bouquet from Mrs. A. H. Humphrey; mound of pinks, from Mr. and Mrs. John R Gourd; a pillow, from W. R. C., No. 103; a flat basket, with the words "At Rest." As the members of the W. R. C. took the last look of their departed sister, whose loss they deeply feel, each dropped an offering of flowers into the casket. The interment was at Mt. Wollaston.

Calvary Baptist Church.

Meetings for the week as follows: Monday night at 7 30, cottage prayer meeting at Mrs. Brown's, School street. Tuesday night at Rev. C. A. Parker's, 18 Gay street, the Bible class suited to all ages, led by Robert Farquhar, superintendent; study, "Saul the Persecutor Converted"—Acts 9:1-12,17-20. Friday night the regular meeting at the chapel, Franklin street. Every one interested are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Walter S. Clark, formerly of Quincy, died at Exeter, N. H., on Sunday. He was in the druggists business there. While in Quincy Mr. Clark worked for A. G. Durgin, and it was in Mt. Wollaston lodge in this city that he was made an O.D. Fellow. He was ill only a week, a severe cold developing into grip and typhoid pneumonia.

The Wollaston Unitarian society will hold a parish meeting on Tuesday evening, March 16. The principal article in the warrant is to see if the society will increase the pastor's salary. The Rev. Mr. Bagley having received a call from All Souls' parish, of Greenfield, at a much higher salary than he is now receiving, it becomes necessary for the Wollaston society to take action in the premises.

The conference of the Junior Y. M. C. A. of Mass. and R. I. will be held at Wollaston Congregational church on Friday, the 19th, and Saturday, the 20th, of March. About 150 delegates, all of them boys, will be present. The meetings will be held at the Congregational and Baptist churches. There will be a banquet in honor of the delegates at the Baptist church on Friday at the close of the afternoon's session.

The Compass Whist club of Atlantic met with Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Small last week and the hours were spent in a most pleasant manner. The fortunate prize winners were Mrs. Coe and Mrs. Jeleneck for the ladies, while Mr. Carver and Mr. Priest carried home the gentlemen's prizes. A most dainty collation was served at the close and despite the bad walking all went home in a very happy frame of mind. The next and closing party of the season will meet with Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wilde this week.

A TREAT FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS. This new book by Palmer Cox, who has won world-wide fame as the greatest Juvenile Artist of this age, is literally crammed from cover to cover with Rollicking Fun for Little Folks and Big Folks too. It tells of the most remarkable and ludicrous experiences of Fairies, Rats, Mice, Clowns, Insects, Elephants, etc., describing their strange adventures and their quaint conversations, their Frolics, Escapades, Flirtations, Courtships, Weddings, etc., etc., all of which are illustrated in that unapproachable humorous and grotesque style peculiar to this gifted artist.

Jameson,	7	13	43,811
Columbia,	5	15	43,207
McCarthy,	2	17	36,171

In the Candle Pin league the Quincys have no rivals for the booby prize, having lost all the 20 matches.

Tuesday evening the Granites will play at South Boston, and Friday evening the Quincys play the Carruths in the Bottle Pin league. In the Candle Pin league the Carruths will be here Wednesday evening.

The silver cup and pitcher, offered as prizes in the three-men big pin and candle pin tournaments at Gourd's alleys, are on exhibition in the show window at Holden's jewelry store. No entrance fee is required in these tournaments and the regular price for bowling prevails.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade will be held tomorrow evening.

The "ad." of Henry L. Kincaide & Co. today, will be of great interest to bicycle riders.

The Granite City club hold a meeting Thursday evening to consider the question of an opening night.

George A. Devlin, recently deposed as captain of Co. F, 6th infantry, M. V. M., of Marlboro, refuses to surrender the enlistment book claiming it as his private property.

A Braintree paper is in favor of the Quincy & Boston street railway having the location on Quincy avenue, rather than the Braintree & Weymouth company.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Price, held Sunday afternoon, was largely attended. There was excellent music by the Welsh octette in the Welsh language. A fitting tribute to her noble Christian character was made by Rev. Mr. Hardy.

Mrs. Thomas Lennon of Brackett street died early this morning after many weeks' sickness. Mrs. Lennon had lived for the past thirty years in the vicinity of Brackett street. She is survived by a husband, three sons and three daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Kelly gave a reception at 249 Washington street on Saturday evening to a number of their friends, in honor of their eleventh wedding anniversary. The affair was strictly informal but none the less enjoyable.

In the warrant for the First church parish meeting this evening is an article "To hear and act upon any report from the assessors, or from any committee, in relation to the boundaries of the church land, take such proceedings in reference thereto as the meeting may determine upon when assembled, and appropriate any money necessary therefor."

—General sympathy is expressed throughout the state of Maine for the three Skowhegan young men who drove twelve long, cold miles the other night to attend a sociable and found on reaching the house that it was a wood-sawing bee to which they had been invited.

—A young woman in North Dakota, who has saved up $300, wrote to a resident of Lincoln county to inquire if Oregon is a good place to come to. The Leader says, "Let her come. A woman that can save up $300 in North Dakota can keep a husband in luxury in Oregon."

FISTIC GLADIATORS.

Nevada Miners Go Through Storm to See Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

Light Work In Both Camps on Sunday.

The Australian Defeats Corbett In Five Rounds In a Dream.

Carson City, Nev., March 8.—The snow was a foot deep here yesterday, but buggies, wagons and sleighs began to troop into town from Comstock, carrying enthusiastic miners, who took advantage of their weekly holiday to come out of their mountain fastness around Virginia City and gaze on the pugilists at their work.

Both the pugilists worked again yesterday, Fitz very little, in accordance with his usual Sunday custom, and Corbett confining himself to indoor exercise, on account of the sloppy condition of the roads.

Jim, although he does not confess it, appears rather glad whenever the snow interferes with road travel. He is not particularly fond of that form of training, and he believes that handball is a great deal better and much more convenient.

Corbett spent his time from breakfast to noon doing as near nothing as he positively could. Shortly after lunch he took up the mass of letters that comes to him daily and began to read the freak letters. He made rapid progress with the large amount of correspondence. Corbett makes it a rule to answer all letters unless they are of too freaky a nature to call for a reply. He is fond of amusing letters, and puts in all the time he can at the work without detracting from his other duties. Shortly after 3 o'clock Corbett donned his long bath robe and hurried into the wood shed, where he toiled away at the little windlass with which he develops his strength in the hands and forearms, and then punched the bag for 20 minutes. This work over, he sprinted for the handball court and spent three-quarters of an hour in the hardest kind of work, all gone through without the slightest rest. He first went at Jefferies and waded into him in a manner that made that gentleman a trifle nervous. Then he took on Edgren for a round; then McVey came out to be knocked around the court in the liveliest kind of manner for three minutes of wrestling. Billy Woods, with his air cushions, was to have closed up the series of workers. Jim seems to have an especial dislike for the paraphernalia in which Woods encases himself, and he loses no time in showing it. Woods waded into Corbett as hard as he could, but he did not wade extremely far. Corbett kept out of his way easily, and now and then put in a left arm poke just to keep Woods stirred up.

After the champion had gone through with his trainers four times each, Hampton and Joe Corbett played handball with him, several games being reeled off in rapid succession. All told, Corbett worked 2½ hours and finished in excellent shape, not in the least distressed. His endurance is certainly remarkable, and no man not in the prime of condition could begin to go through with it.

"I never was better in my life," said he, "and I will keep right on getting better until the time of the fight, and if I meet no accident such as is likely to happen to any man training I will give a very good account of myself. It ought to be a good fight," he added, musingly, "for it is certain that Fitzsimmons and myself are the two best men in the fighting business today. There is no man who can best either one of us, and if we are ever beaten by any outsider it will be by somebody who is going to school at present. I mean by that, that the man who is going to lick Fitzsimmons or me has not grown up yet. The thing lies between us two alone, and the winner of this fight, if it is won by fair fighting, and on no technicality, will have every right to call himself the best man in the world."

There was nothing new at Cook's ranch except a brand new dream that Fitzsimmons turned. This is the third or fourth dream Fitzsimmons has had bearing on the result of the fight, and they have all tended in one direction, toward the everlasting annihilation of one James J. Corbett.

If Fitzsimmons has had any dreams foreshadowing his defeat he has kept them to himself. Up to date he has lost no more battles in his sleep than he has lost in the ring, since he landed on the Pacific coast for the first time. This dream was that Fitzsimmons had won the fight in the fifth round, and Fitzsimmons declared it was "so blame vivid and distinctly like—understand what I mean," that there is no possibility of it going wrong with him on March 17.

Fitzsimmons did most of his work in the morning, but as a usual thing he does less on Sunday than on week days. His work varied in no way from the other work he has done during the last 10 days, save that he did less of it. He shouldered a shotgun and for a time tramped through the sage brush bombarding the little birds and big rabbits.

Charley White, Corbett's trainer, confidentially expects his man to win inside of 12 rounds.

Corbett will do no more road work, as he has given up all hope of the roads becoming passable by the time set for the fight. If they do become fit for running it will not be long enough in advance of the fight to render the work of much benefit.

George Green, "Young Corbett," who is to fight "Mysterious" Billy Smith, had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday afternoon while boat riding on the Carson river near Empire. He and his trainer, Bob McArthur, were in the boat, the latter being at the oars. McArthur attempted to grab a small object floating on the water and failed to touch it. Green made a long reach for it and leaned too far over the side, upsetting the boat. He is a good swimmer, but he was taken with slight cramps, and but for McArthur's aid must have gone down. Both men were exhausted when the shore was reached and were chilled through. Green says he is feeling all right and will feel no evil effects from his icy bath.

Police Got a Dead Cock.

Pittsfield, Mass., March 8.—A cock fight between Albany and Pittsfield birds took place near this city yesterday. The police heard of the affair and made an unsuccessful attempt to capture the participants. They found a dead cock in the pit.

Blue Laws Enforced.

Lawrence, Mass., March 8.—This city had a touch of the blue laws again yesterday. In compliance with an order from the city marshal, the drug stores sold no cigars or soda water, the candy stores were closed, and even bakeshops were allowed to do no business, unless they cooked their own food, and then only between certain hours. Public opinion is decidedly against the new movement.

Carnegie Out of Danger.

Greenwich, Conn., March 8.—Andrew Carnegie, who has been seriously ill at his residence here for several days from an attack of pleurisy, is now reported by the physicians as entirely out of danger and it is expected that he will be up and about the house again in a few days.

Harvard-Princeton Dates.

Cambridge, Mass., March 8.—The dates of the Harvard-Princeton baseball games are: May 15, at Princeton; May 29, at Cambridge; third game (in case of tie), June 1 or 2, on neutral ground. The exact date and place of the deciding game has not been finally settled.

American Volunteers' Birthday.

New York, March 8.—The first annual celebration of the founding of the American Volunteers, or defection of Commander Ballington Booth and Mrs. Booth and their staff from the ranks of the Salvation Army forces in America, took place yesterday in the Metropolitan Temple and last night at Cooper Union. The latter place was filled to the doors, and a large number of admirers of Ballington Booth and the volunteers in general were unable to force themselves into the overcrowded auditorium, when Colonel Hanleman introduced Commander Booth, who spoke at length of the original trouble with the Salvation Army resulting in the formation of the volunteers.

Wishes to Resign and Cannot.

Guthrie, O. T., March 8.—President J. W. Johnson has sent his resignation to the governor as member of the council. There is no provision in the organic act for resignations, and the governor refused to accept it. The president left for his home, and the council may order his arrest for contempt. The resignation grew out of the defeat of the fee and salary bill. Both houses of the legislature are at a deadlock, each refusing to pass bills of the other.

Condemned Murderer Dies In Jail.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 8. — Nelson Miller, colored, convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged, died yesterday in the county jail of quick consumption. In October, 1894, a Hungarian shanty, adjoining Miller's shanty, was blown up with dynamite. Miller and his wife, Sarah Heiter, and three colored men were arrested, charged with the crime. Miller was tried first and convicted.

An Ax For Gideon.

Philadelphia, March 8.—From a well authenticated source it is learned that Isaac B. Potter, the newly elected president of the League of American Wheelmen, has tendered, or determined to tender, to Albert Mott of Baltimore the position of chairman of the new racing board. This news will be surprising to all wheelmen, in view of the fact that one week before the recent election at Albany, Mr. Potter publicly declared himself in favor of continuing Mr. Gideon at the head of that all-important committee.

Democratic Caucus Called.

Washington, March 8.—Representative Robertson, the secretary, has called a caucus of the Democratic members of the house of the Fifty-fifth congress to meet at 3 o'clock next Saturday afternoon in the hall of the house of representatives. The caucus is for the purpose of choosing honorary candidates for speaker and other offices of the lower house of congress.

A BICYCLE TOUR

Three gentlemen for a European tour purchased new hundred dollar bicycles. One a Columbia—the others of well-known high-grade manufacture. They had an agreeable trip—particularly the Columbia rider. Before returning to America, it being late in the year—and wishing to buy new machines in 1897—they sold their wheels to a London dealer. The Columbia bicycle brought $65.00. The others $40.00 and $35.00 respectively. But one of the many proofs of Columbia superiority. If you look a year ahead there is wise economy in EASTERN WAR CLOUD.

European Powers Anxiously Watching For It to Burst.

All Depends on Developments of Today.

Greece Nof Desirous of Precipitating Any Conflagration.

London, March 8.—A dispatch to The Times from Athens at midnight says that some of the members of the foreign legations and other foreign residents have already left the city, and it is reported that several of the legations have advised all foreigners to leave Greece. This has caused a painful feeling on the part of the Greek public, which regards it as an unjustified step, as with the exception of occasional affronts from persons of the lower classes, foreigners have been treated with all respect and have at no time been in any danger whatever. Moreover, a majority of the foreign residents are known to favor the Greek cause. Certainly the aspect of the city is very warlike, but considering the excited state of the public mind the people are behaving with moderation and exhibiting marked self-control.

The trains are bringing in thousands of reserves from the provinces, and these are parading the streets with their accoutrements. Squadrons of cavalry and batteries of artillery traversing the principal thoroughfares to embark for Thessaly give a peculiar vividness to the scene.

Great crowds join the soldiers in preparing for war and in cheering for Greece, for King George and the government. The decree summoning the remainder of the reserves is held back at the last moment. The troops already on the frontier are deemed sufficient for the present, and more than this it is believed that the presence of foreign men-of-war near the Piraeus indicates that the blockade will commence today, thus severing communication with the frontier by sea.

The members of the press of Athens have joined in a dispatch to Admiral Canevero, commanding the allied fleets at Canea, expressing surprise that the lives of foreign correspondents should be endangered by threats of violence on the part of the Mussulmen populace, and urging the admiral to take whatever steps were necessary to safeguard the lives of inoffensive journalists engaged in the honorable performance of duty under the protection of the flags of the six great powers.

Though the exact character of the Greek reply to the powers is not yet made known it is understood that in addition to the ground of refusal to comply because of the fear of pillage, incendiarism and murder in Crete, the note points out that the Cretans, who alone should be regarded as entitled to determine their fate, have declared their unalterable resolution to be annexed to Greece as the only solution that will finally pacify the island.

The Pling henesia publishes a telegram stating that a band of 120 Macedonians and Epirotes came into collision yesterday at Krania, six hours' march from Grevena, with a strong Turkish detachment. Chief Takis, commanding the Macedonians, attacked the Turkish position toward evening and is reported to have captured it after an all-night fight.

A dispatch from Constantinople states that the reply of the porte to the collective note of Tuesday last and the comunique of Friday sets forth, in addition to the resolve of the porte to maintain the integrity of the empire, while reserving the right to discuss the precise definition of autonomy for Crete, its desire to maintain peace and its satisfaction with the stipulation of the powers for the withdrawal of the Greek troops from the island.

A dispatch to The Times from Canea says that Saturday the British battleship Darfleur cleared for action owing to the presence of re-enforcements of the Greek fleet in Cretan waters.

There is no confirmation of the report that 30,000 Turkish troops crossed the Thessalian frontier and were repulsed by an equal number of Greeks.

The agitation of the lovers of liberty in favor of Greece is spreading everywhere in Great Britain according to late reports received from many places.

In every dissenting chapel and in many churches of all creeds in London a notice was read urging the congregations to attend the demonstration in Hyde Park at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Though the weather was threatening about 15,000 people were present. They consisted of all classes, although workingmen predominated. Six platforms had been erected for the accommodation of the speakers

A resolution was adopted at all the platforms, with cheers for King George of Greece, expressing the strongest sympathy with the Cretans in their heroic struggle against the intolerable tyranny of the Turk and congratulating Greece upon having by her gallant conduct effected a deliverance which the united powers were unable to achieve. The resolution further protested against any attempt to coerce Greece, and demanded that the Marquis of Salisbury refuse to put the guns of the British fleet to a use which is a disgrace and a humiliation to Great Britain.

The reply of the Turkish government to this collective note is expected to be delivered today. It will state in substance that the porte, in taking cognizance of it, declares to the powers its resolve to maintain the integrity of the Ottoman empire, and accepts in principle the establishment of an autonomous administration for the Island of Crete, but the porte reserves the right to discuss the precise definition of "autonomy."

There is no doubt, says the Athens correspondent of The Times, that if Prince George of Greece were placed at the head of an autonomous Crete government, with the title of prince, the whole Greek nation and the Cretans would willingly accept the proposals of the powers and the Greek troops would be withdrawn.

Athens Dispatches.

Athens, March 8.—The situation of affairs here remains grave, although there are a few signs, here and there, since Saturday that a pacific solution of the Cretan crisis is yet possible. This is more particularly so in the case of Greece. It is believed that the government is sincere in not desiring to start any conflagration which may spread far and wide. The gravity of the situation is recognized on all sides, and all those interested seem willing to arrive at a peaceful settlement of the difficulties if possible.

Greece is displaying undiminished firmness in her intention to carry out at all costs the program which she has mapped out for herself in regard to Crete, while at the same time supporting the pacific intentions of her advisers.

It is stated that Prince Maurocordieto, the Greek minister at Constantinople, has addressed a note to the Turkish government proposing to recall the Greek troops from the frontiers of Macedonia and Albania if the Turkish troops near the Greek frontier are simultaneously withdrawn. The porte, however, has not shown any haste to accede to this proposal.

At the same time this note was sent to the Turkish government stringent orders were issued to the commanders of the Greek troops in Thessaly to do everything possible to avoid anything calculated to provoke a conflict, while the hope was expressed to the Turkish officials at Constantinople that the porte would issue similar instructions to the commanders of the Turkish troops in Macedonia.

Dispatches since received from Thessaly indicate that the wishes of King George will be carried out. It was stated in these messages that although the Greek troops are animated with unabated enthusiasm nothing will be done to needlessly irritate the Turks.

An incident showing this to be the case has occurred near Melun. A Greek officer of engineers was engaged in supervising the work of repairing a road close to the frontier and was prevented by some Turkish officials from proceeding with the task. But the Greeks have not taken any action in the matter, although it is claimed they were well within their rights in proceeding with the repairs.

On the other hand, a dispatch received here from Canea states that Colonel Vassos, who is in command of the Greek "Army of Occupation," as it is termed at Athens, has received at his camp, near Platania, instructions from King George to be prepared to resist coercion to the end.

This spirit, which pervades all the orders sent to the Greek commanders in Crete, is further shown in a Canea dispatch referring to the incident which occurred at Selino Saturday. Before deciding to land the mixed detachment of marines, the admirals pour-parleyed for a long time with the Greek commodore, Colonel Vassos, and the Greek vice consul. Evasive answers only were returned to the admirals, the Greek commodore protesting against the obstacles which were placed in the way of his action, and Colonel Vassos asserting that he had no authority over the insurgents who were investing Selino.

These replies, coupled with the insistance of the Greek vice consul that he would only consent to go to Selino on board a Greek warship, and in the name of King George of Greece, compelled the foreign admirals, in deference to instructions, to decide to themselves deliver the imprisoned Moslems, even if they had to use force against the insurgents or the Greeks, in order to do so. Therefore a detatchment of marines was landed at Selino from the foreign warships, and it set out forthwith for Candimo, a distance of seven miles.

The Greek vice consul, M. Baraclis, thereupon informed the admirals that the Greek government declined all responsibility for what might take place. It is said that there are 9000 Moslems besieged at Candimo, where the earthworks of the Turks have been partly destroyed by the fire of the insurgents, many men being killed on both sides.

The answer of Greece to the identical notes of the powers was discussed at a meeting of the cabinet and approved by King George yesterday. It is reported that the reply is a refusal to recall the Greek fleet and troops from Crete on the ground that the recall would be a signal for pillage, incendiarism and murder. The complete text will not be known until it is presented to the ambassadors of the powers.

In diplomatic circles it is said that the Greek answer may lead to negotiations based upon a proposal for co-operation which has been presented to France.

It is stated that in view of the contemplated negative reply of Greece to the powers, King George has sent orders to Colonel Vassos, commanding the Greek forces in Crete, to hold all positions now occupied by him. The king is still here, and the date of the departure of the crown prince for the frontier has not been fixed. Every effort is being made to concentrate the Greek troops on the Turkish frontier before the threatened blockade of the Greek coast can be affected.

In official circles the hope is not now entertained that the powers will accept the French proposal.

Additional advices from Crete since Saturday say that the insurgents have formed a cordon around Canea, and that Saturday evening the insurgents attacked the Turkish positions at Malaxa and Keratidi, where they attempted to destroy the blockhouse with the use of dynamite. The fighting, however, was of a desultory nature, and yesterday morning hostilities were reported to be at a standstill.

It is announced that 900 men of the Greek reserve will embark today at Corfu for Karavasara and Arts.

Jackson and Walling Ill.

Cincinnati, March 8.—Scott Jackson and Alonzo Walling, who are now in jail at Alexandria, Ky., awaiting their execution, Saturday, March 20, for the murder of Pearl Bryan, are both sick and require the attendance of a physician. The mothers of both the condemned men are with them and will remain with them until the day of execution. The condition of neither one of the murderers is serious, and their symptoms of grip are attributed to the bad ventilation of the jail. Governor Bradley has issued orders for troops to be present at the hanging.

SCROFULA AND ERYSIPELAS

Two Diseases That Cause Their Victims to Be Shunned by Their Fellow-Man.

SPRINGFIELD, Ma.

GENTLEMEN: I commenced taking P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, last Fall, for Erysipelas. My face was completely covered with the disease; I took a short course of P. P. P., and it soon disappeared. This Spring I became much debilitated and again took another course, and I am now in good condition. I consider P. P. P. one of the best blood preparations on the market, and for those who need a general tonic to build up the system and improve the appetite I consider that it has no equal. Will say, anyone who cares to try P. P. P. will not be disappointed in its results, and I, therefore, cheerfully recommend it.

Erysipelas and Scrofula cured by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, surely and without fail.

SPRINGFIELD, Ma.

GENTLEMEN: Last June I had a scrofulous sore which broke out on my ankle. It grew rapidly, and soon extended from my ankle to my knee. I got one bottle of your P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and was agreeably surprised at the result. The entire sore healed at once. I think I have taken almost every medicine recommended for scrofula and catarrh, and your P. P. P. is the best I have ever tried. It cannot be recommended too highly for blood poison, etc.

Yours very truly, W. P. HUNTER.

P. P. P. cures all blood and skin disease, both in men and women.

Rheumatism, which makes man's life a hell upon earth, can be relieved at once by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy. It makes a PERMANENT cure.

P. P. P. is the great and only remedy for advanced cases of catarrh. Stoppage of the nostrils and difficulty in breathing when lying down, P. P. P. relieves at once.

P. P. P. cures blood poisoning in all its various stages, old ulcers, sores and kidney complaints.

Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher Passes Away at Stamford.

Elections In Several Pine Tree Cities.

Massachusetts Town Meetings---Other Items of Interest.

Stamford, Conn., March 9.—The widow of Henry Ward Beecher died yesterday forenoon at the home of her son-in-law, Rev. Samuel Scoville, where she had been hovering at the point of death for several weeks. Mr. Beecher died just 10 years ago. She was 84 years old. Mrs. Beecher was unconscious for 24 hours before her death. None of her relatives, except her daughter's family and a niece, Miss Bullard, were present.

MRS. HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Mrs. Beecher's father was Dr. Bullard, a physician, who was practicing his profession in West Sutton, Mass., when, on Aug. 26, 1812, a daughter was born to him, and he named her Eunice White Bullard. In later years, through a brother, who was Beecher's classmate in Amerst, she, after an engagement of seven years, wedded and lived with the pastor until his death. They had 10 children, four of whom are now alive.

After the death of her husband Mrs. Beecher wrote many articles, chiefly on domestic topics, for magazine publications, and later these have been collected in book form in three volumes.

The funeral arrangements will include private services at the residence of Rev. Mr. Scoville tomorrow afternoon. Thursday morning the remains will be taken to Brooklyn, and from 10 a. m. until noon, they will lie in state in Plymouth church. At 2 p. m. public funeral services will be held in Plymouth church, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Lyman Abbott.

MAINE CITY ELECTIONS.

Republican Tickets Elected In Several Places.

Augusta, Me., March 9.—Winfield S. Choate was re-elected mayor yesterday by one of the lightest votes ever cast. He carried every ward in the city excepting ward 7, which went Democratic by 16 plurality. The amendments to the city charter were voted down.

Bangor—F. O. Beal (Ind. Rep.), was re-elected mayor. The election was hotly contested. Republicans elect five of the seven aldermen and 16 of the 21 councilmen.

Belfast—The city election was very quiet, as no issue was pending. The Republicans alone had a ticket in the field. Dr. J. M. Fletcher was chosen mayor.

Biddeford—In the city election Mayor Carlos Heard, the Citizens' nominee, was re-elected by 361 majority. Of the Citizens' party candidates six were elected aldermen out of the seven required and 16 councilmen out of the 21 in that body.

Brewer—The largest vote ever polled in Brewer re-elected Mayor Merrill (Rep.). Alderman Ring will contest in court the election of B. F. Young over him, on the ground that Young was elected by the use of stickers.

Sanford—The Republicans had things their own way in the town meeting. Three of their candidates were also on the Democratic slate. By a large majority a proposition to invest $15,000 in stock of the Mousam railway was tabled, and a meeting may be called to reconsider the matter.

The recently elected officers of Rockland and Waterville have assumed their official duties.

More Town Elections.

Boston, March 9.—The following town meetings were held in Massachusetts yesterday: Bridgewater, Burlington, Chilmark, Cottage City, Edgartown, Essex, Ludlow, Lynnfield, Pelham, Plymouth, Rowley, Somerset, Stoughton, Swansea, Wellesley, Maynard Peabody and Westfield. Maynard, Peabody and Plymouth, which went for license the first time in 12 years, voted for license.

Watch and Ward Officers.

Boston, March 9.—The annual business meeting of the New England Watch and Ward society was held yesterday. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Rev. William J. Tucker, D. D.; vice presidents, Rev. E. W. Donald, D. D.; Rev. George A. Gordon, D. D.; J. G. Thorp, Jr.; Rev. E. E. Hale, D. D.; Clarence J. Blake, M. D.; Robert Treat Paine, Samuel B. Capen; corresponding secretary, Rev. Frederick B. Allen; treasurer, John S. Lockwood, 146 Franklin street; directors, Charles F. Wyman, J. D. W. French, Robert A. Woods, Professor S. Homer Woodbridge, Rev. Frederick B. Allen, Rev. Rufus B. Tobey, A. S. Lovett, Dr. Edwin W. Dwight, Rev. Raymond Calkins. The report of the year's work showed that many offenders against public morals, through the efforts of the society, had been convicted and fined.

Fire Investigation at Worcester.

Worcester, Mass., March 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mathews, who live in the rear of the Day buildings, which were destroyed by the big fire Friday morning, say they were awakened about 1 o'clock by a noise of breaking glass, and looking out saw a half-dozen young men in the rooms of the St. Anne's Temperance society, a social organization, which occupied apartments on the fourth floor of the Day building trying to extinguish a fire which seemed to be burning on a table in the room. The fire gained on them and they disappeared. The flames spread rapidly, and a few minutes later burst out through the roof. The statement will be investigated by the fire marshals. The St. Anne's men deny any knowledge of the origin of the fire, and say they were all out of the building before 1:30 on the morning of the fire.

Investigating Subway Disaster.

Boston, March 9.—Fire Marshal Whitcomb examined a number of witnesses yesterday in connection with his investigation of the gas explosion last Thursday. Two men testified that they notified the gas company by telephone of the leak at least one hour before the explosion occurred. Janitor Chester claimed that he telephoned at 10:55, while Patrolman Whalen stated that he notified the company at 10:45. The gas company, in its statement, claimed that 11:07 was the first notice it received of the leak. A number of witnesses, including the janitor of Hotel Pelham, which was nearly blown up, testified as to the almost overpowering smell of gas in the immediate vicinity and in the cellars of some of the buildings.

A. Z. Mason Sentenced.

Boston, March 9.—Allison Z. Mason, convicted of embezzling the funds of the Globe Investment company, of which company he was president, has been sentenced to state prison for a period of not less than five or more than eight years. It has since been proven that during the time Mason was president, and Morse, who is now serving a sentence, was treasurer, that nearly $600,000 of the funds of the company disappeared. In pronouncing the sentence, Judge Fessenden spoke with the greatest condemnation of the methods pursued by the defaulting president and treasurer. Mason was arrested Nov. 9, 1896, and after being indicted, pleaded guilty on two counts of the indictment. The maximum penalty is 20 years.

Women Have No Appeal.

Haverhill, Mass., March 9.—The registrars of the town of Groveland have received an official communication from Secretary of State Olin, to the effect that there was no appeal for the large number of women who were prevented from getting their names on the voting lists, through lack of time. The question at issue arose from an incident of Saturday night, when it was claimed that while women of Roman Catholic belief were registering to vote for school committee, many women of other beliefs, who were in line, were shut out by the time expiring.

Another Milford and Manchester Road.

Milford, N. H., March 9.—The Mount Vernon steam railroad has been organized for incorporation, with the following members: W. G. Burnham, John Fox, Clark Campbell, John McCollom, Daniel Richardson, F. O. Kittredge, F. O. Lamson. W. G. Burnham states that the road will run from Milford to East Milford, Amherst, Mount Vernon and New Boston. It will cost about $60,000. Surveyers have begun laying out a line. If the road is built it will kill the building of the much discussed Milford and Manchester road.

Killed Valuable Horses.

Lynn, Mass., March 9.—James H. Welch, aged 23, has been arrested on the charge of killing two valuable horses, the property of John H. Buckley. Welch had been permitted by Mr. Buckley to sleep in his stable during the night. A noise was heard, and upon going to the stable, the owner discovered that his two horses, valued at $400, had been killed in a most revolting manner by the use of a pitchfork, and Welch was found near by in an excitable condition. It is supposed he was under the influence of liquor when he committed the act.

Child Kidnapped.

Brockton, Mass., March 9.—Ciara J. Kelly, aged 8, was kidnapped from the Grove street school yesterday, by a tall woman dressed in black. The girl has been living with Elijah I. Kelly and family, at 810 Lontello street, to whose care she was left when a mere child, by her father and mother, they promising to pay a certain amount each week for her keep. Three weeks later the parents left town. The police say they have no trace of the woman and child, and do not believe the former is the latter's mother.

A MESSAGE TO LEE.

Secretary of State Sherman's Instructions to Consul at Havana.

Interest of American Citizens Must Be Protected.

Arbitration Treaty Referred Back to Senate Foreign Affairs Committee.

Washington, March 9.—An information message, bearing upon the Cuban policy of the McKinley administration, was sent yesterday to Consul General Lee, by Secretary of State Sherman. It was the first message to be sent to General Lee by President McKinley's secretary of state, and, it is said, informed General Lee that the interests of American citizens in Cuba must be vigorously protected, and that the department would support him. It is reported that, at he cabinet meeting today, which will be the first meeting of the new administration, the administration will consider sending a United States man-of-war to Havana to support Consul General Lee's future demands for protection of Americans and their interests.

Senate Proceedings.

Washington, March 9.—During the executive session of the senate yesterday, Senator Davis moved to refer the general treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain, which is now on the table, back to the committee on foreign relations, together with the pending amendments.

This action was taken without opposition, although there was some immaterial discussion as to the method of getting the convention there. Senator Morgan contended—and read a rule in support of his contention—that the treaty at the end of the congress went back to the committee, and that all proceedings with respect thereto must be begun de novo. This was disputed, and the discussion was engaged in by Senators Hoar, Morgan, Daniel, Teller, Davis and White.

The merits of the treaty were not debated, and the motion of Senator Davis was agreed to without the formality of a vote.

The senators devoted much of their time yesterday to the solution of the problem involved in the filling of the senate committees. The Republican committee on the situation appointed as the result of Saturday's caucus and the Democratic steering committee both held meetings. The Democrats decided upon nothing except to call a caucus for this afternoon. The silver Republicans and Populists also were in conference more or less. No definite conclusion was reached by either organization, and none is probable on the part of the other parties until after the Democrats decide upon a line of action. It still looks as if the Democrats would have no difficulty in making a coalition with the silver Republicans and the Populists for the control of the committees, but they are in doubt whether such a combination would be wise. They have been thinking over the proposition, and many of them feel that while the combination could be brought to work harmoniously on silver, it is doubtful whether they could agree upon a tariff policy. There are several intricate points which cannot be satisfactorily adjusted quickly. There is a disposition manifested on the part of more conservative members of both the Republicans and Democratic ranks to allow the present organization to stand, giving the Democrats a slight increase over the Republicans in the new committee appointments.

There has been more or less discussion also as to the admission of men appointed by the governors in Kentucky, Florida and Oregon. Four years ago Senator Pasco was admitted on the appointment of Florida in an exactly similar case, and it is believed Mr. Henderson will be admitted without opposition on the same precedent.

In the case of the other states it will be claimed that they are in all respects similar to the case of the Montana, Washington and Wyoming cases, three years ago, when the senators were refused admission on the appointment of the governors. It is said, however, that in the case of Oregon, the failure of the house to perfect its organization may present a different proposition.

It is also claimed that while the vote of three years ago was a precedent, it did not settle the question for all time, and that each senate is a judge of the qualifications of the members who seek admission.

New Treasurer of Republican Committee.

Washington, March 9.—A special meeting of the executive committee of the National Republican committee was held yesterday, for the purpose of accepting the resignation of the treasurer, Cornelius N. Bliss of New York, who has become secretary of the interior in President McKinley's cabinet. Without delay the committee selected J. C. Cannon, also of New York, to be Mr. Bliss' successor. The new treasurer is well known in New York business circles, and is the vice president of the Fourth National bank of that city. There was some time spent in the discussion of work that has been carried on by the committee, in the distribution of literature since the campaign closed, a report on which was submitted by Assistant Secretary Perkins. The committee will retain for the present the headquarters opened in this city after the last election

WHAT SHALL be done to make our Board of Trade a successful association? It has been organized a year and will tonight hold its annual election of officers for another year. Yet there seems to be little interest in the Board of Trade, which in many cities is doing much for the communities. One of the mistakes of the Quincy association was at the very start when gentlemen who never showed any inclination to help in the work were appointed on committees. These gentlemen have not attended the meetings or even become members. Others who joined the board, paid their dues, and at the start were regular in attendance, have had little to do.

The association has accomplished nothing, we believe, during, the year. If we are mistaken the annual reports this evening will correct us. The Quincy Board of Trade seems to lack a directing hand. It does not grasp the opportunities to accomplish that for which it is organized. It needs a president or secretary who will be ever alert in the interests of the city. Officers who will bring new business before each meeting. Often no business has been stated in the call for the meeting, and the informal talks have resulted in nothing.

A Board of Trade should not allow such a railroad timetable to be imposed upon Quincy; it should not permit the Holbrook Improvement Association to have more influence in the running of electric cars of this city than it can exert itself; it should see that something is done toward sidewalks in this city; it should be interested in the tariff on granite; it should get at the facts and figures relative to sewers and assessments, and possibly make suggestions to the City Council; it should take a stand for or against the Metropolitan district scheme. In fact there is no lack of subjects.

The Board of Trade should advertise the city more. It should not have allowed the centennial of the inauguration of John Adams as president to have gone by without a celebration. It should encourage more gala days.

A New Town.

The committee on towns has reported a bill in the Senate incorporating the town of Nahatan, now known as West Dedham. The bill is the usual one for new towns, except that it provides that the new town shall bear its proportionate part of the expense of the lighting with the town of Dedham, under the contract with the parent town with the Dedham Electric Light Company.

CARD OF THANKS.

The Quincy Firemen's Relief Association desire to thank all those who in any way assisted in making the 11th annual ball so successful; more especially Principal Assessor John Federhen, 3d, Commissioner Charles F. Knowlton and Mr. Brainard Dyer, of the Granite Shoe Store, who lent financial aid by forwarding personal checks to swell the proceeds.

TO WIPE OUT DEBT.

Henry H. Faxon Makes Generous Proposition to First Church.

The annual meeting of the First church parish was held Monday evening at which these officers were elected:
Moderator,—Edward H. Dewson.
Parish Assessors,—Henry M. Faxon, Luther S. Anderson and James H. Stetson.
Treasurer,—Luther S. Anderson.
Clerk,—George B. Dewson.
Collector,—George H. Field.
Trustees of Adams Fund,—Henry A. Johnson, Edward H. Dewson and Charles H. Porter.

The report of the parish assessors showed that the outstanding notes payable of the society, exclusive of $1,000 due the Sarah Vinal fund, now aggregate $2,450 an increase of $250 over last year. The report also showed that the weekly collections were an increase of $120 57 over the previous year, but that the denominational contributions amounted to $120.58 more than the previous year, leaving a balance of one cent less than a year ago strictly applicable to church purposes. The income from the trustees of the Adams fund, owing to shifting investments was $52 75 less than usual, and of the total amount of $620 pledged to the so-called guarantee fund $580 had been received.

After some discussion on the matter of church debt, Mr. Henry H. Faxon offered to pay $1000 of the amount of debt provided an additional sum of $1500 was raised and paid in within thirty days.

This generous offer will probably be accepted.

The sum of $6000 was appropriated for the expenses of the ensuing year.

The article relating to the boundaries of the church land was taken up and after some discussion was indefinitely postponed.

Quincy Point Fair.

Tuesday evening the annual four days fair, given by the Ladies' Aid society of the Washington Street Congregational church, opened with great success. The attendance was unusually large, the vestry being so crowded that standing room even was at a premium. The booths and decorations were very artistic.

At eight o'clock an attractive and amusing entertainment was given by Mother Goose and her numerous family. Mrs. Fred E. Drake, who took the part of Mother Goose, had charge of the affair, and the excellent manner in which it was presented occasioned much praise. All the characters were in full costume and their antics created much amusement. The evening was spent in a very enjoyable way and those in charge of the booths reported a brisk trade.

The fair will continue each evening of this week up to and including Thursday.

Royal Arcanum.

John Adams council, R. A., of Wollaston, was visited officially Monday evening by District Deputy Grand Regent I. W. Cotton, of Franklin council, Cambridge. His suite was composed, among others, of the degree staff of his council, who conferred the degree upon a new member of John Adams council in a most excellent and impressive manner. A collation was served, followed by remarks upon the benefits and prosperity of the order. There was an unusually good attendance and a most enjoyable evening was passed. Mr. A. F. Roberts, a former district deputy of John Adams council, was also in attendance. John Adams council added eleven to its membership last year and sustained two deaths. The immediate outlook for new members is very good. It is a live council and emphasizes in a marked manner the social and fraternal features.

Sewer Laws

By a new law, which took effect upon its approval, March 5, "Any city or town in the Commonwealth may make by-laws and ordinances, and affix penalties thereto not exceeding fifty dollars for one offence, regulating the use of the public sewers and the material that may be emptied and deposited therein and connections that may be made therewith.

"Any court having jurisdiction may restrain any use of the public sewers or the placing and depositing of any materials therein or the making of any connections therewith, contrary to the provisions of any by-laws or ordinance made under the provisions of section one."

Pneumatic Tool.

Matters are beginning to assume more peaceful conditions in regard to the pneumatic tool, and users of that very necessary adjunct of well regulated manufacturing establishments will rest easier. The suit brought by the American Pneumatic Tool Co. against the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Co. some months ago to enjoin the use of a boiler tool, and another suit brought by the same company against Wm. Wolstencrofts' Sons and Co. for an alleged infringement of the Bates patent, have resulted favorably for the defendants.—Monumental News.

MILTON.

The Milton Selectmen held a special meeting Monday evening to make appointments. It was expected that the board would make all of its appointments, and there was some speculation as to whom would receive the coveted plums. When these offices were reached however it was decided to defer them until a future meeting. The several appointments made were as follows:

Keeper of Lockup, Edwin A. Houghton.
Sealer of Weights and Measurers, Joseph Holmes.
Public Weighers, Wm. G. Swan, Wm. L. Johnson, Charles F. Aldrich, Samuel A. Morse, F. N. Robinson, A. D. Swan, Thomas Anstes, W. H. Dyer, J. H. Dorothy, M. P. Lennon.
Surveyors of Lumber, George E Bent, John Sexton, F. N. Bobinson.
Inspector of Provisions, James Spencer.

High Tariff on Gypsum.

Halifax, March 9.—Among the proposed increases in the new United States tariff is a high duty on gypsum and plaster. This would especially affect the Nova Scotia gypsum trade, in which a large fleet of vessels are engaged carrying particularly between Windsor and New York. The owners of these vessels in Windsor have decided to make a vigorous protest against the proposed duty. They say it will kill the gypsum trade with the British provinces, and drive the vessels now engaged in it into other lines.

Senator Dolph's Leg Amputated.

Portland, Or., March 9.—Ex-United States Senator John Dolph has had his left leg amputated just above the knee and lies in a very critical condition. It is feared he will not survive. A few days ago a sore appeared on Mr. Dolph's leg, and it soon became troublesome, and the physicians decided it was a case of uric acid poison, and that the only hope for his recovery was through amputation.

LABOR NOTES.

The strike at the Globe Iron shipyards, Cleveland, has been settled, the men returning to work upon a minimum wage of $1.50 per day. The demand for union recognition was compromised.

Unless the difficulty between the Elevator Constructors' union and the International Machinists' union at New York is adjusted today, it is likely that before nightfall 10,000 men will be out of work, and the progress of every building in this city, where elevators are being put in, will be stopped.

Two hundred employes of Williams & Clark, makers of the highest grade of shoes in Lynn, Mass., are out on a strike by order of the executive board of the boot and shoe union. The men want a return to the same scale of wages paid before the cut down of 20 per cent made last fall. The firm refused and the strike was ordered.

HAPPY AT CITY HALL.

The Clerical Force Look Into the Future and are Pleased.

One of the seven sisters of the seven daughters who is supposed to be gifted with the power to brush the clouds of the future away, so that we may see what is in store for us, blew into City Hall this morning, accompanied by another sister who sold baskets.

The people at City Hall were speedily made aware by the gifted sister that to all who would cross the palm of her hand with a silver half dollar she would the future unfold.

There are several young ladies employed at City Hall, and as none are more anxious about the future than young ladies, it was not long before the gifted one had one of the young misses in the ward room and was pouring into her willing ears a beautiful fairy tale.

This young lady was in turn quickly followed by the others until all had posed before the wonderful seventh sister, with the piece of silver which served as a key to unlock the hidden mysteries of the future held in store by this wonderful person, and when she finally left City Hall for new victims, she was some dollars richer in this present world's goods.

What was told is not for profane ears to hear, but if the blushes that illuminated the always bright faces of these young ladies as they emerged from the gifted one's presence is any criterion, what was told must have been pleasant. Let us hope so, and that the clouds that have perhaps been overshadowing their young hearts have now cleared away and that their fondest hopes may be realized.

FITZ AND CORBETT.

Day's Doing of Two Famous Prize Fighters at Carson.

Carson, Nev., March 9.—From now until he steps into the ring Bob Fitzsimmons will do no more wrestling and very little, if any, boxing. Fitzsimmons trains on methods as unconventional as those upon which he fights, and he has never made any pretense of boxing while in preparation for his battles. He has, since he has been at Cook's ranch, done more boxing than any other time when in training, but he has now cut this to the minimum. Wrestling, he declares, if done violently, is apt to strain the forearms, and as Fitzsimmons puts it, "I would not be able to lick a teaspoon, let alone a big fellow like Corbett, if my forearms should happen to be in bad shape."

Fitzsimmons gave up his idea of trotting through the slush, and concluded to do his work yesterday morning indoors. He first tried his handball court for the best portion of two hours, playing alternately with Stenzler and Hickey, and making the games fast and furious.

After the conclusion of his work on the handball court, Fitzsimmons donned his gloves and went at it with Hickey, and then he took on Roeber for three rounds and Stenzler for as many more. The work was very fast, and at the conclusion Fitzsimmons announced that he was prepared to do a little wrestling with Roeber. They tugged back and forth across the gymnasium the larger part of an hour, and then Fitzsimmons took his rubbing down and sat down to wait for his dinner. The appetite of the big Australian is something to wonder at, and although he is very careful of what he eats, he gets away with an enormous amount of food in a day.

Fitzsimmons went to the station to meet his wife and boy, who arrived about 4 p. m.

The visitor who approached Corbett's training quarters yesterday morning would have been justified in thinking, from hearing the noise that came to his ears as he entered the yard at the Springs, that a herd of elephants were doing a combination double scuffle in the barn-like structure that had been erected for a handball court. It was only the Corbett brothers, Jim and Joe, having engaged in a friendly game of handball. Jim was having hard luck at the game and was taking the most desperate chances at the ball in order to pile up his score. It was by no means warm in the place, and the visitor who stood watching the game for more than 10 minutes was only too glad to hunt up a stove. Corbett was wet with perspiration, and played with the utmost violence. He seemed to be at all times breathing easy. He kept at the handball court for over an hour, and then White called him to time, saying it was on the program for him to box. As usual Jeffries was the first, and Jim went at him like a whirlwind, hitting him all over the body and driving him all over the place. McVey, with his wrestling and pulling and tugging, came next, and Edgren and Woods brought up the rear. Then everything began all over again, and was gone through in much the same manner as before, save that Corbett, instead of going after Jeffries, kept that gentleman coming after him. Again and again Jeffries rushed and made desperate efforts to land, but not once could he reach the champion.

Weyler Would Kill Women Suspects.

New York, March 9.—A special to The World from Havana says: General Weyler has issued an order directing that hereafter all women arrested in Cuba who are called "suspicious" shall be tried by court-martial. While the penalty is not publicly stated, it is supposed that if the women are found guilty the death penalty will be imposed. The issuing of this order has been protested against by some of the foreign consuls. General Weyler says, it is asserted, that the women are hardest to subdue, and that if he had his way he would kill them first, and try afterwards. A kinsman of the first president of the republic has been arrested and treated in the most cruel manner possible. He was imprisoned in a small cell, 6x9, and kept in communicado 100 days. He had only one meal a day, slight at that, was reduced to a skeleton by inhuman treatment, and is now dying from the effects. He is only 16 years old.

German Naval Estimates.

Berlin, March 9.—When the debate on the naval estimates of the budget committee of the reichstag was resumed yesterday, Prince Hohelohe, the imperial chancellor, endorsed the views of the secretary for the navy, Vice Admiral Hollmann, as set forth on Friday last, when the latter stated that the admiralty would still require 10 cruisers, five despatch vessels two gunboats, five ironclads, two monitors, two floating batteries and 22 torpedo boats, involving an expenditure of 62,166,000 marks in 1898, 59,00,000 in 1899, 56,250,000 for 1900 and 60,500,000 for 1901. The chancellor added that the time for applying for the necessary assent of the federal governments and the reichstag to the program depended upon the general financial situation.

Commercial Travelers' Association.

Utica, N. Y., March 9.—The Commercial Travelers' Mutual Accident association of America held its annual meeting here yesterday. President Henry D. Pixley of Utica, in his annual address, congratulated the association on its solidity. The following officers were chosen, most of them being re-elected: President, Henry D. Pixley; vice presidents—Massachusetts, William T. Farley, Boston; Edward S. Richards, Springfield; Edward S. Wilson, Pittsfield, Connecticut, Alfred Barber, Meriden; Maine, Albert E. Perry, Portland; Rhode Island, William H. Nicholas, Providence; New Hampshire, John J. Donohue, Keene; Vermont, W. E. Hall, Burlington; secretary and treasurer, Edward Trevett, Utica.

Worcester License Fees Fixed.

Worcester, Mass., March 9.—The liquor license fees for the current year have been fixed by the commissioners as follows: First class, inn-holders, $2000; first class, common victualers, $1500; second and third class, common victualers, $1200; fourth class, wholesalers, $2500; fifth class, bottlers, $1000; special club licenses, $100. The only change from last year is an addition of $500 to the brewers' fee, and the establishment of a club license.

Pension Agent Black Near Death.

Augusta, Me., March 9.—Captain R. W. Black, United States pension agent, located in this city, is dangerously ill with typhoid pneumonia. There is little hope of his recovery.

The Church and King's Daughters.

At the meeting of the Training school Monday evening for the lesson Mr. Richard D. Chase took up the subject "The extension of the church" from where it was left off a week ago, and followed the growth of the church to the end of the Bible history.

Mrs. E. T. Hill had charge of the Round Table on the subject of "King's Daughters." Mrs Hill in her talk said that the King's Daughters, formed eleven years ago, now had a membership of about 500,000. Its chief thought was spiritual work, and it was a distinctively religious organization. Mrs. Hill also spoke at length upon the charity work of the King's Daughters and that the requirements for membership were "Love the King and be willing to work for Him."

TODAY'S COURT.

Fred L. Hayden was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Hugh Caffery was arraigned for threatening his wife with bodily harm at Weymouth. Case continued four weeks.

Charles A. Clark was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Constitutional Commission.

Providence, March 9.—Governor Lippitt has appointed the following commission to revise the constitution of the state: Ex-Chief Justice Thomas Durfee, Hon. Augustus S. Hiller, Hon. E. L. Freeman, William B. Weeden, Hon. S. W. K. Allen, Hon. Nathan F. Dixon, Judge John M. Stivetts, Hon. Edwin D. McGuinness, Colonel Samuel Pomeroy Colt, Colonel William P. Sheffield, Jr., Hon. E. C. Francis, Hon. W. W. Blodgett, Colonel R. H. Goddard, and Hon. Charles E. Gorman.

Suit Against Boston Gas Company.

Boston, March 9.—A suit was begun in the municipal court yesterday by Joseph Campbell of this city, to recover $2000 from the Boston Gas Light company, for injuries sustained by inhaling gas from a leak in the company's pipe. Mr. Campbell narrowly escaped death by suffocation from inhaling the gas which permeated the house in which he was sleeping, although there were no gas pipes in the house.

Lanier-Stevens Nuptials.

Greenwich, Conn., March 9.—Henry Lanier, son of Sidney Lanier, the Georgia poet, was united in marriage to Miss Josephine Ledyard Stevens, niece of A. Foster Higgins, at Christ church yesterday. Charles Lanier, editor of Review of Reviews, was best man. There were no bridesmaids. The bride was given away by her mother.

Looking to City Ownership of Street Cars.

Worcester, Mass., March 9.—The aldermen have passed an order asking the city solicitor for his opinion as to whether the city may purchase the consolidated street railway under the provisions of its charter, granted in 1861, or if not, what legislation is necessary to enable the city to make such purchase.

Democrats Indorse Republican Nominees.

Laconia, N. H., March 9.—Democratic city caucuses were held yesterday, and the following Republican nominations, made Saturday evening, were ratified: For mayor, Charles L. Pulcifer; for members of the school board, Hon. Charles F. Stone, Hon. W. L. Melcher and J. L. Odell.

Will Celebrate Queen's Jubilee.

Boston, March 9.—A meeting of the Victoria jubilee celebration committee was held at the Hotel Savoy last night. An executive committee of 30 was appointed, representing many of the British societies, to arrange for the celebration of Queen Victoria's jubilee on June 27.

IN THE SPRING.

Puritana Is the Safest and Surest Remedy.

THE universal custom of taking a spring remedy is founded on a natural instinct implanted in us for our own good.

The heat-producing foods of winter leave the system clogged. Confinement in warm rooms, with lack of outdoor exercise, makes all the organs weak and torpid. Those who neglect to use a remedy or fail to get the right one are inviting serious troubles. Most chronic diseases start in the spring. The end of winter finds thousands with such symptoms as these: A general unfitness for work with either head or hands. A worn-out, tired-out feeling that cannot be overcome. There is sleeplessness, or restless sleep. Numbness of hands or feet. A sence of pressure in the head, with a feeling of gloom or despondency. There may be fluttering or palpitation of the heart. Frequently a pain in the heart or under the left shoulder. There may be rushes of blood to the head, or throbbing in the ears at times.

Kidney and liver troubles may be looked for if your digestion has not been perfect. There is fulness or pain in the right side, or pain under the right shoulder. Distaste for food, with nausea in the morning. Complexion is blotched or sallow. Tongue is coated or mouth foul. There is a dull, sleepy feeling, with disinclination to breathe deeply. If the kidneys are in danger there will be pain, weakness, or soreness in small of back, and perhaps occasional sharp pains. Urine is scanty, high colored, and on standing becomes cloudy, or deposits a red sediment. There are apt to be frequent headaches. Sores and skin eruptions frequently come.

All these various symptoms are common to spring, and show that the vital organs need renovating and prompt repair. Bright's disease, jaundice, rheumatism, and heart troubles start from just such conditions as these. No two persons will have the same set of symptoms, but any of those enumerated are important. The organs must be strengthened and repaired. Repair can only come through active digestion, and Puritana is the remedy to rely on. It will vitalize the entire body and give you a spring of buoyant, vigorous health. Clear complexion, sharp appetite, and the power to do things, is the sure reward of taking Puritana.

CONCILIATORY REPLY.

Greece Does Not Assume Belligerent Attitude Toward Powers.

Prospects Point to Further Negotiations.

General Belief That Cretan Question Will Be Peacefully Settled.

Athens, March 9.—Following is a verbatim reply sent to by the Greek cabinet to the powers, in response to the identical note delivered last Thursday:

The government of his majesty, King George, having examined with the closest attention the points whereon the great powers are agreed, believes it a duty to submit to the powers its own opinion on the measure proposed by them, an opinion which is the outcome of long experience and profound knowledge of the Cretan situation.

Moved profoundly by the sentiments animating the powers and their solicitude for the general peace, the Greek government will not fail in its duty, because Greece also has an ardent desire to contribute to the maintenance of peace and to preserve from complete ruin islanders so long and sorely tried and so often decimated. We believe that the proposed autonomy will unfortunately fail to respond to the nobler intentions which inspire it, and will suffer the same fate as many previous unsuccessful experiments in Crete.

The reply then refers to six previous insurrections in Crete, and argues the unlikelihood that the present proposals of the powers will terminate a state of revolution. It continues:

Anarchy will ravage the country; fire and sword in the hands of blind fanaticism will decimate a people who do not deserve such a fate. In the face of such a prospect our responsibility would be enormous, if we failed earnestly to urge the powers to restore to Crete what she already had at the time of the enfranchisement of the other Greek provinces and to lead her back to Greece, to whom she properly belonged since Capo Istrias was president.

In the presence of the recent scenes of massacres and pillage, the burning of Canea, and the frightful anguish of the Cretans, exposed to and menaced by the boundless fury of Mussulmans, our whole country was torn with remorse for its own responsibility. It assumed last year to persuade the Cretans to lay down their arms, but the misfortunes which followed forbid us again to undertake such a task. Even had we attempted it our voice would have been only a feeble echo and would not have reached the Cretan people.

As autonomy would not fulfill the noble aim of the powers it is obvious what must be the situation of the unhappy island from today until the establishment of autonomy. If the powers persevere in their decisions in the face of the foregoing views, then the name of humanity, as well as in the interests of Crete, the pacifying of which is the unique object of the solicitude of the powers, we do not hesitate to appeal to them on the subject of another measure proposed by them, namely, the recall of our troops.

Indeed, if the presence of the foreign squadrons and the conviction that they prevent the landing of Turkish troops are deemed to render unnecessary the presence of the Greek fleet in Cretan waters, the presence of the Greek army in Crete is nevertheless shown to be desirable alike from sentiments of humanity and in the interest of a definite restoration of order.

Duty forbids us to abandon the Cretans to the mercy of Mussulman fanaticism and to the Turkish army, which always deliberately and intentionally has shared in the aggressive acts of the populace against the Christians. Moreover, if our own troops, which are worthy the fullest confidence of the powers, had received a mandate to pacify the island, their desires and intentions would have been promptly received with the most perfect satisfaction. The order being restored, it would be possible to ascertain the freely expressed desires of the Cretans for a decision as to their fate. The sorrows which have regularly recurred in Crete for many decades, not only profoundly agitate the Hellenic people, but interrupt also all social activity and gravely disturb our domestic economy and the finances of the state. Even if we admit the possibility of forgetting for a single instant our community with the Cretans in religion, race and blood, we could not in silence allow the great powers to assume that the Greek state is able longer to resist such shocks.

Therefore, we appeal to the generous sentiments animating the powers, and we beg them to permit the Cretan people themselves to declare how they desire to be governed.

(Signed) Skouzes.

On the text of the reply becoming known through the city the populace exhibited great excitement, and on all sides there was heated discussion of the consequences likely to follow.

The warship Hydra has already been recalled from Cretan waters, leaving only two small Greek vessels in that quarter. This is regarded as a virtual yielding to the powers so far as the fleet is concerned. It is held, however, that the powers cannot now shut the door against further negotiations. The cabinet, it is understood, was unanimous as to the terms of the reply, the text of which was the personal work of the king.

The offer to place the Greek forces in Crete under a foreign general indicates the readiness of the government to regard the forces as gen d'armie to assist the foreign marines in restoring order.

London Newspaper Opinions.

London, March 9.—Parliamentary papers have been issued containing the full text of the notes of the powers to Turkey and Greece. The first note to Turkey made no mention of the withdrawal of Turkish troops from Crete, but the second explained that the scheme of autonomy implied a progressive reduction of the Ottoman forces in the island, and that, therefore, after the Hellenic evacuation the Turkish troops must be withdrawn to the occupied towns.

The Daily News thinks that the reply furnishes a reasonable basis for further negotiations. It is stated that Admiral Canevaro of the Italian fleet, and in command of the combined squadrons, proposed as a first step in the event of a negative reply from Greece that all the powers should recall their ministers from Athens.

Probably it will be decided to enforce a peaceful blockade applying only to vessels under the Greek flag. These would not be confiscated, but detained only until the blockade was raised.

The Athens correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says he has high authority for the statement that the Greek representatives abroad have been instructed to inform the powers that Greece is prepared to recognize the temporary suzerainty of the sultan, to withdraw the Greek fleet completely from Cretan waters, and to place the Greek army under the command of any military representative of the powers senior in rank to Colonel Vassos for the sake of the restoration of order, provided the powers will ultimately consent to a Cretan plebiscite.

Much is hoped in the way of a solution of the difficulty from Lord Salisbury's visit to the queen and the influence the royal family and his relations upon King George.

The Times, in an editorial this morning on the reply of Greece to the powers, considers that she advances no convincing argument why they should not execute their threats of coercion.

Candamo Still Besieged.

Canea, March 9.—The report that the siege of Candamo had been raised is not confirmed. Great anxiety is expressed. The attempt of British Consul Biliotti to treat with the insurgent leaders there failed. They told him they would take orders from no one but Colonel Vassos.

There was a general feeling of alarm Sunday night lest the insurgents might attack Halepa, but the men-of-war flashed their search lights continually and nothing happened. It is rumored that the insurgents have attacked Candia, and that fighting is in progress outside the town.

The Canadian Ablegate.

Montreal, March 9.—The statement that an apostolic delegate was being sent to Canada by Rome in the person of Mgr. Rafaelle Merry Delval is confirmed by a private cablegram received here. Mgr. Rafaelle Merry Delval, who will be the first direct representative of the Vatican in Canada, is about 35 years of age. He is the eldest son of his excellency, Don Merry Delval, once Spanish ambassador at the Vatican, and is one of the four prelates who are constantly in attendance on the pope. He was brought up in England, having been born while his father was Spanish ambassador at the court of St. James His education was also obtained in England, where he spent nine years in a university. Mgr. Merry Delval at present holds the position of secretary of the commission for the union of dissentent churches, of which commission Cardinal Vaughan is a member. He is not a bishop, and in order to give him authority over the Canadian clergy it will be necessary to make him bishop and archbishop, as was done in the case of Mgr. Martinelli, the papal ablegate to the United States. Mgr. Merry Delval speaks English with great fluency, which is probably one of the reasons of his appointment.

More Filibustering Excitement.

Pensacola, Fla., March 9.—The filibustering excitement was revived here yesterday, when the cruiser Marblehead suddenly steamed into the harbor, and came to anchor near Montgomery. She came from the vicinity of Apalachicola, to take on coal, having an armed launch and crew there to keep watch until she returned. It is an open secret that the cars of arms and boats that left Jacksonville on Thursday arrived here. The cars were opened, and the contents could easily be seen. A body of Cubans went to Apalachicola, and it is known that a custom officer has gone from here to that port. The fact that the arms and surf boats were shipped here in open cars, and that the Cubans went in broad daylight to Apalachicola, leads the public to conclude that the whole movement was only a ruse to divert the attention of the officers from some other point on the coast where operations are being carried on. In addition to the war vessels, several men, supposed to be Pinkerton detectives, are here. No shore leaves are granted to the officers or men on the Marblehead or Montgomery, and it is impossible to learn anything of their future movements.

Religious Dress In Public Schools.

Albany, March 9.—An appeal has been filed with Superintendent of Public Instruction Charles R. Skinner, by residents of the city of Watervliet, from the action of the school board of Watervliet in refusing to issue an order compelling religious sisters, teaching in one of the public schools of that city, to discontinue the use of their religious garb while teaching in the school. This case was up last year, when Superintendent Skinner decided that it was unconstitutional for women to wear a religious garb while teaching in a public school.

Their names are in the paper every day. In the obituary column. The names of men killed by neglect of their health combined with overwork. They should serve as a warning to others who are fast following in their footsteps. No man can stand the strain of modern business competition who wilfully neglects his health. It is not good policy to overwork, but the man who looks after his health can stand a great deal of it. The man who neglects his health is soon unfitted for work. When a man's digestion is disordered and his bowels are irregular, his blood becomes impure and the body is badly nourished. The victim of these conditions suffers from brain fag, nervous prostration, and debility, and eventually falls a victim to consumption.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery corrects the digestion, invigorates the liver, improves the appetite and regulates the bowels. It is the best blood-purifier, blood-maker, flesh-builder, and nerve tonic. It makes a man well, strong, clear-headed and fit for business. It enables him to stand a reasonable amount of overwork. All good druggists sell it. There's nothing "just as good."

Chas. Faulhaber, of Brownlee, Cherry Co., Neb., writes: "I have used Dr. Pierce's medicines, especially the 'Golden Medical Discovery' with much benefit. Some time ago I was troubled with great distress in my arms and hands. It got so bad I could not sleep at night. I thought it was the muscles of my arms that caused the trouble. I began taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Soon I felt a decided improvement, and before I had taken the second bottle the aching was all gone, and it has not returned. I have a copy of your 'Common Sense Medical Adviser' and would not do without it for any money."

Knowing how to take care of health is half the battle against illness. Dr. Pierce's great book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser" is the education of the age. This book reached a sale of 680,000 copies at $1.50 each. Within its 1,008 pages is compressed the best that Dr. Pierce has gathered by study and practice in thirty years. It is illustrated with over 300 drawings, some of them colored. Its 90 pages addressed exclusively to women are worth the price of the original price of the book. A new edition in paper covers is now ready for free distribution. By sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay for mailing, you will receive this great book. For cloth binding, send 10 cents extra. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Cannon's Criticisms.

Washington, March 9.—Representative Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, in his review of appropriations of the Fifty-fourth congress, makes some rather caustic criticism of the executive branch of the government for the extravagance of the estimates submitted to the congress in the face of the deficiency in the treasury. He suggests a consolidation of some of the appriation bills as the most effective method of keeping down appropriations in the future.

Egg Factory Bursted.

Kingston, N. Y., March 9.—The Cunningham Manufacturing company of this city has been forced into the hands of a receiver by the heavy indebtedness stated to have been contracted in England by Robert N. Cunningham, its former president and originator. The company has been very successful in the manufacture and sale of an "egg food," or substitute for eggs.

SAVED FROM THE SURGEON'S KNIFE

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, Saves a Man From Becoming a Cripple.

Mr. Asa Ammons, a well-known citizen of Jacksonville, Florida, was afflicted by a terrible ulcer. Medical skill seemed unavailing in stopping the ravages of the terrible disease. The leg was swollen and intensely painful, as the ulcer had eaten its way down to the very bone. All medicines and treatments having failed to effect a cure, the doctors said the leg must come off. Just when it seemed that Mr. Ammons would become a disabled and a crippled man, he tried P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and the result was wonderful.

P. P. P. SAVES HIS LEG.

"Jacksonville, Fla., July 1, 1895.—Two years ago I had the worst ulcer on my leg I ever saw. It had eaten down to the bone, and my whole leg below my knee, and my foot was swollen and inflamed. The bone was swollen and painful, and discharged a most offensive matter. My physicians said I had necrosis of the bone, and my leg would have to come off. At this stage I commenced to take P. P. P. and to bathe my leg with hot castile soap suds. It began to improve at once and healed rapidly, and is to-day a sound and useful leg.

"I think P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is all a man could ask for as a blood purifier, as I have known it to cure so meterrible cases of blood poisoning in a remarkably short time.

"ASA AMMONS."

TERRIBLE BLOOD POISON.

The body covered with sores—two bottles of P. P. P. made a positive and permanent cure. This is only one of many thousand similar cases.

Catarrh yields at once to P. P. P. That smothered feeling at night, that heavy feeling in the day—can and should be removed; P. P. P. will do it if you only give it a chance.

Indigestion and constipation go hand in hand. Headaches and total loss of appetite are the results. Regulate yourself and tone up your stomach with P. P. P.

TO HANG ON JUNE 18.

Death Sentence Pronounced on Mate Thomas M. Bram.

He Declares, Before God, He Is Guiltless.

Prisoner Shows Remarkable Self Control During Ordeal.

Boston, March 10.—Sentence of death was passed yesterday afternoon on Thomas M. Bram, mate of the Herbert Fuller, for the murder of the captain of the barkentine, Charles I. Nash, on the high seas last July, and the time of execution was fixed for June 18 next.

After the sentence had been pronounced Bram said solemnly: "In the presence of Almighty God, I declare that I am innocent of this crime. God knows it, and will protect me."

The crowd that assembled to hear the last words of Judges Colt and Webb in this remarkable case was probably the largest at any time during the trial, not only filling the room and corridors of the United States circuit court, but the lower halls. Although it was composed of many women, it was a noisy and turbulent one, requiring the utmost efforts on the part of the officers to maintain even a semblance of quiet.

Then came an order to drive down stairs everybody in the hall, but this was only partly successful, because every hall and stairway was filled, and those who had obtained places of vantage refused to move, and the police appeared paralyzed on finding themselves so completely outnumbered. A narrow passageway was made through the crowd just large enough to allow of the prisoner and the officers guarding him to pass, when he was brought into the courtroom.

His counsel, who followed a few minutes later, met with so many obstructions that it seemed a question if they would get into the room, and the counsel from the district attorney's office met with similar obstacles. It was just 3 o'clock when Judges Colt and Webb took their places on the bench, and without delay the sentence was pronounced.

The scene was a very impressive one, and the prisoner maintained the same stolid and earnest appearance that has characterized him throughout the prolonged trial.

BAY STATE LECION OF HONOR.

Grand Council In Annual Session at the Hub.

Boston, March 10.—The 18th annual session of the grand council of Massachusetts, America Legion of Honor, is in session here with a good attendance. Grand Commander Fred O. Downes of Boston presides. In his address he reviews the work of last year. He says the councils in this jurisdiction have each been visited twice during the period, and that five new councils have been instituted.

During the year 1896, 191 new members were initiated, mostly during the first six months. Eight members of the grand council have died, including Past Grand Commander L. L. Tarbell, and Grand Secretary Jackson.

Grand Secretary Alice E. Jackson reports the membership as follows: Massachusetts, 3491; Maine, 160; New Hampshire, 114; Vermont, 59; Rhode Island, 236; total, 4060.

Grand Treasurer Charles H. Ramsay of Boston reported receipts amounting to $4,602.85, and payments of $5,486.48, leaving a balance, Feb. 1, 1897, of $1368.03.

Labor Trouble at New Britain.

New Britain, Conn., March 10.—The effort of the New Britain Knitting company to adjust matters with the 70 girls who went out on a strike Monday, owing to a cutdown of 5 per cent, has proved futile, and unless the strikers places can be filled at once it will be necessary to shut down the factory, which will throw over 125 other operatives out of employment. The company wishes to submit the matter to arbitration, but the strikers will not consent. According to their version they submitted to a 10 per cent cutdown some time ago, with the promise of having the reduction restored with the advent of better times. Many of the girls, it is alleged, could not make 60 cents a day on account of the short hours and unsteady work. Of late business has apparently improved, and the restoration of the old rates was looked for, but it is claimed by the members of the company that, owing to competition, the reduction was necessary in order that they may market the goods. The girls are determined not to return to work under the cut.

Mrs. Robert Treat Paine Dead.

Boston, March 10.—Mrs. Paine, wife of Robert Treat Paine, died yesterday at her home on Joy street, of pneumonia. Mrs. Paine, whose maiden name was Lydia Williams Lyman, was a daughter of George Williams Lyman, a son of Theodore Lyman, a distinguished Boston merchant at the beginning of the century. She was married to Mr. Paine in Boston, April 24, 1862. Mrs. Paine was interested, with her husband, in various philanthropic and charitable enterprises. She inherited a considerable fortune, and with Robert Treat Paine, in 1890, she created and endowed a trust fund of $200,000, called the Robert Treat Paine association. The fund is held under trust deeds to be carried on forever by the founders and their children. Mrs. Paine was also deeply interested in the work of the Wells Memorial association, of which her husband was the founder, and devoted her time and money freely to promoting other worthy charities.

Wool Continues Firm.

Boston, March 10.—Trade in the wool market continues good. Values hold on a firm basis, but it is difficult to make an advance in prices. The sale of territory wools foots up liberal on the scoured basis of 30 and 32 cents for fine medium and fine, while choice staple lots call for 34 and 35 cents. Fleece wools are quiet with prices steady. Buyers of Australian wools are laying by a liberal supply at firm prices.

The Stetson Case.

Boston, March 10.—The name of John Stetson, the late proprietor of the Globe treatre, who died last fall, and whose wife, Miss Kate Stokes, survived him but a short time, is before the public again on the claim of Adah Richmond, the well known actress, that she was his wife and that there was no divorce. She seeks to establish her right to the property left, and the case that opened before Judge Morton yesterday in the superior court promises to be full of interest, and may develop many sensational features. At the present stage of the proceedings nothing of moment has been brought to light, but there are indications that before the hearing closes the truth or falsehood of the claim will be established beyond a doubt. The lawyers engaged in the legal battle are men of prominence. Mr. R. M. Morse is looking after Adah Richmond's interests, and upon the other side is Colonel William A. Gaston.

Maine Legislature.

Augusta, Me. March 10.—In the senate yesterday, the bill for the extension of the charter of the Kittery and Portsmouth railroad company was taken from the table and passed to be engrossed. In the house, Mr. Burns of Westbrook presented an act to amend the insurance laws requiring assessment companies to label their policies in bold type, "Assessment plan." A resolve was presented in aid of the Maine Gettysburg commission for $750. The discussion of the state college resolve was spirited. Arguments in favor of it were made by Messrs. Talbot of Lewiston, Hamilton of Mattawamkeag, Andrews of Garland, Pattangall of Machias, Stetson of Bangor, and Hamilton of Biddeford. An attempt was made to cut the appropriation down to $10,000, and make the tuition $40 a year. It failed, and the resolve appropriating $25,000 was passed to be engrossed.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, March 10.—Mr. Estey of Boston created a sensation in the house yesterday by declaring that a petition, which he held in his hand, in favor of the Boston Elevated railroad, contained forged signatures, and intimated his belief that names on the voting lists are being copied on purported petitions fraudulently.

He stated that the petition, purporting to have been circulated in his district, contained the names of 80 citizens, and that he would be willing to guarantee that one-half of them were not written by or with the knowledge of those to whom they belong. "Among these I find my own name and the names of my brother and other members of my family. These are clearly fraudulent. The voting list of the district has been copied almost line for line, up one street and down another."

Charitable Bequests.

Worcester, Mass., March 10.—By the will of Mrs. Cornelia V. R. Thayer of Lancaster, widow of the late Nathaniel Thayer, nearly $200,000 is bequathed to charity. The larger amounts bestowed are $10,000 to the Perkins institution and Massachusetts school for the blind; $10,000 to the New England hospital for Women and Children; $10,000 for the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children; $10,000 to the Massachusetts Ear and Eye Infirmary; $10,000 to the Boston lying in hospital; $25,000 to the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church for Domestic Missions; $25,000 to the Massachusetts general hospital for free bed; $10,000 to trustees of Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

Poles Boycotted.

New Britain, Conn., March 10.—As the result of the recent arrest of several Poles residing here for counterfeiting, al the manufacturers have taken concerted action and given instructions to their foremen that any other nationality but Poles be given the preference whenever any vacancy occurs. There has been a considerable loss by theft among the various firms which could not be located, but with the arrest of the Polish counterfeiters it was shown that all the material used in their manufacture of the moulds and the spurious coins was stolen from the different factories in which the men were employed.

Municipal Elections In New Hampshire

Manchester, N. H., March 10. — Municipal elections were held in several towns and cities of this state yesterday. In nearly every case the Republican candidates were elected. The elections all passed off quietly, the vote being light.

WAR UNAVOIDABLE.

Believed That Grecian Army Will Soon Invade Turkish Territory.

King George's Reply Approved by His Constituents.

Sultan's Vessels Blockaded---Situation Serious at Canea.

Athens, March 10.—The general opinion here is that war against Turkey is unavoidable.

It is believed that the armed bands that have been sent out by the National league to different points in Epireus and Macedonia will give the signal for the struggle, and the Greek army on the frontier will then proceed to an invasion of Turkish territory.

The gunboats Action and Ambrayia, with the gun vessel Aphroessa, have been ordered to blockade the Gulf of Arta, in order to prevent the landing of Turkish troops.

The evening papers criticise favorably the government's reply to the note of the powers.

At Canea.

Canea, March 10.—The Greek vice consul and his staff and all the Greek newspaper correspondents, in obedience to Admiral Canevaro, have embarked for Greece.

The fighting between the insurgents and the cordon of Turkish troops drawn around Akrotiri has ceased, and the insurgents are now removing their camp with a view to avoiding a naval bombardment.

It has been ascertained by the foreign consuls at Candia that the report, formerly denied, of the massacre of 400 persons in villages in the Sitia district is correct.

The insurgents at Candamo, on hearing that autonomy would be granted to the island, wrote to the British consul, Sir Alfred Billiotti, inviting him to a conference.

All the Greek subjects at Retimo have been ordered to leave for Greece, and a man-of-war has been placed at their disposal.

These measures are incomprehensible here, the general impression being that war has been declared. At a meeting of the captains of the foreign warships on board H. M. S. Barfleur to discuss the question of shelling the position of the insurgents at Akrotiri, the Russian commander firmly declined to fire without first giving notice. Akrotiri is surrounded by rich monasteries, and it is believed that the Bashi Bazouks began their firing with a view to pillage.

London Dispatches.

London, March 10.—A dispatch to The Times from Canea says that each side accuses the other of beginning the combat at Akrotiri, but the truth seems to be that as soon as the insurgents began to advance the Turks began to fire. The captain of H. M. S. Barfleur had the insurgent leader brought on board by Greek officers from the gunboat Alpheos, and warned him that unless the insurgents retired to their former positions the necessary action would be taken to compel them.

The situation is very similar to that previous to the bombardment, but the fleets are anxious to avoid firing. Great precaution is necessary lest the insurgents should succeed in drawing the fire in order to make political capital out of the incident.

The Athens correspondent of The Times understands that a Greek squadron is blockading several Turkish vessels in the Ambracian gulf.

The Athens correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says: The kernel of the situation is the fact, inexplicable to everybody here, that Russia is pursuing Greece with terrible vindictiveness."

The reserves continue to arrive from the provinces, and the greatest enthusiasm is displayed. The full text of the Greek reply to the powers was not published in the Athens papers until last evening. It is generally approved.

The Ephemeris, the government organ, asserts that orders have been sent to Commodore Sachtouris to maintain the position of the Greek fleet in Cretan waters even though the powers threaten to use force, and that Prince George himself has visited Platania to instruct Colonel Vassos to remain where he is in the interior of the island.

This, however, conflicts with a report that Commodore Sachtouris, on board the Hydra, has already left Crete.

The government has formally protested to the powers against the expulsion of the Greek consul from Crete.

The Turkish garrison has repulsed an attack upon Hierapetra by 2000 Christians, who occupied stragetic points near the town.

The Greek torpedo flotilla, under command of Prince George, has been ordered to join the Eastern squadron of the Greek fleet.

In the house of commons yesterday Sir William Vernon Harcourt asked the government for a promise that the British forces should not be used against Greece before parliament had been consulted. Mr. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, declined to pledge the government to the course suggested by Sir William Vernon Harcourt, but said the ministers wished parliament to feel that they were acting with a full sense of their responsibility and in behalf of Cretan liberty and European peace.

Sir Charles Dilke invited Mr. Balfour to agree to make a statement on Thursday next with respect to the plans of the powers in view of the nature of the Greek reply.

To this Mr. Balfour answered that he did not think the negotiations would be far enough advanced to make such a statement practicable on Thursday.

Adams Academy Hare and Hound.

The second hare and hound run of the Adams Academy Athletic Association was held Tuesday afternoon. The hares, Hewitson and Boyd, led nine hounds a lively run of seven miles through marshy land to the pumping station, over Penn's hill to East Braintree, and across country home by way of Quincy Avenue. The start was made from the schoolhouse, the hares being sent away five minutes in advance of the hounds. The hounds made a very good chase, catching one hare about six miles from the start and finishing less than a minute behind the other hare. The actual time made by the hare was 50 minutes, 30 seconds, while the actual time of the first hound was 45 minutes, 45 seconds. Of the hounds Taylor, McCabe and McConarty were in the first bunch, finishing in the order named. The run aroused cousiderable interest along the line of the chase. A real hound at one point mistook the hounds for game and made things lively by grabbing at each as they passed.

Wollaston Yacht Club.

Last evening a special meeting of the Wollaston Yacht club was held at the residence of Vice Commodore A. T. Barstow, who presided.

The committee on building reported that the club house would be ready for occupancy, April 1st.

Four new members were admitted to the club, and a number of applications were made. The membership has now reached forty-five.

The club voted to join the Massachuetts yacht racing association, and to send Mr. Harold B. Faxon as delegate.

—From the figures prepared by the Railroad Gazette it appears that it is fully as safe to spend your life as a passenger on a railroad train as it is to live at home. During 1896 one passenger was killed for every 100,000,000 miles traveled, and this remarkable average would have been improved but for two or three big accidents where carloads of people were killed. In all there were but 128 passengers killed. There were 318 employes killed, an increase over the previous year, but as the mileage travelled was also increased the per cent of accidents to employes remains practically the same as in previous years.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers have recently perfected an ingenious cure for dyspepsia. Their Digestive Cordial consists of a food already digested and a digester of foods happily combined.

The importance of this invention will be appreciated when we realize what a proportion of the community are victims of some form of stomach troubles. Thousands of pale, thin people have little inclination to eat, and what they do eat causes them pain and distress.

This Digestive Cordial of the Shakers corrects any stomach derangement at once. It makes thin people plump. Every one will be greatly interested to read the little book which has been placed in the hands of druggists for free distribution.

BOARD OF TRADE.

An Effort Made to Put More Life Into Association.

Granite Manufacturers Present Plan to Help Industry.

A Grand Banquet to be Held at the Next Meeting.

The attendance at the meeting of the Board of Trade Tuesday evening was above the average. It was the second annual meeting and those present realized that if the association was to be a success it must be braced up. There was some plain talk along this line and several helpful suggestions offered.

Among those present were Mayor Adams, Secretary Dunphy, Representative Thompson, Clarence Burgin, Henry H. Faxon, George H. Brown, Councilman Parker, Horace E. Spear, John R. Graham, Frederick L. Jones, Councilman Swithin, John L. Miller, W. T. Shea, Andrew Milne, Alexander Marnock, James F. Burke, George H. Field, T. J. Collins and Frank F. Prescott.

The receipts by Treasurer Spear for the first year of the association were $215.00, and the disbursements $161.37 leaving $53.63 in the treasury. The expenditures included $5 for charter, $25 for professional services, $25 for membership in State Board of Trade, $15.12 for stamps and stationery, $2 for carriage hire, $15 to J. H. Crandon for lecture, F. Herbert Snow $50 for sewer talk, and $4 to T. J. Dumphy.

The suggestions for the advancement of the association included changes of by-laws, change of evening of meeting, a committee to prepare subjects for meetings, lower dues, etc.

It was the night for the annual election of officers, but upon motion of Councilman Parker election was deferred until the next meeting, and the following committee of five was appointed to report a list of officers: Theodore Parker, Clarence Burgin, George H. Brown, John Swithin and A. Marnock.

John L. Miller presented at length a scheme which some of the granite manufactures are considering, which will not only stimulate the Quincy granite business but secure for this city the profits of the middle men. General business throughout the country was dull, he said, but our granite industry was duller than other business and there was cause for it. As one of a committee of the Granite Manufacturers association, which was making a study of the situation, he found that a new element had crept into the granite business, —the jobber. In 1887 there were only three, but now he knew of thirty. They worked against Quincy granite, favoring the white granite because it was cheaper.

The committee recommended that a company be formed which should send out agents who should talk Quincy granite. That the company advertise Quincy granite, prepare designs, etc. Now Quincy granite was little known west of the Mississippi river, and it was misrepresented. Some inferior work in Quincy granite had been set up by the jobbers, and this was pointed to as an argument against Quincy granite.

It was estimated that at one time 3,000 men were employed in Quincy in the granite business, but now there were not 1,800. All local business men feel the loss, and Quincy must do something or the jobbers will soon have it all. Some Quincy manufacturers now depend entirely on jobbers.

A corporation should be established with at least $15,000 capital. It should have a manager, salesmen, draughtmen, etc. Two salesmen should bring in $200,000 worth of work per year. He estimated that the expense the first year would be $9,000. The product of Quincy would be increased 10 per cent. the first year, and 20 per cent. the second year. The corporation would sublet all orders to Quincy manufacturers.

Mr. Miller closed by reading the prospectus of the corporation.

Andrew Milne of Milne & Chalmers said this scheme had been talked of for a year or two. He was convinced that manufacturers would be surprised at the returns. Now the jobbers divided the territory, and he knew they advocated other granites in preference to Quincy.

Mr. Swithin of Swithin Bros. said that the designs which the jobbers carried also discriminated against Quincy granite, being more adapted to the white granite.

President Adams brought out some salient as to management, profit, etc.

Mr. Miller thought that the granite manufacturers interested would be content with small return from their stock, especially the first year. Believed a good manager could be secured.

Mr. Marnock believed other business men would get indirect re-turns.

Mr. Miller knew the World's fair exhibit had been a great benefit, and should have been followed up. He favored judicious advertising.

George H. Brown considered the scheme a good one, but thought it remained largely with the granite men themselves to combine.

Henry H. Faxon would prefer to manage his own business. Corporation proposed would be expensive.

George H. Field thought that the jobbers now had heavy expenses, but that they prospered.

President Adams said similar combinations had been successful.

Upon motion of Mr. Brown the following committee was appointed to confer with the committee of the Granite Manufacturers' Association relative to the formation of proposed corporation: John F. Merrill, Clarence Burgin, H. L. Kincaide, E. W. Sheppard and H. L. Rice.

George H. Field said he had noticed a criticism in the local daily of the work of the board of trade. Had we not established industries which had failed. Success in other places was occasionally noted but did not distance lend enchantment.

Henry H. Faxon would like to have the Board of Trade consider the ownership of the land about the First church, but no one seconded the motion.

It was voted that the meeting adjourn for two weeks, when the committee on the granite corporation is expected to report. It was voted that the committee on nominations arrange for a subscription banquet on that date.

Spring Medicine

Experience teaches the importance of special care of the health.

And fixed among the important principles of hygiene and health is the acknowledged necessity of a good Spring Medicine.

Just as firmly established by the experiences of millions of people, is the positive fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla is "far and away" the best blood purifier and spring medicine ever produced.

The necessity is found in the impure condition of the blood at this season, owing to the close confinement and breathing vitiated air in office, store, shop, house, schoolroom or factory; excessive eating and drinking too rich and hearty food; late hours and social indulgences. With the blood thus thick and impure, the machinery of life grinds hard.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, builds up and strengthens the nerves and tones the stomach. It oils up the machinery of the whole body; the liver takes up its work anew, the kidneys resume activity, the ache goes out of the back, the bowels are regulated, the appetite restored, the food is relished and assimilated.

Don't wait till you are thoroughly sick before you begin to take a Spring Medicine.

Lock the door before the horse is stolen.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now as a preventive and it will pay you a thousand fold in health and strength through the coming summer.

"We always take several bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family every spring as a tonic and blood purifier and we find that it overcomes that tired feeling gives new life, and keeps us well all summer." WM. RINGEL, 813 5th Ave., Peoria, Illinois.

Excellent Spring Medicine.

"For a number of years I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring, not for any particular ailment, but on general principle, that the system needs a tonic at this time, and I have always found Hood's Sarsaparilla a most excellent spring medicine." HAKON HAMMER, Engineer, Pottstown, Pennsylvania.

That Tired Feeling.

"I was troubled with that tired feeling all the spring. I purchased three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken about half of it I was feeling well again. I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be an excellent blood purifier and tonic." MISS ORA E. MORGAN, Busey, Illinois.

Builds up the Health.

"We take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a tonic in the spring. Two of our children had tonsilitis and their blood was in a bad condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla built them up, and we have taken it again this spring with much benefit." MRS. P. H. CAHOON, Pleasant Lake, Mass.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. There is no substitute for Hood's.

HAPPY FOUNDER'S DAY.

The Addition to the Woodward Institute Completed.

The Woodward is happy over the completion of the addition to the building, and the young ladies are more grateful than ever to Dr. Ebenezer Woodward, the founder. Founder's day will be observed in the new hall on Thursday evening, for which tickets have been issued.

The new addition is practically completed and the larger part of the new rooms are in use by the school, although some little remains to be done in the way of gas and electric fixtures and furnishing. These, however, will be completed by Thursday when the new part is thrown open for inspection.

Without exaggeration it can be truthfully said that no city or town possesses a better institute for girls, for its size, than this. The arrangement of the several rooms is almost perfect. They are high studed, light and airy and easy of access. They are finished in natural wood with tinted walls and slat shades at the windows.

The new addition to the building is about 75x77 feet, and in this part are six recitation rooms, gymnasium, library, principal's office, assistant's office, reception room, drawing room, and a study hall. Add to this the six recitation, the lecture and teachers' rooms in the old part, and it will be readily seen what an important factor in our educational system the Institute will become.

Quite a corps of instructors are required to carry on the Institute, the instructors and their special branch of the work being as follows:

Principal,—Miss Small.
Gymnasium,—Miss Blackwell.
Business,—Miss Burgess.
Science,—Miss Franklin.
German,—Miss Holmes.
English,—Miss Lance.
Art,—Miss Georgiana Lane.
Mathematics and history,—Miss Sarah Lane.
Music,—Miss Rice.
French,—Miss Walker.
Greek and Latin,—Miss Wilder.

The main entrance to the building is now in the new part from Hancock street. Three doors lead from an enclosed porch into a small corridor. From this corridor there is an entrance to a good sized hall, and at the right, to the private office of Miss Small. At the right of this private office is a reception room and a small room from which there is a private entrance from which a door also leads to the dressing room in the rear of the platform of the large study room.

There is also a door leading from Miss Small's office to the study room. A door also leads to the small room used as an assistant's office and this leads into the hall. From the hall a large double door leads into the study room and a smaller door into the library, which also has an entrance to the study room. Stairways both up and down also lead from this hall.

The study or assembly room is about 53x59 feet, and has a stage, 25x12. The acoustic properties of this large room are almost perfect and words spoken in an ordinary tone of voice are audible in any part of the room.

The library is one of the most inviting rooms in the building. This room is about 20x29 feet and one side has been given up to shelves for books.

In the basement there is a large room to be used as a gymnasium, its dimensions being about 23x53 feet and leading off from this is gymnasium dressing room. On the west side of the basement are three rooms which are known as physical, lecture and chemical laboratories. The physical and chemical rooms are fitted with all the appliances for making experiments, and also shelves, closets, tables, etc. In the lecture room is a long experimental table, the seats being arranged in tiers in the rear of the room so that all can readily see the experiments. These three rooms are about the same the dimensions being 20x22, 29x29 and 24x36.

On the second floor is a museum room about 10x12, a hall of the same size, and two class rooms about 20x46. Besides the rooms above mentioned there are numerous closets toilet rooms, etc. Every room in the building is connected with Miss Small's office with electric bells and speaking tubes.

The building is also piped for gas and wired for electric lights, 150 of the latter being provided.

—If the immigration bill becomes a law, Canada proposes to discharge all its American workmen. The Milford Journal thinks the strong probability is that the United States will still contrive to pull through in some way. Anyway there will be more work for Americans in the United States and the Canadians who come here every summer can stay at home and take the places of the Americans that Canada proposes to discharge.

On the morning of Feb. 20, 1895, I was sick with rheumatism, and lay in bed until May 21st, when I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application of it relieved me almost entirely from the pain and the second afforded complete relief. In a short time I was able to be up and about again.—A. T. MOREAUX, Luverne, Minn. DOINGS OF PUGILISTS.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons Decide to Do Less Hard Work From Now On.

Carson, March 10.—Corbett and Fitzsimmons have both decided to stop working as hard as heretofore, and from now on they will take only sufficient exercise to keep in their present fine condition. Charley White, Corbett's chief trainer, says Jim is in better condition than ever before, and he has only to remain so until the day of the fight.

"The way to train a man for a fight," said White, "is to keep him amused, if possible, and keep him liking the work. Now Corbett is so fond of work if we did not hold him back at times he would do too much. Jim is one of those fellows who always goes into things heart and soul, and he puts more nervous energy into his training than any man I have ever seen. When I say tire, I don't mean he would sulk and not care to do anything, but that he might lose relish for the work, and when once a man has lost that he has begun to go back in his training. At least that is my experience.

"Corbett is the lightest big man on his feet that I ever have seen," continued White. "I have seen Fitzsimmons in all his work, and I do not think he is as fast on his feet as Corbett, although Fitzsimmons has a side step which is as quick as lightning. Anybody who thinks Fitzsimmons is not fast on his feet is making a mistake, but at the same time he is not as fast as Corbett."

Fitzsimmons' wife is now with him, and she is as confident as he that he cannot lose on the 17th.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons took a journey around the ranch in the morning, to see where her husband had been doing his work, and expressed herself as being greatly pleased with all she saw. She said her husband was certain to win the fight.

"I never saw him look so well" she said, "and I know he will win the fight surely. He looks better to me than when he fought Maher the last time, and I think he could have won over Corbett at that time. He has a splendid place in which to train, and I think everything arranged in the best possible manner. Oh, Bob will win that fight all right; I know he will, and I am never mistaken in such things."

In the afternoon Fitzsimmons did a little work in the yard, and then punched the bag for half an hour. He did not spend much time at work, however, and soon returned to the house, where he put in the balance of the day playing with his small boy. Dan Stuart was on the street a couple of hours in the morning, and declares himself improving, although he is still very pale.

The arena is practically finished, and yesterday men were going through it with pots of black paint, marking out the seats, by which is meant, one man will be expected to seat himself on 18 inches of undressed lumber. The flooring is all in and everything is in place, with the exception of the press seats.

Filled Her Mouth With Plaster of Paris.

Cleveland, March 10.—Nellie A. Gilbert, wife of Dr. Frederick Gilbert, tells a remarkable story in a petition filed in court. The young woman has brought suit against her husband's father, Dr. G. H. Gilbert, for $30,000 damages for the alienation of her husband's affections, and for $20,000 for an assault. The alleged assault which she declares was committed by Dr. G. H. Gilbert consisted of filling her mouth with wet plaster of paris and permitting the substance to harden. She alleges that she was found by her brother in an unconscious condition with the plaster in her mouth, and it was necessary to use a hammer to break the plaster before it could be removed. The allegation as to the alienation of her husband's affections consists of a charge to the effect that Dr. G. H. Gilbert offered his son $40,000 and his practice if the latter would get rid of his wife.

Sues For $100,000 Damages.

Toronto, March 10.—Osler & McCarthy, barristers of this city, have been instructed by Sydney Slocum of Hamilton to enter suit against the United States government for $100,000 for false arrest and imprisonment. Slocum was arrested about a year ago and extradited on a charge of attempted murder at Peoria, Ills. He was tried and acquitted, after lingering in jail for several weeks. Before he left the court-room he was rearrested on a charge of sending obscene newspapers through the mails, the United States government officials being the complainants. After being incarcerated for 18 days he was discharged, as the judges ruled that he could not be tried on a charge other than the one he was extradited upon. Slocum was put to a big expense in fighting the case.

Could Not Run on Silver Platform.

Chicago, March 10.—A. S. Trude has withdrawn as a candidate for the Democratic mayoralty nomination. The announcement was made at a formal meeting of Democratic leaders. Mr. Trude made a statement bitterly attacking Governor Altgeld for forcing the silver issue into the municipal campaign. His withdrawal, he stated, was influenced by the fact that he could not run on a free silver platform, and should he be nominated on any other, a free silver Democrat would surely be put in nomination, causing a split in the party.

Against Long Distance Racing.

Springfield, Ills., March 10.—A bill has been introduced in the legislature by Representative Shannahan of Chicago, to prohibit continuous long distance bicycle racing. The bill is short and to the point. It prohibits any one from engaging in a bicycle race without a rest of six hours, following each 12 hours' racing. A penalty of a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $500, or from 30 days to a year in the county jail, is provided. The bill is the result of the protests against the alleged brutality of the recent six days' races.

Another Flood Imminent.

Cincinnati, March 10.—The Ohio and Licking valleys are again threatened with serious floods. Heavy rains the last two days have caused the rivers to rise rapidly and the danger of general inundation is very great. The Wabash, Missouri, Ohio, and Licking rivers are all up to danger points.

Mrs. Leslie Carter Ill.

Washington, March 10.—Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, is seriously ill here with acute laryngitis, brought on by the strain put upon her vocal cords. Mrs Carter's condition is such as to render it improbable that she will be able to appear in public for some time.

SENATE MEETS TODAY

Considerable Speculation Regarding Organization Combinations.

No Opposition to New Tariff Bill Is Expected.

Gossip Concerning Appointments Under New Regime and Other News.

Washington, March 10.—There were few vacant seats on the Republican side of the chamber when the senate met at noon today. There would have been none if the admonition of the Republican advisory committee was observed, for notices were sent by this committee to all the Republican senators asking them to be in their seats promptly upon convening.

The purpose of the notice could only be surmised by its recipients. They concluded, however, that it was connected in some way with the organization of the senate or with possible efforts that might be made to seat the gentlemen who have been appointed to the senate to fill the vacancies from the states of Oregon, Kentucky and Florida.

A rumor is current attributing to the Democrats, Silver Republicans and Populists an intention to try to secure control of the senate at a very early day. Circumstances which transpired after the notices were sent out will probably render them unnecessary. It is definitely understood by all senators that the contest over Oregon, which has been threatening for several days, shall not take place, and that the present situation shall be maintained; that the Republicans shall retain the control of the committees and the Democrats of the general offices. The formal agreement to this effect may be postponed for a few days, but the preliminaries were agreed upon by the representative men of all parties yesterday, and it looks now as if there would be no obstacle to the consummation of the agreement. This agreement is to be binding only during the present special session of the senate and the coming extra session of congress, it being understood that hostilities will break out again next December, when congress will convene in regular session.

The compact provides for the appointment of new senators to fill the vacancies caused by the retirement of their predecessors, and that Republicans shall be appointed in the places of retiring Republicans and Democrats in the places of retiring Democrats. This will give the Republicans the opportunity to fill all the vacancies of chairmanships. The most important of these are on the committees on foreign relations, naval affairs, privileges and elections and public lands. Senator Davis has already been placed at the head of the foreign committees. It is understood that Senator Shoup will succeed Mr. Davis as chairman of territories, and that Senator Hansbrough will go to public lands, and it is probable that Senator Hale will take naval affairs, and Senator Chandler privileges and elections. The two vacancies on the finance committee, occasioned by the retirement of Senators Sherman and Voorhees, will be filled by the appointment of a gold Republican to succeed Sherman, and a silver Democrat to take Voorhees' place.

The agreement also provides for the reference of the credentials of each of the senatorial appointees to the committee on privileges and elections, where it is understood they will not be disturbed until the regular session in December.

There are some members of the senate of all factions who oppose this program, but the conservatives, who generally control, appear to favor it.

WILL GO SLOW.

New Administration Will Not Use Spoils Ax on Subordinates.

Washington, March 10.—All of the officers of the new cabinet have indicated a purpose to go very slowly in their departments. This not very cheerful news to office seekers has been communicated directly to many of the aspirants who have been unable to repress their ambitions, and to add to their discomfort it is intimated in some quarters that there are to be a very few changes in office, save where the incumbent insists upon immediate retirement, for some time to come. This may be an overstatement of the conservatism exhibited by the administration, but it is recalled that Mr. McKinley, before his inauguration, held to the view that the change of officers, with all of its accompanying confusion and disarrangement of business, should not be undertaken until the tariff bill is enacted. This view is brought freshly to mind by the statement made that a prominent assistant secretary in one of the executive departments has been asked to remain in his place for five months.

It is expected that today John Hay will be named ambassador to Great Britain and L. Horace Porter of New York ambassador to Paris, and that there may be a few other nominations, including Powell Clayton of Arkansas as minister to Mexico.

One of the most important missions the president will have to fill will be that of minister to Spain. In view of the Cuban insurrection this post is one demanding the exercise of great tact and skill, and the indications are that Mr. McKinley will go very slowly and deliberately in changing our minister there. Few of the thousands of applications for office mention this post, which seems not to be in great demand, and it is certain that up to Sunday Mr. McKinley had no one in mind for it.

President McKinley has definitely settled upon J. H. Brigham of Ohio for assistant secretary of agriculture, and the nomination doubtless will be sent to the senate within a few days. Colonel Brigham is master of the National Grange. He is a war veteran, has figured considerably in Ohio politics, and is an old friend of the president.

A large number of candidates have entered the field for the commissionership of patents. Ex-Congressman Benjamin Butterworth of Ohio is being urged by most of the prominent Washington patent attorneys to fill the place which he has once occupied under a previous administration, but it is not known that he would take it. Charles A. Miller of Canton is a formidable candidate, and some of his friends claim his father, a well-known Ohioan, who died about the time of the election, was promised the appointment for the son. John A. Weidersheime, a Philadelphia attorney, is putting up a strong fight, and there are applicants scattered all through the country, including State Senator Robert M. Wilds of Illinois and N. L. Frothingham, assistant commissioner in the Harrison administration. Ex-Congressman Ryan of Kansas and Major William Warner of Missouri are the leading aspirants for the first assistant secretaryship of the interior.

It can be stated that no selection has yet been determined upon for commissioner of pensions. Major Theodore L. Poole, ex-congressman from the Syracuse district in New York, and the possessor of a splendid war record, and ex-Representative Pickler of South Dakota, are leading candidates. Ex-Congressman Binger Herrman of Oregon is said to be a certainty for either commissioner of the general land office or of Indian affairs.

Bimetallism Must Wait.

Washington, March 10.—The Evening Star says:

It is understood that the president will not appoint members of an international bimetallic conference commission or take any steps toward calling a conference until after the expiration of the special session of congress. The president has in mind a very comprehensive plan for dealing with the money question. It is understood that he will at first confine negotiations with foreign governments to the usual diplomatic agencies.

All ambassadors and ministers to foreign governments appointed by Mr. McKinley will be given special instructions to devote particular attention to bringing about friendly understanding of the monetary question. They are expected to assume an attitude friendly to bimetallism and to exert what influence they can toward inducing the countries to which they are accredited to give the matter serious consideration.

New Tariff Bill.

Washington, March 10.—Chairman Dingley of the ways and means committee says he expects the new tariff bill will be ready to introduce in the house very soon after congress assembles on the 15th. Speaking of the report that the law might provide that the duties assessed should go into effect immediately on the introduction of the bill, Mr. Dingley says that it would be impossible under our constitution to make a law retroactive. Duties, he said, must be assessed according to the law on the statute books at the time goods were imported. The law could provide that goods still in bond should pay the new duty if they had not been withdrawn from bond at the time the law went into effect.

Regarding Treaties.

Washington, March 10.—The extradition treaties with the Orange Free State and with the Argentine Republic, which were amended by the senate last session so as to be unacceptable to President Cleveland, are to be taken up by this administration. President Cleveland insisted on the retention in the treaties of clauses authorizing the delivery of the citizens of a nation to the other upon charges included in the treaty. The senate amended this so as to make it optional, but not necessary for the United States to surrender its own citizens. President Cleveland did not totally reject the amended treaties, but left their consummation to his successor, who will exchange ratifications.

Secretary Wilson's First Order.

Washington, March 10.—The first official order issued by Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture made its appearance yesterday. It concerns the exportation of beef to foreign countries, and provides "that from and after March 15, 1897, all beef offered for transportation to European ports, whether fresh, salted, canned, corned, or packed, being the meat of cattle killed after the passage of the act under which this order is made, shall be accompanied by a certificate issued by an inspector of this department, showing that the cattle from which it was produced were free from disease and the meat sound and wholesome.

Scovil to Be Released.

Washington, March 10.—Consul General Lee has cabled the state department that Sylvester Scovil, the American newspaper correspondent, who has been under arrest in Sancti Spiritus for several weeks, will be released. This action is taken as the result of strong representations this government has made in Scovil's behalf on the ground that he was in Cuba solely in a newspaper capacity and was in no sense a combatant or abettor of the insurrection.

Anti-Trust Scheme.

Harrisburg, March 10.—Senator C. L. Magee of Pittsburg has introduced a resolution in the legislature, providing that the "senators and representatives from Pennsylvania be requested to advocate the insertion in the new tariff bill of a provision empowering the president to waive duties upon dutiable articles in the schedule, when it was shown that the production and the sale of such articles were controlled or restricted by any pool, trust or corporation." The resolution was referred to the committee on federal resolutions.

Mrs. McKinley His Pupil.

Cherry Valley, N. Y. March 10.—John L. Sawyer, for the last 25 years editor of the Cherry Valley Gazette, died here yesterday. He was graduated from Trinity college in 1851. He was principal of the Delhi academy from 1853 to 1863, and during that time was said to have personally prepared more young men for college than any other instructor in the state. He was afterwards principal of the Cherry Valley academy, and later was recognized as the most popular institute conductor in the state. Many men, who have since become prominent in public life, received their education under him. Mrs. McKinley, wife of the present President of the United States, was one of his pupils.

James G. Blaine's Brother Dead.

Washington, March 10.—Robert G. Blaine, a brother of the late James G. Blaine, died last night at his residence in this city. He was 65 years of age, and leaves a wife and six children. Mr. Blaine has resided here for a number of years, and for some time was employed in one of the executive departments.

Big Gas Strike.

Syracuse, March 10.—Yesterday afternoon at Baldwinsville, Onondaga county, a big volume of gas was struck on the Wells place, at a depth of 1775. Gas experts estimate the pressure at from 1200 to 1400 pounds to the square inch. The supply will be used for fuel.

Mayor's Appointees Removed.

Lowell, Mass., March 10.—The aldermen last night followed the action of the common council, in removing the mayor's appointees. Republicans elected in concurrence: Chief of fire department, Edwin S. Hosmer; city messenger, Charles F. Going; city solicitor, Francis W. Qua; superintendent of street, George L. Fowler. In joint convention: City treasurer, Charles F. Coburn. The mayor's appointees for sealer of weights and measures, superintendent of lands and buildings, and city physician, survived.

Lynn Strikers.

Lynn, Mass., March 10.—The strikers of Williams, Clark & Co., held a meeting last night at Lasters' hall, and were addressed by Richard Barry of the state board of arbitration, and J. Harry Stiles of the Lynn Board of Trade, both of whom are endeavoring to have the matter settled. One hundred of the striking employes of the firm were present. The executive council of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union will meet on Friday evening to take action on the strike.

Alleged Bribers Held.

Lowell, Mass., March 10.—The bribery case, which in connection with the mixed state of affairs politically, caused such a sensation in this city, a fortnight ago, was tried in the police court yesterday, and as an outcome, Edward R. Donovan, the appointee of Mayor Courtney, to be city treasurer, his brother, James C. Donovan, and their council, Bernard Daniel O'Connell, were held, each, in heavy bonds for the grand jury, probable cause for their guilt being found.

Death of Captain George H. Hubbard.

Manchester, N. H., March 10.—After about five weeks of sickness, Captain George H. Hubbard, one of the best known men in Manchester, died yesterday. The cause of death was the grip, other complications following the attack of the disease. Captain Hubbard was born in Wilton, Oct. 5, 1830. Early in the rebellion he recruited a company of 100 men, which was assigned to the Tenth New Hampshire regiment.

In Memory of Lost Fishermen.

Gloucester, Mass., March 10.—The annual service in memory of the lost fishermen of Gloucester, 51 of whom gave up their lives in the year 1896, was held last evening in the City hall, under the direction of the Gloucester Relief association.

Murdered For Life Insurance.

Meridian, Miss., March 10.—Dr. W. H. Lipscomb, a prominent physician, and Guy Jack, a wealthy merchant of Scooba, have been indicted by the grand jury for the murder, by poisoning, of C. T. Stuart, for the purpose of obtaining $25,000 insurance on Stuart's life.

NEURALGIA BOUND HIM WITH BANDS OF PAIN

He is now Cured, and He Thanks God and P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, For It.

Mr. George Briggs, of Moore, Okla., suffered almost indescribable torment for three long years. Neuralgia held him captive. The right side of his face was so badly affected that the slightest touch would cause the unfortunate man intense agony. For several weeks he could open his mouth just wide enough to be fed with liquid nourishment, and in this manner life was sustained. Read the following extract from his letter: "Truth is stranger than Fiction."

NEURALGIA, CATARRH AND RHEUMATISM COMPLETELY CURED.

George Briggs, of Moore, Oklahoma, writes that P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him of catarrh, facial neuralgia and rheumatism, after three years of intense suffering. The pain lay in his cheek bone and temple, down the right side of his face, along his upper lip, and from the slightest touch he suffered agonies for weeks at a time. Could only open his mouth wide enough to admit a teaspoon, and any acid in his food would put him in torture. He had a consultation of the best physicians in Texas, but all to no purpose.

Catarrh and rheumatism were also causing him much trouble, until he tried P. P. P. He says he is well and will swear that there are no cases of neuralgia, catarrh and rheumatism, no matter how chronic or how old the cases are, that P. P. P. will not make a total cure of.

Mr. Briggs winds up his testimony by saying he thanks God and our medicine, P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, for the great cure.

Kidney troubles, if neglected, bring about serious and painful and very often fatal results. P. P. P. removes the irregularities, and cures the diseased parts.

Dyspepsia and indigestion, skin and blood diseases, can be speedily removed by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

Ladies, take P. P. P. and rid your face of pimples, blotches, freckles, yellow or muddy skin, wrinkles and vulgar redness.

Sold by all druggists.

ADJOURNED SINE DIE.

Special Session of United States Senate Brought to an End.

Busy Days at White House For President McKinley.

Report on Relative Taxes of Unimproved City and Farm Property.

Washington, March 11.—In the senate yesterday Senator Hoar gave notice of his intention to move two important amendments to the rules of the senate at the next daily session of that body. One of these authorizes the president of the senate to determine, presumably by counting, whether there is a quorum present, and requires him to make known his determination to the senate. Only in case he finds no quorum is he to order a rollcall. The present rule requires a rollcall as soon as the absence of a quorum is suggested, even though all the seats in the chamber are occupied. Mr. Hoar stated his purpose in offering this resolution to be to prevent the interruption of business by unnecessary rollcalls.

The other amendment proposed by Mr. Hoar provides for a modified cloture, and is the same introduced by him in the Fifty-third congress. It provides that after a question has been under debate in the senate for one day it shall be in order for a majority of the senate to order that debate shall be closed, except that thereafter each senator may be allowed to speak once and not exceeding an hour on the question in hand.

Mr. Hoar stated his object in offering this amendment to be to enable the senate to act upon pending legislation when it shall desire.

The session only lasted a few minutes, and the senate then adjourned sine die.

MANY WHITE HOUSE CALLERS.

Office Seekers and Friends Keep the President Engaged.

Washington, March 11.—The president's reception of the ambassadors and ministers was the notable event yesterday at the White House. The foreign representatives who had met by appointment at the state department and had been introduced to Secretary Sherman arrived at the White House in a body, and were shown to the blue room. They were in morning dress, and were unaccompanied by the ladies of the diplomatic circle. Secretary Sherman and Assistant Secretary Rockhill came with them to make the presentations. There were no formalities. The ambassadors and ministers grouped themselves easily in a circle about the room. To the right stood Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambassador and dean of the corps, and the ambassadors of France, Germany and Italy, with their numerous suites. The Turkish minister and his secretaries wore their fez caps, and the Chinese and Corean ministers were in robes of brilliant color.

The president advanced within the circle and greeted each foreign representative in turn with a cordial grasp of the hand.

After lunch the president received a delegation of 30 members of the Pennsylvania legislature, headed by Senator Penrose, who called in behalf of ex-Representative Robinson's candidacy to be assistant secretary of the navy. They were followed by a delegation of the Gridiron club, representing many leading newspapers, who invited the president to attend the club dinner the last Saturday in March.

Other callers were Senators Hanna, Foraker (O.), Lodge (Mass.), Carter (Mon.), Kyle (S. D.), Platt (Conn.), Mason (Ills.), and Captain Amos Allen, secretary of Speaker Reed, and many other prominent individuals.

Colonel John R. Mosby, the ex-confederate cavalry leader, was among those cordially received by President McKinley.

About 500 people were in line for the public reception at 3 o'clock. The late callers included Representative Hitt of Illinois, Senator Mason and General Stewart L. Woodford. The speaker and Mrs. Reed called on Mrs. McKinley during the afternoon.

The president had fixed 4:30 o'clock as the time for a walk, but just before then Chairman Dingley and Representative Grosvenor arrived. They were seen by the president in the diplomatic office, the conference being a protracted one. It was the first opportunity that had been offered on acquainting the president with the status of the tariff bill now well along toward completion. It was nearly 6 o'clock before the president started for his daily walk.

FARMS BEAR THE BURDEN.

Statistics Show That City Property Pays Lighter Taxes.

Washington, March 11.—Local taxation as affecting farms has been the subject of an investigation by the statistician of the department of agriculture, Henry Robinson, and a report just made covers more than 1100 farms in Chautauqua, Cattaraugus, Putnam and Westchester counties, in New York. The object of the investigation was to ascertain what the effect upon farmers' taxes would be if all but direct taxes were levied upon all land at its unimproved value, excluding from the valuation all buildings, fences and other improvements, and also excluding personal property, but including the land of towns and cities, as well as that of farms.

The statistics show that the unimproved value of the land of these farms is 39 per cent of the total value of all the real estate of these farms, including improvements, and that the unimproved value of city land is 58 per cent of the whole value of all city real estate. It is also demonstrated that city taxpayers pay a much smaller proportion of taxes on personal property than property owners do outside of cities. One conclusion is that in its practical operation the tax upon personal property always bears far more heavily upon farmers than it does upon the inhabitants of wealthy cities.

The report continues: "Supposing a state to exist in which the entire value of the real estate were equally divided between cities and farms. Then under the system of taxing real estate at its full value, if taxes for $1,000,000 were levied on real estate, the cities would pay $500,000 and the farms $500,000. But if the assessed value of real estate were in each case reduced to the actual value of the land, excluding buildings, improvements and cultivation, the cities would pay $597,000 and the farms would pay $403,000, making a reduction of 19.4 per cent in the burdens of the farm."

After McAdoo's Job.

Washington, March 11.—New candidates for the position of assistant secretary of the navy are continually presenting themselves. The post must be an exceedingly desirable one, judging from the numerous aspirants who are desirous of being the successor of Mr. McAdoo in the navy department. Another retired officer of the navy is seeking the appointment. He is Henry Clay Fisher of the marine corps, whose candidacy is being urged, it is said, by Vice President Hobart and the leading Republicans of New Jersey.

The formal candidacy of Cornelius Van Cott of New York city has just been announced. He is indorsed by Senator Platt and by the Republican state and city committee. It is claimed that he is a man of great executive ability, and that his administration of the office of postmaster of New York city was a signal success. The chances of Secretary Long recommending any one heretofore connected with the naval service are said to be exceedingly slim. It has been pointed out to the president and secretary that each of the several bureaus at the navy department is controlled by a naval officer, who is a specialist.

Gary Has Not Formulated Policy.

Washington, March 11.—Postmaster General Gary has not yet announced his policy regarding either presidential or fourth-class postmasters. He has been so overwhelmed with callers and with familiarizing himself with the scope and methods of the departments that he has had little opportunity to give the question of appointments consideration. Before he comes to a definite decision as to whether postmasters will be allowed to serve out their terms he will have a consultation with the president. Little doubt is entertained at the department that they will be allowed to serve out their terms save in exceptional cases, where circumstances may warrant early changes. Fourth-class postmasters are commissioned for four years, but are appointed to serve at the pleasure of the postmaster general. Some of them have been allowed to serve for 20 years without being disturbed. The general practice of recent administrations, however, has been to appoint their successors approximately at the end of four-year periods. The changes in these small offices, when once begun, are rapidly made.

Sewall Predicts Better Times.

New York, March 11.—Arthur Sewall, the late candidate for vice president, left this city yesterday on the Allianca for Panama. He was accompanied by his brother, Frank Sewall, and will visit San Francisco before he returns. Speaking on the business outlook before he left, Mr. Sewall said: "I think there will be an improvement, although there are not many favorable indications yet. But I think that better times are in store. Silver men respect President McKinley, and hope his administration will be a success. The new tariff measure will be quickly passed, and that ought to have a good effect almost immediately."

Seventh Will Go to Boston.

New York, March 11.—The officers of the Seventh regiment held a meeting at the armory last night and decided that the members of the regiment go to Boston on Decoration day. At that time the statue of Colonel George Gould Shaw will be unveiled. A committee was appointed, with Colonel Appleton as chairman, to make final arrangements for the trip.

Arthur Sewall Off For Panama.

New York, March 11.—Hon. Arthur Sewall of Maine, late candidate for the vice presidency on the regular Democratic ticket, sailed on the Alliance yesterday for Panama, on a pleasure trip. He is accompanied by his brother, Frank Sewall.

REFEREE SILER'S RULES

Interpretation of Laws Which Will Govern Big Prize Fight.

Pugilists Have Week to Practice on Changes.

Fighting In Clinches and Breakaways to Be Permitted.

Carson, Nev., March 11.—After weeks of wrangling, Referee Siler yesterday took the bull by the horns, and sent to Fitzsimmons and Corbett his interpretation of the Marquis of Queensberry rules. Neither Corbett or Fitzsimmons received the communication with any great manifestation of joy.

Siler's letter to the two principals in the big fight is as follows:

Carson City, Nev., March 10, 1897

James J. Corbett, Esq.
Robert Fitzsimmons, Esq.

Gentlemen:—Herewith I hand you each the rules of the Marquis of Queensberry, under the provisions of which you are to contest for the heavyweight championship of the world, in this city, on March 17, 1897.

Accompanying the rules, I hand you some suggestions and instructions. These are based on careful study, research, equity and fairness. You are the principals to what will be the greatest contest of modern times. You have both trained faithfully and assiduously. The principals, and the public, are alike engrossed to an extent never before made manifest in a like encounter.

While it is a departure to issue instructions to the combatants in a battle like this, a week in advance of the meeting, I think the importance of the affair fully warrants this move.

I am confident that you both want to win, solely and wholly on your merits. Neither of you can afford to have the slightest suspicion of doubt cloud the title which will belong to the victor. To that end I herewith hand you the rules and certain interpretations under which you are to battle.

A copy of the Marquis of Queensberry rules was sent with the letter, which continues as follows:

The first three rules need no comment, as they are plain, simple and understood by almost everybody. Rule 4, however, requires some analysis, as some of the points are often misconstrued. The rule says:

"If either man falls, through weakness or otherwise, he must get up, unassisted, 10 seconds to be allowed to do so, the other man, meanwhile, to return to his corner."

This of course was intended to prevent a man from standing over his fallen opponent; it probably never occurred to the framer of the rules that, at times, a man either falls or is knocked down in his opponent's corner. If, then, the man on his feet retires to his corner, as the rules direct, he will be standing over his fallen opponent, and doing just what the rules mean he shall not do.

To avoid all disputes on this score, I will simply instruct you, in case of a knockdown, to retire at least 10 feet from your fallen opponent, to give him an opportunity to rise.

Rule 12, which says: "The contest in all other respects to be governed by the revised rules of the London prize ring," is, I consider, one of the most important of the 12 rules, and appears to be the bone of contention in almost every contest. It has been the custom of referees, myself among them, to inquire of the principals whether they chose to hit in clinches, with one arm free, and also on breakaways. Invariably the principals agree not to hit in clinches or on breakaways, but they generally forget all about their agreement, and frequently violate it.

This, then, causes not only the seconds but the spectators to cry "foul" every time a blow is delivered in a clinch, or on a breakaway, and causes much trouble and argument. It also makes the duties of a referee arduous and disagreeable, and keeps him continually in hot water. Furthermore, it gives the referee an opportunity to determine a contest on a technical foul, which is generally unsatisfactory to everybody concerned. Neither of you, I am sure, desire to win the coming contest on a technicality, and to avoid any such contingency, through hitting in clinches with a free arm, and in breakaways, I will rule that you be permitted to hit in clinches, with one arm free, and also in breakaways. With this interpretation, this rule is announced a week before the contest. You will both have ample time to practice these important points, and will have no cause for complaint, should either of you be caught off his guard. Pivot blows, missing with either hand, and whipping back with the elbow, meeting an opponent with, or deliberately striking him with the elbow, on knees, are barred, and will be considered foul. Should any of the above blows have any material effect on the result of the contest, I shall use my judgment accordingly.

Should any of the seconds of either of the principals enter the ring during a round to render any assistance to the fighters, or to prevent them from committing a foul, or to throw water upon them, it shall be considered a foul.

Coaching by the seconds during the round is objectionable to everybody, and is apt to create discord and argument. Both of you have undoubtedly mapped out your plans of attack and defense, and need no advice from your respective seconds. The latter will, therefore, refrain from any comment during the contest. Trivial fouls may be unintentionally committed by either of you, which, unless they have a direct bearing on the result, will be overlooked by me at my discretion. This, I believe, covers all important points. Both of you are thoroughly familiar with the Marquis of Queensberry rules, not touched upon by me, and I hope to see you both live strictly up to them.

With a fair field, no favors, no prejudices, I remain,

Yours very truly,
Geo. Siler,
Referee.

"HO-DE-NO-SAU-NEE."

The Columbia Theatre Crowded at the Benefit Last Evening.

"Welcome "Ho-de-no-sau-nee" were conspicuous signs on either side of the stage at the Columbia Theatre, Boston, Wednesday evening, and there were flags and bunting decorations about the boxes. It was a benefit performance for Hodenosaunee tribe of Red Men of Wollaston, and all parts of Quincy were largely represented in the orchestra. "A Temperance Town," one of Hoyt's popular plays, was the attraction, and was much enjoyed. Some were doubtless disappointed not to see the promised Indian scenes, while there were no local hits which ought to have been worked in.

Boston Granite Strike.

The Boston Advertiser reports today that the granite manufacturers expect to play a trump card in the strike of the granite workers. They have arranged to put to work a large number of Italian granite cutters. These men have been secured in different parts of New England, and it is claimed arrived in Boston yesterday morning.

Nearly all of them will be put at work at Austin Ford & Son's yard in Cambridge and the experiment is to be watched by the other manufacturers.

There are a very large number of granite and marble cutters out of employment, it is claimed, and if the Italians do not answer the requirments men are to be brought from New York to take the strikers' places.

At Austin Ford's eight men were at work yesterday morning, and at Murray's and Bertsch's yards in Cambridge the yards have the full complement of men, and the manufacturers say that they are turning out as much work as is necessary.

A Race for a Widow.

A very humorous entertainment was highly enjoyed at the Universalist vestry last evening. The members of the Braintree Young People's Christian Union gave a pleasing drama: "A Race for a Widow."

The piece was full of lively incidents, which caused continuous merriment, and was very creditably performed by the following young men: G. A. Arnold, O. W. Hollis, J. E. Arnold, Everett Cain, Richard Moore, L. I. Spalding, Robert Land, Paul Nixon and A. M. Lang.

There were also readings by Mrs. Henry P. Furnald and Mrs. James M. Harris, and a solo by Miss Holton, which were much admired and received hearty encores.

ANNUAL BANQUET

Quincy Grocers' Association and Their Guests at Wilson's Hall.

The Quincy Grocers' Association held its sixth annual banquet, at Wilson's hall, Wednesday evening. It was also the night of the regular meeting of the Old Colony Association, which was also held in Quincy, the Old Colony Association being the guests of the Quincy Association.

The committee in charge of the affair was George H. Wilson, Lester M. Pratt, and John W. Nash, and in their hands it could not be other than a success as it certainly was.

The first part of the evening was devoted to the meeting of the Old Colony Association at which the Scituate and Cohasset association was admitted to membership to the Old Colony Association.

At the conclusion of this meeting those present were grouped in the centre of the hall and a flash light photograph of the gathering taken.

Joseph P. Prout, the president of the Quincy Association, then assumed charge, and after seats had been taken at the three tables that were arranged across the hall, and divine blessing had been invoked by Mr. Josephus Sampson, the order was given to fall too.

Those seated about the tables were:

G. P. Hutchinson, Lynn.
Frederick Humphrey, Hingham.
John F. Merrill.
Joseph P. Prout.
C. L. Keon, Abington.
Josephus Sampson, Braintree.
William Warmington.
Galen V. Bowditch.
C. W. Rice, East Weymouth.
Amos Humphrey, Hingham.
Arthur T. Faunce, North Abington.
W. C. Brett, North Abington.
Frank L. Clark, Rockland.
H. A. Chamberlin, Abington.
M. W. Lynch, East Weymouth.
T. J. Collins.
C. L. Hyde.
O A. Bridgham, South Braintree,
Thomas F. Raiche.
W. L Murdock, North Abington.
W. T. Paty, Abington.
George Prout.
J. K. Bean, East Weymouth.
Richard Prout.
L. S. Thompson, Weymouth Heights.
W. S. Sladen, Weymouth Heights.
C. W. Hollis, Braintree.
J. Marcus Arnold, Braintree.
G. S. Atwood, North Abington.
John A. Connell, East Weymouth.
J. L Greenwood, North Abington.
J. H. Armstrong, Boston.
Franklin Jacobs.
J. Edwin Glover.
E. Frank Mitchell.
E. J. Pitcher, South Weymouth.
George F. Turner.
Arthur W. Bartlett, North Weymouth.
Osborne Rogers.
Archibald F. McLeod.
George H. Wilson.
John W. Nash.
W. O. Collyer, North Weymouth.
S. F. Newcomb.
Robert Johnson.
J. W. Dennen.
George T. Magee.

The table before the feast commenced looked very inviting. A. E. Nash was the caterer and the menu which he provided was a tempting one as will be seen by the following:

Hot roast turkey, Cranberry sauce.
Roast chicken, jelly.
Sugar-cured ham, Beef tongue.
Lobster salad. Chicken salad.
Escalloped oysters, Providence River.
Raw oysters, select Providence River.
Celery. English pickles. Olives.
Saltine crackers. Cheese.
Plain and fancy cake in variety.
Vanilla and strawberry ice cream.
Frozen pudding. Roman punch.
Oranges. Malaga grapes. Bananas.
Coffee. Rolls.

At the conclusion of the banquet the Quincy trio composed of William Warmington, J. Edwin Glover and George F. Turner gave a pleasing selection entitled "The Light Melody."

Mr. George P. Hutchinson who is forming an association at Lynn similar to the Quincy Association, was called upon, and in a brief manner outlined what was being done in that city, and what it was hoped would be done in the future.

President Prout said Quincy grocers always looked forward to these gatherings with a great deal of pleasure as it afforded an opportunity for them to meet each other in social intercourse, and to have an exchange of ideas. Nearly all of Quincy's merchants were now members of the association. The Old Colony Association was the outgrowth of the Quincy Association.

President C. L. Keon of the Old Colony Association also spoke briefly of the Association work. He said an effort should be made to get in the smaller dealers who think they can do business better outside of the Association.

John F. Merrill spoke briefly of the history of the Quincy Association and its struggles for organization.

When the Association was formed nearly all of the Quincy grocers joined hands and agreed to abide by the rules. It was a mistake to start in with a small membership fee. When the Quincy Association started the fee was $50 per year. This sum was afterward reduced to $25 and then $10.

The Quincy Association is a success as it has gone beyond the experimental point, and was now on a settled basis. If there was anything that put life into an association it was such gatherings as these. He believed business would be better than it had been for the past year. We must hang together and continue our fight against dead beats.

Besides the remarks of the above gentlemen, Mr. J. Edwin Glover rendered tenor solos, entitled, "Sombody loved her in days gone by," and "Little Johny Dugan."

Mr. George F. Turner sang a base solo, entitled "Turnover," and the trio gave the following selections, entitled: "Rocked in the cradle of the deep," "Listen to my tale of woe," and "Honor the Lamb."

Mr. Thomas F. Raiche, of Wollaston, a pleasing elocutionist, gave two selections entitled "The Deeckite Snake," and "The Face on the Bar-room Floor."

It was the intention of President Prout to call upon others of those present for remarks, but owing to the lateness of the hour and the fact that the out of town people were obliged to take the late train, this was impossible. It was nearly midnight when the gathering adjourned, and it was with a unanimous sentiment that the sixth annual was the best yet.

Massachusetts Benefit.

There were some startling disclosures at a Legislative hearing Wednesdey relative to the Massachusetts Benefit Association. Hon. W. A. Simmons, the first vice president, said: "I was at the helm, and Mr. Litchfield was the pilot. The latter presided when the original policies were called in and the organization was absorbed by an indefensible process. The speaker would not palliate his own course, but said that H. B. Pierce, G. S. Merrill, C. D. Haldeman and himself believed when they went in that the result was to be cheap insurance for many Grand Army men, they being themselves veterans. Instead of that, he resumed, by the creation of an expense fund the profits went into the pockets of Mr. Litchfield and his associates. He pointed out further how in the new policies the word "benefit" was inserted before the word "member," except in the case of the nine directors, who were "active members." We smoked many a pipe together and congratulated ourselves that we were monarchs of all we surveyed. For 12 years I kept quiet because I believed good faith was being kept with my old Grand Army men.

Mr. Simmons read a letter from one of the incorporators which anticipated a profit of $30,000 to each of the active members in 1890.

Criticising the board he said that the country and members have confidence in C. D. Wright and C. S. Hamlin. Rolker is the assistant manager, he said. Backall is the confidential agent of Litchfield and E. S. Litchfield is his son. This meant that Litchfield had the board.

The "active members" of the association held a special meeting Wednesday and voted to strike out the word "active" from the bylaws the effect being to give equal right to vote for directors of the association to all policy holders, and also to carry the excess amount saved from expenses for the year to the credit of the mortuary fund.

Candle Pin Games.

Seven Candle pin league matches were rolled Wednesday night in the City League; the game in Quincy being between Quincy and Carruth, the home team being defeated as usual.

The Quincys started in well on the first string, which they won by six pins. If they had kept this up they might have won; but the Carruth, won the second string by 23 pins, giving them a net lead of 17 pins. The third string also went to Carruth, who captured it by 53 pins, giving them a total lead of 70 pins.

Atlantic loses this week two of its active and well known young men. Mr. Harry Parker of Atlantic street and Mr. Harold Moody of Billings street have gone to North Carolina to engage in business, and they will be much missed by their friends.

Now that a change will undoubtedly be made in the postmastership of Atlantic, the citizens much desire that it should go back to the old stand, and a long petition is in circulation asking that Mr. Thomas Gurney be appointed. He is the right man and no better or more central location could be found.

Master Edmund C. Wade, the young and promising son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund R. Wade of Atlantic, passed away Wednesday morning, after a long and painful illness. He was a bright and studious scholar in the Quincy school and much beloved by all his friends. Mr. and Mrs. Wade have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

Atlantic was well represented in a musical way at the fair held in the Quincy Point church, Tuesday evening. Miss Daisy Bemis rendered in a most pleasing manner a piano solo and the young ladies' quartette composed of Miss Moxon, Mrs. Frank Emery, Miss Coe and Miss Hall, gave some of their choice selections much to the delight of all present.

Basket Party.

Something like sixty couples participated in the basket party and dance held at Faxon hall, Wesdnesday evening to Quincy lodge, N. E. O. P.

Each lady was supposed to bring a basket in which were things good to eat. These baskets were so arranged that it was impossible to tell the owner until after it had been purchased.

Sprague's orchestra furnished music for dancing, which was from 8 to 12 o'clock.

Somewhere about 10 o'clock, during the intermission, the several baskets were auctioned off to the highest bidder. These baskets brought various prices, all the way from 20 to 60 cents, according to the attractiveness of the outside.

When all had been sold the gentlemen purchasers found the lady who had prepared the lunch, when the two would hie themselves to some secluded nook and enjoy their feast. This caused more or less merriment and served to make the evening pass all the more pleasantly.

The affair was certainly a success, so much so that a poverty party is to be given at an early date.

This Morning's Alarm.

The alarm from Box 52, at 12 40 this morning, was a false alarm, having been rung in by some scoundrel who secured a key from the break-glass box. The wheeling was unusually hard this morning, and it was wicked to put this uncalled-for work upon the horses of the department. Chief Williams is determined if possible to put a stop to such tampering with the wires, and as will be seen in another column has offered a reward of $100 for the evidence that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any parties tampering with the fire alarm wires.

Skunks Killed.

There were lively times in the vicinity of the Rambler's headquarters on Chestnut street this morning caused by the discovery of a skunk. Maj. Ford sighted the animal and directed the killing from a position of safety in the rear. Sharpshooter Morris, armed with Col. King's fowling piece, shot around the corner of a barrel and killed the animal. An hour later a second skunk was discovered, but was not as easily killed as the first. Three shots were fired into his body and that not killing him, Walter Hersey fired eleven more shots at the fellow. He still lived and it was only when Prof. Burns came to the rescue with a pick-axe that the second skunk was killed.

The Fair.

On Tuesday evening, the second night of the fair at the Washington street Congregational church, the entertainment was managed by Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Pollard. The Ladies' Quartette from Atlantic, Master Ferguson the boy soloist, and Miss Sadie Smith, reader, were the talent. A full house greeted them.

Wednesday evening, everyone turned out to see the "Carnival of Nations," and their loud applause showed their appreciation. Much credit is due the committee, Mrs. Turk and Mrs. Eaton for the success of the entertainment. Tonight the hearers are promised a musical treat.

Quincy Shoe Company.

A number of the employes of the Quincy Shoe Company called upon Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Drake at their new home on Edison street, Wednesday evening, and presented him with a Morris chair, the presentation speech being made by Mr. William Kiernan.

Mr. Drake was thoroughly surprised but thanked them one and all for their beautiful gift.

The remainder of the evening was passed in a social manner with music, etc. A lunch was served bsfore the guests departed.

The Unity Club.

The Unity club will have another fine programme Friday evening in the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church as the following literary and musical talent will indicate:

"The Revolution" by Mr. Bishop, "Madam Roland" by Dr. Record, "Chateaubriand" by Miss Thayer. The club will be favored by Dr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Rice, and Mrs. Page who will sing, and Miss Tingley who will recite.

The Young Men of the Quincy City Council.

Councilman Field at the State House Today

Against the Proposed Amendment of the Sewer Act.

The proposed amendment to the Quincy sewer act was heard at the State House this morning by the Committee on Drainage. The following citizens were present: Mayor Adams, President Bryant of the City Council, City Solicitor Blackmur, Representatives Thompson and Newcomb, Councilmen Pinkham and Field, ex-Senator Merrill, ex-Representatives Graham and Federhen, Engineer Branch, Frank F. Prescott and others.

Representative Thompson briefly outlined the petition, and introduced Mayor Adams, who requested City Solicitor Blackmur to present the case.

Mr. Blackmur said the act of 1895 authorized an expenditure of $400,000. That the act had been hurried through the Legislature and less attention paid to the method of payment than the outlet. That $60,000 had been appropriated and contract awarded under it before it was discovered that the debt did not mature according to the act which required proportionate annual payments. Letters of Storey & Thorndike were read, giving opinion as to the illegality of the order passed, and also the one for $150,000 proposed. The amendments to the act were in the words suggested by Storey & Thorndike. He would have the City Council decide the amount which should mature each year. The request was not unusual, and recent acts were cited calling for annual payments.

Engineer Branch represented the Sewer Commissioners. He said contract for pipe had been awarded, and plans were ready to proceed with work.

When the remonstrants were called Councilman J. Q. A. Field arose. He said the Council or committee had not seen the letters of Storey & Thorndike read. He was in favor of annual proportionate payments. Laws for towns and cities differed and it was well. Town meetings were safer than city councils, and the taxpayers in towns had direct representation. City Councils were often unexperienced. In Quincy the Councils had loaded the next few years. The sewer act had been put through by young men without proper consideration. There was danger that the new City Council would not apportion payments to avoid burdens. He believed in sinking funds in cases like this. Mr. Field contended that the hearing was not sufficiently advertised, not appearing in paper until the day before.

Mayor Adams had no disposition, he said, to put the bill through without proper notice, but he doubted if there would have more present on a longer notice. He doubted if this was the place to fix when the notes should mature. The Legislature should not interfere with payments by cities. They could properly be left with the City Councils. The feeling in Quincy was against sinking funds.

After further informal discussion the hearing closed at 11.35.

STATE TICKET NOMINATED.

Rhode Island Democratic Convention Held at Providence.

Providence, March 11. — The Democratic state convention was held yesterday for the nomination of general officers to be voted for at the state election on Wednesday, April 7.

Ex-Mayor George W. Greene of Woonsocket was elected permanent chairman and secretary. John E. Conley of the state central committee was made secretary of the convention.

The following candidates were nominated without any opposition: For governor, Daniel T. Church of Tiverton; for lieutenant governor, Fayette Bartlett of Burrillville; for secretary of state, Miles A. McNamee of Providence; for attorney general, George T. Brown of Providence; for general treasurer, Edmund Walker of South Kingston.

As none of the candidates were present there was no speech making. Of the 218 delegates elected, only 114 were present, and several towns were without representatives. The proposition to reduce the membership of the state central committee from 50 to 15 was defeated.

New Hampshire Legislature.

Concord, N. H., March 11.—The senate yesterday passed the house joint resolution appropriating $8100 for the state college; a bill extending the list of securities in which investments of savings banks may be made; a bill to give boards of education power in erection of school houses, and a bill to provide for proper care of streets and highways. The bill allowing selectmen and county commissioners to lay out highways for use a portion of the year only was killed. The house passed bills regulating licensing and registration of physicians and surgeons, and preventing the taking of ice for domestic purposes from polluted sources. It killed bills making terms of office of county commissioners six years instead of two, and making equal the share of parent and child in the estate of a parent deceased with one child surviving. The bill authorizing the appointment of a commission to draft a statute embodying the principles of Torren's system of land transfer was referred to the attorney general with instructions to report to the next session of the legislature.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, March 11.—In the house yesterday, Speaker Bates saved the municipal suffrage bill, giving women qualified to vote for members of the school committee the right to vote on the liquor license question, from rejection. When the matter came to a vote, there was a tie on the rollcall, and the clerk, therefore, called the name of Speaker Bates, who voted for the bill, and against the adverse report, so the measure will go into the orders of the day for today. The senate killed the bill for the promotion of anatomical science. The senate ordered to a third reading the bill regulating the transportation of liquors into no-license towns. A bill was substituted for the adverse report on exempting 250-room hotels from the 400-foot schoolhouse law. Governor Wolcott sent in two vetoes, one on the bill for the so-called protection of birds and game, and another of the bill to protect the estates of deceased persons from the prosecution of fraudulent claims.

Yale Crew Ducked Again.

New Haven, March 11.—For the second time this season the Yale crew have been compelled to take to the water. This time they were two miles out in the harbor, when the barge began to ship the choppy swell that was running. It was very fortunate that the real state of affairs was realized in time, for the crew was rowing over the two-mile course on time and would have been swamped a good distance from shore had not Coxswain Clarke headed the boat for shore. As it was some of the men were compellel to swim to the beach so that the boat would not swamp. The others then waded ashore and carried the barge with them. It was found impossible to row back with sweaters and heavy jerseys thoroughly soaked, so a house nearby was visited and permission obtained to dry their drenched clothing. When dry once more they launched their shell and continued the afternoon's work.

Boston Gets L. A. W. Meet.

Boston, March 11.—The annual spring meet of the Massachusetts division of the L. A. W. will be held in this city on May 31. The matter was decided upon at the meeting of the consuls last night, and $1500 was appropriated to defray expenses. Chief Consul Tippett, in his report, spoke of the increase in the number of local consuls from 152 to 208. The membership of the league in this state also shows a gratifying increase. The treasurer's report showed a healthy condition of finances, while the transportation committee reported adjustments of claims for damages against some of the New England railroads. Other divisions in New England will be invited to attend the May meet.

Adah Richmond Attacked.

Boston, March 11.—The Stetson will case was replete in incidents yesterday. Adah Richmond-Stetson finished her testimony and her case closed. Lawyer Gaston opened for the executors of Stetson's will. He gave a detailed history of Adah Richmond's life, beginning with the statement that her birth name was Bridget Sullivan. He then proceeded to state that the appellant had lived with several men at different times in her career. He did not deny that Stetson lived with her. Stetson had a habit of living with women whom he did not marry. It was denied that Stetson ever married Adah Richmond.

Diphtheria Epidemic at Ansonia.

Ansonia, Conn., March 11.—The diphtheria epidemic which has prevailed here for the past several weeks has assumed such alarming proportions that the Ansonia board of health has determined to resort to stringent measures to check its spread. A great many deaths have occurred, and at present there are 11 cases in the city. The board of health, at a meeting last evening to consider the situation, decided to place a strict quarantine on all the houses where the disease exists, and officers will be detailed for duty to each house for the entire 24 hours of every day the quarantine lasts.

Bailiff Sent to Jail.

Boston, March 11.—John Harrington, the special court baliff in the United States court, who sent a note to Juror Booth during the Bram trial, has been sentenced to 20 days in jail for contempt of court, for his action.

HIS OLD COMRADES.

He Advises Them to Take Puritana and Be Well.

PURITANA has cured chronic cases of many years' standing. It has cured after everything else has failed. It has cured sufferers from heart trouble, nervous prostration, headaches, insomnia, malaria, grip, coughs, gastritis, catarrh, and poor blood, as well as indigestion and dyspepsia.

Many proofs of Puritana's curing power have been printed in the newspapers, but one of the strongest proofs is the fact that the demand for Puritana is constantly increasing. The success of Puritana rests on real merit, which is shown in hundreds of cases like the following:—

Mr. L. Hebert, who now lives at 1 Coral street, has been a resident of Worcester ever since the war. For most of this period he has been engaged in active business, and therefore has built up a wide acquaintance among Worcester people, who will read with interest the following statement:

"I commenced using Puritana last April, when my stomach was in such bad shape that I could eat nothing but a little malted milk. At that time I could not eat meat, vegetables, or even bread of any kind. Before I got through with the first bottle of Puritana I had begun to eat regular meals and the condition of my stomach was much improved. My bowels were also much better.

"When I finally left off using Puritana I could eat anything, even pudding, and my health was all right. As I am a New Hampshire man, I know about all the Crosby doctors, and that first gave me confidence in Puritana. Since using it I have recommended Puritana to a number of people and know it to be a great remedy for stomach troubles. I would recommend it especially to any one who has dyspepsia. I am an old soldier, and I want to advise my old comrades who are run down and have indigestion to take Puritana. I believe it would do them good.

(Signed) "L. HEBERT,
"Worcester, Mass."

Muscle Oil Testimony

THE PITCHER OF THE SALEM BASE BALL CLUB SPEAKS:—

DANVERS, July 3, 1894.

Muscle Oil Co.:—
Gentlemen:—I used your Muscle Oil for a severe rupture of the tendons caused by a hitch kick. It not only relieved the pain, stiffness and soreness, but strengthened and hardened the muscles. I cheerfully recommend to all ball players and other persons in need of such a liniment. Yours respectfully,
ERNEST C. MAINS,
Pitcher of the Salem Base Ball Club.

Your druggist knows all about the wonderful magic in Muscle Oil for rheumatism and all muscular ailments.

GUY'S COLISEUM, - QUINCY,

For Three Years He Suffered — Could Hardly Breathe at Night—One Nostril Closed for Ten Years.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of De Leon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the night's coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him.

DE LEON, TEXAS.

Messrs. Lippman Bros., Savannah, Ga.:

GENTS: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily.

I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night.

I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.

Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY.

THE STATE OF TEXAS, } ss.
County of Comanche, }

Before the undersigned authority, on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine, is true.

A. M. RAMSEY.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this August 4th, 1891.

J. M. LAMBERT, N. P.,
Comanche County, Texas.

MUSSULMANS RESCUED

Residents of Besieged City of Candamo Taken to Place of Safety.

Insurgents Knew Nothing of Powers' Orders.

Ex-Commodore Reineck Failed to Deliver Instructions to Leaders.

London, March 11.—A Daily Chronicle dispatch from Athens says that Greece has 60,000 men on the frontier, and that the Turkish and Greek troops are very close together in places. At Arta, the Turks hold one end of the bridge and the Greeks the other. A Greek general recently, while inspecting the frontier, accidently entered Turkish territory, and was captured by the Ottoman patrol, but was eventually rescued by his troops. The situation on the frontier is a dangerous one, and little would be required to set the country ablaze.

The Times publishes a dispatch from Canea which states that during an interview with one of the officials of Candamo he said the insurgents threw 200 shells into the town and fort. The ammunition and bread supplies were exhausted, but the flesh food was plentiful. The garrison lost 13 killed and 25 wounded. The British consul, Sir Alfred Billiotti, came first alone and then sent for a rescue party, which arrived on Tuesday and stayed six hours below the town.

The insurgents entered and pillaged the town before all the Mohammedans had gone.

At Selino, during the embarkation, the insurgents who had followed assumed a menacing attitude and set fire to the town. The marines were ordered to fire a volley in the air, and an Italian vessel fired a shell in order to drive the insurgents back from the shore.

Captain Rainier of H. M. S. Rodney reports that the insurgents acted fairly at Candamo, but that an armed rabble followed the refugees to the coast and tried to rush into Selino. Although the rescue party had been 12 hours on the march, it was obliged to form a cordon across the neck of the peninsula during embarkation. They were fired on and they replied. Some anxiety was felt by Sir Alfred Billiotti, and the rest of the refugees who are at Trinacria will be assisted by the Tyne and a Turkish steamer that has returned to fetch them.

The foreign admirals had a conference with the insurgents at Akrotiri yesterday. It was learned that ex-Commodore Reineck of the Greek navy had never imparted to the chiefs the proclamation of the admirals forbidding them to attack the towns, although he had accepted a commission to do so.

A dispatch to The Times from Canea says it turns out that the British and Italian transports which made their appearance suddenly at this port yesterday morning are not as was then believed, British and Italian vessels loaded with troops, but only vessels bringing food supplies and refugees. It is reported that the Turks plundered abandoned Christian houses at Selino, Retimo and Candia. There is no confirmation of the report that two Italian volunteers have been killed at Kierepetra by shells from an Italian cruiser during the recent fighting.

It is rumored that the troops of Colonel Vassos in the interior are suffering from hunger and have been reduced to a diet of biscuit and oranges.

Canea, March 11.—The Mussulmans were brought here yesterday from Candamo on board an Italian warship with the greatest difficulty and danger. Candamo is situated in a valley surrounded by forts occupied by 10,000 insurgents. The European force sent to the rescue of the Mussulmans there besieged was commanded by British and French officers. The insurgents searched the Mussulmans and took their arms from them before they were allowed to depart. In all 523 men, 1047 women and children and 452 Turkish soldiers were taken to the coast and embarked on board of foreign vessels.

Fire Aboard Cruiser New York.

New York, March 11.—Fire invaded the forward magazine of the cruiser New York Tuesday. Captain W. S. Schley was on the bridge. Admiral Bunce was in his cabin, 600 officers and men were at their stations. The vessel had been lying off Tompkinsville, but the anchor had been raised, and the New York was on her way to the Brooklyn navy yard. The forward magazine is beneath the forward turret, and is surrounded by coal bunkers. In the magazine were 2000 pounds of gun cotton and 6000 pounds of powder. The coal bunkers were filled with water and the flames extinguished.

Mysterious Shooting.

Chicago, March 11.—A bullet was sent through Mrs. Catherine E. Bragg's head as she lay in bed yesterday. Her adopted daughter, Josephine, was sleeping with her, but did not hear the shot. Mystery surrounds the shooting. The police are inclined to think Mrs. Bragg attempted to committ suicide. They arrested the adopted daughter. Mrs Bragg made a will some time ago, leaving nearly $50,000 to this daughter. Mrs Bragg may recover. She is the widow of Frederick A. Bragg, a brother of General Bragg of Wisconsin.

Nominated by Governor Cooke.

Hartford, March 11.—Governor Cooke has sent to the senate the nominations of Professor William H. Brewer of Yale university and Ralph S. Goodwin of Thomaston to be members of the state board of health for six years; Theron F. Platt of Newtown to be member of the state board of agriculture for four years, and William B. Sprague to fill out the unexpired term of ex-Governor Hyde, deceased, as a member of the state board of agriculture, and to succeed the membership for four years after July 1.

Puritan Disabled.

Norfolk, March 11.—The United States monitor Puritan, which left Charleston last Friday and encountered heavy weather all the way up the coast, is now in Raleigh bay, near Durant's lifesaving station, North Carolina, in a disabled condition, and the cruiser Columbia has gone to her assistance.

Eva Ballington Booth Ill.

Toronto, March 11.—Miss Eva Ballington Booth, commander of the Salvation Army forces in Canada, is dangerously ill, and her recovery is doubtful.

SAVED BY FRIENDS.

Trusted Bookkeeper Granted Immunity From Prosecution For Embezzlement.

Newburyport, Mass., March 11.—The trusted bookkeeper of the Merchants' National bank, Percy Dame, has left town, after confessing to the embezzlement of $7620 of the funds of the bank, which amount has since been made good by his friends. The shortage was discovered two weeks ago, during Dame's absence from the bank on account of illness. Dame began to abstract the funds from the bank in 1884, when he took $100, crediting the depositor, who had placed $200 in the bank, with a like amount. As he had sole charge of all the books, he was enabled to cover up the shortage by constant vigilance and transfers of different accounts. Dame entered the bank 20 years ago, when he was 18 years of age.

He said that not a cent had been spent in speculation or gambling, but in his regular living expenses. It is known, however, that during the past four years he has been living apart from his wife, but has continued to support her by giving her $20 per week.

After confessing to his guilt, Dame immediately set to work to make good the amount, under a promise of the bank officials that if the cash was forthcoming no prosecution would follow. His friends came to his assistance, and last Friday the last cent of the shortage was made good. True to their promise the bank officers did nothing toward placing the matter in the courts, and Dame finding himself free, and his account with the bank straight, immediately left Newburyport for parts unknown. He has a father, who was for many years a prominent politician in this part of Essex county, who now resides in California, and it is thought that Dame is now on his way to the Pacific coast.

Train Over Embankment.

Princeton, Ind., March 11.—One of the worst railroad wrecks that has occurred in this vicinity for many years happened yesterday to the Chicago and Nashville limited, southbound over the Evansville and Terre Haute railroad, one mile north of Hazleton. The train was made up of engine 94, in charge of Engineer John K. McCutcheon, and Joseph Bowman, fireman; a combination baggage and mail car, smoker, ladies' coach and one sleeper. The engine went over the embankment, falling a distance of 15 feet, into six feet of water. The smoker was telescoped by the baggage car, and the ladies' coach and sleeper remained on the track. Engineer McCutcheon says he was running 25 miles an hour, and when he approached the washout saw nothing but a very small hole. The engine passed over it and went down the embankment. All the passengers in the smoker were supposed to have been killed. Four persons besides Conductor Sears were seen in the smoker as it broke loose, rolled down the embankment and floated off with the current. Harry J. Hill, the baggageman, was the only member of the train crew who escaped unhurt.

Efficient Officer Resigns.

New York, March 11.—The officials in the federal building are surprised to learn that George R. Bagg, who, since Sept. 10, 1894, has been in charge of the secret service bureau of this district, has resigned, and that George W. Hazen, a brother of William P. Hazen, the national chief of the secret service, has been chosen to temporarily fill the vacancy. Mr. Bagg became a government detective in 1886, after his admission to the bar, and up to his resignation devoted himself to the trapping of counterfeiters. His record was so excellent that three years ago he was placed in charge of the force of this district, which covers nearly all of this state, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts. Since then he has made a number of notable captures. He arrested old Brockway, Dr. Bradford, Emanuel Ninger, the "Penandink" Falls bill maker, Nicola Tarona, and a dozen gangs of spurious bills and coin manufacturers. Chief Bagg's resignation was sent to the secretary of the treasury on March 1.

Decision Against Iasigi.

New York, March 11.—Judge Addison Brown of the United States district court has dismissed the writ of habeas corpus and certiorari sworn out by Frederick R. Coudert on behalf of Philip A. Iasigi, Turkish consul general at Boston, who was arrested in this city a few weeks ago, charged with embezzling over $100,000. Lawyer Coudert's contention was that the state authorities had no jurisdiction in the case of a representative of a foreign government, and that if the prisoner was guilty of any offense he could be tried only by the federal courts.

Insurgents Near Sancti Spiritus.

Havana, March 11.—The insurgent forces in the district of Sancti Spiritus are especially active. This is due to Captain General Weyler having ordered all Spanish forces to take the field. The city is empty of troops, and is guarded by volunteers only. Large groups of insurgents are gathering around the outskirts, and the forts are being fired on. The residents are in daily fear that the insurgents will invade the city and burn the houses. Communication with the seaport, Las Tunas, has been cut off.

Possible Candidate For America Cup.

London, March 11.—There is reason to believe that if the racing cutter, which is being built for Charles Day Rose, of Penitent fame, proves successful in her contests with the Prince of Wales Britannia and Emperor William's Meteor, Mr. Rose will issue a challenge this year to race for the America's cup during the yachting season of 1898.

Fred Grant's House to Let.

New York, March 11.—For the past week a "to let" sign has been displayed on Police Commissioner Grant's handsome house at 25 East Sixty-second street. This is regarded by many of the commissioner's friends as an indication that he has received or been promised a federal appointment.

Died at Whist Party.

Lewiston, Me., March 11.—Mrs. Augusta Hall Walker, aged 60, wife of Postmaster Walker of this city, was attending a whist party at the home of Mrs. Blackden, and in the midst of gayety, on the way to the dining room, she sank unconscious and died in an hour from apoplexy.

Ex-Secretary Herbert In New York.

New York, March 11.—Hilary A. Herbert, ex-secretary of the navy, is at the Waldorf hotel. He came over from Washington on law business, and expects to return in a few days. The ex-secretary will practice law in Washington, although his home is in Alabama.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

ALMANAC, THURSDAY, MARCH 11.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

Thomas P. Nugent, shoemaker at Lynn, Mass., committed suicide.

Harrier & Sockell's shoe factory at Belleville, Ont., burned yesterday. Loss, $50,000.

John Murphy, aged 20, attempted to board a moving train at Providence and was killed.

Difficulty is expected in obtaining a jury at Montpelier, Vt., to try the Marsh murder case.

There is practically no change in strike affairs at Williams & Clark's shoe factory at Lynn, Mass.

John Brown, aged 15, of Biddeford, Me., has been arrested for forging his father's name.

J. Pierrepont Morgan will sail for London next week, to be absent probably a month or six weeks.

The plant of the Russell Counter company, Woburn, Mass., has shut down on account of slack business. About 250 employes are out.

Carter Harrison will have no opposition in the Chicago Democratic convention, for the nomination for mayor. He carried the primaries with ease.

George L. White of Westboro, Mass., has been nominated by the Republicans to fill the vacancy in the legislature caused by the death of Representative B. A. Nourse.

It is believed that tramps were responsible for the dastardly attempt to wreck the Boston express near Stamford, Conn., Tuesday morning. On Monday a band of the "roaders" were at a tramp rendezvous, which is near the place where the scattered ties were found. Since then all tramps have disappeared.

The state prison at Wethersfield, Conn., now has confined 436 convicts, the greatest number in the history of the prison. There are but 432 cells in the prison, outside of the women's department, and no more prisoners can be admitted until the present number of inmates is reduced. All prisoners who now receive state prison sentences will be kept in jail until there is room for them at Wethersfield.

Italians to Be Employed.

Boston, March 11.—As the result of the granite cutters' strike, the granite manufacturers have arranged to put at work a large number of Italian cutters. If the Italians do not answer the requirements, men are to be brought from New York to take the strikers' places.

Gas Explodes In Sewer.

Boston, March 11.—The cover of a manhole, near the corner of Tremont and Castle streets, was blown off yesterday. The explosion was due to a leakage of gas, which occurred in the conduit of the New England Telephone company. No one was hurt.

Russia's Offer to Servia.

Belgrade, Servia, March 11.—Russia has offered to lend the Servian government 120,000 magazine rifles. The government has not yet accepted, as the military authorities desire to secure rifles of the latest pattern.

Women nowadays are learning that it pays to be healthy, that it pays to be strong. Weak women make bad wives and worse mothers. A woman need not necessarily become an athlete in order to fit herself for the duties of wifehood and motherhood. If she will obey common sense rules of health, and be sure that the organs that constitute her womanhood are always healthy and strong, she will be a capable and healthy wife and mother. The best medicine for the treatment of weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It is the discovery of a regularly graduated physician—an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. There are on file at that institution letters of over 90,000 women testifying to the marvelous merits of the "Favorite Prescription." It acts directly on the organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It smoothes the way to almost pangless maternity. It insures healthy children. All good druggists sell it.

Mrs. H. F. Reynolds, of North Fenton, Broome Co., N. Y., writes: "I thought I would write you a few lines as I have been taking your medicine and using it in my family. I have just taken another bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' and it has done me lots of good. I think it is a grand medicine."

The newly-wedded wife, above all other women, needs a good medical book. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser fills this want. It contains over 1000 pages and 300 illustrations. Several chapters are devoted to the physiology of the organs distinctly feminine. Send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy, paper-covered. If a cloth binding is wanted, send 10 cents extra (31 cents in all).

FOREIGN MINISTERS.

Four Principal Appointments Decided Upon by President McKinley.

Colonel John Hay to England; General Porter to France;

Hon. William F. Draper to Italy and Ex-Governor Merriam to Germany.

Washington, March 12.—General Draper of Massachusetts will be an ambassador, and probably to Italy. The authority for this statement is President McKinley himself, who has made it, practically in these terms. General Draper desires to go to Germany, and it is possible that he may get the ambassadorship to Germany yet, but the probabilities are that he will have to content himself with the ambassadorship to Italy.

GENERAL HORACE PORTER.

President McKinley promised the Massachusetts senators, while he was still at Canton, that General Draper should have an ambassadorship, although he did not say at that time which one it would be.

Now that the ambassadorship to England is filled with Colonel John Hay, and the ambassadorship to France with General Horace Porter, President McKinley has become more definite, and has indicated that General Draper will be sent as ambassador to Rome.

COLONEL JOHN HAY

These four nominations are regarded as settled beyond further question, yet after 20 years of public service the president never considers a thing done until the last step has been taken, and these two nominations will be considered open until the papers are sent to the senate. The tendencies toward Governor Merriam for the German mission and ex-Representative Draper for Italy are regarded by persons well informed as so strong that little doubt remains as to their being on the list sent to the senate

GOVERNOR W. R. MERRIAM.

There is strong reason to believe that John A. Logan, Jr., whose name has been prominently mentioned in connection with the mission to Austria-Hungary, will not receive that appointment. It is understood also that considerable doubt has arisen within the last few days as to the appointment of Bellamy Storer as assistant secretary of state.

OUTLOOK FOR NEW TARIFF.

Some Delay Will Be Experienced In Passing New Bill.

Washington, March 12.—The Republican caucus committee of the senate was in session again yesterday considering the organization of the senate. The committee is yet quite a distance from an agreement, and it may be decided to make no attempt to reorganize the committees for the present.

The tariff situation is giving the Republicans some concern. They feel sure that their bill can pass, but it is now believed that the debate is going to be extended in the senate. It is known that the intention of the Democrats is to talk on every subject in the bill. The delay is regarded by some Democrats as good party policy. After the schedules of the bill become known it is believed there will be a great increase of importations in order to take advantage of duties under the lower rates. After the new bill goes into effect there will be a suspension of imports for several months and a consequent falling off in receipts, and the bill, which was designed to increase the revenues, they say as a matter of fact, will show a decrease. This view is taken by quite a number of Democrats, who say that it is their policy to have the bill passed, but not until after it has been thoroughly discussed. Without an active majority in the senate the Republicans will not be able to hurry the measure along. The Silver Republicans ate as possible. This has not been done, nor was it expected by the senators.

At present the only definite part of the program of the Republican senators is to bring the tariff bill before the senate as soon as possible and pass it with all possible speed.

MASSACHUSETTS' SHARE.

State Can Expect No More Appointments From President McKinley.

Washington, March 12.—Massachusetts will get no other office here than the secretaryship of the navy, which Governor Long holds, and no other office abroad than the ambassadorship to Italy, which General Draper will have, and the consul generalship to London, which will go to William McKinley Osborne, except a few consulates. President McKinley holds that Massachusetts will have her full share of consideration when the last of the three important offices mentioned is filled, and has stated that she need expect nothing else.

Colonel Albert Clarke, who was the only Massachusetts man that was passed for a prominent place here, will not be made assistant secretary of the treasury, nor will any other Massachusetts man be appointed to office, here or abroad, beside General Draper and Mr. Osborne, except those who may be sent by and by to consulates.

These appointments will be made on the recommendations of the Massachusetts senators, who have received 50 or 60 applications, from which they have made no selections as yet. It is understood that Mr. Milo A. Jewett, who was kept through the Cleveland administration as consul at Siyas, Turkey, will be recommended for retention under the present administration, and that similar action will be taken in the case of John Fowler at Chefoo in China, and also that Mr. Gracey is to return as consul to Foo Chow, but beyond these nothing has been determined.

Appointed Senators Will Not Be Seated.

Washington, March 12.—As a result of the several senatorial conferences which have been held, not only by Republicans, but by the Democrats, it may be definitely said that the senators who have been appointed by the governors in states where legislatures have had an opportunity to elect, but failed to do so, will not be admitted. The Republican managers say that it would be a fruitless waste of time to bring the cases before the senate, as even after a debate, of which no one could predict the ending, it is not at all likely that a favorable vote could be expected. The men who come to Washington with appointments from the governors will be advised that time cannot be given to a discussion of their cases, and that the legislatures which have failed to elect must be responsible for the vacancies in the states' representation.

Mother McKinley Goes Home.

Washington, March 12.—After a week's stay at the White House, Mother McKinley and Miss Helen McKinley, the president's sister, left the city last night for their home in Canton. Mrs. Saxton, sister of the president, and Mrs. Barber, sister of Mrs. McKinley, remain at the White House.

Altgeld's Slate Unbroken.

Chicago, March 12.—Carter Harrison, Jr., was nominated for mayor by acclamation, in the Democratic city convention yesterday. The other nominations are: Ernst Hummel, city treasurer; William Joefler, city clerk, and Miles J. Devine, city attorney. The platform ends as follows: "The Democratic party, although recognizing that the issues of this campaign are purely local, and not national, cannot refrain from paying its tribute to that magnificent leader, William J. Bryan, and that popular and efficient governor, John P. Altgeld, for the valuable services which they have rendered to the cause of humanity and Democracy." In no particular, in making the nominations, was there the slightest deviation, by the convention from the Altgeld slate, as prepared 24 hours in advance of the proceedings.

PEACE MEETING STAMPEDED.

Resolutions Indorsing Arbitration Treaty Were Not Passed.

New York, March 12.—Opposition—strong and insistent—raised its head last night at Cooper Union at a notable mass meeting, called to urge upon the United States senate the ratification of the arbitration treaty with England.

Bishop Potter, Seth Low, Charles S. Fairchild, Samuel Gompers, Mayor Strong and others eminent in various walks in life had made fervent speeches in favor of the treaty, and the meeting bade fair to earn a place in history as a remarkable demonstration in favor of peace of the world, when Civil Justice Wanhope Lynn turned it into an equally remarkable demonstration of another kind by presenting a set of carefully worded amendments, making an inflammatory speech against England, and inspiring fully half of an audience that had assembled for peace with an emotional fervor that led them to clamor for war.

PRESIDENT SETH LOW.

Up to the time that Judge Lynn came forward the audience mildly approved of the sentiments expressed by Bishop Potter, Mayor Strong, President Low and ex-Secretary Charles S. Fairchild. But in a few minutes after the civil justice had secured the floor, three-fourths of the audience had declared their opposition to the ratification of the treaty.

At the conclusion of President Low's speech in favor of the arbitration treaty, Judge Wauhope Lynn arose and asked permission to speak, and launched into a bitter attack on England, which the audience applauded loudly. He said:

"Tonight the Greeks are defending their humble brothers, when England, with arms and guns, is forcing that unfortunate people into bondage under the Turk by coercion. [Applause]. This is a treaty with a government that has permitted the Armenians to be slaughtered by thousands [applause]: a treaty with a country that has broken every obligation and violated every pledge of honor she ever made." [Great applause].

Judge Lynn offered an amendment requesting the senate to reject the treaty, and declaring:

"We respectfully submit to the senate of the United States that the recent history and the present international relations of England justify the belief that she is not acting in good faith as a friend of peace, but is simply seeking a free hand and the moral support of the United States in policies and enterprises of which the American people strongly disapprove—proof of which is supplied by the action of her naval forces in aiding the Turks against the Christian people of Crete and the preparations notoriously on foot for a war of subjugation against the free Dutch people of South Africa." [Great applause].

At the conclusion of Judge Lynn's speech the audience was in a state of great excitement. Applause and hisses intermingled with arguments between those in favor of arbitration and its opponents, who sat side by side on the benches. When order had been partially restored President Seth Low arose and took Judge Lynn sharply to task for making such a speech at a meeting of the friends of arbitration. Mr. Low was hissed. The chairman called on former Congressman Warner, who spoke for a few minutes, but was finally unable to proceed any further on account of the confusion, which developed almost into pandemonium. The meeting then dispersed.

Endeavorer Trustees Meet.

Boston, March 12.—The trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor held their quarterly meeting in the society offices in this city yesterday. A provisional program for the San Francisco convention next July was submitted and considered. The report of General Secretary Baer was the principal item of business. It told of the unabated progress of the Christian Endeavor movement in this and other lands, dwelling especially on the success that has attended the labors of President Clark in his present tour of Europe and India. The present enrolment of Christian Endeavor societies as given by Mr. Baer is 48,305, with a membership of 2,800,000. Especially interesting news comes from Dr. Clark concerning his experience in India. The Church of England, the Methodist church and the Baptist church, as well as the other denominations, all have Christian Endeavor societies in their missions.

Atlantic Postmastership.

The excitment at Atlantic is over the postmastership now held by John A. Duggan. The post-office was started in Atlantic by Thomas Gurney who originally brought the mail from Neponset and delivered the letters on his grocery teams. A fourth class office was finally established and located in Mr. Gurney's store where it remained until three years ago, when an enterprising Democrat thought he saw a fortune in the office and it was taken away from Mr. Gurney and moved to Duggan's block near the depot. Daniel C. Lyons, the postmaster, however, soon found that there was not as much money in the office as many believed and as a result he resigned and John A. Duggan was appointed. The people of Atlantic in general objected to the office being moved to its present location but it had no effect.

There is a new President now and it will not be for the want of trying if that little office does not go back to the neighborhood from where it started. Both Mr. Gurney and Mr. Small of Timberlake & Small would like to add the title P. M. to their name and petitions in favor of each of the above gentlemen are in circulation. Both are being largely signed and it is a shake up who will get the office.

School Attendance.

The report of the public schools of Quincy for the month ending Feb. 26 is given below. The whole number of different pupils for February was 4,152. Most of the absences were due to measles, one case in a family shutting out all the children of the family for three weeks. The Gridley Bryant had the best per cent. of attendance, and the John Hancock the fewest tardinesses.

FOUNDER'S DAY.

A Pleasing Programme at the Woodward Institute.

On the Anniversary of the Birth of Quincy's Benefactor.

The New Addition Inspected and Admired by Hundreds.

The 106th anniversary of the birth of Dr. Ebenezer Woodward, who endowed the Woodward Institute, was observed at the school Thursday evening, and was the first public gathering in the hall of the new addition. There was an assembly of about 600 including people interested in education, parents and friends.

The programme at 7.30 included music, physical culture exercises, a poem and remarks. The school rendered two choruses, there were two numbers by double trios, and two selected choruses.

The singing seemed to need a few male voices, although we are often told the boys don't sing. When not there they seem to be missed.

The poem for Founder's day written by Miss F. C. Lance and recited by Helen H. Claflin was one of the best features of the evening.

The Swedish gymnastics, preparatory fencing and club swinging by the young ladies, however, interested all, who were pleased at the introduction of these exercises into every day school life.

Miss Small presided graciously and the first speaker was Mayor Adams. After a few facetious remarks over his introduction he alluded to the growth of the fund from $70,000 to $300,000; to the law suit over the fund and the trouble over securing a building large enough for the needs of the school. As managers of the fund we simply turn over to the reverend gentlemen the income with our blessing. Dr. Woodward gave the fruit of his life's work for the education of our young ladies, and all should go forth with loyalty to the school, as the prosperity and life of the school depends upon the spirit with which you avail yourself of its advantages.

Rev. W. R. Breed deplored the fact that only Quincy born girls could attend and made other criticisms of the will, which divided the responsibility between two boards. But we are proud of the character of the school, and those who have enjoyed its advantages have felt its benefits. He paid a worthy tribute to Miss Small, the principal, and alluded to the good work of Rev. Edward Norton, Rev. H. A. Philbrook and Rev. A. F. Roche at the start. The Woodward should not duplicate the public schools, but go beyond. Thus far the school had been a growth, but had almost reached a permanent schedule. It was a school to develop the personality of the pupils.

Rev. E. C. Butler spoke happily of the parsons and those fellows at City Hall who managed the finances. When disputes arose between the boards the ministers were of course in the right. The effort of the school was to educate; not to fill the mind with intellect, but to stimulate the mind to grasp things in the future. It had been going only a little while but was succeeding admirably. Referring to Dr. Woodward, he said he knew of no better way to leave money than to found a school. His epitaph should be written in the heart of all those who attend the school.

After the exercises all were invited to inspect the building, and all seemed surprised at the amount of room and the admirable arrangements, and congratulated teachers and pupils thereon.

Gourds vs. Willards.

The Willards came down from West Quincy Thursday evening and met the Gourd team at candle pins. The Willards won the first string by 20 pins, and led by 17 pins at the close of the second, but the Gourd team made a grand rally on the final, putting up a string of 415 and won the match by 22 pins. Clements was high on singles, and Boutin on totals.

A Gunning Story.

Al Williams and a certain distinguished councilman from the Fifth ward went down to the gunning stand on Adams' beach a few days ago for ducks. For convenience we will refer to the councilman as Speaker Reed, and as Al Williams was not the hero of this story, he will not care if his name is used.

Some time ago Speaker Reed bought a couple of very heavy breechloading fowling pieces, weighing about fifteen pounds each, for duck shooting. These guns will take a charge of something like seven one-half drams of powder and six ounces of shot in each barrel. That charge is about all that a good robust man cares to stand up to.

To go back to our story. Al and his councilman friend arrived at the stand, and lo, in the offing, near Half Moon, there were four black ducks bobbing serenely up and down on the choppy waves. They were enjoying themselves hugely, little thinking of what fun there was in store for them on the beach.

"Here Sporty" says Al, affectionately patting his Spaniel on his head, "that a good doggy, now go and play on the beach," and Sporty wagged his tail knowingly, looked up into Al's bronzed face, and winking one eye at him started off with a bound for the shore. Sporty is a bright dog and has brought as many ducks to their untimely deaths by "tolling them in" as any dog on the coast. So Sporty put in some good work, running up and down the beach, barking and cutting up all sorts of queer antics. The ducks began to grow interested in his lively pantomimic performance. Pretty soon the old drake cocked his head to one side and seemed to say to his chums, "Let's go in there and see what that funny dog is trying to celebrate." Sporty's efforts to please his feathered audience redoubled and the ducks drew near the shore.

Let us shift the scene to the inside of the stand where two excited men were crouching, each telling the other in suppressed whispers to "keep your shirt on; and don't fire until you can knock 'em all over."

"Al," says Speaker Reed, "gimme that big gun and shove in a couple of shells."

Al passed over the big gun with both barrels heavily charged.

"Now then, steady there" whispered Al, as the birds neared the beach, "let 'em have it."

There was an explosion that sounded as though a powder magazine had blown up. Simultaneously with the explosion a black object shot into the air and over behind a fence in the rear of the stand. It was our friend from the Fifth ward. He had accidentally fired both barrels at once, fifteen drams of powder and twelve ounces of shot.

The four ducks gave a surprised look, turned about, wagged their little tails and flew away toward Boston Lights.

Mayor Quincy to Speak.

The Quincy Board of Trade is fortunate in having secured Hon. Josiah Quincy, the Mayor of Boston, to speak at the annual banquet to be held Tuesday evening, Mar. 23. The banquet will be served at 6 P. M., in the new Savings Bank hall, and after the speeches the annual election of officers will take place.

A force of men are busy at work at the Quincy & Boston power house setting up a new 1000 horse power double Brown engine. This is by far the largest engine in the city, and will be used to run the new plant of the company to be put in, while the engines and generators now in use will be held in reserve in case of accident to the main plant.

A successful pound party and sociable was given at the Wollaston Congregational church on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Benevolent society. After the supper Mr. Charles E. Snow acted as auctioneer and sold off all of the pound packages, netting a good sum. The committee consisted of Mrs. H. T. Whitman, Mrs. Stephen B. Wiley, Jr., Mrs. W. H. Brasee, Mrs. D. B. Lincoln, Mrs. Wm. S. Sayward, Mrs. Albert H. Sayward, and Mrs. James H. Penniman.

The piles of old London bridge, driven 800 years before, were found to be in good condition when the new bridge was erected in 1859.

In the United States a driver of horses sits on the right and turns his team in that direction, in England the national custom is the reverse.

SCARCITY OF MONEY.

MANY PARTS OF SOUTH AND WEST HAVE NO MONEY.

Business Conducted by Barter—A Remarkable Speech by W. E. Dodge—Tells New York Chamber of Commerce What Caused Bryan's Big Vote—A Bad Currency System—Farmers Have Real Grievances—Must Be Attended to Before 1900.

Mr. W. E. Dodge, one of New York's most enterprising and philanthropic business men, was a delegate from the New York chamber of commerce to the business men's sound money convention which met recently at Indianapolis. He was a member of the executive committee of the Indianapolis convention. A short time after he was chairman of the arbitration committee at Washington. In both capacities he had excellent opportunities for meeting representatives from different states. The following is a part of his somewhat remarkable speech before the chamber of commerce when submitting his report of the Indianapolis monetary convention:

"I was surprised, sir, to find the assertion made constantly by men from the far western states and the south and southwestern states that it was not Mr. Bryan and it was not silver that they were in favor of, but they needed some change to bring relief from the terrible condition of poverty and scarcity of money under which they labored. They felt that their condition was so extreme and so painful that any change would be of value, and when I came to look into the matter and to talk in a friendly and kindly way with them they all confirmed the same feeling, which I had found at a long conversation in the treasury department, in Washington, that the circulation of the country is quite out of joint, that the lungs and heart are congested and that the extremities of the country are absolutely without any blood.

"I found that there were great sections of the southern and western country where there was absolutely no money at all, where the most primitive forms of barter obtained, where everything was most disorganized. One gentleman told me that in his county, which was quite a rich agricultural country, by some happy accident a $50 bank bill had come down into the county, and that he had taken a horse and buggy and spent four days in visiting all the towns in the county striving to get it changed into smaller bills, but had been unable to do so, and finally was obliged to send it to Richmond. There were senators who told me that their constituents never saw a dollar of money from the beginning of the year to the end, with the result that they had constantly to go into debt to the local storekeepers. The local storekeepers received their pay in kind. In fact, everything was drifting back to the old times before money was invented. This was not in one section of the country only, but in large sections.

"We can quite easily understand that where there is not sufficient money to establish a national bank under the very onerous laws at present in force there is nothing else to take the place. The same difficulty has come up in other parts of the world. In Austria and Hungary, in southern Germany and in southern France these difficulties were understood and appreciated years ago, and agricultural banks have been founded there, and they have doubled the value of real estate, and they have made the peasantry and the farmers rich and prosperous.

"The same thing has taken place in Scotland, as many of our friends know. Every town in Scotland with over 1,000 people has a branch bank of some one of the great banks of Edinburgh or Glasgow. A man of good character who wants to fit out a fishing smack or buy anything for his farm is able to go there, and if his credit is good he is able to borrow money as cheaply as any merchant could. It has a double effect. It is not only giving to those neighborhoods the money that they actually need, but it is educating the people in thrift and promptness. I have talked with a great many of my banking friends, who say that the whole thing depends upon the character of the people; that the people are speculative and that nothing can be done for them. My impression is that if some thoughtful plan could be suggested it would be quite possible to educate all the agricultural people of the country to understand that a man who is thrifty and honest and sober and prompt can always in some way get some money. It is a very hard thing—we do not understand it at all here because we have so much money moving among us—but if every time we went to a store we were unable to buy anything except on credit, if we had no money to pay down to enable us to reap the advantages of cash payments, we should begin to be fretful. I do hope, sir, that the thoughtful and good men of the north and east will be willing to take up this subject.

"It was brought out at the Indianapolis convention that after the first sad, serious mistake made necessary by the exigencies of the civil war we had gone on with makeshifts ever since. One bit of legislation necessary to bridge us over a particular crisis has been met with another. With every issue of bonds and of greenbacks, and with every other form of currency, legislative enactments have been made, and they contradict and overlap each other, and the business of the treasury is exceedingly hard and difficult.

"I came away from Indianapolis with this very firm impression, and I have only ventured to submit it because I feel it so deeply that unless those of us in the more favored parts of the country understand the condition of our brothers and our fellow citizens in the other parts of the country, unless we wisely instruct and educate them and bring about some wise methods for their relief, when the year 1900 comes we shall be swamped with an infinitely more powerful vote against us than during this last election."

FITZSIMMONS KICKING.

Siler's Interpretation of Queensberry Rules Raises a Row.

Fighters' Representatives to Confer Today.

Corbett Says He Is Satisfied With Any Old Rules.

Carson, Nev., March 12.—Dan Stuart yesterday paid a visit to Fitzsimmons, for the purpose of coming to some understanding with him on the question of Mr. Siler's interpretation of the rules to be used in the coming battle.

The conference was long and animated. Both Fitz and Julian object strenuously to the clause permitting punching in the clinches and on the breakaways. As yet they have not receded from their objections, and all Stuart's talk was thrown away.

DAN STUART.

"The only thing for you to do, Fitzsimmons," said Stuart, "is to come to some agreement on this thing, and the sooner you do it the better it will be for all concerned. What we want, and all that Siler wants, is for you and Corbett to agree on something that will suit you both, and something that will be fair to you both. Now, I suggest that one of your men and one of Corbett's men meet me at my office tomorrow afternoon, and we can talk the matter over and see if some agreement cannot be reached."

"That suits me," replied Fitzsimmons. "I want nothing but what is fair to both, and if I have a man present when the agreement is made that is all I can ask."

He wanted to know how Corbett viewed the proposition for a conference, and when told that it was agreeable to the champion he again expressed himself: "I don't know, though, Dan," he said, "as I will be ready to enter the ring on the day agreed upon."

Stuart is pale from his recent sickness, but he turned about three shades paler when he heard Fitz declare himself to this effect.

"Why can't you? What on earth is the matter with you?" Stuart asked anxiously.

"Well, you see," said Bob, "I have hurt one of my hands, and I do not think that I can possibly get into shape to fight on the 17th."

Stuart's face fell several degrees, and Bob, seeing his distress, danced around the room like a schoolboy. "One must have fun out in this country," said Bob. "I was only fooling, Dan, and my hands and all the rest of me are in the best sort of condition, and nobody will find that out better than one Corbett when I see him on the 17th of March."

Stuart left the Fitzsimmons' camp with the positive assurance that Fitz will be represented at the conference at his office. The consent of the Corbett people was obtained without trouble.

Fitz took it rather easy yesterday, the principal part of his work being a 10-mile run on the road. In the afternoon he sparred 10 rounds with Hickey and Stenzler, and wrestled a little with Roeber, and wound up his work by punching the bag.

"I am not making any objections to the rules as a whole," said Fitz; "all I want is to keep the other fellows from getting any advantage over me. I want an even show and nothing more than that. I know that I can lick Corbett, and I will do it if they do not work any fine schemes on me, and I do not intend that they shall. That is all there is to it."

James J. Corbett intended to send a letter to Siler, the referee of the fight, regarding the latter's interpretation of Marquis of Queensberry rules, but the plan for a conference changed matters.

"I am not going to say anything," said Corbett, "but the conference will fix things. I understand that Fitzsimmons is kicking on the rules, just as I said he would. I don't care to say anything until I know just what he objects to in particular. He may object to some things that I consider very essential and against things which he finds fault with may be trifling, and in that event I do not wish to oppose any objections, no matter if they are more favorable to him than to me. All I care about is to keep Fitz from getting any undue advantage. I want nothing myself that I am not willing to concede to him, and there is no use of my telling Siler that I agree to a thing or object to that thing until I know what Fitz is making a kick about. If he makes no complaint of Siler's construction of the rules I will not. But it would be bad policy for me, at the present time, to agree to anything or object to anything until I know where the sore spot is with Fitz. If he is of the same opinion that I am on things there will be very little trouble, but he is a chronic kicker, and he never was anything else, and in my opinion, as long as he has a chance to object to anything he is going to do it.

"I think it is a good thing, however," continued Corbett, "that Siler gave out his letter when he did. It is better for us to talk for a week in advance of the fight than to talk for a week after we get into the ring."

Corbett's work yesterday consisted of the regular run on the road, the champion covering about 10 miles with Jeffries for a companion. In the afternoon he punched the bag and sparred with his trainers.

WEAK, TIRED PEOPLE

should take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, without delay. While not actually sick, you feel weak and tired, ready to get sick, and what you need is strength to drive out of your system that which is the cause of Spring Fever. P. P. P. is needed at once.

Mr Hattie Mylius, of 70 East 86th street, New York, says that she was in poor health, and that her case developed into nervous prostration. She suffered from nervous headaches, and at times was unable to do any work at all. She could not sleep, and was so nervous that she would have to get up at all hours of the night and walk the floor, and the opening of a door would startle her. But her weakness and nervousness is all gone. P. P. P. was what saved her. Her appetite improved, her nervousness is a thing of the past, and she thanks P. P. P. Lippman's Great Remedy, for her complete restoration to health.

POWERS AGAIN AGREE.

Crete Will Be Blockaded and Troops Sent to Island.

Conditions Under Which Island Will Be Evacuated.

War Excitement at Athens Continues Unabated.

London, March 12.—The Athens correspondent of The Times telegraphs that he has obtained from the highest authority the outlines of the scheme which Greece is willing to accept pending a final solution of the Cretan question.

First, that the Turkish troops are immediately recalled from Crete; second, that the Greek forces now in the island are placed under the command of a military representative of the powers, senior in rank to Colonel Vassos, for the sake of the restoration of order; and, lastly, that the powers induce Turkey to withdraw a portion of her troops from the Greek frontier, Greece doing the same.

Greece regards the latter condition as most urgent in view of the fact that the excitement in Thessaly, not only among the troops, but among the armed peasants, has reached such a height that a conflict is possible at any moment, involving the outbreak of war.

The Times correspondent thinks that matters have now reached an impasse. It is impossible for the powers to go back on their demand that Greece should evacuate Crete, while public feeling in Greece is so excited that it is doubtful whether the country would even tolerate the conversion of the Greek army in the island into gend'armerie.

Nea Ephemiris warns the government not to be led astray by the idea that the acute stage of the crisis has passed. It believes Europe is frightened by the Greek threat to precipitate a general war, and determined to resort to craft instead of force, knowing that Greece cannot maintain 80,000 men under arms many months, and intending when she is exhausted to apply the coercion which would now be dangerous.

The Times correspondent at Athens says further that it is officially explained that Corakas, the insurgent leader, before attacking Hierapetra, signified his intention to the commander of the Italian cruiser, at the same time protesting that the action of the fleets was biased in favor of the Mussulmans.

Corakas then bombarded the fort, which was under the protection of the powers, capturing it and raising the Greek flag.

The Italian cruiser shelled the insurgents, killing the popular chief, Kokinakis, and 10 men. The press here violently denounces the action of the warship, says The Times correspondent, and the Italian volunteers in Crete have drawn up a protest against it.

A sensational report is published to the effect that King George, while conversing with a Danish colonel, said he had abandoned all hope of help from his relatives, whose advice was not worth attention, and that he had even lost confidence in the Prince of Wales since his earnest request to the prince to obtain the recall of British Consul Billiotti had proved of no avail.

The English consul, Sir Alfred Billiotti, who has returned to Suda Bay, reports that the conduct of the Cretan chiefs at Candamo was unexceptional. They did their utmost, even risking their lives in the attempt, to restrain their men, but were unable to prevent some firing upon the refugees as these were embarking. A soldier and a civilian were wounded. The foreign marines returned the fire from the warships, killing four and wounding 16.

Although assured of the promise given by the powers not to allow Mussulman Cretans anywhere on the island to attack Christians, the Mussulman refugees are begging to be allowed to emigrate on the ground that it is unsafe for them to remain in Crete.

When the boys at Canea appealed to the Greek consulate to save the Mussulmans at Candamo, Colonel Vassos demanded a written undertaking that the Mohammedans should desist from outrages on Christian property; that all Mohammedans at Candamo should be taken to Greece in Greek warships, and that the foreign admirals should pledge themselves not to hinder such a transfer.

Concord Lawmakers.

Concord, N. H., March 12.—In the senate yesterday the new ballot law was reported from the committee on judiciary, with several important amendments, the consideration of which was made the special order for next Tuesday afternoon. Senator Jordan introduced a bill providing for the attendance of the attorney general of the state at all important legisative hearings, and increasing his salary $500 for such attendance. The house spent all its time in a heated discussion of the bill to incorporate the Sullivan County street railway, an electric road, designed to run from lake Sunapee through Newport to Claremont, and thence through Lebanon to Hanover. The recommendation of the committee, that the bill be indefinitely postponed, was adopted by the house, the vote standing 129 to 127. The bill was made the special order for next Tuesday afternoon. The debate was animated and personal in the extreme the house railroad committee being accused of being under Boston and Maine domination, while on the other hand, the promoters of the road were characterized as irresponsible and as in business for speculative purposes.

Mill Transfer.

Woonsocket, R. I., March 12.—The National Rubber company works at Bristol will be abandoned and the work creasing cloudiness and probable rain; transfered to the Alice mill of the Woonsocket Rubber company, in this city. The trust which owns both mills has made the transfer because of the modern facilities of the Alice mill. One of the mills, which has been shut down for 100 days, started again today, at eight hours a day, giving employment to 200 hands.

It is, or should be, the highest aim of every merchant to please his customers; and that the wide-awake drug firm of Meyers & Eshleman, Sterling, Ill., is doing so, is proven by the following, from Mr. Eshleman: "In my sixteen years' experience in the drug business I have never seen or sold or tried a medicine that gave as good satisfaction as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." UNDER ONE COMMISSION.

Bill Drafted For Conduct of Greater New York Police Department

New York, March 12. — The greater New York police bill, drafted by Edward Lauterbach, will be introduced in the legislature today or tomorrow. It provides for a commission of four members, not more than two of which shall belong to the same political party, to be named by the governor. The salary of each commissioner shall be $5000 a year, and they shall hold office until their successors are appointed and qualified by the first mayor of greater New York.

By the act the existing bureaus of elections are abolished, and the new commission is placed in absolute control of the election in the greater New York territory next November. All existing police boards are abolished, including the park and bridge forces, and they are all consolidated into the department created by the act.

The force shall consist of a chief, five deputy chiefs, 10 inspectors, not more than one captain for every 50 patrolmen, not more than four sergeants for every 50 patrolmen, the same number of roundsmen and police surgeons, doormen, etc., together with 6382 patrolmen.

The department is placed under the state civil service board, so to remain until permanent arrangements can be made. In order that salaries may be paid promptly all police funds now in existence shall be transferred to the new commission.

Cambridge Honors Bayard.

Cambridge, Eng., March 12.—Honorary degrees were conferred yesterday, by Cambridge university, upon the retiring United States ambassador, Thomas F. Bayard, and upon the retiring French ambassador, Baron de Courcel, with the usual ceremonies. There were many ladies present. The recipients of the honors were attired in scarlet robes, and from the undergraduate galleries were heard the usual comments on the proceedings. Mr. Bayard was wildly cheered and applauded for about five minutes, and a big American flag was unfurled and waved by the undergraduates. The public orator delivered a laudatory oration, full of compliments to the ambassador. As usual the orator was interrupted by the undergraduates, with jocular yells of "Take your hat off," "Take no notice of him, Mr. Bayard," etc. The vice chancellor then presented the degree, amid applause, and cries of "Speech," "Speech," which, however, was not given. The ceremonies ended with three cheers for Mr. Bayard, with singing, "For he's a jolly good fellow," and whistling "Yankee Doodle," and "La Marseillaise."

Special License Bill Defeated.

Boston, March 12.—The bill which, as a general law, was intended to authorize the granting of a liquor license to the new hotel of J. Reed Whipple, La Touraine, was defeated in the senate yesterday—27 to 2. The two supporting were Mr. Holden and Mr. Quinn of Boston. There was a long discussion over the measure, in which a number of senators took part. The hotel, the walls of which are practically completed, is situated at the corner of Boylston and Tremont streets, while just 400 feet from the center of the building, on Tremont street, is the Winthrop school. Mr. Whipple might have asked the police commissioners for a license to sell liquor around the corner on Boylston street, but considering that this might be thought an evasion of the law, he petitioned the legislature for a special act. There are at present five saloons within 300 feet of the school, but on another street. The hotel, when completed, will cost $800,000, and will be the finest hostelry in New England. The bill for a forest survey of the state was passed to be engrossed, by the house.

Decision Against Knights of Pythias.

Springfield, Ills., March 12. — Judge Shirley, in the Sangamon circuit court, has made an important decision in an insurance case. The case was that of Mrs. Louisa Henry, who sued the supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, of the world, for $3000 insurance on the life of her husband, Charles Henry. The defense was that a by-law of the supreme lodge exempted suicides from benefits from the insurance, but the plaintiff proved that the by-law was not made by the supreme lodge, but only by the board of control, and then ratified by the supreme lodge. Judge Shirley held the by-law was not binding on Henry unless the supreme lodge made it, and instructed the jury to find for Mrs. Henry.

Co-operating to Relieve East Indians.

Chicago March 12.—The movement to secure corn for relief in India, heretofore, in charge of Dr. R. F. Hobbs, Jacksonville, and Dr. J. P. Brushingham, appointed to represent the Chicago Ministers' association, has been consolidated with the Chicago committee, appointed in connection with the board of trade. Hon. C. C. Bonney is president and E. G. Keith of the Metropolitan National bank is treasurer of this committee. All these forces will co-operate with the mayor and others of San Francisco in loading the ship furnished by the secretary of the navy, under the direction of congress, to carry grain free to India. The corn will also be carried free to the Pacific coast by the railroads.

Commencement at Carlisle.

Carlisle, Pa., March 12.—The anniversary exercises of the Indian school in this town are attended by the largest number of people that have come here since the school was instituted. The chief interest is centered upon the educational department, where the younger girls and boys are taught. Besides Governor Hastings there are a number of visitors here from various parts of the country, including Miss Ella Cabot Sterling and Antonio Apac of Massachusetts. There were 898 pupils in the school during the past year. Ex-Governor Burke of North Dakota and John C. Brady, governor of Alaska, delivered addresses.

Steamers Delayed.

Boston, March 12.—The boisterous weather which has prevailed for some time past on the western Atlantic is interfering, to a great extent, with the schedules of the several European lines running to this port. The steamers of the different lines are delayed, anywhere from one to six days, in reaching port, by violent gales and heavy seas, and consequently find it difficult to sail from here on advertised time.

Mrs. Barney at Chicago.

Chicago, March 12.—Mrs. J. K. Barney of Providence, prison evangelist of the W. C. T. U., has arrived in Chicago, on her way to San Francisco, whence she sails, March 23, for Honolulu, to begin her work as round-the-world missionary of the W. C. T. U.

Fire Caught From Candle.

Lowell, Mass., March 12.—Hannah Stewart, aged about 50, was burned to Critchett. The flames spread with such death last night at the house of James rapidity, that another woman in the house had only time to drag out Critchett, who is an old man, and sick, and escape herself. The Stewart woman went up stairs with a candle, and in some way the fire caught from this. She was hemmed in by the flames, and no one could give assistance, though her screams brought many neighbors to the spot. Her body lay across the beams, outlined against the flames, until the whole upper structure fell into the cellar.

Railroad Material For Japan.

Philadelphia, March 12.—A cargo of steel rails from this country for Japan is now being loaded on the British steamer Fortuna at this place, together with a large consignment of locomotives built in this city and intended to be run on the railroads in the empire of the Mikado. The Fortuna is one of the largest cargo boats, having 4000 tons capacity. Three other steamers have been chartered to carry engines and rails from this port to Japan. The tonnage consigned to the Fortuna consists of 2000 tons of rails and 2000 tons of locomotives and equipments.

Mrs. Amos W. Stetson of Braintree is very sick at her winter home in Boston. The sympathies of our community are extended to the family.

The Granite City club has this week issued cards for the opening of their rooms in the Savings Bank building, for Thursday evening, March 18, from half past seven to ten o'clock. The large hall in the building has been secured and the president of the club Mr. Joseph C. Morse and Mrs. Morse, Mr. E. W. Henry Bass and Mrs. Bass, and Mayor Adams will receive the guests there. The club rooms are to be thrown open to the guests and Cook of Boston is to cater. Potted plants and other decorations will make the rooms unusually attractive to which will be added the charm of the pretty gowns to be worn by the ladies who are fortunate enough to have friends in the club to invite them to enjoy the hospitality of the club.

Almost unannounced, yet with the full endorsement of the powers that be, the commendable fashion has arrived which permits the wearing of high-necked bodies for state occasions. They must be elaborately gotten up and built over satin and silk, with yards and yards of lace, and adorned with pins and jewelled ornaments. The fashion is welcome, both on account of the severity and fickleness of our so-called climate and as showing a degree of mercy toward those women to whom heaven has not been bountiful in those charms which a low-neked dress accentuates, while the high-neck dress leaves much to the imagination.

The Unity Club.

The regular meeting of the Unity club was held at the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church last evening. There was a large attendance. The evening was in charge of Mrs. Charles K. Crane. The papers treated upon the French Revolution.

Mr. Frederic H. Bishop's paper covered the National Convention; the Republic; the Directory, and the Consul. Miss Thayer read an interesting paper upon Francois Anguste Chateaubriand, the French author, whose great work Genie du Christianisme, written under the religious influence of his devoted and dying mother, was a signal of a literary and moral revolution, and contributed to the revival of the Christian Faith in France.

Dr. Wellington Record closed the papers upon the Revolutionary period with an interesting one upon Marie Jeanne Philipon Roland. Her saloon became the rallying point of the Girondist leaders, of whom she has been called the inspiring soul.

The miscellaneous programme was unusually brilliant. Mrs. Jennette Noyes Rice and Mrs. F. A. Page were heard in vocal duets; Dr. George B. Rice sang the Vulcan song from one of Gounod's operas; Mrs. Rice also sang a solo, and Miss A. M. Tingley read with spirit one of John Norton's stories by W. H. H. Murray. Mrs. Alma Faunce Smith was the accompanist.

A Comical Story.

Mayor Adams told a comical story of childhood in his address at the Woodward Institute on Thursday evening. At one of the recent John Adams inaugural meetings in Boston, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe was present, and a little boy who imbibed the sense of the gathering as well as he could, was asked by his father, whom he saw that was celebrated.

"Miss Julia Ward Howe was the reply."

"Well who is she?" said the father.

"John Adams' mother," was the ready answer.

Mayor Adams said he hoped none of the girls would confound him and mistake him for Dr. Woodward's (the founder) father or guardian.

Many of the elders in the audience at Woodward remembered the "good physician," and it was suggestive of pleasant thoughts to see his genial face over the platform, in the picture so happily placed.

Miss Small in introducing our Mayor said some family names were household words.

Old Rumors Revived.

For some months past Hugh Cameron has been telling some rather hard stories in regard to the management of Mount Wollaston cemetery by James Nicol the superintendent. Cameron was formerly employed at the cemetery and after his discharge by Nicol he made complaints of a startling nature to Mayor Adams.

Mayor Adams it is said gave Cameron a hearing and then referred the matter to the Board of Managers of Public Burial Places. Members of that board say that they investigated the matter and found that all of of Cameron's charges were false and originated from the fact that he was discharged and that they exonerated Mr. Nicol.

All this happened during the year 1896, and for a time the matter dropped. Upon Mr. Nicol being re-appointed superintendent this year Cameron has renewed his stories, and rumor has it that he has reduced his charges to writing, sworn to them, and will bring the matter before the City Council.

A PEERLESS SINGER.

LILLIAN RUSSELL GIVES HER VIEWS OF MATRIMONY.

The Popular Prima Donna Writes Upon a Subject With Which She Is Quite Familiar—When to Marry and Whom. Cases of Incompatibility.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—It is not every man or woman who knows when and whom to marry. Theatrical people, for instance, should not wed outside of their profession unless they intend to leave the stage. Even those in the profession should be careful whom they choose for a mate. If a woman who is a stellar performer, for example, selects a man of inferior ability for a life partner, it is pretty sure to bring bickerings and heartburnings all around. The man, if he loves his wife, is generally susceptible of jealousy of a twofold nature. First, it galls him that his helpmeet is a "bigger card" with the public and the management than himself (for all men are more or less vain); second, any little token of appreciation which she may receive from friends or manager, either floral or verbal, for successful effort is apt to arouse a feeling of disquietude in his bosom. This may not do any particular harm at first, but frequent repetition of meritorious recognition, like the dripping of water on the rock, eats into the vitals and causes unjustifiable and unnecessary heart suffering.

Then, again, the masculine members of the company have their little jealousies. If the star be a good woman and loving, faithful wife, she naturally aids her husband in his aspirations, and if she be anything of a teacher can improve him greatly. She may even use her influence with the manager, if she is in that gentleman's employ, to advance her helpmeet to a better part than the one he is playing in. If the manager is in her employ, she promotes her husband without asking the consent of that captious magnate. Then there is a howl both from the men in the company and their wives, if they are married. They have all the talent and the star's husband none. It's outrageous, unbearable. It could never have occurred in Booth's time or Forrest's day and what not. The husband may be a budding genius, but they will never concede it. They simply continue to howl and make everybody miserable.

LILLIAN RUSSELL.

The husband, however, who makes life a desert waste is the gentleman who is unconnected with the profession and whose wife is a pretty actress, star or otherwise. Usually he is poor in spirit as well as in purse, for were he rich in either he would not permit his wife to remain in the glare of the footlights. This man stands sentinel at the stage door, haunts the wings if he has influence enough to get there, gets in the way of the stage manager and the company generally, and is, to sum up in a word, a bore. Every member of the company thoroughly detests him but his poor little wife, and for her sake they refrain from telling him so. He is always afraid that some fine looking actor or giddy chappie is trying to win his wife from him.

Even when most things are equal—talent, industry and ambition—professional as well as other people should study each other before they wed. Affinity, of course, they should have. That goes without saying. There should also be compatibility of temperament, and above all absolute confidence. A man and his wife, for instance, are frequently by force of circumstances compelled to enter separate companies. They tour the country. Neither sees the other for several weeks or perhaps months. The strain of separation is bad enough, but if both have not the qualities of which I speak, if either one or the other is talented and fair to look upon, is praised by the press or public, and the slightest misgivings aroused in the breast of either, life then loses its charm. There is not the same serene happiness in the heart of either as before. The arrow of jealousy always leaves a poignant sting.

If a woman marries a man unconnected with the dramatic profession in any way, she should leave the stage immediately. The same rule will apply to a man in the profession, especially if he be handsome or magnetic, who weds a woman outside of it. They should give their talents and every endearing quality they possess to home and helpmeet and not to the public. This rule I apply, as the lawyers say, as a general proposition. I know that there are times when it cannot be enforced. Circumstances sometimes get the better of all of us. Rent, fuel and food are at times considerations which require immediate treatment and prevent for the time being the fulfillment of the proposition I advanced.

To prove its general efficacy, however, I will, as that dear little mite of a counselor Abe Hummel would say, cite a point or two. There is a dear, sweet little soul on the stage today, one of the most popular in the profession, who married some years ago one of the brainiest and most influential senators of the state of New York. He was fairly rich then and handsome. He was proud, too, and did not consider himself rich enough to have his marriage to his loved one publicly announced until he could buy a mansion in which to install his idol. Then came a turn in his affairs. He lost everything in speculation, and he was compelled to devote all his energies to politics to recover his lost fortune. He went back to Albany and is a senator now. His wife went back to the stage. Then they drifted apart. The wife read at first with pride, but afterward with suspicion, of her handsome husband's successes on the field of debate and in society. Then the iron of jealousy entered her soul, and the divorce court was applied to for relief. Abandonment was the claim the wife put in, and she obtained her decree. Neither is happy now. Neither has re married.

Now for the reverse side of the medal. Every one remembers how when Multimillionaire George J. Gould married beautiful Edith Kingdon people said she was the luckiest girl alive. She is, not because she wedded a millionaire, for she was good enough and lovely enough for any man living, but because she chose a fine, manly young fellow with a big heart as well as a big brain, and at his request left the stage and settled down to home life. She has five pretty children now and is the happiest woman in the metropolis, with a loyal, loving husband whom she dotes on and the cheeriest of homes both in New York and Lakewood, N. J.

This rule of matrimony which I have suggested will also, I think, apply to statesmen, politicians and public men generally as well as to the dramatic profession. They are on the stage of public life, much away from home and much accustomed to study their own interests and ambitions. They should have for helpmeets women who can aid them in their chosen paths. A cold, proud or beautiful woman—a society beauty, I mean—is not very apt to be a success in this line. She is rather wont to exact attention than bestow it. Neglect—and most of rising statesmen are notoriously neglectful in a social way—is something she would not brook. Such a woman would never be happy nor make her husband happy. The hearth in such a home never burns cheerily. Such a case I have in mind. A great handsome, almost godlike senator from New York and his cold, lovely wife are the principal actors. The public print said a beautiful woman came in between them early in life, and the home was made desolate. Friends blamed both, though neither spoke a word. He was imperious, loved to wander from his fireside. She was lovely, but freezing, and home had no enjoyment for him. Both are now dead.

In Maine was the home of another great man. That was the home of homes. Husband and wife had overpowering love for and confidence in each other. They were compatible in every way, and that home was a heaven.

It should be thus in every walk of life. There should be mutual, absolute trust as well as affinity between man and wife. A woman should marry a man she can look up to and respect and thus feel that sense of protection every feminine nature craves for, and the man select the woman who, his heart tells him, yearns for his protecting arm to whom he is a shield, not a menace.

A HORSELESS ENGINE.

The Science of Fire Fighting In Large Cities.

[Special Correspondence.]

BOSTON, March 2.—Boston is to have a self propelling fire engine. The idea is not by any means new. There was a self propelling engine here 25 years ago. In those days there were no horseless carriages, and a steam engine running along the streets created the greatest terror among the horses. So the self propeller had to be abandoned. Today the street cars are drawn by electricity, and the few horses left on the business streets have grown so accustomed to motor cars and wagons that no danger is feared. Besides, the progress of the fire engine through the streets will be slow. Nothing could be more deliberate than the Boston fire department going to a fire. The horses amble like rocking horses, and only the clanging of the gongs gives an air of excitement to the event. Boston's business streets are so narrow and so choked with traffic that progress through them is necessarily very slow.

The especial advantage of the automobile engine will be its great power. It can throw a much higher stream than any horse fire engine. Boston has not so many skyscraping buildings as Chicago or New York, but the number is growing rapidly. The New York fire underwriters have been holding meetings recently to consider the dangers of fire in very tall buildings. Boston is meeting the difficulty practically by providing a new and stronger fire engine, to be stationed in the business part of the city.

New York is ahead in some other recent experiments in fire fighting, though, and Boston is watching with interest for the result of using aluminium helmets, the portable electric light and the smoke mask, which the New York department is testing.

Fire fighting is almost a science now. In early Boston days, before fire departments were known, neighbors turned out at the ringing of an alarm bell and passed buckets from the pump to the house. Then a bucket brigade was organized which brought the needed buckets to the burning building. Then came by gradual evolution the hose cart, the hand fire pump and finally the steam fire engine.

In the old days gentlemen belonged to fire companies. The organization of the old volunteer fire department is still maintained, in form at least, in New Orleans. It died out in Boston many years ago.

GRANT HAMILTON.

INTERESTING PARTNERSHIP

Speculation as to the Future of Prominent Democratic Officials.

Speculation has for some weeks been busy with the future of the more prominent Democrats soon to lay down office. It sends all of the big lawyers back to practice and forms some interesting partnerships. Only a short time since a rumor was current that after the 4th of March a shingle would be nailed up in New York and Boston bearing the names of Cleveland, Olney and Carlisle, with Mr. Olney in charge of the Boston office and Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Carlisle looking after business in New York and Washington. Present rumor changes this and substitutes the name of Mr. Uhl, the embassador to Germany, for that of Mr. Carlisle. Mr. Uhl is a rich man, a friend of Don M. Dickinson, and is regarded as a good lawyer.

However this may be, there is a story, excellently vouched for, which shows that Mr. Uhl had a very flattering offer at one time to help form what would have been a notable partnership. As first assistant to Judge Gresham in the state department he attracted the attention of his chief and was soon invited into the closest confidence. The two men, indeed, became fast friends.

One day when they were together, and after disposing of some difficult business, Judge Gresham, addressing his friend, said:

"Uhl, you see it stated in the newspapers that I am booked for the first vacancy on the supreme bench; that there was some such condition when I left the circuit bench to take this place. That is sheer nonsense. I neither expect nor desire any such appointment. I do not want to return to the bench, but intend when I leave here to go back to Chicago and open a law office, and I would be glad to have you join me."

Mr. Uhl felt highly complimented and so expressed himself to Judge Gresham. Not unlikely, too, had matters gone on as then forecast he would have accepted the offer. Judge Gresham at the time was in excellent health and was looking forward with pleasure to a career as a practitioner at the bar. But not long afterward he died, and then death carried off Embassador Runyon, and Mr. Uhl was transferred from the state department to Berlin.

There are other friends of Judge Gresham who tell of his desire to get to work at the bar. Some of his friends believe, indeed, that he made a mistake in accepting his first judicial appointment. It removed him from the active field of politics, for which he had a strong liking, and gave his career a turn unexpected to his friends and not altogether congenial to himself. Had he remained at the bar and in politics his friends are convinced that he would have achieved a reputation second to that of no man in his state. But when the offer of the district judgeship came to him he was poor, and his condition at the time determined his choice.—Washington Star.

LOST $200.

The Actor, the Manager and the Polite Advertising Agent.

An advertising agent for a patent medicine lately got an indorsement from a well known actor in a way which almost brought tears to the eyes of the manager. He approached the manager first and offered him $200 simply for a signature, without a letter or any recommendation of the article. The manager refused and declined afterward to accept another tribute to the actor which the agent brought him. It was a beautifully executed water color of the actor in one of his best known roles, and it was copied after a painting done by a famous artist. But the manager feared the Greeks bearing gifts, and he refused to accept the picture. After all this fortitude he was astonished one day to read an indorsement from the actor of the article in question. In consternation he went to him and asked where in the world the letter had come from.

"Oh, I was sitting at lunch in th hotel one day," the actor said, "and a very polite gentleman came up and asked me if I wouldn't give my autograph to him and sign a letter which he said would be very advantageous to him. He was a nice, polite fellow, so I did it."

The manager thought of the $200 and the water color painting and then pondered again over the inconsistencies of the artistic temperament.—New York Sun.

Affidavit by Telephone.

A bookkeeper for a manufacturing firm over the railroad has a friend up town who is a notary public, and who has taken his affidavit on several occasions. He called him the other day on the telephone and explained that he wanted an affidavit taken, but was too busy to leave his office. "If I sign the form—and you knowing signature—will you put your seal to the affidavit?" asked the bookkeeper.

"Certainly," answered the notary. "Take your hat off and raise your hand. Have you done so?"

"Hat's off, hands up," came the response over the phone.

"Do you solemnly swear the accounts are correct, etc.?" asked the notary. "Send up the paper and I'll stamp it."

The affidavit will probably never be questioned, but it is clearly illegal.—Newark Call.

Doorknobs From Cow Food.

A company was organized at Trenton the other day to utilize the old cornstalks now fed to cattle. The Marsden company is the name of the new corporation and it has a capital stock of $50,000,000. The company is to have its headquarters in Camden and will commence business with $10,000, all of which is now paid in.

The company will manufacture car wheels, plow shafts, doorknobs and other articles by means of an invention of Mark W. Marsden, who claims to have discovered a method of utilizing cornstalks for such purposes.

THE HUMAN STOMACH.

A Much Abused and Little Understood Organ.

Some New and Common-Sense Truth About the Stomach That Should Be of Peculiar Value to Thousands.

From the Boston Herald, Feb. 13, 1897.

The most important thing in the world is health. Health means more than the absence of disease; it means strength, will, energy, zeal, happiness—the power to do and enjoy things. Perfect health is so rare that we regard it as a special gift. Nature intended that disease, not health, should be rare. We are just finding out that it is natural to be well, and learning what it is that makes people well and keeps them well.

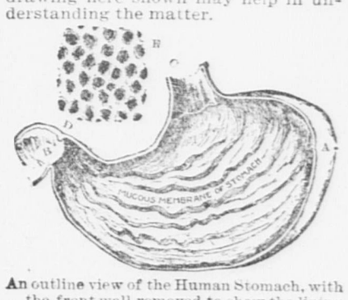

The idea that the source of all health and strength lies in the stomach is not new, but to prove this beyond doubt, and to make the knowledge of practical use, is one of the latest services of science. The real functions of the stomach, and their relations to perfect health, are just being learned. Important results will follow. A new science of medicine may result; perhaps, in time, we can do away with medicine altogether. People, as a rule, know very little about the stomach. They ought to know more, for the knowledge is of vital importance. The following information ought to be worth to many all that health is worth: The human body is an automatic, self-repairing, self-adjusting machine, that would probably run a hundred years or more, if proper materials were supplied to it through the stomach. The burning of fuel in the fire-box of an engine is a rough illustration of the function of digestion. The burning of the fuel is a chemical action. This action produces energy, and the energy is converted into mechanical force.

The same odd transformation is taking place in your stomach all the time, but it is only one of the things the stomach is called on to do. Our bodies require electrical energy, heat energy, and mechanical energy. They also require materials for growth and repair. The source of all this is the food, and, through the work of the stomach, the food is converted into the various kinds of force required to keep us alive, and into the elements needed for the repair of the every-day wear and tear. If we are unable to digest enough food to take the place of the material constantly destroyed, our organs and tissues must suffer, and a host of ailments come as a result of this lack of repair.

Disease cannot possibly come unless invited by some internal weakness. If you will remember this, and, also, remember that as long as digestion and nutrition are perfect, there can be no weakness, you will know the secret of health. The remarkable functions of the stomach can, perhaps, be better understood through an illustration of the power it produces.

Most of the energy in the food we eat goes to keep th blood at an even temperature. If the heat energy, developed every day by our stomachs, were converted into mechanical energy, there would be power enough produced to lift our bodies directly up into the air to a height of eight miles. In addition to producing this heat, the stomach must constantly supply new tissues and furnish the power for all our mental and physical activity.

In this connection it will be well to tell something of the structure of the stomach, and explain, briefly, the process of digestion. Reference to the drawing here shown may help in understanding the matter.

An outline view of the Human Stomach, with the front wall removed to show the lining of the organ.
[A] Portion of the outer wall of Stomach.
[B] Section of Duodenum.
[C] Esophagus, through which food enters the Stomach.
[D] Pylorus, or gate though which the digested food passes into the Duodenum.
[E] A section of the inner surface of the Stomach, greatly Magnified. The dark spots are the mouths of the little tubes through which the gastric juices come.

The human stomach is an elongated curved pouch, holding, on an average, about five pints. It has strong muscular walls and an inner muscular coat, which is capable of motion. The organ is lined with mucous membrane—the same membrane that lines the mouth, nose, throat and bowels. The membrane is thickly dotted with little pits (see E in the cut). These are the mouths of minute tubes that have direct connection with the blood vessels of the stomach. Through them come the gastric juices that digest food. When food enters a healthy stomach the muscuar walls contract on it and knead, roll and mix it. The food is kept moving so that every portion will come in contact with the gastric juices pouring out of the little tubes. These fluids soften and dissolve what we eat, and thus prepare it for absorption. The nutrition of the body depends entirely on perfect digestion, and perfect digestion depends largely on the rapid secretion of an abundant quantity of healthy gastric juice. If the stomach is to do its work thoroughly, it must have the muscular power to keep the food mixing and moving, or else portions of it will remain undigested and become a source of danger to us. There must be an ample supply of gastric juice secreted—from fourteen to twenty pounds daily. This returns to the blood when its mission is ended. If a scant amount of gastric juice is formed, digestion is not only delayed or prevented, but the germs always present in the stomach set up fermentation or decay. Poisons are created—frequently enough to kill us if they were all absorbed.

Dr. Frank Woodbury, A. M., M. D., says in his recent treatise on Dyspepsia: "One of the most common causes of digestive disorder is inflammation of the stomach accompanied by excessive secretion of mucus, forming what is usually termed gastric catarrh."

This is indeed, the cause of a large share of the cases of chronic indigestion, and the reason is simple. Refer to the cut and notice the magnified section of the lining of the stomach. The dark spots are the mouths of the little tubes through which the gastric juices enter the stomach. Inflammation causes pressure on these tubes and partly or wholly closes them, thus stopping the free flow of digestive fluids. The mucus, secreted as a result of the inflammation, fills the mouths of the little tubes and still further impedes the flow, and worse still, it mixes with the scanty supply and thus dilutes and alters it.

Science now says that if the stomach is all right all the organs will be right, because it is impossible for them to stay out of order long when the stomach does its duty. A weakened organ is simply an organ out of repair, and it will not stay out of repair if the digestion is right. The sober, common-sense judgment of every one probably tells them that if they could eat heartily of nutritious food and then perfectly digest it, they would get strong and well.

When your health suffers think of your digestion. If that is faulty there probably lies the whole cause of trouble. One thing is certain, no permanent relief can be looked for until the stomach is made right. If you find a remedy that will give you sound digestion, you will not have to do anything else. Nature will do the rest. Modern research shows that an effective stomach remedy must do these things:

It must strengthen the muscular walls of the stomach, giving them the power of contraction necessary for the proper kneading and mixing of the food. It must reduce all inflammation and stop the secretion of mucus so that there may be free flow of gastric juice. It should also stimulate the secretion of digestive fluids so that at all times there will be an adequate supply for the prompt digestion of food.

Thousands of people are saying that Puritana, Dr. Dixi Crosby's great formula, is just such a remedy. It relieves catarrhal conditions of the stomach in twenty-four hours; causes an abundant secretion of gastric juice, and thus hastens the digestion and absorption of food. As a result, all the organs receive proper nutrition and the patient is not only relieved of stomach troubles, but "cured from head to foot."

MAY ANNEX HAWAII.

New Administration Said to Be In Favor of Such Action.

Joint Resolution to Be Introduced In Congress.

Texas Precedent of Majority Vote Will Be Followed.

Washington, March 13.—The annexation of Hawaii by joint resolution, as in the case of Texas in 1845, requiring only a majority vote, instead of the two-thirds vote required to ratify an annexation treaty, is the program which prominent Republican senators and representatives expect to see adopted, with the approval of President McKinley, as soon as he is able to give consideration to the matter, as he told Senator Frye and ex-Secretary John W. Foster would be the case when he had completed the list of appointments imperatively demanded at the beginning of every administration.

President McKinley will then receive the propositions of the Hawaiian representatives who are here with an annexation treaty similar to that which Secretary Foster negotiated and President Harrison sent in at the close of his administration, and which was afterward withdrawn by President Cleveland, and he will also discuss the whole subject with members of the committees on foreign relations and foreign affairs in the senate and house.

President McKinley is believed to be friendly to the general idea of annexing Hawaii, and he thoroughly appreciates the necessity for an early decision as to just what shall be done, and, if annexation is to be carried out, the advisability of accomplishing it promptly.

Therefore, it is believed he will favor the proposition to annex by joint resolution in brief and general terms, leaving the details of the administration of the islands to be settled by subsequent legislation, rather than to negotiate a long treaty, which, after all, might not cover the ground, and which, also, in the present condition of the senate, might fail for lack of the necessary two-thirds vote.

According to the advocates of annexation in congress, the necessity for prompt action is very great, since the Dole government is a political volcano, and its destruction would mean the subversion of order in the islands, and possibly bloodshed and other horrors.

The restless Japanese, most of whom came as coolies, but who now demand the franchise, and, if given it, would control the islands, and the British agents, who are said to be stirring up discontent among the present voters, in view of the election of the legislature next fall, are given as the dangerous elements, who are keeping the adherents of the Dole government in a state of anxiety and alarm.

The Dole government, it is admitted, cannot stand long if the Hawaiians are left to themselves, and the advocates of annexation declare that the United States must either promptly take the islands or step aside and let England or Russia do so, in order that the white population may have the protection of a stable government against threatened robbery and outrage and murder.

This argument will be used to induce President McKinley to recommend, and congress to adopt, the annexation project.

Secretary Sherman is not expected to interfere. Indeed, he is said by his former colleagues in the senate to have changed his mind again, and to be now favorable to the annexation of the islands, or, at least, not actively opposed to it.

THE NEW TARIFF.

Dingley Tariff Bill Will Be Completed by Next Monday.

Washington, March 13.—The Republican members of the ways and means committee propose to make their tariff bill public on Monday.

The reciprocity principle which will be embodied in the bill will be that of lower duties on certain classes of goods in return for concessions to certain lines of American goods. The principle lines of goods on which duties may be lowered by reciprocity treaties will be sugar, champagnes, silks, gloves, mineral waters, chich (much of which is imported for chewing gum), and argol, or crude tartar, which is one of the chief ingredients of baking powder.

The president will be empowered by the bill to enter into treaties by which the duties will be materially lowered on importations of these goods from countries which make concessions to American cattle and other products. There will be no reciprocity which involves placing any important classes of imports on the free list, nor any authority given the executive to raise duties against imports from countries which refuse to enter into reciprocity treaties.

The reduction in the duties on sugar by reciprocity will be ⅛ of a cent a pound, so that sugar coming from countries which make reciprocity treaties with the United States will be entered at 1½ cents a pound. While the reduction seems small, a difference of 12½ cents per 100 pounds is a material one to sugar importers.

Most of the goods in the list given above which are imported into the United States come from Germany and France, and it is the expectation of the committee that reciprocity on champagne, silks and gloves will prove an inducement to these countries to abandon their policy of discrimination against American beef and pork.

The hopes of the new Canadian administration for closer reciprocial relations with the United States will be defeated by the Dingley bill. The Liberal party, under Laurier's leadership, has made closer commercial affiliations with the United States. One of its foremost policies and one of the first acts of the administration was to send Messrs. Cartwright and Davies to Washington as commissioners to pave the way for reciprocity. Their mission has proven a fruitless one, because they desired to open the markets of this country to the farm products of Canada. In their interviews with Chairman Dingley and other members of the committee they were told in diplomatic terms, but emphatically, that the design of the new tariff bill would be to preserve the markets of the United States to its farmers by adequate protective duties on all farm products.

SCHOOL HISTORIES CONDEMNED

Children Are Not Taught Patriotism by Those In Use.

Omaha, March 13.—Included in general order No. 5, from headquarters, Grand Army of the Republic, Commander-in-Chief Clarkson includes an extract from a letter written him by the chairman of the committee appointed at St. Paul to examine the histories in use in the public schools. Forecasting the report the letter says:

"After careful examination and exchange of views by members of the committee, it was the unanimous opinion that no history, in use as a text book, gives such an account of the war period as entitles it to the commendation of the committee; that no one of them makes any use of the important period in our history and of its great events, to teach lessons of patriotism; that the child, without other sources of information, would be entirely unable to determine whether there was any difference in the patriotism of those who fought for the preservation of the national unity and those who fought for the destruction of our government; that there is in all of them a general tendency to enlarge upon and exaggerate the soldierly qualities of the confederates, and to belittle the valor and achievements of those who fought upon the other side; that some of those most extensively used are so unpatriotic in sentiment as to justify the most severe condemnation."

The Stetson Case.

Boston, March 13.—The feature of the Stetson case yesterday was the decision of the court to restrict the scope of testimony regarding the numerous women John Stetson had lived with and whom he had not married. Counsel for both sides were asked by the bench to define what they were seeking to establish, and a lengthy and invoked argument followed. At the conclusion of counsels' remarks, the judge was as much in the dark as ever. The point at issue is whether or not John Stetson was legally married to Adah Stetson, and there is a mass of testimony to be introduced by both sides. Judge Morton finally decided to admit nearly everything offered, and pass upon its relevancy afterwards. The testimony given by witnesses yesterday was largely against the appellant. A. P. Mason swore that the publication of Stetson's alleged marriage to Adah Richmond was a joke perpetuated by Stetson himself.

No Evidence Against Miss Bragg.

Chicago, March 13. — Miss Josephine Bragg has been released by the police, there being no evidence to connect her with the recent attempt upon the life of Mrs. Bragg. The interview at the hospital between Josephine and her foster mother was rather dramatic, and showed clearly that Mrs. Bragg suspected the girl. After a short conversation, Mrs. Bragg said: "You will have to take one way in life after this, Josie, and I'll take another." The girl did not leave the bedside until her mother had several times repeated: "That's all, Josie."

Mrs. Ruiz at State Department.

Washington, March 13.—Mrs. Ruiz, widow of the dentist who was found dead in his cell at Guanabacoa, Cuba, called at the state department yesterday, and met secretary Sherman. Mrs. Ruiz was accompanied by a friend, who acted as interpreter, and by her five children, all dressed in deepest mourning. Secretary Sherman listened to the statements of Mrs. Ruiz, and then, without committing himself, suggested that she reduce her statement to writing, and submit it to the department, which might use it as a basis for an investigation.

She Had Killed Five Men.

Perry, O. T., March 13.—Mrs. Clara Omo, a western "cowboy," who claims to have killed five men during her career, is dead at her home here, aged 56 years. She was a Miss Martin, and was born in New York city, moving to Eldorado, Kan., with her parents, when a child. Her most desperate encounter took place in Little Black Tail canon, near Butte, Mont., in February, 1890, when she killed Ed Smith. Smith found the woman alone, and fought her with a hunting knife. Mrs. Omo used a pistol, and after ten minutes of fierce fighting, won out.

Attempting to Solidify Bryan's Supporters.

Chicago, March 13.—The Times-Herald publishes the following: An effort is to be made to effect a permanent amalgamation of the factions which were allied in the support of W. J. Bryan. Several conferences have recently been held, in which the situation was discussed. The April number of New Occasions, a radical magazine, published in Chicago, voices the sentiment of those who have been in conference in an address which calls for the abandonment of old party lines and a reorganization under the name of the American party.

Mother McKinley at Home.

Canton, O., March 13.—"Mother" Nancy Allison McKinley and her daughter, Miss Helen McKinley, who were in Washington for the inauguration ceremonies, are again at home. "Mother" McKinley, who is nearly 90 years old, does not seem in the least fatigued by her visit. She is remarkably hale and sprightly. "I was having too good a time to get tired," she said, in answer to a question. She seemed glad, however, to get back to her Canton home, and would not care to change it for a residence in Washington.

Women Sought Souvenirs of Mrs. Beecher.

New York, March 13.—The last of the funeral procession following the body of Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher had scarcely passed the portals of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, when hundreds of women surged forward and began to tear to pieces the floral decorations on the pulpit and various portions of the edifice. A most unseemly struggle began, in which gloves of many of the women were torn. The police had finally to be summoned to restrain the despoilers.

Deputy Collector Rome Reinstated.

Washington, March 13.—William M. Rome, senior deputy of collector of internal revenue at Brooklyn, who was suspended some days ago for insubordination in refusing to turn over his office to the second deputy as directed by Secretary Carlisle, on the failure of the confirmation of Collector Kelly, has been reinstated. Mr. Rome apologized to the secretary for his action, and said it was taken under a misunderstanding of his rights under the law.

Was Grand Treasurer of K. of H.

Boston, March 13.—Walter S. Burnham, grand treasurer of the Knights of Honor, died at Dorchester yesterday. He filled the position of grand treasurer for 19 years, and was a charter member of the Boston lodge.

STILL IMPROVING.

Bradstreet's Review Finds Much Encouragement in Business Outlook.

New York, March 13.—Bradstreet's says: Continued activity in various industrial lines, based on an expanding consumptive demand, fairly steady prices for staples, further improvement in railroad earnings, and widespread confidence that the volume of business will expand materially in the near future, constitute trade features of the week.

Spring demand has begun to show itself with retailers. There is a better inquiry for shoes, hats and clothing, and for light hardware and agricultural implements, West and Southwest. Jobbers at Chicago and St. Louis do not find the activity expected at this time, but report a fairly steady request by mail orders and visiting buyers. Industrial revival has been offset in instances by the closing of factories and mills, and in others by continued operation, dependent upon paying reduced wages. Offerings of cotton goods have been in excess of demand, notwithstanding the curtailment of output. Wool continues active and firm in prices, but manufacturers are buying sparingly in addition to requirements to meet present contracts. The Central West and Northwest report the distribution of general merchandise interfered with by floods and washouts.

Bank clearings, as a trade barometer, point to a temporary check to the tendency to increase noted earlier in the year, the week's total, $926,000,000, being 8 per cent less than last week, and 2 per cent less than in the second week of March, 1896, but 3 per cent more than in the like week of 1895, and 8 per cent more than in 1894.
respectively.

Prices have been fairly steady, noteworthy decreases being those for tea, sugar, coffee, lard, and wheat. Quotations are practically unchanged for wheat flour, pork, oats, petroleum, and print cloths, while those for cotton, Indian corn, shoes, leather, tobacco, and resin are higher. The drop in the price of wheat, in the face of the government's remarkably bullish report on stocks of wheat in farmers' hands, indicates continued lack of faith in agricultual department outgivings as to the size of crops and stocks of the same. The government report of wheat stocks in farmers' hands March 1, backed by its wheat crop report for 1896, and accepted estimates for reserves, July 1, 1896, indicate that less than 30,000,000 bushels of wheat remain in the country, visible and invisible, available for export prior to July 1, 1897, and for reserve on that date. and $10,334,396 net, decreases respectively

Later January net railway earnings are more favorable than those recently reported. Total earnings of 57 systems, representative of American railway operations, amount to $36,077,639 gross of 5.9 and 5.2 per cent from January totals a year ago.

February gross railway earnings tend to improve, although comparisons with that month in 1896 still favor last year. Compared with February in the previous two years, the showing made is more satisfactory. Less than one half the roads, comparing with a year ago, show gains, but when compared with 1895, three quarters of them show increases.

Business failures continue to decrease, the total for the week being 227, against 265 last week, 282 in the week a year ago, 262 in the week two years ago, and as compared with 231 in the like week of 1894. In the corresponding period in 1893, when trade was large, the total was 221.

Secretary Bliss Takes Up Important Case.

Washington, March 13.—The first important act of Secretary Bliss was to order the official promulgation of the decision of Commissioner of Public Lands Lamoreaux, giving exceedingly valuable land on the north lake front at Chicago to the men who claim it under a location of public land scrip. Secretary Bliss did this at the instance of the present owners of the property, who are leading citizens of Chicago, including Robert T. Lincoln and H. H. Kohlsaat, in order that they might take an appeal from the commissioner's decision, which Secretary Bliss can consider and decide.

Second Cabinet Meeting.

Washington, March 13.—The second cabinet meeting was held yesterday. It was stated positively that no changes in the status of Cuban affairs were brought to the attention of the meeting, and that present conditions of that question were regarded as entirely satisfactory. Most of the time of the meeting, it was stated, was given to the details of organizing the general executive departments at Washington.

Barry's Employes Strike Again.

Brockton, Mass., March 13.—The men employed in the edgemaking and fastening departments at the factory of T. D. Barry & Co., have struck. The men claim that they are not satisfied with the terms of the agreement, signed by their representative and Mr. Barry, under which they returned to work a week or more ago.

Reprieve For Walling; Death For Jackson

Frankfort, Ky., March 13.—It has been officially announced that Governor Bradley has refused Scott Jackson's appeal for executive clemency, and unofficially announced that he has reprieved Alonzo Walling to some unknown date after March 20.

Kentucky Senatorial Contest Begins.

Frankfort, Ky., March 13.—W. Godfrey Hunter, Judge William H. Holt, Congressman John W. Lewis and St. John Boyle have been placed in nomination for United States senator before the Republican legislative caucus.

Found Death In Bathtub.

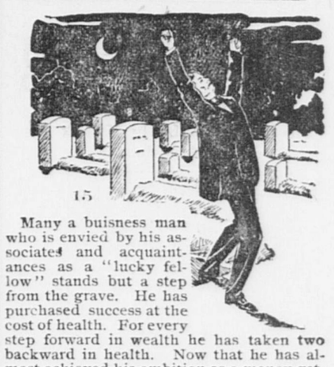

Los Angeles, March 13.—K. H. Wade, general manager of the Southern California railway company, was found dead in the bathtub in his apartments at the Hollenbeck hotel. It is thought he died of apoplexy.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

On the morning of Feb. 20, 1895, I was sick with rheumatism, and lay in bed until May 21st, when I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application of it relieved me almost entirely from the pain and the second afforded complete relief. In a short time I was able to be up and about again.—A. T. MOREAUX, Luverne, Minn. Sold by A. G. Durgin.

☞ Something new. Blue flame oil stoves, for cooking. They are a wonder. From $5 up. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

Many a buisness man who is envied by his associates and acquaintances as a "lucky fellow" stands but a step from the grave. He has purchased success at the cost of health. For every step forward in wealth he has taken two backward in health. Now that he has almost achieved his ambition as a money-getter, he is standing on the verge of his grave. Just one more big business strain—just one more step backward in health—and he will step into his grave. No man has the right to gain money at the expense of health. He owes something to wife and children—something to himself. He may have health easily.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes men and women strong and well. It wards off disease. It makes pure blood, solid flesh, and strong nerves. When the arteries are filled with rich, pure blood, a man doesn't easily break down or get sick. He can stand almost any amount of work or strain. The "Golden Medical Discovery" corrects the all-embracing disorders that cause all manner of disease. It corrects disorders of the digestion, irregularities of the bowels, and impure blood. Druggists sell it.

"I was afflicted with pimples and boils, and running sores on face and neck," writes Robert S. Wert, of No. 615 Galloway Ave., Columbus, Ohio. "Nothing did me any good. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets;' before I had taken four bottles I was cured."

Every family should have Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. The book was cheap at $1.50—its regular price. Now, for a limited time, it may be had for nothing. 21 one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, will procure you the book in strong paper covers, post-paid. Or you can have the book in elegant cloth binding, for 10 cents extra; 31 cents in all. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

DYSPEPSIA DID IT

Weakened One Man's Constitution Until It Brought Him to Death's Door.

Mr. James S. Harrison, a well-known and highly respected citizen of Cleveland, O., was for years a sufferer from dyspepsia and general debility, and in his weakened condition, resulting from the above causes, he had the additional ill-luck to fall a victim to malaria from this complication of disorders. Mr. Harrison's condition was becoming very serious, when he commenced to take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy. Its effects were marked and immediate. Read his letter to us. Its earnestness is apparent:

GENTLEMEN: For the benefit of all suffering from dyspepsia and general debility I beg to submit my testimonial as to the efficacy of your P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, as a positive cure for all the distressing complaints from which I suffered.

My system was also full of Malaria and my condition was growing very serious; I had no appetite, was losing strength and was completely broken down in health, but now my health is completely restored, and I can eat like a field laborer, without the slightest fear of any serious results.

I take great pleasure in telling the world that P. P. P. did the grand work of restoring me to my accustomed health. Yours truly,
JAMES S. HARRISON,
Cleveland, O.

If you get up feeling tired and stupid, P. P. P. should be taken—it will make you feel well.

P. P. P. cures eczema, that torturing, itching disease of the skin and blood. If your blood is kept pure, you will not be disfigured with pimples, boils and blotches.

P. P. P. is the deadly foe and vanquisher of rheumatism. Its effects are immediate and lasting, and it not only relieves, but permanently cures.

Scrofula, which is hereditary and deep-seated in the blood can be cured by P. P. P. It is the one and only positive cure for this dread disease.

Sufferers from kidney troubles find immediate relief when they take P. P. P. as it cures all irregularities and restores to nature her proper functions.

Sold by all druggists.

TO BE a success the Quincy Board of Trade must accomplish something to which the citizens will look with pride. There are matters of as much value to the city as the introduction of new business. We can help those now established. The proposition of the granite manufacturers is along this line. We have confidence in Quincy granite, and a combination to talk it, advertise it, prepare designs especially adapted to it, solicit orders, and inspect all work before leaving the city, should result in more activity in our granite industry, which will in turn be a benefit to the whole city.

But there is something else that the city really needs, and something which the Board of Trade can accomplish. Something that would put new life into Quincy and help local trade. It is ridiculous for societies of a city to be obliged to go into the little towns of Braintree and Milton to find halls large enough in which to hold their parties. It is not only inconvenient for those participating, but it is more expensive and takes money out of town. The parties themselves are not the financial success they would be if held at home.

It is impossible to hold a grand meeting of any kind in Quincy because we have no hall, and the city is suffering therefrom. With a large hall seating one thousand or more, grand entertainments would be of weekly occurrence, and this new life would increase local trade, attract people to the city from the suburbs, and result to the financial benefit of hospital, church, lodge or association giving the entertainment.

Will not the Board of Trade take the initiative in the movement for a large hall? It would seem a legitimate use of the money of the board to secure plans and pay a gentleman to make a canvass for subscription for stock. A corporation when established would be independent of the Board of Trade and could assume the preliminary expense of organization.

It is not necessary to secure the highest priced lot in the city, or erect a large business block, but primarily a well appointed hall or halls.

AT THE Woodward Institute exercises the other evening a gentleman was heard to remark that the pupils were flat chested and did not stand erect. This fault is apparent in some of the grammar grades in our city as well as at the Woodward and is not necessarily the fault of the school, for only a few hours out of the twenty-four are spent in the school, then again girls have perhaps an awkward age and are not developed until in the higher grade schools. The fine gymnasium at the Woodward will doubtless do much toward improving the carriage of the pupils and perhaps by another Founder's day there will be nothing but praise instead of the criticism heard the other night.

SOME OF our Atlantic friends feel that if the city fathers who are constantly hampering the electric road should take a trip from the Neponset bridge to City Hall, it might be a good object lesson for them and give them a few points. A ride in an old fashion stage coach over the mountains would be solid comfort as compared to what passengers are forced to endure who use these cars. If they come out with their boots on at the end of the trip they consider themselves fortunate.

The Granite Duty.

It is said our granite manufacturers are not as alert as they should be relative to the tariff on granite which is shortly to be adjusted. While it is true that the Quincy Association has forwarded a communication to Washington requesting an increase in the duty, it is said that the committee has received more petitions remonstrating against an increase, and one asking a decrease. As yet no granite manufacturer has personally presented the grievances of the trade.

Yachting as a Means of Recreation.

As the season is now approaching when many yacht owners and others are anticipating the usual pleasures of boating, it might be apropos to read a few expressions on this subject from an enthusiastic lover of the briny deep.

"The ocean old, strong as youth and as uncontrolled," can be like many other things, a curse or a blessing. For those who have a real taste for yachting in all its varieties, this article is not intended, but rather for those who possess other sporting inclinations. A genuine yachtsman is really born such and takes to the water about as naturally as a duck seeks the same element. If brought up at the shore, he is not satisfied with lake, river or pond, nothing but the ocean will satisfy him and he is uneasy when it is out of his sight. He is certainly religious enough to think that the Creator never made three quarters of the earth's surface of water, unless it were intended as a blessing to mankind.

Even when threatened with danger, and when the storm at sea is in its fury, the true yachtsman is generally master of the situation and is experiencing a joy unknown to others. He would not be content to pass the season without having a taste of the excitement that a little danger brings.

Few can devote their whole time to this sport, and little would be gained if they did. For recreation, however, we consider it of all summer sports yet devised for the benefit of mankind to take the lead.

Our cities are composed of people who spend the greater part of their time indoors. Business men, clerks, mechanics and professional men, all striving for success in their various callings, live lives of confinement. Men and women of strong nerves are the exception and not the rule.

The bicycle, so popular, has in a measure only solved the problem of perfect recreation. The ardent pusher of the wheel contends against dust, over exertion and a mind not wholly relieved from anxious cares. Not so with the yachtsman! The moment he reached his yacht, free from the dust, noise and grind of the day, that moment he drops all care and is, as it were, in a new world. Up with the sail! Let go the moorings! Good bye mankind, no more of you, we are rovers of the deep! We are off on our annual cruise, well provisioned, with a steady northwester working our sails joyfully, and a trusty man at our helm. We need no other force to help us on our way.

Some say that there is too much work about yachting. Those are the very ones who would probably be benefited by it, as a little muscle development should not be an inconvenience, and the general health may be improved. In the gymnasium work is the road to success. Dangerous? Yes, you are right, use it, but do not abuse it.

When the sport is held in control and used in the proper manner, the benefits are many,—good health, good appetite and ease of mind.

The writer has been interested for many years in all kinds of athletic sports and he claims that there is none that will, after a hard day's work at the office, give him such a complete rest of mind and quiet the tired nerves as a quiet sail with a smart little breeze that moves the light craft through the rippling waves. After a few hours of this most restful as well as exhilerating sport, sleep will not have to be courted at night. The appetite will require no stimulant, the nerves will require no tonic. The work at the office next day will appear lighter and the hours shorter. The head is clearer, the hand steadier to wrestle with the problems of the day, and one is cheered through the turmoil with the thought that it can all be laid aside for the quiet enjoyment of the evening.

As we gaze at the broad expanse we say from our hearts in the words of the poet:—

"How beautiful the water is!
To me 'tis wondrous fair—
No spot can ever lonely be
If water sparkle there;
It has a thousand tongues of mirth,
Of grandeur, or delight,
And every heart is gladder made
When water greets the sight."

The Comedy.

"The Man in the Case" is the title of a bright comedy given by the King's Daughters Hospital Ten, in the parish rooms of the First church last evening. As the title proved, there can not be always a success without the man in the case, who in this instance proved to be the ubiquitous Mr. Emery Crane, whose talent is so elastic that it can fit every occasion. The illness of Miss Randall prevented her appearance, and Mr. Crane donned the garb of the maid, and convulsed the audience with his ready portrayal of the part.

The young lady ushers were in white muslin and the audience which was a fashionable one, was in its best dress.

Miss Emery sang some beautiful songs, her pure voice being a source of pleasure to all.

Miss Noyes gave some fine piano solos, and then the play was given, most excellently.

Miss Whicher made a typical matron, and entered into the spirit of her part well.

Mrs. Marsh was admirable in her role, and the young ladies very charming.

Miss Chamberlain was the impersonation of the "Cult," and Miss Burke was an ideal Boston girl, while Miss Sibley of Wollaston was a fascinating little belle.

Altogether these young ladies did so well that the only caution needed is for them and for all amateurs, to remember, upon that stage, to remain well forward towards the audience and to speak facing it, as much as possible, to ensure a hearing of the words spoken.

The innovation made by Mr. Crane was most truly appreciated, and the good nature of all made the evening, it is hoped, pleasant to those who were present.

Princes of Kem.

Palace of Nile, No. 1023, Princes of Kem, the side degree of the Essenic Order, was instituted at Plumer's hall last evening by Supreme Illustrious Khedive, Luther Newcomb, M. D., assisted by Dr. Bangs and Grand Secretary Fred W. Morey. After the institution these officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Khedive,—Charles M. Jenness.
Sheykh,—George S. Waterhouse.
Nakeeb,—T. Ray Blanchard.
Zabit,—H. J. Matthews.
Fikee,—Arthur C. Beal.
Oriental Guide,—F. Munroe Perry.
Tota,—F. B. Gould.
First Guardian of the Silent,—F. E. Lowe.
Second Guardian of the Silent,—E. P. Tingley.
Secretary,—George T. Magee.
Treasurer,—John McIntosh.

At the conclusion of the institution and election of officers, the degree was worked upon one candidate by the Supreme officers present.

The degree Princes of Kem was written by Dr. Newcomb of Lynn and was designed for the purpose of innocent amusement and as such it is a complete success. Only those who are members of the Essenic Order are eligible to membership.

In the City League.

It would not have taken a very great effort for the Quincys to have won their match in the City league last evening, but they did not accept the opportunity. They were probably discouraged by the first string put up by the Carruths.

LOVES BRUTES.

And Pity For Dumb Animals Is Implanted In His Family.

Love of dumb animals and pity for them are deeply implanted in the family of Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll. Only the other day Miss Sue M. Farrell had arrested a street cleaning department cart driver who was brutally beating his horse. Miss Farrell is Mrs. Ingersoll's sister. In court the fellow, William Matthews, begged her piteously not to press the charge against him. Finally she said:

"You richly deserve to be locked up. For the sake of your wife and children and on your express promise that you will be kind to animals hereafter I will consent to your release."

Miss Maud Ingersoll, the colonel's daughter, some time ago interposed in the same way to save a horse.

It would seem as if Colonel Ingersoll himself cherished this flower of pity in his family. The colonel occupies a fine house at Dobbs Ferry during the summer. One day the writer of this had to ask Colonel Ingersoll a question that required but the simple answer "Yes" or "No." Arrived at the Dobbs Ferry station, he found that a train would return to New York in half an hour. A tumble down hack stood at the station, to which were hitched two of the sorriest horses that ever stood in shoes.

"Can you get to Colonel Ingersoll's house and back in half an hour?" he asked the hackman.

"Ye-es, sir," he answered dubiously.

All the way to the gate of the grounds around the house the driver thrashed his horses unmercifully. But it was necessary to catch that train back to New York, and so there was no protest from the man in the hack. But as soon as he passed the gate the driver put his whip in its socket, leaned lazily back and let his panting horses walk.

"Hurry! Hurry!" cried the impatient man in the hack. "Don't let me lose my train. Whip up! Whip up!"

"Whip up!" retorted the driver. "Not much. If Colonel Ingersoll saw me whipping those horses, he'd whip me."—New York Journal.

A REMARKABLE CAT.

It Picks the Strings of a Banjo and Guitar and Trots on the Keys of a Piano.

Randolph Blanel of Mount Vernon was seated in his library one evening several weeks ago, when he heard a curious sound in the parlor below. The rest of the family had gone to bed. The sound was rather musical, being a humming in various notes, broken by little twangs. Mr. Blanel went down stairs softly and peered into the parlor. There in the moonlight which shone on the piano top he saw the house cat, a big black tom, called Steal.

Steal was sitting on his haunches beside the banjo which Mr. Blanel's boy Rob usually plays. Steal had learned that by touching the strings with his paws he could make them sound. It was remembered afterward that the cat always came into the room when Bob played, but that was supposed to have been because the boy made a great pet of him.

Blanel watched the cat and says he saw Steal pick the strings, first touching the fourth, then the third, the second and the first. Blanel tiptoed his way back up stairs and listened to the cat's playing for over an hour, when it ceased. Soon afterward Steal came running up stairs, lay down before the grate fire and went to sleep.

Since that night the cat has gone regularly to the banjo every night at about 11 or 11:30 o'clock and picked away at the strings, manifesting his delight by purring loudly. The cat has been seen also picking at a guitar's strings, the instrument having been left in the banjo's place purposely. The cat does what many other cats do, running up and down the keys of the piano. Rob Blanel says, however, that Steal has a more delicate piano touch than other cats.—New York Sun.

A Strange Story of a Girl's Profanity.

Dr. H. W. Key, president of the Memphis Conference Female institute, will be sued for slander by Miss Gulnare Hampton of Paragould, Ark.

Miss Hampton was expelled last week. She had been summoned before the faculty and reprimanded for the use of the name of Jesus Christ indiscriminately. She declined the assistance of the teachers in breaking up the habit, and hence the expulsion. In the papers to be filed it is held that the language used was not profane in the eyes of the law.

The matter has caused widespread comment, owing to the peculiarity of the case and prominence of the parties. Dr. Key is a son of Bishop J. S. Key of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

A Cretan Amazon.

Margerita Karaiskaki is one of the foremost leaders of the insurgent forces in Crete and has already led her troops to many a victory. She is said to be absolutely without fear, an able general and an enthusiastic patriot. So far the soldiers under her command have not suffered a single defeat, and she is already regarded as a second Jeanne d'Arc. She is a granddaughter of the famous Karaiskaki, one of the heroes of the rebellion of 1821, and, while valiant, is said to be very womanly in character. She is scarcely 28 years old.—New York Journal.

Russell Sage Lends His Brother Money.

A mortgage was filed in the recorder's office of Will county, Ills., the other day which was sent by Russell Sage of New York.

The amount is for $50 and is against the homestead of Elizas Sage, who, with his wife, lives in the village of Channahane. The note is due May 10, 1897, and draws 6 per cent interest.

Elizas Sage is a brother of the millionaire Russell. He is an old man and very poor. In his extremity he applied to Russell Sage for the $50, giving a mortgage on his home.—New York World.

Spring Medicine

Experience teaches the importance of special care of the health.

And fixed among the important principles of hygiene and health is the acknowledged necessity of a good Spring Medicine.

Just as firmly established by the experiences of millions of people, is the positive fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla is "far and away" the best blood purifier and spring medicine ever produced.

The necessity is found in the impure condition of the blood at this season, owing to the close confinement and breathing vitiated air in office, store, shop, house, schoolroom or factory; excessive eating and drinking too rich and hearty food; late hours and social indulgences. With the blood thus thick and impure, the machinery of life grinds hard.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, builds up and strengthens the nerves and tones the stomach. It oils up the machinery of the whole body; the liver takes up its work anew, the kidneys resume activity, the ache goes out of the back, the bowels are regulated, the appetite restored, the food is relished and assimilated.

Don't wait till you are thoroughly sick before you begin to take a Spring Medicine.

Lock the door before the horse is stolen.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now as a preventive and it will pay you a thousand fold in health and strength through the coming summer.

"We always take several bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family every spring as a tonic and blood purifier and we find that it overcomes that tired feeling gives new life, and keeps us well all summer." WM. RINGEL, 813 5th Ave., Peoria, Illinois.

Excellent Spring Medicine.

"For a number of years I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring, not for any particular ailment, but on general principle, that the system needs a tonic at this time, and I have always found Hood's Sarsaparilla a most excellent spring medicine." HAKON HAMMER, Engineer, Pottstown, Pennsylvania.

That Tired Feeling.

"I was troubled with that tired feeling all the spring. I purchased three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken about half of it I was feeling well again. I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be an excellent blood purifier and tonic." MISS ORA E. MORGAN, Busey, Illinois.

Builds up the Health.

"We take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a tonic in the spring. Two of our children had tonsilitis and their blood was in a bad condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla built them up, and we have taken it again this spring with much benefit." MRS. P. H. CAHOON, Pleasant Lake, Mass.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. There is no substitute for Hood's.

A meeting has been called for tonight at Poland's hall, Norfolk Downs, to take action on the wharf now being built at the foot of Vassar street by John Stuart for the Wollaston Yacht club. The claim made is that the wharf will obstruct the channel. Both the Wollaston and Squantum Yacht clubs will be represented.

Rev. C. P. Mills, of St. Chrysostom's church, is holding Wednesday evening cottage meetings at the residence of Mrs. Jane Clean at Atlantic. They will continue through Lent. At the first one held this week therector delivered a practical discourse on the "True Christian Life." Mr. H. H. Bemis led the song service.

Quincy has the youngest Young People's Christian Union in the Universalist church. It is only three weeks old, but on Sunday it will receive company from Weymouth and Braintree. These older unions are coming Sunday evening to encourage their young associates of the order, and a grand rally and general good time is expected. Gen. Sec. Harry Canfield of Boston will address the meeting, and several other speakers are looked for, besides a male quartette to enliven the meeting. A cordial invitation to all, unioners and otherwise.

Mr. Samuel A. Bates is now confined to his bed.

The school committee organized Monday with Thomas A. Watson as chairman and I. W. Horne as secretary.

Mr. Horne has been re-elected as superintendent for another year.

Mr. Nye of South Braintree, who was elected truant officer, declined to serve, and Officer H. F. Hunt has been chosen in his place.

The spring vacation of one week will be gin April 5th.

An extension is to be built to the postoffice building at South Braintree coming out to the line on Holbrook avenue, and when this is done the postoffice will be in a conveniently arranged room by itself.

Dr. Brett, Washington street, has twenty cases of measles to attend to.

The son of Mr. Wm. Reed, who was recently injured by an electric car, is now rapidly recovering.

The alarm Thursday afternoon was for a slight fire, set by a spark, on the roof of a small house on the Meadow road.

High mass will be observed in St. Francis church at ten o'clock, tomorrow morning. Sunday school at 2 30. Lenten services will take place Thursday night at eight o'clock.

J. E. Hayden, formerly of the firm of Hayden & Bates, is about to open a greenhouse on Middle street. He has already placed a lot of ferns and flowers on exhibition at Heath's jewelry store.

Revival services are being held at the M. E. Church, conducted by a lady. They are very well attended and interesting. Next week, Thursday evening, it is expected Evangelist Gillam will commence a series of meetings at the Baptist church

TODAY'S COURT.

John Smith was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

In spring millinery, an extreme prominence of geranium shades, becomes immediately apparent. Entirely pink or red hats are not uncommon or others trimmed wholly in these most pronounced hues, are freely shown. Brilliant straws in rough or fancy weaves are a foundation for less conspicuous garniture or again may be observed a combination of pink or red crowns with green brims or vice versa, the greens being in bright shades. Green in general, though overshadowed by geranium colors, remains a leading hue; the purple shades however, are equally conspicuous and as formerly, green and purple are united with less taste than style.

—A temperance lecture can be found in the following item in the Boston Record for what drinking man would have nearly a thousand dollars in his pocket to lose. A man from Pine Point, Maine, found a roll of bills amounting to $940 the other day in a Portland street. He tracked the footsteps through the newly fallen snow from the bills to the door of an Exchange street saloon. The honest man found the owner of the bills in the saloon keeper, who received the money joyfully, and as a reward offered the finder a drink. I wonder if all the Maine prohibition saloon keepers are as mean as that.

—Many persons in Maine make a few spare hundreds of dollars each year in picking spruce gum at a dollar a pound. Most of the Maine gum goes to the West and South, and a man who comes in from the deep woods with lots of gum in his pack may look on his load as so much cash, for the market is never glutted with spruce gum.

—A Georgia colored man proposes to found a city exclusively for the negro. He is to have the entire government conducted by the people of his own race—a negro mayor and negro councilmen, negro policemen, and, in fact, as there are to be no white people living within the city limits, every office-holder will be a negro. The site will be Sunbury, once a town of prominence, but long since deserted because of malaria. Bentley has ascertained that while the white people cannot stand the malaria, the miasma has no ill effects upon negroes. The land is rich and can be bought cheap. It can be made a shipping point for the products of the country for many miles around.

—During the last twelve years the average cost of maintaining the public schools of Somerville has been twenty-five and one-fifth per cent. of the tax levy. Last year it was twenty-six per cent. This includes teachers' salaries, cost of supervision, and supplies, janitors' services, heat, water and light, and in fact everything, except new buildings and repairs. For this year the appropriation for these items is twenty-four per cent. of the tax levy.—Somerville Journal.

Differences with Germany.

Germany cannot forgive our country for attracting every year a large number of young men who are fit for military service. She says, and with some show of justice, "We have given these young men their education at the expense of the state, and now, when they are in position to pay back to the fatherland the debt they owe, they sail away to a new country and become Americans." The German is unwilling to believe that his fellow countrymen emigrate to America because they prefer American institutions to those of their own country. On the contrary, he is firmly persuaded that we, in some underhand manner, entice good Germans away by means of heavy bounties or fraudulent representations made by government agents. In fact, so deeply grounded is the German suspicion regarding things American that they are ready to believe anything about our country, so long as it is not complimentary.

For instance, I have not only seen it taken for granted in print, but even heard it stated in conversation by educated Germans who certainly meant no disrespect to me, that our war of independence, as well as the civil war, was won because we had in our ranks so large a number of Germans or because our men were drilled and commanded by Germans. These absurd propositions are made in such good faith that it is impossible to dispute the matter with a German for fear of wounding his national pride. To him there was but one hero in the war of 1776—namely, Steuben—and as for the war of 1860, of course the hero was Franz Sigel.—North American Review.

Lady Fingers.

A general and justifiable complaint is lodged against the ubiquitous small cakes known as "lady fingers," and everywhere seen during the season upon the tray which bears a teapot at 5 o'clock. It is asked why "lady fingers" should be so generally dry and stale, and the inquisitive wonder if it is impossible to procure them under a week or two in age. The trouble lies in not knowing how to treat the cakes. If they, or any other sort of sponge cakes, are taken while still warm from the baker's oven into the excessively cold outer air, it will be found on reaching home that they are dry and leathery. Should they be set in a closely covered vessel, as a glass jar, in a cool place they will soften again, and thus cared for last for several weeks and be perfectly palatable. Bread also suffers from exposure to extreme cold, and a loaf should have several layers of paper wrapped about it if carried any distance in winter. Otherwise it will seem as hard as if it had been baked for a week. Lady fingers, it may be added, serving as goodies at cheerful feasts, are always a surprise to country bred English folk when they come over here. In rural England they are commercially known as "funeral biscuit" and sold only for use as mourners' refreshment with a glass of wine after the long drive to assist at some county funeral.—New York Post.

Tools of the Lake Dwellers.

Since flint is not plentiful in Switzerland we find the larger implements, such as axes, generally made of diorite, serpentine and the other hard stones, and even of jade. The presence of the latter stone is a matter of great interest, inasmuch as it probably was imported from the far east. It therefore seems to bear witness to the fact that the lake dwellers had commercial relations with other countries. Jade is not found in Europe, but occurs in China, India and Egypt. This subject, however, is still rather a matter of controversy, for, though in spite of many inquiries, no site for native jade has been yet discovered in Europe, some authorities believe that the people found it somewhere in their own neighborhood. It is certain, from the presence of chips in many places, that they worked it up themselves on the spot and that gives some countenance to the idea. There are as many as 4,000 specimens of jade from Lake Constance alone. Two other minerals, known as jadeite and chloromelanite, closely resemble jade, and these are also found in the settlements, as well as in dolmens in Europe.—Hutchinson's "Prehistoric Man and Beast."

Destroying a Railroad in Wartime.

In "Campaigning With Grant," in The Century, General Horace Porter tells how the Union army destroyed the Virginia Central railroad, near the North Anna. He says: I went with a portion of Russell's division of Wright's corps, which began the work of destruction at a point on the railroad about 800 yards from the enemy's extreme left. A brigade was extended along one side of the road in single rank, and at a given signal the men took hold of the rails, lifted up the road and turned it upside down. Then, breaking the rails loose, they used them as levers in prying off the crossties, which they piled up at different points, laid the rails across them and set fire to the ties. As soon as the rails became sufficiently hot they bent in the middle by their own weight. Efforts were then made to twist them so as to render them still more unserviceable. Several miles of railway were thus destroyed.

Chamois Leather.

Every good housewife knows how necessary and at the same time how expensive an item in her domestic arrangements is chamois leather. The manufacture of chamois leather is a difficult process, occupying some three months. The wool being removed from the sheep and lambs' skins, of which it is made, the skin is split by special machinery, and the inner portion is converted into chamois leather by various processes. At the final stage the skin is smoothed by means of a very fine circular knife worked by hand, which produces the soft feeling so well known in good chamois leather. — Philadelphia Ledger.

CARSON CONFERENCE.

Referee Siler's Rules Will Govern In Fig Fight.

Julian and Brady Represented Principals.

Jim and Bob Bo Sa the Other Has the Best o It.

Carson, Nev., March 13.—After a long conference with Dan Stuart, George Siler and Billy Brady yesterday afternoon, and after holding the fort to the last bitter extremity, Martin Julian capitulated on the question of rules, and agreed to abide by the decision of the referee.

That this decision will be in favor of hitting in the clinches and on the breakaways there can be no doubt. They argued until they came down to a fine point, when Julian unexpectedly said he would leave the matter in the hands of Stuart and Siler, and that he would abide by whatever they might decide upon.

It was at times a stormy conference, and time and again a smashup was narrowly averted. Brady, at the outset, took the stand that Corbett was willing to abide by the decision of the referee, no matter what the decision might be. The champion, he said, was willing to fight just as Siler said. Julian, on the other hand, maintained that there was no right vested in the referee to make any ruling, whatever, until the men were ready to fight. He claimed that Fitzsimmons had fought, always, a good fair square fight, and in all his fights the hitting has been with both arms free, and that all the breakaways were clear. Corbett, he said, had won the championship of the world in a fight conducted under such conditions and methods, which if they were good enough to win the championship, were good enough to defend it.

"Fitzsimmons, I say frankly," said Julian, "is not experienced in hitting with one arm free. He has always met his battles fairly, and he wants to fight this fairly. We cannot give in on this proposition, and if Corbett will not agree to fight with clean breakaways we are willing to fight him under the London prize ring rules."

"That is a good thing," broke in Brady. "You say Fitzsimmons is not accustomed to fighting in anything but the most open fashion, and yet he is willing to fight under the London prize ring rules, which allows wrestling, hitting with one arm free, biting, gouging, and heaven knows what. If he is not willing to fight with one arm free, it is queer that he would be willing to fight under rules which allow that and a great deal of the same kind that is worse."

"We want it one thing or the other," said Julian, "not a mixup of Queensbury and London prize ring rules."

Siler and Julian Argue.

The argument went on and on, each man firmly entrenched in his position, while Dan Stuart sat listening, his "hair turning grey," as he saw all the chances of the great fight ending in a miserable row over a technicality in the rules.

Siler took part in the argument, and he and Julian went over the same ground that Brady and Julian had travelled before. Over and over it they went, going always in a circle, and winding up at practically the same point every time, Julian insisting that hitting with one arm free and on the breakaways was not strictly Marquis of Queensbury rules, and Siler insisting it was the very sense of the aforesaid rules. Finally Julian said: "Well, I will make this proposition: I am willing to leave it to Mr. Stuart, and abide by his decision."

"I don't think I am capable of deciding a technical point in prize ring rules," said Stuart, "and I hardly care to undertake to make the decision."

"Then I am willing to leave the matter with you and Siler," said Julian, "although Siler has already declared himself on the question."

This suited Brady, and the jury retired, returning in a few minutes with the announcement that they had decided to uphold the interpretation of the rules made by Mr. Siler. Julian hesitated for some minutes, and then gave way.

"I want to say, gentlemen," he said, "that in all his fights Fitzsimmons has always given up everything, and he will do it now. We will fight under the rules as Siler construes them, even if we don't like them."

Bob and Jim Talk.

The red-headed fighter himself did not appear to be over-pleased with the result of the conference, but he did not lose any of the confidence that has characterized him ever since he began training for the fight.

"I have always fought under the rules, as meaning the men shall not hit with one arm free and with all the breakaways clean," said Fitz, "and this is rather a new thing for me. Corbett has won all of his fights under the rules as I want them, and I don't see why he should make a holler for something different this time. However, I have always given in on everything to everybody, and I am willing to give in on this. I want the fight to be on the square, and I know I will win it. I will be the winner of that fight on the 17th of March just as sure as I am alive today. Corbett cannot lick me, and he will never see the day he can, no matter whether he fights under Marquis of Queensberry rules or any other rules."

Corbett was inclined to view the surrender of Julian with scorn. "That is what they have been praying for all along," said Corbett. "It is in every way to the advantage of Fitz to hit with one arm free. It is conceded on all sides that he is a harder hitter than I am, and that he is better on the jab than I am. Now, on the other hand, I am better than Fitz in long range fighting, and I am more scientific. I consider it very much more to his advantage than to mine that Siler has ruled as he had. I was willing today, and I always have been willing, to agree to anything the referee says. I don't consider Fitz is giving up anything at all when he agrees to fight as Siler says he should. I'll bet he is laughing in his sleeve right now at the credit he will get with the people who don't know him for agreeing to something he wants more than anything else. I am glad of one thing," continued Corbett, "this removes the last obstacle to our fighting unless Fitz loses his nerve. The fight is now a certainty, and when I get that fellow in the ring I am going to make him repent all the hard things he has been saying about me all these years."

ON TRIAL FOR HER LIFE.

Mrs. Marsh of Montpelier Charged With Poisoning Her Husband.

Montpelier, Vt., March 13.—The Marsh murder trial is fairly opened, and the introduction of testimony has begun. The government alleges that George Marsh died from arsenical poisoning at the hands of his wife, Isabella A. Marsh. William Buzzell, a farm hand, is a co-defendant. It is alleged an intimacy existed between Mrs. Marsh and Buzzell. In this intimacy the government expects to show a reason for Marsh's death by poison.

Dr. Daniel Johnson of Northfield, who attended Marsh in his last sickness, was the first witness. He was first called on Jan. 24, 1896, and found Marsh suffering from pains in the stomach. His pulse was very low. The next day he was called again by both Mrs. Marsh and Buzzell. The patient was growing weaker, and his stomach trouble was worse and vomiting spells were frequent. Marsh asked the doctor to give him something that would kill him, as the pain was very severe. Morphine by hypodermic injection was administered. The ejections by the patient were dark green, and afterward the pulse became high and fever increased. The day before he died Marsh asked for a consultation of physicians, but his wife objected. Dr. Porter was proposed as a physician, the witness said, but Mrs. Marsh said she would kick Porter out of the house. He proposed a post mortem examination, but Mrs. Marsh positively objected.

S. P. George testified to being present at the death bed Jan. 29. Marsh had two convulsions, and he died half an hour after the second one. The witness declared that Mrs. Marsh showed little sorrow at her husband's death, and during that night he saw Buzzell with his arm around her.

The witness lived about half a mile from the Marsh house. He had noticed no special intimacy between Buzzell and Mrs. Marsh until after the death, when the former sat with the mourners beside Mrs. Marsh. Before Marsh's death the windows of the living room were screened with half curtains, but these were replaced with long ones after the funeral.

Added Duty on Tobacco.

Westfield, Mass., March 13.—Several of the leading cigar manufacturers have gone to New York in response to notices received from tobacco importers that all Sumatra and Havana tobacco in bonded warehouses will be liable to the added duty provided in the new tariff bill upon the presenting of the proposed revised schedule to congress Monday. Between $100,000 and $200,000 worth of tobacco bought by Westfield manufacturers is now in government possession in New York, and upon this the increased duty will amount to about $50,000.

Springfield, Mass., March 13.—The cigar manufacturers in this city are making every effort to dispose of the stock held by them in the bonded warehouses, previous to the possible passing of the increased schedule by congress next Tuesday. It is estimated that the increase would mean $100,000 to this city alone.

Road Liable For Excess Earnings.

Concord, N. H., March 13.—The supreme court has overruled the demurrer of the defendant in the case of the state vs. the Manchester and Lawrence railroad. The suit was brought to recover excess earnings of the road over 10 per cent on capital invested. The decision allows the state now to bring suit to determine if there has been an excess of earnings, and if so, how much, and also to recover the amount. The decision holds that the road is liable to pay its excess earnings to the state in point of law, and the state has now to prove that the road is liable in point of fact. That is, the railroad must pay to the state the sum of $650,000 if the state can prove that that amount of excess has been earned, as is claimed.

Suit to Recover Taxes.

Newton, Mass., March 13.—Principal Charles C. Bragdon of Lassell Female seminary has decided to bring suit against the city of Newton to recover $1744.66, the amount of taxes assessed upon the seminary property by Newton officials, and paid under protest. The institution was formerly exempt from taxation, but the assessors now claim that within the last few years Mr. Bragdon and his wife have purchased all of the shares of the corporation, and that it, therefore, is no longer exempt from the law governing exempted property held for educational, religious and charitable institutions.

Dr. Moore Must Pay Penalty.

Concord, N. H., March 13.—Dr. Joseph C. Moore of Manchester, who has been a prominent figure in court circles for many months, as the defendant in charges of financial mismanagement in various enterprises, and especially in relation to issuance of stock in the Union Publishing company of Manchester, will probably have to suffer the penalty imposed by the court, as the supreme court has ruled against him and overruled the exceptions taken by his counsel in the verdict of the state vs. Joseph C. Moore, for fraudulently issuing stock certificate No. 108, in the Union company.

War College For 1897.

Newport, R. I., March 13.—The session of the war college for 1897 will begin Tuesday morning, June 1, and will continue until Friday, Oct. 1. It is the intention of the navy department to detail 25 officers for attendance at the college, from which number Secretary Long will select five to continue the work and map out the course for 1898. The location of the problem for the present year will be in the Delaware and Chesapeake bays. The construction of charts and defense plans of Nantucket sound and Florida keys, begun last year, will be completed.

The Wool Market.

Boston, March 13.—The Commercial Bulletin says of the wool market: The market is active. Boston dealers are still buying on speculation. The scoured cost of ordinary fine medium territory has advanced a cent to 33 cents. American purchases, at the current London sales, are expected to reach 60,000 bales. The new American clip has opened in California.

Plans of Hub Baseball Team.

Boston, March 13.—The members of the Boston baseball team will report on Thursday morning and leave for Savannah on the same afternoon. The team will remain in the south until April 5, when it will come north and open in this city on Patriot's day, April 19, with Philadelphia.

POWERS DO NOT AGREE

Scheme to Coerce Greece Meets Disfavor In France and England.

Mussulmans Reported Starving at Canea.

Admirals Proposed a Peaceful Blockade of Pireaus.

London, March 13.—It is asserted here, on excellent authority, that the powers are exchanging views in regard to presenting a fresh note to Greece, giving notice of their intention to resort to coercive measures to enforce their demands if Greece does not comply at once, and also to maintain a blockade of Greek ports.

It is understood that France is the only power showing any reluctance to take part in a blockade, and if she refuses to participate, the blockade will be undertaken without her.

It is stated in official circles at St. Petersburg that the opposition of Great Britain and more particularly that of France was what prevented the adoption of the proposal to occupy Crete with 10,000 European troops. Greece, it is understood, is relying upon the effect of public opinion in England and France; and a sort of threat is held out here that by a persistence in this policy France is endangering the entente with Russia, and that both England and France may find themselves in an unenviable isolation, opposed to a new grouping of Russia, Austria and Germany.

The correspondent of The Times at Canea says the foreign admirals went into the Apokorona district yesterday to interview the insurgent camps. It appears that admirals and consuls have already discussed the proclamation of autonomy since the porte has agreed to it, but the powers are not yet in unison as to details, and therefore it is impossible to make an official proclamation.

The commanders of the Greek cruisers Alphios and Pinoi are still in Cretan waters and in a most difficult position. Their express orders are only to retire from Canea bay under protest, but on no account to leave Cretan waters. They are ordered to "resist to the death any attack upon them for the honor of the Greek flag and nation, which reposes confidence in the sons of heroes."

This latter allusion refers to the fact that the Greek commanders are descendents of the Greek chiefs, Kondouriotis and Miaulis.

The cruisers are hourly expected to be fired upon. They are not allowed to revictual their crews. The men are living on biscuits and beans, and the officers have not slept for three nights. Every man has written a letter of farewell to his relatives. It is probable that the Alphios will take the risk of a visit to another port for the purpose of revictualling.

The Athens correspondent of The Times says some dissatisfaction is beginning to express itself against the government for its failure to make better provision for the present crisis. It is admitted that the king took the necessary measures for the increase of the army, but it is felt that the war department had not made proper preparation in the matter of equipments. This, however, is not sufficient to dampen popular enthusiasm. The students of the university have issued a manifesto to students throughout the world, asking their sympathy in the struggle against the Turks. The latest advices from the frontier indicate that the commander-in-chief has the utmost difficulty to keep the Greeks in check. It is feared that if the powers really proceed to apply coercion nothing can prevent a collision.

The Turkish consul at Larissa is openly arming the Benghazis. This act causes intense indignation. The foreign war correspondents have been cordially welcomed by the Greeks on the frontier. It is reported at Athens that Colonel Vassos has issued a second proclamation of Greek sovereignty over Crete.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that large quantities of Gras rifles and cartridges are being smuggled from Greece into the Turkish island of Chios, off the coast of Asia Minor, via Smyrna.

The Times correspondent at Constantinople states that news of bloodshed at Everek, a village near Kaiserich, has been received by the porte and the foreign embassies. As yet details are lacking, but all reports go to show that the situation in those regions is lamentable.

A dispatch received from Yalta, in Crimea, reports that a sanguinary encounter has taken place there between Russians and Turks. Many shops were demolished. A number of the wounded men have been arrested.

Canea, March 13.—The Mussulman refugees here are on the verge of starvation.

Bands of robbers are pillaging the towns and the adjoining country.

Lumber Blown In River.

Tonawanda, N. Y., March 13.—Tens of thousands of feet of lumber were blown into the Niagara river yesterday by the small-sized cyclone which struck here. The workmen were forced to run from the yards to escape the flying lumber. A member of the Scribner Lumber company estimates the loss to lumbermen at $50,000.

Boston Sports Start For Carson.

Boston, March 13.—Jimmy Colville, the well known sporting man, who is to act as timekeeper for James J. Corbett, at Carson, March 17, accompanied by John L. Sullivan, Frank Dunn, Billy Hurd of Manchester, N. H., and others, started for the west yesterday.

CREDIT BANKS.

CAN BE MADE TO GREATLY BENEFIT AGRICULTURAL COMMUNITIES.

The American Agriculturist Explains How Farmers Are "Milked" by Crossroads Stores—With Credit Banks They Could Borrow at Low Rates of Interest—They Would Then Be Free to Buy In the Cheapest and Sell In the Dearest Market.

The American Agriculturist, one of the leading farm journals of this country, has been running a series of excellent editorials on the subject of credit banks for the benefit of farmers. One of the first, in the issue of Nov. 21, 1896, discussed the agricultural credit banks of England. It attracted considerable attention, and the Grange and Farmers' Alliance in several states are seriously considering a trial of the system there outlined.

A recent editorial showed some of the benefits of the Scotch credit banks which loan small amounts to borrowers without collateral, but who can give at least two good sureties. By this means a capable and trustworthy young man can obtain a few hundred dollars, at a moderate rate of interest, with which to stock a farm which he has just bought. He does not have to pay interest on a dollar more than he actually uses and at any time can return any part of what is borrowed and stop interest on the part returned. Dunning Macleod, a great authority upon banking, says that this system, introduced years ago, gave Scottish agriculture a prodigious stimulus, while to it also he attributes the marvelous development of manufactures and other industries in Scotland in the face of adverse natural conditions. Macleod declares that the use of this form of credit has been more helpful to Scotland that the richest gold or silver mines would have been.

The Agriculturist then described the special benefits of the branch banks of Scotland and Canada. Ten Scotch banks have 1,000 branches. Each little town where there is an agent of one of these ten banks has practically the same banking privileges as though the headquarters of the bank were in the town, whereas the American town's facilities are confined to the little bank located in its midst, or, more likely, in a larger town, village or city 10 or 20 miles away, for it is often 50 and sometimes 100 miles from points in the south and west to the nearest bank.

We quote the following from one of the more recent editorials in The Agriculturist:

"The agricultural credit bank described in our previous article, or our own very successful co-operative building and loan associations, might also establish branches or agencies. Thus one society could have a representative in every town or hamlet in a county or group of counties, bringing its advantages home to depositors and borrowers everywhere. In this way, even in a sparsely settled farming country, a co-operative banking society could get enough business to be soundly successful. The agricultural credit banks described in the editorial referred to enable the honest poor to co-operate in other matters. The testimony of hundreds of similar institutions in Europe shows beyond all question that these credit societies have 'encouraged co-operation in all its forms, stimulated thrift and self help and improved the whole moral and material condition of their members.' The need is certainly urgent for similar effort at self help in very many farming communities in this country as well as among workers in other occupations. In these times, when the margin of profit is so close in farming, as in other business, it is all the more necessary for farmers to be able to conduct their affairs with the utmost economy, for which purpose capital at reasonable rates of interest is an imperative necessity.

"Whatever opinions are entertained concerning the standard of values, there should be unanimity in an effort to perfect a sound plan of co-operative banking that will enable farmers to help themselves. How great this need is can hardly be exaggerated. Taking the United States as a whole, we doubt if one-tenth of our farmers use banks or are within convenient reach of banking accommodation. Without it they cannot employ credit in the true sense. Yet nine-tenths of the volume of business transacted by other people is done with credit instruments. But the average farmer is able to use only the credit offered by the crossroads store, which 'milks' him to the tune of 15 to 40 per cent by taking his stuff in trade at far below market price, charging big profits on what the farmer buys, and on top of this exacting exorbitant interest.

"No legitimate business can stand this sort of 'accommodation,' certainly not agriculture. The evil exists whether prices are high or low, currency plenty or scarce. The deeper one delves into this matter the plainer it appears that, whatever is done about monetary standards, better banking accommodations—that is, better facilities for the use of credit instruments, such as checks, drafts, etc.—are vital to the farmer's welfare. Nor can he, need he or will he pay more for these facilities than do those in other business."

A Good Example.

The action of the silver Republicans in deciding to make the money issue paramount sets a good example to the gold Democrats, the Baltimore News (Dem.) says: "They must keep themselves in readiness to support, not merely by assenting vote, but by active work and friendly counsel, any effort which may be honestly put forward by the incoming administration to place the finances of the country upon a sound basis. They would stultify their course in the contest of last year if they allowed party considerations to have so much as a feather's weight in comparison with their duty upon this issue of transcendent moment."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 14. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—How the Christian Endeavor pledge strengthens the Christian life.—II Kings xxiii, 1-3, 21-25.

The opposition to a religious pledge, such as the Endeavor pledge, is unreasonable and unjust. There is no important relation in life where pledges are not prominent. In the business world men take solemn vows and obligations upon themselves. In the political world men in being conducted into public office take most solemn oaths that they will faithfully discharge the duties of their office. The pledge forms an important part in the most sacred of all our social relations, that of matrimony.

This opposition is also unscriptural. The most devout servants of God in the Bible took solemn vows upon themselves. Josiah was a good king and a faithful servant of God. No one questions these facts. Yet he took a pledge upon himself and had all Judah do the same. This pledge was taken at the time of the finding of the lost book of the law of Hilkiah, the priest. It consisted in renewing the covenant which had originally been made between God and his people at Mount Horeb. This pledge had for the time at least two good effects upon the people, and these illustrate how the Christian Endeavor pledge strengthens the Christian life.

1. The Christian Endeavor pledge strengthens the Christian life by keeping us more faithfully in the path of Christian duty. This was the first effect upon the people of Judah when they renewed the covenant with God. They took the covenant upon them, and it kept them faithful. A pledge helps us to be faithful to God and to Christian duties. It places an additional obligation upon us to be faithful. In being faithless we not only sin in this way against God, but also in the breaking of the pledge. Human nature is weak. We need about us every incentive to right living and right doing. A solemn pledge is such an incentive. No one can question this fact. The drunkard who takes the temperance pledge makes a more determined effort to resist the temptation to drink than if he had not taken the pledge, and in the vast majority of cases with greater success. A pledge strengthens our purpose to do right, and in so doing helps us to do right.

2. The Christian Endeavor pledge strengthens us in our Christian life by restraining us from evil. Josiah because of his covenant not only kept faithful to God, but also put away evil from the people. He did away with all things that were abominations to God. Pledges help us to be faithful in duty and restrain us from evil, the two necessities to a strong Christian life. We must not only learn to do well, but also cease to do evil. The Christian Endeavor pledge helps us to do both, and in so doing strengthens our lives.

Bible Readings.—Gen. xxviii, 20-22; Deut. xii, 5-7; xxiii, 21-23; Num. xxi, 1-3; I Sam. i, 9-28; Job xxii, 27; Ps. xxii, 25; l, 14, 15; lvi, 12; lxi, 5-8; lxvi, 13-20; cxvi, 14; Prov. vii, 14, 15; Eccl. v, 1-5; Acts xviii, 18.

Preparing For the Convention.

General Secretary Baer of the Christian Endeavor society recently made a trip to the Pacific coast in the interests of the San Francisco convention. He found interest in the approaching convention high among the young people and the churches and preparations well advanced. The convention meetings will be held in two great auditoriums, one seating 10,000 persons and the other 6,000. The weather will be too cold in San Francisco to permit the committee to make use of the convention tents.

A Privilege.

Prayer is a privilege rather than a duty. God does not need our prayers, but we need His help and grace. It is a great condescension on His part to ask us to make known our requests unto Him, infinitely more so than it would be for a king to invite the petitions of his humble subjects. But God knoweth our frame. He remembereth that we are dust, and as He is our Father in Christ Jesus He pitieth His children and is not deaf to their sighings and longings.—Lutheran.

C. E. Societies In Germany.

Fifty Endeavorers, most of them from widely separated parts of America and Canada, were present at a Christian Endeavor reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Clark in Berlin a few weeks ago. A society is to be formed in the American church at Berlin, and another is already in operation in the American and British church at Leipsic.

There with Jesus dwell forever
In the home beyond the sky,
Where we'll praise Him without ceasing,
I am going by and by.

NOT GATES ENOUGH.

How the Rev. Dr. Talmage Got the Various Sects Into Heaven.

Not long ago the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage delivered a sermon before a mixed congregation in the Academy of Music, New York. As he stood upon the platform and saw the great auditorium before him filled with people of all religious denominations, who had paid 50 cents a head to hear him preach, he became suddenly transported by gratitude and liberality, and in his ecstasy beheld the celestial city with its 12 glorious gates thrown wide open to admit the army of the saved. And, behold, at one gate the Congregationalists were entering, at a second the Presbyterians, at a third the Baptists, at a fourth the Methodists, and so on.

But as there were not a sufficient number of gates to go around among all the sects, so that each might have a separate place of entrance for its votaries, the reverend seer escaped from the position into which his enthusiasm had suddenly brought him by bunching the smaller sects together and sending them through the last gate in a heterogeneous drove. Not a single sect was excluded from the heavenly city. The gates were thrown open to them all—to all but the Catholics. According to the inspired vision vouchsafed to Mr. Talmage, there is no gate by which they may enter heaven.—Globe.

BORN.

TOTMAN—In Quincy, Mar. 12, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. H. Totman.

MARRIED.

DAMON—WRIGHT—In Cohasset, Feb. 28, by Rev. Joseph Osgood, Mr. Sanford Loring Damon of Weymouth to Miss Olive Rose Wright of Braintree.

DIED.

KENNEDY—In Milton, March 12, Mary Ann Kennedy, aged 75 years.

WARSHAW—In Quincy, March 10, Simonson of Mr. Louis and Mrs. Sophia Warshaw, aged 1 year and 17 days.

CRANSTON—In Braintree, March 10, Mr. Samuel H. Cranston, aged 65 years.

MILTON.

Contrary to expectations the Milton selectmen did not make any appointments at their regular meeting Friday evening. A special meeting of the board will be held next Tuesday evening, but it is not at all certain that the appointments will be made then. The board will however drop Thomas H. Randall, superintendent of streets, at the expiration of the month of March and they have already advertised in the daily papers for a superintendent to succeed him.

On Wednesday afternoon Rev. W. H. Rogers was examined before a council which was held at the East Milton Baptist church, Rev. Dr. Blackburn, of Cambridge, acting as moderator, and by a unanimous vote was formally accepted as a minister of the Baptist denomination.

Mr. Rogers came from the denomination known as the "Disciples" or "Christians."

The Recognition Service held in the evening, was an unusually delightful and profitable occasion. The newly recognized pastor will preach Sunday morning and evening as usual.

Next Tuesday evening the children's meeting will be addressed by Capt. Cummings, one of the Murphy men. In addition to his talk on temperance the Captain will give some interesting experiences in his career as a fireman.

All are invited without repect to age and a collection will be taken for the benefit of the speaker.

Keith's Theatre.

The principal feature of the programme at Keith's next week will be the presentation of Agustus Thomas' new one-act sketch "A Proper Impropriety," by those clever players, Frederic Bryton and Grace Filkins. The piece has made a big hit in New York and Philadelphia, and the audiences at "the model play-house will probably put their seal of approval on it also. A new and handsome stage setting will be provided by the management, which means that it will be staged in the very best possible manner. The variety will include the Abbott sisters, wonderful vocalists and instrumentalists; Eddy trio, famous acrobats; Sidney Grant and Angie Norton, singing and dancing sketch; little Anna Laughlin, recitationist and vocalist; E. H. Holland, trapeze artists, and Muhlanbark's Arabs. There will be new views in the Biograph, including additional pictures of the inauguration ceremonies at Washington on March 4th.

DO YOU WANT

canker worms, caterpillars, gipsy moths, and other crawling insects, on your fruit and ornamental trees? If not, use Morrill's Canker Worm Exterminator, a positive protector. It stops them all. Sold at the Quincy PATRIOT office, and costs but little.

March, April, May

Are the months in which to give especial attention to the condition of your physical health. If you pass safely through these months and find yourself strong and vigorous on the arrival of warmer weather, you may reasonably expect that you will be well in summer. Now is the time to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because now is the time when the blood must be purified, enriched and vitalized, and because Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today. Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to make you healthy and guard your system against disease.

Castle Square Theatre.

The Castle Square Opera Company makes its second Wagnerian production the coming week, producing "Tannhauser." As was done in the "Lohengrin" production, the organization will be largely augmented to meet the demands of the opera as regards the chorus and orchestra, and some singers, new to the company, will be heard in some of the roles. The casts arranged for the production are as follows: Tannhauser, Payne Clark (who has been identified with all of the grand English opera companies in this country in recent years) and Martin Pache; Landgrave, W. H. Clarke; Elizabeth, Clara Lane and Carrie Roma; Wolfram, J. K Murray and Winfred Goff; Walter, J. F. Hanshue; Biterolf, C. H. Bennett; Reimar, Archie McDonald; Heinrich, John Read; Venus, Hattie Belle Ladd and Addie Norwood; Shepherd, Marie Zahn. The excessive demand for seats for the "Tannhauser" production ensures a series of large audiences throughout the week.

The Best None Too Good.

Shakespeare wrote of the "bubble, reputation;" but reputation in business is no bubble. It is acquired only by years of patience, pains-taking, persistent and honorable labor, by knowledge, skill, judgment and integrity; and when a reputation thus acquired is staked upon the worth of a single article, it is the strongest possible guarantee that that article is always going to maintain the standard of value. Twenty-five years of unbroken reputation as the standard flour of the world is an unchallengeable warrant of the quality of Pillsbury's Best. Its sales have increased in that time eight thousand per cent. and its use extended throughout the civilized world. The Pillsbury mills have always been famous for maintaining the high quality of the output, no matter what the cost. The American housekeeper of a generation ago used Pillsbury's Best because it made the best bread, and the most of it to the barrel; millions of her descendants use it today for the same reason, and will have no other. That the American people want the best, and know what is the best, is amply demonstrated in their constantly increasing demand for Pillsbury's Best.

Greece Receives Formal Notice From Powers to That Effect.

Desultory Fighting Going on Near Canea.

Greek Minister of War Continues Preparations For Outbreak.

London, March 15.—That Greece seems to realize the unwillingness of the powers to give way is outlined in rumored proposals and suggestions reaching London from Athens. It is stated that a member of the Greek government declared that Greece would accept for Crete a regime similar to that in Bosnia, which would leave inviolate the principle of non-annexation, while maintaining the integrity of the Ottoman empire; and it is said he suggested that France should take the initiative in proposing this solution, remarking, "unless France does this, she will have to watch carefully the action of Great Britain, which is preparing to land a considerable force in Crete. It is to the interest of France to make friendly advances to Greece, whose support would give her the naval supremacy in the Adriatic and the Mediterranean."

The correspondent of the London Times at Canea says: Official assurance of autonomy has been received at last, but in terms so vague that the insurgents place no reliance on it, nor will they believe it possible until the Turkish garrison is replaced by European troops.

The Daily Chronicle announces that a formal ultimatum has been delivered to Greece announcing that the blockade of Crete and of certain Greek ports not yet named will begin on Wednesday. Some of the powers have decided that unless Greece yields or if she declares war on Turkey measures should be more severely employed, even to the point of utterly destroying Greece as a nation.

The Chronicle's Athens correspondent gives an account of an interview he has had with Commodore Reineck, who quotes from numerous official documents to disprove the charge of perfidy brought against him. Commodore Reineck denies that he has withheld any warning or message from the powers, and declares that the allegations to that effect have been made in order to shield the admirals from the ridicule with which they have covered themselves.

Greece Hastens War Preparations.

Athens, March 15.—Everything remains in statu quo pending the action of the powers. But the minister of war is hastening in every possible way the military preparations, precisely as if war were already declared. Great uneasiness is caused by the strained situation on the frontier. Graver advices are being received from Larissa. A dispatch states that 18,000 troops have been concentrated near Elassona. The Turks have formed two irregular battalions to guard the Thessalian passes through which insurgent bands could enter Macedonia. The Turkish forces at Epirus have been re-enforced.

Among the Greek troops on the frontier there is an increasing desire to try conclusions with the Turks. A declaration of war is awaited with impatience in military circles at Larissa.

The Greek correspondents who were expelled from Canea have arrived at Syra. They assert that Captain Amoretti urged them to leave because the Mussulmans threatened to dynamite the Greek consulate, where the correspondents were staying. The Mussulmans firmly believed that the Greek correspondents were responsible for the burning of the governor's palace and the murder of Colonel Suleiman Bey.

The reported recall to London of the British consul, Sir Alfred Billiotti, continues to be the subject of much comment in political circles. It is feared that his recall may be connected with a plan for the occupation of Crete, which, in view of the refusal of certain powers to take part in such a move, might be restricted to Great Britain, and might be on that account the prelude to a much more prolonged occupation. The present uncertainty and the lack of definite intelligence is regarded in official circles as still further complicating the situation and rendering impossible any solution of a conciliatory character. The envoys of the powers at Athens held a long consultation yesterday.

Pillaging at Canea.

Canea, March 15.—Pillaging began Saturday at Candia, Retimo, and this place, and continued Sunday. The bishop of Nicephore remains here, though alone, in the hope of being able to save the Metropolitan church from pillage. The insurgents maintain a ceaseless cannonade at Spinalonna. They are in excellent spirits and health, while the health and morals of the troops of Colonel Vassos show no signs of falling off.

The foreign admirals have not yet been informed as to the decision of the powers, on their proposal of a week ago. They have telegraphed their respective governments, asking that detatchments of sailors, equal in number to those already landed at Canea, Retimo, Candia, and Sitia, be sent immediately to relieve the present force, whose work is most harassing, comprising as it does the double function of police and firemen.

The admirals have been instructed to confer with the consulates as to the best means of proclaiming the fact that Turkey has granted Crete complete autonomy. The hope is entertained that such a measure will help to pacify the island. Great Britain has instructed Colonel Chermside and Major Borx to remain at Canea. In addition to the Italian warships, British ironclads assisted in the bombardment of the Greek insurgent forces, commanded by Captain Karacas, at Hierapetra.

Sir Alfred Billiotti has been authorized to proclaim autonomy, but without details. The other consuls will soon receive similar instructions. A torpedo boat has just started to convey Billiotti's instructions from the British admiral. A Russian cruiser brings news that the insurgents bombarded Kisamo. The town was set on fire in several places. Desultory fire continues around Canea.

Foreign men-of-war have gone to Spinalonga, where the insurgents and Greek volunteers, with three guns, are making an attack under Chief Coracas. The men-of-war will stop a further bombardment. No Greek steamers are allowed to anchor in this port. The two Greek men-of-war, that were out of provisions, have been re-victualled. The admirals, in communicating with the insurgents find considerable difficulty, owing to their ignorance of the language. It is feared that interpreters impart only what pleases them. Altogether the administration of the island is in a state of general confusion, owing to the conflict of authority.

Should European troops be landed to keep order, and the Greeks be replaced, further difficulties are expected over the language. The moslems complain that the Italians assault their women.

Reported Agreement of Powers.

Rome, March 15.—It is officially announced here that the result of the pourparlers of the powers, Saturday, is a definite agreement not to reply to the Greek note, but to issue orders to the foreign admirals to establish an immediate blockade of Cretan ports, which will probably be in full operation today.

This agreement is somewhat in the nature of a concession to Russia and France. Russia, during the middle of last week, proposed, with France seconding the proposal, another joint note to Greece, insisting on the withdrawal of the troops, instead of an immediate resort, by the powers, to force. Russia's action was inspired, it is officially stated, by a certain sympathy for Greece, but so many objections were raised by each power in turn to this suggestion, that the other course has been finally been agreed upon.

It is thought that the simplest way to carry out the threat, made in the identical note, will be the blockading of the Cretan ports, and the landing of forces sufficient to insure the maintenance of order leaving future action, as to the fate of Crete to later negtiations. This was the view of Russia at the outset.

The Porte Acquiescent.

Constantinople, March 15.—The porte continues to adopt an acquiescent tone in answer to the requests of the powers. Replying to the collective note of the ambassadors of the 5th inst., the porte announces in writing its intention to concentrate Ottoman troops in Crete in the fortified towns as soon as the Greek troops have evacuated the island. The porte has also sent an identical request to the envoys of the powers begging them to expedite the solution of the crisis.

SURVIVED BALAKLAVA.

Member of Famous Light Brigade Goes to Join His Comrades.

Phoenixville, Pa., March 15.—Barney McKernan, a survivor of the Light brigade, which was made famous by the charge at Balaklava, during the Crimean war, died at the home of his daughter, in this place, Saturday, aged 72 years. He was born in Lathran, West Ireland, and when 17 years old ran away from home and joined the cavalry regiment known as the Seventeenth lancers, at Madstone, England. In the spring of 1854, the Crimean war broke out, and his regiment was sent to the Black sea.

The famous charge of the Light brigade took place about the middle of October, 1854. Barney was in the charge when his commander, Captain Nolan, fell. Barney leaped from his horse, drew the dying captain from under his horse, which had fallen upon him, and held his head in his lap until he died. For this act of bravery, he received medals from the Queen of England and the Sultan of Turkey. After Nolan died, Barney remounted and joined the cavalry in their charge. During his ride up the valley he received three wounds, being shot in the arm, thigh, and through the shoulder. He never lost his saddle, however, and rode in the charge and in the retreat. When he returned to the camp his clothes were saturated with blood, and he was so weak that he fell from his horse. He was taken to the hospital at Scutari, where he lay several weeks. While in the hospital he was frequently visited by Florence Nightingale.

FIFTY-FIFTH CONGRESS

Convenes In Extraordinary Session to Consider Tariff Readjustment.

Dingley Bill Will Be Pushed Through Immediately.

Senate Will Have Little to Do Until Measure Passes House.

Washington, March 15. — The Fifty-fifth congress met at noon and proceeded to organize in the usual manner. Speaker Reed was re-elected by the unanimous vote of his party.

After organization is completed a committee will wait on the president to inform him that congress awaits his message.

As stated in the president's call the extra session will consider the new tariff bill, which has been prepared by the Republican members of the ways and means committee.

That the bill will be passed as quickly as possible is the determination of the house leaders.

Whether the leaders will emphasize any inaction by the senate when the bill reaches that body by a program of three-day recesses remains to be seen, but it seems likely that the speaker will, at least for the present, refrain from appointing any save the actual committees necessary for the transaction of the business in hand. This will prove an effective bar to the passage of miscellaneous or general bills, as the rules of the house are such that all legislation must come through the agencies of committees. But even this is not an absolutely necessity, as the committee on rules can be invoked to furnish special orders. And it is by means of special orders that the appropriation bills which failed of Mr. Cleveland's approval are to be put through at the extraordinary session.

Consideration in committee would involve great delay and result besides in almost interminable debate in the house, as it is the popular choice of a new house to use every opportunity to talk. Mr. Cannon, the chairman of the appropriation committee, says the bills as they went to Mr. Cleveland are all right, and he favors their repassage under special rules without the formality of again putting them through the regular channels. This will be the plan followed, and all the time before the actual debate on the tariff begins will be devoted to the appropriation bills.

The new tariff bill, upon which Republican members of the ways and means committee have been working laboriously for three months, is complete, and will be formally introduced this afternoon. It will then be printed and submitted to the Democratic minority and receive formal consideration by the full committee. It is not expected that this will require more than three or four days at most, although the Democrats may, and prubably will, protest vigorously against such expedition. At any rate, the house leaders hope to enter upon the consideration of the bill in the house before the end of the week. Some of them have fixed Thursday as the day on which the debate would probably commence. Although the limits of the debate have not yet been decided upon the prevailing opinion is that it will not last over 10 days. Night sessions will, of course, be held throughout the period allowed for debate. This will give the new members an opportunity to make set speeches for the benefit of their constituents.

Unless some unexpected hitch occurs the new tariff bill may be sent to the senate a week from next Saturday, or a fortnight after the session opens. The organization of the house today, while a perfunctory performance, attracted a large attendance. There are 206 Republicans, 122 Democrats and 29 fugion, silver and Populist representatives in the new house. The per cent of new members is usually large. There are 148 new men. Of these 132 have never served in congress before, and 16 served prior to the Fifty-fourth.

The Republican members of the ways and means committee worked all day yesterday and all night last night to put the finishing touches on the new tariff bill. As soon as the committee's draft of the bill was completed it was sent to the government printing office and a force of picked men put to work at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

In the Senate.

Vice President Hobart rapped the senate to order at noon for the beginning of the work of the Fifty-fifth congress.

The week does not now promise to be a busy one in the senate, except in the event that the arbitration treaty between this country and Great Britain is considered. Senator Davis, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, says he will force the question of ratification to as speedy determination as possible. The treaty will be considered in executive session. There will be considerable opposition to it, even in its amended form, but the friends of the treaty assert that there will not be to exceed 20 opposing votes when the final result is announced.

A number of bills, a majority of which will be those which failed in the last congress, will be introduced during the week, but as none of them can be taken up until they receive committee action, there will be but little or no legislative work. Considerable time during the week will be spent by the committees of the various parties in the senate in an effort to reach a harmonious adjustment of the senate committees. There is now talk of an agreement to fill all the vacancies except those existing in the committees on finance and appropriations. Both these committees are fortunately quite equitably adjusted, and it is feared that an effort to supply the vacancies might result in bad feeling and an entanglement which the Republicans desire to avoid on the eve of the tariff fight.

There is only occasional reference to changes in the elective offices in the senate, and there is no prospect of a controversy over this point at the present time.

A Quincy Monument.

A monument to the late Fr. W. J. McComb was erected March 10 in the Immaculate Conception cemetery at North Easton. Fr. McComb died Nov. 30, 1895, after serving the Church of the Immaculate Conception faithfully during a period of thirteen years. Arising from a crown hill in the cemetery the monument will ever be a conspicuous object to the visitor to that resting place of the dead. It is of selected Quincy granite and was designed by Mr. John Ford.

The first base of the monument is five feet square by one foot, six inches in height; the second base four feet square, eleven inches high; the third base, three feet, four inches square, and ten inches high. It is handsomely polished on four sides, the name of McComb being cut in four-inch letters on a polished surface in the recess. The die is three feet square by two feet, ten inches in height, with polished columns on each corner, the top of which are cut in relief. On the front panel is the inscription.

The cap is three feet and eight inches square, beveled to panels in Gothic design. The face cap is highly polished and traced in ivy design. The front panel is ornamented with a chalice, grape and sheaf of wheat. The rear panel, with the letters I. H. S., is ornamented with ivy leaf; the last panel is a baretta, ornamented with leaf design; and the west panel bears a cross and crown. Above the cap is a plinth one foot, ten inches square, and nine inches in height, rounded at the top, on which rests an artistically draped cross four feet, five inches square at the base and three feet in height.—Brockton Enterprise.

ALMOST A FIGHT.

Members of Squantum and Wollaston Clubs Cross Swords.

The New Wharf of John Stuart the Innocent Cause.

The Opposing Forces Very Evenly Divided on the Votes.

There was a flow of oratory at Norfolk Downs hall, Saturday night, that resembled somewhat one of those kind of meetings where the participants are at loss as to where they are at and after talking aimlessly for an hour or two adjourn without having accomplished anything.

There were something like a hundred gentlemen present and after they got warmed up, personalities were freely indulged in. Some of the remarks caused applause while others elicited hisses, and while no blows were struck and no profane language used, it would not have taken much to have brought about a fistic encounter.

The meeting was in response to an advertisment in the DAILY LEDGER of Friday which read as follows:

"A meeting will be held at Poland's hall, Norfolk Downs, at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, March 13, for the purpose of investigating the plans of John Stuart, who proposes to build a wharf at the foot of Vassar street, Norfolk Downs, to ascertain for what purpose the building now in process of erection by said Stuart is to be used when completed. As this is a matter which all in Norfolk Downs and Wollaston Park are interested, it is to be hoped all will attend."

While the above was the apparent object of the meeting it was evident by the proceedings that the whole matter was an attempt on the part of certain members of the Squantum Yacht club to down the new Wollaston Yacht club, which is an offshoot from the former. But it is due the Squantum club to say, that as a club nothing has been done to oppose the new club, and many of the members regret that the affair should have reached the stage that it has, for if the present state of affairs continue, one of the two clubs must go to the wall.

The meeting as will be seen by the following report turned out a grand fizzle and can not do otherwise than place the promoters in a position for ridicule.

Mr. W. F. Pierce called the meeting to order but said he knew nothing about the meeting. He read the above notice, after which J. E. Poland was elected moderator and Frank E. Kennedy clerk. These gentlemen also said they knew nothing about the meeting.

A. L. Baker asked to have the names on the petition for the meeting read.

G. S. Pillsbury said he called the meeting but refused to give names on the call as some did not care to have their names mentioned.

S. F. Smith presented a letter from Wood, Harmon & Co. to the effect that the only expression they would take any notice of was that of the property owners and they asked for a vote from these people alone.

After some sparring a motion was passed by a vote of 43 to 43 that the meeting confine itself to the terms of the letter and that the chairman count votes only of property owners.

C. F. Marr then presented the plan of Mr. Stuart's wharf, and a recess of fifteen minutes was taken to look at them.

These plans showed that the wharf and float were some 33 feet north west of the channel and that it ran parallel with it and that there was a space of fifteen feet between the end of wharf and the building.

After reassembling someone asked to what use the building and float were to be put.

Fred Douglas replied that it was none of our business as long as it did not conflict with the restrictions.

Mr. Pillsbury thought it was. The beach was reserved for our wives and children. We may have a public nuisance there and have a gang of South Boston toughs there Sundays.

W. D. Given did not see what inducement there was for South Boston toughs to come there.

Thornton Lewis believed a place wher bathing suits could be hired would be better than to have people go in bathing naked as they do now.

T. H. Kingston thought we could not dictate about the building but we had a right to know about the beach.

Mr. Douglass said if Uncle Sam gives Stuart permission to build a wharf he did not see what Wool, Harmon & Co. could do about it.

A discussion then followed as to what the restrictions were of Wood, Harmon & Co. While this was under way Mr. Given wanted to know what business a gentleman from Wollaston had to take part in the debate and he moved that none but property owners and residents be allowed to speak. The motion was lost.

A. E. Campbell said as far as he knew the Squantum Yacht club had taken no action in this matter.

Secretary Kennedy thought it should be known what the building was to be used for.

Mr. Sanford said he heard Mr. Given tell Mr. Pillsbury that the Wollaston Yacht club had hired the upper part of the building and were to have lockers in the lower part.

Mr. Campbell said the objection was the obstruction to the channel, not against the Wollaston club.

Mr. Given replied that Mr. Stuart had said that Mr. Campbell had said, "It is not you I am fighting but the Wollaston Yacht club through you."

Mr. Pierce thought the subject should be referred to a committee of two from each club and two from the residents, so that an intelligent understanding might be had.

Mr. Turner said he had heard it said that the Squantum Yacht club was not opposed to the building and wharf, but every man he had seen who opposed it was a member of the Squantum club. We are told here that some of the brainy members of the Squantum club have told the Harbor Commissioners how the wharf should be built. If Stuart's building is a nuisance it should be stopped. If it is to beautify the beach he should be encouraged. It was a piece of impertinence to ask a man what he proposed to do with his building.

Mr. Douglass then moved that "The sense of this meeting is that a letter be written to Stuart apologizing for interfering with his business.

John Woodman hoped the motion would not be put. He did not want it to appear in the papers that we were a pack of fools.

Mr. Kennedy was surprised at such a motion.

A. L. Barstow said the building had been leased to the Wollaston Yacht club.

Mr. Kennedy moved to lay the motion on the table. Voted.

Someone then moved to adjourn and the motion was carried by a vote of 35 to 34.

The Hearing on the Libel Bill.

The presence of a hundred or more gentlemen, representing many of the best daily and weekly journals of Massachusetts, must have convinced the legislative committee on the judiciary last Wednesday that the press was in earnest in its advocacy of an amendment to the laws governing civil suits against the newspapers. The bill, drawn after consultation with hundreds of owners, editors and other gentlemen, and slightly amended at the committee's suggestion, is to the effect that any person aggrieved shall, before bringing suit, demand a retraction which, if given in a specified time, shall be a bar to the extent that, unless actual malice is proved, the plaintiff "shall not recover punitive or exemplary damages, and compensation only for the actual injury suffered."

Charles T. Gallagher, counsel with M. O. Adams, for the petitioners, presented the reasons in favor of the change in a calm, succinct and convincing manner. When he declared that the present law was based upon the presumption of 300 years ago that everything written for a newspaper was actuated by malice, no one of the opposition attempted to answer, and the semi-blackmailing cases cited, in which verdicts for large sums had been given where only the truth had been spoken without malice, and no real injury suffered by the plaintiffs, also failed to elicit reply or denial. It is true enough that law will not stop the printing of sensational papers by financially irresponsible parties, but that is no reason why respectable journals, owned by men of high character and repute, should not be protected against suits solicited by struggling members of the bar. The press asks only the opportunity of escaping from punitive, not actual damages, after it has done everything in its power to correct error and undo a wrong committed without intent. It simply seeks to plead and prove the same sort of facts which are set up and allowed under the law in the case of a murderer or other felon, and not be the victim of class legislation, which is applied to no other class.—Somerville Citizen.

Young Men's Christian Association.

Rev. A. A. Brown gave a very interesting talk Sunday on "Light and Faith."

The public will be welcome at all the sessions of the junior conference.

Many persons do not understand that the boys will conduct the sessions of the conference and will present a good share of the subjects to be discussed. Already over sixty delegates have sent notice of their intention to be present at the conference. New Bedford, Fall River, Merrimac, Taunton and Waltham will send large delegations. Holyoke, Springfield, Dalton and Fitchburg will all be represented.

The Association orchestra will give two concerts April 1st and 8th. The first will be in the Wollaston Congregational church and the second in the Bethany church. This will be the musical event of the season.

Spring

Is made a necessity by the impure condition of the blood after winter's hearty foods, and breathing vitiated air in home, office, schoolroom or shop. When weak, thin or impure, the blood cannot nourish the body as it should. The demand for cleansing and invigorating is grandly met by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives the blood just the quality and vitality needed to maintain health, properly digest food, build up and steady the nerves and overcome that tired feeling. When the trap was visited this morning, it was closed, and through the windows at the side was seen a large rat. The builder, being the only man who could open the trap, he was sent for, and the rat killed.

Very convenient accommodations for private bowling parties have been arranged at Costello's alleys. Portiers are hung so as to screen off two, three or four alleys, giving the utmost privacy for ladies besides the use of the dressing room. THE NEW EXTENSION.

The Quincy and Forest Hills Street Railway Endorsed in Dorchester.

Concerning the proposed extension of the Quincy and Boston street railway system from Neponset to Forest Hills the Dorchester Beacon says:

Preliminary steps have been taken for securing location and charter for a new street railway to extend from Forest Hills to Neponset. The new road is to be known as the Forest Hills and Quincy street railway, and will be five miles in length. It will be a single track, with few turnouts, and, will, of course, be operated by electricity.

The route selected is from Forest Hills as one terminal, which is the juncture of the West End, Norfolk Suburban and West Roxbury and Roslindale street railways. The Forest Hill station of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad is also located at this point. Fifty thousand people are estimated to be deposited at this point by the West End on Sundays and holidays. The road will extend through Morton stree', by Forest Hills and Franklin Park, crossing the new Blue Hill avenue boulevard, the New England railroad tracks at Forest avenue station, and the West End street railway tracks on Dorchester avenue to Milton Lower Mills. The tracks at Milton Lower Mills will run within 200 feet of the Norfolk Suburban street railway. From Milton Lower Mills the road will extend through Richmond street into Adams street, and thence to Minot street, to the terminal at Neponset. At Neponset the terminal is at the junction of the West End and Quincy and Boston street railway.

The road through its course connects with four important steam railway stations and connects with or crosses seven important street railway lines. It will form a straight line of communication between the Arnold Arboretum, the Franklin Park system and Franklin field on the west, with Neponset river, Squantum and Quincy Bay development of the metropolitan park system on the east. Communication will be afforded with Quincy, Houghs Neck, Weymouth, Hingham, Cohasset and Nantasket Beach. The Quincy system on the east will be connected with the Dedham system on the west, and will afford an opportunity of connecting the park with Nantasket Beach.

The directors of the new company are mostly Boston capitalists, but the Quincy and Boston and West Roxbury and Roslindale are represented in the directors. The majority of stock is subscribed for by Boston parties.

Residents in that section of Dorchester and Quincy will be afforded means of communication which has been denied them, and where it was necessary to hire a carriage to cross from Neponset or Milton Lower Mills to Forest Hills the new electric road will take its place. At the present time residents in Neponset wishing to go to Forest Hills must first go into the city and change and take a car designated for that place. The fare on the new road will be five cents. The Boston board of aldermen have set a hearing for March 22 to listen to petitions for and against location of tracks on the course outlined. Real estate will receive a boom in that vicinity.

Carry a Good Thing Too Far.

Mr. Faxon again throws himself into unique prominence in opposition to the bill to allow paint and oil dealers to sell alcohol. He furnishes, as usual, a good illustration of the extremes to which so-called temperance people delight to go and whose chief effect is to bring the cause of real temperance into disrepute. The practical and business-like proposition to admit, free of duty, alcohol to be used in the arts and manufactures is being assailed with arguments as weak as Mr. Faxon's. One is, indeed, that it means a discrimination against the manufacturers of wood alcohol. This article is a rank poison, in the first place and, in the second, it is a new theory of government which recognizes the right to preserve the production and profit of one legitimate industry by taxing another. Untaxed alcohol, for business purposes, is a public benefit and especially needed in New England. There is such a thing as carrying a good thing too far—like the man who lugs home his bicycle on his shoulders.—Somerville Citizen.

Young People's Union.

The sky, Sunday evening, was not only "ashen and sober" but the going was unusually bad, even for this time of year, yet despite these discouraging features the vestry of the Universalist church was well filled, the occasion being a union meeting of the Young People's organizations of Braintree, Weymouth and Quincy.

Members of the former unions were present in goodly numbers and contributed much to the interest of the occasion by their hearty words of encouragement and corporation. The preliminary service of song, led by President Nye of the local union was very inspiring and created a current of enthusiasm which all felt and enjoyed.

Rev. Mr. Morris offered a feeling and helpful prayer. The leader of the meeting, Mrs. E. W. Preble, read selections from the Scriptures bearing upon the subject, "Fasting in Secret," and gave a short address in further explanation of the theme, and various speakers followed in the same line of thought.

Rev. Harry L. Canfield, National Secretary of the Y. P. C. U., and editor of its organ, Onward, gave a splendid address, in which he congratulated the Quincy union on its organization and prospect of success, and outlined the principles of the order and its special field of work. He told what the young people had already done for the Universalist church, and spoke eloquently of the possibilities before them. Mr. Canfield is a young man of fine address, has a rich, deep voice, and an earnest manner, and was listened to with pleasure.

The closing address by Rev. Edward Morris was a bright and instructive talk on self-denial. He spoke of his own experiences respecting food and evoked some smiles in the audience by his witty remarks, but the address was helpful and wholesome.

During the service a male quartette from Wollaston, Mr. Polk leader, sang two beautiful selections that were a fitting climax to a most interesting and profitable occasion.

Young Folks.

Another pleasant party for our young folks on Saturday evening, was given for Master Elmer Ricker on Bigelow street. The very children are learning whist, and there were seven tables for them, and what is more helpful and equally enjoyable, a contest at the new fad of testing one's acquaintance with familiar people, celebrities, by small portraits of them. The number who can be called by name is so small that much fun is enjoyed. One bright boy knew nearly all and received a little silver and pearl paper cutter which he will appreciate as he is a constant reader. There were pretty prizes for cards, and refreshments were served.

POPULIST MIXUP.

Fisticuffs at Denver Meeting in Which Women Participate.

Denver, March 15.—The "Middle of the Road" Populists met here Saturday and adjourned after three hours of fighting.

Women were in the thick of the melee, and they were in several instances instigators of the attack.

The first assault was provoked by the remark of a woman that she would not sit in a convention with the hirelings of corporations, indicating one of the delegates.

The latter replied that the accuser was a liar, and her husband flew to the rescue, while his wife and her woman companions stood by and cheered the fighters.

Mrs. E. W. Reed started another row by saying that she had seen too much politics to blush any more, as that was a perfunctory effort that did the party no good.

Mrs. Alice Faulkner took a hand in the row and eulogized "Grand Old Man Waite."

She grew excited, and someone made a slighting remark that precipitated further trouble.

The event of the afternoon was when Miss Holmes replied to the attack of the boiler inspector, W. R. Frazier. He said that the corporations were more powerful than Populist principles.

"That's a lie," shouted half a dozen, and men and women were on their feet making for the speaker.

"If the shoe fits you, put it on," retorted Frazier, bracing himself for the rush.

He was no match for the crowd, however, and was driven from his position, but fought desperately to the door.

Mr. Akers next came in for rough treatment. On being asked by Mrs. Reed if it was not "time for him to go out and choke himself to death," Akers retorted that Mrs. Reed had not added anything to her reputation by going out as a street singer.

Mrs. Holmes demanded why the men stood silent and saw the women insulted.

None responded, and then Mrs. Reed and Miss Holmes administered the punishment themselves, and tore most of Mr. Akers' beard out of his face.

Bishop Mallalieu Surprised.

Roanoke, Va., March 15.—Bishop Willard F. Mallalieu of Boston, who, in a sermon delivered recently in Baltimore, referred to the Confederate flag as a "rag," met with a surprise last night. He was presiding over the Virginia M. E. conference, north, held at the Academy of Music. While in the midst of an address he received a package, containing a Confederate flag, upon which was printed, "The abominable rag which floated over the Confederacy," and beneath, neatly typewritten, "The emblem under which fought for states rights the bravest and noblest band of heroes the world ever produced. The followers of Lee and Jackson and others equally gallant contended for years with four times their number, wresting victory from them on more than 100 fields, yielding only when starvation and disease had thinned their ranks to such an extent that less than 8000 surrendered to 120,000, and these in line of battle, ready to die at their leader's word. Whose was the glory?" Bishop Mallalieu afterward said that he had consigned the package to the fire, and hoped the matter would rest there. He intimated that if it did not he would have something to say about the agitators.

Cuba's Enormous Deficit.

Havana, March 15.—Captain General Weyler has forwarded to Spain for approval by the Spanish cortes the public budget bill, amounting to $35,000,000, in addition to an appropriation bill, reaching the high water mark of $93,000,000. The latter bill, it is said, will be carried through to meet the extraordinary expenses of the war and navy departments incurred on account of the Cuban insurrection. The income revenue for the new fiscal year, beginning in July, will probably reach $14,000,000, which amount will shrink considerably should the proposed treaty with the United States be carried out. Therefore there will be an enormous deficit, reaching probably $100,000,000.

Armenian Massacre Denied.

Washington, March 15.—The Turkish legation gives out the following: "There has been published a telegram dated Constantinople, the 12th inst., saying that fresh atrocities are threatened in Asia Minor; that Christians are in a deplorable condition, and asserting that the situation in Payas is extremely critical, and that bloodshed has occurred at Everek." The Turkish minister is authorized by his government to officially declare these reports as absolutely false and unfounded.

Woman Robbed by Highwayman.

Corning, N. Y., March 15.—At Ansonia, Pa., Saturday night, Mrs. Ania Pope of Wellsboro was knocked down by highwaymen and robbed of $900. Mrs. Pope had drawn the money from a bank at Galeton, and was on her way home at Ansonia. She changed cars, and while waiting for a train walked over to the hotel. She was knocked down with a club, and now the doctors pronounce her injuries fatal.

Gunboats In the Storm.

Norfolk, March 15.—Nothing has been seen for two days of the cruiser Columbia and the monitor Puritan, which she has in tow. The latest report from the vessels is that they were observed north of Hatteras, were well out at sea and headed northward. It is believed they are making for New York.

Boston Pastor Resigns.

Boston, March 15.—Rev. Dr. B. F. Hamilton, pastor of the Eliot Congregational church, has resigned after a pastorate of 25 years. The chief reason expressed for his resignation is the necessity for a rest from work.

His Head Would Come Off at Home.

Boston, March 15.—Loui Wah Shee, for three years the trusted bookkeeper of the Wing Sing Lung company of Chinatown, in this city, is under arrest, charged with the embezzlement of $4000 from the funds of the company.

BENJ. J. WEEKS, Superintendent.

The Honorable J. F. Greer, one of the best known and most highly respected county Judges of the State of Florida, writes of his horrible sufferings from Inflammatory Rheumatism:

OFFICE OF J. F. GREER, COUNTY JUDGE.
Green Cove Springs, Clay Co., Fla.

GENTLEMEN: Twenty-three years ago I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism. I was attended by the most eminent physician in the land. I visited the great Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the noted Hot Springs of Arkansas, and many other watering places, always consulting with the local physicians for directions, and finally came to Florida, ten years ago. About two years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, was confined to my room for twelve weeks, and during that time was induced to try P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, knowing that each ingredient was good for impurities of the blood. After using two small bottles I was relieved. At four different times since I have had slight attacks and each time I have taken two small bottles of P. P. P., and have been relieved, and I consider P. P. P. the best medicine of its kind.

Respectfully, J. F. GREER.

James M. Newton, of Aberdeen, Ohio, says he bought a bottle of P. P. P. at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and it did him more good than three months' treatment at Hot Springs.

Rheumatism, as well as sciatica and gout, is cured by a course of P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is a friend indeed to weak women. It is a positive and speedy cure for general weakness and nervousness.

All skin diseases are cured by it; anything from pimples to the worst cases of eczemas succumbing to the wonderful healing powers of P. P. P.

Dyspepsia and indigestion in their worst form are cured by it. As a tonic to restore the appetite and to regain lost vigor, it is simply marvelous.

P. P. P. is the best spring medicine in the world. It removes that heavy, out-of-sorts feeling and restores you to a condition of perfect physical health.

For Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Headache, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Heart Failure, Fever, Chills, Debility and Kidney Diseases, take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, the most wonderful medicine in the world

HARD WORK AT AN END.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons In Finest Physical Condition Possible.

Light Exercise the Program Today and Tomorrow.

Indications Point to Very Small Attendence at Contest.

Carson, Nev., March 15.—It looks as if the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, with respect to the attendance, will be "half a frost," to use the theatrical expression. If there are 5000 paid admissions Stuart will be in luck. That is about half the number of the first estimate of attendance. But, even so, at an average of $10 a ticket, Stuart will make money, for his expenses cannot be $50,000, although very heavy.

The best estimate of the number of fight followers coming from 'Frisco is 2000, although Stuart puts it at 2500. Reports from other cities cut the original figures in half.

Stuart admits that there is a heavy falling off, due to the bad weather here and the impression that has gained ground that the fight will be a "fake."

Stuart said yesterday that Lynch and Sharkey had set the rumor in circulation that Fitzsimmons intended to lay down, which had influenced the 'Frisco attendance.

The latest sensation is a statement by William Muldoon, the famous wrestler, regarding Fitzsimmons. Muldoon is an acknowledged authority among sporting men on all matters pertaining to training and physical culture, and his opinion carries great weight with it. He visited Cook's ranch and had a long talk with Fitzsimmons. He looked him over carefully in order to obtain as close an estimate as possible of Fitzsimmons' physical condition, and his opinion expressed after leaving Fitzsimmons' training quarters was not as favorable as it might have been.

"I did not like the looks of his eye," said Muldoon to a party of friends. "I took a walk with him and we had a long conversation. We discussed the fight and prospects of both men, and Fitzsimmons to me did not seem to be at all overconfident regarding the result."

Muldoon then went on to say that during his conversation with Fitzsimmons he told the fighter he had seen Corbett at work, and while stripped in his dressing room, and that in his opinion the champion was in first-class condition.

"I know it," said Fitzsimmons. "I know he is all right. I understand he was never in better condition than now."

Fitzsimmons has given up all hard work in his training, and from now until the day of the fight he will take only light exercise. Yesterday he took a short run to the penitentiary and back home, covering about four miles. He took his rubdown, and this ended his work for the day. Today he will take a short run on the roads and do a little work at punching the bag, and on Tuesday will do practically nothing.

Among the late comers at Cook's ranch is Billy Madden, who tried to make arrangements with Fitzsimmons to meet his man, Joe Goddard, in the ring in case he succeeds in defeating Corbett. Fitzsimmons was rather non-committal on the subject, and declared that in any event he would not consider the signing of articles to meet Goddard or any one else till after the fight.

"There will be plenty of time after the fight with Corbett," said Fitzsimmons, "to consider the question of fighting Goddard or any other man.

"Do you really think you are going to beat Corbett?" asked Madden. "You must remember he is a very clever man." Fitzsimmons looked at Madden in disgust and remarked:

"Will I beat him? Of course I will beat him. I tell you one thing right now, and that is that unless I force the fighting on Corbett he will not be able to lick me any where inside of six hours. I am going to beat him just as sure as there is a fight on March 17. I never have had any doubt on that score, and you will see that I have not over-rated myself nor under-rated Corbett."

At the conclusion of his interview with Fitzsimmons, Madden said he considered the red-headed fighter to be in the best possible condition.

"I have been in the ring many times," said Madden, "and I have been referee in several of his fights. I never saw him looking as well as he does now, and if he is defeated I do not think he can claim anything on the score of the lack of condition."

While Madden was talking to Fitzsimmons, Al Smith, who is the stakeholder of the fight, drove up. He was greeted cordially by Fitzsimmons, and the entire party entered the house for refreshments.

"You're looking well, Fitzsimmons," said Smith, "and I am glad to see you in such excellent condition. I have seen Corbett, and I know he is in the best of shape, and anybody that tells you otherwise is no friend of yours. This should be a fight without any excuses on the part of the loser."

Smith and Madden made but a brief call.

Mr. Smith said that the ruling of Siler, giving the men the right to strike with one arm free and in the breakaways, will probably make a short fight. He considered the ruling as being distinctly to the advantage of Fitzsimmons, who is particularly strong with his jabs. Mr. Smith said that Fitzsimmons' only show would be in mixing and close fighting, and that if he attempted to stand off and box he will have no show whatever.

Trainer White made several radical changes in Corbett's training yesterday. The 10-mile morning run was abandoned, the champion taking a substitute of 15 minutes walk around his quarters. About 10 o'clock he began the work of the day, White having decided that the afternoons hereafter shall be given up to short walks and resting. Corbett went at the wrist machine first, giving it about 15 minutes' attention, and then spent 20 minutes punching the bag. White allowed but three games of handball, and as Corbett and his brother, Joe succeeded in taking the three straight from their opponents, the champion went at his boxing in excellent humor. McVey was given the first round, and for five minutes was roughly handled in a wrestling bout fast enough to set the spectators to cheering vigorously. Joe Corbett sparred a round, Jeffries followed for three minutes, and then Woods with his swollen face and puffy pneumatic gear, was taken for the hardest work of the day. Corbett continued his practice of punching in the breakaway and succeeded in making Woods decidedly unhappy, despite the leather protection. Each of the four men was given two rounds, and a rubdown ended the training of the day.

White declared at the finish that his man has shown so much cleverness in the work at close quarters that further practice at that style of fighting will be abandoned. Today training will be light, and tomorrow Corbett will do no work beyond a short walk.

Dan Stuart has guaranteed his patrons a good day's sport Wednesday by notifying Smith and Green, Flaherty and Hawkins to be ready to be ready to go into the ring at the close of the big fight, if it proves to be a short one.

FATHER DEAD, SON IN JAIL.

Laudanum Stolen From Drug Store at Maynard Causes Much Trouble.

Boston, March 15.—A special to The Journal from Maynard states that the death of Cornelius Crowley Saturday, supposed to be from effects of an overdose of laudanum, administered by himself or an unknown person, has caused great excitement, inasmuch as a bottle of the drug was found in the house, and William E. Crowley, a son of the deceased, is under arrest for stealing the laudanum from a local drug store.

The store was robbed on Thursday night, and a large lot of candy, some toilet articles, and the laudanum was taken. On Friday considerable candy was seen in the Crowley house by a small boy, and the house was subsequently searched, with the result that not only was all the candy and other property discovered and identified, but the bottle of laudanum was also found, with half its contents gone, while in the kitchen sat old Mr. Crowley in an unconscious condition, supposed to be from the effects of the drug. The old man never regained consciousness. A man named Sparks, an inmate of the house, was also found unconscious on the same day, but has nearly recovered.

The bottle of laudanum was found up stairs in young Crowley's trunk, and he was placed under arrest for the burglary. Young Crowley pleaded not guilty at his arraignment for robbery, and was sent to the Cambridge jail. The district attorney and medical examiner are investigating the case.

Policeman's Bullet Killed Child.

Birmingham, Ala., March 15. — Two tragic deaths, a policeman shot and a small race riot in which a dozen persons were more or less hurt, constitute the net results of what occurred inside of 30 minutes on the South Side yesterday afternoon. A burglary was committed by Will Hunter, an notorious negro. Policeman William Perdue was detailed on the case, and he found Hunter and arrested him. Hunter drew his pistol and fired, striking Perdue in the jaw, inflicting a dangerous wound. The negro made a break for liberty, the officer pursuing and firing as he ran. After firing three shots the officer fell from exhaustion, his last shot wounding Hunter fatally in the back. It developed afterward that one of Perdue's shots killed Myrtie Boland, a 5-year-old girl, who was playing in an alley two blocks away. When the police finally took Hunter in charge a mob of negroes followed, threatening to rescue the wounded prisoner. A number of white men soon appeared on the scene, and a general free fight ensued between negroes and whites, in which fully a dozen persons were more or less hurt and several negroes badly beaten.

Chicago's Unemployed.

Chicago, March 15.—Unemployed men and women to the number of several hundred held a meeting last evening, at which they launched a "Declaration of Independence" against "King Plutocracy" in Chicago, and adopted resolutions against paying rents, except at the option of the tenants; indorsed the repeal of laws for the collection of debt, and formed the Unemployed Workmen's league. Speeches were made on the subject of finding work for the unemployed, and the potato and bean patch plans of the Salvation Army and others were disapproved. The call for the meeting stated that there are perhaps 100,000 unemployed men and women in Chicago, and a chief purpose of the gathering, as announced, was to verify the approximate member of those out of work and bring their condition to the attention of the proper authorities. The declaration of independence, which was adopted, is a paraphrase of the historic document of July 4, 1776, and "King Plutocracy" is the despot substituted for King George as the object of righteous invective.

To Ameliorate Seamen's Condition.

New York, March 15.—Representatives from a number of labor organizations and trade unions have arranged for a mass meeting, having for its object the amelioration of American seamen. The meeting will be held in Cooper Union on March 25, under the auspices of the Central Labor union of this city and Brooklyn, the Social Reform club, and the Atlantic Seacoast Seamen's union. Among the speakers at the meeting will be Bishop Potter, Father McGlynn, Henry George, Charles Frederick Adams, Samuel Gompers and Thomas B. McGuire. It is intended to hold similar meetings in various seaport cities in the United States on the same evening.

Death Affects Kentucky Senatorship.

Frankfort, Ky., March 15.—The sudden death of State Senator John P. Salyers, at his mountain home, was announced by telegrams here yesterday, and it created a profound sensation among the legislators. Salyers was a Democrat, and prominent in the senatorial fight of last winter. His death removes nearly the last doubt that Hunter, the present Republican nominee for United States senator, will be elected, whenever the joint ballot is had.

Germany Sends Arms to South Africa.

London, March 15.—The Daily Mail's Cape Town correspondent states that Germany has recently landed large munitions of war at Walfisch bay, a circumstance which excites suspicion. The Transvaal is also arming steadily, the shipments of ammunition, guns and military supplies, from France alone, amounting to 300 tons monthly. All are being lodged at important strategic points.

$6,000,000 Bridge.

Montreal, March 15.—The Quebec government has granted $500,000 toward the erection of the bridge across the St. Lawrence river, opposite Quebec. The bridge is to cost $6,000,000. The Dominion government is expected to grant at least $1,000,000 toward the structure.

Largest Land Owner In United States.

Keithsburg, Ills., March 15.—William Drury, the millionaire land owner, is dead. He was the largest individual land owner in the United States, having hundreds of thousands of acres in Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, and Texas, besides 6000 acres of the richest farming land in this county. He was 87 years of age, and came to this section in 1831. His investments were in farm lands and stock alone, and he added every year to his vast possessions. Mr. Drury was an Ohioan by birth.

A BICYCLE TOUR

Three gentlemen for a European tour purchased new hundred dollar bicycles. One a Columbia—the others of well-known high-grade manufacture. They had an agreeable trip—particularly the Columbia rider. Before returning to America, it being late in the year—and wishing to buy new machines in 1897—they sold their wheels to a London dealer. The Columbia bicycle brought $65.00. The others $40.00 and $35.00 respectively. But one of the many proofs of Columbia superiority. If you look a year ahead there is wise economy in

McKINLEY TO CONGRESS

President Communicates His Ideas on Governmental Economy.

Urges Passage of Bill to Increase Revenue.

No Mention of Anything but Financial Condition of Country

Washington, March 16.—President McKinley's message occupied wholly the attention of both houses of congress yesterday. The house met and organized with formal proceedings. After the message was read and the new tariff bill was introduced by Mr. Dingley and referred to the ways and means committee, the house adjourned until Thursday. The senate met, listened to the message and immediately adjourned.

Following is the president's message to congress:

To the Congress of the United States:

Regretting the necessity which has required me to call you together, I feel that your assembling in extraordinary session is indispensible because of the condition in which we find the revenues of the government. It is conceded that its current expenditures are greater than its receipts and that such a condition has existed for now more than three years. With unlimited means at our command, we are presenting the remarkable spectacle of increasing our public debt by borrowing money to meet the ordinary outlays incident upon even an economical and prudent administration of the government. An examination of the subject discloses this fact in every detail and leads inevitably to the conclusion that the condition of the revenue which allows it is unjustifiable and should be corrected.

We find by the reports of the secretary of the treasury that the revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, from all sources were $425,868,260.22, and the expenditures for all purposes were $415,-953,806.56, leaving an excess of receipts over expenditures of $9,914,453.66. During that fiscal year, $40,570,467.98 were paid upon the public debt, which had been reduced, since March 1, 1889, $259,-076,890, and the annual interest charge decreased $11,684,576.60.

The receipts of the government from all sources during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, amounted to $461,716,561.94, and its expenditures to $459,374,887.65, showing an excess of receipts over expenditures of $2,341,674.29.

Since that time the receipts of no fiscal year, and with but few exceptions of no month of any fiscal year, have exceeded the expenditures. The receipts of the government from all sources during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, were $372,802,498.29, and its expenditures $442,-605,758.87, leaving a deficit, the first since the resumption of specie payments, of $69,803,260.58.

Notwithstanding there was a decrease of $16,769,128.78 in the ordinary expenses of the government as compared with the previous fiscal year, its income was still not sufficient to provide for its daily necessities, and the gold reserve in the treasury for the redemption of greenbacks was drawn upon to meet them. But this did not suffice, and the government then resorted to loans to replenish the reserve.

In February, 1894, $50,000,000 in bonds were issued, and in November following a second issue of $50,000,000 was deemed necessary. The sum of $117,171,795 was realized by the sale of these bonds, but the reserve was steadily decreased, until on Feb. 8, 1895, a third sale of $62,315,-400 in bonds for $65,116,244 was announced to congress.

The receipts of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, were $390,-373,203.30, and the expenditures $433,178,-426.48, showing a deficit of $42,805,223.18. A further loan of $100,000,000 was negotiated by the government in February, 1896, the sale netting $111,166,246 and swelling the aggregate of bonds issued within three years to $262,315,400. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, the revenues of the government from all sources amounted to $409,475,408.78, while its expenditures were $434,678,654.48, or an excess of expenditures over receipts of $25,203,245.70. In other words, the total receipts for the three fiscal years ending June 30, 1896, were insufficient by $137,-811,729.46 to meet the total expenditures.

Nor has this condition since improved. For the first half of the present fiscal year the receipts of the government exclusive of postal revenues were $157,507,-603.76, and its expenditures exclusive of postal service $195,410,000.22, or an excess of expenditures over receipts of $37,902,-396.46.

In January of this year the receipts, exclusive of postal revenues, were $24,316,-994.05, and the expenditures, exclusive of postal service, $40,269,389.25, a deficit of $5,952,395.24 for the month.

In February of this year the receipts, exclusive of postal revenues, were $24,-400,997.38; expenditures, exclusive of postal service, $28,796,056.66, a deficit of $4,395,059.28; or a total deficiency of $186,-061,580.44 for the three years and eight months ending March 1, 1896.

Not only are we without a surplus in the treasury, but with an increase in the public debt there has been a corresponding increase in the annual interest charge from $22,893,883.20 in 1892, the lowest of any year since 1862, to $34,387,297.60 in 1896, or an increase of $11,493,414.40.

It may be urged that even if the revenues of the government had been sufficient to meet all its ordinary expenses, during the past three years, the gold reserve would still have been insufficient to meet the demands upon it, and that bonds would necessarily have been issued for its completion. Be this as it may, it is clearly manifest without denying or affirming the correctness of such a conclusion that the debt would have been decreased in at least the amount of the deficiency and business confidence immeasurably strengthened throughout the country.

Congress should promptly correct the existing condition. Ample revenues must be supplied, not only for the ordinary expenses of the government, but for the prompt payment of liberal pensions, and the liquidation of the principal and interest of the public debt. In raising revenue duties should be so levied upon foreign products as to preserve the home market, so far as possible, to our own producers; to revive and increase manufactures; to relieve and encourage agriculture; to increase our domestic and foreign commerce; to aid and develop mining and buildings; and to render to labor in every field of useful occupation the liberal wage and adequate rewards to which skill and industry are justly entitled.

The necessity of the passage of a tariff law which shall provide ample revenue, need not be further urged. The imperative demand of the hour is the prompt enactment of such a measure, and to this object I earnestly recommend that congress shall make every endeavor. Before other business is transacted let us first provide sufficient revenue to faithfully administer the government without the contracting of further debt or the continued disturbance of our finances.

WILLIAM McKINLEY.

Executive mansion, March 15, 1897.

The four appropriation bills which failed to receive President Cleveland's signature were reintroduced in the house. The Indian bill was introduced by Mr. Sherman, who was chairman of the Indian committee in the last house, the sundry civil and deficiency bills by Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriation committee, the agricultural by Mr. Wadsworth. All are unchanged, except the general deficiency bill, which has been altered by striking out almost the entire list of senate amendments.

HILL'S FAREWELL'S WORDS.

Ex-Senator Pays Friendly Tribute to Washington and to the Senate.

Washington, March 16.—Ex-Senator Hill, who left here last night to return to his law practice in New York, pays a friendly parting tribute to Washington and to the senate in an interview in The Star. Senator Hill says the attractions of social life at the Capitol are one of the greatest temptations to a public man; that "politics, like art, is a jealous mistress, and a politician cannot give his days to debates and his evenings to dinners without imperiling his success."

Regarding the limitation of debate in the senate he said that he, himself, had introduced and advocated a mild cloture measure, but while such a rule was necessary and would come in time, there was as much danger in too close limitation of debate as in no restriction at all. The senate, he said, was intended to be a safeguard against haste or immaturity in legislation, and consequently should be left with a free hand, though not as free as at present.

On the subject of the senate as now composed, he said:

"It is a strong body, and no one is better qualified to judge it than one who has served in it."

He paid a particular tribute to Senator Hoar, with whom he had served on the judiciary committee. Regarding his future plans he would say nothing further than that he had not yet considered the possibility of another candidacy, and that the future could be met only as it unfolded itself.

Canadians Don't Like Lumber Tax.

Toronto, March 16.—The new United States tariff schedules on lumber and lumber manufactures were shown to several representatives of Canadian lumber companies. They all denounced the bill. Said the president of the Georgian Bay Lumber company: "It is nothing more or less than a direct blow at the white pine trade of Canada. The American has the advantage of a protection of $2, as against Canadians, while they get our logs free of duty. If the United States places $2 duty on pine lumber, Canadian lumbermen will demand of the government such action on the export of saw logs as will make Americans feel some of the disadvantages they are trying to impose on the lumber trade of Canada." George H. Bertram, vice president of the Collins Inlet Lumber company, also regarded the $2 duty on pine lumber the chief feature concerning Canada. "The American import duty of $2 per thousand on pine must be met by an export duty on logs," he said. "Of course, if this is done we are threatened with a 25 per cent increase over and above the $2 on white pine, which would seriously affect the whole Georgian bay lumber trade. If Americans are determined to enforce tariff legislation against Canadian lumber which will result in injury to themselves, we can afford to be just as independent.

JULIAN'S LAST DEMAND

Fitzsimmons Won't Fight Before Camera Unless He Shares In Profits.

Stuart Says Only Death Will Stop Fight Tomorrow.

Flaherty-Hawkins and Smith-Green Matches on the Program.

Carson, Nev. March 16.—Dan Stuart is up against another snag in the person of Martin Julian, who has demanded one-third of the receipts that may come to Stuart from exhibiting the photographs of the fight. At the time of the signing of articles of agreement, Julian asked for a share of the money that would accrue from this, and he was told by Stuart that if any bids were made for the right to take pictures of the fight Julian would be given a chance to be in on the returns. No bids have been made, however, as Stuart has been intending to take the photographs with a machine which belongs to him for the most part.

Julian has told Stuart he wanted the receipts from the exhibition of photographs to be divided into three equal parts, one to go to Stuart, one to Fitzsimmons and Julian, and the remaining third to Corbett. Julian said that if this demand was not granted Fitzsimmons would refuse to fight before the camera, although he was willing to fight for the purse if the camera is taken from the arena. The pictures are considered by Stuart his one chance of getting back some of the money he has advanced for the fighters in the last three years, and he is much worried over the demand made by Julian.

Dan Stuart, when asked concerning the demand made by Julian, said: "There is one thing certain, and that is there will be a fight between Fitzsimmons and Corbett tomorrow. I have not had any trouble with Julian, and I do not expect to have any. There are certain things governing this thing, and if Julian is not willing to abide by them he can pack his trunk and go home. That contingency will not arise, however, and I am entirely safe in saying that any trouble I may have with anybody will not prevent the fight from coming off. Nothing that has arisen up to this time and that may hereafter arise between Mr. Julian and myself or any other person and myself is going to prevent that fight. It will surely come off if one of the principals does not die by the time set for the battle. Julian will have his man in that ring on March 17 if I do not countermand my present arrangements to the men to be ready to fight on the morning of that day, and I have no intention of countermanding my arrangements."

Notwithstanding his difficulty with Julian, Stuart has no doubt that the big fight will be pulled off according to program, for he says that three fights will be pulled off March 17. The present program is to have the great fight at as close to 11 a. m. as possible, and they have been ordered to be in their dressing rooms by 10. If the sun is not favorable to the taking of pictures the Smith-Green fight will be put on, and a wait will be made in this way until the sunlight is favorable. If conditions do suit the photographer at the end of the first fight then the big one will be called in all probability, though the sun may be given a second chance by putting in Flaherty and Hawkins before Fitzsimmons and Corbett have been called into the arena. No matter what the conditions may be at the termination of the Flaherty-Hawkins fight the event of the day will be called and the photographer must take his chances. If the great fight should be first, the other two will follow in short order, and it is the present intention of Stuart, weather permitting, to have all the three fights in one day.

Muldoon has been sizing the men up and has no choice. He says: "It's like tossing up a cent, both men ought to win on form.

"I have now seen both of them, and it is apparent that their physical condition could not be better. They are heavier than I thought they would be, particularly Fitz.

"Corbett's excess of weight is not a very great advantage. It comes from the hips down. If we could weigh the trunks we would find Fitz to be the heavier, and that is where weight counts.

"Both men are capable of enduring a great deal, but I do not look for a particularly long fight. The new rules will tend to shorten matters.

"I do not consider that Corbett is worth 10 to 6. The betting should be even. Corbett's friends are carried away by his former victories."

John L. Sullivan arrived last night and was given a great reception. He addressed the crowd, and said he intended to challenge the winner of the big fight.

Work has ceased at the two training camps, and the trainers are not unhappy thereat. They have been mauled and punched and hugged by their respective principals until they are about worn out.

Fitzsimmons did nothing today except to take a short walk. Corbett also walked a little this morning and then played a game of handball. After a short turn at the wrist machine he announced the end of his training.

Confidence of winning pervades both the training camps, where nothing is being done today except a lot of talking by admirers of the big 'uns and a deal more of thinking by Robert and James. Neither Corbett or Fitzsimmons will give any tip on their proposed line of battle, and dismiss all attempts to learn anything in that direction by saying: "Wait till tomorrow and you will know all about it."

Every pugilist, trainer and sport in Carson expresses the opinion that both men are in fine condition, and all look for a magnificent contest of science and endurance. Not as much money has been wagered on the result as was expected, owing to the fact that Fitzsimmons' cohorts are either shy of coin or not anxious to back their favorite to any great extent.

THE ESTIMATES of the Mayor and City Treasurer submitted to the City Council Monday evening show a marked increase over 1896. Taken as a whole, the grand total including the school budget, debt, interest, and water appropriations is $21,830.50 in excess of the amount appropriated in the annual order last year.

The amount for current expenses (which excludes debt, interest and water) is $231,975 00 against $227,968.00 last year. The difference is really greater than is apparent, for the water revenue, which is reckoned an income, is reduced $4,100 by the failure to include appropriations for hydrants and fountains.

In the report of the proceedings of the City Council, the LEDGER has placed the appropriations of 1896 side by side with the estimates for 1897, which will be handy for comparison.

It will be noticed that some specific appropriations made in 1896 are not made this year. These include: Inspection of plumbing, $500; Fountains, $200; Hydrants, $3,900; Library insurance, $328.

Decreases will be noted in a few items, the most striking being in Miscellaneous Expenses, $2000; and $250 for horses, harness and hose in fire department.

The important increases are $1000 for City Hospital, $500 for maintenance of water department, and about $10,000 for schools. The maturing debt is $15,740 larger, and $2,668 56 more is wanted for interest.

In his inaugural address Mayor Adams said the limit which could be raised by taxation for current expenses was $210,400 yet the estimates amount to $231,975.00, and, with the item of $7,000 for interest on temporary loans which should be included in current expenses, amounts to $238,975.00. It is sailing pretty close to the wind to appropriate $28,575 of the estimated receipts, which as already noted have been reduced $4,100.

The most serious proposition of the Mayor and Treasurer is "that the appropriations for each department be made under one head and not itemized." This should not prevail and meets with little favor. Under the recommendation the appropriations would be made as follows:

Board of Assessors,	$ 1,350
Board of Health,	3,300
Public Burial Places,	4,600
Contingent Fund for Council,	100
Pay of City officers,	15,000
City Clerk's department,	1,420
Fire department,	18,850
Clerical services to Tax Collector,	400
Clerical services to City Treasurer,	450
Committee on Finance,	2,350
Department of Public Works,	53,825
Thomas Crane Public Library,	5,950
Law department,	50
Park Commissioners,	500
Police department,	12,000
Miscellaneous expenses,	4,000
State and Soldiers' Aid,	4 600
Poor department,	9,000
School department,	94,230
Water department,	43,024

There could be no objection to making some of the appropriations as above, as ten have been made that way in the past, but we anticipate there would be objection to giving the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department the lump sum of $18, 850, or the Commissioner of Public Works the lump sum of $53,825. Until recently the county appropriations were made by the Legislature in a lump sum, but Norfolk county people know how it was abused. How the sums were asked for various purposes and then used for the construction of an expensive court house. Then the Legislature itemized the appropriations and allowed transfers by the board for reason, but this was abused also, and the Legislature has forbid transfers except in certain items.

With $18,850 for fire department there would be nothing to prevent the purchase of one or two more steamers or any extravagance, and when the appropriation run low to ask for more for some urgent current expense. With $53,825.00 for public works the Commissioner might put $25,000 into street lighting or to any such use. The same criticism would hold true in the police department, school department or other large departments.

The few transfers that are asked of the Council are not burdensome, but serve to enlighten the Council as to expenditures.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

The Mayor and Treasurer Submit Annual Estimates.

Which the Ledger Compares With Appropriations of 1896.

A Recommendation that Appropriations be by Departments

The City Council held a regular meeting last evening, all members being present.

A communication was received from the City Auditor stating that a bill of $26 for removal of snow in December, 1896, had been received by him and there were no funds. The Auditor was authorized to take the amount from the appropriation of 1897.

A communication was received from the Mayor reappointing William T. Shea as Sewer Commissioner.

A communication was received from the Sewer Commissioners stating that $3,090 44 of the appropriation of $5,000 for preliminary surveys had been expended. The communication also enclosed a report of Engineer Branch, showing the work done by his department. Placed on file.

Annual Estimates.

A communication was received from the Mayor and City Treasurer, as follows:

"In submitting the annual estimates we beg to recommend that the appropriations for each department be made under one head and not itemized. We advise this believing it will increase the economy and efficiency of the administration of the city's affairs and avoid troubling the Council to make numerous petty transfers at the end of each year."

The estimates follow, and for comparison the LEDGER has added the appropriations as made in the annual order last year, and also affixed the estimates of the School Committee. Comments on the figures appear in another column of this issue. The estimates

The Training School.

The first of the two lessons on "Church Leaders and their Writings," in the course of the Training School at the Bethany church, was conducted last evening by Rev. Robert Westly Peach. Mr. Peach took up the writings of Paul, and in a very interesting and forceful manner gave the chief thoughts and characteristics of each of his epistles.

The lecturer, Rev. G. A. Phinney of Cambridge, took for his subject "The equipment of Apollos," and in presenting the life, courage and zeal of this early christian worker, drew many pertinent lessons for the christian of today.

On next Monday evening Mr. Peach will continue his subject, "Church Leaders and their Writings," discussing the characteristics of the remaining epistles, and Rev. William Gallagher, Ph. D, of Thayer academy, will deliver a lecture on a tour of Palestine, illustrated by the stereopticon.

Braintree Town Meeting.

The adjourned town meeting took place in Braintree yesterday and Moderator Scollard made a mark for himself by the manner in which he conducted it. Heretofore the hall has resembled a smoking car and many have refrained from attending the meetings on that account, but this time things were different.

Promptly at the hour of nine Mr. Scollard requested those present to be seated and appointed Officer Qualey to act as usher. He then called upon Rev. A. A. Ellsworth who offered prayer, after which the Moderator stated that the laws of the state forbids smoking in town meetings and that those present must abstain.

The business of the day was then taken up and from beginning to end the meeting was carried on in a dignified manner.

There was the usual amount of discussion over the appropriations but the oratory was of a higher order than usual.

The following resolutions offered by Judge French were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the citizens of Braintree in their annual town meeting assembled have learned with keen regret that Samuel A. Bates, Esq, who has filled the responsible position of Town Clerk for the last 25 years is unable longer to serve in that capacity by reason of failing health.

Possessed of a thorough knowledge of the complicated duties of the office, Mr. Bates has also been an authentic and critical student of the early history of this ancient town and has rendered valuable service in bringing to light and verifying important incidents connected with that history as well as by rectifying errors and supplying deficiencies in the official records.

We extend to him the thanks of the town for his long continued public service and express the hope that the evening of his life may be peaceful and happy.

Resolved,—That these resolutions be entered at large upon the records of the town and that a certified copy of the same be transmitted to Mr. Bates by the Town Clerk.

The appropriations recommended generally prevailed; some however went over until the next meeting.

Art Reception.

A large reception of ladies and gentlemen was held at Mr. Theodore Hardwick's, on Chestnut street, yesterday afternoon, to allow the pictures of Mr. Silas B. Duffield, Jr., one of Quincy's rising young artists, to be seen.

The curtain, which used to grace the pulpit of the First church, was taken as a back ground, being the conventional color desired, and the texture deepened the color, so it was a good beginning for what was a new departure in social life, a private art reception.

Upon this back ground suspended from the ceiling of the beautiful reception room, itself an art centre, forty-seven water colors were arranged, generally with broad light brown panels, but many with gilt panels. Beside these, were a few designs for covers of books by Mr. Samuel Warner, from Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Duffield's subjects were generally views of scenery taken in New England, and as there are many taken in our own picturesque city, their interest was increased. There were pictures of the Foot of River street, Quincy; a winter morning, Quincy; the Point, the Neck; one of Gull island, larger, with the deep salt marshes in rich color, the sea beyond, and the smooth outlined island with its growth of trees bathed in deep purple color.

Some views of old boats taken in Quincy, with similar ones from Maine, seemed to receive the most approval, yet the delicacy and refinement in the treatment which marked these, characterized all of the pieces. There were a few artists, students, and some of experience, among the guests, and the verdict was that the water colors generally were of more than ordinary excellence.

There was nowhere any evidence of haste in the work, but they showed in detail, an eye for color and a careful hand.

The view of the rear of Kennebec Steamboat wharf, Boston, was a typical old New England view, such as are too often beginning to dissolve in these days of improvements.

There were most exquisite little clusters of carnations and violets, a few genre pictures and several designs for interior decorations, one especially in yellow for a dining room which received notice from all. They were fine in detail and this one of fine coloring.

Altogether it was evident that we as a people are reaching out in a comparatively new direction, that of art, and this introduction of this artist to her friends, was a double service by Mrs. Hardwick.

The dining room was presided over by lady friends who poured tea, the receipe for which came from a Chinaman from afar. The table had a central dish of ferns.

In the entrance hall, a big bowl of jonquils with their beautiful colors of blossom and leaf gave the first hint of an atmosphere of artistic refinement, completed by the gathering of fashionable ladies and gentlemen, the graceful hospitality, and the kind intent of the occasion.

The prices of the pictures were affixed to the numbers on the catalogue, and they were made low to suit the exigencies of the times. They found some ready purchasers.

A TIE MATCH.

The Quincys Needed Only a Pin to Break Record.

Costello's star aggregation came near doing something last evening, and at short notice, for it was not expected until a few hours before that the match would be rolled until Wednesday evening.

The Quincys had as rivals the Lenox team, which stands next to the bottom in games won. The match was bowled at Costello's alleys and really got exciting as the game progressed.

The first string was won by the Quincys by 5 pins, but a victory by the Lenox in the second gave the visitors a net lead of 6 The Quincys started out strong in the last string, leading by 34 at the end of the fourth round. At the end of the sixth they had almost lost their advantage but at the end of the eighth they had a lead of 12. The final was hot and every ball was closely watched and poor ones applauded as well as the "good eye ones". Quincys won by 6 pins and the grand result was a tie, 1178 to 1178.

The Nugent burial case which attracted some attention at West Quincy some time ago because it was proposed to open a small pox grave, has been settled out of court. The body was taken from its temporary resting place on Monday and buried in the lot.

Mr. J. Franklin Burrell a well known resident of Quincy died at Westboro, Monday afternoon where he has been for nearly two years. Mr. Burrell was a bootmaker during his early life, but of late years he has been unable to follow any business owing to ill health. Although well advanced in years Mr. Burrell was a great as well as a rapid walker, and many who were not personally acquainted with him will recall the long white haired old gentleman who almost daily took long walks through Quincy and the surrounding towns. Mr. Burrell was 73 years of age and leaves a widow, two daughters and a son.

—The Christian Leader says: "Some of the mechanics of the Universalist society at Quincy, taking advantage of the dull season, have kindly given their services in reparing the outside of the church, preparatory to painting, which we hope and believe will come later in the spring. The church sadly needs what soldiers sometimes fear—a dose of lead. The outside is very dry and is crying out for a double coat of paint; and our people are anticipating the joy and delight they will feel when this stately building is permitted to reveal its handsome proportions and its real beauty to the eye. I am sure we shall not feel satisfied to let the season go by without this much-needed improvement. More than half the money required to paint the church is in sight and we feel confident the balance will come along soon."

IN THE SPRING.

Puritana Is the Safest and Surest Remedy.

THE universal custom of taking a spring remedy is founded on a natural instinct implanted in us for our own good.

The heat-producing foods of winter leave the system clogged. Confinement in warm rooms, with lack of outdoor exercise, makes all the organs weak and torpid. Those who neglect to use a remedy or fail to get the right one are inviting serious troubles. Most chronic diseases start in the spring. The end of winter finds thousands with such symptoms as these: A general unfitness for work with either head or hands. A worn-out, tired-out feeling that cannot be overcome. There is sleeplessness, or restless sleep. Numbness of hands or feet. A sence of pressure in the head, with a feeling of gloom or despondency. There may be fluttering or palpitation of the heart. Frequently a pain in the heart or under the left shoulder. There may be rushes of blood to the head, or throbbing in the ears at times.

Kidney and liver troubles may be looked for if your digestion has not been perfect. There is fulness or pain in the right side, or pain under the right shoulder. Distaste for food, with nausea in the morning. Complexion is blotched or sallow. Tongue is coated or mouth foul. There is a dull, sleepy feeling, with disinclination to breathe deeply. If the kidneys are in danger there will be pain, weakness, or soreness in small of back, and perhaps occasional sharp pains. Urine is scanty, high colored, and on standing becomes cloudy, or deposits a red sediment. There are apt to be frequent headaches. Sores and skin eruptions frequently come.

All these various symptoms are common to spring, and show that the vital organs need renovating and prompt repair. Bright's disease, jaundice, rheumatism, and heart troubles start from just such conditions as these. No two persons will have the same set of symptoms, but any of those enumerated are important. The organs must be strengthened and repaired. Repair can only come through active digestion, and Puritana is the remedy to rely on. It will vitalize the entire body and give you a spring of buoyant, vigorous health. Clear complexion, sharp appetite, and the power to do things, is the sure reward of taking Puritana.

Washington, March 16.—Following is a synopsis of the new tariff bill, furnished by Chairman Dingley of the ways and means committee:

NELSON DINGLEY, JR.

"A—Chemicals, $3,500,000; B—Crockery and glassware, $4,000,000; C—Metals, $4,000,000; D—Wood, $1,000,000; E—Sugar, $21,750,000; F—Tobacco, $7,000,000; G—Agricultural, $6,300,000; H—Liquors, $1,800,000; I—Cottons, $1,700,000; J—Jute, linen and hemp, $7,800,000; K—Wool, $17,500,000; do. manufacturers of wool, $27,000,000; L—Silks, $1,500,000; M—Pulp and paper, $58,000; N—Sundries, $6,200,000.

"This estimate is on the supposition that the imports of each class of goods would be the same the next fiscal year as in the fiscal year ended last June. But as the imports of wool were three times as great in pounds as in 1893, the committee assumes that the excessive importation would be largely reduced by the proposed bill, although the fact that our domestic production of wool has diminished 8,000,000 pounds since 1893 will necessitate the importation of much more wool now than in the latter year. Assuming that the importations of wool will fall off at least one-third from those of 1896, on account of anticipatory imports to avoid duties, we place the increased revenue from this source at $11,000,000.

"Anticipating also that the imports of woolens will fall off nearly 50 per cent from the enormous imports of 1896, we estimate the increased revenue from this source under the proposed rates at about $14,000,000. From sugar we estimate $20,000,000 additional revenue. Anticipating a considerable falling off of imports of Havana tobacco because of the revolution in Cuba we reduce the estimates of additional revenue to be derived from the tobacco schedule to $4,000,000. The remaining schedules would afford a revenue of about $39,500,000 on the basis of the imports of 1896, but as there would probably be diminished imports at some points, although the gradual restoration of business activity would offset this by increasing the consumption of imported luxuries, we reduce the estimates on those to $31,000,000. These would aggregate an additional revenue of $80,000,000 the first year.

"A further reduction of $5,000,000 or $10,000,000 for contingencies would leave $70,000,000 to $75,000,000 as the probable increased revenue from this bill the first year, which would undoubtedly rise to $100,000,000 the second year.

"These estimates are below, rather than above, the probable result, unless a considerable delay in the enactment of the bill should greatly hurt the opportunity for imports of articles on which duties are to be raised—particularly wool and woolens—for speculative purposes. Undoubtedly any delay beyond May 1 in placing the bill on the statute books would result in a large loss of revenue.

"This increase of revenue is secured by transferring wool, lumber, crude opium, argols, paintings and statuary, straw ornaments, straw mattings, burlaps, and various other articles from the free list of the present law to the dutiable list; by increasing the duty on woolens to compensate the manufacturer for the duty placed on wool; by raising the duty on sugar about ⅜ of a cent per pound in order to encourage the production of sugar in this country, which it is believed can be done and thus give our farmers a new crop, which we now import mainly from abroad; by increasing the duty on agricultural products affected by Canadian competition and on fine cotton goods, some advanced manufactures of iron and steel, manufactures of jute, flax and hemp, in order to encourage these and other industries here, and especially by increasing duties on such luxuries as liquors, tobacco, silks and laces, etc.

"As a rule the rates of duties proposed are between the rates of the tariff of 1890 and the tariff of 1894, such reduction of rates from the former law, preservative of the protective principle, being made feasible by changed conditions.

"The iron and steel schedule is changed very little from that schedule in the tariff of 1894, the change being entirely in the more advanced articles. The same is true of the cottons schedule. In the agricultural, wool and glass and earthenware schedules alone are the duties of the act of 1890 fully restored as a rule, and in a few cases increased with the view of amply protecting and encouraging our farming interests at every possible point. While the duty on clothing wool is larger in proportion to the foreign value than on manufactured articles, yet it is thought desirable for the public interest and for our agriculture that we should produce this prime necessity for ourselves. The duty on carpet wools, as well as upon many other articles, is imposed mainly for revenue. The circulation caused by the use of a few wools heretofore classed as carpet wools being used for clothing purposes has been remedied by transferring such wools to the clothing wool classes, but the duty on clothing wool has been restored to the rate of the act of 1890.

"In framing this new tariff the aim has been to make the duties specific, or at least partly specific, as far as possible, to protect the revenue and also to protect our own industries. This has been done in response to the wishes of the better class of importers, as well as of the administrators of the law and of our own producers. The very general substitution of specific duties, even where they are only the equivalent of existing ad valorems, will of itself increase the revenue and strengthen the protection afforded to our industries.

"The reciprocity provisions of the act of 1890 have not only been fully restored, but this policy has been extended by adding to sugar, tea, coffee and hides as articles on which to make reciprocal agreements, such articles as champagne, brandy, wines, artificial and natural mineral waters, chickle, argols and silk laces. In adding these articles the reciprocity provision is strengthened greatly by providing for a reduction of duties to countries giving us similar concessions.

"The bill as a whole has the unanimous support of the Republican members of the ways and means committee, and will, it is hoped, receive the support not only of Republicans, but of others, who believe that revenue should be at least equal to expenditures, with a small surplus added, and who are patriotic enough to entertain the conviction that in adjusting duties to secure such revenue it is a wise policy to encourage home production and manufactures, and thus provide employment at good wages for the wage-earners of our people, upon whose purchasing power depends the market for our products."

GUN EXPLODES.

Fourteen Men Killed on Board a Russian Vessel at Canea.

London, March 16.—The correspondent of The Times at Canea says that while the gunners of the Russian ironclad Cessoi Veliki were practicing yesterday afternoon a gun burst, blowing the top off a turret. Fourteen men and one officer were killed. Sixteen were wounded, five fatally.

The Athens correspondent of The Times is informed on high authority that the advance of the Turkish troops across the frontier is now confidently expected. Fifteen thousand Greek troops embarked last night and today for Folo, in Thessaly. The government is reserving 16,000 pounds specie for the payment of the July coupons.

The Daily Chronicle says that the ultimatum to precede the blockade will take the humiliating form of a peremptory summons from the admirals to the Greek authorities. The Chronicle believes that, although owing to pressure brought to bear by the powers, Bulgaria and Servia will remain neutral, yet in the event of war Servia will send troops into Old Servia to establish her claims there.

Canea, March 16.—There is nothing new in the situation here, but a sensation has been caused by the report that the Itiallan vice consul's report calls for a strict consular inquiry. The difficulty is that no competent interpreters are available.

The Mussulmans make the most of the affair, and accuse the Christians of plotting their extermination, on the ground that their presence is the only objection which Europe entertains to the annexation of Crete by Greece. The exasperated Moslems are finding an outlet for their rage in a wholesale pillaging.

$1,000,000 FIRE.

Fireproof Building at St. Louis Destroyed. Casualties Among Firemen.

St. Louis, March 16.—Fire broke out at 8 o'clock on the fourth floor of the building occupied by the Ely Walker Dry Goods company. The fire department was badly hampered, and it was 15 minutes after the first engine arrived before a stream of water was playing.

A maze of overhead wires had to be cut away, and the street was jammed with the cars of four lines. Within half an hour the fire shot up the elevator shaft and all the upper floors were ablaze. The building is seven stories high and every floor was filled with merchandise.

The fire is supposed to have been caused by crossed electric light wires. At 9 o'clock the fire poured out of all the upper windows and had worked down to the second floor.

Fireman Lee Smith fell from the third floor through to the basement and was fatally injured. Mark Barton, a porter, was overcome with smoke and was revived with difficulty. He is in a serious condition.

A member of the dry goods firm estimates the loss at $1,000,000 on stock. The concern is the largest wholesale dry goods house in the city, and its stock was valued at $1,500,000.

The building is made of granite and is thought to be the most perfect slow combustion structure in the city. Loss on the building will be $100,000, covered by $200,000 insurance.

The dry goods company is insured for $1,000,000. The insurance is mostly with eastern companies.

The east wall of the building stands directly over the railroad tunnel, 33 feet below, leading from the Eads bridge to Union station. There are fears that the falling of the mass of granite would crush the tunnel.

Iasigi to Be Extradited.

Albany, March 16.—Governor Black has decided to grant the requisition of Governor Wolcott of Massachusetts for the extradition of Joseph A. Iasigi, the Turkish consul general at Boston, under arrest in New York city for embezzling, with the proviso that the chief of police of New York city should not execute it until the United States court had decided the appeal which Iasigi's counsel has taken from the order of Justice Brown, refusing to grant a writ of habeas corpus.

Secretary to Vice President.

Washington, March 16.—Vice President Hobart has selected as his private secretary Frederick Evans, Jr., of Newark, N. J., a well known newspaper man of his state. Mr. Evans has entered upon his duties, succeeding Louis G. Stevenson, a son of ex-Vice President Stevenson. Mr. Evans is a graduate of Princeton, in the class of '86, and has been connected with the New York Tribune and New York Advertiser.

Panic Among Importers.

New York, March 16.—When on Saturday last withdrawals of imports from bonded warehouses reached the remarkable total of $1,488,000 it was believed that the panic developed on Wednesday had reached its culmination. Yesterday's aggregate showed, however, that the panic had only really begun on Saturday. When the doors of the custom house closed at 5 P. M. Cashier Northrup had collected exactly $2,667,979.51. This aggregate is the largest in the history of the New York custom house for one day, the previous record being $2,308,000, made in 1892, when the late A. T. Stewart made his famous payment of $1,000,000 on goods withdrawn. Yesterday's record-breaking total was made up of $2,178,515.36 of withdrawals from bonded warehouse and $489,464.15 paid in direct duties upon yesterday's port arrivals. The largest sum received from one firm was $190,000. Most of the goods involved in the panic are raw sugar, woolens, dress goods and tobacco.

Princeton's Baseball Team.

Princeton, N. J., March 16.—The last weeding out of the baseball candidates before the southern trip took place yesterday, when seven men were dropped. Nineteen players remain, as follows: Catchers, Kafer and Geer; pitchers, Easton, Wilson, Jayne and Guerin; first basemen, Crookston and Kelly; second basemen, Sankey and Butler; third basemen, Bartlett, Hillebrand and Watkins; shortstops, Angle and McGibbon; fielders, Bradley, Suter, Robinson and Thompson.

Reward For Gloucester Policeman.

Boston, March 16.—Judge Aldrich, in the United States district court, has ordered that a reward of $400 be given Richard P. O'Reilly, a police officer of Gloucester, for information given the government which resulted in the seizure of smuggled liquors in Gloucester in 1893.

World's Fly Casting Record.

San Francisco, March 16.—Walter Mansfield has broken the world's record at the San Francisco Fly Casting club tournament. He dropped his fly in the waters of Stow lake, 108½ feet from the wharf, where he stood. His rod weighed nine ounces, and was 10 feet long.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills.

It is, or should be, the highest aim of every merchant to please his customers; and that the wide-awake drug firm of Meyers & Eshleman, Sterling, Ill., is doing so, is proven by the following, from Mr. Eshleman: "In my sixteen years' experience in the drug business I have never seen or sold or tried a medicine that gave as good satisfaction as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." Sold by A. G. Durgin.

—A clergyman out in Missouri is trying to induce the legislature to make a law taxing bachelors. "When a man is 22 and unmarried," said he, "he ought to be taxed $100; when 23 he should be taxed $200. The tax should be increased $100 a year until he is 30.

Making the baby happy is a womanly woman's best pleasure. It is easy to make a healthy baby happy. Such a baby is born happy. Smiles and dimples are as natural to it as fretfulness is to a puny, sickly child. It rests with every woman whether her baby shall be healthy and happy, or puny and miserable. If during the period preceding maternity a woman takes proper care of the organs upon which the perpetuation of the race depends, she insures the health of herself and child. It is easy to do this. The proper medicine is at hand. Over 90,000 women have testified in writing to the value of it.

The organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible are directly acted upon by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It prepares for maternity. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period. It insures baby's health and makes its advent easy and almost painless. Druggists sell more of the "Favorite Prescription" than of all other similar medicines combined.

"I am anxious to add my testimonial to your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. C. G. Brandon, of Fort Grant, Graham Co., Ariz. "I had been using the 'Prescription' for several months previous to my confinement, and I am sure I have been benefited greatly from the time I commenced to use it. I feel fully as well as ever I did in my life. Up to the very day when the baby was born I did all my own housework; and during confinement I had not the least symptoms of fever. The 'ordeal' was nothing to what I expected."

The woman who owns a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser probably does not realize at once all that she gave in exchange for it. There was the price of $1.50. That paid for the large volume of 1,008 pages. Then, as day by day she looked into these pages, one by one she gave away her anxieties for her family's health. She learned how to make her children well. In the chapters especially treating of her own weaknesses, she learned the causes and the cures. 680,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 each. Now an edition in strong paper covers, will be distributed FREE. Send 21 one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., to cover the cost of mailing only. Send 31 stamps for cloth binding.

SCROFULA AND ERYSIPELAS

Two Diseases That Cause Their Victims to Be Shunned by Their Fellow-Man.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.

GENTLEMEN: I commenced taking P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, last Fall, for Erysipelas. My face was completely covered with the disease; I took a short course of P. P. P., and it soon disappeared. This Spring I became much debilitated and again took another course, and I am now in good condition. I consider P. P. P. one of the best blood preparations on the market, and for those who need a general tonic to build up the system and improve the appetite I consider that it has no equal. Will say, anyone who cares to try P. P. P. will not be disappointed in its results, and I, therefore, cheerfully recommend it.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.

GENTLEMEN: Last June I had a scrofulous sore which broke out on my ankle. It grew rapidly, and soon extended from my ankle to my knee. I got one bottle of your P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and was agreeably surprised at the result. The entire sore healed at once. I think I have taken almost every medicine recommended for scrofula and catarrh, and your P. P. P. is the best I have ever tried. It cannot be recommended too highly for blood poison, etc.

Yours very truly,
W. P. HUNTER.

P. P. P. cures all blood and skin disease, both in men and women.

Rheumatism, which makes man's life a hell upon earth, can be relieved at once by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy. It makes a PERMANENT cure.

AWAITING THE GONG.

Fitzsimmons and Corbett Prepared to Fight For World's Championship.

Expected to Be Greatest Contest In Ring Annals.

Corbett Has Been the Favorite In Betting All Along---Fitz' Chances.

Carson, Nev., March 17.—Trained to the acme of perfection, every muscle, every ligament, every organ in as good condition as human skill can place men endowed by nature with great strength and health, Bob Fitzsimmons and James J. Corbett awoke this morning, each hopeful and confident of the outcome of the battle today.

At 11 o'clock Corbett and Fitzsimmons are scheduled to enter the ring to fight for the championship of the world. One important point for New England people to remember is that there is three hours' difference in time between Carson and Boston.

GEORGE SILER.

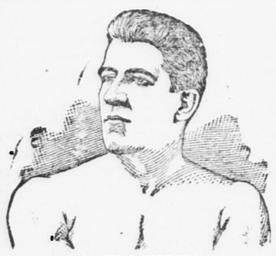

The sporting fraternity in Carson will have clear and sunshiny weather, according to a forecast made last night. This will raise the spirits of the photographers, who have been fearful lest the day should be cloudy.

George Siler, the Chicago sporting writer, will referee the contest, and William Muldoon, the wrestler, will be official timekeeper.

The town is livelier than it has been for years, owing to the arrivals of visitors. Special trains from the coast, and from the East have brought several thousand people. The sidewalks are crowded, and the offices of the four hotels are full of people, discussing the fight, and the prospective winner. The pool room was well patronized, and the betting has improved. No pools for large amounts have been sold. All so far were for small amounts of $6.50 to $10, and $12 to $20, with an occasional $70 to $100. So far, at least, $25,000 has been bet on the result. If any larger bets have been made, the arrangements were private.

The sale of tickets was brisk yesterday, and Dan Stuart feels more hopeful about a large attendance, how large no one can tell, but it is now expected to reach from 4000 to 5000. Every train that arrived was late, and it is not unlikely that some people from the East, now on their way here, may not arrive in time to see the fight.

Regarding the chances of the men, there has been but little concentration of opinion of the sporting men. Corbett is the favorite among the betting men, but it cannot be denied that there has been an increase in the esteem in which the chances of Fitzsimmons are held. Muldoon's opinion of Fitzsimmons has gained friends for the latter, and it is natural it should when it is considered that Muldoon is a friend of Corbett, and wishes him success.

JAMES J. CORBETT.

Corbett will enter the ring weighing 185 pounds, three more than he weighed when he fought Mitchell. It is believed Fitzsimmons will weigh in at 165 pounds, although Julian said that he would be heavier than that, "or between 170 and 180." Julian said very plainly that Fitzsimmons would not concede more than 12 pounds to Corbett. Both men have carefully planned their battles, and while neither of them will discuss the matter, it is evident that both have given the matter much thought. Their plans of battle are well understood, however, despite the secrecy which has been maintained by the fighters and their trainers. Corbett will fight a careful battle, and, for several rounds at least, will endeavor to keep his antagonist at arms length. When he considers that he has worn Fitzsimmons down, somewhat, he will go in for close work, and endeavor to win. For the first five rounds, at least, it is the intention of Corbett to fight in a defensive manner.

Corbett at first will endeavor to draw Fitzsimmons into making leads, and rely on the chance of landing a counter.

Fitzsimmons has also planned to go a trifle slow for the first round or two, but after that he will endeavor to get close to his man and deliver one of those awful right-handers, which have so many times returned him a winner. Fitzsimmons is not capable, by reason of his aggressive temperament, of remaining on the defensive for any great length of time, and he knows well that his strength lies in offensive fighting. He is in most respects an abnormal man, and he does not talk, act, or think, according to accepted standards. In all things he is unconventional and original. He follows methods in his training which will not suit one man in thousands, but under them he considers himself to be perfection. He fights according to notions of his own. He says of himself: "I have never fought any man on the same plan that I fought anybody before, and I never try to tell myself how to fight before I begin. When the time comes I go [illegible] matches tell me, and that is all I can tell about it."

"Fitzsimmons' plan of battle," said Julian, "is known only to himself, excepting the merest outlines. He is the queerest man I ever saw, and although I have been with him for many years, I do not understand him at all. I have given up trying to understand him. He always has something up his sleeve, and he has it now, but I have given up trying to guess him. I just get along with him the best way I can, and let the results take care of themselves."

Fitzsimmons declares that in event of his losing the fight he will leave the country.

"What else is there for me to do?" he said. "I cannot get any more matches in the middleweight class, and if I lose this it will show that I am not in the heavyweight class, and then I cannot act like Corbett, and there is nothing for me to do but get out. I expect to win of course, but any man may lose a fight, and of course there is a chance of my losing this one. A fighter always takes chances, no matter what he is up against. One thing is sure, if I lose I will leave the United States."

The matter of choice of corners was decided by a "toss-up." Corbett won the toss. He chose the southwest corner of the ring, wishing to get the sun at his back, leaving Fitzsimmons no choice but to take the northeast corner.

Jack McAuliffe declares that Fitzsimmons, in his opinion, is sure to win.

It is expected that both of the smaller fights will furnish much excitement. The men are in the finest condition, and all of them are confident of the result. The betting is somewhat in favor of Billy Smith, as against Green, although there are so many friends of the latter here from San Francisco that they have pushed his odds up somewhat. Green will enter the ring weighing 147 pounds, and Smith will be 10 pounds heavier. This fight is at catch weights, and the eastern men, who think that in any event Smith will have the better of Green, are more confident that with his extra weight he will have a sure thing of it.

Hawkins and Flaherty are to fight at 128, and both are at the weight. Flaherty is somewhat under the weight, and probably will fight at 127. Hawkins will be 128.

How the Betting Is Going.

New York, March 17.—The betting on the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, at least as far as the hotels are concerned, lacks spirit, and is not much in evidence. There is plenty of talk, and favoritism seems about divided. Little groups of men were to be seen discussing the fight at the Hoffman House, Imperial and Bartholdi, but although expressing their preferences as to the outcome of the fight, showed no desire to back their convictions with money. The betting is in favor of Fitzsimmons at 7 to 10, but this is solely among the sporting elements, and is not very extensive.

Boston, March 17.—Heavy betting on the outcome of the big fight is infrequent here, but small wagering on combinations is found in every place where men are congregated. Corbett is greatly the favorite, at 10 to 8, or 10 to 7½. One feature of the betting is the desertion by Boston men of Billy Smith for Green in the combination. The favorites are Corbett, Green and Flaherty.

300 BLOWN TO DEATH.

Train Bearing Spanish Soldiers Wrecked by Dynamite Mine.

Cubans Shot Down Troops From Ambush.

Survivors Escaped Massacre by Surrendering to Insurgents.

New York, March 17.—A dispatch to The Press from Havana says: The news that Spanish forces have met with a serious disaster in the west is confirmed. It is learned through a reliable channel that a train carrying 600 troops, while going from Artemisa to some southern point, was blown up by Cubans, more than 300 troops being killed or wounded. The details give a tragic coloring. The Cubans had learned that the troops were to be sent on that train. They mined a long, high trestle crossing St. Carman channel. This bridge is more than 50 feet high. The mines were exploded as the train was passing over it, with terrible effect. Half of the entire train was lifted up and thrown into the deep channel beneath.

The force of the explosion was terrific, the ground being torn up for a great distance. The cries of the wounded and the shouts of those unhurt added excitement and terror.

As the remainder of the troops rushed out of the cars they were met with a withering fire from the concealed Cubans, and dozens fell at the first volley. The engagement lasted an hour, the Spaniards bravely fighting behind the cars, but it was of no avail, and to save their lives they surrendered.

The cars that had gone down caught fire and were destroyed entirely, many soldiers being caught in them and burned to death.

More than 300 troops were found to be missing, and are supposed to have been killed.

The Cubans lost possibly 40 men. All the prisoners were released, save the officers, who were held for the safety of eight insurgent officers at Artemisa, who had been sentenced to death by the Spanish commander, and Colonel Penco, the Cuban commander, sent word that if these men were shot he would order his hostages to be killed, and that 20 of the soldiers would be shot, too, in revenge for Cuban soldiers shot there last week.

It is said that the Cuban officers were released from Artemisa.

At Work on Tariff Bill.

Washington, March 17. — The Democratic members of the ways and means committee received their first official information of the new tariff bill yesterday, when the bill was considered at a secret session of the full committee. Chairman Dingley announced that he desired to report the bill to the house when it meets at noon tomorrow. Mr. McMillin (Dem., Tenn.) complained that this plan would not give the Democrats sufficient time to analysize the measure and prepare a report. The Democrats contended that they had treated the Republican members more generously in the matter of time when the Wilson bill was framed. Half an hour was consumed in sparring over this point, and no definite conclusion was reached. Three hours were spent in analysis of the bill by sections, the Republican members of the committee who had been most active in the preparation of the various schedules explaining the changes made from existing rates and comparing the proposed duties with the McKinley act.

Concerning Catholic Property.

Boston, March 17.—A hearing was given at the state house yesterday, by the committee on mercantile affairs, on the bill to incorporate the Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston and his successors, a corporation solely to hold and manage property for religious and charitable purposes. Charles F. Donnelly, who appeared for the archbishop, said that from the beginning all the church property in Massachusetts was acquired in the name of the bishop, and in order that there might be no question about the application and disposition of it, the custom is for Catholic bishops to make a will early after their appointment, and also to make a deed in joint tenantry to two or three of the bishops of adjoining dioceses of all the property standing in the bishop's name, and by those devises the property is, in time, conveyed to the bishop's successor. Within the last few years circumstances have occurred that have directed the minds of the Catholic bishops to the inconvenience and danger of holding property in the way in which it has been held. Dr. Crowley and others remonstrated.

French View of Dingley Tariff.

Paris, March 17.—La Liberte, commenting on President McKinley's tariff policy, says: The European governments ought not to hesitate. They must anticipate these bad intentions by reprisals. The United States has greater need of Europe than Europe has for the United States, for the latter produces no article which is unobtainable elsewhere. A crisis of over-production would be fatal to the United States, where the springs of credit are already stretched to the utmost, and where everything is at fictitious and inflated values. In a few days the whole structure would collapse.

IT IS hoped that the Finance Committee of the City Council will investigate the appropriations this year, especially as to the amount necessary to be raised, so that there will be no "monkeying" with the figures by the Assessors. The Assessors should not be the financial board of the city, and it is not for them to determine that a smaller sum shall be raised than the City Council deems necessary. We recognize that they must by law include certain sums, but it is different when they refuse to raise the amount which the City Council votes to raise.

Last year the Assessors raised $12,000 less than the City Council ordered. The taxpayers did not remonstrate because their taxes were reduced, but nevertheless the principle was wrong. It seems the duty of each member of the Finance Committee to ascertain the exact situation—appropriations, tax limit, debt limit, receipts, etc. This should be done before the appropriations are passed.

The taxes of 1897 are sure to be higher if the estimates recommended are passed. Inasmuch as the grand total for city purposes is over $20,000 in excess of last year, and the fact that the State and county taxes are to be larger, an effort should be made to reduce the appropriations.

IT IS estimated that the increased revenue under the proposed tariff from schedule B, which includes granite, will be $4,000,000 per year. It is proposed to restore the McKinley tariff of forty per cent. Would that it were fifty per cent.

Granite City Opening.

The arrangements for the opening night of the Granite City club Thursday evening are about completed. The guests will be received in the hall of the building by President Joseph C. Morse and Mayor Adams, who will stand on an elegant rug presented to the club by Henry L. Kincaide. Music will be furnished by Monk's orchestra and a quartette.

The guests as they arrive will be presented by Clarence Burgin, D. E. Wadsworth, Henry L. Kincaide, Russell A. Sears, Eben W. Sheppard and Herbert M. Federhen.

Up stairs in the club rooms the guests will be looked after by W. W. Ewell, George W. Jones, Henry F. Tilden and Frank S. Patch.

Cook, of Boston, will cater for the occasion and will serve in the club rooms.

The committee in charge of the opening night are Joseph C. Morse, Clarence Burgin and D. E. Wadsworth.

The Place the Church Should Take.

Mr. E. H. Dawson, one of our well known citizens, read a paper Tuesday afternoon in the parish parlor of First church, to the Woman's Alliance. It was earnest, able and timely. As the world grows the church and its mission must keep pace with it. The paper was too lengthy to condense.

Rev. Mr. Butler and Mr. H. H. Faxon discussed the subject at length, after it was read.

The young lady president of the Alliance said she thought that all churches should meet on the broad questions of the hour, those that press so closely upon the life and welfare, or ill of the community.

The meetings are free to all, and visitors are welcome. They come every other Tuesday and do charitable, denominational work.

SEWERAGE REPORT.

The Engineering Department Has the Work Well in Hand.

The Board of Sewerage Commissioners made the following report to the City Council Monday evening:

"The sum of $5000 was appropriated July 6, 1896, for the purpose of making the necessary preliminary surveys preparatory to commencing the construction of sewers. About Aug. 1, '96, suitable office accommodations were secured in the Adams building and Mr. E. W. Branch, C. E, was employed to take charge of the engineering department, Mr. George A. Kimball of Boston being retained as consulting engineer. The sum of $3,090.44 has been expended by the board leaving an unexpended balance of $1909.56. For a general description of the work accomplished we refer to the accompanying engineer's report."

Engineer's Report.

QUINCY, Jan. 1, 1897.

To the Board of Sewerage Commissioners of the City of Quincy:

GENTLEMEN:—In accordance with your instructions I have been engaged, as Engineer of your Board, since the first of last August in making the necessary surveys and plans for the construction of a system of sewerage for the City of Quincy. As a general system, designed by Mr. H. T. Whitman and myself, and approved by Mr. Albert F. Noyes, Consulting Engineer, had already been adopted by the City Council, the work that remained for me to do was to make detail plans for the construction of the system.

An efficient working force has been established and the work has progressed steadily. We have now in the office levels taken on fifty foot stations over about sixty miles of streets and ways; on most of these streets we have also noted the elevation of the sills and cellar bottoms of the houses. The work of plotting profiles from these levels is now in progress, about 42½ miles having been completed. These profiles are plotted on mounted profile paper and are in such form as to be available not only for sewer construction but also for highway, surface drainage, and other studies.

We have also general levels, taken usually on stations 100 feet apart over a number additional miles of streets besides many elevations on private lands, so that now we have nearly all the levels needed for finishing the detail plans for those sewers needed for the immediate future as well as for determining the sizes and grades of sewers throughout the city.

Topographical surveys have been made of the lands in the vicinity of the pumping station and of the valley of Furnace brook.

Plans and specifications have been prepared for building the main sewer from the pumping station to Elm street. This sewer will provide an outlet for the sewage of Quincy Centre, Quincy Point, South Quincy and a portion of West Quincy.

A careful study of the details of pumping station, its approaches and equipments is now being made.

We have prepared accurate plans of some sections of the city which will be essential to the progress of the work. These plans, which are plotted on large sheets of mounted paper on a scale of 40 feet to an inch, will be valuable not only during construction but also may be used afterwards as a basis for sewer assessment plans, as well as for any other use to which careful and accurately drawn plans may be put.

Such progress is being made that by early spring detail plans will be ready for the construction of the main sewer to Quincy Centre, the pumping station, the force main from the pumping station to the Boston outfall sewer and for several miles of lateral sewers.

In addition to these, general plans of the whole system will be ready.

Respectfully submitted,
E. W. BRANCH, Engineer.

Elevated Road.

John R. Graham appeared before the joint committees on Street Railways and Metropolitan Affairs at the State House on Tuesday in favor of House bill 802.

He said the bill provided for an L between the two union stations as an object lesson for the people of Boston. It should be built by Boston citizens. The Suffolk Co. is ready to incorporate in its bill a provision to sell to the city at any time within 20 years.

"If the Boston elevated gets their charter the whole transportation system of Boston will be turned over to a foreign syndicate," said Mr. Graham, before Senator Irwin could admonish him to stick to his text.

Mr. Graham said in answer to Senator Dallinger that there was capital to build the road on the conditions named, a 5-cent fare, an agreement to sell to the city inside of 20 years, and a payment for use of streets, if the franchise be granted.

He said that he did not want the franchise to sell.

MILTON.

The Selectmen of Milton, held a special meeting Tuesday evening to consider the applications for superintendent of streets. Something like forty applications were received and these the board sifted down to six or eight before adjournment. These six or eight will be investigated by the board, as to their ability, after which the appointment will be made.

The house of George B. Upton, situated on Centre street, Milton, was damaged $800 by fire Tuesday afternoon. The fire is supposed to have caught from an overheated cylinder stove in the laundry.

It was the wish of the late Louisa Hunt, as stated in her will, that her paintings be sold collectively to the Boston Art Museum for a memorial to the late William Morris Hunt. If unable to make such sale, the executors may sell singly or collectively.

For the New Pews.

This was the heading of a little card which, along with a silken bag, was enclosed in an envelope and handed to the members of the First Presbyterian congregation, young and old, last week. It went on to say:

"This 'Birthday social' is given to you,
'Tis something novel, 'tis something new,
We send you each a little sack,
Please either send or bring it back
With as many cents as you are years old—
We promise the number will never be told.
Kind friends will give you something to eat
And others will furnish a musical treat.
The Ladies' Committee, with greetings most hearty,
Feel sure you'll attend 'your own birthday party.'

"P. S.—Two cents, or five or ten cents, for each year of your age would not be refused. Or an even dollar, or two, or more, if you do not want your age known. Bring or send the little bag with the money in it, to the basement of the Presbyterian church on Water street, Tuesday, March 16, 1897. Doors open at 7.15, at 7.45 there will be some music and speaking. Refreshments served free."

At the appointed time one of the largest gatherings ever seen in the Sunday School room of the church was present—estimated at nearly or quite three hundred. As many children and young people were present, the average age could not have been over twenty five. But a number must have put in two cents for each year of their age, and there were several dollar bills, and one lady confessed to being five hundred years old, and another a thousand, counting a year for each cent given. So the contents of the little bags counted up over $100, after paying all the expenses.

At eight o'clock the pastor spoke a few words of welcome and offered prayer. Then Miss Mackenzie, Miss Esson and Miss Jennie Bishop gave readings, and the Misses Maggie Bradbury and Maggie Milne sang solos, each one so effectively that the audience demanded an encore.

Bountiful refreshments were served and the evening was rounded out by an hour of hearty sociability.

St. Patrick still lives in the hearts of his countrymen. The green ribbons which will be so numerous today are a tribute to his virtues.

The Granites went to Chelsea Tuesday evening one man short. They picked up a man there and won the match with the Chelseas 2117 to 2073.

The Prospects defeated the Jamesons in the City league Tuesday evening, 2147 to 2104; and the Boylstons had a picnic with the Rexfords to the tune of 2229 to 2044.

Mrs James H. Stetson is to be one of the patronesses of Miss Annie L. Prescott's section at the Adams Chapter subscription whist at the Vendome, Boston, next Tuesday evening.

The Wollaston Congregational society is to be congratulated on having secured the services of Mr. Samuel M. King, the well known tenor, as conductor of the quartette.

The lady friends of the Granite City club have presented the club a large oil painting. Subject—"The Courier of the Tzar." Also, two very handsome Austrian vases to ornament their rooms.

The shoes that Fitzsimmons wears today in the big fight were made by Golden & Corcoran of Randolph. Mr. Corcoran, the junior member of the firm is well known in Quincy, where he formerly resided.

There will be a matinee whist for the benefit of the City Hospital at Faxon hall, on Friday next, at 2 o'clock, sharp. It will be given under the direction of Mrs. Samuel Crane and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse.

There will be an entertainment and supper at the West Quincy Methodist church Thursday evening. Supper will be served from 5 to 8 o'clock and the entertainment will commence at the latter hour.

The Quincy Triangle wheelmen of the Y. M. C. A. will hold their annual meeting tonight. There will be election of officers for the year, and initiation of new members. The ladies' auxiliary will serve refreshments after the meeting.

A slight change was made in the police estimates after the report of the Mayor and Treasurer was printed. As reported the amount for permanent men is increased from $6,656 to $7,488, and the sum for special police reduced from $2694 to $1862, leaving the total for the department $12,000 as last year.

The league game to be bowled at Costello's, Friday night, is attracting much attention in the city as the rival teams of the city come together for the first time and each will make a big effort to win. The Granites have taken the place of the Roxbury team and the Quincy team would not care to have them win this match. It is to be hoped the Quincy team will not be patched up as it was at Carruths last Friday night.

A parish meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian society was held at the church vestry on Tuesday evening. About sixty parishioners were present. Mr. W. E. Simmons was moderator, and Mr. Chas. T. Baker was clerk of the meeting. It was voted to increase the salary of the pastor, the Rev. James F. Bagely $300 per year, making it $1800 instead of $1500. It is understood that the Rev. Mr. Bagley will not leave Wollaston. Nearly $100 was also subscribed for the use of the American Unitarian Association. The people were elected members of the parish.

March April May

The months for renewing and healing in the physical world.
The months for new life, new energy, new blood in men and women.
The months when our need of help from medicine is greater than at any other time of year.
The months when Hood's Sarsaparilla will do us the most good because we are all now especially susceptible to benefit from this medicine.
The months when Hood's Sarsaparilla is taken by the millions because they have found that it is the medicine which does them good.
The months when you should take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it will purify, vitalize and enrich your blood, and put you in good condition to resist the debilitating effects of changeable, warmer weather. Try it now.

Satisfied with Hood's.
"For several years I have taken two or three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla every spring for eradicating the humors in the blood and for building up the system generally. My experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla has been very satisfactory." GEO. FRANK, care of D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Great Blood Purifier.
"Hood's Sarsaparilla is our family physician and I believe it needs no recommendation. Wherever it has once been used there can be no substitute for it, as a blood purifier." MISS C. A. ELLIOTT, Grinnell, Iowa.

Builds Up the System.
"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for weakness with which I was a sufferer in the spring, and I have found it the best medicine to create an appetite and build up the strength that I have ever taken, and I recommend it highly." J. F. WARD, Labelle, Ohio.

Keeps the Stomach in Order.
"I keep Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house all the time and regard it as the best spring medicine I can find. It has proved beneficial in keeping my stomach in order, and since I began taking it I can eat anything I wish." H. STONE, Sherborn, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Is sold by all druggists. Price $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The Best Spring Medicine.

ARE THEY MARRIED?

Claim They Are But Have No Proof to Offer.

A hard case of destitution in Weymouth was brought to light in the District Court at Quincy this morning, when Frederick C. Bates was arraigned for lewd cohabitation with Annie Miles. Bates and the Miles woman have lived together in Weymouth as man and wife since last September and have five children, two of whom were born this month.

Some few weeks ago Bates applied to the Weymouth selectmen for aid. They looked the matter up and found that Bates had a residence at South Boston. The Boston authorities found evidence that Bates was a resident there but could find no record of his marriage. They refused to assist the woman but promised to aid Bates to the amount of $2 per week.

The society for the prevention of cruelty to children was then notified, who gave the case to Agent Loring. Mr. Loring visited the Bates place in Weymouth and found that he and the woman occupied one small room in a tenement. The room was filthy and almost barren of furniture. There was an old stove but no fire and the only thing in the eatable line was a little corn meal. Besides the stove there was an apology for a bed upon which lay the Miles woman with infant twin babes which had been recently born. The babes were entirely destitute of clothing, but were wrapped in a dirty blanket to keep them warm. On the bed besides the woman and twins was a third child suffering from a fit, and rolling about threatening at any moment to crush out the life of the twins. The other two children were rolling about the floor and they were also scantily clothed. There was some old clothing in the corner of the room so filthy as to be useless.

When questioned by Agent Loring the woman said she married Bates in Boston. She, however, could produce no certificate of marriage but said the ceremony had been performed by a German clergyman.

Bates at this time was confined in the police station having been arrested for non-support.

When Mr. Loring returned to Boston the records were again searched but no evidence of the marriage was found.

Bates was therefore put into court on the above charge. In court he still claimed that he was legally married to the woman but could produce no evidence. He was held for the grand jury and the children will be removed to the Weymouth poor farm. As soon as she is able the Miles woman will be brought into court upon the charge of lewd cohabitation.

Opposition at Atlantic.

A good deal of opposition is being shown among our Atlantic friends toward the projected line of electric cars to Squantum. Billings street is not wide enough they claim to admit the tracks and it is such a good road for carriages and wheelmen that it would seem a pity to destroy it with car rails. If the land owners at Squantum want electric cars why not run it through Walker street, which is much wider and not so much used. Ten property holders on Billings street will be heard from later on.

What use is there in eating when food does you no good—in fact, when it does you more harm than good, for such is the case if it is not digested?

If you have a loathing for food there is no use of forcing it down, for it will not be digested. You must restore the digestive organs to their natural strength and cause the food to be digested, when an appetite will come, and with it a relish for food.

The tired, languid feeling will give place to vigor and energy; then you will put flesh on your bones and become strong. The Shaker Digestive Cordial as made by the Mount Lebanon Shakers contains foods already digested and is a digester of foods as well. Its action is prompt and its effects permanent.

Doctors prescribe Laxol because it has all the virtues of Castor Oil and is palatable.

—It is proposed in Brockton to incorporate into the city ordinances a law providing for a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25 for the detection and conviction of any person throwing tacks, nails, glass, etc., on the public thoroughfares. IN THE SENATE.

President Nominates Ambassadors to France and England.

Washington, March 17.—In the senate yesterday 438 bills and eight joint resolutions were introduced. They embraced nearly every phase of public business, including general and private pension bills, bankruptcy bills, Pacific railway bills, Nicaragua canal bills, treasury and financial bills in large numbers, Hawaiian cable bills, census bills, and a joint resolution for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. They were referred to the several committees, with one exception, the bill pensioning the widow of Brigadier General Stevenson at $50 per month, which was passed, being the first bill passed at the extra session. Several hours were spent, early in the day, on the question of admitting Mr. Henderson, appointed by the governor of Florida to fill the temporary vacancy from that state. The debate was largely of a legal and technical character, concerning the precedents on admitting senators. The case was finally referred to the committee on privileges and elections, where the case of Mr. Corbett of Oregon and Mr. Wood of Kentucky are pending. The senate adjourned over to tomorrow, so that neither branch of congress will be in session today.

The president sent to the senate the following nominations:

To be ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary of the United States: John Hay of the District of Columbia, to Great Britain, and Horace Porter of New York, to France. Henry White of Rhode Island, to be secretary of the embassy of the United States to Great Britain.

All the nominations sent to the senate were referred by the senate in executive session to the proper committees. It is expected that the foreign relations committee will agree to report the nominations for ambassadors tomorrow, and they probably will be confirmed.

Warm Times Expected In Omaha.

Omaha, March 17.—Two minutes before midnight a bill, which had been passed under party pressure, was filed with the secretary of state, giving Omaha a new charter. It turns out the board of fire and police commissioners, concerning the appointment of which there was such a turmoil two years ago, and gives Governor Holcomb the right to name the new board. The old board, which was organized under the A. P. A. law of two years ago, has decided to resist, and the old fight seems to be wide open once more. The new charter also legislates out of office the entire city government, and provides for a new election to be held within 30 days. It opens the way to what will be the warmest political campaign ever experienced in Omaha. The bill was prepared by the fusion leaders of the state, and was put through both branches of the legislature under party pressure, the object being to secure control of the Omaha municipal government, now in the hands of the Republicans.

Our New Tariff and Canada.

Ottawa, March 17.—The duty of $1 per thousand on rough pine lumber, as shown by the United States tariff bill, is no surprise here. Lumbermen, if anything, are surprised that it is not $2 instead of $1, from the reports that have been, from time to time, received from Washington. The duty will strengthen the hands of pulp manufacturers, who are clamoring for an export duty on logs, but the general feeling among lumbermen here will be to accept the situation as it is, and console themselves with the idea that the United States must have Canadian lumber anyway. Hon. George E. Foster speaks strongly, in an interview, on the bill. He says that it is a new edition of McKinley duties, revised and enlarged. He also says that it is the answer of the United States against reciprocity, and concludes by asking Canada to look to Great Britain, in the future, for a choice market. Cabinet ministers refuse to talk.

General James M. Warner Dead.

New York, March 17.—Brigadier General James M. Warner of Albany dropped dead at Daly's theater last night. He had taken dinner with his son, J. A. Warner, and appeared to be in good spirits. After dinner the son invited him to go to the theater. They had only just got seated when the father was stricken with apoplexy and died almost instantly. James M. Warner was one of the prominent citizens of Albany, and filled the position of postmaster there during the administration of President Harrison. He was born in Middlebury, Vt., in 1836, and at the age of 19 entered West Point in the same class with Generals Wilson, Merritt and Horace Porter. He served with great distinction as commander of the Eleventh Vermont volunteers during the war.

To Carry on Silver Campaign.

Denver, March 17.—Senator James K. Jones, chairman of the national Democratic committee, and Daniel J. Campau, chairman of the national Democratic executive committee, are at Salt Lake. The object of their western visit is to confer with prominent advocates of free coinage of silver, concerning measures to carry on an educational campaign steadily until the election of 1900. Chairman Jones desires above all to distribute silver literature freely throughout the country, particularly in the states that were regarded as doubtful before the late election.

Priest Vents Bullet Proof Cloth.

Chicago, March 17.—A "bullet-proof cloth," the invention of Brother Casimir Zeigler of St. Stanislaus Polish church, was tested by the Chicago police. Two pieces of the material, each about a foot wide and two feet long, were shot at for an hour, with the result that only one bullet pierced it, the force being spent to such an extent that the board behind the cloth was hardly dented. The fabric is rather thick and somewhat resembles leather in texture.

Stove Exploded In Wagon.

Omaha, March 17.—Charles Rodatinsky, with his wife and baby, started from Omaha to find a new home. The family was in a covered wagon, with a gasoline stove. Just before starting on the journey, a fire was started in the stove. Before driving a block, the stove exploded and the team ran away. Before help could reach them, the occupants of the wagon were fatally burned.

Testimony Closed In Stetson Case.

Boston, March 17.—The testimony in the Stetson will case is all in and arguments begin today. Yesterday, Mrs. Adah Richmond-Stetson was on the witness stand. She swore that she had never been married to any man but John Stetson.

1897 Bicycles.

PROBABLY the most impatient person on earth is the bicycle rider, waiting for his new wheel. If every one wanted just the same style of bicyle, there would be no trouble about immediate delivery, but when special equipment is desired, it is policy to place your order early.

Next—it's worth something to buy your wheel from the local agent, for in case of accident you have his advice and service free, which saves delay, bother and expense.

We've spent months of time and study in selecting the very best wheels the markets offer.

These wheels are tried and worthy, and the various '97 ladies' and gents' models are here for your inspection.

Greece and Turkey Preparing For Operations In Macedonia.

Troops Are Camped Within Sight of Each Other.

Powers Not Expected to Interfere If War Is Kept Out of Crete.

Cable advices indicate that the European war cloud is in danger of bursting. The Grecian cabinet has decided to continue preparations for hostilities, and an open declaration of war may be looked for. Macedonia will be the battleground if hostilities open. Turkish and Greek troops are encamped within gunshot of each other, and an outbreak may occur any moment. Quietness prevails in Crete. Colonel Vassos has taken his forces to the mountains, which indicates that the powers are to be defied. Autonomy has been proclaimed for Crete. Greeks are angered at the entente between Russia and France, which is thought to have been entered into at Greece's expense.

Athens, March 17.—A prolonged meeting of the Grecian cabinet was held yesterday. The ministers discussed at great length the attitude to be taken in the event of the powers attempting to coerce Greece into a compliance with their demands.

It is stated that no disposition was shown to accede to the demands, and that it was finally decided to take active measures as the only possible solution of the difficulty.

It is thought that by "active measures" is meant a declaration of war against Turkey, which would give Greece the right to maintain her army in Crete, and deprive the powers of any right of interference.

It is the belief here that nothing can be vent war, and that the government has its plan of campaign fully prepared. The cabinet had a long session yesterday as to the attitude to be taken in face of the coercive program of Europe, and it is reported that a decision was reached to take active measures as being the only solution possible for Greece.

The center of interest is now transferred from Crete to the Macedonian frontier. It is evident that the haste which the government has displayed in getting all its available troops off by sea before the commencement of the blockade that there is a strong conviction they will be needed at once.

With the sea route closed, the transportation of troops must be overland, and this would be an exceedingly slow and difficult process, owing to the lack of horses and the very incomplete railway system in the northern portions of Greece. Many of the war correspondents have already arrived at Volo, Larissa and other frontier points.

The Greek officers on the frontier find the utmost difficulty in restraining their men, and the departure of the Crown Prince Constantine for the front has been deferred on the advice of the generals in command, who fear that his presence would have a dangerously exciting influence upon the troops.

It is reported that the Turkish forces on the Macedonian frontier are raising a double line of fortifications, and being constantly re-enforced from Salonica.

Since the publication in the semi-official press of the exposition of Count Muravieff's Cretan policy, which appeared at the moment when it was most calculated to influence the French government, the feeling of the public press of Greece has been one of fiercest resentment toward Russia. The Greek royal family is also seriously disappointed by the attitude of Russia, and France is believed to have sacrificed her Cretan sympathies upon the altar of the Franco-Russian entente.

The Greek army in Thessaly will be formed in two divisions, and the command given to the Crown Prince Constantine.

The Greek forces in Epirus are now greatly superior to the Turks, though the latter are being re-enforced with all haste.

Janina is in a state of panic, and most of the shops are closed.

Constantinople, March 17.—The ambassadors to the porte have been entrusted with the task of drafting a scheme of Cretan autonomy.

Autonomy Comes Too Late.

Canea, March 17.—The Russian consul has received formal instructions to proclaim autonomy for Crete, but the other consuls still remain without them. The admirals consider that this step has been taken too late. After a conference, the consuls addressed notes to their respective embassies, declaring that if any portion of the marines should be withdrawn from Canea, looting and lawlessness, aggravated by hunger, will dangerously increase.

Colonel Vassos has transferred his headquarters to Sphakia, the most mountainous and inaccessible position in the island. This is held to indicate that Greece is firmly resolved not to recall her troops, a step which is regarded as impossible, in the face of the strong national feeling. Colonel Vassos will strongly fortify his new camp, which is revictualled for several months. He is now able to await the progress of events.

Grecks and Turks Face to Face.

Larissa, March 17.—The situation on the frontier is now most inflammable. At several points the sentries and outposts of the Turkish and Greek forces are within 40 paces of each other. The Greek fleet has a magnificent position off Skiatho. Volo has been well re-inforced by gunboats, torpedo boats and transports. A shipload of 600 Hungarian horses has arrived there.

The Mississippi Flood.

Memphis, March 17.—The Mississippi continues to rise slowly. Two lives are known to have been lost yesterday. The change in the situation in the past 24 hours has been decidedly for the worse in every respect, so far as the flood and the flood victims are concerned. Localities that expected up to the last moment to withstand the overflow are at last under water. People who thought they were safe from the angry river find themselves hemmed in and their danger is the greater, because of the confidence that prevented them from providing against it. From every direction come reports of unprecedented disaster.

MONUMENT TO COLONEL SHAW.

Unveiling to Take Place Decoration Day on Boston Common.

Boston, March 17.—The monument to Colonel Robert G. Shaw of the Fifty-fourth Massachusetts regiment, which has been for many years in preparation, is at last to be put up on Boston common. Colonel Shaw entered Harvard with the class of '60, but left college just before the end of his junior year. He entered the army at the beginning of the war, and served for a while in the Seventh New York National Guard. He soon exchanged to the Second Massachusetts, where he served until February, 1863, when Governor Andrews gave him the command of the Fifty-fourth Massachusetts infantry. The regiment was the first colored regiment sent to the war. At the end of May, of the same year, this regiment left Boston for the front. On July 13, 1864, Colonel Shaw was killed while leading the charge on Fort Wagner.

A few years after the war a private subscription was taken up for the purpose of erecting a monument to Colonel Shaw's memory. The city of Boston donated a piece of land on the Park street end of the common, opposite the state house, as a site for the monument. St. Gaudens was chosen as sculptor. The public unveiling of the monument will take place next Memorial day.

SUGAR POURING IN.

Strenuous Efforts of Importers to Evade Increased Duties

Boston, March 17.—The wholesale sugar market in this city has entered upon an interesting phase. In anticipation of the new tariff bill, which is expected to go into effect on May 1, the sugar importers are actively engaged in buying up all available sugar, both in the markets of Germany and Cuba, for prompt shipment to this country, in an effort to get the commodity into the market without paying to the government the increased duty.

The comparatively small sugar output of Cuba, owing to the unsettled condition of the island, and the inability of the planters to grind, has made it necessary to depend largely on Java and Germany for the product, and a large percentage of the article imported here during the past year has come from these two countries.

There is now stored in Hamburg, for shipment to this city alone, upwards of 15,000 tons of raw sugar, and steamers are being sent forward as rapidly as they can be chartered and loaded.

The valuation of the sugar on the way and booked for shipment to Boston alone will reach into the millions, and the money saved on duty, provided the sugar reaches here before the new tariff goes into effect, will be enormous.

Death of Rev. Luther Farnham.

Boston, March 17.—Rev. Luther Farnham, librarian of the general theological library, died Monday at his home, 166 West Springfield street. Mr. Farnham was 81 years old, and had been librarian of the theological library since it was established in 1860. Mr. Farnham was born in Concord, N. H., and received his education in the Concord schools and at the Union academy, Meriden, N. H., entering Dartmouth in 1833, and graduating four years later. Mr. Farnham, during early life, was principal of Limerick academy, Limerick, Me. He was ordained and installed as pastor of the Congregational church in Northfield, N. H., Nov. 20, 1844. For short periods he was pastor of churches in Everett, Concord, West Gloucester, Magnolia, Flymouth, Kingston, North Weymouth and in several other places in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. For a considerable time he was chaplain of the house of correction, Boston. It was at his suggestion that the Dartmouth College Alumni association, the first of the kind ever established in this country, was formed.

Telephone Fight at Providence.

Providence, March 17.—The first steps in what will probably be a test case between the Independent and Bell Telephone companies in this city was taken yesterday, when Dr. Clarence F. Gardner filed a bill of equity in the appelate court, restraining the Providence Telephone company from removing the telephone from his office and residence. For some time a contest has been waged between the Bell and the Independent companies here. The Bell company has the right of way, and places telephones about the city. The fight is caused by the Independent company placing extra telephones in houses from room to room, and connecting with the Bell company's instruments. The dispute involves hundreds of thousands of dollars, for should the Bell company succeed in forcing the other company to remove their telephones, the latter would practically have to give up business.

Lockout at Campello.

Brockton, Mass., March 17.—Whitman & Keith, manufacturers at Campello, have discharged their 300 hands. For the past month negotiations have been on between the firm and the Lasters' union or the prices of patent leather and light goods. The union thought that the matter would be settled without a strike, and it was a surprise when the employes were discharged. T. D. Barry & Co. claim to have filled the last of the places made vacant by their strike a week ago.

Governor Refuses Extradition.

Boston, March 17.—Governor Wolcott, for a second time, has refused to grant requisition papers from the governor of Missouri for E. E. Wilson of this state, who, it is alleged, is a fugitive from justice. Mr. Wilson is a well known business man, against whom charges have been preferred by a Missouri firm for a transaction which, it has been explained to the governor, was perfectly legitimate and occurred in the ordinary course of business.

The Wool Market.

Boston, March 17.—The firm tone in the wool market here continues with a steady demand and liberal sales. The movement in territory wools holds up to the good average of 2,500,000 pounds, with prices, on a scoured basis, of 30 and 32 cents for fine medium and fine with choice staple at 24 and 35 cents. Fleece wools show a firm tone, but the movement is quiet with offerings moderate.

Ordinance to Protect Bicycles.

Brockton, Mass., March 17.—A draft of an ordinance has been introduced in the council providing a fine of not less than $25 for any person throwing glass or any other substance hurtful to bicycles into the street.

Public Investigation Ordered.

Boston, March 17.—The senate order for the investigation of the Tremont street gas explosion on March 4, by the gas commissioners, was adopted by the house yesterday, in concurrence with the senate. The order provides for a public hearing. A bill to incorporate the Commonwealth Gas company was reported to the legislature yesterday. The company is empowered to supply gas in cities and towns in which no gas company is actively engaged in the manufacture or sale of gas. The capital stock of the company is to be $1,000,000 or less.

New Hampshire Legislature.

Concord, N. H., March 17.—The senate yesterday reduced the special normal school appropriation from $3000 to $750. The house indefinitely postponed the bill to incorporate the Sullivan county street railway by a vote of 194 to 53. The senate passed the new ballot law, and the house concurred in the senate amendments thereto, which principally provided for the retention of small blank squares after the name of every candidate on the ballot.

Will Contest at Lowell.

Lowell, Mass., March 17.—The will of Elizabeth Simpson, who died a few days ago, leaving property estimated to be worth $300,000, is being contested by one of her three sons. The will provides for an equal distribution among the three children, one of whom disappeared several years ago. The will provides that a bond shall be filed by the other beneficiaries in $25,000 each, to be held in trust for five years in view of the possibility that the missing son may return The eldest son, who is the contestant, not only objects to filing his bond, but claims that his brother, who is a wealthy westerner, has already obtained a great deal of property from his mother on notes which fall to afford opportunity for an equal distribution of the estate.

Can't Open Bank Vault.

Waltham, Mass., March 17.—The officials of the Waltham National bank have been unable to open the big bank vault since it was locked last Saturday afternoon. It was locked as usual at that time by the teller, but from some mishap to the mechanism it has failed to operate as usual, and all efforts to open it have been unsuccessful, and the only hope now seems to be to blow it open. The bank has secured enough money from Boston to conduct its business.

Reduction In Rubber Goods.

New York, March 17.—James B. Ford, vice president of the United States Rubber company, states that the company has determined to reduce its price on rubber boots and shoes for the coming year. Mr. Ford said: "In order that all parties should have exactly the same notice, every customer of the United States Rubber company was advised simultaneously of the reduction of from 10 to 15 per cent.

Wentworth In Connecticut.

Portland, Me., March 17. — Stillman Wentworth, the brother of Fred F. Wentworth, who mysteriously disappeared from Haverhill, Mass., some weeks ago, has at last succeeded in locating his brother in Connecticut. He was not in Lowell, Mass., as his letter received by his wife led her to suppose. Wentworth is still very sick, but will recover.

SAVED FROM THE SURGEON'S KNIFE

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, Saves a Man From Becoming a Cripple.

Mr. Asa Ammons, a well-known citizen of Jacksonville, Florida, was afflicted by a terrible ulcer. Medical skill seemed unavailing in stopping the ravages of the terrible disease. The leg was swollen and intensely painful, as the ulcer had eaten its way down to the very bone. All medicines and treatments having failed to effect a cure, the doctors said the leg must come off. Just when it seemed that Mr. Ammons would become a disabled and a crippled man, he tried P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and the result was wonderful.

P. P. P. SAVES HIS LEG.

"Jacksonville, Fla., July 1, 1895.—Two years ago I had the worst ulcer on my leg I ever saw. It had eaten down to the bone, and my whole leg below my knee, and my foot was swollen and inflamed. The bone was swollen and painful, and discharged a most offensive matter. My physicians said I had necrosis of the bone, and my leg would have to come off. At this stage I commenced to take P. P. P. and to bathe my leg with hot castile soap suds. It began to improve at once and healed rapidly, and is to-day a sound and useful leg.

"I think P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is all a man could ask for as a blood purifier, as I have known it to cure so meterrible cases of blood poisoning in a remarkably short time.

"ASA AMMONS."

WORLD'S CHAMPION FITZSIMMONS.

Terrific Blow Over Corbett's Heart Ended Fight In 14th Round.

AGGRESSIVE AND BLOODY FIGHT.

Corbett Seemed a Winner Until the Last Blow Was Struck.

BOTH MEN FOUGHT FAIRLY.

Greatest Contest of Roped Arena—Ex-Champion Wants Another Fight. Fitz' Face Badly Cut—Fight In Detail—Hawkins and Green Winners.

Carson, Nev., March 18.—Robert Fitzsimmons, the Australian, won over James J. Corbett, in the championship fight yesterday. Fitzsimmons won on his strength and endurance, and Corbett lost, in a measure, through his hotheadedness. The contest was the fastest ever fought by heavyweights. Corbett's fighting was very fast, and Fitzsimmons showed that he was thoroughly game and a glutton for punishment. The fight was fairly won, and, though the last blow was the left punch over the heart, the knockout was delivered by Fitz when he swung his right heavily on Corbett's jaw, and made "The Pompador" groggy. In the first five rounds Corbett had all the better of the contest, and in the sixth round almost literally beat a tattoo on Fitz, sending the latter down on one knee. Corbett got rattled, just as he did when he fought Mitchell, but instead of fouling, as he did the Englishman, at Jacksonville, he lost his head and swung his arms wildly. Fitz bled from the nose in the fifth round and continued to bleed all through the rest of the contest. But it did not do him much harm.

Corbett displayed much skill and science, but no generalship. Fitz fought wearily and was evidently willing to take a lot of punishment to score one heavy right on the jaw. He swung the right a great deal, but missed so very much that he must have looked awkward.

From the seventh round on the men fought slower, but it was from fatigue—not from inclination.

The 14th round was a fast one, but Corbett can blame himself for losing. He should have known that he was not strong enough to mix-it-up with Fitz, but still he persisted in leading. Had he made Fitz do the leading he could have countered effectively. Fitz showed that he was much the harder hitter, for that cross-counter in the 11th round almost stopped Corbett.

The fight will long be remembered. There was no fiddling or dancing, but boxing and fighting from the introduction to the decision.

It was a contest between a clever boxer and a clever fighter. The fighter won.

And it is Champion Fitzsimmons.

Corbett declares he will follow Fitzsimmons from town to town until he gets another fight, as he thinks he can lick the Cornishman.

Fitzsimmons announces that he has fought his last battle. He will spend the remainder of his life at home with his family.

In the smaller fights Hawkins and Green were the winners. Hawkins knocked Flaherty senseless in the first round. The Green-Smith fight lasted 12 rounds, when the latter threw up the sponge, as he was outclassed.

The Fight In Detail.

Round 1—Both men sparred cautiously for an opening, Fitzsimmons being on the aggressive, Corbett keeping away. Fitzsimmons seeing that he must force matters went after his man and crowded Corbett back into the latter's corner. Both made vigorous swings with the left, and both missed, both men staggering against the ropes. Fitzsimmons still kept crowding Corbett, and Corbett landed a right in the face, getting away without a return. A second later he repeated the dose, and again missed the counter which Fitzsimmons sent in. Both men clinched, and in the breakaway Fitzsimmons got in a hard left on Corbett's chin, staggering him. He followed this up with a left on the upper half of the neck, staggering him the second time. Corbett sent in a left counter in return, and then ducked and ran away from a vicious right hook. Corbett sailed in, landing a light left on the neck, getting the same for his share, and immediately after he sent in a hard left on the neck. Corbett sent his right for the body, but Fitzsimmons avoided it by a clever side step. Corbett got in a light left and cleverly ducked from a right swing. Corbett sent his left and his right to head, and the men clinched, Fitzsimmons landing a hard left with his free arm. Both landed rights on the body and were clinching in the center of the ring when the gong sounded.

Round 2—Both men came quickly to the center of the ring. Corbett this time assumed the aggressive and prodded Fitzsimmons. The latter landed his left on the heart and the men clinched. Both men were fearful of hits in the breakaway, and wrestled cautiously, shoving each other back and forth. On the breakaway Fitzsimmons followed up quickly and got in his left on the chest. Corbett came back with a hard right on the body, and then came another clinch, during which Fitzsimmons was laughing over Corbett's shoulder as they struggled. Another clinch followed, a hard left being sent in on the nose by Corbett. Jim then got in a left on Fitzsimmons' nose, getting a light counter. Fitzsimmons clinched, and immediately on the break sent in right and left swings on the head. Corbett laughed and came up for more. Fitzsimmons ducked a straight left and then came another clinch, Corbett getting in a right on the breakaway. Fitzsimmons sent a straight for the head, but missed, Corbett coming back with a hard left on the head. Bob landed and Corbett stopped the smiling by getting in a right hook on Fitzsimmons' head, following it with one of the same sort from his left. Corbett swung three times in succession, but failed to land any of the three. At the third swing Fitzsimmons ran in and clinched, and on the breakaway Corbett struck Fitzsimmons below the belt with his right, committing an unintentional foul. A second after he slipped Fitzsimmons a left in the stomach, doubling up the red-haired man. This was a fierce blow, and the best of the fight up to this time. Corbett led with his left for the head, but slipped and nearly fell. Fitzsimmons followed him hotly, but Jim was too clever, and Bob could not reach him. Corbett sent in a straight left on the body, following it with a right in the same direction, and then sent in another left. Fitzsimmons was unable to stop the rain of blows, and running in on Corbett clinched him. Immediately after the men parted Corbett sent in a right for the body, and Fitzsimmons clinched again. The men were clinching as the gong sounded. Jim had much the better of this round on points, though none of the blows was hard enough to do much damage. During the minute rest Bob drank eagerly from a bottle, but Corbett took no refreshments.

Round 3—At the opening Corbett sent in a hard left on the body, making Fitzsimmons wince and clinch. He followed with a hard left on the jaw, staggering Fitzsimmons. He followed this with a rain of blows, sending his left to the body twice and a right on the head. Jim led for the head again, but Fitzsimmons stopped him cleverly, both men clinching. Fitzsimmons made left and right swings for the jaw, but Corbett ducked and both men laughed. Jim feinted with his left and then sent his right to the body, landing lightly. Fitzsimmons swung with his left, but landed only lightly, and the men clinched. Corbett got in a right and left on the body, and they clinched again, Corbett laughing and nodding in evident good humor to his friends at the ringside. Fitzsimmons made a savage poke for the jaw, but missed. Corbett stepped in quickly, getting a right to the body, and a mutual clinch followed. Fitzsimmons turned loose with a left hook on the jaw, staggering Corbett. He followed this with a hard right on the jaw, and in the breakaway in the clinch Fitzsimmons landed two light right hooks on the top of the head. They were apart for a few seconds, and Corbett ran in and clinched after landing a hard right on the body. Both were fearful of being hit in the breakaway and wrestled for several seconds. Fitzsimmons sent in a good right, reaching the jaw, but Corbett only laughed. Both missed left and clinched, Fitzsimmons getting in a hard left on the body in the breakaway. Fitzsimmons sent his right to the body and left to the nose. He assumed the aggressive, crowded Corbett, and was about to lead with his left as the gong sounded. Corbett held up his hands, saying good naturedly, "Nay, nay." Bob grinned and turned away to his corner.

Round 4—Corbett landed a left on the jaw and the men clinched, both laughing. Both landed hard lefts on the body, and in a clinch which followed Corbett nodded to his friends over Fitzsimmons' shoulder. Jim landed a hard one and a light one on the head, Fitzsimmons countering. The men clinched again, Corbett landing a right on Fitzsimmons on the breakaway, and the men clinched. Corbett landed a hard left on the chin. Jim ducked a vicious right-hand swing and landed a right on the body, following it with a left on the body and another on the nose. Corbett led for the face, but touched lightly. Fitzsimmons followed Corbett up and landed a hard left on the jaw, getting a left on the jaw in return, but it only made him laugh. They then clinched. Fitzsimmons missed a left for the body and they clinched again. Fitzsimmons rushed, landing a left on the body, and in the clinch punched Corbett on the body with his right. He also hit Corbett on the head with his right. Corbett missed a right swing for the head in the breakaway, and Fitzsimmons clinched. Jim landed a hard right on body, but missed a left for the head. Corbett landed right on head and left on the body, following with a left on the jaw. A clinch followed. Corbett landed a hard right on the body and a hard left on the jaw. When the round closed the men were clinching, both laughing. Fitzsimmons' body was red from the effects of Corbett's right handers. Referee Siler said to the newspaper men that he did not get in between the men during a clinch for fear that he might spoil a chance for a knockout with one arm free.

Round 5—Corbett immediately landed a hard left on jaw. Fitzsimmons ran Corbett to the ropes and then clinched, no blows being struck. Corbett landed right on Fitzsimmons' jaw and left on neck. Corbett landed right on Fitzsimmons' jaw and on the body, and they clinched. Both landed hard rights on body. Fitzsimmons followed up with a left on jaw and ducked a vicious left-hand swing. Corbett missed a right on body, and they clinched. Jim missed a left lead and clinched. Corbett landed left on jaw, a light left on the head, and they clinched. Jim landed hard left on the jaw and right on the head. He landed the left on jaw again. Fitzsimmons hit Corbett hard on the head, staggering him. Corbett gave Fitzsimmons a hard left on the jaw, then led again and missed. Corbett landed his right on the body, a left on the ear, a light right on the jaw, and they clinched. Corbett landed his left on the jaw, a right on the head and his left on the jaw again, the men clinching. Corbett landed a hard left on the jaw and Fitzsimmons clinched, being a trifle dazed by the succession of blows he had received. Jim landed a right on the body, a left on the head and then came in for a left on the jaw. Fitzsimmons landed on the head with left and got in a right-hand jab on the body as the round closed. Corbett seemed the fresher of the two. He got first blood, which was coming from Fitzsimmons' mouth as the gong sounded. Jim refused refreshments, but Fitzsimmons drank from a bottle.

Round 6—Fitzsimmons opened with left on face, and Corbett was crowded to the ropes. Fitzsimmons made a wild left swing for the body and a second clinch followed. Corbett ducked from vicious left intended for the jaw. Jim led with his left for the jaw and then put a hard right-hand uppercut on the chin, causing a stream of blood to pour from Fitzsimmons' mouth. Corbett came in again with a vicious left on the jaw, and again the blood came in a stream from Bob's mouth. The men clinched. Corbett then put it all over Fitzsimmons, putting his right on the head, his left on the jaw and then left and right on the jaw, crowding Fitzsimmons to the ropes. Fitzsimmons seemed unable to stop the blows that came in, and Corbett hit him on the jaw with his left and uppercut him with his right, making the blood flow. Bob's face was practically a puddle of blood, and he was evidently beginning to weaken. Fitzsimmons attempted to reach Corbett's jaw, but failed, and the next second missed a hard right swing. Fitzsimmons was evidently tiring, and when he received a savage right behind the ear he reeled and went down on one knee. Corbett was wild to finish him, and although the rule of the fight is that when one man is down the other should retire 10 feet until the fallen man is on his feet, Corbett, in his eagerness, ignored the rule and kept trying to get at Fitzsimmons. Referee Siler warned him to stand back and Martin Julian sprang upon the platform on the outside of the ropes calling excitedly to Corbett, "Stand back and obey the rules. Why don't you stand back?" Fitzsimmons was down seven seconds, but was only taking a rest. The instant he rose Corbett was at him like a fiend. He landed his right on Fitzsimmons' jaw, sent a hard left to the jaw and put his left into Fitzsimmons' face with the force of a bullet, and then put his right on the jaw again. He followed these blows up with a right and left on the jaw, and then caught Fitzsimmons with a hard left on head and put his right and left on the head, and put his right and left on jaw again. Fitzsimmons was evidently going when the gong sounded, and a little more of it would have settled him. His face was literally a mass of blood, and he tottered a little as he went to his corner. Corbett's chest was covered with blood which splattered from the mouth and nose of Fitzsimmons.

Round 7—Fitzsimmons came up to the mark promptly and seemed refreshed. Corbett began with a hook on the jaw, and then put in a right uppercut. He tapped Fitzsimmons' nose again. Fitzsimmons made a right and left swing on the jaw, and Jim planted a straight left jab on the nose again. Fitzsimmons made a right and left swing for the jaw, and Jim planted a straight left jab on the nose. Fitzsimmons led for the body and Corbett clinched, Fitzsimmons getting in a good right on the jaw on the breakaway. Corbett got in a light left on the body and Fitzsimmons clinched. Fitzsimmons put in a stiff left on the body, but received a hard jab in return, and they clinched to avoid a savage left hook which would have done the business for him had it landed. Corbett's thigh was daubed with the blood from his own glove, which was colored by contact with the nose and mouth of Fitzsimmons. Corbett came in again with two hard lefts on the jaw, Fitzsimmons apparently being unable to stop the blows. He seemed to be waiting for his chance, and willing to take blows if only he had a chance for a return. Fitzsimmons swung right and left for the jaw, but Corbett ducked very neatly and gave Fitzsimmons a straight left jab that smeared the blood all over Fitzsimmons' face. Fitzsimmons put in a left body blow and ducked a left swing and clinched. After the breakaway Fitzsimmons assumed the aggressive and put a stiff right on the body, Corbett clinching. Corbett struck for the body and landed below the belt, the blow, however, being very light, and Fitzsimmons paid no attention to it. Corbett then put his left on the jaw and getting away very cleverly from right and left hooks which Fitzsimmons sent at his jaw he clinched. Corbett put his left in the face and uppercut savagely with his right, but Fitzsimmons slipped on one side and stopped the blows with his left elbow. At the close of the round both men were bespattered with blood, and Fitzsimmons was a sight, his face being covered with blood from hair to chin.

Round 8—Fitzsimmons was evidently getting stronger and came up in fine shape. He went at Corbett and crowded him back into his (Corbett's) corner. Both men swung for the head with the left and both missed. Corbett put in a stiff left on the body and nearly sent Fitzsimmons to the floor. Fitzsimmons swung with his left for the jaw, but Corbett jumped aside, laughing. Fitzsimmons was evidently determined to have his inning, and he went after Corbett fast and furious. He sent a hard left on the body, hard left on the jaw, crowding Corbett to the ropes, receiving only a light blow on the body in return. He then landed on Corbett's chest. Both men then sparred for wind and walked slowly around. Both missed lefts for the body, and then came Corbett's turn. He put in his left hard on body, Fitzsimmons countering on the chest. Corbett landed a hard left on the jaw, a light right on the body and his left on the jaw. Fitzsimmons stood the volley of blows very well and came out of it laughing. Corbett reached the jaw again with his left and put his left on head. Fitzsim-

THEY SAY the LEDGER was up to the scratch yesterday in giving the news of the big fight, and there is no denying it, as we were in touch with the American Press Association. We would have been pleased to have recorded the death of both brutes, but it was not our good luck. The fight was to have started at 2 o'clock, Quincy time, and the LEDGER which went to press at 2 30 told why it was delayed. It was after 3 o'clock before the gong sounded, and the 3 30 LEDGER announced the fact. It was after 4 o'clock before the fight was over and the 4 30 paper announced the victor and told the round. At that time no paper in Quincy contained information that the fight had even began.

GRANITE BROKERS.

A Manufacturer Who is Opposed to the Wholesale Company.

To the Editor of the Daily Ledger:

If you will kindly allow me space, I wish to express an opinion on a subject which was the topic at meeting of the Board of Trade on the evening of the 9th current, the scheme to promote the interests of our granite industry. We fear that it never will be done, however, by the plan proposed. There are enough jobbers and brokers in the business now. So much so that the manufacturer can scarcely live; and should another one get into competition with those already started it will only tend to made matters worse. Such a concern would sell more Quincy granite undoubtedly, along with other granites. They would sell the most profitable, without consideration whether it was Quincy or Peteshear, Barre, Westerly or a mixture of all but Quincy.

Quincy granite has been advertised throughout the length and breadth of this land, and among dealers has pretty much its standard price. The brokers have no doubt done this for it, and other centers as well, who are engaged in the production like ourselves. The introduction of new and fine specimens into the market; plentiful, and easier wrought into ornamental shapes, of course have a pressure on Quincy granite.

In regard to inferior material being used, close competition causes this the same in the granite business as it does in the production of any other article; but the brokers' and jobbers' contract, when sent to the manufacturer, is as high classed as it ever was or can be, and those who work for jobbers witness value given for the money paid.

Probably a new company could get more money, than their fellow jobbers on the same kind of promises; their method of sub-letting is meant to be about the same to the lowest bidder of course; and then they would inspect the work when finished, preventing it from coming back on the manufacturer. But as a rule there are not a great many jobs that come back. It's the low prices paid that hurt most.

At the present time there are in this city 125 or more concerns, and they are mostly small. The larger ones with their managers, etc., etc., having been forced to stop for obvious reasons. There is brain and brain, and advertising, and managing, from before the sun rises, and long after it has gone down, for a surety; yet if there be any good Samaritans in our city who want to lend a hand, there is a chance. There may even be a dollar in it yet; but in these times we all want good cheap articles, and why not good cheap monuments ?

Certainly this must have been the case at the World's Fair. It cost the association several thousands; yet there may be some who can afford to keep that sort of thing up with a better prospect in view; granite and groceries will not maintain the city alone, it is high time that the Board of Trade should fasten its efforts on something varied, and new, that would give employment to our boys and girls, and numerous men who have been compelled to leave stone-cutting, because they could not be rated at horse power.

OPENING NIGHT.

Reception of Granite City Club to be a Society Event.

A Sketch of the Club and Its Growth Under Various Names.

Past and Present Officers and Members—The New Rooms.

The formal opening of the new rooms of the Granite City club will take place tonight and a brief history of this organiza- will not be out of place at this time.

As great oaks from little acorns grow, so has the Granite City club grown from the little association formed some thirteen years ago, until today it has become an organization numbering among its members the representative men of Quincy, whose aim it is to eventually broaden until it has a club house with the accompanying lawn tennis court, bowling alleys, etc., a club house such as Quincy has long desired.

While strictly a non-political organization it is worthy of note that all of Quincy's chief executives from Mayor Porter down and including Mayor Adams have been enrolled upon its membership books. Past and present members of our City Council, city officials and representatives to the Great and General Court are also enrolled, and who knows what the distant future may have in store.

For some time previous to the year 1884, when Quincy was struggling along under a town form of government, and electric lights and electric street cars were unheard of, a number of well known citizens, were wont to meet in various places to pass a social hour. Believing that a permanent organization would be beneficial to all it was proposed to form an association. With that in view the following agreement was drawn up and signed :

"QUINCY, Feb. 23, 1884,

We, the undersigned, desirous of forming a social club, to consist of about twenty members, for social and instructive amusement, agree to pay our proportionate part of the expense of leasing a room, or rooms, and furnish the same in an acceptable manner, where we may enter at all time, day or night."

The signers to this document were:

E. W. Henry Bass, John F. Merrill, George S. Paterson, A. McPherson, William G. Sheen, William N. Eaton, A. D. Perry, A. F. Bussell, John H. Gilbert, Joseph C. Morse, George H. Hitchcock, Fred L. Jones, Henry O. Fairbanks, Chas. H. Porter, Frank E. Hall, William A. Hodges, Alonzo G. Durgin.

E. W. H. BASS,
The Promoter of the Club.

These gentlemen held a meeting at the rooms of A. F. Bussell on the evening of March 22, 1884, at which William A. Hodges was elected president, and John F. Merrill secretary.

Messrs. W. G. Sheen, Charles H. Porter, and William A. Hodges were appointed a committee to draft by-laws which were adopted at a subsequent meeting, held March 29.

A permanent organization was then effected with these officers:

President,—Charles H. Porter.
Secretary,—Joseph C. Morse.
Treasurer,—John F. Merrill.

The treasurer was authorized to secure rooms for the society, and on April 5, 1884, they held their first meeting in rooms in French's building. At this meeting a committee was appointed to report a suitable name for the society, and on April 12, it was voted that the society be known as the "Quincy Associates."

The quarters secured in French's building consisted of one small room; a pool table was put in, together with chairs and other furnishings, several hundred dollars being expended in furnishing the room.

This room soon proved to be much too small and a new room was added by building an L on the rear of the building and still later the upper room was also added.

The club or rather associates occupied these rooms until April 1, 1887, when they moved to Durgin & Merrill's block, occupying two rooms on the upper floor. Here a billiard table was added to their furnishings, as well as other needed articles.

It was not long before the Associates again found themselves cramped for room and three other rooms were added to their quarters, making five in all.

The limit of the membership had now been extended and in April, 1890, the membership fee was increased to $15 and the dues put at $15 per year.

Oct. 11, 1890, the name of the organization was changed to Quincy Club by which it was known until Feb. 21, 1891, when the name was again changed to the

GRANITE CITY CLUB.

Things continued to prosper with the association under its new name and early in 1894 it was deemed best to be incorporated. Feb. 10, that year, the incorporators held a meeting at which by-laws were adopted and upon Feb. 21, 1894, James Thompson, E. W. Henry Bass, Clarence Burgin, W. W. Ewell, Joseph C. Morse, George H. Field and John H. Dinegan, were incorporated as the Granite City Club with these officers :

President,—James Thompson.
Vice President,—Joseph C. Morse.
Clerk and Treasurer,—E. W. Henry Bass.
Finance Committee,—Joseph C. Morse, W. W. Ewell and Clarence Burgin.

On the evening of March 24, 1894, the old Granite City Club held its last meeting at which it transferred all of its property to the Granite City Club, incorporated, and then dissolved.

The quarters in Durgin & Merrill's block

MAYOR ADAMS,
Who will Assist in Receiving.

were occupied until Feb. 1, 1897, when the club moved into its new and commodious quarters in the Savings Bank building. Here the club has a suite of three large rooms, furnished with all that goes to make pleasant quarters. The room in front is the parlor or reading room and here the members find home comforts. A rich carpet covers the floor, while in the centre is a handsome carved oak table upon which can be found the leading magazines and periodicals. Easy chairs abound and in the cosy notches are upholstered seats. On the walls are many handsomely framed pictures and about the room are many pieces of bric-a-brac, gifts of the ladies. The centre room is the card room, while the rear or third room is the billiard and pool room.

While in Durgin & Merrill's block ladies' and gentlemen's whist nights were inaugurated, and have proved very enjoyable, so that they have now become a fixture. These whist nights are held every Wednesday evening, the ladies' night being every other Wednesday evening. The ladies have also held a number of matinee whist parties and these features will be continued in the new rooms.

The membership of the club is now limited to one hundred and the present officers and members are as follows:

President,—Joseph C. Morse.
Vice President,—D. E. Wadsworth.
Clerk and Treasurer,—E. W. Henry Bass.
Finance Committee,—W. W. Ewell, Clarence Burgin and Henry F. Tilden.
House Committee,—Joseph C. Morse, D. E. Wadsworth and E. W. Henry Bass.
Membership Committee,—E. W. Sheppard, W. W. Mitchell and John Curtis.
Entertainment Committee, — E. W. Henry Bass, Henry F. Tilden, Russell A. Sears, J. W. Nightingale and George W. Jones.

The membership in alphabetical order : Charles F. Adams, 2d, C. H. Alden, Luther S. Anderson, Clarence Burgin, Charles M. Bryant, J. S. Blagdon, Paul R. Blackmur, A. F. Bussell, E. W. Henry Bass, John Curtis, John T. Cavanagh, E. Fred Carr, Rupert F. Claflin, A. G. Durgin, J. W. Dennen, John H. Dinegan, B. T. Dyer, Joseph Dasha, W. W. Ewell, William N. Eaton, George H. Sears, John Shaw, James Thompson, F. W. Tirrell, Henry F. Tilden, Peter B. Turner, D. E. Wadsworth, C. H. Winslow, George B. Wendell and Benjamin J. Weeks.

At the reception this evening President Morse will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Morse, Mayor Adams, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. H. Bass.

On the morning of Feb. 20, 1895, I was sick with rheumatism, and lay in bed until May 21st, when I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application of it relieved me almost entirely from the pain and the second afforded complete relief. In a short time I was able to be up and about again.—A. T. MOREAUX, Luverne, Minn. QUINCY BREVITIES.

Notes from Quincy Point, Wollaston, Atlantic, South and West Quincy.

The material for the new street railway tracks is expected to arrive this week.

The issue of the Golden Rod for March, to be issued next week, will be a patriotic number.

Several Quincy gentlemen are candidates for the position of superintendent of streets at Milton.

McDonnell & Sons have received a contract for a $4000 mausoleum for Philadelphia parties.

West Quincy people feel that there is not much prospect of Copeland street being paved this year.

About one hundred and fifty boys are promised for the conference and many others will be in attendance Saturday. Every section of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be represented. Yesterday Secretary Colton received word from a gentleman in St. Stephens, N. B., who is greatly interested in work for boys in the Maritime Provinces that he would attend the conference.

George H. Hitchcock & Co., have been awarded the contract for a $3500 spire monument for western parties.

Several dancing parties are announced for Easter Monday evening and public halls are in demand for that date.

The regular meeting of Puritan Council, No. 6, Jr. O. U. A. M. will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. Five candidates will be initiated.

John Hancock lodge, I. O. O. F., of Wollaston, celebrated the initiation of its one hundredth member with a banquet in its hall on Wednesday evening.

The matinee whist at Faxon hall, for the benefit of the City Hospital, announced to take place on Friday next, was a mistake ; it is a week from Friday, March 26, at 2 o'clock.

Our readers will be pleased to know that Mrs. F. M. Wainwright is arranging a fine entertainment for the benefit of the Quincy City Hospital, by the Dramatic club of Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., on the evening of April 27—Tuesday.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Ellen Noble took place from the residence of her sister, Mrs. Benjamin King, on Central avenue, Wollaston, on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. The services were conducted by the Rev. Carlton P. Mills, rector of St. Chrysostom's church. The interment was at Forest Hills.

The death of another aged resident is recorded today, Mr. Perez Joyce of Quincy avenue. He was in his 87th year and up to a short time before his death worked at his cobbler business, having a card in the PATRIOT at the present time. He was a constant attendant at the Universalist church while health permitted. A daughter, Mrs. George H. Hobby, survives him.

GRANITE DUTY.

An Effort to be Made for a Still Greater Increase.

James Thompson, the president of the Quincy Granite Manufacturers' Association leaves today for Washington in the interests of the tariff on granite. He will be accompanied by John Shaw, who has had considerable experience in tariff legislation, and who on more than one occasion has stirred the granite manufacturers and workmen to greater efforts for the advancement of their industry. The Quincy association might have been more successful had it sent President Thompson before the bill was reported, but with the knowledge of the fact that the present committee and Congress itself are in favor of Protection, it is possible that the duty on finished granite may be placed at fifty or sixty per cent. It is worth the effort to make the attempt.

Independence in Politics.

Mr. C. L. Baker, '98, the newly elected President, called the meeting of the Q. H. S. debating society to order on Wednesday. The report of the secretary, Mr. McLean, '98, was then offered and accepted.

The election of last week was completed and resulted in the choice of Mr. Marnock, '98, as vice president, and Miss Durgin, '98, as secretary.

The debate was on the following subject: "Resolved, That Party Allegiance is Preferable to Independent Action in Politics."

The affirmative was taken by Miss McDonnell and Miss Osborne.

The negative was supported by Mr. Gallagher, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Litchfield.

Mr. Lewis, Mr. Litchfield, Mr. Lyons, Miss Martin, and Miss Durgin, took part in the general debate.

Mr. MacKenzie, '97, presented an excellent report as critic.

The board of decision decided in favor of independent action in politics.

The entertainment included these numbers: Essay, Miss Annie Perry, '97; and recitation, Miss Scharnagel, '97. The rest of the programme was postponed from lack of time.

Y. M. C. A. JUNIORS.

Boys from All Parts of State to Hold Conference in Quincy.

The conference of the junior departments of the Y. M. C. A. will open in the Baptist church at Wollaston at 3.30 tomorrow afternoon when a prayer and song service will be led by W. E. Clark of Worcester. At 3.45 Ernest H. Dart of Springfield will speaks on "What should membership in the Junior Department mean?" This will be followed by a chalk talk by Pitt F. Parker of Newton, and conversational reports from departments.

At 5.30 there will be a reception and banquet.

An evening service will be held at 7.30 in the Congregational church at Wollaston, the opening praise service to be conducted by C. F. Bartlett of Marlboro. James Moorhead of Quincy will lead the welcome and recognition exercises. At 8 o'clock C. F. Merrick of Quincy will read a paper on "The value of Sloyd work for boys," and there will be an address on "The Culture of the Boy Life" by Rev. Charles L. Morgan of Jamaica Plain.

The convention will be continued on Saturday, the programme for which will appear tomorrow. The Friday LEDGER will also give the names of the boys in attendance.

The Association still needs places for a few more boys. Those who cannot entertain boys at home are invited to contribute to the lunch which is to be served Saturday at the Association rooms for those who are present for the day only. The indications are that there will be many more than anticipated for that occasion. The public will be cordially welcome to all sessions.

The Quincy & Boston Street Railway Co. will furnish two cars to bring the delegates at the conference from the Adams' Houses to the Bethany church, Saturday morning.

TWO TO TWO.

The Old Quincys Beaten by Braintree & Weymouth Team.

For the fourth time this season the Old Quincys met the Braintree & Weymouth team on Wednesday evening. The match was bowled on Gourd's alleys and resulted in a defeat for the home team.

The Quincys lost the first string by 47 pins, but in the second they rolled up 864 to 808 for the visitors and led by 9 pins. Peverley went to pieces on the third while all the visitors bowled over 150, and the result was 2456 to 2360 in favor of the Braintree & Weymouths.

Four of the men bowled over 500, two on each team, the total of Kelley being 595, who put up two strings of over 200.

The Institute Tomorrow.

Friends of education and parents will be welcome, as well as teachers, at the teachers' institute at the Quincy High school tomorrow morning and afternoon, seasons being held at 9 A. M. and 1 P. M. Three sections will meet simultaneously, one for primary work, one for grammar work and the third for High school work. At 3 P. M. all will meet in the study hall, when a valuable paper is expected from Dr. Frank M. McMurry of Buffalo, N. Y., on "How to secure a High Degree of Self Activity."

Duel In France.

Paris, March 18.—A duel with swords was fought yesterday afternoon in the park of St. Ouen between the Chevalier Pini, master of the Italian school of arms, and M. Thomeguex, a French amateur swordsman. The meeting, which excited intense interest, arose from a letter insulting Pini as an outcome of a recent assault-at-arms. Pini is regarded as the first swordsman of the world. M. Thomeguex is a prominent Transvaal "outlander," or resident of foreign birth. The duel lasted half an hour. Pini easily held his own and only disarmed his adversary. Later, Pini lunged violently at M. Thomeguex's right breast. The latter parried the lunge, but Pini's rapier pierced his shirt. Finally M. Thomeguex was wounded in the face and the duel was stopped.

The 17th at Boston.

Boston, March 18.—This 17th of March, St. Patrick's day, occasion of the great prize fight, is also notable as the anniversary of the evacuation of Boston by the British at the opening of the war of the revolution. On this account, the bells were rung at morning, noon and night, and flags were displayed from the public buildings. Appropriate exercises were held in the public schools, and the patriotic organizations held public meetings. As St. Patrick's day anniversary, the day was observed only by a few of the Irish societies.

Long Will See Armor Tested.

Washington, March 18.—Secretary Long will see for the first time the actual testing of an armor plate, at the Indian Head proving ground, today, having accepted the invitation of Captain Swanson, chief of the ordnance bureau, to go down the river to witness the firing of a 10-inch shell at a 16 1-3-inch plate.

Suffrage Bill Defeated.

THREE GOOD MEALS.

Daily Evidence That Puritana Cured Him.

A MAN'S case is really desperate when his neighbors are daily expecting him to die, when his physicians have given him up, and when his system revolts at the simplest sort of nourishment. Yet this was the condition of Mr. Charles E. Phelps, who is a life long resident of Sterling, Mass., having been born there 53 years ago.

For the past 17 years Mr. Phelps has been tax collector and constable, and is also sexton and the proprietor of a livery stable. He is a prominent Odd Fellow, and his acquaintance extends widely into Clinton, Lancaster, Leominster, Boylston and Worcester.

Mr. Phelps was dragged down to the door of death by a serious stomach trouble. He was fighting for his life without much hope for his poor pain-racked body. He was fighting alone against starvation in the midst of plenty, against constant loss of weight and increasing weakness, against dreadful nausea, against pressure on his chest, against belching of wind, sourness of the stomach and terrible pain.

He had all but lost the fight, when Puritana saved him. Mr Phelps is enthusiastic. His friends and neighbors marvel at his wonderful recovery, and another link is added to the long chain of evidence in favor of Puritana. His remarkable letter is as follows:

The Puritana Compound Co.,

Dear Sir—For ten years I have had a very bad stomach trouble. One year ago I had a hemorrhage of the stomach which left me in a still worse condition. My system got entirely run down so that I could eat scarcely anything. A small piece of bread would cause severe pains across my chest and in my bowels, and I would have to go to bed and call a doctor.

My condition kept on going from bad to worse, and last summer I was given up to die. My weight ran down from 140 pounds to 123. After eating, frequently I would vomit everything up. I had employed doctors, but still retained no permanent results. Last summer my attention was called to Puritana, and as a "drowning man" grasps at a straw, so I commenced the use of Puritana.

The results in my case are marvelous. Instead of being in my grave, as many predicted I would be before this time, I am attending to my active business pursuits, and sit down to three good meals of victuals a day, enjoy eating them, and afterwards experience no pains, attacks of indigestion, vomiting, belching of wind, sourness of the stomach, or anything of the kind. Puritana I consider the most wonderful of medicines and am recommending it to many of my friends.

TRAGEDY OF THE SEA.

Steamer Goes Down Off Hatteras and Only Four Persons Survive.

There Were Eighty Souls All Told Aboard Vessel.

She Sprung Aleak and Then Ran Into Terrible Gale.

New York, March 18.—The steamer Ville St. Nazaire, which left here on March 6, has gone down somewhere off the Carolina coast, and as far as is known, only four of the 80 people who took passage on her remain alive.

These four were rescued by the schooner Hilda, after having spent nearly a week on the water exposed to a frightful tempest, without food, without water to drink and in the most intense cold.

With them in the boat were four dead men. There were three other boats that left the sinking steamer. There is hardly a chance that any of these have survived the storm, for many vessels traverse that part of the ocean and nothing has been seen of them.

The four living and the four dead are all that were left of 37 men, women and children who took that boat when the steamer was settling to the bottom.

The St. Nazaire was one of the French line to the West Indies. Her commander was Captain Jaqueneau. Her business was principally of freight, but she carried quite a number of passengers. Her crew numbered about 60 men, the passengers bringing the total up to about 80. She was 1043 tons burden, and although not a new vessel, was considered stanch, and there is more or less of a mystery connected with her foundering.

The story of the shipwreck is short. She was not a day out from port when a leak was discovered. It was not supposed to be serious. The pumps were started, and probably the steamer could have been saved had she not at that time run into a most terrible gale.

So weak were the four survivors that the Hilda found that they have not yet been able to tell the complete story.

At first the steamer met the storm stately. As long as she responded to her helm they could meet the big waves and escape the worst of them. But as the leak gained on them and the vessel sank more and more, and the storm increased in violence, mountain after mountain of green water swept over the St. Nazaire, tearing her upper works, extinguishing her fires, and breaking the limbs of more than one of her unfortunate crew.

Tons of water crushed the doomed vessel, which could not, because of the water that came in from beneath, rise out of the trough of the sea. The terrible hammering drove some of the passengers insane.

Just how many were swept off and drowned before they got the boats out nobody will ever know.

MARSH MURDER TRIAL.

Witnesses Give Further Damaging Testimony Against Defendants.

Montpelier, Vt., March 18.—The Marsh murder trial yesterday brought out considerable interesting testimony throwing light upon the relations between Buzzell and Mrs. Marsh. Mrs. William McCarthy testified that Mrs. Marsh told her that she objected to having her husband cut up after death so there would be no post mortem examination. The witness had observed familiarity between Mrs. Marsh and Buzzell.

Mrs. Minnie Thrasher testified that she heard Marsh say, during his illness, that every time he had been to the village he had found Buzzell with his wife when he returned. Mrs. Marsh once told the witness that she thought Buzzell was cute to fool with. The witness was at the Marsh house when Mrs. Marsh prepared her husband some tea, which made him so sick that he was obliged to take an emetic. She had heard Marsh complain of stomach and heart trouble several months before his death.

Frank Thrasher corroborated the testimony of his wife, and told of conversation with Mrs. Marsh, after Marsh's body had been exhumed, in which she said arsenic would probably be found, as he had taken medicine containing arsenic before his death.

Mrs. Charles M. Nichols said she had been a visitor at the Marsh place, and had seen Mrs. Marsh kiss Buzzell, and heard her say that Marsh would not live always, and if he died she would tell Buzzell where she went.

Charles Ingalls testified to selling Buzzell and Mrs. Marsh two gills of embalming fluid, containing arsenic, after Marsh's death.

Hiram Henry, a neighbor, testified to being at the Marsh house during Mr. Marsh's illness, and saw Buzzell put a white powder into a glass of water which he gave to the sick man.

Rodriguez' Hope.

Washington, March 18.—Senor Rodriguez, the minister of the Greater Republic of Central America, comprising Nicaragua, Salvador and Guatemala, has been granted a leave of absence by his government, but has remained here in hope of negotiating a new treaty with the United States for the construction of the Nicaraguan canal. It is learned, in well informed diplomatic circles, that he is anxious to negotiate a new treaty on the basis of the Frelinghuysen treaty, which was pending when Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in 1895, and was withdrawn from the senate by him.

Titus Reinstated.

Baltimore, March 18.—Chairman Mott of the L. A. W. racing board yesterday gave out a letter to Fred J. Titus, who with Cabanne and Murphy has been under suspension for throwing a race in St. Louis, reinstating him to amateur ranks after March 15, 1897.

Grave News From Germany.

London, March 18.—The Daily Chronicle states: "Grave news has been received in London with respect to the health of the King, and certain constitutional possibilities are being discussed."

Mayor Strong Removes Parker.

New York, March 18.—Mayor Strong yesterday removed Andrew D. Parker from the office of police commissioner of New York. The cause given for removal is neglect of official duties.

CHAMPION FITZSIMMONS.

mons made a vicious right hook, following it up with his left and missed. Then he put his right strongly on Corbett's jaw, staggering him. Corbett led with his right for body, but Fitzsimmons got away. Fitzsimmons then took the aggressive and followed Corbett around the ring, putting his left and right lightly on the body, but could not stop a left on the nose that caught him just as the gong sounded. Corbett began to look tired, and in the minute rest took refreshments, washing out his mouth with water. Fitzsimmons, although covered with blood, was evidently gaining strength, and he was quite fresh at the close.

Round 9—Both men sparred for an opening. Corbett opened and missed a left for body. Fitzsimmons landed a light left on the body, Corbett coming back with a hard left on the body, making Fitzsimmons jump into the air. Fitzsimmons followed Corbett, who kept away from him, and kept up a succession of left jabs in the face, receiving only a slight left on the body. Fitzsimmons landed his left on the body, staggering Corbett. Jim landed his left on the nose and hard left on the same place, his right on the jaw and a second hard straight on the jaw, a left on the jaw again and a right on the body. Fitzsimmons landed a hard left on the jaw, following with a left on the head. He landed on the jaw with his right, staggering Corbett badly and sending him back. Both men appeared tired, but Fitzsimmons was smiling through the blood on his face. Corbett led a hard left for the face, but missed, Fitzsimmons ducking. Bob led with his left and Jim got away. Bob landed his right on the jaw and Corbett clinched. Fitzsimmons landed a right and left on the body, and the men clinched again. Fitzsimmons landed right and left on jaw. Jim put his left in the face and got a left on the jaw in return, which ended the round. Corbett seemed tired, but Fitzsimmons was evidently fresher than at the close of the previous round. He was bleeding very badly from a bad cut on the lip.

Round 10—Fitzsimmons assumed the aggressive at the start. He missed a hard right for Corbett's face, but followed it up with a left on the ribs and got in return a hard right on the jaw. The men clinched. Fitzsimmons landed a hard left on Corbett's chin and a light body blow, but got a hard left on the jaw in the breakaway. Fitzsimmons landed hard on the body with his left and put a right hard on the jaw, following it up with a stiff left on the jaw, rushing Corbett back two feet. Corbett missed a left swing for the jaw, Fitzsimmons getting away. Corbett also missed a left for the body. Bob landed a hard left on the body and Corbett countered with a hard right on the same place. Corbett landed a left on body, Fitzsimmons countering with a light left on the nose. Both men clinched. Fitzsimmons missed a right for the head, but landed a left twice in succession and got away without a return. Fitzsimmons landed a hard right on the head. He made a terrible swing with his left for the jaw, but Jim got away. Jim landed his left on the jaw and a hard right on the body. The men clinched, Corbett rushing Fitzsimmons after receiving a hard left on the jaw and got in on the body with his right, also landing his left on the chin and one on the neck. Corbett smiled, though he looked somewhat tired. He ducked a left-hand swing and got a left in the body, rushing Fitzsimmons to the ropes. (The crowd hissed him). He landed with his left a terrible blow on Fitzsimmons' jaw, staggering him. The men were in a clinch as the round closed. Fitzsimmons' condition appeared to be improving, but Corbett, to all appearances, was losing strength.

Round 11—Both men put lefts on the body and clinched. Corbett put his left on the jaw and his right on body. Fitzsimmons got in a left on the jaw, followed by two others and a right on the head. Corbett landed his left and a clinch followed. Corbett landed a hard right on the face and a hard left on the ear and poked Fitzsimmons generally with his left in the face again. Fitzsimmons missed a right-hand swing for the jaw. Corbett missed a left for the jaw, and a second intended for the same locality. Fitzsimmons landed a hard right on the jaw, they clinched and wrestled. Corbett sent his right for the body, Fitzsimmons getting away. Corbett led with left for head, but Fitzsimmons ducked. Fitzsimmons landed a straight left on the jaw and uppercut Corbett in the clinch with his right. He also landed his right on the jaw and put a hard left on Corbett's ear. Corbett made a left swing, but it was stopped. Fitzsimmons landed a hard one on Corbett's face, staggering him, and in the clinch he uppercut Corbett with his right on the jaw. He also landed hard on Corbett's ear, after receiving a light left on the chin. Corbett landed a hard left on Fitzsimmons' nose and received one in return on the jaw. Fitzsimmons followed Corbett, landing right and left on the body. Corbett ducked a vicious right-hand swing and the men clinched. The round closed with Fitzsimmons' condition improving, and he was fighting strong.

Round 12—Fitzsimmons came up quickly, starting after Corbett with a vicious left for the head. Corbett ducked and Fitzsimmons' arm passed fully a foot above his back. Fitzsimmons put his right on body before Corbett could catch him. Corbett missed a left jab pointed at the jaw, and Fitzsimmons went through a similar performance, but swung back with his right, catching Corbett on the head, and then followed it up with a straight poke on the nose. Fitzsimmons repeated this performance with a left hook. Corbett put his left on the body very lightly and then put his left on the jaw, receiving a severe counter in the same place. Jim then landed hard on the head and rushed Fitzsimmons to the ropes, where a clinch followed. During the clinch Fitzsimmons cleared his throat of blood, which he spat over Corbett's shoulder in the coolest manner possible and then wiped the blood from his nose with the thumb of his glove. His toilet being completed, Fitzsimmons broke away, catching a hard left on the jaw as he did so. He missed another of the same sort and clinched, uppercutting Jim with his right on the breakaway. Both men ducked left swings and clinched. Corbett then landed a rain of blows on Fitzsimmons, catching him repeatedly on the jaw and body.

Round 13—Fitzsimmons landed a left on the body and a hard right on the jaw. Jim missed a left hand swing, but landed a left on the jaw, and they clinched. Fitzsimmons missed a hard right for the head, following Corbett around the ring and scoring a straight left on the face, after which he clinched. They fiddled around the ring, Corbett with his guard down in a careless fashion, Fitzsimmons following him up, and pushing him to the ropes. No harm was done, both men taking it easy. Corbett landed a light left on the face and another on the body, but missed a right uppercut. He then landed a hard straight left on Fitzsimmons nose, following him to the ropes and missing a left hand swing, receiving only a light tap in return, and they clinched. Fitzsimmons assumed the aggressive and made Corbett dance around the ring to avoid him, receiving a hard left on the body before he desisted. Fitzsimmons landed a hard left on the body, staggering Corbett, and then landed on the body. Jim put in a straight left on the nose and a right uppercut on the jaw. In the clinch that followed, Corbett landed his left on the face twice, and missed a lead for the head. While following Jim, Fitzsimmons got a light left on the face. Both men were in the center of the ring as the round closed.

Round 14—The round opened with a left swing for the jaw by Corbett. It missed the mark, but he tried again with better success, reaching the jaw good and hard. Fitzsimmons was all there, however, and he sent his left to the body with terific force. The blow sent Corbett staggering backward several feet, and evidently hurt him badly. Fitzsimmons lost no time, but followed closely, and sent his right to Corbett's face, causing him to totter again. He them pushed his left hard on the body and was hot after his man, but Corbett gave ground to get away. Corbett came up strong, however, and put his left hard on Fitzsimmons body. The latter put in a hard right on the head. Jim was looking tired, his strength was going, and he clinched. After the breakway, Fitzsimmons put in a hard right and left on the jaw, and the men clinched again. Corbett fighting Fitzsimmons into the southwest corner of the ring. Jim put his left on the jaw and Fitzsimmons sent his right to the chin with fearful force. The blow made Corbett lean backward, and turned him nearly round. He raised his guard a trifle, and quick as lightning Fitzsimmons shot his left glove on Corbett's body, just below the heart. The blow was one that would have shivered a plank, and Corbett's face paled instantly. His arms fell to his sides, his eyes closed, and he pitched for the ropes, groping for them with his right hand. His face bore a look of intense agony, and he was evidently suffering the most excruciating pain. He tried to rise, but Fitzsimmons, with his right, caught him a jab on the chin. Corbett was not knocked out in the common acceptance of the word. He was not unconscious, but the pain resulting from the blow under the heart was so great as to make him careless of anything else. He tried several times to rise, but was unable to do so, and was counted out by the referee.

Lamoreaux Given Opportunity to Reply.

Washington, March 18.—Secretary Bliss has sent a letter to Commissioner Lamoreaux of the general land office, whose action in the Chicago lake front case was annulled and severely censured, offering Mr. Lamoreaux an opportunity to defend himself. The secretary cites the order vacating the proceedings, and says it is understood the commissioner desires to be heard on the charges therein implied. The only charge made, and which is admitted, the letter states, is that he secretly imparted, to an interested person, the decision in advance of its promulgation, involving property of immense value and requiring the greatest discretion. A reasonable length of time to hear from Judge Lamoreaux will be allowed, pending which, action on his personal case will be deferred.

Town's Narrow Escape.

Greenwich, Conn., March 18.—A fire which threatened to destroy the entire village of Mianus, located at the head of the Mianus river, midway between Greenwich and Stamford, broke out in the general store of Horton & Ayres, and raged for three hours yesterday, causing a loss estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000; partly insured. The village was entirely without a fire apparatus, and the bucket brigade was helpless. Were it not for the timely arrival of the fire engines from Stamford and Greenwich, the entire village would have been destroyed.

A man fears and abhors the highwayman who at the point of the revolver robs him of his money. The mere thought of the ruffian who robs by violence makes a man shudder. There is a deadlier enemy than the highwayman that robs men not only of their money, but of their ability to make it, and of their health and life. And yet men actually court the advances of this deadly enemy. Its name is consumption. Thousands of bright men and women are passive victims in its clutch. Its daily victims are numbered by thousands.

A sure cure for this dread disease is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It goes directly to the seat of the trouble. It restores vigorous action to the digestive organs, tones up the liver, and makes the appetite good. It makes the assimilation perfect and supplies the blood with the elements that build up healthy tissue. It acts upon the lungs driving out all impurities and disease germs. It soothes the shattered nerves and they resume their normal function of imparting healthy activity to all the organs of the body. All Druggists sell it. Nothing else is "just as good."

"Dr. Pierce, I am one of your most grateful patients," writes Mrs. Annie M. Norman, of Equinunk, Wayne Co., Pa. "I have taken 'Golden Medical Discovery,' also 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pellets' with wonderful results. I am, as many of my friends tell me, like the dead brought to life. The doctors said I had consumption and death was only a matter of time. That was six years ago. I concluded to try your medicine. I continued until I had taken nine bottles of 'Discovery' and several bottles of 'Pellets.' I got well and have done a great deal of hard work since."

What more need be said of a book after the one statement: "680,000 copies sold at $1.50 each?" That book was Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. In that many homes it is known as the best medical book ever published in any language. Several chapters relate exclusively to diseases peculiar to women. There is now ready an enormous edition that is absolutely FREE. This edition is bound in heavy paper. Send twenty-one one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. If fine French cloth binding is desired, send 10 cents extra (31 cents in all). Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

NEURALGIA
BOUND HIM WITH BANDS OF PAIN

He Is now Cured, and He Thanks God and P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, For It.

Mr. George Briggs, of Moore, Okla., suffered almost indescribable torment for three long years. Neuralgia held him captive. The right side of his face was so badly affected that the slightest touch would cause the unfortunate man intense agony. For several weeks he could open his mouth just wide enough to be fed with liquid nourishment, and in this manner life was sustained. Read the following extract from his letter: "Truth is stranger than Fiction."

NEURALGIA, CATARRH AND RHEUMATISM COMPLETELY CURED.

George Briggs, of Moore, Oklahoma, writes that P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him of catarrh, facial neuralgia and rheumatism, after three years of intense suffering. The pain lay in his cheek bone and temple, down the right side of his face, along his upper lip, and from the slightest touch he suffered agonies for weeks at a time. Could only open his mouth wide enough to admit a teaspoon, and any acid in his food would put him in torture. He had a consultation of the best physicians in Texas, but all to no purpose.

Catarrh and rheumatism were also causing him much trouble, until he tried P. P. P. He says he is well and will swear that there are no cases of neuralgia, catarrh and rheumatism, no matter how chronic or how old the cases are, that P. P. P. will not make a total cure of.

Mr. Briggs winds up his testimony by saying he thanks God and our medicine, P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, for the great cure.

Kidney troubles, if neglected, bring about serious and painful and very often fatal results. P. P. P. removes the irregularities, and cures the diseased parts.

Dyspepsia and indigestion, skin and blood diseases, can be speedily removed by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

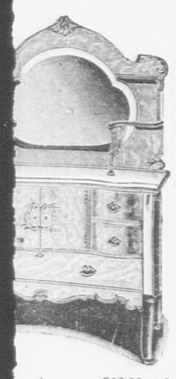

Ladies, take P. P. P. and rid your face of pimples, blotches, freckles, yellow or muddy skin, wrinkles and vulgar redness.

CONSUL TO LONDON.

William McKinley Osborne of Massachusetts to Succeed Collins.

John K. Gowdy of Indiana Will Go to Paris.

Powell Clayton, Minister to Mexico---Other Nominations by President.

Washington, March 19.—The senate held a short open session yesterday, at which 330 bills were introduced. In executive session the arbitration treaty was taken up. Senator Morgan consumed the whole session in a speech opposing the ratification of the treaty.

President McKinley sent the following consular and department nominations to the senate.

Powell Clayton of Arkansas, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Mexico.

William M. Osborne of Massachusetts, consul general of the United States at London.

John K. Gowdy of Indiana, consul general of the United States at Paris.

Joseph H. Brigham of Ohio, to be assistant secretary of agriculture.

Perry S. Heath of Indiana, to be first assistant postmaster general.

Sylvester Peterson of Minnesota, to be register of the land office at Crookston, Minn.

Sketch of William McKinley Osborne.

William McKinley Osborne of Boston, secretary of the Republican national committee, is a cousin of President McKinley. His mother and the president's mother were sisters. He was born in Girard, Trumbull county, O., April 26, 1842. He was educated at the University of Michigan and at its law school. After being admitted to the bar he practiced law at Youngstown, O., of which city he was mayor in 1874-75. When the Civil War broke out he entered the Twenty-third regiment of Ohio volunteers, but was subsequently discharged on account of injuries received in the service. He went to Boston in the fall of 1880, and has since lived there. In July, 1885, Governor Robinson appointed Mr. Osborne a member of the metropolitan police board. Three years later Commissioner Osborne was reappointed by Governor Ames for a term of five years. He was married to Frances Clara Hastings in April, 1878.

After William E. Russell became governor of Massachusetts he removed Mr. Osborne and appointed a Democrat to the police board. The latter since that time has been engaged in political work, and for two years past was credited with conducting a thorough canvass of southern and western states in behalf of Major McKinley. During the recent campaign General Osborne served as secretary of the national committee.

Powell Clayton's Career.

Powell Clayton is the leader of the Republicans of Arkansas. He has been a delegate in Republican national conventions almost since the war, and for many years has been a member of the national committee for Arkansas. He is 68 years old, and a native of Pennsylvania. He entered the Union army from Kansas as a captain in 1861, and was successively promoted until he reached the rank of brigadier general. At the close of the war he settled in Arkansas and became a planter. In 1868 he was elected governor of the state. In 1871 he was elected United States senator and served until 1877.

Another Original McKinley Man.

John K. Gowdy is the chairman of the Indiana Republican committee. He was an original McKinley man in that state, and managed the preliminary campaign, which gave the Ohio candidate the solid Indiana delegation. Mr. Gowdy was a captain in the late war. He has never held any large office, but has held a number of county offices. He lives at Rushville, Ind. He is about 50 years old, and has been more identified with farming interests than anything else.

Perry Heath, Newspaper Man.

Perry Heath is known to all newspaper men in Washington, and quite generally to public men and newspaper writers in all parts of the country. He lived in Marion, Ind., for some years before coming to Washington as a correspondent for several western papers. After some years of newspaper service here he went to Cincinnati as editor of The Commercial Gazette, since consolidated with The Commercial Tribune. On resignation of this position he entered actively into Mr. McKinley's canvass, and was one of the lieutenants before and after the convention. During the campaign he was chief of the Republican literary bureau. He is fairly well to do, as the result of fortunate real estate investments in towns in the Indiana natural gas belt.

Wilson's Assistant.

The new assistant secretary of agriculture is a farmer, living near Delta, O., in the western part of the state. He has an excellent war record as an officer in the Union army, and is well known in Ohio political circles, having been his party's nominee in several hot fights. Among the agriculturists he is widely known as the master of the National grange, which office he held for some time. He has lectured to granges in all parts of the country, and was warmly endorsed by granges in all parts of the country for secretary of agriculture. He probably will be the tallest man in departmental life, towering 6 feet 5 inches in height. In the Harrison administration he was one of the commissioners to negotiate with the Shoshone and Arapahoe Indians for a cession of a part of the Wild river reservation in Wyoming.

Draper's Appointment Delayed.

Washington, March 19.—Congressmen Moody and Gillette had a talk with President McKinley yesterday and were practically assured that Boyd B. Jones would be given the district attorneyship and James D. Gill of Springfield the collectorship of internal revenue for Massachusetts. Friends of General Draper are annoyed by the delay in his appointment, and the Massachusetts senators have decided to refrain from making new recommendations in the diplomatic and consular field until General Draper's honors are finally bestowed. He is a candidate for one of four ambassadorships, and only Germany and Italy now remain. Pennsylvania is trying to get Germany for Charlemagne Tower of Philadelphia and upon Mr. Tower and Mr. Draper it is generally supposed that the two ambassadorships will be bestowed.

Dingley Bill Program.

Washington, 19.—The program for the tariff bill in the house was agreed upon by the ways and means committee yesterday after a long and somewhat discordant meeting, in which there was disagreement not only by the two parties, but among the Democratic members of the committee. The bill will be reported to the house today, debate will begin on Monday next and the final vote will be taken on Wednesday, March 31. In the meantime the house will be in session from 11 in the morning until an indefinite hour at night, with a recess for dinner, all the time to be consumed in debate on the bill.

L. A. W. Committees.

New York, March 19.—The American Wheelman announces the appointment of committees of the League of American Wheelmen, by President Potter, as follows: Highway improvements—Otto Dorner, Milwaukee, chairman; A. B. Choate, Minneapolis; Percy Richardson, Portland, Me.; Wallace Sherwood, Indianapolis; W. A. Connolly, Danville, Ills.; G. Richmond Parsons, Providence. Rights and privileges—W. S. Jenkins, Buffalo, chairman; H. W. Knight, Newark, N. J.; Conway W. Sams, Baltimore. Rules and resolutions—E Kostomlatsky, Oskaloosa, Ia., chairman; C. C. Monaghan, Santa Anna, Cal.; E. I. Halstead, Tacoma. Transportation—B. B. Ayres, Chicago, chairman; H. C. Nickerson, Boston; Robert Helm, St. Louis. G. W. Dorntee of Boston has been added to the members of the racing board appointed last week. Other committees will be filled next week.

Annie Besant's Mission.

New York, March 19. — Mrs. Annie Besant held a reception last night at the Hotel Jefferson. Speaking of her visit to this country, she said: "I come here as the representative and under the auspices of the parent Theosophical society of the world, and while I deplore the division caused by this secession of a large portion of the American section from the parent body I have no quarrel with them. I shall devote my time in this country strictly to an exposition of theosophy. After lecturing in this city, Brooklyn and Newark, N. J., I shall go to Washington, Philadelphia and Boston and to Toronto." Mrs. Besant will also make a tour of the west in company with the Countess Wachtmeister, the widow of the late Swedish ambassador to London, who is expected to arrive in this city on Sunday.

MADDENED BY THIRST.

Survivors of Steamer St. Nazaire Tell of Companions' Terrible Suffering.

Seven Days In Open Boats Without Food or Water.

Crazed by Drinking Salt Water, Unfortunates Jumped Into the Sea.

New York, March 19.—The full story of the rescue of the four survivors of the crew of 70 and 10 passengers of the French line steamship Ville St. Nazaire, which foundered on Sunday, March 7, off Cape Hatteras, was told yesterday, but it will be many days before the full story is told of the wreck itself, and the terrible sufferings that led to the death of 33 out of the 37 persons who started from the foundering ship in the boat that was picked up.

As for the three other boats, and their passengers, which started from the ship at the same time, nothing may ever be heard. It is almost certain that these boats were overcome by the tremendous seas, and all their occupants were lost.

The survivors who reached this port on Wednesday, and who had been all but crazed by their seven days' experience in an open boat without food or water, seeing companions daily dying of hunger and thirst, or as raving maniacs, casting themselves into the sea, were all of them yesterday in such exhausted conditions that they not only could not add to the facts that are known, but their doctors shook their heads and said it was even uncertain whether they ever would be able to tell, if indeed they survived the shock.

The Ville St. Nazaire was one of the 3000-ton steamers owned by the French line and employed in passenger and freight traffic between this port and the West Indies. The line has three boats in this traffic, and there are semi-monthly sailings.

The Ville de St. Nazaire was discovered to be leaking one day out from this port. The leak could have been controlled by the pumps had not the steamer run into a terrific gale. As the storm increased in violence the water poured into the hold more rapidly, and consequently increasing difficulty was experienced in keeping the vessel's head to the waves. Then wave after wave swept over the St. Nazaire, destroying her upper works and extinguishing her fires. The survivors are unable to tell how many persons were swept overboard by the waves and drowned before the steamer sank.

On the morning of March 8 there was so much water in the hold that it was certain the vessel could not be kept up and then the boats were gotten out. The first one swung out was struck by an enormous breaker that threw it back on the deck, crushed and splintered. The scene was dreadful, the shrieks of the women and children unnerving the men. Orders were given to put water and provisions in the boats, but little of either reached them, as the vessel was settling rapidly. Barrels of water intended for the lifeboats were swept away before they could be placed, and the packages of food were torn from the hands of the sailors by the great waves.

What became of the 14 persons, besides those mentioned, can only be too well surmised, although there is a remote possibility that one or more of the three boats in which they left the sinking steamer has been picked up by a sailing vessel, which has not yet made a port and made known the rescue.

The steamship office was filled yesterday with a number of anxious friends of the passengers that had sailed on the ill-fated vessel. Several were crying. The agent threw open the books for the inspection of all who made inquiries, and many went away relieved at being unable to find the looked-for names on the passenger list. There were 11 passengers on board, and the crew numbered 71 men. The officers, crew and passengers were, with one or two exceptions, residents of foreign ports. The only white persons on board, besides the passengers, were the officers.

Alphonso Dumois, one of the passengers on the St. Nazarie, was a brother of Hippolyte Dumois, head of the firm of H. Dumois & Co., fruit dealers of this city.

Raymond Jimenez, another of the passengers, was the head of the firm of R. J. Jimenez & Co., contractors and engineers, also of this city.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, March 19.—The house yesterday substituted for an adverse report a bill to prevent fast driving on the sale stable streets near the Boston union station. The sub-committee of the committee on metropolitan affairs reported a bill to the full committee consolidating the Boston common council and the board of aldermen. The first section provides for the election each year of a president of the city council by the people. There shall also be elected at the municipal election in the current year 12 aldermen-at-large, six for two years and six for one year, and at every subsequent annual election six aldermen-at-large for a term of two years shall be elected.

Turks Selling Their Arms For Food.

Constantinople, March 19. — The Imperial Ottoman bank advanced only at the last moment the £60,000 required by the porte for military expenses. The misery of the Turkish troops is intense. Their wages have not been paid for the last nine months, and many officers are selling their arms and uniforms to get food.

The Different Tariffs.

There has recently been issued by Congress a valuable book on United States custom laws, being a compilation of all the tariff acts passed from 1789 to 1895, including all acts, resolutions and proclamations, modifying or changing those acts. The volume of nearly 600 large pages is very conviently indexed, and reference is easily made to any commodity. It shows that under the act of the first Congress in 1790 there was imposed a duty of seven and one half per centum ad valorum on "marble, slate and other stones." The second session of the third Congress in 1794 made the duty four and one half. In 1846 paving stones were placed at 20 per cent., and building and polishing stones at 10 per cent. The 37th Congress continued building stones at 10 per cent in the Act of 1862. The Act of 1883 said: "Stones unmanufactured or undressed, freestone, granite, sandstone and all building or monumental stone, except marble, not specially enumerated or provided for in this act, one dollar per ton; and upon all stones as above, hewn, dressed or polished, 20 per centum ad valorem." It is common knowledge that the Act of 1890 placed dressed granite at 40 per centum, and that the Act of 1894 reduced it to 30 per centum.

Hon. John Shaw of this city will please accept thanks for this volume, which gives us so much of value relative to the tariff.

—There are said to be over a hundred distilleries of Bourbon whiskey in Kentucky which are in a bad way on account of excess of production. There are now nineteen million gallons in bond, enough to supply public requirements for several years to come if every distillery in the state were kept idle. If this is the truth, it would indicate either great overproduction or sad neglect of duty on the part of Kentuckycolonels.—Boston Home Journal.

BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

The Opening Reception of Granite City Club.

Quincy's Six Hundred Were There and Delighted.

Vocal and Instrumental Music and Also Refreshments.

The reception given by the Granite City Club Wednesday evening, at the formal opening of its new rooms in the Savings Bank Buildings, will pass as one of the leading society events in Quincy this season. Not only were the rooms occupied by the club open, but also the hall and adjoining rooms on the second floor, the latter being used as cloak rooms.

The reception was from 7 30 to 10 o'clock and during these hours the several rooms were thronged with exquisitely gowned ladies, accompanied by gentlemen, who for the most part were in full evening dress.

In the hall, standing upon an elegant rug, were President and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, His Honor, Mayor Charles F. Adams, 2d, and Secretary and Mrs. E. W. Henry Bass, who acted as the receiving party.

Mrs. Morse was gowned in a handsome heliotrope silk, with decollete bodice, trimmed with cream chiffon.

Mrs. Bass wore a heavy black satin skirt, with lavendar and white striped silk bodice trimmed with lace and a corsage bouquet of jacqueminot roses.

After laying aside the outer wraps the guests were taken in charge by the ushers, Mr. Clarence Burgin, Mr. Henry L. Kincaide, Mr. Russell A. Sears, Mr. Eben W. Sheppard and Mr. Herbert M. Federhen, and presented to the receiving party.

Upon the platform, the front of which was covered with potted plants and ferns, was Monk's orchestra which furnished instrumental music during the evening. This was interspersed by selections by the Commonwealth Male quartette of Boston, composed of J. H. Upton, first tenor, Alexander Ferguson, second tenor, E. Walter Arnold, baritone, and Jerre B. Scamman, bass. The selections rendered being: "Hark the Trumpet." "The Bridge," "Vocal March," and "Nellie was a Lady."

Mr. E. Walter Arnold also rendered a baritone solo "The Sailor Maid" and Mrs. Alma Faunce Smith piano solos "Mazurka" and "Danse Moderne." The piano used being a Kurtzmann, from the warerooms of the Chandler W. Smith Piano company.

The commodious club rooms up stairs were thronged throughout the evening, and many envied the gentlemen their attractive quarters; which include parlor, card room and billiard and pool room.

The doors of the Quincy club across the hall were also wide open, and visitors were welcome.

The billiard and pool room was transformed into a grand dining room, several lamps together with the electrics causing it to be brilliantly illuminated. The refreshments by Cook included:

Ham Sandwiches,
Rolled Bread and Butter Sandwiches,
Lettuce Mayonnaise Sandwiches,
Fancy Cakes,
Olives, Cheese,
Candied Fruit,
Salted Almonds,
Coffee, Chocolate

During the latter part of the evening an opportunity was given those who desired to dance, which many took advantage of.

Entertainment at West Quincy.

The supper and entertainment given at the West Quincy Methodist church, Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Epworth League, was very largely attended, the entertainment being unusually fine.

Supper was served from 5 to 8 o'clock, and at the latter hour the entertainment was given; the programme being as follows:

Selection,—Welch Glee club.
Solo,—Mr. Edward J. Hughes.
Reading,—Miss Rice of Boston.
Solo,—Mr. Rolland R. Hughes.
Solo,—Miss Annie Brown.
Reading,—Miss Rice.
Solo,—Mr. L. J. Griffith.
Selection.—Welch Glee Club.

The public hearing on the petitions of the Quincy & Boston street railway for locations on Quincy avenue to the Braintree line and from Hancock street near the Braintree line and from Hancock street near the Atlantic depot is advertised today.

A duplicate whist party was given Monday evening by Mrs. James H. Churchill of Walker street, to a few of her friends. Partners were chosen by the matching of "Little Miss Muffett" bows of brightest colors. After chocolate, coffee, cakes, etc., good nights were said at 11 30. Prizes won by Mrs. Safford, Mrs. Jelinek and Mrs. Dorman.

Mrs. Alfred Jelinek's whist party, given on Wednesday evening of last week at her home on Botolph street, was a very pleasant and successful affair. Daintily painted favors, proving the artistic talent of the hostess, were given to each guest. Prizes were taken by Mrs. Safford, Mrs. Owen, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Churchill, and Miss Colbath of Jamaica Plain.

Vesper Music.

Vesper services at the Wollaston Baptist church will be held at 7 o'clock, Sunday evening. The musical programme will be as follows:

A LARGE INSTITUTE.

Teachers Here From Many Surrounding Towns.

Advanced Ideas as to Modern Education.

Held Under Direction of State Board of Education.

Older boys and girls than usual are attending the Quincy High school today, but the number is about the same as usual, 300 or more. It is a teachers' institute under the direction of the State Board of Education, and is largely attended by teachers from Weymouth, Hingham, Stoughton, Avon, Milton and other towns, together with the full force of Quincy teachers, all the public schools of the city being closed. The Woodward institute is not closed but the teachers attended when their studies were under discussion.

George I. Aldrich of Newton, formerly Superintendent of schools in Quincy, had the first hour in the primary section and his subject was the "Elements of Geography." Formerly so many pages of the text book was administered each day. Then the work of the teacher was simple. Today it was not merely to add information as to location, etc., but rather a development for which the chief responsibility rests upon the teacher. Modern work often failed because the teachers took the entire burden upon themselves, whereas the children should do something. Geography as a distinct study had no place in the first three years of school. Pupils however should obtain correct knowledge of distance and direction; of the natural phenomenon of rain, hail, snow, etc.; of the natural divison of land and water; and home geography, with possibly some knowledge of the earth as a whole.

The waste of effort came through failure to appreciate what children know. They know more than they can phrase. Make them conscious of what they possess. There was also a waste because of inadequate preparation of teachers; they should have a purpose. Don't make words do an impossible thing but introduce objects. Make children open eyed, observant, curious if you will. When you can lead them to learn as a result of their own thinking, then you can claim to have taught something.

Mr. A. C. Boyden of Bridgewater Normal School was the first speaker in the Grammar Section. In his lecture on "Nature Study" he first made the distinction between primary and grammar Nature Study. The grammar work is elementary science. Mr. Boyden's remarks were confined to the study of trees and birds, these being taken as type exercises. The three phases of the work, the scientific, artistic and literary were carefully brought out. Mr. Boyden is popular with the teachers and they are always helped in listening to him.

A talk on "Physics" by Mr. J. C. Packard of the High school, Brookline, opened the High school section. The aims of teaching physics he said, were:—Amusement, love of nature, knowledge, mental training, practical training, correlation with geography, etc, exhibition.

While the element of interest is highly important, many parts of all subjects are necessarily dry. The study of toys may be made highly interesting to children. Parents ought to buy toys intelligently. For example a toy bridge will show the principles of scientific bridge construction. A most interesting collection of instructive toys may be made for schools. "Fun with magnetism," "Fun, Physics, and Psychology," are two books to be recommended. Dolls should be dressed in the costumes of different nations or in historical costumes. Picture books are not bought carefully. Great discrimination should be exercised in the purchase of books.

Love of nature should be strongly inculcated. Books on nature should lead readers to nature rather than from it. The information side of physics should be emphasized. The Harvard reqirements in physics were severely critcised. Steam engines, dynamos, and telephones are very generally misunderstood. Man has done a great deal more for himself than Nature has done.

Illustrative lectures on physics were highly commended. Do not expect pupils to become Galileos, and Newtons, and Edisons. The Harvard experiments push the idea of mental training too hard, and neglect the information side. The practical advantages of manual training were praised. The physics department and the manual training department should be correlated as they are in Brookline. Physics and geography should be correlated. A course in heat and expansion should correlate with physical geography. Do not teach physics to make a show at the end of the year. Mr. Packard's address was particularly able.

Four more talks were given in each of the three sections which will be outlined in Saturday's LEDGER. At noon there was an hour's intermission, but it was unnecessary for those present to leave the building, as for a nominal sum they could secure a lunch which the class of '97 of the Quincy High had thoughtfully provided.

The paper of the afternoon will be by Dr. Frank M. McMurry, who will at 3 20 address a joint meeting on "How to secure a high degree of self activity."

The following bill is posted in large letters at the door of a Brussels theater: "Moral pieces every Sunday and Thursday."

Most of the delegates will be entertained over night.

Tomorrow morning the boys will go sight seeing. Electric cars at 8 45 will take them to the birthplaces of the Presidents, John Adams and John Quincy Adams, and the Mayor of the city will extend to them a welcome.

At 9.45 a session will open in the Bethany Congregational church, Quincy. Eugene C. Carder of Cambridge will have a paper on "The Intermediate Department;" Lawrence A. Comey of Melrose on "Systematic Giving—The Motive—The Need;" Perley C. Hyde of Holbrook on "Attractive Meetings—How arranged and conducted." The session to close with a gospel meeting.

The closing session of the conference will be held at Wollaston Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Congregational church, with the following papers: "Summer Work, and Camp-Fire Experiences," by Harry Roberts of Watertown; "Methods of Bible Study," by T. E. Phillips of Providence; "The Multiplying of our Lives," by F. V. Bistrup of Waltham; "The Spotless Life," by Rev. Tillman B. Johnson of Lynn. Farewell service at 4 o'clock.

☞ Sunny days are just around the corner. Don't carry that baby. Stunning carriages from $3.50 to $25.00. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

Awarded a Medal.

Officer David J. Barry has been presented with a medal by the Massachusetts Humane Society, for the bravery shown by him at the Quincy depot on the night of Dec. 26, 1896, in rescuing passengers from in front of an approaching train.

On the above night a passenger train had just arrived from Boston and the passengers were alighting onto the inward track when the head light of an approaching inward freight train appeared by Sheppard's coal yard. The people alighting from the passenger train were panic stricken for a moment and it looked as though a horrible accident must take place. Officer Barry, baggageman Langley and hackman Dunn immediately rushed to the rescue and did heroic work in getting the passengers out of danger, Officer Barry barely escaping being struck by the engine of the freight train which could not be stopped until it had been run some 300 feet beyond the depot.

Foot Ball Officers.

A meeting of the Quincy foot ball club was held in the club room on Liberty street Thursday night, and the following office bearers were elected:—President, William Marshall; vice president, R. Robertson; secretary, A. Murray Pirie, 56 Quincy street; treasurer, D. Arthur; captain, A Russell; vice-captain, D Arthur; standing committee, W. Lane, A Russell, W. Rose; match committee, R Robertson, A. Murray Pirie, James Smith; trainer, W. Lane.

The team is in first-class condition and is negotiating with Concord, N. H., and Fitchburg, Mass., for games at an early date. They are open to play any first-class team in the state. Address all communications to the secretary at the above address.

—Efforts are being made to sell to the Government for $50,000, the farm of 112 acres near Hodgenville, Ky., on which Abraham Lincoln was born. The little one-room log cabin which for a time served as Thomas Lincoln's home stands today practically as it was in 1809.

A HORRIBLE CONFESSION.

Scott Jackson Held Pearl Bryan's Dead Body While Her Head Was Cut Off.

Frankfort, Ky., March 19.—As a last desperate resort to extort a respite from Governor Bradley, or a commutation of the sentence of himself and Alonzo M. Walling, Scott Jackson has made a confession, and Walling has signed it. Upon their arrest one year and six weeks ago each charged that the other committed the murder. The confession is now in Governor Bradley's hands.

The confessions say Dr. Wagner administered medicine in attempting to perform an abortion, under which Pearl Bryan died. Jackson held her across his lap while Wagner cut her head off. Wagner wrapped the head in a cloak and took it home. Afterward he became insane. They did not know where the head was. The confession was secured for a big money consideration, the proceeds to go to the mothers of the condemned men.

Tomorrow is the date fixed for the execution of Walling and Jackson. The scaffold has been erected, and unless Governor Bradley grants a respite the sentence will be carried out.

Floods In Northwest.

Omaha, March 19.—Special telegrams to The Bee, from all points in the Northwest, indicate that the bonds of winter have broken and the streams that have been bound in ice for months are suddenly turned into raging torrents. The worst reports come from South Dakota. Along the Missouri, the settlers are fleeing from rapidly increasing floods, and nothing definite can be told further. The snow that capped the state lay from four to six feet on the level Two days of warm weather, with two nights of rain, have set this all running to the river. At Pierce, the Cheyenne and Bad rivers, at Chamberlain the White, at Yankton the Big and Little Sioux river lower down, and the Floyd at Sioux City, are pouring their torrents into the ice in the Missouri, which has not yet broken. The lowlands are flooded, and the rivers are rising with frightful rapidity.

Ex-President at Home.

Princeton, N. J., March 19.—Ex-President Cleveland has arrived home from his trip South. It is said that Mr. Cleveland will become the senior partner of a law firm bearing the style of Cleveland, Carlisle & Stetson, and that the offices will be situated in the vicinity of Wells street, New York. Mr. Carlisle is the former secretary of the treasury, and Mr. Stetson was formerly a partner of Mr. Cleveland in the law firm of Bangs, Stetson, Tracey & McVeagh. Another report is to the effect that Mr. Cleveland will not engage in any business pursuits for some time; that he will remain in Princeton but a short period, and that he contemplates cruising in southern waters with E. C. Benedict on the latter's yacht.

Nashua Investors Heavily Assessed.

Nashua, N. H., March 19.—The levying of an assessment of $75 a share on the stock of the Sioux City National bank of Sioux City, Ia., will be felt heavily in this city, as over 2000 shares of the defunct bank are held here, the Nashua Savings bank alone having 120 shares. Before the failure of the bank the stock was quoted at 60, and many persons here paid a much higher price for their holdings. If the entire assessment is paid by stockholders here $150,000 will be required.

Arbitration Treaty Denounced.

New York, March 19.—The call of the Monroe Doctrine league for a mass meeting to protest against the arbitration treaty with England filled Cooper Union last night with a large and enthusiastic audience, which warmly applauded the speakers whenever they denounced the proposed treaty, and pointed out its weaknesses and the advantages to Great Britain. Resolutions were adopted denouncing the proposed Anglo-American treaty in the strongest terms.

Prohibitionists' Efforts Fail.

Providence, March 19.—The Prohibitionists of this city have failed in their effort to have the license question submitted to the voters of Providence during the April election. It was necessary that a petition be sent to the legislature for legislation to permit of the question coming before the voters, but the petition, although vigorously circulated, lacked 500 names of the number necessary to bring it into legal notice. The time for signing the petition has expired.

The Victor and the Vanquished.

San Francisco, March 19. — Fitzsimmons will give an exhibition here tonight. Corbett had arranged to show, but his defeat knocked his plans to pieces. The ex-champion is much chagrined at his defeat, but he says he was fairly whipped. Fitzsimmons reiterates his retirement from the ring. Both fighters are in good health. Corbett still suffers occasional pains in the region of the heart from the terrific knockout blow.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

R. C. Lehman, who is to coach the Harvard boat crew, has arrived from England

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts is backing N. L. Fothingham of Boston for commissioner of patents.

The honorary degree of doctor of civil law has been conferred upon Dr. Nansen, the Norwegian explorer, by Oxford.

In a quarrel over the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, at Glen Falls, N. Y., Edward Mahan fatally stabbed Patrick Regan.

John S. Johnson, the bicyclist, who has been seriously ill for some time at Toronto, has gone to Chicago. His health is greatly improved.

Twenty-five tramps, who were given shelter in the jail at Perth Amboy, N. J., were nearly asphyxiated by escaping coal gas. All were revived.

The strike in the shoe factory of Murphy & Finley at Brockton, Mass., has been settled. The firm gives the lasters 10 cents a case advance on patent leather goods.

There is little abatement of the pressure of applicants at the White House, and both the president and Secretary Porter begin to show evidences of the strain they have been under for the past 10 days in receiving the innumerable callers and backers of applicants.

Applications filed yesterday for appointments under the treasury department included these from Massachusetts: A. B. Champlin, collector of internal revenue at Boston; G. F. Boucher, collector of internal revenue at Boston; W. W. Castle and H. W. Berthong, appraisers of merchandise at Boston.

CRETE IS NOW BLOCKADED.

Warships of Powers Will Enforce Terms of Ultimatum.

London, March 18.—A dispatch to the London Times from Athens states that a strict blockade of Crete was begun Wednesday

Apparently there will be no blockade of Greek ports for some time to come. The insurgents in the island are building fortifications at various strategic points, under the direction of Greek officers.

The unthinking Greek multitude has caught the war fever in its worst form. It is vain to hope that the malady will assume a milder type, and reflecting people regard the future with the greatest misgivings, knowing that Greece can hardly fail to be the loser, whatever happens. The whole nation, however, is aroused in a manner never seen in any previous crisis, and the powers ought to neglect no possible means to secure Greek compliance. They are now acting as policemen; they should also act as just and lenient judges. They should insist upon the Turkish garrisons leaving simultaneously with the Greek. This would satisfy the Greek armour propre. King George cannot order Colonel Vassos to withdraw without risking his crown.

If the powers would also sternly insist upon the withdrawal of both armies from the Thessalian frontier, the danger of the war would be obviated.

The ministry of justice has published a decree, sanctioned by the boule, barring all legal limitations and forced executions, and suspending all civil and penal sentences, in the event of contumacy during the period of mobilization.

The correspondent of The Standard at Constantinople says:

"An entente exists between the sultan and the czar, which will greatly modify Russias cooperation with the other powers. The sultan acting under pressure of public opinion, is making flattering overtures to England.

A dispatch to The Daily News from St. Petersburg says, that the Russian government has sent a telegram to Prince Nikita of Montenegro and Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, advising them to maintain strict neutrality in the Cretan question.

A dispatch from Athens says:

Activity in the ministries of war and marine continue unabated. The cabinet meets twice daily. A thousand Greek volunteers from eastern Roumelia arrived today, and were welcomed with the greatest enthusiasm.

Official reports give the number of Greek troops at Arta as 27,000, and of Turkish as 17,000. The military commanders on the frontier are steadily strengthing the positions likely to be attacked by the Turks, who are reported to be under German officers. The weather has turned much colder, and the roads are almost impracticable for artillery. The reserves in upper Albania are not eager to take up arms. The Turkish authorities in the vilayet of Monastir are making forced repuisitions, and compelling the peasantry to provide horses, mules and foot gear for the troops.

Canea, March 18.—The situation at Canea is daily becoming more serious, owing to the influx of 10,000 penniless refugees. The local government is able to supply each with a couple of pounds of bread daily, but even this cannot continue. A similar deplorable condition of things exists at Retimo and Candia. During six hours of fighting outside the latter town Monday six Turkish soldiers were killed and 25 wounded.

Eight Men After McAdoo's Position.

Washington, March 18.—There are no less than eight candidates for the place of assistant secretary of the navy, now occupied by Mr. McAdoo, and most of them are strongly backed, either by political influence or naval experience. Leading the list is Theodore Roosevelt, at present police commissioner of New York. The others are William Elliot of Indiana, ex-Representative John Robinson of Pennsylvania, Manning K. Byers of New York, who resigned from the navy in 1892 to connect himself with the General Electric company; Major Noel A. Blakeman of New York, formerly a paymaster in the navy; W. H. Jaques of Pennsylvania, an ex-naval lieutenant and a relative by marriage of Senator Chandler, and ex-Representative John R. Thomas of Illinois, formerly a leading member of the house naval committee.

Oliver Optic Dying.

Boston, March 18.—William T. Adams, better known throught the country as "Oliver Optic," the boys favorite story writer, is at his home in Dorchester seriously ill, and it is thought he cannot recover. Mr. Adams is well along in years, and has not enjoyed very good health for some time. He was born in Medway, July 30, 1822, and is a decendant of Henry Adams, who settled at Braintree (now Quincy) in 1630, and from whom the race of distinguished statesmen of this name originated.

Large Customs Receipts.

Washington, March 18.—Reports to the treasury department continue to show large receipts from customs, due mainly to the taking out of bonded warehouses at New York merchandize affected by the new tariff bill. For the past four days these receipts were $8,000,000.

ALL EYES ON CRETE.

Startling Developments In Eastern Crisis Momentarily Expected.

Norman Says Greece Will Not Back Down.

Gladstone Defends Greece and Severely Denounces the Powers.

Cretan autonomy has been proclaimed by the powers, and Christians and Moslems are advised to lay down their arms and surrender the island into the hands of the allies. No information is at hand to show how this announcement was received by the inhabitants. News comes from Constantinople to the effect that a Russian steamer carrying troops to Crete has passed through the Dardanelles. If this be true, it is the first time that a foreign nation has sent soldiers through the famous straits since the signing of the Berlin treaty. The Austrian government has received advices to the effect that an Austrian gunboat has sunk a Greek schooner which had Cretan insurgents on board. Sir William Harcourt, a British Liberal, on Wednesday denounced Lord Salisbury in vigorous phrases for allowing the British government to take its cue from France and other powers in relation to the eastern situation. Such humiliating submission, he decrared, was unprecedented and unwarrantable. His entire speech seemed to show an inclination to urge an isolated and independent policy in the east, regardless of all threatened consequences. Equally notable is the outburst from ex-Premier Gladstone. He arraigns the British government along similar lines, asking why it persists in trailing behind such irresponsible and selfish powers as Russia and Germany, at whose imperial heads he hurls stinging sarcasm.

CREECE'S CHAMPION.

William Ewart Gladstone Denounces Action of the Powers.

London, March 18.—At last a great defender has risen up to champion the cause of Greece against official Europe.

Mr. Gladstone has issued an address on the eastern crisis which is almost a Philippic in its denunciation of the concert of Europe, and in defense of the modern David among the nations which has dared to defy six Goliaths.

The boldness of the language of the Grand Old Man militant is almost startling. He does not hesitate to point out the weakness and eccentricities of the Gernan emperor, and to dwell scornfully upon the policy which allows Great Britain to be dragged meekly in the train of such a man.

Both as an argument and as an appeal this latest and perhaps the last public utterance of Mr. Gladstone cannot fail to have a tremendous influence in shaping the English policy in the great crisis which apparently is no nearer a solution than when the Greek army landed in Crete nearly a month ago.

The Grand Old Man's message to his countrymen is in the form of a letter written to the Duke of Westminister. It will be published as a pamphlet today by John Murray.

Reports From Athens.

London, March 19.—The Athens correspondent of The Daily Chronicle declares that Greece has set her back against the wall and is prepared for the worst. The commencement of the blockade of Greek ports would be instantly the signal for hostilities on the frontier, not because of any decision of king or cabinet, but because of the resentment of the army. The Chronicle's correspondent, who is Henry Norman, says this opinion sums up the results of his visit to the frontier, and then adds: "The Greek fleet, which I visited, and whose whereabouts are unknown to the foreign legations, is watching Turkish torpedo boats off one of the northern islands. I should advise the German warship Kaiserin Augusta to avoid this fleet, which is eagerly awaiting her."

Popular opinion in Greece, says The Times' correspondent at Athens, imperatively demands an early declaration of war with Turkey. The idea is that Europe would then be compelled to adopt a neutral attitude. It is argued that the Greek fleet could conquer the Islands of Aegean, including Samos, while the Greek army, assisted by insurgent bands, could rapidly overrun Macedonia.

There were sharp engagements between the Turks and Cretans outside of Ruimo (Retimo) yesterday.

Greece Prepared For the Worst.

Athens, March 19.—The official report of the fighting outside Candia shows that the insurgents attacked the military cordon from Yeferacha to Armyro, about four miles west of Candia. Reinforcements were sent as they were needed until 11 companies of regulars and seven companies of the temporarily enrolled gendarmerie were forwarded. Altogether 3000 men were engaged in the conflict, which lasted six hours. The losses of the insurgents are unknown.

The fighting on Wednesday, outside Retimo, was provoked by the Mohammedans. Both the insurgents and the Mohammedans had five killed and many wounded. Fighting was continued yesterday at the village of Monastire.

Telegrams from the Macedonian frontier describe the situation as one of the utmost activity, and of expectation of war at an early date. The Greeks are working hard to improve the roads. All the outposts are connected by telegraph with headquarters at Larissa, where searchlights have been fixed. Both Greeks and Turks are suffering much from the cold. The crown prince is expected daily. Telegrams from the European capitals indicate that the powers are still negotiating for the joint occupation of Crete with 10,000 troops.

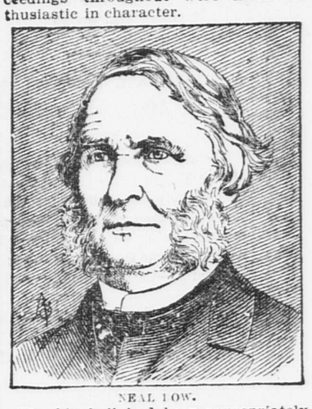

Great quantities of provisions and stores have been sent to Crete. It is believed that they will easily run the blockade, especially if the weather happens to be rough. There is no cessation in the military preparations. The government is buying all the horses it can procure in Hungary or elsewhere.

A telegram from Larissa reports that there have been various movements by the Turkish troops along the frontier. Two thousand of the Elassona corps have occupied the plain between Domenico and Damassi.

IN HONOR OF NEAL DOW.

Tremont Temple Crowded by Followers Who Extol His Work.

Boston, March 19.—A magnificent demonstration in honor of Neal Dow, the apostle of prohibition, was given last night in Tremont Temple, under the auspicies of the Massachusetts Prohibition state committee. Upward of 500 people sat down to a banquet on the occasion, and the evening was spent in listening to addresses from leaders in the temperance movement. The proceedings throughout were most enthusiastic in character.

NEAL DOW.

The big hall had been appropriately decorated in advance. Though the Hon. Neal Dow was unable to attend, his genial features looked down upon the gathering from a design in the rear of the platform, where his picture was surrounded by the figures "1804-1897-93." The well known featuresof Miss Willard and John B. Gough were also displayed. In front of the platform was an inscription containing the words, "True to conviction, Loyal to Principle, Faithful to Duty." Flags and bunting were hung from the fronts of the galleries and in other parts of the hall.

The menu card laid before each guest bore on its surface a fine portrait of the Hon. Neal Dow, and the words "Our Grand Old Man. His 93rd milestone, March 20, 1897." The Hon. Wolcott Hamlin presided. Those who sat near him at the principal table were Rev. Dr. E. D. Burr, John M. Woolley, Mrs. Susan Fessenden of the W. C. T. U., Lieutenant Colonel Cozzens of the Salvation Army, Edward F. Mulready of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence society, John Hutchinson, the anti-slavery singer; Henry Faxon, Mrs. Helen G. Ilice, Joseph A. Fancy, Elizabeth Flower Willis, John Willis Baer, Rev. I. K. Funk, Benjamin R. Jewell, W. W. Kimball and Richard Burns. Some fine music was contributed during the evening by Mrs. William G. Harris.

MRS. MARSH LOVED BUZZELL.

Her Own Words Repeated In Court by a Witness.

Montpelier, Vt., March 19.—Some of the testimony brought out in the Marsh murder trial yesterday was of a sensational nature. Hiram Henry, who testified to seeing Buzzell give Marsh a white powder in some water, during the latter's illness, was cross examined quite severely by counsel for the defense, and became somewhat confused.

Mrs. Charles Amsden testified to seeing Mrs. Marsh hug Buzzell at a dance at her home, in April, 1895. Lucian Homer, who was at the dance, swore to seeing Buzzell and Mrs. Marsh go into an unoccupied room during the evening.

Mark Green, a son of Mrs. Marsh by her first marriage, testified to being at the house after Marsh's death, and seeing evidence of improper relations between his mother and Buzzell.

Mrs. Smith Kinney testified to hearing Mrs. Marsh say she worshipped the ground on which Buzzell trod. This was several months before Marsh's death.

A. K. Brown and J. L. Mosely, selectmen of Northfield, told of conversations with Mrs. Marsh after her husband's body had been exhumed. She said that if poison was found she did not give it to him.

L. J. Moffitt testified to being at the Marsh house in 1895, when Marsh and his wife were quarrelling. He saw Mrs. Marsh take a vial of white powder from the bureau, saying that one dose would lay out her husband. She said she had had it since Wells Green (her first husband) died. On another occasion he heard her say that she was going to Arozona when she could get rid of George.

Henry Garney testified to being at the Marsh house and knowing of improper relations between Buzzell and Mrs. Marsh. Buzzell asked him not to speak of it.

Trustees of Franklin Fund.

Boston, March 19.—The Franklin fund trustees, appointed by Judge Grant, are Henry L. Higginson, Francis C. Welch, A. Shuman, Charles T. Gallagher and Rev. Charles W. Duane of the oldest Episcopal, Stopford W. Brooke of the oldest Congregational, and Alexander K. McLennan of the oldest Presbyterian church in this city. The clergymen are appointed by virtue of Benjamin Franklin's will, because they hold the pastorate of those churches. The other trustees were selected by the court after several hearings. The fund amounts to $400,000, and is held by the city. The application of the fund has yet to be decided upon. The will directs that the fund shall be applied to some public work for the good of the city.

New Hampshire Legislature.

Concord, N. H., March 19.—In the house of representatives yesterday, the bill to incorporate the Manchester and Milford railroad was indefinitely postponed, after lengthy debate. The senate passed a joint resolution instructing the state forestry commission to investigate the advisability of establishing a state park in the White mountain region, and to report thereon to the next legislature. Senator Greenleaf made a lengthy and eloquent speech in support of such a state park and of better state roads, and proposing the establishment of three state highways in the valleys of Saco, Merrimack and Connecticut, respectively, to unite at Lancaster or Jefferson and thence proceed to the Canadian line.

DEATH RECORD.

Edward Brehm, the crack rifle shot of New Jersey, is dead.

James Blair, veteran railroad builder, died at Scranton, Pa., yesterday.

George E. Forrest, aged 72, well known business man of Danvers, Mass., is dead.

Almer I. Hall, aged 68, one of the Belknap county lawyer, died at Lakeport, N. H.

Elias H. Jackson, aged 37, of Lewiston, Me., is dead. He was well known in secret society circles.

Ignacio Francesco de la Cruse Garcia, aged 117, died at Los Angeles recently. He was said to be the oldest man in the United States.

Almen I Hall, aged 68, one of the founders of Simpson, Hall, Miller & Co., silverware manufacturers at Wallingford, Conn., died at Los Angeles, of apoplexy. He was an Argonaut.

Two More Gunboats Launched.

Washington, March 19.—Two more naval vessels were launched at San Francisco yesterday. They were the gunboats Marietta and Wheeling, twin screw boats of 1000 tons each. They are full steam powered boats, and are to be of 12 knots speed. The hulls are 174 feet long on the water line, 34 feet broad and 12 feet draught. The feature of the little crafts is the large coal supply they will be able to carry, ensuring a capacity for long voyages.

Scheming Coreans.

San Francisco March 19.—Prince Eui Wha, who is expected to succeed to the throne of Corea upon the death of his father, the reigning king, is at present restrained of his liberty by a band of Corean exiles in Yokohama, with the full knowledge and consent of the Japanese authorities. The Coreans in question are planning a raid into Corea for the purpose of dethroning the king and placing their princely prisoner and protege on the throne.

Bradley Enters Senatorial Fight.

Louisville, March 19.—Governor W. O. Bradley has entered the fight for the United States senatorship. His lieutenants are actively at work, and it is asserted with confidence that the free silver Democrats will combine with the eight or ten Bradley Republicans and defeat the regular Republican nominee, ex-Congressman W. G. Hunter.

Americans Set at Liberty.

Havana, March 19.—The charges against Luis Lay, the American, who was arrested at Regla last December and confined in the Cabanas prison, have been dismissed. He has been set at liberty and expelled from the island. Charles Scott, the American, and Esteban Venero, a naturalized American, have been ordered set at liberty.

Crown Prince of Japan Dead.

San Francisco, March 19.—The steamer Peru, from the Orient, brings news of the death of Prince Yoshi Hito Haru-No-Miya, heir apparent to the Japanese throne. The crown prince was the only living son of the emperor, and unless, therefore, another son is born to the emperor, the throne will be filled from the family of the nearest prince.

Date of Victoria's Jubilee.

London, March 19.—June 20 has been definitely fixed upon for the jubilee thanksgiving day for the celebration of the 60th year of the reign of Queen Victoria. June 22 will be a bank holiday. Queen Victoria ascended the throne, at the death of her uncle, King William IV, on June 20, 1837.

Moral Reform Society Meeting.

Boston, March 19.—The 61st annual business meeting of the New England Moral Reform society (Talitha Cumi Home), was held yesterday. The president, Dr. Caroline E. Hastings, presided. The report of the treasurer showed receipts of $4319.52, expenses of $4888.87, and a balance of $12.92. Dr. Hastings was re-elected president.

CATARRH HIS WORST ENEMY DEFEATED

For Three Years He Suffered—Could Hardly Breathe at Night—One Nostril Closed for Ten Years.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of De Leon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch glad for the night's coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and struggle to breathe was before him.

DE LEON, TEXAS.

Messrs. Lippman Bros., Savannah, Ga.,

GENTS: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily.

I have not slept on either side for two years in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night.

I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.

Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY.

Master Arthur Cobb celebrated his fifth birthday at the home of his parents on Hollis avenue, Braintree, Wednesday afternoon. He was assisted in entertaining his young friends by his sister Murial. Those present to enjoy the happy event were John Harding, Ruth Harding, Emerson Qualey, Everlyn Jones, Eddie Tanner, Marjorie Kneeland, Elizabeth Kneeland, Dorothy Faxon, Curtis Leonard, Fannie Fox and Norman Dill. It was interesting to watch these young faces as the little ones played about during the happy hours they spent together.

BOYS' CONFERENCE.

Over 200 Delegates and Over 30 Towns Represented.

The Reception and Banquet a Feature Last Evening.

The Boys Pleased at Welcome Extended—Good Time Enjoyed.

The conference of the junior departments of the Young Mens' Christian Associations at Wollaston organized with these officers:

President,—C. E. Shaw of Waltham.

Vice Presidents,—Edward C. Hewitson of Wollaston; N. A. Baker of Everett; Robert T. Sisson of Lynn.

Secretary,—P. C. Hyde of Holyoke..

Assistant Secretary,—A W. Bailey of Dalton.

Committee on Resolutions,—Harry Pease of Merrimac; Alec Simpson of Southbridge: Butler Perry of Rockland.

Committee on Business,—C. A. Babb of Hyde Park; Fred D. Whiting of New Bedford; Albert Babcock of Taunton.

Committee on Credentials,—Frank E. Payne of Winchester; H. V. Wilcox of Fall River; W. E. Pratt of Norwood; Louis B. Estabrook of Wollaston.

The most interesting number on the afternoon programme was the chalk talk on "Temperance" by Pitt F. Parker of Newton. The talk was very interesting as well as amusing and instructive.

The reports from the several departments made were of an encouraging nature, and showed that much good work was being accomplished.

The Reception and Banquet.

At the close of the afternoon business a reception was held at which the two hundred delegates and others had an opportunity to meet each other and become acquainted. This opportunity was largely embraced and for upwards of half an hour introductions were in order. The reception was especially looked after by Mr. H. W. Pinkham, Mr. N. G. Nickerson, Mr. E. D. Gourd, Mrs. Ellen A. Sprague, Mrs. R. S. Hewitson and Mrs. John M. Ransom. The music was by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra of Quincy.

After the reception came the banquet. Two hundred hungry boys with two hundred empty stomachs to fill was the problem which the committee had to solve. But the committee had the affair so thoroughly systematized that the solution was as easy as the addition of one and one. Drafts had been made on the various societies for young ladies to wait upon the tables.

Evening Session.

At the evening session at the Wollaston Congregational church the conference settled down to solid work and to listen to several interesting papers on matters touching the Y. M. C. A. work, written by men who are experts in their line.

The service was opened by a praise service conducted by Mr. C. F. Bartlett of Marlboro, and it is superfluous to add that the music was rendered with a snap which showed more than anything else that the boys were in sympathy with their work and enjoying their visit. After the praise service came the "welcome and recognition exercises," which were conducted by Mr. James Moorhead of Quincy, the response being made by Mr. Winthrop D. Barry of Malden. This was followed by a paper on "The Value of Sloyd Work for Boys" by Mr. C. F. Merrick of Quincy; and an address on "The Culture of the Boy Life" by the Rev. Charles L. Morgan of Jamaica Plain.

Sight Seeing.

This morning the delegates were astir early. The boys who remained at Wollaston over night took the train for Quincy Adams, and those boys who remained in Quincy took a special car for South Quincy.

The objective point was the birthplace of the Presidents, where they were to be addressed by Mayor Adams. Mayor Adams came out from Boston on the 8 30 train and was on hand when the boys arrived, but as it rained hard and the house was not open, his address was omitted.

It was the intention to have had the building open for inspection and Secretary Colton had written to Mr. Spear, librarian of the Quincy Historical society, requesting him to have the birthplace of John Adams opened. Here is where the mistake arose, for the building controlled by the Historical society is the birthplace of John Quincy Adams and not John Adams.

The boys immediately returned to Quincy to the Bethany Congregational church, where this morning's session was held.

Morning Session.

The morning session was quite well attended and was full of interest. Eugene C. Carder of Cambridge opened the session with a paper on "The intermediate department." This was followed by Lawrence A. Comey of Melrose, who gave a talk on "Systematic Giving, the Motive, the Need."

At the conclusion of this talk a few minutes was devoted to receiving pledges from the different departments for carrying on the work for the ensuing year.

The next paper was by Perley C. Hyde of Holyoke on "Attractive meetings, how arranged and conducted."

The session closed with a gospel meeting conducted by George L. Shutts of South Framingham.

This noon the boys who remained in Quincy last night had their dinners at the homes where they were entertained, and all others were entertained by the Woman's Auxiliaries at the Association rooms.

Mass Meetings Sunday.

By special request a number of the delegates to the conference will remain over Sunday for the purpose of holding two mass meetings for boys on Sunday. They will be held at 3.00 in the Baptist church at Wollaston and the Bethany Congregational church at Quincy. All boys and young men from ten to eighteen years of age will be welcome.

THE ROBIN'S FUNERAL.

Take him gently, lay him low,
Where the pale primroses blow.
By and by will come the snow.
But today the green things grow.
Make his grave.

He will hear no sounds of spring,
Fairy blossom bells that ring,
Streams that murmur, birds that sing,
For he knows not anything.
Make his grave.

Happy in the happy May,
Wooing with his roundelay,
His brown mate but yesterday,
Blithe he sang—ah, none so gay!
Make his grave.

Spring without him comes and goes,
And the royal summer grows
Glad with lily and with rose;
Autumn ripens, winter snows
Round his grave.

—Louise Chandler Moulton in New York Tribune.

HE KEPT IT CLEAN.

None of us associated with him in the office felt that we had any right to say anything to him about it. It was his right and privilege to wear what he pleased. As long as it suited him, why should we concern ourselves in the matter?

Truth is he was becoming more and more genteelly shabby every day, but the careful way in which his shiny coat and frayed trousers were brushed and cared for was evidence that it was not wanton carelessness of his appearance that made him go so shabby. It occurred one day that the weather was exeedingly cold. A regular blizzard was raging, and only those whose business compelled them to be out ventured on the street at all. It was one of Jack's duties as cashier to go to the bank each day, and when the time came for him to make his regular trip and he slipped on his light overcoat and started out the head bookkeeper interrupted him:

"I say, Jack, you are not going out in that light coat? Why, man, the very marrow in your bones will freeze."

"Oh, nonsense, old man. I always go this way—dressed warm inside, you know—prefer it that way—not so bulky and clumsy, you know."

And out he went. That night after most of the office force had gone Mike, the office boy, had to relieve his mind. "I don't think Mr. Jack is dressed warm inside at all. I saw him roll up his sleeves to wash his hands today, and he only had on a thin cotton undershirt. I think he's dead close wid his money, and some day he will be ownin this institootion."

But we all knew better than this. Jack was in trouble. Why didn't he let us know what it was? Not a man in the office from the manager down to the office boy that would not have extended a helping hand to him, for we all loved him. He was a sterling fellow, always ready to divide on the thirds principle—you take two-thirds and he one. He had formerly been the Beau Brummel of the office, and what the change was that had come over him was worrying us all.

It was finally decided that we would broach the matter to him in a delicate manner. The head bookkeeper being a man of great tact and delicate perception, to him was delegated the task. It was some time before the opportunity presented itself. Spring had even opened, and Jack's shiny coat and frayed trousers looked the more shabby in comparison with the bright new spring suits around him. "I never saw clothes so cheap," said one of the junior clerks. "My tailor put this up for $20, and I declare it's quite respectable looking—quite the same thing that I used to pay $35 for." It was just here that something peculiar happened. A big bottle of red ink standing on the desk near the register had evidently become overheated, and, being corked tight, there was nothing for it to do but explode, which it did with a loud report. Unfortunately, just behind it on the wall were hanging all our coats and hats. Poor Jack's shiny coat was bespattered from collar to tail. Poor fellow! He looked dismayed!

We felt sure that next morning we would see Jack again dressed as befitted a man of his position. But we were disappointed. The next morning he came down with the same old coat. The spots gave evidence of having been carefully scrubbed, leaving dirty white spots on the shiny black cloth.

"I say, Jack," said the head bookkeeper, "really, you are growing careless of your personal appearance."

"Why, how so, old man? I shave myself with scrupulous regularity every morning. I really didn't know I was looking so unfit."

"It's not that, Jack. I—er—oh, hang it, don't you see that your clothes are kinder runnin to seed? You need a new outfit, old man. Your tailor will starve."

"I believe you are right, Harry. Fact is, an old suit is so comfortable, you know; kinder conforms to one's curves and angles. Really, I feel like I am discarding an old friend when I give up an old suit; but I must see my tailor. It will never do to offend the artistic eye of my friends. I thank you, old man, for calling my attention to it. Really, a fellow can't see how his own clothes hang."

Mike the office boy had a great story to tell the next morning. "What wuz Mr. Jack doin up in the secondhand district last night? He's out o' place up dere. Me an Skinny Walsh was goin along, an I sees Mr. Jack goin into one o' dem secondhand Sheeney stores. 'Geminy,' I says to Skinny, 'dat's our cashier. He makes more as 200 cases a mont'. What's he doin in that j'int?' I peeks tru' de window, an I see him bargain wi' de Shylock for a cheap suit o' store clothes. I cud see him hand over a $10 bill, an he got change back. 'Christmas,' I says to Skinny, 'but dat's funny. He cud buy a hull tailor shop if he wanted to. I guess dat's de way dese gesers gets rich. Let's begin, Skinny.'"

A few mornings after Jack came down with his new suit on. The trousers were carefully creased, and the coat was worn buttoned closely around his rather athletic form. But it took only a casual glance to see that the goods were of the cheapest and had never seen a tailor shop.

"Ah, Jack, you are quite artistic this morning!" said the head bookkeeper. "Do you still go to the Fifth avenue tailors? I remember you always said there were no other tailors in the city."

Jack did not reply. He could not tell a willful falsehood; but, taking off the coat, he turned back the collar and displayed the little tag bearing his old tailor's name. He had cut it out of his old coat and carefully sewed it to the collar of his new purchase.

It was about this time we began to learn that Jack's frugality did not extend alone to his clothes, but that he had changed his lodgings, which had been of a luxuriant character, to the meanest kind of quarters in a cheap tenement district.

His meals, we learned, were taken at the cheapest restaurants, and the cost of his living must have been inestimably small.

What could it mean? Was Jack becoming a hermit? Was he losing all that fine self respect and pride that had always characterized him? No. Outwardly he was the same high bred Jack of old. He came of a good family, and his father had been at the head of one of the largest banking institutions in the city. He died a few years previous, and it was understood that Jack was his only heir and that he had received, not a fortune, but a comfortable competency. We now remembered that it was about the time of his father's death that Jack's habits had undergone such a radical change.

I remember how we all envied him when he was supposed to come into his money; how we speculated as to what he would do with it, but on one point we all agreed—he would be the same good old Jack, and we would enjoy many of his little suppers and theater parties. Had he not always treated us this way at least once a month when he had nothing but his salary? Now that he had come into money we could expect many nice evenings at dear Jack's expense.

Jack was not well. He did not look well. We all noticed it.

"Take a vacation, old boy," said the head bookkeeper. "You are not yourself. You are working too hard and not giving yourself recreation enough."

"Could not think of it, old man. Just a little indigestion. Be all right in a day or two."

But he wasn't all right. He looked paler and thinner every day until one morning he did not come down. We all knew the reason. Nothing but sickness and serious sickness would keep him from the office. It was arranged that we should hunt up his lodgings that night and have him cared for and proper medical attention secured. We found him in a cheap, small but clean room. On the table, under the one gaslight, we found two or three sets of books of small concerns that did not employ a regular bookkeeper.

Jack had been doing their work at night.

Jack was on the bed tossing in the delirium of fever.

"I kept it clean, father—I kept it clean!" he mumbled over and over.

The doctor shook his head. "Poorly nourished—nothing to him. Evidently been on short rations. In no condition to withstand this attack of fever."

We explained to the doctor that, although his present environments were needy and poor, he would be paid for the best attention to Jack and that he must see him regularly and do everything possible to save him. The kindly old doctor assured us that he would receive every attention, but said, with a shake of his head: "He's in a bad way—brain fever, brought on by worry and fatigue. Evidently been burning the candle at both ends."

We secured a nurse, who was to be with him every minute and attend to his every want and communicate with us in case he grew worse. As we were preparing to leave the room he raised up in his delirium and threw his arms around wildly. I noticed a paper clutched in one of his hands. I took it from him. The mystery was solved. "Oh, Jack, you noble work of God, you have kept it clean! God grant that it may not be at the cost of your own noble life!"

The paper read as follows:

To My Son—Dying, I bequeath you my name. It's stained. I am a thief. No living soul knows it. If I could live awhile longer, I would not die with this stain on my soul. We came of a long race of honorable men, Jack. It's a hard legacy to leave a son, but as you loved me in life keep my name clean in death. I have kept a strict account of my peculations. You will find it attached. It's scrupulously correct. No more nor less do I owe the great institution of which I have been the head for so many years. I have kept this account so that I could delude myself into thinking that I was only borrowing from the stockholders. They say all embezzlers do this. Pay it back, Jack, every cent, at 4 per cent interest, and I believe the good Lord will scratch it off his books against my otherwise clean name. God bless and keep you. YOUR FATHER.

Underneath, written in Jack's own hand, was the following:

God bless you, father. I've done it. I've paid the last farthing today. I've kept your name clean. JACK.

The next day the papers contained accounts of how one of the city's largest banking institutions had received a large sum of money anonymously consigned. The institution had long known of the shortage of this amount, but had no idea who the thief was.

It was weeks before Jack was able to come to the office again. He never knew, and no soul shall ever know from us, Jack's secret. He is himself again now, and the little tag on the collar of his fashionable coat was sewed there by his own tailors.—W. C. Hill in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 21. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—How our bodies influence our souls. —Dan. i, 8-21. (A temperance topic.)

The human body is too much neglected, from the standpoint of religion and of Christianity. Its importance is properly emphasized in the Bible. It is said there to be for the Lord, to have been purchased by Christ, to be the temple of the Holy Ghost, to be cared for by God, and also it is stated that it will be raised. While all this is declared in the Scriptures about the body, how little its dignity, worth and glory are emphasized in Christian teaching! How few sermons are preached upon the subject! How few topics for religious meetings are along this same line! In the light of this neglect, it is not to be wondered at that the body is disparaged, vilified, tolerated by many as a nuisance and used by thousands as a creature of appetite and lust. This indifference and neglect has resulted largely in a misunderstanding as to the true relation of body, mind and soul. In thousands of lives the body rules supreme, while it should be held in subjection—be a mere servant to the higher powers of man. The proper relation is the body in subjection to the mind, and body and mind in subjection to the soul. The change of the order not only weakens and destroys the body, but also the mind and soul.

That our bodies have a tremendous influence upon our souls cannot be denied. Science proves it. The man is composed of the three parts—body, mind, soul—and yet he is one person. And these three parts are so intimately connected with one another that what affects one affects them all. Science cannot explain in all details how the body, mind and soul act and react upon one another, but that they do is an undisputed scientific fact. That the body influences the soul is proved by Scripture. If it did not, why would so much stress be laid upon the subjection of the body? The Scripture constantly exhorts us to mortify the members of our bodies. Paul says, "I keep under my body and bring it into subjection, lest that by any means when I have preached to others I myself should be a castaway" (I Cor. ix, 27). This language clearly declares that one of the means through which he might possibly become a castaway was the body. If the supremacy of the body can endanger the eternal life of the soul, it certainly has a tremendous influence upon it. Experience also teaches the influence of the body upon the soul. Daniel and his companions were all the better mentally and spiritually because they had taken care of their bodies. How much more useful many Christians would be if they did but cultivate physical health! Uncared for bodies become grievious burdens and woeful hindrances. Let us get a proper conception of the relation of the body to Christian living and carry it out in our daily lives.

Bible Readings.—Deut. xxi, 18-21; Prov. xx, 1; xxiii, 20, 21, 29-32; xxxi, 4, 5; Hos. iv, 9-11; Rom. xiii, 12-14; xiv, 21; I Cor. vi, 3-20; ix, 27; II Cor. vi, 16-18; Gal. v, 19-26; Eph. v, 18; Col. iii, 5-8.

The Second Coming.

We hear less about the judgment day than formerly, but more about the second coming of Christ. For that coming His people "look with uplifted head." To them that day is not so much "a day of anger, day of wrath," as it is a day of triumph of the Master and His church. He who is coming will bring His work on earth to a glorious completion. He is not coming only to take vengeance on those who do not believe, but He is coming especially to approve those who have been faithful.—Reformed Church Messenger.

Eternal Love.

The eternal love tireth not, the eternal wisdom knoweth the hearts of men, and, still, to us all crieth very longingly the voice of the Man of Sorrows, who is faithful to perform all He promiseth, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."—Sunday at Home.

No More Wonderful.

It is no more wonderful that we should live again than that we should live at all.—Ram's Horn.

Their Own Salvation.

The saved must become savers if they would enjoy their own salvation.—United Presbyterian.

Christian Endeavor Briefs.

Twenty-seven Albany Christian Endeavor societies were represented in a recent successful service in the penitentiary. After the meeting each prisoner was visited in his cell.

The use of all its car sheds has been granted by the Philadelphia Traction company to the Christian Endeavorers of the city for the holding of gospel meetings.

The Congregational Chinese Endeavorers of San Francisco have within recent weeks contributed $17 toward the international convention fund and $30 to the American board. These Endeavorers support six missionaries in China.

One of Maine's district secretaries is about to go out through his county organizing Christian Endeavor societies and speaking for Christ in places where the name of God is heard only in blasphemy.

The Portland Floating society recently received six comfort bags from a venerable Christian in Andover, Mass., who is 72 years old, but still working earnestly for the Master.

A lad of 13 years, the youngest member of the Presbyterian society of Pueblo, Colo., recently led the Christian Endeavor meeting, and when the organist failed to appear he played the instrument.

The District of Columbia union is considering the advisability of organizing a good literature union in order that the work of this character may be more systematically and thoroughly done.

CRISIS APPROACHING.

Next Forty-Eight Hours of Deep Anxiety to European Powers.

Cretans Refuse to Accept Autonomy as Proposed.

Crown Prince Constantine's Regiment Leaves Athens For Frontier.

Tomorrow may see a climax in the Cretan crisis. The establishment of the blockade by the powers will result either in a declaration of war or a backdown by Greece. Late advices from the seat of trouble say that the Cretan insurgents absolutely refuse to accept any settlement but union with Greece. Fighting between insurgents and Moslems continues incessantly at Retimo and Candia. Crown Prince Constantine's regiment left Athens last night for the Macedonian frontier. Official reports say Germany and Austria have refused to land troops in Crete as agreed upon. Russia has, it is believed, entered into an agreement with Turkey by which three Mediterranean ports are to be ceded to the czar in return for supporting the sultan in the struggle against Greece.

London, March 20.—It is reported at Athens, says The Daily Mail's correspondent, that there is a secret treaty of recent origin between Russia and Turkey by which Russia is to get Suda Alexdretta and another Mediterranean port in exchange for the support she undertakes to gives Turkey against Greece.

The Greek minister of marine has ordered that all merchantmen that arrived at the Piraeus yesterday shall be retained for government use to convey volunteers coming from abroad.

The Athens correspondent of The Times says that the regiment of the Cown Prince Constantine has started for the frontier, but that the crown prince himself will remain at the capital for the present. The scene attending the departure of the troops was most impressive. Lime lights were displayed along the line of march, and revolver shots resounded in the streets and from the tops of the houses. The populace displayed the greatest enthusiasm.

A dispatch to The Times from Canea says that three Greek steamers have succeeded in landing cargoes of ammunition and provisions at Sphakia.

On the invitation of the admirals four of the principal insurgents' leaders at Akrotiri went on board the Italian flagship in Suda bay yesterday. Admiral Canevaro addressed them, explaining the position and urging them to lay down their arms. The insurgents refused to accept any solution but the annexation of Crete to Greece. The admirals asked them to reconsider this decision and offered them the means of communicating to and consulting with the insurgent leaders elsewhere, but the same reply, it is feared by the admirals, will be made by all.

The Vienna correspondent of The Times says an official statement confirms the belief that Germany and Austria have declined to share in military operations by the powers in the interior of Crete on the ground that such a course would involve the powers beyond the limits originally contemplated.

Cretans Desire Only Union With Greece.

Athens, March 20.—The Cretan chiefs, mayors and notabilities are signing an address to the Greek government and foreign admirals, declaring that the Cretans' sole desire is union with Greece. The Cretans are also signing an address asking King George not to withdraw the Greek troops from the island of Crete.

Fighting Night and Day.

Canea, March 20.—The Greek warship Pinios went to Cerigo yesterday to coal. The Alphelos was already there.

The fighting in the vicinity of Retimo and Candia continues night and day. The houses and shops of the Christians are still being pillaged.

BRIEF CABLEGRAMS.

The Oxford crew, which is to race the Cambridge eight on Saturday, April 3, rowed over the full course (from Mortlake to Putney, 4¼ miles) in 18m. 30s. yesterday. This is fast time.

During some experiments in the navy yard at Copenhagen, a retort containing picric acid exploded, slightly injuring several onlookers, among them Prince Charles and Prince Waldemar. All recovered.

The agitation for the resumption of diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela is being vigorously pushed. The Venezuelan government is favorably inclined toward the renewal of friendly relations with France.

Mgr. Merry Del Val, the papal delegate to Canada, sails for New York today. Mgr. Del Val said: "My mission is one of peace. I have no intention to do anything but remove controversies by finding a modus vivendi agreeable to all, and based on right and justice."

The Wool Market.

Boston, March 20.—The Commercial Bulletin says of the wool market:

Wool is booming. The small selection of domestic wool left has thrown buyers to foreign wools, and heavy sales of South American cross breds, Cape, Australian, and French scoured wools are reported. The scarcity of Ohio fleeces is acutely felt. Ohio and Ohio No. 1 have both brought 23 cents this week. Indiana quarter blood has advanced to 19 cents; Ohio delaine to 22 cents.

To Freeze Out Bucket Shops.

New York, March 20.—The New York Stock Exchange has notified the Western Union Telegraph company that the contract by which that company is permitted to furnish stock quotations over the Gold and Stock company's tickers will not be renewed at its expiration on June 30. This action was taken to prevent, if possible, the use by bucket shops of official exchange quotations.

tities and Farms Flooded From Minnesota to Louisiana.

Memphis, March 20.—Two negroes lost their lives yesterday as a result of the flood, which now engulfs hundreds of acres of land in the Arkansas bottoms. The men were drowned in Fifteen-mile Bayou, near Marion, Ark. There is no cessation in the rise of the river.

Through Arkansas and Tennessee heavy rainfalls continue.

The work of rescue goes steadily on. The rescue boats make as many trips as possible during the day, returning from each trip laden with refugees and such household goods and cattle as they have been able to save.

The gloomiest feature of the distressing conditions is the fact that there is little or no hope for the abatement of the high water within the near future, because of the floods reported in the upper valleys.

There is reliable information that at Modoc, Avenue Hugheys and other points below Helena the water has gone over the levee, and the levees being in such a mushy condition from the rains it is not thought possible to protect them much longer. The people living behind the dikes and localities mentioned are flying for their lives. Hundreds of men who had been watching the levees have about all been taken away and their labor will be utilized in saving life. The government steamer Abbott has carried a large number of sacks of sand to the Modoc locality and to points below. At that place the government has only recently spent many thousands of dollars in completing and strengthening the levees.

All telegraph communications with New Orleans is cut off. The lines south on both sides of the Mississippi river were interrupted.

A family of six found a watery grave by the capsizing of a dugout while making for high land. Two of the family were infants in arms.

The Memphis levee is a sight wonderful to behold. For a distance of half a mile there is a congregation of negroes standing, sitting and reclining, awaiting individual turn for relief. No one is refused.

Milwaukee's Flood.

Milwaukee, March 20.—The district of Milwaukee, known as the Menominee valley, is submerged to a depth of over 10 feet, and a large number of people are imprisoned in their homes without means of rescue.

Nearly 200 houses in the vicinity of Forty-eighth and Claiborne streets are surrounded by a raging flood, and the Menominee river at that point is still rising rapidly and threatens to wash away several bridges and a large number of houses. At this point the river has increased from a normal width of about 40 feet to nearly one-third of a mile.

At the end of Grand avenue, where the Menominee narrows under the bridge, it is ordinarily level. Just around the bend is the wide stretch of lowland known as the flats, and on this are about 200 houses. All of them are surrounded by water, running in depth from one to 12 feet. The occupants of many of these houses have fled, while others are imprisoned with no means of escape. The police and the lifesaving crew are at work. Thus far no fatalities are reported. The bridge at the Monarch stone quarry, about half a mile above the flats has just been swept away. The Milwaukee river is swollen to a torrent, and there are fears that the dam near Lindwurm may go.

Reports to the officers of the St. Paul railway say that all the rivers and small streams through the western part of the state are in a threatening condition. The ice in nearly all of the streams is moving out rapidly as a result of the warm weather and the rains, and considerable damage is liable to result to railway and other property in the lowlands.

Bridges Washed Away.

Minneapolis, March 20.—Telegrams from Luverne say the Red Rock river there is a mile wide and is pouring a vast volume of water into the Sioux. A dozen bridges in southwest Minnesota have been washed away and suspended traffic on several branches of the Great Northern Milwaukee and northern lines running into northwest Iowa and eastern South Dakota. Reports from the Red river of the north say that snows are going off in such a manner that devastating floods are now not so much feared. In Montana there is no snow left, and all over the Dakotas it is going rapidly.

Tornado In Texas.

New Orleans, March 20.—Dispatches received here report that a tornado Thursday night swept over the northern portion of Dallas county, Fort Worth, Denton and Waxahatchie, Tex., unroofing houses, uprooting trees and levelling fences. At Freemantown, many houses were raised from their foundations. At Nash, L. Gunder was seriously wounded by a falling timber. Red Oaks was visited by a waterspout, and farmers in that section will have to replant corn.

Sioux City Under Water.

Sioux City, Ia., March 20. — Every stream in this locality is out of its banks, and the situation is hourly growing more serious. Leeds, Springdale and Lynn, Sioux City suburbs, are flooded, and the bottoms in the city are under the water. Every bridge on the stream from Lemars to near Sioux City is out. The Big Sioux is on the rampage, its waters being reported five feet high in Hawarden street.

Lacrosse River Up.

La Crosse, Wis., March 20.—Rains and melting snow have brought the La Crosse river up so that the West Salem marsh, east of this city, is flooded. Trains cannot pass.

Two Men Drowned.

Webster City, Ia., March 20. Dr. Travis of Eagle Grove and Mr. Jaeger, a farmer, were drowned while attempting to ford the Boone river two miles west of that place.

Jackson and Walling's Last Day.

Newport, Ky., March 20.—All efforts having failed for interference with the execution of Scott Jackson and Alonzo Walling, for the murder of Pearl Bryan, there is much excitement here over the event. Ever since the arrival of the prisoners yesterday, the jail here has been surrounded by large crowds. Both of the men retired after dark, and spent the night with their death watch and the guard, in the usual manner. They were not at all concerned about the large crowd that surrounded the jail. The militia arrived last night and are on duty.

THE REPORT of the LEDGER, that Representative Newcomb characterized the 400 foot law relative to schoolhouses and liquor saloons as a farce, should perhaps have been qualified. He said at the same time that the law was inconsistent in that it did not accomplish what it intended to do. That many saloons flourished within a radius of 200 feet of schoolhouses, but were not disturbed because they were not on the same street. The object of the law was intended to remove saloons from the paths and sight of school children. A bar in a hotel would be unknown to most school children. He advocated a law which should include all saloons within a radius of 400 feet with a hotel exemption.

SUCH A meeting of the Quincy Board of Trade as is planned for Tuesday evening is in the right direction, but it might be better to spread the energy over the year. Either of the three speakers announced could furnish food for thought for some weeks. Hon. Josiah Quincy, the Mayor of Boston will speak on "Quincy and the Future;" Theophilus King, Esq., on the "Granite Industry," and Hon. William B. Rice upon "Boards of Trade." With such an array there should be a large gathering of the business men of the city, and those intending to attend will confer a favor on committee by securing tickets by Monday,

Samuel A. Bates Dead.

As we go to press we learn that the venerable and respected Town Clerk, Samuel A. Bates passed from life this morning at his home at Braintree. Mr. Bates was born in the large yellow house now standing on Middle street near Dana's Corner nearly 75 years ago and he has always lived in Braintree taking an active interest in public affairs.

He has been a man of strong convictions and striking personalities.

He had a wonderful memory and his delight in research carried him far into the ancient history of our town and families and he was consulted almost daily by people for miles around who were looking for valuable information. He has been town clerk for twenty-five years but sickness compelled him to decline this year. Since the death of Mrs. Bates in 1895 he has failed rapidly and his death removes a face and form that has been associated with Braintree for more than a half century.

AT THE INSTITUTE.

Every Speaker Entertaining as Well as Instructive.

All the Teachers Felt Well Repaid for Attending.

Creditable Exhibition in Drawing, and a Bountiful Lunch.

The attendance and interest in the Teachers' Institute yesterday increased as the session progressed and those who at first were not enthusiastic over attending, felt well repaid and were glad they went.

Upon the third floor of the building the pupils of the Quincy High made a very creditable exhibition of drawings and modeling, which were much admired, particularly the colored work, and the sketches made out of school. The fine display of grammar and primary work in the Superintendent's office also caught the eye of many.

The bountiful lunch, provided by Class of '97, Q. H. S., was much appreciated, and the time saved allowed an inspection of the grand building.

Primary Section.

Continuing the report in yesterday's LEDGER, there was at 10 10 in the primary section a talk on "Literature" by Dr. Frank M. McMurry of Buffalo, N. Y. He said literature is not reading, not written language, not memorizing of gems, but food for thought, poetry in lives, enjoyment, home taste. Stories of imagination are wanted. Children are imaginative by nature and spiritually. Business requires ideas, the real vs. the ideal. The desire to read is the motive for learning to read. When implanted, books are desired for companionship. No brief synopsis will do justice to the ideas presented.

In "Nature Study" Mr. A. C. Boyden said he would first develop interest. Let the child's expression be the teacher's basis. Change the school decorations occasionally to keep up interest. Teach simple truths of nature. Secure collection of twigs, seeds, nuts, leaves. Plant seeds and watch the growth. The first scientific training was through nature work.

"The Kindergarten Bridge" was Miss Lucy Wheelock's subject at 1.10. She spoke of the connection between home and school, and said the kindergarten retains home atmosphere. The kindergarten and primary teachers should have knowledge of and sympathy with each other. She recommended gymnastic exercises, plays closely connected with nature and drawing, the training of the left hand as well as the right. Teach co-operation. Dress dolls to illustrate different periods in history. There is need of employing energy in children; lead to legitimate channels instead of repressing. Children want to experiment; let them.

Mr. A. W. Edson spoke on "Educational Seat work. Let it have some educational value; give something that requires thought; work for hand and head. Make children happy, busy, orderly, educated. busy work must be planed, explained and examined. Require original work rather than copy. Many illustrations were given.

Grammar Section.

Mr. A. W. Edson spoke at 10.10 to the grammar section, on "History." He first stated three reasons for studying the history of our country: first to cultivate a love of research and study; second, to acquire a knowledge of facts; third, the training of morals. A complete outline of the subject was exhibited on large sheets of paper. Mr. Edson placed much emphasis on the study of men. In the teaching of morals, reference was made to Benedict Arnold and selections were read from Dr. Hale's "Man Without a Country."

Mr. G. I. Aldrich opened his talk on "Geography" by stating what is necessary in the ordinary thirty minute exercise. There must be on the part of the children, interest, attention and mental activity. We have made a mighty step from the geography of our childhood days to that of today. The child must learn that which he may carry with him and use through life. Mr. Aldrich used many interesting stories to bring out the facts and methods to help in the teaching of this subject.

The afternoon session was opened by Dr. McMurry, of Buffalo, N. Y., who held the close attention of his hearers on "The Causal Notion in School Instructions." By apt illustrations he showed that nearly everything may be learned by answering the question, "Why?"

High School Section.

At 10.10 in the High school section, Mr. MacDonald of the State Board of Education spoke on "Latin." He said language training implies: (a). The power to understand the language: (b) The power to express thought in the language.

The ultimate end of Latin language training should be to gain the ability to get the meaning through the Latin. All translation should be into good English. The first year's work in Latin should be mostly Latin composition, oral and written. Plan of each lesson: (1). Small vocabulary; one or two tenses; Nouns in cases in which they are used; a few other words and phrases. Note. Select root words and those in most common use. (2.) A few Latin sentences illustrating the use of some form of words or parts of speech; some grammatical constructions; some principles of arrangements. (3.) English sentences properly graded to furnish class drill and desk work. Sentences were treated at length. The address of great interest and value.

Mr. J. T. Prince conducted the round table conference on "English." He made some introductory remarks on the subject. He emphasized the importance of good reading. Education for power and education for enjoyment were treated. Children ought to be furnished with good literature. Teachers from Quincy, Weymouth, Stoughton, and other points, took part in the very interesting discussion that followed.

The afternoon session opened with "Geometry," by J. W. MacDonald. He said the aim of geometry is mental training. (1.) Development of reasoning power. (2) Training in language.

Learn to do by doing. If a boy or girl is to learn to reason they must do it by reasoning. The process of learning to skate illustrates this principle. Mr. MacDonald illustrated his ideas about points, lines, angles, surfaces and solids. The subject of demonstration was fully discussed. Several typical propositions were taken up and demonstrated.

History, was the closing subject and the speaker, Mr. Martin, of Boston. History for training was the main topic under discussion. There is a wide difference between studying history and learning history. The proper study of history involves: judgment of relations, of correlations, of comparisons. The address was valuable and philosophical to a very high degree. The very high state of education at Athens was emphasized.

Dr. McMurry.

At 3.10 all sections united in a union meeting in the large study hall and listened to an able address by Dr. Frank M. McMurry of Buffalo, N. Y., on "How to Secure a High Degree of Self Activity."

In his address Dr. McMurry said that in many cases there was so much inactivity in school life that pupils become so inactive that they never accomplish anything after leaving. We want more self activity and less mental activity. Self activity involves the act of self. That is, the motive of the activity must come from self. You realize how awards fail to stimulate the child after school life is over. We depend too much upon awards, and punishment for activity. If one is dependent upon some outside motive, where is the influence that is to push him when the school days are passed and the stimulant is removed. Give nature what it need, and it will develope. The child will be active if we allow him to have his natures What we need most of all is motive; we want to look to motive, not to stimulant.

We want an abundance of thought for the child. Present something that is worthy of careful attention. A stimulant that will hold the interest so that the thought can run to something that is attractive, and we have self activity. The lecture appeals to the ear, and books to the eye. That means the child is a receiver. He takes what is offered him and, as long as he receives only, we get the smallest amount of self activity. Meet the thought of a child by conversation on common ground. Is it not a sin to tell a child the thought they could themselves solve?

Instead of giving written answers, give them the subject and let them think out the answer, and realize in action. We ought to have the child think solutions for problems, and then think of problems themselves and realize answers. We want to draw out the capacity to think and the capacity to do. We can think a thing but to do it means another thing.

The Institute was one of great value, and the teachers of the city and vicinity are indebted to State agent J. T. Prince, Supt. Lull and the School Committee for the privilege enjoyed. Mr. Aldrich, of Newton, was enthusiastically received by his Quincy friends.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Mrs. Henderson and Her Cookbook—A Society Woman's Oddities of Speech. General Sheridan Corrected.

[Special Correspondence.]

Few of the many thousand women who swear by "Mrs. Henderson's Cookbook" know that the author is the wife of ex-Senator John B. Henderson of Missouri. Many of Mrs. Henderson's friends and acquaintances in St. Louis and in Washington do not know her as an authority on cooking or identify her with the authorship of the green volume which is consulted constantly in their kitchens.

There are few women at Washington who possess more energy, more originality, more independence, than the author of "Mrs. Henderson's Cookbook." And there is probably no woman in the United States better fitted to be a leader among women or even among men. I do not mean a leader like Mrs. Lease of Kansas, because Mrs. Henderson recognizes in her daily life the fact that man and woman have independent spheres. But in the places where the spheres cross and action mingles Mrs. Henderson is quite the equal of any man in capacity for leadership.

A Many Sided Woman.

She is a good politician, a splendid housekeeper, a pre-eminent cook, a graceful danseuse, an amateur artist of ability, an interesting writer, a "health fiend" of practical knowledge and experience. If I have not catalogued all of Mrs. Henderson's accomplishments, I have named the chief among them. Above and through them all, Mrs. Henderson is bright, cheery and energetic.

Mrs. Henderson was Miss Mary Foote of Washington when Senator Henderson met and married her. For many years they made their home in St. Louis, where Mr. Henderson practiced law and took an active interest in the welfare of the Republican party. A few years ago he retired from practice with a large fortune, made chiefly in the prosecution of suits to recover interest and principal on defaulted county bonds in the state of Missouri. At that time Mr. Henderson was the most distinguished Republican in his state. He came to Washington partly for its social advantages and partly because the political atmosphere was congenial. He built a magnificent house on Sixteenth street, on a hill overlooking the city, and there Mrs. Henderson and he have entertained a great deal for three years.

A "Spinal" Stairway.

At one end of a beautiful mansion in Washington there is a curious projection running to the roof line which those who are not familiar with the arrangement of the house cannot explain. This projection surrounds the spiral stairway which is used by the servants of the menage. When the famous society woman who owns the house was describing the arrangement to a party of friends just after she took possession of it, she spoke of this as a "spinal" stairway. "Oh, yes," said a young woman who was listening. "You mean the back stairs."

This woman's little oddities of speech have been a source of amusement in Washington always. Undoubtedly many odd sayings have been credited to her unfairly. But there are quite enough authentic instances of her peculiarities to supply anecdote for an evening's entertainment. Among other well authenticated stories is one about the late General Sheridan. The general had seen much of the world. He had dined with crowned heads and received distinguished social recognition ever since the close of the civil war, both in Washington and in the other large cities of the United States. He was invited to dine at the lady's house shortly after her family came to live in Washington. The first course was raw oysters.

General Sheridan Corrected.

Inadvertently the general took the larger fork which lay beside his plate and began to eat with it. His hostess saw the error, and, leaning over, she said in the hearing of all her guests, "The small fork is for the oysters, general." The old warrior blushed a deep crimson. "I beg your pardon, madam," he said. "I am an old soldier and so used to the life of the camp that I hardly feel at home in civilized society."

On another occasion, it is said, this lady, who may well be called Mrs. Malaprop, attended an entertainment given by a young matron whose husband's means are known to be limited. By such contriving as good housekeepers use to make a little go a long way the young matron had managed to prepare a most dainty, pleasing entertainment. Mrs. Malaprop was quite charmed with the reception. As she bade her hostess good day she said: "Really, Mrs. H., this is a very beautiful entertainment. I am sure I don't see how you can do so much on your means."

A Little Spending Money.

On an occasion not very remote some ladies were discussing the affairs of their children, and one of them spoke of the management of her sons. She said that she did not believe in permitting them to become extravagant. Mrs. Malaprop chimed in immediately. "No, Mrs. P.," she said, "I think that young men ought not to have too much money to spend. Now, I never let my son have more than $5,000 a year for spending money." CARL SCHOFIELD.

An Operator's Device.

Telegraph operators in a crowded room often have trouble in hearing their instruments, especially if a ticker adds to the confusion.

To get the instrument nearer his ear an inventive telegraph operator set an empty cigar box on a standard a little over a foot high, in which he placed his instrument. The connecting wires were joined to the instrument through two small holes in the side of the box.

The result of this device was satisfactory, as the instrument was brought near the ear of the operator and also acted as a sounding board.—New York Mail and Express.

March April May

The months for renewing and healing in the physical world.

The months for new life, new energy, new blood in men and women.

The months when our need of help from medicine is greater than at any other time of year.

The months when Hood's Sarsaparilla will do us the most good because we are all now especially susceptible to benefit from this medicine.

The months when Hood's Sarsaparilla is taken by the millions because they have found that it is the medicine which does them good.

The months when you should take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it will purify, vitalize and enrich your blood, and put you in good condition to resist the debilitating effects of changeable, warmer weather. Try it now.

Satisfied with Hood's.

"For several years I have taken two or three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla every spring for eradicating the humors in the blood and for building up the system generally. My experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla has been very satisfactory." GEO. FRANK, care of D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Great Blood Purifier.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is our family physician and I believe it needs no recommendation. Wherever it has once been used there can be no substitute for it, as a blood purifier." MISS C. A. ELLIOTT, Grinnell, Iowa.

Builds Up the System.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for weakness with which I was a sufferer in the spring, and I have found it the best medicine to create an appetite and build up the strength that I have ever taken, and I recommend it highly." J. F. WARD, Labelle, Ohio.

Keeps the Stomach in Order.

"I keep Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house all the time and regard it as the best spring medicine I can find. It has proved beneficial in keeping my stomach in order, and since I began taking it I can eat anything I wish." H. STONE, Sherborn, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is sold by all druggists. Price $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The Best Spring Medicine.

Bills introduced into parliament must be read three times in both houses before they are passed. The first reading is mostly taken as a matter of course. Upon the second reading discussion usually takes place, and therefore it appears on the list of parliamentary notices, stating the business before the house, or members would not know the night on which bills are set down for debate in any of the stages.

WON ON LAST STRING.

Granites Defeated by the Quincys by Fifty-one Pins.

The two rival league teams of the city met in the City bowling league last evening at Costello's alleys, and the contest was a close one with no remarkable scores. The singles of the Quincys ranged between 129 and 172, while the Granites went a little lower and higher, 113 to 174.

The Granites by superior work of Peverley and Perry won the first string by 17 pins.

On the second all the players were closely bunched, and the Quincys won by 3 pins.

The last string of the Granites was their weakest, while it was the best of the Quincys, and the latter overcame the lead of 14 and won the match by 51 pins.

AGAINST KINETOSCOPE

Bill Introduced to Prevent Exhibition of Pictures of Prize Fights.

Sons of New Hampshire Annual Banquet.

Mrs. Marsh Expressed Wish That Her Husband Would Die.

Boston, March 20. — Representative Sanderson of Lynn introduced a petition in the house yesterday which proposes legislation to prevent any exhibitions in the state of Massachusetts of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons mill at Carson City, Nev., through the agency of the kinetoscope.

The petition has been signed by the majority of the leaders of both branches. It proposes an amendment to the present law relative to prize fights in this state, so that any and all exhibitions or representations of prize fights in any part of the country by means of the kinetoscope, miniograph or biograph shall be prohibited.

The general sentiment is apparently strongly in favor of the proposed legislation, and there is little doubt but what the measure, when framed, will receive as hearty support as did the anti-prize fighting bill a year ago. The penalty proposed for violation of the law is a fine not exceeding $200, or by imprisonment in the house of correction for a term not exceeding three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

By a decisive vote of 82 to 38 the house refused to transfer Bunker Hill monument from the association of the same name, and through whose efforts nearly 90 years ago the granite shaft was erected, to the custody of the state. The committee on education reported a bill in the house for compulsory state supervision of the schools of the commonwealth.

BORN IN GRANITE STATE.

New Hampshire Society Gather Around Banquet Table at Boston.

Boston, March 20.—Governor George A. Ramsdell of New Hampshire and Hon. Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, were the chief guests at the third annual dinner of the Sons of New Hampshire, at the Revere house last night. Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury, the president, had around him at the head of the table, besides these gentlemen, Mark F. Burns, Commodore George H. Perkins, U. S. N., Hon. Albert E. Pillsbury, Edwin D. Mead, Charles O. Stearns, Colonel Frank W. Rollins of Concord, J. L. Gilmore and Montgomery Rollins.

After dinner, President Woodbury said that the meeting was held under the auspices of the governor of New Hampshire. Forthwith he presented his excellence.

Governor Ramsdell said that he would not appropriate any large part of the fine reception to himself. It was more of a tribute to the office of the governor of New Hampshire. "It is a good thing," he said, "to call a glorious official and political ancestry to mind." In the two months of his governorship he had observed many marks of respect for his state.

Speaking of modern times, the governor said that the affairs of the state are well managed. They always have been. The state has a financial position. Today she owes less than $1,750,000 and when his term of office is ended and Colonel Rollins' term is ended, the debt will not be much more than $1,200,000. The farmers of New Hampshire were never so well contented, to his knowledge, as they are today.

Hon. Carroll D. Wright was greeted with applause when he was introduced. He said that the governor had forgotten that all history is based on statistics. But in those old days there were no statistics. He called attention to the work which he performs at Washington. A president of Harvard once said that there were three kinds of lies—lies, d—d lies and statistics. Thereupon Mr. Wright proceeded to relate, statistically, the growth of his native state. Mr. Mead and Colonel Rollins also spoke.

The following named were chosen officers: President, Charles Levi Woodbury; vice presidents, Jeremiah Smith, Albert E. Pillsbury; secretary, John L. Gilmore; treasurer, George A. Allison; executive committee, Mark F. Burns, Mellen Chamberlain, Arthur Little, Samuel L. Powers, Edwin B. Hale, and ex-officio, Charles Levi Woodbury and John L. Gilmore.

SHE KISSED BUZZELL.

Sheriff Tells of Separation of Mrs. Marsh From Her Lover.

Montpelier, Vt., March 20.—The Marsh murder trial is slowly dragging along and the prospects do not indicate that the jury will get the case before April 1. The state produced two good witnesses yesterday. Constable W. W. Holden of Northfield told of the arrest of the defendants. Before Mrs. Marsh and Buzzell separated at the jail, the former put her arms around Buzzell's neck and kissed him several times, saying: "Now Will, you won't go back on me, will you? I shall always be true to you anyway. I have got you into this trouble, and will never have anything to do with any other man."

J. H. Judkins of Northfield, a druggist, told of Mrs. Marsh coming to his store to buy arsenic, which he refused to sell her.

George Fisher, proprietor of the box factory where Buzzell worked, told of Mrs. Marsh coming to the shop and calling for Buzzell, who went away with her and did not return.

Medicines and preparations which were found in the Marsh house at the time of Mrs. Marsh's arrest were offered in evidence. Miss Eva Garney testified to hearing Mrs. Marsh wish that her husband would die.

CARROLL D. WRIGHT

Tells Why He Is Interested In Massachusetts Benefit Association.

Boston, March 20.—Hon. Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, and under the reorganization first vice president of the Massachusetts Benefit Life association, is in Boston to attend the first meeting of the new board of directors today.

Colonel Wright had a conference with Governor Wolcott at the state house. Afterward Colonel Wright said: "There are three reasons why I take special interest in this matter of the Massachusetts Benefit Life association.

"The first is that I am one of the policy holders myself, so that I am in the pinch with the rest of them. I was one of the first to take a policy. My number is somewhere between 400 and 500. The second reason is that I take a general interest in life insurance as a principle, and don't wish to see it get a black eye unless it is necessary. Third, I cannot but feel that in this matter the credit of the commonwealth, to which I am very loyal, is somewhat concerned. My interests, on these accounts, is deep enough so that I am willing and glad to devote some time and trouble to an investigation of the subject.

"We have a board of officials," Colonel Wright said in conclusion, "who have set their faces toward reform. We do not care anything about the discussions which have existed in the past. What we want to do is to protect the interests of the policy holders, if it is possible to do so."

Maine Legislature.

Augusta, Me., March 20.—An act was introduced in the Maine house of representatives yesterday increasing the salary of the state superintendent of schools to $2500 a year, an increase of $1000. The bill against the commercial concentrated feeding stuff, after many speeches, was passed. A bill relative to the disposal of dead bodies, after being amended so that secret societies may bury their members coming under the provisions of the law, was passed. The bill directing the insurance commissioner to investigate the causes of fires was amended so that the cost to the state shall not exceed $2000 a year and passed. In the senate a bill for the registration of guides, after much discussion, was passed to be engrossed.

Encouraging Reports.

Danielson, Conn., March 20.—Reports from the towns in this section where the woolen and cotton mills are the principal industries have of late evidenced a marked improvement, with encouraging prospects for steady employment. Advices indicate an increasing demand for goods, and manufacturers now find less difficulty in disposing of their large stock of manufactured goods. More than 3000 people are employed in mills in this section, and in some cases night and day gangs are working.

Vermont Dentists Meet.

Montpelier, Vt., March 20.—The Vermont Dental society held its annual meeting here yesterday. Officers were chosen as follows: President, C. S. Campbell, St. Albans; vice presidents, J. A. Robbins, Morrisville; K. L. Cleaves, Montpelier; secretary, Thomas Mound, Rutland; corresponding secretary, Miss Grace Bosworth, Rutland; treasurer, W. H. Munsell, Wells River; executive committee, Drs. H. Terrill, Rutland; C. W. Steele, Barre, and J. R. Toggart, Burlington.

New Move Against Miles.

Boston, March 20.—Boston Safe Deposit and Trust company has brought 12 bills in equity in the Suffolk supreme court against its former treasurer, Frank C. Miles, and five life insurance companies in which he is insured, asking that the interest in the policies be reached and applied to the payment of an alleged indebtedness to it by reason of his fraudulent conversion of its securities. Miles' life is insured for $90,000.

Ordered Sold by Court.

Amesbury, Mass., March 20.—The insolvency court has ordered the assignees of the shoe manufacturing firm of Adams & Pettingill, which failed here a year ago, owing $130,000, to sell the interest in an estate at Rowley, valued at several thousand dollars, owned by T. H. Boardman, a member of the firm.

Will Run Full Time.

Holyoke, Mass., March 20.—The Farr Alpaca company, which has been running on one half and two thirds time for over a year, will start its No. 1 mill on full time Monday.

Columbia Wins Debate With Harvard.

New York, March 20.—Harvard college was beaten in a debating contest with Columbia college men here last night in Carnegie lyceum. The contest lasted for nearly two hours, as there were six speakers, three from each college. The speakers represented the debating club of the respective colleges. Seth Low, president of Columbia college, presided. The judges were Rev. William S. Rainsford, Wheeler H. Peckham and E. L. Godkin. The topic was: Resolved, That the present method of electing United States senators is preferable to election by popular vote. The Harvard forum was represented by Henry Gunther Grey, '97, Albany; George Gleason, '97, Haverhill, Mass.; Philip Greenleaf Carleton, '99, Lawrence, Mass. The representatives from Columbia college were William Boone Gunton, '97, New York; Charles Frederick Wheaton, '97, Yonkers, and Joseph Meyer Proskauer, '96, law, Mobile, Ala. The latter took the negative side of the subject.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

Hon. P. W. McKinney, ex-governor of Virginia, is critically sick at his home in Farmville.

Herbert Sanborn, a druggist at Laconia, N. H., filed a petition in insolvency, with debts of $7000, and assets of $3000.

By the will of the late Williamson Rapije of Brooklyn the American Tract society and the American Board of Foreign Missions are each left $3000.

Gideon Caron, accused of smuggling, was tried at Portland, Me., yesterday. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one day in jail and fined $5. Judge Webb considered the offense trivial.

A mob of 100 men broke into the county jail at Scottsboro, Ala., and attempted to lynch John Smith, a negro, charged with an attempt to assault a white woman. The negro fought furiously, and was riddled with bullets.

Frank Wells, suspected of infanticide at Boston, is innocent. The body which so mysteriously disappeared was found in the hallway of the house where Wells lived with Catherine McNeil, the mother of the child. Wells had nothing to do with the baby's disappearance and reappearance.

LETTER NO. 2.

Our special train left St. Louis at 9 20 on Saturday evening, Feb. 13th for Galveston, Texas, 1053 miles away. It was a heavy train, consisting of one Wagner and nine Pullman coaches, and our progress was not as rapid as expected; for instead of reaching that island city on the Gulf of Mexico in season for dinner, it was after lamp light on Monday before we arrived.

The larger portion of the state of Missouri we passed in the night, but the last hundred miles across the south-west corner of the state did not strike us very favorably. The buildings, as a general thing, were small and dilapitated. The farms were either unproductive, or the owners lacked the energy and push needed to make them profitable.

As we passed into the north-west corner of the state of Arkansas the general appearance improved. The villages appeared more attractive, the snow and ice had disappeared, and the farmers had started their spring work.

When we arrived at Fort Smith, which is on the Arkansas river, close to the Indian Territory, about noon, we were received with distinguished honors. The mayor of the city, with a band of music, prominent men and citizens in general, to the number of several hundred, met us as the train stopped.

As soon as we got out of the cars the mayor made a short address, welcoming us to the city. He said the citizens had prepared some refreshments, and that there were carriages for those who desired to ride about the city. President Thomas in behalf of the Association thanked them for their kindness toward us. Some of the party took carriages, but many of the editors and their companions preferred to walk, as they had ridden over 400 miles since taking the cars at St. Louis, the evening before.

We found Fort Smith a flourishing city of about 8000 population, with two court houses, jail, several fine school houses, etc. We visited with many others, the jail, which was full of criminals, many for murder; among the number waiting for the noose, was one unfortunate female.

There was a small rough building on the grounds, not far from the jail, where the drop for the murderers is always ready. There have been eighty-seven criminals strung up in this building, and only recently three were dropped, all at once. Criminals from the Indian Territory are brought to Fort Smith for trial and punishment, which makes the number of prisoners unusually large in that city.

On leaving Fort Smith we crossed the south-eastern corner of the Indian Territory; continued on Frisco line, which had brought us from St. Louis. We arrived at Paris, Texas, at about 9 P. M., where we stopped for supper; 170 miles from Fort Smith, and about half way from St. Louis to Galveston, which is 1053 miles.

We crossed the northern portion of Texas in the night, over the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe road, which took our cars to Galveston. When morning came we found our train crossing vast prairies covered by many thousand head of cattle.

Temple was the first place of importance that we stopped on Monday morning. It was about 10 o'clock and many were thinking that it was about time for breakfast; and when the news reached us that the Texas Association had sent a car there to meet us, profusely decorated with flags and bunting, and loaded with good things to tempt the appetite we were delighted.

The supply car was attached to our train, and we moved on towards Galveston, the waiters, neatly dressed in white linen, brought through our coaches a substantial lunch, including coffee and fruit. Following this was served frappe for the ladies, and cigars and something inviting for the gentlemen.

Texas is an immense state, any one living in New England can hardly begin to estimate the size; it is one-eighth as large as the whole United States. The population of all the states could move there and not be too crowded, as in England. It is six times as large as New York. Its average length is 800 miles from north to south and 750 from east to west.

A trip across it from north to south gives one an excellent idea of the different belts, all improved to an extent not generally appreciated at the north. We crossed the prairies, the timber lands, stock ranges, cotton and wheat areas, and the great fruit lands and orchards, all demonstrating what there is to draw people to this country.

The raising of stock and of cotton are among the chief industries. In the latter it easily outranks all others. In fact it produces one-quarter of the cotton crop of the country. Great strides are being made in the cultivation of small fruits, and the planting of prune, pear and peach orchards is extending rapidly.

Pushing steadily on, we at last, little after sunset, arrived at Galveston, after crossing a long pile bridge, which connects the island with the mainland.

Most of the delegates and their ladies were quartered at the Beach hotel, during the four days' convention. Some particulars of the hotel and city we will give in our next.

A woman's looking-glass does not lie to her. If she looks carefully and owns the truth to herself, she will acknowledge that it shows to her, as it shows to others, a face full of the ugliness of suffering and pain. If a woman wants her mirror to reflect a pain-free face she should take proper care of her womanly self. She should see that the organs that are distinctly feminine are kept free from weakness and disease. By this means only can a woman remain fresh-looking and attractive.

Women may erase from their faces the lines of suffering by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Over 60,000 women have testified in writing to its marvelous merits. It acts directly on the womanly organs. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, and calms and steadies and invigorates the pain-racked nerves. It prepares for wifehood and motherhood. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period. It insures baby's health and makes its advent easy and almost painless. All good druggists sell it.

"I am going to write and tell you the benefits I have received from taking your medicines," writes Mrs. J. B. Clough, Box 295, Lisbon, Grafton Co., N. Hampshire. "I am the mother of a nice baby four and a half months old. He is a perfect child and weighs about eighteen pounds. If you remember I wrote you about a year ago about my condition. I cannot give too much praise to your 'Favorite Prescription' as it saved me a great deal of suffering. I got along remarkably well, this being my first baby."

"Knowledge is power." In a thorough knowledge of the human body lies the power that will at last stamp out weakness of the body and mediocrity of mentality. Dr. Pierce has taken a long look into the future through his "Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is full of just such knowledge as will do the family the most good. This book of over 1000 pages and finely illustrated has had an unprecedented sale. About 700,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 per volume. Puritana Has Won

PURITANA has succeeded.

Merit has won as it always does.

The great remedy is scientific.

It also appeals to common sense.

But most of all, it cures.

Puritana brings food to the starving.

It brings drink to the perishing.

It brings life to the dying.

When suffering people pay their money they don't want a name or a history.

They want the real thing.

They want a cure.

Puritana is a cure.

The famous discoverer of Puritana, Prof. Dixi Crosby, M. D., LL. D., was for 32 years at the head of Dartmouth medical college.

He has founded a new method of common sense treatment, and has become the most noted of all the great Crosby physicians.

He has given the world the secret of health.

He has shown the prime importance of the human stomach.

All bodily power begins in the stomach.

All relief and cure must start there.

Dr. Crosby believed that if he could make the stomach right he could make the whole body right.

That is what Puritana does.

Palpitation of the heart is a stomach symptom.

Poor blood is a stomach symptom.

Headache is a stomach symptom.

Troubles of the liver and kidneys are stomach symptoms.

Puritana banishes all these symptoms.

It strikes at the root of them all and cures the stomach.

This is proven by thousands of witnesses.

Puritana has cured numberless cases of chronic dyspepsia and indigestion after every other remedy has failed.

Puritana has brought men and women out of torture worse than death.

It is doing it today.

Every day.

Wonderful Success of the New Treatment.

Prof. Dixi Crosby Has Been Made Famous by His Prize Formula.

This Portrait of PROF. DIXI CROSBY, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth Medical College, is Published at the Request of Hundreds of His Grateful Patients.

It will always relieve suffering as long as suffering continues to exist.

That is why everybody is talking about Puritana.

In the face of bitter opposition from many advertised preparations.

In the face of doubt and skepticism, Puritana has succeeded.

Why?

Ask the men and women whom Puritana has cured.

To Arms!

Aye, tear the flimsy veils aside and rend the masks away;
Flash in upon the lives of men the searching lights of day;
Burn out the ulcers of the earth, unmindful of the scars;
Burst off the bonds that chain mankind; break through the prison bars;
Hurl down all idols from the heights where infamy is throned;
Cast forth false prophets to the wrath of justice, to be stoned;
Dispel the mists that blur old age, the siren lures for youth;
Unblind the world from sophistry and show her virgin truth!

Confine the cruel lusts of gain till they corrode and die
And press the hemlock to the lips of fierce monopoly;
Shatter all barriers of caste that wealth alone may span
And let the world's great touchstone be the brotherhood of man;
Gird strength about the loins of youth; with care old age infold;
Let labor cleanse the souls of men as fire refineth gold;
Crown intellect with sprigs of bay and beauty with the vine,
But round the brow of manly toil the laurel wreath intwine!

Then shall each hand that claspeth hand be cordial, firm and true;
Clear eyes shall look in honest eyes whence manhood shineth through;
Brave hearts shall frame no words but right for ready lips to speak,
And falsehood's blush shall redden ne'er the whiteness of truth's cheek;
The servile knee shall no more bend, each man be deemed a king,
And every piece of human coin give forth a genuine ring!
So shall our wrongs be righted and our evils turned to good,
The world be fashioned to the plan that God first meant it should!

NOW BEFORE CONGRESS

Chairman Dingley Reports the New Tariff Bill In House.

Democratic Minority Report Will Be Filed Monday.

Republicans Assured That No Needless Opposition Will Be Presented.

Washington, March 20.—The Dingley tariff bill was reported in the house yesterday by Mr. Dingley, and as soon as the journal had been read Mr. Bailey of Texas, on behalf of the minority, secured unanimous consent to extend until Monday the time in which it may be filed.

Mr. Dalzell handed up the special rule which provides for the daily sessions, from 10 in the morning till 11 at night, with a recess from 5 to 8 in the evening, beginning on Monday next, and ending with Tuesday, March 30, for debate on the tariff bill, and that on Wednesday, March 31, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the final vote on bill and amendments shall be taken.

Mr. Bailey of Texas, as leader of the opposition, closed the debate by pledging the Democrats not to obstruct needlessly the effort of the Republicans to put their tariff bill through. If it is to bring the prosperity promised for it the people should have the earliest possible advantage from it, and if it is proved a folly the sooner it is tried the better.

Mr. Dingley, who closed the debate, in part, said: "A bill has been framed to increase the revenues so as to meet the expenditures of the government. In the face of that, importations are being made in large quantities of wool, which is now on the free list, and upon which it is proposed to lay a duty, and also of other articles. This works a depreciation in the revenues of the government at the rate of $2,000,000 a week, turning it into the pockets of private individuals. The rule is right and proper, and not without precedent. I hope that the gentlemen on this side will not fail to do that for which we were sent here to do."

The resolution was agreed to, 179 to 132 The vote was a party one, the Republicans voting for the resolution and all others voting against it except Mr. Howard (Pop., Ala.), who was recorded in the affirmative.

At Mr. Cannon's urgent solicitation the house remained in session and passed the sundry civil and general deficiency bills, leaving the agricultural and Indian bills to be disposed of today.

At 8:11 the house adjourned.

IN THE SENATE.

Day Devoted to Arbitration Treaty---Nominations Confirmed.

The senate devoted nearly the whole day to the consideration of the arbitration treaty in executive session. In the open session the petition of J. E. Addicks of Delaware, claiming the seat held by Mr. Kenney, was received and referred to the election committee. The following appointments by President McKinley were confirmed:

John Hay of the District of Columbia, to be ambassador of the United States to Great Britain.

Horace Porter of New York, to be ambassador to France.

Henry White of Rhode Island, to be secretary of the embassy of the United States to Great Britain.

Charles U. Gordon, to be postmaster at Chicago.

Samuel E. Kercheval, marshal for the district of Indiana.

Albert W. Wishard of Indiana, attorney for the district of Indiana.

Perry S. Heath of Indiana, first assistant postmaster general.

Also minor appointments in the marine hospital service.

Senate Will Amend Tariff Bill.

Washington, March 20.—The Republican members of the finance committee of the senate have commenced the informal examination of the tariff bill They have decided that no hearings will be granted, but that careful attention will be given to printed or typewritten briefs filed with the finance committee relative to proposed changes made by the house bill, or other changes of existing custom laws. Such briefs, they say, should refer to specific paragraphs. The Republican members will sit as a sub-committee, and they hope that Senator Jones of Nevada (Silver Rep.) will act with them. The prediction is freely made that their deliberations will result in many important changes, and that it will be a very different measure when they finish with it from it now is The schedules of the bill are generally criticised as too high. One of the specific objections made is to the action of the house committee in removing many articles of raw material from the free list and making them dutiable without reference to the rates on other articles affected.

Land Commissioner Lamoreaux Resigns.

Washington, March 20.—The president has accepted the resignation of Silas W. Lamoreaux as commissioner of the general land office. It is quite probable that ex-Congressman Binger Hermann of Oregon will be appointed to the vacancy.

Notes About the Capitol.

The secretary of the treasury has appointed A. P. Upham and E. A. Schoyer of Chicago, Herbert G. Woodworth of Boston, T. A. Phelan and W. P. Roome of New York, Andrew P. Irwin of Philadelphia and Robert B. Bain of San Francisco as a board of tea experts under the act of March 2, 1897, to prevent the importation of impure and unwholesome tea into the United States.

The Democratic members of the ways and means committee held a conference yesterday afternoon on the question of preparing the minority report on the tariff bill. After discussion, in which there was much difference of opinion concerning the policy on cotton, wool and sugar, Mr. Bailey of Texas was authorized to make the report.

Over 200 bills were introduced in the senate yesterday. Over 1500 bills have been introduced in the house since the session opened. Most of them are measures which failed to pass last session.

J. F. Merry has been ordered to command the Katahdin in place of Commander R. P. Leary, ordered to examination for promotion and then home on waiting orders.

Indications point to a rigid enforcement of neutrality laws by the administration in regard to Cuban filibustering expeditions.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

Prospective Tariff Legislation and Floods Affect Business.

New York, March 20.—Bradstreet's says:

Another week of irregular trade brings an element of disturbance in the outlook for a fight over the new tariff bill, and the disappointment among manufacturers of woolen goods, silks, cutlery and other lines at various tariff schedules. Spring trade in jobbing lines is over, collections are slow, and at many points there is no change in demand or supply, except a request is for cheaper grades of goods. Threatened overflows in the central and south Mississippi valley have restricted the country order trade, and rain and high water have exercised a similar influence in the Ohio valley and in South Atlantic and Gulf states. The movement of general merchandise is also checked at the Northwest by unfavorable weather. Deep snows in western Minnesota and the Dakotas have almost suspended business in that region, and railway traffic is at a standstill. South Dakota live stock has not wintered as well as usual, and heavy losses are reported. The demand for cotton goods is disappointing, and manufacturers have moved some lines only at concessions in price. Iron and steel industries appear less likely to expand in the near future. Practically lower prices for Bessemer pig and for billets seem to have been the result of speculative overpurchasing at the late revival, in expectation of an advance which has not shown itself. Delay in fixing lake ore prices has also had an influence. There is less demand for American iron and steel for export, particularly for northern products.

At most of the larger centers, the feeling of encouragement is stronger among merchants at the prospect for continued improvement in trade, yet the increase in volume of business in dry goods, groceries, hats and clothing, compared with preceding weeks and with like weeks in previous years, does not equal anticipations. There is an improvement in demand for wool, for which prices are higher. Eestern wool manufacturers report more inquiry for goods, though the condition of this industry still leaves much to be desired. Prospects of the wheat crop in the state of Washington are excellent. The newly developed Pacific coast export trade is marked by shipment of doors, sashes, finishing lumber from Tacoma to South Africa, and trade advices from Texas are more favorable than for a month.

An additional favorable feature is found in the tendency of prices, those for wheat, corn, oats, pork, lard and sugar, in addition to wool, being upward, while quotations for print cloths, cotton, petroleum and lumber are firm and unchanged. In addition to reactions in iron, steel and cotton specified, wheat flour and coffee are lower.

The total bank clearings throughout the country amount to $951,000,000 for six business days ending with March 18, an increase of 2.8 per cent over the preceding week, but a decrease of a like proportion compared with the corresponding total in 1896. Contrasted with the like exhibit in 1895, this week's total shows no change, but compared with the like total in 1894, the current week's clearings show an increase of 12 per cent. Compared with like weeks in 1893 and 1892, the falling off amounts to 22 and 21 per cent, respectively.

The tendency of business failures continues to be to decrease in number, the total for the week being 231, compared with 227 last week and larger totals in preceding weeks, 300 the third week in March, 1896, 252 in 1895, and 197 in the corresponding week of 1894.

Foreign trade totals tend to lessen as the year advances, and monthly imports are approaching nearer a parity with exports. February exports exceeded those of last year 2.6 per cent, those of 1895 by 41 per cent, and of 1894 by 21 per cent. February imports were 5.2 per cent smaller than last year, but the excess of February exports over imports was only 34 per cent, against 86 per cent in January over January, 1896, and nearly 120 per cent in December and previous months in 1895. Exports have exceeded imports since September, 1895, and the excess for eight months is $312,478,640, or 73 per cent. Eight months imports are 21.9 per cent smaller than last year, but exports are 21.9 per cent larger. Shipments of breadstuffs and cotton, among agricultural products, and of many classes of manufactured, account for the large favorable export balance. There has been an increase of late in the value of imports of duty free goods, liable to be taxed under the new tariff bill.

President and Cabinet Accept.

New York, March 20.—President McKinley has written to the Grant monument committee accepting the invitation to attend the ceremonies on April 27, which will attend the transfer of the monument to the care of the city. Among others who have accepted the invitation to attend are Vice President Hobart and the members of President McKinley's cabinet, Major General Miles, commanding the army; the German ambassador, the Mexican, Japanese, Haytian, Costa Rican and Korean ministers, Justice Rufus W. Peckham of the United States supreme court, Governor Frank S. Black, Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff, Speaker James M. O'Gray, Governor Cooke and staff of Connecticut, Governor Griggs and staff of New Jersey, Governor Bushnell and staff of Ohio, Governor Hastings and staff of Pennsylvania, and Governor Lowndes and staff of Maryland.

Three Friends Gets Away.

New York, March 20.—A special to The World from Tampa, Fla., says: Thirty-five Cubans left for Punta Gorda, where they found the steamer Three Friends waiting for them, and they sailed for Cuba about midnight. The revenue cutter Forward, stationed here to look out for filibusters, was ordered Wednesday to Key West to intercept the Three Friends. The Three Friends sailed into Tampa bay and rode at anchor unnoticed. Captain Lewis, her master, had spent the day here, but left for Punta Gorda. Word was carried from him to the boat, and it sailed away. The Three Friends takes a large load of ammunition, dynamite and rifles and a few heavy guns.

Victory For Insurgents.

Montevideo, March 20.—It is now reported that the insurgents were victorious in the battle which took place between the and the federal troops on Wednesday in the province of Paysandu. In which 1000 troops were reported killed.

DID YOU SEE THE SUNDAY HERALD JESTER?

The first number of the Boston Sunday Herald Jester appeared with that paper on Sunday last, and at once jumped into popularity. Its make-up is the same as the leading comic papers of the country, and its illustrations are by the same artists which have made Truth, Life and many other weekly papers famous. Color is used freely in the illustrations, and its mechanical excellence puts it in the front rank of weekly comic papers. The Jester will continue to be a feature of the Boston Sunday Herald, and purchasers will not only secure New England's best newspaper, but as well a good, healthy clean, humorous weekly paper, that in itself would be cheap at the price of both. Order your Sunday Herald eerly, in order to secure it. The issue of last Sunday was exhausted quite early, and many were unable to obtain it. 20-lpo 1t

SHORT WHEEL NOTES.

An English railroad has provided special cars for the carriage of bicycles.

Bicycles are no longer luxuries; they are necessities, says the New York Advertiser.

During the last two years in England over $100,000,000 was invested in the cycle trade.

A tandem driven by electricity has been recently tried in England and is said to have proved a success.

There is a tiremaking machine, in use by a well known tire manufacturer, that can turn out 3,000 tires a day.

Lady Colin Campbell's objection to riding London streets is that she "does not like omnibus horses breathing down the back of her neck."

In the Argentine Republic a law has been passed forbidding women to ride bicycles in public. It is stated that the law was enacted to protect the owners of public vehicles.

A corset maker committed suicide not long ago. As usual, the deed was laid to the small demand for the waist constrictors, brought about by the general use of the bicycle by women.

There is no part of the bicycle that rusts so frequently as the spokes of the wheels. Saturate a rag or piece of cotton waste with kerosene and dip in powdered pumice stone; rub briskly, and the rust will quickly disappear.

AMONG THE RACERS.

More than 300 professional licenses were issued last year in England.

Louis and Charlie Callahan will be on the bicycle circuit as usual this summer.

Tom Sullivan, the famous professional sculler, will try his luck this year as a professional cyclist.

George Banker says that he will not follow the national circuit this year, but will train for the big Philadelphia meet.

Diakoff, the well known Russian champion, has become a "pro" at last and will soon begin to make things hum in his new role.

Huret, the famous French racer, is barely 27 years of age and is the holder of many records. Four times he has beaten the 24 hour record.

Jaap Eden, the Dutch crack, is the champion skater of Europe, a distinction he will lose on account of his inability to defend his championship, which is open only to amateurs.

Billy Murphy, the Brooklyn "pro," will coach the Princeton cycle team candidates. Asa Windle will look after those of Yale, while Columbia men have the services of P. L. McCue.

Many Bicycle Patents.

There have been any number of inventions made in the line of the bicycle. In fact, just at the present time the inventors of the country seem to be turning their whole attention to this matter, and it is estimated that fully 50 per cent of the applications filed for patents with the government relate directly or indirectly to the bicycle. That this is the case should not be regarded as strange. Many of the devices are not patentable, owing to the fact that they infringe on inventions for which patents have already been allowed. The variety and style of the devices for which patents are sought is great and embraces everything now known in bicycle construction and lots of things not known. The practicability of many of the inventions can be doubted, but the inventor is always sanguine, and as he is the party directly interested there is no reason in the world why any one else should object.—Washington Star.

Wood Pulp For Frames.

Wood pulp is the latest material for the making of frames for bicycles. The use of wood after it has been ground up and reduced to a pulp is not so new as many people suppose. As far back as 1719 a Frenchman named Reamur published an essay upon the subject, taking his hint from the wasps, whose paper-like nests are literally made from wood pulp manufactured by those insects. But it was only something like 30 or 40 years ago that any practical trial of the matter was made, and it is almost wholly within the last quarter of a century that the industry has begun to attract attention and assume importance. For some time past railroad car wheels have been made from wood pulp and also many other things which are exposed to great strain in use, and now the attention of bicycle makers has been attracted to this useful article.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Cycling Making Reforms In China.

Cycling, it is claimed, is responsible for great reforms in dress, even to the sizes of women's shoes. It has caused a reaction, it is stated, against the Chinese deformity and a sympathy with nature in this matter, simply because women cannot pedal with feet like the extremities of a piano forte. Doctors have preached against and denounced the French heel and the compressed foot, but without receiving the slightest attention. The bicycle, however, has proved all powerful, and the myth of the very small foot is now almost exploded.—New York Advertiser.

The Object of Tire Cement.

The object of tire cement is not, as many suppose, to prevent the tire rolling off the wheel, as there is little danger on that score. The main use for which cement is intended is to prevent the tire from "creeping" or moving around the wheel. The harm from creeping comes to the valve stem or "cap," which is almost sure to be injured or entirely torn off. Cement for this purpose need not be—in fact, should not be—of a sort that dries too hard, so as to be liable to crack. Thick carriage varnish has been used for tires with success.—New York Press.

SHORT NEWS STORIES.

None but the Deaf Girl Understood—Not So Crazy as He Seemed—Sheriff Dow's Steel Jacket.

It doesn't always pay to express your inmost thought even guardedly in the presence of deaf mutes. A story was told at the meeting of the Woman Suffrage association which showed conclusively the wisdom of the above remark.

A devoted couple, who apparently had been long separated, were thrust suddenly into each other's company at a largely attended reception. The lady who told the story said that she was present in company with an educated deaf girl. The happy reunited pair displayed fully the thoughts that were in their hearts by the beam upon their countenances. Suddenly the young man drew near to the one whom he adored and said in a low tone, inaudible to those about him, a few seemingly affectionate words.

The deaf girl watched the proceedings with intensest interest and suddenly broke into a broad grin. Her companion inquired what it was that amused her. She turned about so that the couple could not see her and replied:

"That man said: 'If all these people were not here, I'd kiss you. If they don't get out of the way pretty soon, I shall have to kiss you before them.' The girl replied, 'Then I shall scream.'"

The deaf girl understood their words by the motion of their lips.—Boston Evening Record.

Not So Crazy as He Seemed.

At Bloomingdale asylum they have among the assembled lunatics many who are not too violent or too mischievous to be allowed to roam about the grounds. Recently the superintendent has given occupation to some of these "trusties" by utilizing them in carrying on the improvements about the asylum grounds. Some of them have been set to trundling bricks in wheelbarrows.

A few days ago one of the attendants saw a gray bearded wheelbarrow man promenading solemnly through a side path, pushing before him a wheelbarrow turned upside down.

"Here, you," cried the attendant, "hold on!"

The lunatic stopped, with a weary sigh.

"Well," he said, "what is it?"

"What are you doing with that wheelbarrow?"

"Friend," replied the crazy man, with patient courtesy, "if you had watched me carefully you would have seen what I was doing with the wheelbarrow. I was pushing it, friend. I will now push it some more."

He started on.

"Hold up a minute," protested the attendant. "Don't you know that it is foolish to push a wheelbarrow that is wrong side up?"

"Foolish!" said the lunatic. "Not on your life is it foolish. I am not so crazy as I look, friend. Yesterday I kept my wheelbarrow right side up, and a pie faced Irishman came along and filled it full of bricks. I know better now."—New York Sun.

Sheriff Dow's Steel Jacket.

Ex-Sheriff David L. Kemp and one of his cowboys, William Kennon, were arrested at Eddy, Tex., the other night on the charge of assassinating Sheriff J. L. Dow. Ex-Judge Fall had a telegram saying the accused had been released from custody on $5,000 bail.

Further facts as to the desperate character of Kemp and Dow were gleaned from Eddy county citizens. Kemp was on trial in a western Texas court for murder a few days ago, when some friend handed him a revolver in the presence of the court, sheriff and deputies. He walked down the aisle, revolver in hand, sprang from a second story window and escaped on horseback. In the jump from the window Kemp broke his leg, but he managed to mount his horse and escape.

Dow was a man of equal nerve, though not near so cool headed as Kemp. He constantly wore a chain armor weighing 20 pounds, and but for this he would have been killed long ago. Kemp and his friends called it "Dow's steel jacket," and knew that to kill him he must be shot in the head. The bullet that killed Dow entered at the corner of the mouth and ranged upward.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Enthusiasm.

"Hooray fer McKinley!" shouted Mr. Blykins as he slammed the door and flung his hat at the rack without taking aim. "Three cheers for the advance agent of prosperity!"

"Why, William," his wife exclaimed, "what do you mean?"

"Every word I say."

"But you voted for Bryan."

"I know it."

"And you said that the protective tariff was robbery."

"I did."

"And that free silver was the only salvation of the country."

"That was my opinion. But I'm hooraying for McKinley just the same. I saw him ride down the street today bowing to the multitude, who cheered until they made the welkin ring. And when I see a man who can arouse all that enthusiasm without being either a pugilist or a baseball player I take off my hat to him and cheer on general principles."—Washington Star.

A Repentant Dog.

A story comes from New Haven about a black spaniel that abstracted a feather duster from his owner's house, and while playing with it tore out all the feathers. The dog, after being shown the featherless handle, was given a severe whipping with it. He then disappeared and about an hour afterward walked bravely into the house with a brand new duster in his mouth. He walked up to his mistress and meekly deposited the new brush at her feet. By the mark on it she saw that the dog had stolen it from a neighboring fancy goods store.—Exchange.

CRETE PORTS BLOCKED.

No Vessels Under Greek Flag Permitted to Land at Island.

Greeks Fire on Turks on Macedonia's Frontier.

Situation at Canea---Colonel Vassos Defies the Admirals---Greece's Offer.

Canea, March 22.—In accordance with the proclamation issued by the foreign admirals, the blockade of Crete began at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

The object of the blockading squadron, it appears, is to prevent the landing of food, clothing, etc., destined for the starving Christians in the interior, while the Mussulmans who have flocked to the coast town are allowed to land whatever they want.

The few Christians remaining here find it difficult to understand the motives that are prompting the powers to to exert their energies to crush the Christian population of the island, while the Moslems are given a free hand to do about as they please.

About the only hope of the Christians outside of the coast towns is in Greek blockade runners, who will not hesitate to run through the cordon of foreign warships around the island.

The Italian officers returned from the camp of Colonel Vassos in the center of the island, and they report that he has declared his intention to resist any attempt to force the withdrawal of the Greek troops. He said he would himself tear up every copy of the autonomy proposition that came his way, and he gave them the impression that he intended to assume the offensive.

While shots were being exchanged Saturday at Akrotiri between the Turk and insurgents a Turkish frigate in Suda bay shelled the insurgent position in full view of the European fleet. The result of the shelling is not known.

The Bear's Snarl.

London, March 22.—The Athens correspondent of The Daily Chronicle denies that King George has promised not to bring about an uprising in Macedonia, and asserts that the sultan himself suggested amicable negotiations with King George, asking the czar to act as mediator. Count Muzariaff replied instantly "Russia would never countenance such a perfidious proposal." It was then that Russia urged Turkey to take hostile measures.

All the Greek newspapers protest against the blockade, and the question is raised as to whether Turkish vessels will be allowed to enter Cretan ports.

There is no confirmation of the rumor that the Greek troops have crossed the frontier on the Epirus side. The Turkish troops there occupy strong positions, except on the coast, which is open to a sea attack. The heavy levies enforced by threats of violence on Greek villages in Epirus cause great discontent.

A dispatch to The Times from Canea says: Chief Manouli at Rodia represents that the insurgents mistook the Austrian warship for a Turkish vessel, and thus were misled into a hostile action. The Christians are very angry at the proposed landing of British troops, for they assume that they will side with the Mohammedans.

Some insurgents at Akrotiri begged food from the ships, but the admirals declined to give anything except medical aid. Unless the gale abates it will be difficult to land the foreign troops.

The Moslem beys object to autonomy, because they fear they will be compelled to leave the island without compensation for the large landed interests which are heavily mortgaged to Christians. Moslems own two-thirds of the lands in Crete, but the whole country is now practically in the control of the insurgents.

Nobody, continues the correspondent, believes the scheme of autonomy, such as the powers propose, is really workable. It would only serve to accentuate existing feuds.

The Berlin Post publishes a telegram to the effect that two Greek lieutenants have been arrested in the Turkish camp at Elassona and condemned to be shot as spies.

Greece Offers to Buy Crete.

Athens, March 22.—It is rumored here that the Greek government has offered to purchase the island of Crete, and that a gentleman known to be closely connected with the palace party at Constantinople visited Colonel Vassos a week ago in the guise of a tourist, charged with secret instructions on the subject.

Two Greek officers have arrived here from the camp of Colonel Vassos. They report that he is amply provided with all necessaries.

Another Greek officer writes accusing the Turks of trying to dynamite the church at Platania when the Greek officers and Cretan chiefs were attending mass for the dead. A Greek vessel, which has returned here from Crete, reports that it landed half its cargo, although a French warship fired a blank shot as a warning.

France is understood to support the proposal to make Prince George governor of Crete.

It is reported from Jerusalem that the Greeks and Arabs in Palestine are greatly excited by recent events. Thousands are receiving communion at the Mosque of the Holy Sepulchre and preparing to take the field against the Turks in the event of war.

Disorder at Tokat.

Constantinople, March 22.—Reports have been received here of very serious disorders at Tokat, in the Sivas district of Asia Minor. It is said that many Armenians and Turks have been killed. As yet there are no details as to the exact cause of the outbreak.

The city of Tokat is on the Yeshil-Irmak river, and has a population of about 60,000. The government has established extensive works there for refining the copper produced by the mines of Arghana-Maden, near Diarbekir. It is in the heart of the old province of Armenia.

Situation In Crete.

Canea, March 22.—The situation in Crete may be described as one of expectancy. Yesterday morning the fact that the blockade had formally begun was generally communicated from Canea to all parts in the island in the telegraphic circuit. Pillaging still continues. Three Turkish soldiers who were caught in the act of pillaging Saturday night at Haleph fired on the gendarmes, who returned the fire, killing one of them.

Some doubt is now expressed by the officials here as to whether Colonel Vassos, commander of the Greek forces in Crete, will be able to hold out long, owing to the scarcity of provisions. It is also denied by the official that there is friction between the admirals and the consuls.

Servian Reserves Called Out.

Constantinople, March 22.—The action of the Servian government in calling the reserves and part of the militia to the colors, ostensibly to participate in manoeuvers near the Turkish frontier, has caused considerable anxiety in Turkish official circles. The porte has instructed the railway companies to keep sufficient rolling stock in readiness to convey troops immediately, if necessary, to the Servian frontier. Fifteen battalions will be concentrated at Salonica. Quarters are being prepared for the troops in the Mosques and other public buildings of the city.

Britain Insists Greece Should Be Notified.

Berlin, March 22.—The understanding here is that Great Britain has insisted upon the powers according to Greece two weeks' notice before the foreign warships enforce a blockad against the Piraeus, the port of Athens, and the port of Volo in Thessaly, and is not at all in favor of Russia's project that the foreign troops in the island of Crete shall attack the Greek army of occupation under Colonel Vassos and compel their withdrawal.

German Officers Among Turks.

Larissa, March 22. — A party of English and Americans who succeeded in getting to Elassona reports that the Turkish forces there are at least 35,000, with 160 field guns, and another 100 at Veria. They saw many German officers among the Turkish troops, and heard it reported that Prussian officers are expected shortly. The Turks are badly supplied with horses. At the top of the Helouna pass the Greek and Turkish outposts were fraternizing.

Foreign Marines Accused of Pillaging.

Constantinople, March 22.—Ismael, the sub-governor of Crete, has wired to the Yildiz Kiosk that the Mohammedans who were rescued at Candamo accuse the foreign marines of pillaging their houses. A secret society has been discovered among the sultan's Albanian body guard. The porte has asked the authorities of the mosques and synagogues at Salonica to allow the troops to be quartered there.

Rough Experience Aboard the Overdue Vessel T. F. Oakes.

Captain's Wife Compelled to Take a Hand.

She Stood at Wheel Eight Hours In a Gale Without Food or Water.

Quarantine, S. I., March 22.—The long overdue ship T. F. Oakes, which left Hong Kong July 4, 259 days ago, with a general cargo for this port, and which had been given up as lost, was towed into port yesterday morning by the British tank steamer Kasbek, Captain Muler, which picked her up last Thursday in lat. 33.10, long. 68.44.

The Oakes left Shanghai May 17 last, and after completing her cargo at Hong Kong sailed from that port. The crew were apparently in the best health, with the exception of Captain Reed, who had been ailing for some little time, but who, under the careful nursing of his wife, thought himself on the high road to recovery. When about six days out in the China sea a terrific typhoon was encountered, lasting several days, during which the fore and main topmasts were sprung. The vessel was obliged to run before the gale, which had no sooner blown itself out than it was followed by a second typhoon, which blew with great fury for 24 days. The vessel had then got well out in the North Pacific, and so far off the regular course that Captain Reed decided to take Cape Horn rather than the Cape of Good Hope route. The weather remained good until Cape Horn was rounded, 167 days out. In the meantime six members of the crew had died from various causes. They were:

Chinese cook, pneumonia, Nov. 11.
Seaman Thomas King, scurvy, Dec. 26.
Seaman Thomas Olsen, scurvy, Jan. 12.
Mate Stephen G. Bunker, scurvy, Feb. 4.
Seaman George King, scurvy, Feb. 9.
Seaman Thomas Judge, cancer of the stomach, Feb. 17.

One by one the other sailors were obliged to quit work until on March 1 only the second and third mates, the captain and his wife were able to be about. All were well nigh exhausted, and when a strong northerly gale sprung up on that day the brave woman was obliged to take the wheel, and for eight hours, without relief and without as much as a drink of water, she kept the ship on her course. The provisions were running short, and the crew were left without other than the barest necessities. A sharp lookout was kept for passing vessels, but nothing was seen until the Kasbek hove in sight on the evening of March 14. The Kasbek manned a boat, which started for the distressed ship in order to make fast the towing lines, but owing to boisterous weather the crew were unable to accomplish their purpose, and the Oakes drifted out of sight. As soon as daylight broke the Kasbek begun a search for the Oakes, and about noon on March 15 sighted the distressed vessel. A boat was again manned, and this time the crew succeeded in making fast the tow. The crew of the Oakes were supplied with food, water and clothing, and the vessel towed to this port.

On arrival at quarantine the Oakes was placed in strict quarantine.

Mrs. Reed, the wife of the captain of the Oakes, is about 53 years of age. She was born in New Hampshire, and is a descendant of General Stark of Revolutionary fame. She has accompanied her husband on his voyages to distant ports for the past four years.

Mrs. Reed, speaking of experiences of the voyage, said that after the vessel became short handed she was often obliged to turn to and help work the ship. She knew how to steer a straight course by compass, and she generally relieved her husband at the wheel, while he turned to with the crew and made or furled sail. At other times she hauled at the ropes with the men. "On March 1 it came on to blow a brisk gale," said Mrs. Reed, "and about 7 in the morning I went on deck and asked Captain Reed if I could help. Mr. Anrams and Mr. Ragan, the two mates, and one seaman were aloft trying to furl the maintopsails, and the Chinese servants were doing their best to haul the clew lines. Captain Reed asked me to take the wheel while he helped those on deck, and I did so. It was bitterly cold, and I was not prepared for the weather, having only a hood on, but I stuck it out until my husband came aft to see how I was getting on and gave me a chance to run below to get a big ulster of his to wrap myself in. From that time till noon I was steadily at it. The work was not very hard for me, as I am pretty strong, and the ship was scudding before the gale, but I was pretty tired before I was relieved. Then we had something to eat, and afterward I went back to the wheel again. Altogether I was at it eight hours that day."

Captain and Mrs. Reed live at Haverhill, Mass., where they have a married son and daughter. Mrs. Reed is very anxious to hear of her daughter, who was sick when last heard of.

More Bicycle Talk.

THE More we learn of the world and its ways it becomes apparent to us that for every responsible position, there is someone eminently fitted to fill it

We have felt it our mission to establish in the heart of this city of ours, a strictly reliable, reputable, first-class bicycle store. We have, at considerable expense, remodelled our old furniture store to an up-to-date bicycle store, secured the agencies of all America's standard and leading bicycles, fitted up a bicycle repair department second to none, secured the services of an expert repairer, fitted up a department with bicycle sundries, and we can with wisdom say that your new bicycle store is one Quincy, her citizens and neighbors can be justly proud of. Bicycles of repute only; our expert opinion is yours for the asking. Ladies' and Gents' '97 models are here for your inspection. Columbia, Victor, Crawford, Monarch, Defiance, World, Cooper Track Racer, B. & D. Special Roadster and Road Racer, Tandems, etc.

THE REAL Spring has come, and with the going out of another long winter in our latitude, would that such brutal exhibitions as characterized last week's prize fight could fade into something cleaner and sounder. The strength of manhood is needed in this boasted civilization for better things, and one feels sorry, saddened, that in Puritan Boston, the bulletin boards should be beseiged by an excited crowd to await tidings of such events.

Both Litchfields Out.

Startling news relative to the Massachusetts Benefit Life Association continues almost weekly. Now it is the resignation of Charles H. Becall, S. T. Elliott, H. M. Billings, George U. Curtis and Everett S. Litchfield as directors. These were the men who were prominent with George A. Litchfield the late president.

The Globe says, Everett S. Litchfield has resigned from the directory unconditionally, and although he will be retained by the association he will not be on the board of directors. In handing in his resignation he referred to the opposition which had been engendered by his very name, and said somewhat bitterly that he did not wish the fact that he was the son of his father to hamper the prospects of the association. In accepting the resignation the directors spoke in the highest terms of his services, and such was the confidence in him that he was asked to withdraw his resignation, but his action was final.

A meeting of the policy holders will soon be held for the election of officers.

Sermon on The Blues.

"The Blues" was the subject of Rev. E. N. Hardy's sermon on Sunday morning, and he took his text from Kings 19 : 4. Some years ago it would have been necessary he said to have offered an apology for the use of the word, but it was now well established and had no synonym. Suicide and discontent seemed to be on the increase, he said, in the mad rush of business. He took a diagnosis of a historical treatment of the blues, God's treatment of Elijah after the death of the other apostles. The majority of our ills the preacher contended grow out of our physical condition, and are often imaginary ills. Good health and good spirits were much to be desired. At the evening service the Lenten addresses were continued, and two solos by Miss Burns of Boston were greatly enjoyed.

THE GRANITE TARIFF.

The Congressional Committee Divided as to Increase.

A Washington dispatch to the Globe will be of interest to the granite industry of this city, as some of the Ways and Means committee favor a still further increase of duty on imported granite. The correspondent says:

The duty on granite in the new tariff bill is 40 per cent. ad valorem. To increase this duty to 100 per cent. if possible, is the purpose of the visit to Washington of James Thompson, the president of the Granite Manufacturers' association of Quincy, Mass.

Mr. Thompson is accompanied by Mr. John Shaw of Boston, a member of the Home Market club. The two New Englanders had a long conference on Saturday with Mr. Tawney of Minnesota, with Mr. Doliver of Iowa and other members of the Way and Means committee.

They explained the methods of the American trust which controls the importations of the Aberdeen Scotch granite to the United States, and submitted documentary evidence to show that six of the 17 members of the trust have protested strongly against any increase in the rate of duty.

They pointed out the difficulties under which the American manufacturer labors. It was represented that in this country the worker in granite receives wages averaging $2 a day. In Sweden and Scotland the granite worker is paid wages not exceeding $1 a day.

A piece of finished granite which costs when shipped from Scotland $100 can pay an ad valorem duty of 40 per cent. and be sold in this country for $140 where the finished product of America would cost, owing to the difference in the price of labor, $200.

It was also shown that Scotch granite could be laid down in Chicago at a cheaper freight rate than from the Ortonville mines in this country. Consequently they claim the matter of distance is no protection to the American manufacturers.

Mr. Tawney thinks the American manufacturer should be protected by a duty of 15 cents per cubic foot and 50 per cent. ad valorem. He will use his best endeavor with the committee to secure a higher rate than is afforded in the new bill, but the other members of the committee show an unwillingness to extend the rate beyond 40 per cent.

Mr. Dolliver, for example, quoted the argument made in the house by Gen. Spinola of New York against the stiff protection on granite which was given in the McKinley bill.

Gen. Spinola explained when this paragraph was reported that the republicans were not merely content with taxing people outrageously while they lived, but even taxed them after their death.

Mr. Doliver thought this argument might be used again if a higher duty were imposed, and this conclusion seems to be general.

Installation Service.

Rev. E. W. Preble, who has been settled over the Universalist church since the beginning of the year, will be installed into his office, Friday evening at half past seven.

The sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Pullman, one of the oldest and most eloquent preachers of the denomination. The other parts in the service will be taken by several prominent clergymen whose names will be published in the LEDGER before the event occurs. Special efforts have been made to procure good music for occasion and besides the united choirs of Quincy and Wollaston, a male quartette, from the latter place, will be present to sing. This service should prove a very interesting one, and the readers of this notice would do well to mark the date, and if possible, attend.

Prof. Henry Drummond.

During the past week, a clean white soul went out, when Professor Henry Drummond, one of the prophets of today, laid down the living of only about a half century and passed beyond our human sight.

To many sad hearts his messages were those of great hope and a renewed faith.

He was the author of "Natural Laws in the Spiritual World," and even better, if a little book "The Greatest Thing in the World."

He belonged to the great grand body of the Evangelican church, and he can never wholly die. He made countless friends on this side of the water. In peace, he surely is now.

TODAY'S COURT.

Archibald McNeil was fined $7 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Thomas F. Morn was fined $5 for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Morn was also arraigned for assault on Officer Patrick Butler at Weymouth and was sentenced to three months in the house of correction.

Walter B. Grant was arraigned for assault on Charles H. Chandler and upon Inez M. Chandler at Quincy. Case continued until March 31.

Simon W. O'Brien was arraigned for being an idle person at Randolph. He was sent to the reformatory at Concord.

It is, or should be, the highest aim of every merchant to please his customers; and that the wide-awake drug firm of Meyers & Eshleman, Sterling, Ill., is doing so, is proven by the following, from Mr. Eshleman: "In my sixteen years' experience in the drug business I have never seen or sold or tried a medicine that gave as good satisfaction as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." Sold by A. G. Durgin.

Commissioner Knowlton is covering some of the sidewalks of the centre with a coating of gravel dressing.

Postmaster Burke has placed a letter box on the telephone pole in front of Henry L. Kincaide's furniture store.

Timothy O'Brien is to open up a fruit and cigar store the first of the month in front of Tilton's hardware store.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Connolly of Chesnut street are receiving congratulations from their many friends on the arrival of a little daughter.

Last week was one of excitement and life in our city, and now comes a new departure for charity and philanthropy-whist encounters for worthy objects.

The Unity Circle of King's Daughters is to give an entertainment with candy sale Wednesday evening at 7 30 in the Bethany Congregational chapel.

James Billiards of North Wales, Pa., an extensive granite dealer, is in our city taking in the situation generally and placing many orders for monumental work.

At the meeting of the Guild of the Good Shepherd in the Wollaston Unitarian church vestry on Sunday evening the Hon. Henry O. Fairbanks delivered an interesting address on "An Aim in Life."

Several sewer matters came before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of the Legislature this morning, including the system for Neponset River valley and Quincy, and the petition from Milton.

The Boston papers credit the Quincys and the Lenoxs with a half game each for their tie match last week in the Candle Pin league. In total pins the Quincys are only 2730 pins behind the leaders, each having bowled 22 matches.

Rev. Preston Gurney preached a very effective sermon on Sunday morning at the Wollaston Baptist church. Mr. Gurney's text was found in Ecc. 1:7. Mr. W. P. Clark of Wollaston sang in the quartette, taking Dickey's Mr. place, who is ill.

The Elliot club of Wollaston held its annual meeting on Wednesday evening of last week. Mr. Ralph J. Saxe was reelected president, with Mr. George D. Woodbury as vice president, Mrs. E. S. Tenney as secretary, and Mrs. D. L. Jewell, Mr. Justin F. Emery and Mrs. George H. Collyer executive committee.

Mr. Owen W. Jones, one of Quincy's long established business men, died at his residence on Granite street Sunday morning, after an illness of ten weeks' duration, aged 63 years. Mr. Jones has carried on the grocery business in a small way on Granite street for many years and was well known among the older citizens of Quincy. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

The last lecture in the course of the Bethany Training School will be given this evening. It will be in the church auditorium so that there may be an opportunity for all who desire to attend. The lecturer, Rev. William Gallagher, Pb. D., is widely known in educational circles. He was a member of the Congregational Pilgrimage party when they made their tour through Palestine and his account of "Travels in Palestine," illustrated by specially prepared stereopticon slides, promises to be of great interest.

Spring

Is the season for new life in nature, new vigor in our physical systems. As the fresh sap carries life into the trees, so our blood should give us renewed strength and vigor. In its impure state it cannot do this, and the aid of Hood's Sarsaparilla is imperatively needed. It will purify, vitalize and enrich the blood, and with this solid, correct foundation, it will build up good health, create a good appetite, tone your stomach and digestive organs, strengthen your nerves and overcome or prevent that tired feeling. This has been the experience of thousands. It will be yours if you take

SEVERAL INJURED.

Loss of Life Possibly at Big Fire at Lawrence.

The Gleason building at Lawrence was destroyed by fire early this morning, and some who had lodging rooms in the upper stories are reported missing. Eight who escaped were some of them severely injured.

The Gleason building was a large business block of stone and brick, six stories high, situated on Essex street. Fire was discovered about 3.15 A. M. in the basement and it quickly shot up the elevator, spreading to every part of the building within ten minutes.

The Central House, which adjoins on one side had its roof burned off, and the Walsh Hotel on the other side was damaged.

The injured were Mr. and Mrs. John Bowering, William and Bernard Gallagher, Miss McKenzie, W. R. Robinson, Leon Desaultiers and A. S. Huntress. Three women are missing.

The Bible.

At the Universalist church, yesterday morning, the pastor, Rev. E. W. Preble, preached a timely sermon on the Bible, with special reference to the statement often made, that we must either accept it in full or reject it in toto.

He showed how many people were influenced by this argument, and it was the fear of losing the whole book which prevented them from adopting more intelligent views respecting it. Many of these people have a genuine love for the Bible, and we respect them for it, but is their hostility towards the new views reasonable? It is useless to fight against these new views, for under the leadership of the best scholars and critics they are marching on to certain victory. In all denominations, men like Dr. Lyman Abbott, are boldly advocating them and their ideas are bound to find lodgment in the popular mind.

But does the acceptance of these new Biblical views necessitate the giving up of the whole Bible? By no means. The difficulty lies in the fact that we have misconceived the purpose and mission of the Bible, and so gone wrong from the beginning. If it exists, as some suppose, to reveal a plan of salvation, upon the knowledge of which the eternal destiny of our souls depend, then we should have an infallible book to make known that plan to us. But if it is the mission of the Bible, to educate and instruct as in righteousness, so that we may be thoroughly furnished for good works in this life, there is no more necessity that the Bible should be infallible than our text books of science and history. We do not say of these latter books that we will accept all or none, nor should we so argue about the Bible.

The Bible is not a book of uniform and devine authority. It is not a book of even and continuous inspiration. It is not a book of asbestos, that can be put into the fire of criticism and every part escape unconsumed. It is not a book of geology. It is a book of life—for religious instruction—to incite us to high living and acting. It is a book for character and conduct, and in reading it we must use the separator of our minds just as we do in reading all other books. It is invaluable, though not infallible, and used aright is still the word of God to human souls.

Engineer and Fireman Hurled to Death.

Chicago, March 22.—The boiler of the locomotive which was hauling the Chicago and Boston special on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, blew up yesterday, instantly killing Engineer Alexander Franks and Fireman Edward B. Smith, and completely demolishing the engine. The engineer was hurled 200 feet into the air through a network of telegraph wires that were stretched along the tracks and had his right leg torn off. The fireman was thrown against a cattle car and instantly killed. None of the train crew or any of the passengers were injured.

German Naval Matters.

Berlin, March 22.—It is reported that a syndicate with a capital of 100,000,000 marks has undertaken to employ Herr Krupp, the great gunmaker, to build the warships which the reichstag refused, and that they will place these at the disposal of the government when the reichstag from time to time votes the money for them in coming years.

Quincy Point people are asking how the new Fire Department order now before the City Council will result.

Owing to the storm Saturday night the visit of Philedian Senate to the Oriental carnival at Marblehead was abandoned.

Mrs. Joseph W. Dennen and Mrs. Frederick W. Tirrell have returned from a very pleasant visit to New York and Brooklyn.

This week in the City bowling league the Quincys will meet the Murray & Irwins, and the Granites will play with the Columbias.

A hobo who applied to the Weymouth poor farm for lodging last Wednesday was taken sick before morning and continued so until Sunday when he died.

A prayer meeting of Bethany Congregational church will be held at the residence of George L. Badger, Crescent street, West Quincy, on Tuesday evening.

Will the special committee of the City Council give Hugh Cameron a star chamber hearing upon his charges against James Nicol tonight, or will newspaper men be admitted?

Mr. Duffield's water colors found a ready sale and the majority of them were purchased by ladies and gentlemen at Mrs. Hardwick's during the days when they were on exhibition.

It is perhaps a little early to speak of mayoralty candidates for next December's election but the name of Councilman John Q. A. Field is being mentioned as a possible Republican candidate.

Mr. Wallace Glidden, who received a compound fracture of the leg in an accident at the Point, the early part of February, is reported as doing as well as can be expected and hopes to be able to be removed to his home on Cleverly court the early part of April.

The Granite Railway Company shipped the polished foundation for the Grant monument last week, and also got out some huge blocks for the "Whitney" memorial to be set up in Woodlawn cemetery, which includes three bases, die and cap. The bottom base is 16x14, and the die will stand 16 feet high. Special gearing was necessary to hoist the blocks from the quarry.

The closing session of the convention of the junior department of the Y. M. C. A. was carried out according to the programme and was full of interest. The farewell service was unusually interesting. It was conducted by Rev. E. N. Robinson, of St Stephens, New Brunswick, who gave a talk to the boys. After his remarks there was a testimony service, in which some fifty or more of the boys took part.

SIOUX CHIEF'S CONFESSION.

On His Deathbed He Tells His Supposed Daughter She Is of White Blood.

Superior, Wis., March 22.—The certainty that death was near at hand led the old Sioux Indian chief, Three Bears, to make a sensational disclosure regarding the girl who has long been supposed to be his daughter.

She is 22, stately and dusky, and, save for her bronze complexion, bears no trace of Indian parentage.

"Laughing Eyes" the old warrior called the girl, but the white people spoke of her as "the pretty little Injun girl." Three Bears was a devoted father to her, as kind as a father could be to a child, and the girl was faithful and obedient in return. Probably it was his ardent devotion that prevented him from divulging the secret of the girl's life.

When Three Bears found he was dying he sent for a lawyer and made his will in favor of the girl. Then, in the presence of witnesses, and while his wife and supposed daughter stood by his bedside, he said:

"I must die soon. Before I go to the grave I must tell Laughing Eyes she is not my daughter. She is the daughter of white people. I brought her up and I love her much. She was brought to me many, many moons ago—over 20 years ago—by her white father.

"I lived by the Big Muddy river at Bismarck. One day four white men came to my tent. One great, big, fat, nice clothes. He carry little girl baby He say 3 years old. He say baby's mother dead. He ask me to keep child till he come back, in two months. He going with men to Bad Lands for gold He give me money and I take little girl and squaw take care of him. Then he give me card with his name on.

"The man never came back," continued Three Bears with a great effort. "When Laughing Eyes was 13 years old, Major McLaughlin, the Indian agent at Standing Rock, got letter to look for little girl lost from her father when Custer was killed. He ask me about baby I know nothing. I like Laughing Eyes I no want them to take her from me. Let the little one have the money. Maybe she can go back to her people. You write paper, I sign.

Here the old man dropped back exhausted on his pillow and rested for a few moments, while the lawyer scribbled and the girl wept bitterly.

GOVERNOR PINGREE.

On Advice of Friends He Will Not Resign to Be Candidate For Mayor.

Detroit, March 22.—On the advice of his friends, Governor Pingree will not resign the governorship to run for re-election as mayor of this city.

The "old man," as his excellency is familiarly called by his followers, wanted to vindicate himself as against the supreme court decision in ousting him by permitting the Republicans to nominate him for mayor, believing he would be triumphantly elected. Most of his advisers at the meeting, however, especially those from other parts of the state, insisted that it was his first duty to remain governor to the end of the term, and not to permit Lieutenant Governor Dinsdan to succeed him. After hours of discussion the chief gradually came around to this view. The meeting finally decided to recommend that the city convention nominate Captain Albert E. Stewart, a Detroit vessel owner and member of the legislature, to succeed Pingree as mayor. The Republican convention had adjourned until today to await Pingree's wishes, and the Democratic city convention adjourned until Tuesday in order to learn what the Republicans are going to do.

Wholesale Murder.

Richmond, Mo., March 22.—A tragedy resulting in the death of five members of one family is reported from Osrick, a small village 35 miles south of here. B. Rainwater, a farmer, shot and killed his wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. William Artman; his brother-in-law, James Thurman, and his little stepdaughter, Ethel Gentry. The murderer then blew off the top of his own head, dying instantly. The tragedy occurred at the house of W. V. Artman, Sr., father-in-law of the murderer. Mrs. Rainwater had recently left her husband and had sought shelter at the home of her parents. Rainwater is reported to have been insanely jealous of his wife.

Stuart Made Ring Small.

Carson, Nev., March 22.—It has been disclosed that the ring in which Corbett and Fitzsimmons met was 22 feet square instead of 24 as the rule requires. Shortly before the contest the ring was enlarged by shelves constructed on its sides, in accordance with orders given by the referee, but on the night before the contest a carpenter, acting under instructions from Stuart, sawed off two feet around the end of the ring. The posts were taken up and placed two feet inward, it is claimed, to accommodate the kinetoscope people.

Shakeup In Harvard Crew.

Cambridge, Mass., March 22.—The Harvard crew has had quite a shakeup as a result of Coach Lehmann's observations of the rowing. C. C. Bull, who has been stroking the crew all winter, and Boardman, who has been pulling bow, were both taken out of the boat. Wrightington and Morton are the two new men in the boat, the former taking Boardman's place at bow and the latter rowing in Perkins' place at No. 2. The crew shows improvement under this arrangement.

Revival of Work at Pittsfield.

Pittsfield, Mass., March 22.—There is a great revival in the woolen business in this city and vicinity. All the mills are running on full time, and have more orders than they have had any spring before in a long time. The Pontoosuc Woolen company has leased the Pomeroy mill for the manufacture of dress goods. The mill will be started in a few days, and will employ about 100 hands.

Governor Lippett Asks Advice.

Providence, March 22.—Governor Lippitt has asked the supreme court for an opinion as to the authority of the state house commission in making contracts for the new state house, to the extent of $3,500,000, as under the act creating the commission only $1,500,000 was authorized for the building.

Governor Bradley Will Resign.

Cincinnati, March 22.—The Enquirer's special from Frankfort, Ky., says: Governor Bradley has told two friends, that no matter what the result of the present senatorial fight, he would resign the office of governor immdeiately after the expiration of the present extra session.

SELF INFLATING TIRE.

A Description of One Which an Englishman Claims to Have Invented.

A self inflating tire has been invented, so it is claimed, by an Englishman. It is self inflating, inasmuch as the air comes in automatically, and also self deflating, because the air escapes almost on the same plan in which it comes in. Strictly speaking, the invention is an alternating inflating and deflating tire, working automatically. Instead of the usual endless tube which is common to all or most detachable tires, a piece of tubing of about half the diameter and twice the length is employed. This tube is coiled twice around the wheel in a direction opposite to that of its rotation, and each of the two ends tapers to a point, where it is sealed.

These ends overlap one another to the extent of the tapering and so fill up the space. A valve of the ordinary kind is fitted near one end of the inner tube, and the first coil occupies a position in the hollow of the rim. This part of the tube is thinner and of smaller diameter than the other half, which is coiled outside of it and is situated immediately beneath the tread of the tire. An outer cover of ordinary character and attachment is used.

The automatic inflating is performed as follows: If the tire is empty or has little air in it, the weight of the rider and the machine compresses the tube, more especially the bore of the thinner part lying in the rim, to the end of which the valve is attached. This part is flattened under the pressure, and as the wheel goes around the pressure travels along it, leaving behind a vacuum into which the air flows through the valve. This operation goes on until the tire is fully inflated, being renewed at every revolution of the wheel. The ingress of air follows the flattening of the tire, making the inflation of the tire an automatic process. The tire works whether there is a puncture or not, and the claim can also be made that it is nonpuncturable.—Washington Star.

Women Will Manage This Meet.

Boston is to have a cycle race meet managed by women. This does not mean that none but women will compete. The events will be open to males, but men have no voice in the management. The meet is to be held on the Charles River park track on May 19, and is to be called the Blue Ribbon meet. The idea originated in the ranks of the Bostonian Cycle club, which is composed entirely of women, and will be carried out by that organization. The races will be run in the evening. The track will be illuminated by electric lights.

There will be races for the students of Harvard, the bicycle clubs of Boston, invitation races and one for the professionals. On the track will be three women, one dressed in blue, one in red and one in white. To the winner of a race the woman in blue will present a blue ribbon, and to the second the woman in red will present a red ribbon, and the one in white will present a white ribbon to the third. Prizes in the form of red, white and blue souvenir buttons will be given to the winners, as well as generous money prizes. Governor Wolcott and staff, and the mayors of Boston and Cambridge, have been invited to attend.—New York Advertiser.

Exhausting the Rubber Supply.

Can the terrible news be true? I have no wish to unduly harrow the feelings of bicyclists, but it is no longer possible to conceal the fact that something like an india rubber famine is apprehended in quarters which should be well informed upon the subject. Para, which is the chief source of supply, is doing her best, and consignments reaching a total of 20,000 tons annually now reach us from Brazil. But even this, with West African shipments in the bargain, will not nearly suffice to meet the demand created by the fine, healthy rage for the pneumatic tire. Trees are being assiduously cultivated in West Africa, and various improvements have been introduced there in the mode of collecting the precious sap, so that one may expect in the near future to receive much larger consignments from that part of the world. Still the situation is one which cannot fail to damp the spirits of the boldest bicyclist.—St. James Budget.

Bicycle Flying Machine.

A bicycle flying machine is now occupying the attention of an inventor in Milwaukee, and he has applied for a patent. The machine is to be made in the form of a bicycle. Connected to the bicycle, including the propelling, soaring and steering mechanism, is a cigar shaped balloon 60 feet long by 14 feet in diameter at the largest point. The object of the balloon is to reduce the weight of the whole machine to as few pounds as possible. The machine will cost about $3,000, but when made in large numbers the cost will be reduced to $1,000 each.—New York Times.

Reticule For Women Riders.

The ordinary toolbag of a bicycle is too small to contain all of the things a lady rider likes to take with her, and the suggestion has been made that a reticule be made for use of the bicycle. It can be fastened to the front handle bar and will not be in the way of the rider. A small lunch can be taken, or toilet articles, soap and towel, if on a long run. In addition, there are many little trifles picked up on a bicycle spin that interest a woman, and then the reticule comes in handy.—New York Telegram.

An Ingenious Portland Cyclist.

What is considered one of the queerest bicycle trades on record is credited to a Portland (Me.) young woman. It is alleged that last fall she traded her bicycle for a sewing machine. A crank, on hearing this story, promptly declared that, as the winters are long in Maine, she knew what she was about and intends to trade the sewing machine off this spring for an 1897 model.—New York Sun.

A BICYCLE TOUR

Three gentlemen for a European tour purchased new hundred dollar bicycles. One a Columbia—the others of well-known high-grade manufacture. They had an agreeable trip—particularly the Columbia rider. Before returning to America, it being late in the year—and wishing to buy new machines in 1897—they sold their wheels to a London dealer. The Columbia bicycle brought $65.00. The others $40.00 and $35.00 respectively. But one of the many proofs of Columbia superiority. If you look a year ahead there is wise economy in

IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

Coming Week In the Senate Will Be Devoted to Arbitration Treaty.

Debate on New Tariff Begins Today In House.

Dingley Will Open and Bailey or McMillan Will Reply For Democrats.

Washington, March 22.—It is expected that the senate will devote nearly all of its time this week to further discussion of the arbitration treaty. Immediate attention will be given the appropriation bills which have passed the house should they be reported. These are the bills which failed last session.

There is a possibility that these bills may not be taken up immediately in committee, owing to the absence of some committee members. It is also possible that when reported they may be somewhat changed, or if not changed in committee that they will be in the senate. Many senators have propositions which they are anxious to see enacted into law, and they are not disposed to forego this chance of getting them through. The Democratic leaders may consider it wise party policy to hold the appropriation bills up until the Republican policy in the senate with reference to the tariff is developed. Senator Allison, chairman of the appropriations committee, will exert himself to secure speedy consideration of the bills. There is little prospect of committee work until the committee vacancies are filled. The two sides of the chamber are holding out against each other, each contending for concessions which the other refuses to make. The Democrats still insist on being allowed to fill all the places vacated by the retirement of Democratic senators, while the Republicans contend that the Silver Republicans and the Populists should be charged to the Democrats. Upon the adjustment of this difference the whole matter depends. Some way out of the difficulty may ultimately be found.

In the House.

Washington, March 22.—This week will be one of hard work for house members.

The committee on ways and means, by the terms of the special order under which the house will operate, will have the right of way in the matter of amendments, and such amendments can at any time supercede preceding amendments of individual members, a provision made to give the committee the fullest power to protect their bill.

The debate will be opened by Mr. Dingley, the chairman of the ways and means committee, for the majority. Either Mr. Bailey of Texas, the selected leader of the minority, or Mr. McMillin of Tennessee, will reply. Mr. Bailey has tendered to Mr. McMillin this provision in deference to his long service on the ways and means committee, but it is not yet decided whether the latter will avail himself of the proffer.

The night session of the house will be given up almost entirely to set speeches by new members, who desire to get their views in The Congressional Record for the benefit of their constituents.

When the Wilson bill was under consideration the time at the night session was not consumed, and there is likely to be a repetition of lack of speakers on this occasion, as members, under the order, are given leave to print, and many of them will take advantage of this opportunity without taking the floor.

Labor Unions and Tariff Bill.

Boston, March 22.—The delegates, representing the trade unions of Boston and vicinity, who attended yesterday's meeting of the Central Labor union, devoted considerable time to the Dingley tariff bill. It was claimed that the proposed increase of duty upon tobacco would be of great injury to the thousands of cigar makers employed in this country.

Sherman Notified of Cretan Blockade.

Washington, March 22.—The representatives in Washington of the six powers signatory to the Berlin treaty—Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Russia—have in concert notified this government of the blockade of Crete, the notes having been delivered to Secretary Sherman yesterday.

Protest From Universities.

Washington, March 22.—Yale, Johns Hopkins university, the Peabody institute and the Enoch Pratt free library of Baltimore, have sent to congress a protest against the provision of the Dingley tariff bill which does away with the free entry of books intended for educational institutions.

Maine Legislature Rushing Work.

Augusta, Me., March 22.—The talk about the state house is that business will be rushed this week, and an attempt will be made to adjourn sine die next Friday afternoon or Saturday morning. The friends of the Eastern Maine hospital will try to arrange a compromise, so as to secure a sufficient appropriation to finish one of the buildings. The commission will have to be done away with, and the expenditure of money will be placed in the hands of the governor and council.

Another Battle In Manilla.

Madrid, March 22. — Another battle has taken place in the province of Manilla, Philippine islands. The government troops stormed the insurgents in their trenches. The insurgents lost, it is said, 300 killed and had many wounded. The government losses, killed and wounded, did not exceed 20.

Made Secretary of National Committee.

Chicago, March 22.—An Akron (O.) special says: Major Charles Dick has received from Chairman Hanna the formal tender of the secretaryship of the Republican national committee, and immediately wired his acceptance. There will be a salary of $5000 a year attached to the office.

Aged Woman Dropped Dead.

Woonsocket, R. I., March 22.—Mrs. Mary Skiffington, aged 102, died at her home in this city yesterday. She was born in Ireland, and has been a resident of this city 40 years. Her mind was clear up to the last moment. She dropped dead while walking about the house.

GLOOMY OUTLOOK.

No Cessation of Flood In Western States. Loss of Life Unknown.

St. Louis, March 22.—Latest advices from the flooded country south of here state that the situation is hourly growing worse. Walls of water have beaten down the levees at many points, and dwellers are at the mercy of the flood.

Out of 38 telegrams received here from the lower river, only one records a cessation of the rise. This was from Cairo, Ills., but the halt of the flood there was due to the breaks in the levees adjacent in Kentucky and Missouri.

The most disheartening intelligence comes from the Iowa and Dakota valleys of the Missouri river. Warm weather has turned the snow to water, which is added to the already overflowing streams.

Work on the levee barriers is practically abandoned in Arkansas and Mississippi as useless. At Chicot, Ark., a barge load of sand bags was dumped into a levee break. They only served to widen the breach. This is the experience at other points, and work on the outer barriers is abandoned and every hand turned to save the inner levees.

A dispatch from Ripley, Tenn., says there is a strong current through Reel Foot lake and the old river bayou. It is feared the river will seek its old channel through the lake, which was shifted 20 miles west by the earthquake of 1812.

South of Helena, Ark., the levee breaks are most numerous and the damage greatest. The five steamers employed by the Memphis relief committee were re-enforced yesterday by two government boats towing barges. These steamers pick their way through the tree tops.

The C. B. Bryan steamed west from Memphis Saturday 38 miles, and returned with 130 people and a barge load of live stock.

Relief work is now occupying more attention than endeavors to fight the flood with levees. A relief committee was organized in Little Rock Saturday. Memphis continues to save life and property unaided by the government of Arkansas. The Merchants' exchange took up the rescue work Saturday.

Governor Jones of Arkansas has sent a company of militia to guard the levees of Desha county, as there were fears that Mississippi men might try to save their own homes by cutting the levee on the Arkansas side.

Unconfirmed rumors of great loss of life are met at every hand, but the death roll cannot even be approximated till the flood subsides. The situation is indeed gloomy, with small prospects of immediate betterment.

James M. Hagar of Richmond.

Richmond, Me., March 22.—James H. Hagar, aged 75, a well known lawyer and shipbuilder, died at his home here yesterday morning. His death resulted from alleged injuries in being knocked down by a delivery team, in Boston, about two weeks ago. Mr. Hagar was born in Waltham, Mass., and was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1843. Settling in Richmond, he entered upon the practice of law. In 1846 he became interested in shipping in a small way with his brother, the late Marshall S. Hagar, and later engaged in business for himself, building a large number of vessels. His last vessel was launched in 1876, since which time he has been interested in the development of railroads and other enterprises in the South and West. He is survived by a widow and four daughters, two of whom, Mrs. Ida Hosmer and Mrs. Fannie Curtis, reside in Boston.

Ten-Year-Old Homicide.

New York, March 22.—One of the youngest prisoners ever arraigned in New Jersey charged with capital crime is 10-year-old Otto Newman of Weber, Middlesex county. He was indicted for shooting and killing Frank Pfeister, in Weber, on Dec. 8, last, in a quarrel over a game of tag, and he has been locked up in the county jail here since the fatal shooting. By the advice of counsel young Newman pleaded guilty to manslaughter. This was accepted by the court, but on account of the prisoner's youth, County Prosecutor John Voorhees agreed that the boy be sent to the state reform school at Jamesburg. The sentence on the manslaughter charge was suspended.

Death of Major Folger of Augusta.

Augusta, Me., March 22.—Major Prentiss M. Folger, an honored and esteemed citizen of this city, died yesterday from the effects of burns received several weeks ago from the explosion of a lamp. He served as secretary to the governor and council during the term of Governor J. L. Chamberlain, from 1866 to 1868, and was also assistant secretary of the senate shortly after. From 1871 to 1890 he held the office of register of deeds in Kennebec county. When a call was made for troops in 1861 he was among the first to enlist, entering as a private in company L, Twentieth Maine regiment. Was later appointed to the position of major of the regiment.

Fitz' "Esteemed Contemporaries."

San Francisco, March 22.—"Of all the prizefighters who are aspirants for championship honors," said Bob Fitzsimmons yesterday, "I believe Peter Maher is the greatest. I believe he can whip Corbett, Choynski, Goddard, Sharkey and all the rest. While Choynski is the most vicious puncher of them all, he does not possess the ring generalship of Mayer. Such men as Sullivan have absolutely no show of victory in modern pugilism. They cannot endure, nor can they escape the onslaught of a modern pugilist. It is my opinion that even a second rate fighter can put them out."

Wilmington Trial Delayed.

New London, Conn., March 22.—The expected speed trial of the new United States gunboat Wilmington, originally scheduled to take place in the sound off New London today, will have to be deferred for a few days at least, as the unfavorable weather has caused unexpected delays.

Six Hundred Killed and Wounded.

Montevideo, March 22.—It is officially announced that the government forces have defeated the insurgents in a battle near Melo, killing Chief Chiquito Saraiva. It is announced that the insurgents lost 600 killed and wounded.

SEQUEL OF PEARL BRYAN'S CASE

Her Cousin to Be Prosecuted---Jackson's Body Refused Burial at Greencastle.

Cincinnati, March 22.—There is to be another chapter in the murder of Pearl Bryan. Since the execution of Scott Jackson and Alonzo Walling the relatives of these men have determined to prosecute William Wood, a cousin of Pearl Brya , who was charged by Jackson and Walling with her seduction, and getting Jackson and Walling to help him out of the trouble. Among the effects of the dead men are letters from Wood asking Jackson for medicines, and afterwards to arrange for an abortion. These letters have been turned over to Postal Inspector Salmon, who will give them to the district attorney at Indianapolis for use before the federal grand jury for the purpose of indicting and trying Wood for such use of the mails. Wood was indicted over a year ago on the charge of abetting an abortion. Wood has not been at his home in Greencastle, Ind., for months, and his present whereabouts are unknown. It is proposed to get the secret service of the government after him. The Bryan family also want Wood prosecuted.

The ashes of Scott Jackson were taken from the Cincinnati crematory by his sister, Mrs. Post, who took them to Greencastle, Ind. As Pearl Bryan is buried in the Greencastle cemetary, is buried in the Greencastle cemetery the people of the place have refused burial for Jackson's body, and his mother was unable to take it to their old home in Maine. The remains of Walling were placed in a vault at Hamilton and may be brought back here for cremation, but it is thought that he will be buried in the family lot at Mt. Carmel, Ind., where his father and other members of the family are buried.

Kaiser Is Erratic.

London, March 22.—The story of Emperor Williams' alleged insane symptoms is kept alive with extraordinary persistency. A correspondent of The Daily Mail gives additional details with startling frankness. After stating that the kaiser is the sovereign who was previously referred to as being in the habit of pinching his guests and trying to trip them with his sword, he says: The fact is now that there is no doubt that the emperor, if not specifically insane, is liable to fits of aberration which, while they last, are indistinguishable from madness.

DYSPEPSIA DID IT

Weakened One Man's Constitution Until It Brought Him to Death's Door.

Mr. James S. Harrison, a well-known and highly respected citizen of Cleveland, O., was for years a sufferer from dyspepsia and general debility, and in his weakened condition, resulting from the above causes, he had the additional ill-luck to fall a victim to malaria from this complication of disorders. Mr. Harrison's condition was becoming very serious, when he commenced to take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy. Its effects were marked and immediate. Read his letter to us. Its earnestness is apparent:

GENTLEMEN: For the benefit of all suffering from dyspepsia and general debility I beg to submit my testimonial as to the efficacy of your P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, as a positive cure for all the distressing complaints from which I suffered.

My system was also full of Malaria and my condition was growing very serious; I had no appetite, was losing strength and was completely broken down in health, but now my health is completely restored, and I can eat like a field laborer, without the slightest fear of any serious results.

I take great pleasure in telling the world that P. P. P. did the grand work of restoring me to my accustomed health. Yours truly,

JAMES S. HARRISON,
Cleveland, O.

If you get up feeling tired and stupid, P. P. P. should be taken—it will make you feel well.

P. P. P. cures eczema, that torturing, itching disease of the skin and blood. If your blood is kept pure, you will not be disfigured with pimples, boils and blotches.

P. P. P. is the deadly foe and vanquisher of rheumatism. Its effects are immediate and lasting, and it not only relieves, but permanently cures.

Scrofula, which is hereditary and deep-seated in the blood can be cured by P. P. P. It is the one and only positive cure for this dread disease.

Sufferers from kidney troubles find Immediate relief when they take P. P. P. as it cures all irregularities and restores to nature her proper functions.

Sold by all druggists.

MANY HOMES BLIGHTED

Schoolhouse at Arlington, Ga., Struck by Death-Dealing Cyclone.

Eleven Children Killed and Many Fatally Injured.

Tale of Death and Devastation Follows Wake of Storm---Wires Down.

Arlington, Ga., March 23.—An awful cyclone swept down upon this little place yesterday and accomplished a work of horror that has never been paralleled in this vicinity.

The bodies of 11 children have been taken from the ruins of the Arlington academy, and about a dozen others will die. Thirty-five children and two teachers went down in the wreck of the wreck of the building, and the work of building, and the work of removing the dead and injured is not yet completed. The scene is heart rending.

The Arlington academy, a fine structure, lay directly in the path of the storm. It was knocked into a great heap, and the work of death was done even before the danger was realized. The structure was smashed into kindling wood, and the broken timbers and dead bodies mixed together is a sickening confusion.

The death list so far as known is:

Alice Putnam, Claude Roberts, Ollie Paramore, Willie McMurry, Genie Butler, Maud Johnson, Mary Weltons, Kenneth Boynton, Albert Butler.

People have not recovered from the horror of the disaster. Nearly every home in the community has been blighted by the storm's cruel work.

The academy has been built two years and was a handsome two-story structure. The storm missed the business part of the town by about 500 yards.

The scenes around the building were most heart rending as mothers clasped the bodies of their children in their arms. The rain began to pour down in torrents as soon as the wind passed off, and 500 people were drenched to the skin while clearing away the wreck. Some remarkable escapes were related. One little girl almost suffocated lying under three of her dead companions, whose bodies had formed a buffer which saved her from the falling debris. Along the banks of the Chattahoochee river, up from Apalachicola, there is but one story of death and destruction. The storm came from the gulf of Mexico, forming on the western side and entering the Apalachicola.

The wounded are:

Ernest Weltons, leg broken; Dudley Killbrew, both legs broken; Professor W. A. Covington, internal injuries, will die; Alton Carter, leg broken; Ethel Carter, internal injuries, will die; Benjamin McMurray, head crushed, will die; Bettie Farramore, arm broken and hurt internally; Nola Roberts, shoulder dislocated; Simon Sanders, leg broken, hurt internally, will die; George Reilly, arm broken, hurt internally; Clara Thighpen, arms broken, hurt internally, will die.

The storm-swept country is inaccessible to telegraph communication, and details are hard to obtain.

From Henry county, Ala., around Abbeyville, there comes stories of death and wreck, but no names have been received.

Bill to Divide Empire State.

Albany, March 23. — Assemblyman Trainor introduced two bills last night looking toward the creating of a state out of the counties of New York, Kings, Richmond, Queens, Suffolk, Westchester and Putnam. The first bill is an act consenting that congress may create a new state out of the territory mentioned, and the second provides for the submission of the question, "For the formation and constitution of an independent state," to a vote of the people of the counties of New York, Kings, Queens, Richmond, Westchester, Suffolk and Putnam. The vote is to be taken at the next general election on a seperate ballot, as rquired by law.

Anti-Trust Law Upheld.

Washington, March 23. — By a majority opinion, delivered by Justice Peckham, the supreme court of the United States has announced its decision that the agreement of the trans-Missouri Freight association to maintain rates within its territory was a violation of the anti-trust law of 1890, prohibiting contracts and combinations in restriction of trade, and must be abandoned. This reversed the decision of the courts below which ordered a dismissal of the government's bill. Justices Field, Gray, Shiras and White dissented.

Bad Fire at Lawrence.

Lawrence, Mass., March 23.—The Gleason building, one of the newest and handsomest on Essex street, was totally destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The property loss is set at $90,000, on which there is about $50,000 insurance. Eight people were asleep on the upper floors of the building, and escaped by jumping. It was feared immediately after the fire that three young ladies had lost their lives, but they have all been accounted for, having spent the Sabbath elsewhere with friends

SENATE AND HOUSE.

More Appointments---Chairman Dingley Opens Debate on Tariff Bill.

Washington, March 23.—The senate yesterday agreed to a resolution requesting the president for information relative to the imprisonment of Dr. Ruiz in Cuba. Beyond this the brief session, lasting only 40 minutes, was devoted to the presentation of bills and reports. Among the reports was that of the Lodge bill restraining immigration by an educational qualification.

The president sent to the senate the following nominations:

Boyd B. Jones of Massachusetts, to be attorney of the United Stat for the district of Massachusetts.

Binger Hermann of Oregon, to be commissioner of the general land office.

Joseph L. Bristow of Kansas, to be fourth assistant postmaster general.

Ernest G. Timme of Wisconsin, to be auditor for the state and other departments (fifth auditor).

Commodore Joseph N. Miller, to be a rear admiral.

Boyd B. Jones of Haverhill, who has been appointed a successor to Sherman Hoar as district attorney, is a lawyer. He was graduated from Colby academy at New London, N. H., and took a course at the Boston University Law school, from which he was graduated in 1876. In 1891 he was city solicitor in Haverhill. He was appointed on the ballot law commission in 1894 by the late Governor Greenhalge.

The senate confirmed the nominations of General Powell Clayton of Arkansas to be minister to Mexico, William M. Osborne, of Massachusetts to be consul general at London, John K. Gowdy of Indiana to be consul general at Paris, and Joseph H. Brigham of Ohio to be assistant secretary of agriculture.

In the House.

Washington, March 23.—The first day of the tariff debate in the house was rather tame from both a spectacular and an oratorical standpoint. The galleries were well filled all day, and the members on the floor listened conscienceously, but there was an absence both of that sharp cross-firing, which keeps the nerves on edge, and the brilliant eloquence, which inspires and holds the imagination. The opening of the debate was delayed over two hours by the full reading of the bill of 162 pages, and this, to begin with, had a somewhat depressing influence. The Republican leaders insisted on this to avoid the possible charge, in the future, should the consideration of the bill be not completed under the five-minute rule, that the bill was never read in full in the house, a thing which happened in the cases of both the McKinley and Wilson bills. Only four speeches were made at the day session. Mr. Dingley, the chairman of the ways and means committee, opened in an hour's speech for the majority, and Mr. Wheeler of Alabama fired the broadside for the opposition. Mr. Dingley, while a forceful speaker and a clear, convincing reasoner, has few of the graces of oratory. He was given a careful hearing, however, and frequently aroused the Republican applause.

Desperate Mohammedans.

Bombay, March 23.—There is strong opposition to the government measures for segregation of plague sufferers in the native towns. A large crowd yesterday attacked and smashed a municipal van conveying patients to the hospital. The police suppressed the disorder. The natives are desperate. One native made an attempt to kill the auditor of the South India railway by striking him on the neck with an axe. The native afterwards committed suicide. A strong Mohammedan deputation has waited upon the authorities and begged them to revoke the segregation so far as the Mohammedans are concerned. The authorities, however, declined to do so, on the ground that they could not suspend the measures in favor of one community.

Six More Nazaire Victims.

New York, March 23.—The Cromwell Line steamer Creole, Captain Gager, arrived yesterday from New Orleans, with merchandise and 60 passengers to E. S. Allen. On the passage a boat belonging to the French steamer Ville de St. Nazaire, which foundered in a storm off Hatteras on Monday, March 1, was picked up with six dead bodies lying in her.

For Mayor of Detroit.

Detroit, March 23.—After a brief fight in the Republican city convention, Captain Albert E. Stewart was nominated for mayor yesterday afternoon. Captain Stewart was selected by Governor Pingree and his advisors.

Oldtown's Election.

Oldtown, Me., March 23.—The city election yesterday resulted in the election of Edgar B. Weeks (Rep.) as mayor, by the margin of 15 votes. The city council is Democratic, as that party carried three wards to two by the Republicans

TURKS SHORT OF FOOD.

Besieged Garrison of Malaxa Said to Be In a Critical Condition.

First Suggestion of Blockade Came From England.

Relative Strength of Grecian and Turkish Armies in Macedonia.

Canea, March 23.—The outlook in this city and vicinity is not very reassuring. The situation of the Turkish garrison in the fort at Malaxa is very critical. The place is besieged by insurgents, and the Turkish troops have not enough provisions to last them more than two days. Attempts have been made to revictual the fort, but the insurgents have rendered the efforts fruitless.

If the Christians capture the fort at Malaxa and Keratide, which it now appears highly probable they will do, Canea will be virtually blockaded landward.

Malaxa is within the limits of the Turkish cordon drawn by the admirals of the foreign fleets.

A body of Turkish troops, who were trying to convey provisions to the fort at Malaxa, were held in check throughout the day by the Christian insurgents.

The troops, finding that they could not reach the fort, signalled to the gunboats in Suda bay, requesting aid. The gunboats opened fire upon the insurgents, but could not drive them from the positions they occupied. So far as known the fire from the warships did no damage.

The insurgent leaders reiterate their refusal to accept autonomy from the powers, and declare that if the island is not annexed to Greece they desire war. If it were not for the support afforded the Turks by the powers they would soon be driven from the island. It is believed here that the leaders of the insurgents would not hesitate to assume hostilities against the troops of the powers.

Advices By Way of London.

London, March 23.—The Daily Chronicle's Athens correspondent says it is reported there that Mr. Balfour is responsible for the proposal of a European occupation of Crete.

King George still personally supervises all the war preparations. There has been a heavy mortality among the Turkish reservists in Epirus, owing to defective hospital sanitary arrangements.

Roughly speaking, the following is the relative strength of the two great camps at Elassona and Larissa, though it is difficult to obtain anything like the exact figures: The Turks have 20,000 troops and 150 guns. The Greeks almost 46,000 troops, but less guns than the Turks. The Greeks are sadly deficient in cavalry, while the Turks have 10,000 well mounted troopers, who are likely to be fully a match for the superior infantry of the Greeks. April is the best month in which to begin hostilities, and it is the feeling on the frontier that something will happen about April 6, the anniversary of the raising of the standard of the cross against the crescent, and the beginning of the war of independence of Greece in 1821.

Dillon's Advice to United States.

London, March 23.—The house of commons sat in committee several hours yesterday on the military works bill. When the clause referring to fortifications in the Bermudas was under consideration, John Dillon, leader of the Irish Nationalists, said that in view of the fact that a treaty of peace and arbitration had virtually been concluded between Great Britain and the United States he must protest against a proposal of large expenditures upon fortifications at the very doors of the United States. He would not say that they were to be erected with hostile intentions, but they were at any rate intended as defenses, and he would advise the United States to watch very carefully the erection of fortifications in the Bermudas under the circumstances. Sir Charles Dilke replied that fortified coaling stations would be an absolute necessity to Great Britain on the American side of the Atlantic in the event of a great war. Most of England's food supplies came from America. It was very improbable that the United States would ever be opposed in war to England, and the use of the Bermudas as a basis of British naval operations on the American side of the Atlantic was in no sense whatever directed against the United States. The bill was finally reported to the house without amendment.

QUINCY BREVITIES.

Notes from Quincy Point, Wollaston, Atlantic, South and West Quincy.

Cooler tomorrow.

Geese are flying north.

Storm doors came off Monday.

Boys got out their kites on Monday.

A new Brownie book coupon today.

Sugar has advanced to 5 cents by the barrel.

A coat of gravel dressing is being put on Crescent street.

About one hundred are expected at the Board of Trade banquet this evening.

Swithin Bros. have for sale some of the most desirable building lots in the city.

Mrs. Chas. E. Lichtenhein of New York is visiting Mrs. Ellen F. Winslow on Edward street for a few weeks.

Timothy J. O'Brien will open a periodical store at Mr. Tilton's, instead of a fruit and cigar store, as stated yesterday.

Both the children and adults will have hurdy gurdy parties on Saturday, the former at 3 P. M. and the latter at 7.

The West Quincy Epworth League held a business meeting Monday evening at which an entertainment to be given next week was arranged for.

Several large flocks of geese have been noticed going north during the past few days. This is generally regarded as a precursor of an early spring.

Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, have a very pleasant day for their whist parties at the Vendome, Boston, this afternoon and evening, and many from this city are in attendance.

The proposed Forest Hills & Quincy street railway was given a hearing on location by the Boston aldermen on Monday. Considerable opposition was developed from abutters, particularly on Minot street.

The Pilgrim Fathers indulged in a little whist at the close of their meeting Monday. It is said Atlantic is whist crazy, but it went Wilde on this occasion, for the first gentlemen's prize was taken by ex-Councilman R. H. Wilde, and the first ladies' prize by Mrs. Wilde. The second gentlemen's prize was captured by Mr. George H. Sherwin, and the second lady was Mrs. C. A. Dorman. There were five tables.

At the annual meeting of the Tubular Rivet & Stud Co.'s Base Ball Association, which was held at the residence of Mr. Frank L. Merrill, Woodbine street, Wollaston, these members were elected a board of directors for the ensuing year: John H. Whitehead, Chester Taylor, Albert Hall, Albert Tabor and William F. Fleming. It is the intention of the management to give the people of this city the best exhibition of base ball they have ever been treated to. Negotiations are now pending with some of the crack players of this vicinity.

The pastor of the First Presbyterian church is holding a week of cottage meetings. Monday evening, after teaching the lesson very briefly in the Bethany church training class, he went to Mr. Alex. Fraser's on Common street, where there was a good meeting. He had forgotten when he made the two appointments so far apart for the same evening. This evening the meeting will be held at Mr. James Milne's on Glencoe place, Wednesday evening at Mr. Wm. F. Wentworth's on Hillside street, and Friday evening at Mr. Augustus McAuley's on Nelson street. Every one is welcome at these services.

CITY COUNCIL.

Copeland Street Paving Order Takes Another Flop.

Wollaston School Lot Not to be Enlarged This Year.

A New Date for the Street Railway Hearings Because of Informality.

Councilmen Garey and Phillips were the only absent members at Monday night's meeting of the City Council.

Mayor Adams assisted by Councilman Cain drew the following jurors: Grand juror, George C. Alden; traverse jurors, Clarence H. Barstow, Alfred G. Nye and Abner L. Baker.

Mayor Adams submitted the following resolution with these letters which he requested passed:

Resolved,—That the Mayor of the City of Quincy be and he hereby is authorized to execute and deliver to the American Loan & Trust Co., the bond of the city for the sum of $11,000 to indemnify said American Loan & Trust Co., or its successors or assigns, for payment of eleven one thousand dollar bonds of the Quincy Water Co., which are not now in possession of the City of Quincy but which are purported to have been cancelled and destroyed."

The resolution was adopted.

A communication was received from Chairman Curtis of the Board of Health asking to be excused from attending Council meetings.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Metropolitan Water Board stating that they were delaying the taking of the land for the proposed reservoir in Quincy, until a release was secured from the Quincy Water Co.

Also a communication from the American Loan and Trust Co., as follows:

"We have referred the matter of the discharge of the mortgage of the Quincy Water Co. to our counsel and he informs us that the City of Quincy should turn over to this company for cancellation of its trustee's certificate, the $239,000 bonds now in the possession of the city, together with all coupons thereto belonging, and further, that the city should furnish us with a bond of indemnity to cover the $11,000 bonds purported to have been cancelled and destroyed."

Petitions.

Petitions were received from J. Q. Bent, for State Aid; from Edward A. Haynes, for license to collect junk; and from Franklin Curtis for a license for Hancock hall. Referred.

Report of Committee.

The Committee on Licenses recommended that the following petitioners have leave to withdraw: Thomas Ham and Mrs. P. Murphy as common victuallers, and J. F. Kerrigan and John McIntosh for pool table license. Report accepted.

The same committee reported an order giving Rogers & Kenyon a license for two carriages which was adopted.

The Committee on State Aid recommended that the petition of George W. Tibbets for soldier's relief, have leave to withdraw. Accepted.

The same committee recommended that Charles Cummings be granted $4 per month, and Albert A. Hayden $6 per month. Adopted.

The Committee on Finance reported an order that the Treasurer be authorized to refund William A. Gavin $13.52 tax paid.

The Committee on Finance reported ought not to pass on order for paving Copeland street.

Councilman Little asked the reason.

Councilman Anderson replied on account of the informality of the order.

Councilman Little then moved the order be recommitted to Committee on Streets which was voted.

The Committee on Finance reported ought to pass on the order for certain street lights in Wards Five and Six. Passed under suspension of the rules.

The Committee on Finance reported ought not to pass an order appropriating $900 for purchase of land adjoining the Wollaston school building.

Councilman Sprague thought this a matter that should be looked into. Wollaston would have to be content with this school for a number of years, and as this land would give them a little sunshine they should have it.

Councilman Anderson said the general feeling of the Finance Committee was that the school would not be injured much by not purchasing the land. A building there would shut out some sun but not enough to warrant the expenditure of $900.

Councilman Nickerson thought a mistake was being made to allow a building to go up on this land. As long as we have a school there we should protect it. It was as essential that the sun should enter every room of this building as well as in the new buildings.

Councilman Pinkham said the building was under a banking and the Council could do more by putting this money toward moving the building.

Councilman Nickerson thought the moving of the building would be in the dim future. It would cost $3,000 to move it.

Councilman Poland thought the suggestion to move the building out of the question. It was an old building and would be very expensive to move.

The report of the Committee was adopted by a vote of 11 to 9.

Motions, Orders, etc.

Councilman Anderson offered an order for four incandescent lights on Goffe street, one at the northeast and one at the southeast corner of Dimmock and Goffe streets, one near entrance to house of Fred Holbrook and one near the Granite street bridge. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Nickerson offered an order for a public hearing, April 19, on the petitions of the Quincy & Boston street railway for locations at Atlantic.

This order to take the place of that offered at the last meeting, as at that time the plans were not on file. It was suggested that April 19 was a legal holiday, and the date of the hearing was then changed to April 26.

Adjourned at 8.12.

PALESTINE ILLUSTRATED.

Closing Lecture in the Training School of Bethany Church.

At the Training School Monday evening Rev. Robert Westly Peach gave the second and last of his lessons on "Church leaders and their writings." He spoke of the authorship and theme of the Epistles other than those written by Paul. Of the Epistle to the Hebrews he said, that though it had been ascribed by many to Paul, and by others to Barnabus, Apollos and Luke, neither its authorship, place of composition, date or destination could be told.

The lecturer, Rev. Wm. Gallagher Ph. D., of Braintree, gave a very interesting account of his trip through Palestine about two years ago with a company of nearly forty Americans. The lecture was illustrated by the stereopticon, the slides having been prepared from photographs taken by a member of the party. By the aid of the graphic descriptions of the lecturer the audience seemed to see for themselves the scenes and places, the names of which are so familiar to Bible readers.

Dr. Gallagher has not spoken before to a Quincy audience, and there were a number of people present who have not been to previous meetings to hear him. His talk was natural and full of interest, with no sentiment or oratory intermingled. He said one must expect to find in the Holy Land, not actual facts of long past scenes that cannot be well authenticated, but to find what he would take with him.

He gave a detailed account of the comfortable mode of travel there, illustrated at every point with views. He said the country was full of cranks one of whom a western cow boy, clad completely in leather, burst into one of their Sunday afternoon services, saying he had reached there, having come on a wager that he would go through to Palestine from America without changing his clothes. Another, a woman, every afternoon set up a fire on the mountain side, upon which was placed a tea pot, to have a cup of tea ready to offer to her Lord should he appear.

Altogether Dr. Gallagher's talk was instructive and appreciated.

Norman McKenzie.

It was a great shock to his many friends in Quincy to hear of the death Sunday morning of Norman McKenzie, at the early age of twenty-one. He had been ill of pneumonia only about a week, and he had always been so strong that those who heard of his illness expected his recovery until almost the end.

Mr. McKenzie was an upright, kind-hearted Christian young man, widely known, and highly esteemed. He was a communicant member of the First Presbyterian church, and during his illness he spoke earnestly to his brothers and friends, witnessing to Christ as the Saviour.

An aged father and mother in Rose Valley, P. E. I., where the interment will take place, seven brothers and a sister, mourn his loss. Two of the brothers live in Quincy, and three others were present during his illness. The sympathy of a wide circle of friends goes out to the bereaved family.

Cameron vs. Nicol.

At the civil session of the District court this morning the suit of Hugh Cameron against James Nicol, to recover the amount of $61 and interest claimed to be due him for labor performed between August 1 and December 1, 1895 was heard.

Cameron claimed that he was at work in the cemetery at the time and that he took care of the defendant's horse before and after his working hours at the cemetery, for which Nicol had promised to pay him but had not.

The defence was a general denial.

The case occupied over two hours and at its conclusion the court found judgment for Cameron for $17, which will be entered next Thursday.

Suing Father For Support.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 23.—A petition was presented yesterday to the superior court asking that John Peck Wheeler of Stratford be compelled to provide for the support of his daughters, Hattie and Sadie, 18 and 26 years old respectively. Wheeler is worth about $100,000, but his second wife and the daughters cannot agree. He sided with the stepmother, and a short time ago required the daughters to leave the house. They have now no means of support.

CEMETERY CHARGES.

Special Committee of City Council Sit as Grand Jurors.

Councilmen Bryant, Field, Murray, Nickerson and McGrath, the special committee of the Council to whom was referred the petition of Hugh Cameron, that he be given a hearing upon certain charges which he preferred against Supt. Nicol of Mt. Wollaston cemetery, held a meeting Monday evening at City Hall.

The committee held its meeting in one of the committee rooms and the evidence was taken by a stenographer. It was in the nature of a star chamber hearing, reporters and all others being rigidly excluded. The only persons present besides the committee and stenographer were Mayor Adams, Clerk Spear and City Messenger Tirrell who guarded the door. The board of Managers of Public Burial Places were present but were refused admittance.

The witnesses examined were Hugh Cameron, Alexander McGinnis, Jabez Steer and William Haynes, and they were examined in the above order and were admitted one at a time. It was 10 o'clock when the hearing adjourned.

President Bryant, when seen after the hearing, said the evidence had been taken by a stenographer and that the committee had come to no conclusion as yet. That they would hold another meeting at a later date when they would consider the testimony submitted and then decide whether it warranted their continuing the investigation.

UNDER CONTRACT.

Boston Wholesalers Have Agreement to Handle Scotch Granite.

The duty on granite appeared in a new light to the Committee on Ways and Means of Congress when President Thompson of the Quincy Granite Manufacturers introduced his bombshell, says Atherton, the Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser.

The dispatch further says: The Quincy men claim that the Boston Wholesale Granite Dealers' association has a contract to handle the product of the Scotland quarrymen, also formed as an organization known as the Aberdeen Granite association. The Quincy men say that naturally the firms in the Boston association are opposed to making the Scotland quarrymen pay higher rates of duty, when they, the members of the Boston association, have a contract to handle the Scotland product. Higher duty means higher prices to the 17 firms in America who have agreed to sell the product of the quarries at Aberdeen.

The alleged existence of this contract is said to have opened the eyes of the ways and means committee to the desirability of making a higher rate, and the Quincy men here produce a copy of the agreement entered into between the Boston association and the Aberdeen association.

Atherton further says: Although the gentlemen here exhibiting copies of the alleged contract are in favor of increasing the ad valorem rate from 40 to 100 per cent. I should not be surprised if the result of the agitation would be the recommendation by the committee of an amendment proposing a specific duty. Such a course would affect the same result as increasing the ad valorem rate as indicated.

This is an important matter, as the ultimate settlement of it will effect all phases of monumental granite work for cemeteries, etc. An ad valorem rate of 100 per cent. or a specific duty of 3 cents would enable American manufacturers to stand on same footing with those of Scotland, whereas now rough granite stone can be sent from America to Scotland, carved, returned here, paying freight both ways, labor and all, and sold here cheaper than can the product produced in America by American labor.

KNOCKOUT FOR PUGILISM.

Women's Christian Temperance Union Begins New Crusade.

Washington, March 23.—From the headquarters of the W. C. T. U. at Chicago, comes a petition to the president, which has for its object the prevention of prize fighting and photographic reproductions of ring contests in America. Following is the appeal, a copy of which has also been sent to the governors of all the states:

Honored Ruler—As the official representatives of the 300,000 members of the Women's Christian Temperance union of the United States, we earnestly entreat you to call upon congress to prohibit in the District of Columbia and throughout the various territories the reproduction, by means of the kinetoscope, or kindred instruments, of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, or of any like exhibition at any future time.

We believe that in making this request we are seeking the best welfare of the citizens, and especially the youth of our land, who could not but be brutalized by such lifelike representations of these degrading spectacles. We learn that preparations upon the largest scale are being made for invading, not alone our great cities, but every village and hamlet with this spectacular performance so that, bad as was the influence of the fight upon the comparative few who witnessed it in person, it would be infinitely worse, because so much more far-reaching if thus produced.

We are making a like request of the chief officials and legislatures of the various states, and have strong hope that in the majority of them the necessary legislation may result.

We are glad to feel assured at the outset that your personal sympathy must be with us, and that your official sanction will be given to this request, so clearly in the interests of morality.

Sincerely and respectfully yours,
Francis E. Willard,
President National W. C. T. U.
Katherine Lent Stevenson,
Corresponding Secretary.

BAD FOR MRS. MARSH.

Witnesses For State Give Further Damaging Testimony Against Her.

Montpelier, Vt., March 23.—The court resumed its session yesterday in the Marsh murder trial. Mrs. Bishop, matron of the local jail, testified that Mrs. Marsh sent notes to Buzzell several times since their incarceration. In one of these notes Mrs. Marsh wrote that she had heard that Buzzell was to turn state's evidence, and asked him not to go back on her. Witness thought she delivered five notes to Buzzell.

C. A. Dunham, a veterinary dentist, testified to being at the Marsh house during a quarrel between Marsh and his wife. Afterwards he heard Mrs. Marsh say she was tired of living that way, and contemplated putting her husband out of the way. She further said that she had been thinking it over for two years, and later she asked the witness how much arsenic it would take to kill a man.

Charles G. Gauthier of Northfield testified to hearing Buzzell admit having improper relations with Mrs. Marsh when Buzzell worked for him in the blacksmith shop. The government will hardly finish up its case this week from present appearances.

Anti-Kinetoscope Bill Killed.

Boston, March 23.—The house, by a vote of 91 to 73, practically killed the anti-kinetoscope bill offered by Representative Sanderson of Lynn. This bill was to have been offered under suspension of rules, but the house refused to allow a suspension, thereby stopping the progress of the bill. It was aimed to prohibit the reproduction, by kinetoscope, of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons prize fight, in this state, under severe penalty.

The senate defeated the bill providing for a forest survey of the state, referring the matter to the next general court. The attempt to pass a law prohibiting the soliciting of candidates for office to purchase tickets to entertainments also met with failure, a third reading being refused.

In the house the matter of 50-ride tickets on railroads about Boston was taken up. For the adverse report of the committee a bill was substituted providing that 50-ride tickets, within a radius of 10 miles of Boston, shall be sold at the same rate as 100-ride tickets.

Petitions Against Repeal.

Hartford, March 23.—A hearing on the repeal of the charter of the State Law and Order league will take place before the judiciary committee of the state legislature today, and 30 petitions have already been received against its repeal. One of the petitions is signed by 24 members of the Yale faculty, one by all the faculty of Storrs Agricultural college, another by 24 members of Wesleyan faculty, and still another by 61 grangers of Connecticut. Seventy-one towns and cities have also sent in petitions bearing over 3000 names, and the list is still further augmented by petitions from numerous church societies, Sons of Temperance, and kindred organizations.

Recovered Damages From Employers.

Boston, March 23.—A verdict of $12,000 for the plaintiff in the action of tort, brought by James W. Hessian vs. Crocker, Burbank & Co., was returned in the superior court yesterday. The plantiff was on Oct. 13, 1895, employed by the defendants at their mill at Fitchburg, and while crossing a bridge which connected two of the buildings, fell a distance of 13 feet, seriously injuring himself. The cause of his fall was the collapse of a stringer which sustained the bridge. The stringer was of wood and in a decayed condition.

Italian's Peculiar Death.

Boston, March 23.—Vincent Strangers, aged 19, an Italian, was admitted to the city hospital last Friday and died yesterday. It was supposed he was suffering from erysipelas, but an autopsy was held, and the surgeon found deeply imbedded in the skull the broken point of a stiletto. According to Strangers' relatives the knife wound was inflicted two years ago in a quarrel in Italy. The medical examiner, however, does not believe that the wound was an old one, and the police are now at work on the case.

Experimenting With Lightning.

Cambridge, Mass., March 23.—The result of Professor Trowbridge's experiments with lightning has been made known. Professor Trowbridge has demonstrated that a flash of lightning meets with no greater resistance in passing through two miles of air than through two feet of the same matter. This is exactly contrary to Ohms' law that the resistance of a current of electricity is proportionate to the distance traversed in its bearing to air as a conductor.

Paid Under Protest.

South Norwalk, Conn., March 23.—Acting upon the advice of counsel, the selectmen of Norwalk have paid, under protest, the disputed tax claim of $447, brought by Fairfield county on an alleged claim due from the town of Norwalk on the last county tax. Two jewelry stores were attached by the county commissioners to recover the claim, it being held that each property holder is responsible for all debts of the town.

$20,000 For Breach of Promise.

Boston, March 23. — The breach of promise suit of Miss Josephine A. De Rosay of Cambridge against John F. O'Brien, the wealthy florist of this city, has been settled out of court. The plaintiff sued for $100,000 damages, and made William McKenney, O'Brien's father-in-law, a party to the action. Miss De Rosay gets $20,000.

Fined For Spitting In Street Car.

New London, Conn., March 23.—James Elliot, Jr., paid a fine of $3 and costs, amounting to $15, in the police court for violating an ordinance recently passed by the city council relative to expectorating on the floors of street cars. This was the first arrest under the new ordinance.

Suspended For Hazing.

Brunswick, Me., March 23.—Twenty-one members of the sophomore class at the Bowdoin were suspended yesterday by President Hyde for implication in a hazing affair which took place last Friday night. There is great excitement in the college over the affair.

Dr. Moore's Application For Rehearing.

Concord, N. H., March 23.—An application for a rehearing of the case of Dr. J. C. Moore, in which an adverse decision was rendered by the full bench of the supreme court here recently, has been filed with Chief Justice Carpenter by Moore's counsel.

WOMANKIN ON A WHEEL.

How an Artist Took a Lay Figure Home of a Bicycle.

"Talking about queer sights," said a man to a reporter, "the freakiest one I ever saw was on view in Niagara square for a few minutes the other day. An artist friend of mine, who was painting a large mural decoration, had occasion to use a lay figure on which to drape the costume used in the picture. I know of only one life size manikin—or, to become accurate, womankin—in Buffalo, and my friend borrowed it and had it carted to his studio.

"When the painting was completed and the figure was no longer needed, the artist proceeded to cast about for an easy method of returning his 100 pound fair but inanimate Trilby. The bicycle suggested itself as the least laborious way of transporting the figure over the two or three blocks intervening between the artist's studio and the owner's home. Accordingly, Miss Manikin was mounted on the wheel, and my friend began the strange journey.

"The entrance of this queer apparition upon Niagara square gave the uninitiated pedestrians a paralytic shock. Young men and maidens paused and gasped for breath, old ladies covered their faces with hands and fled, while nice, white whiskered old gentlemen rubbed their eyes and pinched themselves to ascertain if they were really there. I doubt whether those astonished Buffalonians will ever fully decide whether the thing was a latter day Lady Godiva or a Court street living picture divinity learning to ride the bike. I am not certain that my picture making friend—who is a most solemn devotee of his art—thoroughly enjoyed the sensation which he thoughtlessly caused."—Buffalo Courier.

Queer Cycle For Tourists.

William de Witt of Santa Barbara, a woodcarver and inventor, has studied up and put together a wheel which he holds is an improvement on any of the cycle family yet turned out to skim the road.

The Omega, as he calls it, has two large wheels of any diameter chosen running side by side, about two feet apart, with a small steering wheel in front, also with a small wheel behind it. By a peculiar device, not yet made known, the rear wheel also acts as a brake, which can be operated by a slight change of position on the part of the rider.

One of the large wheels revolves on ball bearings, like the bicycle, and its mate revolves with its axle. Consequently power need only be applied to one wheel, the inventor claiming that by this contrivance the force necessary to drive the machine may be lessened about one-half.

Mr. de Witt claims that the Omega will cover by easy work one mile with 150 power motions, or about 20 miles an hour on a good country road. If necessary for a burst of speed or climbing a hill, both riders can drive the machine, one by hand and the other by foot power.

It can be brought to a standstill on any grade, and, being somewhat like a tricycle, stands upright when stationary.—San Francisco Call.

A Railroad Bicycle.

A railroad bicycle has been placed on the market by a Kalamazoo firm. The machine is constructed throughout quite like an ordinary bicycle. The wheels are, of course, flanged and fitted with soft cushion tires, one-third of an inch thick and 5 wide, which cause the wheels to run noiselessly over the rails. One advantage is that the rider can hear approaching trains from either side. There is no jar, and owing to the smooth track surface very high gears can be used. A good rider can average a speed of 35 miles an hour on a long run on this machine with ease. A hub brake with which this wheel is equipped makes such a high rate of speed safe.—New York Sun.

Cause of Squeaks.

Squeaks may arise from the friction of the springs of the saddle. Oiling will stop this. But as it is difficult to locate the exact position of the springs so affected the simplest plan is to oil every part where there is the slightest possibility of friction. Sometimes a squeak is due to the slow grinding loose of the nuts, or one of them, which secure the saddle to its support. It is well to try these now and then and give them an extra turn which will render them more secure and should stop squeaking in that quarter.—New York Press.

Testing the Tire.

A good way to test a tire—and every tire should be tested at least once a week by those accustomed to take long runs—is to fill a bathtub about one-third full of water, detach the tire from the rim and immerse it, inflated in the water. The slightest possible leak will make itself apparent by the bubbles on the surface of the water. In this way all possible risk of departing from home on a long trip with a leaky tire is obviated.—New York Press.

Wheels Given Away.

The time has not yet arrived when a bicycle may be secured as a bonus with a pound of tea, but things are rapidly drifting that way. A grocer in Cincinnati offers to present a bicycle with each 78 pounds of tea and 48 pounds of baking soda purchased from him. It is not stated, however, what the bicycles are like or what the unfortunate customers are expected to do with the baking soda.—New York Advertiser.

Opened a Cycle Stable.

The cycling craze did not strike Redwood Falls, Minn., until last summer, but in August the riders pooled their ready cash, purchased a stock of wheels and opened a cycle stable. This proved a profitable venture, the boys realizing in rentals more than twice the amount originally invested, besides selling 20 high grade wheels.—Exchange.

IN THE SPRING.

Puritana Is the Safest and Surest Remedy.

THE universal custom of taking a spring remedy is founded on a natural instinct implanted in us for our own good.

The heat-producing foods of winter leave the system clogged. Confinement in warm rooms, with lack of outdoor exercise, makes all the organs weak and torpid. Those who neglect to use a remedy or fail to get the right one are inviting serious troubles. Most chronic diseases start in the spring. The end of winter finds thousands with such symptoms as these: A general unfitness for work with either head or hands. A worn-out, tired-out feeling that cannot be overcome. There is sleeplessness, or restless sleep. Numbness of hands or feet. A sence of pressure in the head, with a feeling of gloom or despondency. There may be fluttering or palpitation of the heart. Frequently a pain in the heart or under the left shoulder. There may be rushes of blood to the head, or throbbing in the ears at times.

Kidney and liver troubles may be looked for if your digestion has not been perfect. There is fulness or pain in the right side, or pain under the right shoulder. Distaste for food, with nausea in the morning. Complexion is blotched or sallow. Tongue is coated or mouth foul. There is a dull, sleepy feeling, with disinclination to breathe deeply. If the kidneys are in danger there will be pain, weakness, or soreness in small of back, and perhaps occasional sharp pains. Urine is scanty, high colored, and on standing becomes cloudy, or deposits a red sediment. There are apt to be frequent headaches. Sores and skin eruptions frequently come.

All these various symptoms are common to spring, and show that the vital organs need renovating and prompt repair. Bright's disease, jaundice, rheumatism, and heart troubles start from just such conditions as these. No two persons will have the same set of symptoms, but any of those enumerated are important. The organs must be strengthened and repaired. Repair can only come through active digestion, and Puritana is the remedy to rely on. It will vitalize the entire body and give you a spring of buoyant, vigorous health. Clear complexion, sharp appetite, and the power to do things, is the sure reward of taking Puritana.

NO SUBSTITUTE BILL.

Democratic Minority Report on Dingley Bill Presented to House.

Says Protection Gives Money to Favored Few.

Surplus Leads to Extravagant Expenditures by Congress.

Washington, March 23.—The minority report of the Democratic members of the ways and means committee, on the new tariff bill, was presented to the house at last night's session by Congressman Bailey. It follows:

CONGRESSMAN BAILEY.

"This bill was framed with the avowed purpose of protecting the manufacturers of the United States against foreign competition, and it is perfectly obvious that if it accomplishes that purpose it must result in compelling the consumers of this country to pay more for their manufactured goods, and for this reason we think it should not pass. We rest our opposition upon the broad principle that congress was invested with the power of taxation as a means of collecting from each citizen his fair proportion toward the support of the government, and that it is a gross perversion of that sovereign power to employ as a means of enabling a favored class to levy unjust charges upon the great body of the people. We believe that after contributing his proper share toward the maintenance of the government every citizen of this republic is entitled to the full possession and enjoyment of all he can honestly earn, and we deny the right of congress to make or enforce any regulation which requires one man to give any part of his honest earnings toward encouraging the enterprise or the fortune of another.

Bounties Eliminated.

"No man, however blind he may be, would defend a system of taxation under which the government first collected the money and afterward distributed it among its favorites. It is true that the tariff act of 1890 ventured to this extent in dealing with the sugar growers, but the disapproval of that policy was so overwhelming and so bitter that the advocates of protection have been forced to abandon it, and they have not dared to incorporate any provision for a direct bounty in the present bill. We are unable, however, to perceive any difference in principle between a law which requires the government to collect the money and distribute it among the protected industries and a law which enables these industries to collect the money directly from the people. If the government has the right to levy taxes upon the people for the purpose of inducing men to establish unprofitable industries or industries which can only be made profitable by compelling the consumers of the United States to pay exorbitant prices for their products, then the bounty system is a more direct and less complex way of attaining that end, and at least has the advantage of directness and simplicity.

"The majority of the committee seem to think that the taxation can be made a blessing, and that the support of the government, instead of being a burden upon taxpayers, can be made to enrich them. If this opinion is well founded, then all the struggles for freedom which have revolved around the question of taxation have proceeded upon a false theory, and the American colonists, when they determined that they would not submit to taxation without representation, indulged in mistaken zeal for liberty. The patriotic resolve of our forefathers not to use goods upon which Great Britain had laid an import duty was wrong if the argument for protection is right, because according to that argument the British importers were really paying the tax over which the American colonists went to war.

Encourages Lavish Expenditures.

Under the heading, "The bill encourages extravagance," Mr. Bailey says:

"It follows as a matter of course that a bill based upon a vicious principle must be injurious in its effects, and perhaps no effect could be more pernicious than the extravagance which the bill encourages. The tabulated statement embraced in the report of the committee shows that the bill is expected to raise $113,000,000 more revenue than was collected in customs duties during the last fiscal year, and yet, as is shown by the same report, the difference between the government receipts and disbursements during that year was only $35,000,000. It is well known that the importations of last year were smaller than usual, owing to the general depression that existed in all circles, but even supposing that importations hereafter can be kept at a level with the importations of 1896, the bill will collect from the people more than $90,000,000 annually above the requirements of our present extravagant and wasteful appropriations.

"It may be, however, that the majority should not be arraigned for their open encouragement of extravagance, because it cannot be surprising that gentlemen who think that taxes are not a burden should feel that money derived from taxation ought to be lavishly spent. Nothing could better illustrate the vice of the protective system than the fact that there flows from it as a direct consequence the habit of treating the expenditure of public money as a benefit rather than as a burden to the people. It would be cause enough for complaint if the burden were the only result of the extravagance, but in a free government extravagance breeds tendencies of the most pernicious characters. It not only teaches the people to look to the government for the promotion of all kinds of enterprises, whether for pleasure or for profit, but it makes them impatient against public servants who believe in economy, and who believe that public moneys are a trust fund to be jealously guarded.

Surplus More Dangerous Than Standing Army.

"President Jackson hardly overstated the danger of a surplus when he declared that it was more dangerous than a standing army, and yet, dangerous as a surplus is, it is not so dangerous as the extravagance which is always resorted to in order to prevent its accumulation. It cannot be forgotten that many of those who now advocate a high tariff and defend the extravagance which it engenders did not hesitate to denounce the administration of President Buchanan because in its last year the appropriations exceeded the sum of $60,000,000. Our population at that time was nearly half what it is today, and if the government were now properly and frugally administered our expenditures, including liberal pensions for the soldiers of the late war, ought not to, and would not, exceed the sum of $350,000,000.

"The friends of the protective system know that to keep the taxes high they must find some way of spending the money which has been collected. It is therefore the inevitable consequence of collecting more than is proper that improper ways should be devised for spending it. The extravagance which necessitate the billion-dollar appropriations which have become such a scandal upon congress, had its origin in the unjust system of levying taxes for the purpose of enabling private interests to prey upon the public through the favoritism of the law."

In Aid of Trusts.

"The bill fosters trusts" is another headline, which is explained as follows:

"If the system of unnecessary taxation is indefensible because of the extravagance which it encourages it is still more so on account of the trusts which it fosters and promotes. It is not more certain that protection encourages extravagance than it is that it breeds unlawful combinations of capital. Indeed, protection is justified upon the avowed theory that competition should be restricted. True enough it assumes the patriotic pretense that foreign competition ought not to be permitted against our home industries, but they little understand the selfishness of human nature, and especially they little understand the selfishness of the human nature which relies upon the favoritism of the law to increase its fortunes who suppose that these men, having secured themselves against foreign competition by the favor of congress, will fail to secure themselves against domestic competition by voluntary combinations among themselves.

"It is an old adage, and it is as true as it is old, that 'competition is the life of trade,' and whatever tends to restrict competition must tend to restrict trade. The majority of the committee seem to think it an easy matter for us to build a tariff wall about our borders and thus prevent the foreigners from trading with us, but they forget that the same wall which shuts the foreigners out shuts us in, and that regulations to prevent the foreigner from trading with us must at the same time prevent us from trading with the foreigner.

"We believe in the principle of competition, and we believe that the people of the United States can successfully compete against all other people of the world, and we denounce as a crime against the best interests of our people any law which leaves the consumers of this land subject to the exactions of reckless and corrupt combinations formed to destroy competition and control prices."

Labor and the Dingley Bill.

"The report of the committee on ways and means is singularly silent upon the old pretext that these high taxes are imposed for the benefit of American labor and the silence may be taken as conceding the Democratic contention that the intelligence and skill of the American factory operative are all the protection which he needs or desires. The labor argument of the protectionists can be reduced to an absurdity, which makes it amazing that it should ever have been seriously advanced. To say in one breath that the welfare of labor depends upon its wages, and that its wages in turn depend upon its skill and intelligence, and in the next breath to say that the very intelligent and highly skilled laborers of this country cannot successfully compete with the ignorant and unskilled laborers of the Old World, is equivalent to saying that skill and intelligence are not of great advantage to the laborers who possess them.

"To our minds it involves a contradiction in history as well as in economic theory to hold that the factory labor of a civilized country needs protection against the factory labor of an uncivilized country. The fact that the unskilled laborers of a half civilized country live more cheaply than the skilled laborers of a highly civilized country is more than counterbalanced by the greater productiveness of the skilled and intelligent laborer. If this view of the question needed further support than the mere statement of it, it can be found in those excellent works which assert that the skill and intelligence of the American laborer are such that he is able to produce seven times as much as the less skilful and less intelligent laborer of continental Europe, and 15 times as much as the ignorant and unskilled laborers of Asia. Surely it will be admitted that a productive capacity seven times as great as the one and 15 times as great as the other should be all that the American laborer needs to protect himself against the competition of European and Asiatic serfs."

No Time to Prepare Substitute.

"We are unable to offer a substitute for the pending bill, because we have not been allowed a reasonable time to prepare one. Congress convened in extraordinary session on Monday, March 15, and this bill was introduced the same day and referred to the committee on ways and means, which met the next morning, and on Thursday it was ordered to be reported to the house. The majority of the committee had spent the three months of the last session of the last congress in preparation of their bill, and yet they refused to allow the minority three weeks in which to prepare a substitute. We are unwilling to propose a measure that has not been carefully matured, and we must therefore content ourselves with protesting against the passage of the committee's bill."

Ill-health is the "Sword of Damocles" that hangs suspended by a slender thread above the heads of thousands of men. In the end-of-the-century rush and crush, men forget and neglect everything but money-getting. They forget that the facility for money-getting is in the long run dependent upon a sound mind in a sound body. The man who is too busy with his business to spare a moment to look after his health, will eventually lose both health and business. A man may be in too big a hurry. The man who would be permanently successful should take time to eat, time to digest his food, time to sleep, and time to look after the most precious endowment—his health.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best-known medicine for the overworked man or woman. It keeps the system toned up. It makes the digestion perfect, the appetite keen, and the bowels regular. It makes blood—pure, rich, life-giving blood—and lots of it. It builds flesh and muscle. It invigorates the nerves. Thousands have testified to the benefits derived from its use. Druggists sell it.

"I have used quite a number of bottles of your medicines and have received a great deal of benefit from them," writes Urban Howell, Esq., of Tallmanville, Wayne Co., Pa. "In 1880 I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and it cured me of the salt-rheum so that it did not break out again."

"The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" is a well named book. It is all that its title implies. It has proved a daily help in over a million families. RHEUMATISM

THE EXPERIENCE OF A COUNTY JUDGE

The Honorable J. F. Greer, one of the best known and most highly respected county Judges of the State of Florida, writes of his horrible sufferings from Inflammatory Rheumatism:

OFFICE OF J. F. GREER, COUNTY JUDGE, Green Cove Springs, Clay Co., Fla.

GENTLEMEN: Twenty-three years ago I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism. I was attended by the most eminent physicians in the land. I visited the great Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the noted Hot Springs of Arkansas, and many other watering places, always consulting with the local physicians for directions, and finally came to Florida, ten years ago. About two years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, was confined to my room for twelve weeks, and during that time was induced to try P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, knowing that each ingredient was good for impurities of the blood. After using two small bottles I was relieved. At four different times since I have had slight attacks and each time I have taken two small bottles of P. P. P., and have been relieved, and I consider P. P. P. the best medicine of its kind.

Respectfully, J. F. GREER.

James M. Newton, of Aberdeen, Ohio, says he bought a bottle of P. P. P. at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and it did him more good than three months' treatment at Hot Springs.

Rheumatism, as well as sciatica and gout, is cured by a course of P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is a friend indeed to weak women. It is a positive and speedy cure for general weakness and nervousness.

All skin diseases are cured by it; anything from pimples to the worst cases of eczemas succumbing to the wonderful healing powers of P. P. P.

Dyspepsia and indigestion in their worst form are cured by it. As a tonic to restore the appetite and to regain lost vigor, it is simply marvelous.

P. P. P. is the best spring medicine in the world. It removes that heavy, out-of-sorts feeling and restores you to a condition of perfect physical health.

For Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Headache, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Heart Failure, Fever, Chills, Debility and Kidney Diseases, take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, the most wonderful medicine in the world

BURNED IN A CLOSET.

Horrible Death of Mrs. James Hennessy of Providence.

Her Husband Under Arrest on Suspicion.

Police Think Woman Was Choked to Death and Her Clothing Set Afire.

Providence, March 24.—The discovery of the police at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon of the burned body of Mrs. Honorah Hennessy in the closet of her tenement on Try street has kept a large detachment of officers and detectives very busy.

Hennessy is now under arrest on suspicion of being the murderer by reason of accusations of two sisters of the dead woman—Nellie and Mary McCardin—who live in the tenement on the same floor.

The story told of the relations existing between the Hennessys and the two sisters was to the effect that months ago they had a falling out, and it grew so bitter that visits and even conversation between them ceased altogether. James Hennessy was usually quite steady at his work, but occasionally drank a little too much, yet there does not appear to be any reason to suppose that his treatment of Mrs. Hennessy was abusive. The two sisters, in accusing Hennessy of murdering his wife, give accounts of circumstances attending his actions yesterday.

Nellie McCardin says that Hennessy returned home between 12 and 1 o'clock. Soon after she went down stairs to take in some washing. On returning up stairs she was badly frightened at hearing frightful screams coming from the Hennessy tenement, screams, she says, which made her faint and sick. The screams stopped and she went into her room, remarking at the time to her sister, Mary, that there was no pleasure in married life if one is to be used in that way. There was no further noise from the Hennessy tenement, and Nellie began her ironing. About 20 minutes later she says she heard Hennessy go down stairs. About the same time Mary asked her if the ironing was being scorched, as there was a distinct odor of burning clothing, but the ironing was all right, and although the tenement was looked through no trace of anything burning was found. The odor was frightfully nauseating, and it continued for some time.

About 6 o'clock Hennessy was heard to come in and open his door. Then he rushed across the hall, saying three times, "What will I do," and then he called the sisters to go into his tenement.

Nellie says she went into the room and found Mrs. Hennessy dead and fearfully burned about the body, the clothing having been eaten by the flames so that the skin had roasted until it had burst. She further says that the body was wedged in between the flour barrel and the wainscotting in a four-foot closet off the kitchen. The body was pressed into the small space in such a manner as to give the appearance of having been crowded in there by main force. One leg was doubled up under the body in an unnatural position.

Mr. Hennessy went for the police, and the ambulance and morgue wagon responded. The body went to the morgue. The police began to interview the McCardin girls and the husband, and when the former had told their story Detectives Merrill and Nickerson took Hennessy over to the central police station.

The police have given out a story of their interview with Mr. Hennessy. He claims to have had no trouble with his wife, and on leaving home left her taking hot water off the stove with which to wash the dishes. He says he knew nothing of the affair until he returned. It is stated that Hennessy spent his afternoon in two saloons in the neighborhood, and the police claim that facts do not bear out Hennessy's explanations; that there had been no fire in the stove for many hours, or even a dish pan set for hot water. The medical examiner, when he viewed the body, said that Mrs. Hennessy had been dead four or five hours, and that from her protruding tongue it appeared that she had been brutally choked. An autopsy will be held today.

Mrs. Hennessy was the second wif of James Hennessy, and they had been married about 15 years. They had no children.

THE MARSH CASE.

Evidence Presented to Show That Deceased Was Poisoned.

Montpelier, Vt., March 24.—In the Marsh poisoning case yesterday James C. Houghton, vice president of the National Life Insurance company of this city, testified regarding the handwriting, and identified the notes written by Marsh to Buzzell. Dr. J. H. Lindslay of Burlington, the medical expert who conducted the post mortem examination, gave as his opinion that Marsh died of arsenical poisoning. The testimony was technical.

Professor E. J. Bartlett of Dartmouth college, the chemist who examined the stomach and other organs, also testified regarding the presence of arsenic in the stomach. The mother of Marsh, a lady 83 years old, testified as to the criminal relations between Mrs. Marsh and Buzzell. The old lady was so feeble that she had to be assisted to the witness chair.

What Might Have Been a Fatal Wreck of Express Train at Chicopee.

Springfield, Mass., March 24. — The Montreal express was wrecked last night just north of the Chicopee Junction depot by running into four freight cars which were standing on the main track. The train was running 30 miles an hour, when it crashed into the freight cars. The engine crashed into the rear freight car with such force that the car was completely telescoped and the engine penetrated several feet into the second car.

A flying timber from the wreck struck Engineer Brennan in the head. He was knocked bleeding and nearly senseless to the floor of the cab. Fireman Hoffman managed to dodge the flying timbers and escaped without injury. As soon as possible he reversed the engine and the train finally came to a stop near the Chicopee street crossing, about 600 yards north of where the collision occurred.

The injured are Engineer John Brennan of Windsor, Vt., severely cut and bruised about the head, and probably internally injured; Dr. J. Owen of New York city, severe internal injuries caused by violently colliding with a seat in the smoking car; Postal Clerk W. R. Simonds, bruised about the head, but not seriously injured.

A special train was made up as soon as possible, but it was nearly midnight before the passengers were finally transferred and started north.

Will Adjourn Friday Noon.

Concord, N. H., March 24.—In the legislature yesterday, Friday next at noon was fixed as the hour of final adjournment of the present session. The house passed the appropriations of $100,000 for the new buildings at the New Hampshire asylum for the insane; $5000 a year for two years for Dartmouth college; $300 for the care of battle flags in the state house, and lesser sums for buoys in Squam lake, for a bridge in Hart's location, and for continuing the work of indexing the records in the office of the secretary of state. The house also passed the bill restricting the expenditures of the state commission of lunacy to $16,000 a year. The house concurred in the senate resolution instructing the forestry commission to report to the next legislature upon the advisability of establishing a White Mountain park and forest preserve, but killed the senate bill providing for the attendance of the attorney general at legislative hearings, and the senate bill abolishing the office of regimental inspector of rifle practice.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, March 24.—In the senate yesterday an attempt to have the state forestry survey bill reconsidered failed, and the ways and means committee report favored cuting down the amount reported for the State Normal school at Lowell from $20,000 to $17,500. The house debated at length the bill relative to the running of steamboats on the Lord's day.

The senate killed the bill to restrict the incorporation of trust companies to a capital of not less than $500,000, except in cities of less than 100,000, where it may be $250,000. The house passed the bill allowing the running of steamboats on Sundays. The committee on metropolitan affairs and harbors and public lands want to see the New York docks, and an order to allow them to visit that city was introduced in the house. The committee on railroads received a bill from the sub-committee appointed to draft it, allowing the Hudson River and Berkshire Railroad company to extend their tracks into Massachusetts from New York state.

Nashua Takes Up Water Question.

Nashua, N. H., March 24.—The city council has appointed a committee to inquire into the question of the purchase by the city of the Pennichuck waterworks, a plant which is valued at $1,000,000. This action will be taken in pursuance of rights granted by the legislature of 1873. It is a move which will be of much benefit to the city in the future. The committee will consist, when completed, of the mayor, one alderman, one councilman and two citizens from outside the city council. If the plant is purchased or another built the debt created for the purpose of paying for the work will be covered by the issue of water bonds, regarded in all the markets as gilt-edged stock. Already there are signs of a vigorous opposition by the water company.

THE PORTE'S PROPOSAL

Prince George of Greece May Be Appointed Governor of Crete.

Over One Hundred Armenians Slain at Tokat.

Report That Great Britain Refuses to Participate in Blockade.

London, March 24.—The Morning Leader gives prominence to a private telegram from Paris declaring that the powers have accepted a proposal made by the sultan that King George of Greece shall occupy and administer the government of Crete, Turkey reserving her imperial rights in the island. The proposal, the telegram adds, provides that King George shall nominate a high commissioner for the island.

The Chronicle makes an announcement similar to the telegram published by the Morning Leader, but under reserve. Nevertheless, it expresses some belief in the general correspondence of the report with the facts. It is stated that the King of Greece will nominate his son, Prince George, as high commissioner. It is understood that the matter was discussed at the cabinet meeting yesterday.

The Chronicle's Athens correspondent says that the Greek government has learned from its own official sources that Great Britain refuses to take part in a blockade of Greece, though she has no objection to such a measure being taken by the other powers.

The government also learns from similar sources that the admirals of the international fleet in Cretan waters have informed their respective governments that their position is no longer tenable, and that they must receive definite instructions or be recalled.

Blockade Proclamation.

The proclamation of blockade consists of seven articles. The first provides that no neutral vessel nor any vessel belonging to one of the six powers shall be allowed to land stores except at ports occupied by the powers. The second provides that no armed person, and no person of Greek nationality, armed or unarmed, shall be allowed to land without the authority of the senior naval officer on the station. The remaining articles fix the blockade limits and state the conditions under which vessels are to be searched. By the terms of the sixth article Greek ships found within the blockade limits will be treated as hostile vessels. By the seventh any Greek torpedo boats observed within the limits of the blockade will be fired upon as soon as they come within range of the international fleet.

The proclamation makes no allusion to exports, but as two British ships which have been loading at Canea have been forbidden to leave, the presumption is that they also are debarred by the conditions of the blockade. The shippers controlling these vessels have lodged a formal protest against the prohibition as unjust and arbitrary.

The Daily Mail publishes a dispatch from Braila, Roumania, which says that the Russian volunteer fleet has been ordered to concentrate itself in the ports of the Black sea nearest Constantinople, and to hold itself in readiness to sail. The Russian army corps, which has been stationed in the province of Bessarabia, is now moving toward Odessa.

The Times correspondent at Paris calls attention to the article in the French constitution which debars the president of the French republic from declaring war without the assent of parliament, and says:

Europe must be prepared for the withdrawal of France from the European concert in the event that the Cretan difficulty should require more severe measures than the chamber of deputies will sanction.

A dispatch to The Times from Vienna says that both Turkey and Greece have promised the powers not to be the aggressor. At Salonica the officials do not conceal their belief in the probability of war. They are enthusiastic, but not fanatical. The work of mobilization proceeds rapidly, and the railway service has been well organized.

The Times' correspondent at Athens says a telegram was received there last night from Constantinople asserting that the Turkish army had been strictly enjoined not to cross the frontier into Greek territory, even if attacked.

Armenian Massacre.

Constantinople, March 24.—In consequence of the troubles at Tokat, in the Sivas district of Anatolia, Sir Philip Currie, British ambassador, has sent to the porte the strongest remonstrance that has yet been addressed to the government in an official communication.

The official report on the affair said that 15 Armenians and three Mussulmans were killed, but the embassies have received reliable information that fully 100 Armenians were massacred. The people were killed while in church.

During and after the massacre the Armenian quarter of the city was given over to pillage.

QUINCY BREVITIES.

Notes from Quincy Point, Wollaston, Atlantic, South and West Quincy.

A rainy day.

No school today because of the storm.

Fires have been of unfrequent occurrence of late.

The Board of Trade banquet was a success.

Work on moving the Wollaston M. E. church is progressing.

E. W. H. Bass, the Overseer of the Poor, is again suffering from the grip.

Ethel, the daughter of Benjamin J. Weeks, has been ill for a week with the grip.

Ex-Chief Ripley was among the early arrivals at the fire at Wollaston Park last night.

The heavy rain today ought to remove what little snow there was left on the ground.

Mrs. Warren B. Stetson of Middleboro, and Miss King of Plymouth are visiting Mrs. H. C. Studley.

Quincy was largely represented at the funeral of Samuel A. Bates at Braintree Tuesday afternoon.

Chief Engineer Williams of Quincy witnessed the trial of the horseless fire engine in Boston on Tuesday.

Julius Johnson started the cellar for another house on Cranch street this week. This makes five now under way.

Rumor has it that the new Superintendent of streets at Milton will be Councilman Theodore Parker of Atlantic.

Mr. Charles B. Dickey of Wollaston, who has for some time been a resident of Portland, has been in town this week.

There seems to be some delay in the arrival of the prisoners' cage at the District court. It was expected here two weeks ago.

One game in the City bowling league was played Tuesday evening, when the Shermans rolled up 2526, to 2391 for the South Bostons.

The Unity Circle of King's Daughters will give an entertainment with candy sale in Bethany Congregational Chapel this evening at 7.30. Tickets 15 cents.

A two-men team big pin tournament for amateurs will begin at Costello's alley next Monday and continue four days. Prizes to the value of $50 will be distributed.

C. F. Derby, the dealer in clothing, will occupy the large new store in the Savings bank building. It is roomy and well lighted, and will allow a good display of clothing.

The regular meeting of the Hospital Aid Association will be held Thursday, at 3 P. M., in the room of the Granite Manufacturers' association in Durgin & Merrill's block, Hancock street.

The locomotive on the special Fall River freight train which reached Wollaston at 8.40 on Tuesday evening had a rocker on the right side give way, necessitating a delay of 45 minutes before repairs could be made so as to enable the engine to proceed.

The Board of Managers of Public Burial Places are cut up over their treatment by the special committee of the City Council. The members say they were requested to appear and then refused admission. After their arrival they were further told to wait, and it was only by accident they learned of the adjournment.

Miss Flora Underwood and Miss Brewer gave recently one of the most delightful matinee whists ever given in Quincy. There were sixteen ladies present. Miss Whitney took the first prize, which was a lovely jewel case; Mrs. J. C. Morse the second prize, a book. A delicious spread was served; after which the ladies were agreeably entertained with some very fine singing by one of the company.

The Future of Quincy Discussed at the Annual Banquet of the Board of Trade.

New life was enthused into the Quincy Board of Trade Tuesday evening when the association held a good banquet in Gill hall in the new Savings Bank building. The attractive and cosy new hall was just large enough for the party, which numbered about one hundred, and everything conduced to make it a happy and profitable occasion.

While the members and guests were assembling, popular music was furnished by Messrs. Hanson and Wilson on violin and piano, and they also gave selections during the banquet. Nash was the caterer and he gave an excellent spread, the menu being as follows:

ROASTS.
Roast Young Turkey, Cranberry Sauce.
Roast Duck, Wine Jelly.
Fillet of Beef, Mushroom.
VEGETABLES.
Browned Mashed Potatoes, French Peas.

The speaking began about 7.20. President Adams spoke briefly, saying in opening that we all want to do what we can for Quincy. We meet tonight to talk over its possibilities.

Theophilus King

Was first introduced to speak on "The Granite Industry." He opened facetiously as to his knowledge of granite acquired when a boy. Later he became a director and president of the Old Stone bank and became acquainted with the granite manufacturers. There was easily then a fair profit because Quincy granite was what it was. But since then other granites had been introduced. The mistake of our manufacturers was that they failed to stand up for the fact that Quincy was the only place where granite of the quality of Quincy could be found. Experts acknowledged Quincy to be superior. No other stone had the endurance. Because there was more margin in others was a reason why they were often recommended.

We should study to prevent the large waste in Quincy quarries. Manufacturers should put themselves in a position to handle the product. The railroad at West Quincy was a great thing, and one was needed at the North Common, which should be built right away. Quincy people are interested in it as it will develop business. It was of vital importance to the city. We must secure the minimum of expense and the maximum of profit. He knew of only one model plant in Quincy, the Lyons Granite Co. We should do away with carting from quarry to shed and to the polishing mills by having railroads run into our quarries.

The Granite bank has endeavored to do all it can for the granite manufacturers, but poor bills were accumulating. There was need of concentration.

Mr. King gave figures to prove what one man put at work on granite meant for the city; how it supported others, sold house lots, etc., and was enthusiastically applauded as he took a seat.

The encore brought forth a story in the same line of thought.

Hon. W. B. Rice

Was introduced as a leader of thought to speak on Boards of Trade. He professed not to be an expert on the subject, but his listeners did not put as much stock in that as in the remarks which followed. He said the trades of Boston were thoroughly organized and the Associated Board of Trade, which met monthly, had a greater power in legislation than any other association. There was also a national board of trade which met annual at Washington.

It was not the work of the Boston Board of Trade to bring in new industries only in a general way. They were interested in transportation, and as a board received courteous treatment from railroads where single firms could not accomplish anything. He personally had been solicited several times to establish shoe factories in different towns and offered every inducement. There were monuments in many towns of this folly. His experience was that any business which has to be bought was not worth buying. (Applause.) The best business was a growth. It was absurd to go outside for business. Quincy men were capable of making business. He would have the Quincy granite work of a superior quality and would be glad when he could say the granite workmen of Quincy were the most skilful.

The entrance of Mayor Quincy of Boston at this point was the occasion for a grand demonstration.

Continuing Mr. Rice said our nearness to Boston was a great factor in building up Quincy. We must make the city a desirable place for homes. For this we need ample and good transportation, but it was a fact that our railroad facilities were not as good as fifteen years ago. We must have as good or better than suburban towns to attract people. Quincy has natural attractions, the seashore and inland. We need broad boulevards pointed to Boston, and now is the time to at least lay them out and secure the land. There should be reservations in the centre of each boulevard for street railways, and the railways ought to contribute enough to pay the interest on the cost.

Mr. Rice said he was aware of the argument because of the expense, but said the way to get returns was to make judicious expenditures. Taxes may be higher but we will enjoy more privileges. Quincy was not a place to attract wealthy men, but we want the young energetic men who will come here and become wealthy.

He had the greatest sympathy for the young and struggling concerns. It was from them that the large firms came. Let the granite industry strive to turn out artistic work and there will be a demand for it.

Hon. Josiah Quincy,

the Mayor of Boston, was introduced as one who had done honor to our city in a larger sphere.

Mayor Quincy said he was glad to address Quincy people again and felt perfectly at home. He was asked to consider the subject of the future growth and prosperity of Quincy, and he would take wide and comprehensive views. The granite business of Quincy has been in a sense its strength as it furnished an industry. Also in a sense its weakness, as the city was too dependent on a single industry. It was very important that the artistic quality in granite be developed. He believed it would be done in part. Manufacturers should overcome competition by running off the crude and getting onto the better work. There was a better chance for success on the best work. A gratifying progress had been made in the development of Quincy granite of late.

Many Quincy people depended directly or indirectly upon business carried on in Boston. No unimportant part of the development of Quincy was for suburban residence. While parts of Boston were a rival of Quincy for suburban residence, and he could not advocate Quincy, yet there was room for all and the development of the Metropolitan district added to the business of Boston. He endorsed the boulevard idea and had been pleased to help along the project last year, and hoped to see it successful this year. Boston's policy of opening up wide radial boulevards had resulted very successfully. Those qualified to speak would say so. The greatest mistake was the penny wise and pound foolish policy. It was rather a matter of wise expenditure. The more money invested wisely the greater the prosperity. A study from an engineering standpoint of new streets would result to the advantage of Quincy.

Boards of Trade should take a wide scope. United effort can accomplish much. Boston is distinguished for its organization. There was a work for the Quincy Board of Trade. It would be wise for the city to anticipate the resources of future, in spite of all that is said about running into debt.

President Adams then introduced John L. Miller who is enthusiastic over the organization of a wholesale granite company. He outlined the project already presented to LEDGER readers.

Mr. Rice added encouragement by telling of his own experience with jobbers.

Hon. John F. Merrill spoke in favor of the wholesale company, and Councilman J. Q. A. Field while questioning the ability of the proposed company, urged combination.

Shortly after nine an adjournment was made, when all felt the meeting had been fruitful and a success.

A LIVELY BLAZE.

Stable Damaged and a Horse Burned at Wollaston Park.

The alarm from box 151 at 9.35 o'clock on Tuesday evening was for a fire in a small barn owned by Reuben C. Clark of Braintree and located at Wollaston Park on East Elm avenue near the breakwater.

The origin of the fire was undoubtedly incendiary, as at about 9.20 Mr. Wm. E. Sadlier of East Elm avenue, who keeps a horse and carriage in this barn, happened to look over to the building and saw that it was on fire and had apparently been set under the window. He rushed to the barn door and endeavored to save his horse but was too late as the animal was already suffocated before he got there. He managed, however, to haul out his carriage. His loss will be $75; uninsured.

Stephen A. Cleaves of East Elm avenue had a democrat wagon stored in the stable. His loss will be about $50.

The loss on the building will foot up to about $900.

The fire department did good work, and, notwithstanding the remoteness of the place, actually stopped the fire before it destroyed the building as well as to save the adjoining large house.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Mr. D. A. McPhie, Assistant State Secretary, will speak Sunday at the men's meeting, on "How to Build the Hours of Life." Mr. McPhie will also conduct the Gymnasium Bible class.

The regular boys' meeting is held every Saturday morning at 9.45 in the Association parlor. The special boys' meeting held last Sunday afternoon in the Bethany church was of unusual interest twenty boys remaining to an after meeting and expressing an earnest desire to lead Christian lives.

The date of the concert to be given at Wollaston in the Congregational Church by the Association has been changed to Tuesday evening, April 6.

☞ Furniture moved, stored, repaired, bought or sold at auction or on commission. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

Every American president has had from three to 32 towns named for him. Thirty cities and towns were named after Alexander Hamilton, and there are 30 Clinton, 24 Websters, 20 Bentons, 13 Calhouns, 7 Clays, 19 Quincys, 31 Douglasses and 20 Blains.

On the morning of Feb. 20, 1895, I was sick with rheumatism, and lay in bed until May 21st, when I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application of it relieved me almost entirely from the pain and the second afforded complete relief. In a short time I was able to be up and about again.—A. T. MOREAUX, Luverne, Minn. What Was the Trouble?

Health Broken Down, Heart Troubles, Torpid Liver, Consumption, Rheumatism

Whatever It Was, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured by Its Power as The One True Blood Purifier.

Discouraged people are numerous now — some because of lost business, others because of lost health. All may find fresh inspiration and valuable suggestions in the following:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen: For 12 years I have been a commercial traveller, and owing to the hardships of my life, long railroad jumps, all kinds of exposure, and sudden changes of climate, etc., my health gave way. Physicians did not help me and I was given up to die. My illness developed a

Complication of Diseases.

I was without ambition or appetite. All strength had left me. One doctor said I had heart disease, another torpid liver, a third said it was lung trouble and another consumption, and so on. I have no doubt, symptoms of all these complaints and even that of rheumatism, judging from the stiffness and pains in my joints and legs at times, were manifest. I was unable to attend to business, was confined to my room and frequently lay in a comatose state for hours. I was so feeble, and so little encouragement was offered, that I began to wonder

Where I Would be Buried.

Finally, as a last effort to help myself, I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The effects of a few doses of the medicine seemed almost magical. The depressed feeling left me, and when one bottle had been taken, I had regained an appetite, and strength was coming back. After finishing the third bottle I was able to go about my commercial duties. I continued to improve, and to satisfy my mind that I had fully regained health, I submitted myself to a doctor for examination. He pronounced me 'sound as a dollar.' Three months later, I passed a rigid examination for insurance. I have since been in the best of health, notwithstanding my travels, and I give

All the Credit to Hood's

Sarsaparilla, as each season since I have taken several bottles. It keeps my blood in good circulation, gives me a keen appetite and leaves no room for that tired feeling which naturally finds easy prey among those of my calling in the summer months after an early spring hustle. I consider Hood's Sarsaparilla the means of saving my life, and I gladly speak in its favor." A. J. LEITCH, home address, Cass House, Saginaw, Michigan.

ALL BRAINTREE MOURNED.

The Funeral Services of Samuel A. Bates Largely Attended.

The funeral of the late Samuel A. Bates of Braintree took place in the South Congregational church yesterday afternoon.

The stores were closed during the hour and the schools closed at noon. Flags were placed at half mast from 7.30 A M until sunset. The town officers attended the funeral in a body and the church was filled with those who desired to pay their respects to the deceased townsman. Rev. C. F. H. Crathern read the Scripture and offered prayer, after which Rev. L. B. Hatch delivered a powerful eulogy setting fourth the characteristics of the brother who had gone. The Masons attended in a body and performed the last sad rites over the remains. A delegation of Odd Fellows was also present.

The Æolian Quartette sang "Peace be still," "Remember now thy Creator," and "Nearer My God to Thee."

The bearers were Nelson Mann, Royal Gay, Henry M. French, Isaac Niles, G. T. Breitling, N. E. Buck.

An abundance of flowers surrounded the casket. The remains were placed in the Pond Street cemetery.

Large Whist Parties.

The large whist parties given at Hotel Vendome, Boston, on Tuesday afternoon and evening by the Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution of Quincy, were a great success.

In the afternoon over three hundred ladies were present overflowing the large banquet hall, a section being made up in the parlors also. The first prize awarded was an autograph letter of Mrs. Abigail Adams', incased in glass so that both sides of the sheet could be read. This valuable prize was won by Mrs. George O. Wales of Braintree, a connection of the Adams family, and she will prize the letter more highly because of the relationship.

In the evening only the banquet hall was used being large enough to accommodate the two hundred ladies and gentlemen present. The evening first prize was an autograph letter of John Adams' and again a lady was the winner, the prize going to Mrs. Higgins of Quincy Point. It is peculiar that among all the people playing in the afternoon and evening that the two head prizes should have been won by residents of the birth place of John Adams, but nowhere could they be more appreciated.

Seven more prizes were given and were secured by ladies of Boston and suburbs.

The gowns worn by the ladies in the afternoon were many of them noticeably pretty. Many kept on their bonnets; the groupings of colors filling every part of the hall, presenting a most attractive picture to the lookers on.

In the evening among the handsome costumes, were noticeable those worn by Mrs. James H. Stetson of Quincy and Mrs. Charles F. Withington of Elm Hill, Roxbury.

It is hoped the Chapter has increased its John Adams birthplace fund as they hope this spring to fix up the old house.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

More Stores.

The Quincy Real Estate Trust Co. are about to build another business block upon their property on Hancock street. The new block will be a one story building and will extend from the new stores recently erected by them on the west side of Hancock street to what is known as the Hersey estate. It is said that the old buildings, including the Panton house, will either be moved back or sold and moved away. Work will be commenced immediately and the tenants have been notified of the change to be made.

Save Your Temper.

Probably no small article among the indispensables of modern life causes more annoyance than a poor pen, when writing. Some say they have never yet found a pen to suit them. Our ideal of a pen, is one that seems to glide over the paper without effort, and by its own qualities makes the writing neater and more legible.

Experts in writing say that the Spencerian Co's Pens are the best. Whether this is so, it is not for us to say, but we are informed that those who send return postage to the New York Office, 450 Broome St., will receive samples of several of their different numbers, among which may yet be found that greatly to be desired thing, a pen that does not spoil one's writing and one's temper.

Unexpected Changes at Waltham Watch Factory Startle Workmen.

Waltham, Mass., March 24.—There was a tremendous sensation among the 2000 employes of the Waltham Watch company yesterday, when it became known, through notices posted, that the great factory would close on the afternoon of March 26, for a week, for a re-arrangement of departments, and that all finishing room employes, some 50 in number, would be discharged after that date, to be rehired at the pleasure of the company.

The plan which the company desires to inaugurate in its finishing department is to so apportion the work that it may be divided between men and women. The finishers are the highest paid workmen in the watch business, and as the art is somewhat of a secret, the men have an agreement that the trade shall not be taught to women.

The men who are thus discharged, with practically but three days' notice, claim that the company is desirous of substituting women finishers for men, and that a number of the former have already been secretly taught the trade. A year ago there was trouble between the finishers and the company, but it was settled by agreement, the company making a contract for one year from March 31, 1896.

The men believe that it is to avoid signing another agreement that the change is to be made.

There will be a meeting tomorrow of the finishers to decide upon some plan, but in the meantime, feeling among the other employes is rapidly becoming intense against the proposed change.

Cathedral to Cost $5,000,000.

New York, March 24.—A meeting of the trustees of the Protestant Episcopal cathedral was held yesterday in the see house. Bishop Potter occupied the chair. They discussed the plan for resuming building operations on the cathedral of St. John the Divine, and the trustees directed the proceeding with the construction of the choir at the east end and the portion of the cathedral under and around where the spire is to be. This work will go on immediately. The stone for the interior has been decided on and will come from a quarry purchased in Wisconsin after a careful search here and in foreign countries. The stone for the exterior wall of the cathedral has not as yet been decided on. The exterior of the choir will be in rough stone and pressed brick. The location for the residence of the bishop of the diocese has been determined upon as the southwest corner of the plot. The cathedral contributes the ground, and the building will be erected from a fund for the support of the bishop. The choir and portion near where the spire will be will cost about $1,000,000. For the land $500,000 was paid, and the foundation cost $250,000. The cathedral will probably cost over $5,000,000.

Balloting For United States Senator.

Frankfort, Ky., March 24.—Balloting began yesterday in the legislature for United States senator. In the senate the vote stood: Blackburn (Free Silver Dem.), 14; Hunter (Rep.), 13; Boyle (Rep.), 3; Davie (Sound Money Dem.), 6; total, 36. In the house the vote was as follows: Blackburn, 34; Hunter, 53; Boyle, 3; Davie, 5; McCreary, 1; Buckner, 1; Sloane, 1; necessary to a choice, 70. It is expected that Blackburn will withdraw in favor of Governor Bradley, who, it is believed, would defeat Hunter. Six Republicans have declared against Hunter. Should Governor Bradley become an open candidate the Silver Democrats would vote for him.

Chicago Suburbanites Use Boats.

Chicago, March 24.—Chicago suburbs are having a flood experience. For the second time in 30 years the Desplains river has tossed aside the restraints of banks and of levees, and the flood has stretched its rule over all the lowlands along its course. One third of the residence part of Riverside is under water, and since Sunday boats have been the only means of conveyance possible to inhabitants of the flooded locality.

Banker Stone's Funeral.

Waltham, Mass., March 24.—The most impressive funeral services ever held in this city were those preceding the burial of the late Hon. Frederick N. Stone, president of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust company, which were held in the First Parish Unitarian church yesterday afternoon. The attendance was very large and included some of the most distinguished men of business in New England.

A Beautiful Home Burned.

San Francisco, March 24.—"Ferndale," the handsome residence of the Cohen family at Alameda, burned yesterday, the loss exceeding $300,000. The house was filled with valuable paintings and curios collected in Europe by the late A. A. Cohen, millionaire lawyer and railroad builder. The insurance carried on the building and contents aggregated $145,000.

The Mayflower's Log.

London, March 24.—Upon the recommendation of the Archbishop of Canterbury the original log of the Mayflower, now in the library of Lambeth palace, will be presented to the state of Massachusetts. The matter will have to be approved by the consistorial court, which sits next Thursday, as a matter of form.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

ALMANAC, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 24

FRAUD, HUMBUG, SNARE

Civil Service Roundly Denounced by Several Prominent Senators.

Committee Appointed to Investigate Workings.

Representative Dolliver Speaks at Length on the New Tariff Bill.

Washington, March 24.—A breezy discussion on civil service was precipitated in the senate yesterday by a resolution offered by Mr. Allen in regard to the dismissal of microscopists at Omaha from the bureau of animal industry. An investigation was proposed, the allegation being that the dismissals took place because of the free silver sentiments of the microscopists.

Mr. Allen made a long explanation and declared that these employes had been discharged for no other rason than because they had supported Mr. Bryan and the cause of free silver during the late campaign. He said the civil service commissioners were as great a detriment to the public service as so many tramps or common beggars.

Mr. Gorman of Maryland called attention to the presence in Washington of the horde of hungry place hunters, and expressed profound sympathy with his Republican associates over the restrictions of the civil service system. The discussion came up on a resolution to investigate federal removals at South Omaha, Neb. Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire characterized the civil service system as a humbug, and declared he would be glad to cast his vote to blot out the system. There was continued applause in the galleries at this statement. Mr. Allen of Nebraska called the civil service act a "monumental humbug," and Mr. Wilson (Rep., Wash.) said it was a "humbug, a delusion, a snare and a fraud." Mr. Hawley of Connecticut, while defending the principles of civil service, said its practice had been attended with glaring incompetency. Mr. Stewart of Nevada regarded the civil service commission as an "office brokerage establishment." The Massachusetts senators, Messrs. Hoar and Lodge, defended the law. The resolution directing the civil service committee of the senate to investigate the South Omaha removals was broadened by an amendment instructing the committee to inquire into the general operation of the law and to report whether it should be continued, amended or repealed.

Mr. Turple of Indiana spoke at considerable length in advocacy of the election of United States senators by the popular vote, detailing the uncertainties and frequent scandals attending the present method of choosing senators.

During the day Mr. Berry of Arkansas received a telegram stating that 500 Mississippi river flood sufferers had landed at Helena, Ark. He secured the adoption of a joint resolution for the purchase of 1000 tents for the use of the sufferers. Before adjourning Mr. Hoar had the bankruptcy bill made the unfinished business of the senate, thus giving it the right of way after 2 p. m. daily.

The arbitration treaty did not receive any consideration at the hands of the senate. There was a brief executive session, which was called for taking up the treaty, but when Senator Davis, who has the matter in charge, discovered that Senator Morgan was not prepared to go on with his speech, he moved the reopening of the doors. The supporters of the treaty are hopeful that a vote may be reached soon.

Tariff Debate Continued.

Washington, March 24.—Although several sharp passages at arms somewhat enlivened the tariff debate in the house yesterday, the brilliant speech of Mr. Dolliver of Iowa was distinctly the overshadowing feature of the day. It shone out through the weary monotonous gloom which has so far pervaded the debate like a locomotive headlight in a fog. Mr. Dolliver is a finished orator, and his speech was a masterpiece of forensic eloquence. Replete with wit and glowing periods, it alternately aroused his Republican colleagues to unbounded enthusiasm and convulsed the house with laughter. Mr. Dolliver is quick and adroit in the use of the foil, and the Democrats refrained from interrupting him. Mr. McLaurin, a Democratic member of the ways and means committee from South Carolina, created a mild sensation by boldly proclaiming himself in favor of a duty on cotton, and it was noticeable that when he repudiated the free raw material doctrines of Cleveland and Carlisle, "and those who had prostituted the name of Democracy," fully three-fourths of the Democrats on the floor sustained him with hand and voice. The other speakers during the day session were Mr. Gibson (Rep., Tenn.), Dockery (Dem., Mo.), Newlands (Silver, Nev.), Lacey (Rep., Ia.), Swanson (Dem., Va.), and Cochran (Dem., Mo.).

The night was given over to set speeches. There were not over 40 members on the floor, but the galleries were crowded to the doors. Mr. Howard (Pop., Ala.) delivered a speech reeking with denunciations of capital and charges of corruption and jobbery against all branches of the government. Mr. Sperry (Rep., Conn.), in the course of his speech, presented a petition from the president and faculty of Yale college in favor of placing books on the free list. The other speakers were Messrs. Adamson (Dem., Ga.), Clarey (Dem., Cal.), and Kelly (Pop., S. D.). At 10:30 the house adjourned.

Capital Chat.

The government board of managers of the national home for disabled volunteer soldiers met here yesterday in annual session. Preparatory action was taken for the erection of a new branch home at Danville, Ills., for which an appropriation of $200,000 will become available shortly.

The secretary of the treasury has authorized the collector of customs at Fernandina, Fla., to issue clearance to the suspected filibuster Bermuda, now at that port.

Theodore Swaze of New Jersey has been appointed chief clerk of the treasury department. He held the same position under President Arthur.

President McKinley has granted a ten day's respite to the notorious Borregio gang, under death sentence in New Mexico for murder.

FITZ' PROMISE TO JIM.

Should Champion Ever Re-enter Ring Corbett Will Have First Chance.

San Francisco, March 24. — The first meeting of Corbett and Fitzsimmons since their fight in Carson took place at the Baldwin hotel yesterday. The meeting was friendly, and was marked by exhibitions of good feeling on both sides.

"Hello, Fitz," said Corbett, as he extended his hand, "how are you?"

"First rate, Jim," answered Fitz. "How are you?"

They shook hands cordially.

"I must have another go at you, Fitz," remarked Corbett. "Our fight did not satisfy me, for I can do better, and you know it. I want you to give me first chance."

"I'm not going to fight any more," responded Fitz, "but if I do ever enter the ring again I promise to give you the first fight with me."

"Is that a go, Fitz?" inquired Corbett, anxiously.

"Yes, sir," replied Fitz, "if I fight again you will have the first chance. That goes."

The pugilists shook hands again and Corbett departed, evidently satisfied with the result of the conference.

The Times on Arbitration Amendments.

London, March 24.—The London Times, in a leading editorial this morning, gives expression to anything but a satisfied state of feeling as to the senatorial amendments of the treaty of arbitration. It says: The United States senate has done what optimists affected to believe impossible, and what cooler observers thought extremely probable. It has destroyed the arbitration treaty. The first amendment accepted is alone sufficient to render the treaty unworkable and utterly worthless. The senate has done more than to wreck an instrument carefully forged by representatives of the two nations. It has struck a blow at the principle of arbitration itself, and at the confidence of the world in the American people. Its action strikes a note of levity, wantonness and irresponsible caprice such as is happily very rarely struck by any legislative assembly. In proportion to the blessings to be missed must be our regret for the lamentable, the almost ignominous fate of an honest and well-meant endeavor.

Alleged Filibusters on Trial.

Baltimore, March 24.—Dr. Joseph J. Luiz of New York, a member of the Cuban junta, was put on trial in the United States district court yesterday upon the charge of conspiring to violate the neutrality laws of the United States, in having, together with General Carlos Roloff, secretary of war of the Cuban republic, and Joseph T. Smith, organizer of the "Woodall expedition," which left this city almost two years ago. General Roloff and Dr. Luiz were arraigned in New York before United States Commissioner Shields a few weeks ago, and held in $2500 bail each for trial, the case being sent to this city because the expedition was fitted out here. General Roloff forfeited his bail and is thought to have gone to Cuba, although rumors have been circulated here to the effect that he will appear and stand trial. He is not present, however, and the attorneys for the defense profess ignorance as to his movements.

Indictment of County Officials.

Buffalo, March 24.—Indictments were handed down yesterday against John G. Schlotzer, keeper of the Erie county almshouse; Assemblyman and ex-Supervisor Henry L. Steiner of Erie county; Chairman George W. Briggs and Supervisors Underhill, Stock, Blanchard, Aberth, Erbes and Klipfel of the Erie county board of supervisors, all of whom were accused before the grand jury of having falsely charged the county for the expenses of a trip which they enjoyed to certain pleasure resorts in and around New York city. Superintendent of Streets Thomas F. Maloney was also indicted, charged with attempting to bribe Police Superintendent Bull. The defendants pleaded not guilty and were admitted to bail in $1000 each. The board of public works suspended Thomas F. Maloney as superintendent of streets and placed his assistant in charge.

Mind Ruined by Cigarets.

Chicago, March 24.—William Leland, a real estate dealer, attempted suicide in the Woodlawn police station by hanging himself from the top of his cell by means of a sheet, which he had twisted into a rope. He is not likely to recover. Leland was arrested at his own request, telling a policeman whom he accosted that he had ruined himself by making a fraudulent real estate transaction. It is believed that he had become mentally unbalanced through the excessive use of cigarets. Cyrus B. Leland, the young man's father, was general auditor of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad for a number of years before his death.

Charitable Bequests.

Boston, March 24.—By the will of Otis E. Weld, which was filed in the Suffolk probate office yesterday, $25,000 is given to public charities. The Masonic Education and Charity trust is given $20,000, the income of which is to be applied for charitable purposes and relief of the families of deceased and living members of the grand lodge of Masons for Massachusetts and its subordinate lodges. The other $5000 is distributed among other institutions, including the Y. M. C. A., Massachusetts General hospital, and others.

Trouble With Italian Strikers.

Lockport, N. Y., March 24.—The strike on the Erie canal at Pendleton assumed a serious aspect yesterday, when the stone masons were attacked by 60 Italians, because they refused to quit work. Sheriff Kinney ordered the Italians to return to their cabins. They refused and were reinforced by Poles, whereupon the sheriff and his posse fired a volley at them. The men ran from the field.

It is, or should be, the highest aim of every merchant to please his customers; and that the wide-awake drug firm of Meyers & Eshleman, Sterling, Ill., is doing so, is proven by the following, from Mr. Eshleman: "In my sixteen years' experience in the drug business I have never seen or sold or tried a medicine that gave as good satisfaction as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." Sold by A. G. Durgin.

One of the greatest English piano manufacturers says his firm alone turns out 2,000 pianos a year; that London turns out 35,000 a year, Germany 74,000, France 20,000, the United States 25,000.

Maine Legislature.

Augusta, Me., March 24.—The senate yesterday insisted on the reference of the Wilson railroad order to the railroad committee. The vote was reconsidered, whereby the report of the committee on federal relations recommending the erection of a dry dock at Portland was accepted, and the matter referred to a committee. The bill for the reduction of savings bank tax was defeated after a long discussion by a vote of 15 to 12. The Newport Soldiers' Home resolve was passed to be engrossed. The Savage amendment to the eastern Maine insane hospital resolve making the appriation $175,000 and killing the commission was passed to be engrossed. The house did a large amount of routine business.

Maine Decision Reversed.

Boston, March 24.—The United States circuit court of appeals, in an opinion written by Judge Putnam, has reversed the judgment of the United States district court for Maine on the original petition brought by Huston B. Sanders vs. the United States, which was in favor of the petitioner, and ordered judgment to be entered for the United States on its set-off against the petitioner for $150. The suit was brought by the petitioner, Sanders, to recover $360 for services as United States marshal in attending hearings before a United States commissioner for Maine.

Laconia's New Administration.

Laconia, N. H., March 24.—Charles L. Pulsifer was inaugurated mayor and nine newly elected councilmen were inducted into office yesterday. The following department officers were elected: City clerk, S. C. Frye; treasurer, Arthur W. Dinsmore; solicitor, Stephen S. Jewett; messenger, George E. Chase; assessor, E. F. Burleigh; collector of taxes, Fred A. Young; superintendent of sewers, city engineer and street commissioner, William Nelson; chief engineer of the fire department, Moses T. Whittier.

Suffocated In Shavings.

Nashua, N. H., March 24. — Pierre Calewa was suffocated yesterday in a peculiar manner. He was loading shavings into a high cart from a shute at Cross & Tolles' shop. He fell into the mass, and the shavings pouring down the shute covered him up. He was smothered before help could reach him. He had driven the team for years. He was married and leaves two children.

Quarter of a Century In a Custom House.

New Haven, March 24.—Charles S. Bunnell, aged 70, deputy collector of the New Haven custom house, died suddenly at his home on Vernon street. He had been employed in the custom house for over a quarter of a century, beginning as clerk. Deceased was prominent in secret orders, particularly the Odd Fellows. He leaves a widow and one son.

Reward For Incendiary.

Brockton, Mass., March 24.—The board of aldermen has offered a reward of $300 for evidence leading to the conviction of the party or parties who tried to set fire to the factory of Murphy & Finley, yesterday.

Sharp Demand For Wool.

Boston, March 24.—There is a sharper demand in the wool market here this week, and a firmer tone is manifested. Buyers who have been inclined to hold back are now in the market, and those who bought freely before are looking for fresh supplies. Territory wools have begun to feel the effect of the stronger tone, and good lines of fine medium and fine are calling for 34 cents on the scoured basis, while staple wools range in the vicinity of 36 and 37 cents. Fleece wools have advanced 1 cent, and the demand has ruled better, but there has only been a limited offering. Australian wools continue in good demand with prices hardening.

Waterville's New City Hall.

Waterville, Me., March 24.—The first steps towards putting up a new city hall were taken yesterday, when M. C. Foster & Son, contractors, began hauling brick for the building. There is a controversy over the award of the contract, and the firm maintains that the award to them was legal. There is talk of an injunction against the firm by citizens opposed to the award.

Supposed Pauper Left a Fortune.

Toronto, March 24.—Lawrence Walls, who died in St. Michael's hospital of coal gas asphyxiation on Sunday, left a fortune of over $50,000. He lived in a filthy hovel, dressed in rags, and was generally supposed to be in destitute circumstances. No relatives have yet put in an appearance to claim his property, but he is said to have heirs both in England and the United States.

The Nazaire Survivors.

New York, March 24.—The three survivors of the ill-fated French liner, Ville de St. Nazaire, Captain Berri, Dr. Maire and Engineer Sants, are reported as doing well, while the fourth, Juan De Dios Tejada, has suffered a relapse, and at times appears to have lost his reason. The friends of Tejada feel alarmed over his condition. He is often delirious, calling for his wife and children.

Two Diseases That Cause Their Victims to Be Shunned by Their Fellow-Man.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.

GENTLEMEN: I commenced taking P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, last Fall, for Erysipelas. My face was completely covered with the disease; I took a short course of P. P. P., and it soon disappeared. This Spring I became much debilitated and again took another course, and I am now in good condition. I consider P. P. P. one of the best blood preparations on the market, and for those who need a general tonic to build up the system and improve the appetite I consider that it has no equal. Will say, anyone who cares to try P. P. P. will not be disappointed in its results; and I, therefore, cheerfully recommend it.

ARTHUR WOOD,
Springfield, Mo.

Erysipelas and Scrofula cured by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, surely and without fail.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.

GENTLEMEN: Last June I had a scrofulous sore which broke out on my ankle. It grew rapidly, and soon extended from my ankle to my knee. I got one bottle of your P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and was agreeably surprised at the result. The entire sore healed at once. I think I have taken almost every medicine recommended for scrofula and catarrh, and your P. P. P. is the best I have ever tried. It cannot be recommended too highly for blood poison, etc.

Yours very truly,
W. P. HUNTER.

P. P. P. cures all blood and skin disease, both in men and women.

Rheumatism, which makes man's life a hell upon earth, can be relieved at once by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy. It makes a PERMANENT cure.

P. P. P. is the great and only remedy for advanced cases of catarrh. Stoppage of the nostrils and difficulty in breathing when lying down, P. P. P. relieves at once.

P. P. P. cures blood poisoning in all its various stages, old ulcers, sores and kidney complaints.

Sold by all druggists.

TWENTY-SEVEN SAVED

Rescued Crew of Androsa Arrives at Boston on Board the Ontario.

Men Worked at Pumps Day and Night Until Exhausted.

Thrilling Tale of Storm and Rescue as Told by Captain Morgan.

Boston, March 25.—Twenty-seven happy men arrived in Boston harbor yesterday, glad that they were still counted in the land of the living.

They were the rescued crew of the British ship Androsa of Liverpool, bound home from San Francisco, and to Captain Wise of the Wilson line steamer Ontario they owe their lives.

The dismantled ship was sighted about 600 miles from their home port. They had been 127 days on the voyage, and everything was going well until a hurricane struck them March 2. It tore through the rigging of the ship, stripped the yards and created havoc generally.

The story of the ship's experience as told by Captain Morgan is one of thrilling adventure and suffering, and an escape from death that was well-nigh miraculous. He said that the vessel sailed from San Francisco for Liverpool on Oct. 28, and although several heavy gales were encountered the ship passed through nothing more than the ordinary Cape Horn weather until March 1, when she was about 400 miles from the Irish coast.

"On that date," he said, "a strong northwesterly gale set in, accompanied by a terrible sea. The wind steadily increased in fury until the 2nd it was blowing a full-fledged hurricane. The fore and main lower topsails were blown to pieces and shortly after this a mountainous wave swept over the ship, bursting in the poop deck, carrying away the three life boats and skids from the forward house, and all the movables from the deck. The bulwarks were swept away as cleanly as if they had been cut by an axe. All the chain plates were torn off, and the huge volume of water had hardly swept over us when all the topmasts went by the board. I had previously ordered the crew below and no one was on deck but myself and the officers when this terrible wave struck us.

"We were then in a terrible plight; the vessel was unmanageable. We could not make our way about the vessel with any degree of safety, but as it then became a battle for life I ordered the crew on deck, and we began jettisoning the cargo to keep the ship afloat.

"All that night the crew was engaged in throwing over boxes of salmon to lighten the ship, and they were worked incessantly without food or drink until the next day when the weather moderated a little, but still blew a fearful gale. On the morning of the 3rd it was discovered that the ship was leaking, and the crew struggled gallantly to keep her on the surface of the water.

"When the leak was discovered we fastened the crew to the pumps with bowlines around each man, and as only the weather-handle of the pump could be utilized we attached a bell-rope to the handle so that more of the men could work at once. Part of the crew continued jettisoning the cargo and, being unable to leave their work for fear the vessel would founder under them, they had no nourishment for two days and nights.

"That night the storm increased again and blew furiously with no abatement until the morning of the 7th.

"About 9 o'clock the morning of the 8th a steamer hove in sight, and those sailors who could walk ran aft and hoisted the British ensign union down in the rigging to attract her attention. The steamer proved to be the Ontario.

"Promptly Captain Wise lowered a lifeboat in charge of Chief Officer W. Saunders, who, with six men, came to our rescue. Mate Saunders finally, with great difficulty, succeeded in getting alongside of our vessel. Seventeen of the crew jumped or were assisted into the lifeboat, which returned to the steamer, and after transferring them to the Ontario's deck, put off again to rescue the remainder of us. As the lifeboat came alongside for the second time the heavy seas smashed the boat against the wreck and her side was stove in. Nevertheless the remaining 10 of us got into the boat and bailed until the steamer was reached, where, after we had been removed to the Ontario, the lifeboat in which we were rescued filled and went to the bottom."

DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL.

Medical Examiner Investigates Case of Mrs. Hennessy---Husband Released.

Providence, March 25.—James Hennessy, husband of Honorah Hennessy, who was found dead in her tenement, who was held by the police to await the autopsy on the body, was discharged from custody last night. Medical Examiner Perkins held the autopsy and decided that no sign of violence was found on the body. He further decided that the condition of the bronchial tubes was caused by inhalation of the fumes of the flames which burned her clothing, and not by strangulation as was at first thought. The police were unable to find any additional facts surrounding the mysterious death, and Mr. Hennessy told what appeared to be a straight story, although generally discredited. The police were working on the theory of an assault on Mrs. Hennessy, and the burning of the body to allay suspicion

The autopsy report changes the aspect of things, and settles the fact that Mrs. Hennessy's death was by accidental burning, and her position resulted from her frantic struggles to get out of the closet while her clothing was afire. As to how the fire occurred is a question not definitely cleared up.

ASKED TO PAY TWICE.

Purchasers of Valuable Land at Hampton Must Defend Their Titles.

Hampton, N. H., March 25.—The Misses Miller of New Haven are the contestants of the estate of Simon P. Towle in this town, and the case promises to be one of considerable interest. About 100 acres of valuable land, on which are the principal town buildings, aggregating a value of fully $60,000, are involved. The Misses Miller, nieces of the late Simon Towle, claim that he sold these lands, which were held in trust by him for them.

Hon. Calvin Page of Portsmouth, N. H., has been secured as their counsel, and the owners of the buildings on these lands have been notified that unless the land is paid for again the cases will be brought up in the New Hampshire courts.

The big Hampton Shoe company, whose factory is on the land, announces that it will contest the demand. Three churches are also located on the estate, and the following have buildings on it: J. W. Dearborn, C. G. Marston, George Collins, Mrs. Edwin Shaw, Walter Pray estate, Charles Akerman, R. G. Freeman, John Thompson. Hon. Charles Lamprey is executor of the Towle estate.

No Statue for General Butler.

Boston, March 25.—The Commonwealth Gas company bill was tabled when it came up in the house yesterday, but the question of sending two committees to New York to look at docks was laid over. A bill was reported by the committee on education to authorize the state board of education to sell the old normal school building at Salem for not less than $10,000, the proceeds to go into the state treasury; and also a bill to authorize Gardner to spend $55,000 for a high school.

The senate recommitted the trust bill, and discussed at length the question of Barnstable jail investigation.

Another hearing by the committee on charitable institutions on the recommendation for the establishment of a state board to care for all the insane wards of the commonwealth brought out many ladies and gentlemen interested in charitable matters, and a good deal of testimony in favor of the bill was given. The hearings in regard to consumptives' homes, which have been arousing so much interest, were brought to a close in a crowded hearing room by arguments of the lawyers employed to handle the case for and against the homes. At the last hearing regarding the proposed North Shore state highway it was shown that if the highway were built it would probably connect with a similar through road which is practically sure to be built up through New Hampshire to the White Mountains. Free silverites argued for a new standard of value to be based on the average of value of commodities; and another hearing was given up to the discussion of damages due to Clinton on account of the work of the metropolitan water board. The militia investigation brought out some interesting statements in regard to beer drinking and lack of discipline in the Eighth regiment.

The house defeated—61 to 99—the resolve for a monument in the state house yard to General Benjamin F. Butler.

Rushing Work at Augusta.

Augusta, Me., March 25.—The legislature did a rushing business yesterday, every move being in view to an adjournment by Friday.

The majority report of the committee on labor against the 54-hour law was accepted by the senate in concurrence with the house. A bill reducing the rate of taxation of savings banks was referred to the next legislature by a vote of 85 to 2.

The resolve in favor of the Eastern Maine insane hospital was considered. The house divided, and a motion to insist was carried by a vote of 87 to 5.

The committee on ways and means reported an order fixing the rate of the state tax at 2¾ mills for each of the years 1897 and 1898. This is a reduction of ¼ a mill from the rate of 3 mills for 1897, originally reported by the committee.

A bill to change the name of the state college (agricultural) to "The University of Maine" was passed to be engrossed.

The house passed to be engrossed, by a vote of 65 to 23, the bill providing for a fine of $500 for photographic or other representations of a prize fight.

The bill regulating the use of bicycles was indefinitely postponed, 111 to 7. The bill regulating the width of tires was killed without division.

GREECE TO BE COERCED

Recall of Troops From the Frontier Will First Be Demanded.

Powers Must Be Responsible For Consequences.

Another Protest Against Blockade--Situation at Canea and on the Frontier.

Athens, March 25.—It is now believed the powers will shortly enforce coercive measures against Greece. A collective note has been addressed to the government demanding the recall of the Greek troops from the frontier and threatening that in the event of the refusal of Greece to comply with this demand the powers will blockade the Greek ports near the frontier.

The Greek government is about to address another protest to the powers against the blockade of the island of Crete, and a formal repudiation of all responsibility for any consequences to which it may give rise. The newspapers which represent the ministerial opposition in the boule denounce the proposal of autonomy under Prince George as a betrayal of Hellenic interests.

The Ephemeris, which is obviously inspired by the court, confirms the statement that the sultan offered to allow Prince George to administer Crete in return for the payment of a tribute to the porte, but that the powers stopped the negotiations. It is believed that Germany and Austria did their utmost to prevent such a friendly arrangement being carried out.

Rumors of Rupture of Concert.

London, March 25.—The Times' correspondent at Athens says that all kinds of rumors are current there as to the expected rupture of the European concert. The danger of delaying a definite solution of the crisis increases daily. The Crown Prince Constantine is expected to start in a few days for the Greek camp at Larissa, and the risk of a serious outbreak is becoming more and more intense.

Turkey Wants Three Ironclads.

Constantinople, March 25.—The Turkish minister of marine has pledged himself to the sultan to dispatch a second squadron to the Dardanelles in the course of a fortnight.

The vali of Ezeroum has informed the government that two divisions of the Russian army of Kars encamped on the Turkish frontier on Saturday last. On being asked to explain the movement the Russian consul replied that the sole business of the troops was to take precautions for excluding the plague. The vali considers this explanation unsatisfactory, and asks authority from the porte to take such measures as he may deem necessary in the circumstances.

The government has ordered the Turkish embassies in Europe to open negotiations for the purchase of three ironclads at the cost of a £1,500,000.

Salisbury Starts For the Riviera.

London, March 25.—The Daily News understands that all the powers have accepted the proposal of Russia to establish a neutral zone, a few miles wide, on the Turco-Greek frontier.

The Times says that Lord Salisbury will start for the Rivera today. He is expected to break his journey at Paris, for an interview with M. Hanotaux on the Cretan question.

Sir William Vernon Hardcourt's attack of influenza will prevent his participating in the forthcoming debate on the foreign office estimates, when the Cretan matter is likely to be discussed.

Hon. George Curzon, parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, will be questioned today on the fate of English and American vessels carrying cargoes for Crete.

Canea Advices.

Canea, March 25.—The foreign forces here were re-enforced yesterday by the landing of additional French and English troops. Two British vessels, which started for Crete before the blockade for the purpose of loading with oil, were refused permission to load by the commander of the foreign fleet. The proclamation announcing the blockade of the ports of Crete declares that any Greek vessel coming within the limits of the blockade will be fired upon.

At Sitia the Mussulman inhabitants of the town are without food and are surrounded by Christians who have cut off all means of communication.

An Austrian ironclad stopped a Greek steamer and a Greek sailing vessel which were trying to run the blockade.

Anxiety About Greek Steamer.

Athens, March 25.—Considerable anxiety is felt here for the safety of the Greek steamer Hera, which started for Crete on March 19, with a cargo of provisions for the Greek troops on the island, and has not yet returned. On board the steamer was the president of the chamber of deputies and a number of other prominent persons.

Beautiful Floral Tributes.

The many friends and relatives of the late Owen Jones of 66 School street, gathered at his late home Wednesday afternoon to show their love and esteem. Everybody loved him, he was always so bright and witty. The pastor, Rev. E. N. Hardy, spoke very tenderly to the family and friends and the Welsh Glee club, whom Mr. Jones loved to hear so well, sang three very appropriate pieces, very nicely. The first being a piece his mother sang to him forty years ago.

Among the beautiful flower were noticed: Pillow "Dear Husband," open book, "Dear Father," harp, Mrs. M. A. Jones and family and Mr. Robinson; ivy wreath, "Owen," from James and Joseph Flecher; mound of roses and callas from Sarah; lyre, with "Uncle," from nieces and nephews; mound of pansies from Mrs. Goodridge; ivy wreath, Mrs. A. Wood; large ivy wreath, Grocers' Association; 63 roses tied with lavender ribbon, Mr. A. Cheves; 63 carnations tied with ribbon from Mr. and Mrs. E. Hayden; bunch of pinks tied with white ribbon from Mr. and Mrs. Gibson; bunch of calla lilies from Mr. Chas. Wilson; bunch of callas from Mrs. Stearns and Mrs. Horton; bunch of tulips and ferns from Mrs. Lippincott; bunch of callas and pansies, Mr. and Mrs. Pitts; wreath of roses from Mr. and Mrs. Coughlin; callas from Mr. Wm. Jackson of Boston; bouquet of roses from Miss A. Faircloth; bunch of callas tied with white ribbon from Mr. and Mrs. Farmer; azaleas and violets from Mrs. John Hall and Mrs. E. Brackett; Easter lilies from Mr. and Mrs. Webb Hayden of Neponset; bouquet from Mrs. Jones of Wollaston; bunch of pinks, Miss Annie Cheves.

WATER STATISTICS.

More Takers per Mile Now than Ever Before.

A Remarkable Increase in the Average December Consumption.

Miles of Pipe, Services and Consumption Increase at Same Ratio.

The diagram which accompanies the annual report of the Water Department this year, compiled by Supt. Cavanagh, gives considerable interesting data at a glance. It covers five years and shows the height of the water in reservoir at all times, and also compares the rainfall and consumption by months.

The miles of pipe at the close of the year 1892 were 38 plus; in 1893 there were over 44; in 1894 the length had increased to over 56, and in 1895 there were 63, while on Dec. 31 last there were 66 plus. The increase in four years was 28 miles, or over 70 per cent.

In 1892 the number of services was 1616; in 1893, they increased to 1889; in 1894 there were 2254; in 1895 the number was 2550, and at the end of 1896 the grand total was 2861. The increase in four years was 1245 or over 77 per cent.

The consumption in 1892 was 221,008,062 gallons; in 1893 it was 266,264,099; in 1894 it reached 291,269,817; in 1895 the number of gallons was 330,015,439 and last year the consumption was 378,323,085 gallons. An increase of 157,315,023 gallons in four years, or over 71 per cent.

The number of takers per mile is larger than four years ago, although in 1893, 1894 and 1895 there were less than in 1892. In 1892 there were 42 takers per mile; in 1893 a fraction less; in 1894 only 39, and in 1895 but 40. Now there are 43, or one to every 120 feet of pipe.

The average consumption of water has steadily increased. In 1892 it was in round numbers 18 millions gallons monthly; in 1893 it was 22 millions; in 1894 it was 24 millions; in 1895 it had increased to over 27 millions; and in 1896 was over 31 millions. The average for July and August last was over 37 millions, and was higher by a million gallons than June and August, the big months of 1895. There was only one big month in 1894 and then it only reached an average of 34 millions. In 1893 the highest month was July and the average was 31 millions, while in July 1892 it was but 26 millions.

It is worthy of note that the average consumption for last November was up to the average of the year, while that of December was above the average. This has not happened before in the five years if ever. The December average for the five years has been 18 millions, 20 millions, 21 millions, 25 millions, and 32 millions; a very notable increase in one and two years.

The rainfall of 1896 was about the same as in 1895, or 44 inches each year, but it was distributed fortunately for the Quincy water supply. The water in the reservoir fell rapidly in 1896, more so than in the preceding years, but it was checked early in September, the rainfall of that month being unusually heavy; it was over ten inches while eight inches was the highest of any preceding month for the five years.

In 1894 and 1895 the water in the reservoir reached its lowest level in October, while in 1892 and 1893 it was November before the lowest point was reached. In 1896 the water was lower Sept. 1 than in any of the four preceeding years, but the heavy rain of September prevented the lowest levels of 1894 and 1895 being reached and filled the reservoir early in December so that there was no scarcity of water.

Since December the water has been running to waste over the dam. In 1896 the reservoir was full until the middle of May; in 1895 until June 1; in 1894 it ceased to overflow for a while in May, but filled and ran to waste until June 6. In 1892 and 1893 the reservoir was full July 1.

In 1893 the reservoir was full 14 weeks; in 1894 about the same; in 1895 about 22 weeks, and in 1896 about 22 weeks.

Poverty Party.

A large number of poverty stricken specimens of humanity gathered at Faxon hall, Wednesday evening, at a "Poverty party" given under the auspices of Quincy lodge, N. E. O. P. If one had not known it would have been called a gathering of hobos, for the costumes of the majority were a conglomeration of rags.

Richardson's orchestra furnished music and the order of dances was printed on a piece of card board. It cost the men just 39 cents to enter, if they did not have on a white shirt, but if they did nine cents more was added, while the females had to pay 11 cents. Prizes for the neatest and most poverty stricken lady and gentleman were awarded to Mrs. Emma Marnock and Mr. Albert Emery, the prizes being a pair of gloves and an umbrella.

Those in charge of the affair were O. Q. Ball, M. C. Holmes, Lois J. Davidson, Georgia Penfield, Emma Marnock and Nellie M. Penfield.

Break Last Night.

The office of Field & Wild at their quarry was entered some time during the night, but nothing is missing and no damage done, except the glass broken in the window to enter.

An old trapper in Bethel, Me., has in his possession a bear trap that is 150 years old. It has captured a good many bears, including one this year.

Hose 4 Supper.

As has been previously stated there is a lack of harmony among the members of the Quincy Point Hose Company, which does not seem to improve with age. Someone suggested a hot supper in the hopes that the disgruntled members might be reached through their stomach. This was held last Saturday evening when the company, leaving their district unprotected, but by their engineer, journeyed to Nash's hotel, where a hot supper was served.

The dinner, it is said, was first proposed by Engineer Mahoney, as a kind of peace offering, he having agreed to give the boys a "set down" to heal the breach in the company. After getting their appetites sharpened to a keen edge Engineer Mahoney declared the dinner off. Determined not to be cheated out of their dinner the boys held it on their own hook, each paying his individual share of the expense, and as noted above the district engineer was not one of the party seated about the table Saturday night.

Candle Pin Games.

The Quincys and Murray & Irwins bowled a match game in the Candle Pin league at Costello's alleys, Wednesday night, and, as was expected, the local team added another defeat, the visitors winning by a score of 1263 to 1168.

The visitors bowled over 400 in every string, while the highest that Quincy could reach was 398. Harrison was high man in singles and totals for the visitors, and Costello highest in singles, and Freeman and Packard tied for the highest totals for Quincys.

The summary:

Other winners in Wednesday night's games were McCarthys, Lenox, St. James, Prospects, Meyers and Jamesons.

Progress.

It has readily demonstrated itself, that the new store of Messrs. Henry L. Kincaide & Co., has proved a boon to business interests in their locality, and it is now generally acknowledged that this store is the centre of the shopping district for Quincy. Storekeepers are quick to take advantage of a vital change like this, and the new block of stores recently erected beyond their building, let before they were nearly completed. The many demands for stores in this locality, induced the Quincy Real Estate Trust to draw plans for a new block of seven more stores, immediately adjoining the late new block. Work will begin on this new block at once and before the summer season is here, the last of the old rookeries of the hollow will have disappeared and a clean stretch of up to date stores will grace our main business street.

TODAY'S COURT.

John H. Nourse was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued until April 24.

Cesare Tocca was arraigned for keeping a liquor nuisance at Quincy, between June 1 and Sept. 15, 1896. Case continued until March 30.

The continued case of Cesare Tocca for keeping a liquor nuisance at Quincy, between Sept. 1, 1886, and March 1, 1897, was nol-prossed.

Spring

Is made a necessity by the impure condition of the blood after winter's hearty foods, and breathing vitiated air in home, office, schoolroom or shop. When weak, thin or impure, the blood cannot nourish the body as it should. The demand for cleansing and invigorating is grandly met by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives the blood just the quality and vitality needed to maintain health, properly digest food, build up and steady the nerves and overcome that tired feeling. Some of those who have been figuring on the premium on sewer bonds to help out the first few years expense may get left, as a general bill was reported in the Legislature Wednesday providing that in the issuing of all bonds or certificates of indebtedness by cities, towns or counties, only so many bonds or certificates shall be issued as are necessary to obtain the amount of money authorized.

Leave to withdraw was reported in the Legislature Wednesday by the Committee on Street Railways on the following petitions: Hingham Street Railway Company, to acquire the franchises and property of the Nantasket Electric, the Hull, the Hanover and the Quincy & Boston street railways; the Braintree Street Railway, to purchase the Randolph Street Railway; the Brockton Street Railway, to extend its tracks and increase its capital stock.

The order of services for the installation of Rev. Edgar W. Preble tomorrow night is published in another column and should call out a large attendance upon that occasion. Rev. Mr. Roblin, who is selected to give the sermon, is the successor of Dr. Miner at Columbus Ave. church and is fast making a reputation for himself as one of the leading clergymen of Boston. Messrs. Tenney and Coddington are bright and attractive speakers, and their earnest words will doubtless quicken zeal and consecration. Rev. Mr. Butler will address the pastor as an old friend and comrade, they having been formerly associated together as pastors of churches in Beverly.

Probate Court.

Several Quincy matters came before the probate court at Hyde Park, Wednesday.

Wills allowed,—Julia Everett, of Norwood; Margaret Coughlin, of Stoughton; Ann Esty, of Wrentham; John Madden, of Milton. Michael Madden, a son, appeals from the allowance of the last will.

Letters of administration were granted on these estates,—J. B. Porter, of Hyde Park; Sarah Burrell, of Quincy; Dennis Mahoney, of Hyde Park; Nancy Winslow, of Foxboro; Mary Huckins, of Dedham; Annie Wheeler, of Foxboro; L. W. Morse, of Sharon; Eliza Belcher, of Quincy; Eliza Eldredge, of Brookline.

An inventory of the estate of Jane Hall of Quincy was filed, and among the accounts were included the estates of Joseph W. Robertson and Thomas Misset.

Candy Sale.

The Unity Circle of King's Daughters held a largely attended entertainment and sale of home-made candy at the Bethany Congregational chapel on Wednesday evening. The entertainment, which was of a pleasing character, consisted of piano duets by Mr. Clifford Bradford and Miss Dunbar, and Mrs. George Badger and Miss Sargent; chorus by boys from the Coddington school; vocal solos, by Miss Hastings, Mr. W. P. Clark and Mr. Clifford Bradford; readings by Mr. C. E. Snow; violin solos by Mr. Arthur Hall and selections by the Wollaston Kitchen orchestra.

Vesper Music.

At 4 o'clock vespers at the Unitarian church on Sunday the quartette—Mrs. H. M. Faxon, Miss Louise Towle, Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Arnold—will sing:

"The Lord Waked as one out of Sleep," Hatton

"God that madest Earth and Heaven," Schilling

"Saviour Breathe an Evening Blessing," Flotow

Solo—Tenor, "Fear Ye not O Israel," Buck

"Give Ear O Lord," Arcadelt

WENT ASHORE IN FOG.

Steamer Saginaw on Beach Off Barnegat---A Panic Narrowly Averted

Sandy Hook, N. Y., March 25. — The steamer Saginaw, from Hayti to New York, went ashore yesterday between Long Beach and Ship Bottom lifesaving stations, about eight miles south of Barnegat, during foggy weather. She has a cargo of coffee and cotton. When the vessel grounded the 35 passengers on board were inclined to be panic-stricken, but gradually were assured by the ship's officers that the vessel was comparatively uninjured and in little danger of breaking up. The lifesaving crews took the passengers ashore, and then rescued the captain and crew of the vessel. Their rescue was not accomplished without much difficulty, as the waves were running high and breaking over the decks, making walking precarious from the cabins to the vessel's sides. The vessel is resting easy on her bed in the sand, having been driven far inshore where she would pound less dangerously on her keel, although waves are still battering her heavily from seaward. The passengers were taken to Beach Haven, a little village three miles south of the scene of the wreck.

Big Parade at Grant Celebration Assured.

New York, March 25.—Major General Grenville M. Dodge, grand marshal of the Grant memorial parade, says the showing to be made by the United States infantry, cavalry and artillery on April 27 will be the largest ever seen in this country, with the exception of the parade in Washington at the close of the war. Troops will come from various parts of the country, and during their stay of two or three days in this city the infantry will be quartered at Governor's island, and the cavalry and artillery will camp at Vancourt park. Sailors and marines from the North Atlantic squadron will also participate in the parade. The suggestion of John Winfield Scott that General Grant's famous saying, "Let us have peace," be made conspicuous in the parade and along the line of march, has been received with great favor and will be adopted. The school division will include the public school boys from this city and Brooklyn, and the boys from the parochial and private schools. It is thought that there will be between 5000 and 7000 boys in line.

The Marsh Case.

Montpelier, Vt., March 25.—The first witness examined in the Marsh murder case yesterday was Professor Edwin J. Bartlett of Dartmouth college. He said he had made a chemical examination of the different portions of Marsh's body, and found white arsenic in the brain and other organs. In reply to a hypothetical question he said he was forced to the conclusion that Marsh's death resulted from arsenical poison. Upon cross-examination he stated that he was positive there was more arsenic in the body than he had discovered. Chase Brookfield was the next witness, and testified that on a visit to the Marsh place, on a business matter, Mrs. Marsh told him she had purchased arsenic twice, and her husband once. In the cross-examination he said he was not positive whether this was before or after the autopsy.

Rebels' Heads Sent to Sultan.

Tangier, March 25.—A body of insurgent tribesmen in Soos, the southernmost province of Morocco, has fallen upon and cut to pieces the Shereeffian punitive expedition recently sent there by the sultan of Morocco to quell a rebellion. The sultan's troops were taken in ambush. A fresh force sent out has in turn defeated the rebels. Eighty heads have been sent to the sultan as a ghastly proof of the victory of his troops. These, with 43 others, are now exposed at the gates of Morocco. The 43 are the heads of a band of starving tribesmen who had attacked the sultan's force while encamped near the city of Morocco.

Big Railroad Deal.

San Francisco, March 25.—The Chronicle says: A great railroad deal, the accomplishment of which is near at hand, implies a revolution in trans-continental relations and the progress of the western coast trade of Mexico to California in general, and to San Francisco in particular. The scheme includes the exchange, pure and simple, of the Mojave division of the Southern Pacific, from Mojave to the Needles, for the New Mexico and Arizona railroad and the Sonora railway, at present owned and operated by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe.

Rats!

Waltham, Mass., March 25.—At the present time Waltham appears to be infested with large rats, which have appeared in different parts of the city, and several persons have had thrilling experiences by coming in contact with the rodents. The rats are decidedly vicious, and do not hesitate to attack a person passing along the street. They appear only at night time, and are in the thickly settled residential section of the city.

SPORTING NEWS.

Captain John L. Brewer and Dr. Cawn have been matched to shoot at Yardville, N. J., in the near future for the trap championship and $500 a side.

George Dixon of Boston, the world's champion featherweight pugilist, defeated Frank Erne of Buffalo in a battle of 25 rounds at New York last night.

Captain Jack Brewer was barred out of the big trap shooting tournament at Elkwood, N. J., after his entrance had been accepted. He will sue the committee.

Chairman Mott of the L. A. W. racing board denies in toto the charges made against him in a Chicago wheel paper. He was accused of abetting professionalism.

The second annual dual games between Phillips Exeter and Worcester academy took place at the latter institution yesterday. Worcester won by a score of 55 to 25 points.

The construction of a bicycle track at New Bedford, Mass., is assured, according to the claims of Alfred G. Doex, who says he has raised the necessary capital. The spectators stands will seat 18,000 people, and the grand stand itself will be the largest in Bristol county.

The conference to recommend changes in the constitution of the A. A. U. met at New York last night. Among the recommendations decided upon are: Compelling clubs to file reports of games; abolishing sanction for closed club games; forever barring the reinstatement of any athlete who becomes a professional; removing residential restriction from college undergraduates; barring any professional events from amateur programs.

The Children.

Jest let 'em make all the noise that they wants to—that's what I say!
Never wuz yit any children that ever got into my way.
Talk erbout stompin an rompin—bless you, that's joy to my soul!
An never a child wuz too little fer these big arms to hug an to hol.

Jest let 'em make all the noise that they wants to—that's what I say!
Pelt me with snowballs in winter or roses—God bless 'em!—in May.
Talk erbout trouble—it's nothin! I'm never so happy, not me,
As when one's in my arms an another has bridled an saddled my knee!

Jest let 'em make all the noise that they wants to—that's what I say!
The worl, it belongs to the children; it's wher' the Lord tole 'em to play.
Talk erbout worry—it's nothin! Never wuz sorrow but smiled
An melted away into music at a kiss from the lips of a child.

So jest let 'em make all the noise that they wants to—that's what I say!
The Lord made the roses fer children, an I think that he piled up the hay
Fer tickler fer children to roll in, an I thank God with all of my soul
That never a child wuz too little fer these big arms to hug an to hol.

ADOPTS THE GOLD STANDARD.

After Four Years of Investigation Japan Decides to Discard Silver.

On March 1 it was cabled from Yokohama that Japan had decided to adopt the gold standard at a ratio of 32⅓ to 1, the new standard to go into operation in October.

This act, on top of many previous ones, moves Japan completely out of the ranks of the semi-civilized and into those of civilized and progressive nations. It was not taken hastily, but after two years' consideration of an exhaustive report made by the Japanese currency commission, appointed in 1893.

This commission found that, while certain capitalists, especially those employing many laborers, were benefited by the falling silver standard, the wage earners were injured from the fact that their wages did not rise as fast as did the prices of what they had to buy. The report pointed out what every rational trader ought to know—that a silver standard country can trade and compete with gold standard countries only after paying the loss on exchange in foreign trade. However, as the greater part of Japan's trade was with China and India, the two countries of Asia still using the silver standard, the disadvantage on this account was not considered great.

The silverites have lost with Japan some of their best capital. Of course they will tell us how "British gold" was used to bribe the government into betraying its people into the hands of the money power. They cannot, however, much longer tell us that we are unable to compete with Japan because she uses the silver standard.

The truth is that Japan got tired of being a second rate nation and of working with second rate tools, and, after careful investigation, concluded to get rid of free coinage at ordinary ratios, which drives gold out of the country as fast as it can be coined and which results in the single silver standard, and to adopt the gold standard at a ratio with silver which will permit the use of both metals in her trade. It is a wise step. Japan is only one of four or five nations which have adopted the gold standard during the last 18 months.

The Sound Money Propaganda.

The decision of the silver men to continue their fight for the 50 cent dollar, despite the emphatic verdict of the people in November, is appropriately followed by the organization in New York of a sound money league, which is to be national in its character and in the scope of its work. From this time on till the next presidential election the dissemination of money facts and correct views as to money is to be continued.

The most efficient agency of the last campaign was the sound currency committee of the New York Reform club, and its publications, each given to some one phase of the currency question, were invaluable to speakers and writers. A sound basis for currency reform was thus laid in the minds of thousands who were groping after the truth. These publications, it is stated, are to continue. An effort is to be made to widen the field of operations by a class of writings of a more popular character. In the south and west particularly honest thinkers are to be supplied with material for progressive thought toward sound conclusions on the money question.

Much was done in six months of 1895 to uproot the erroneous ideas planted in five years of populist agitation. Errors had flourished simply because they had not been confronted with fact. Now monetary truth is to be as systematically inculcated as fallacy was, and the result cannot but be most wholesome.—Baltimore Sun.

Bryan In the East.

Mr. William Jennings Bryan is going about the country preaching the same doctrine that he preached during the campaign in which he figured as a nominee for the presidency of the United States. The activity of the free silver forces is not to be winked at. They are good and persistent fighters. They realize the fact that new men are entering into citizenship every year and that some of them may be won over to their side of the currency question. They propose to hold the ground they have and to secure more if they can. The free silver advocates should be met more than half way in this fight that did not end with the victory won by the sound money forces last November.—Trenton Gazette.

HIS OLD COMRADES.

He Advises Them to Take Puritana and Be Well.

PURITANA has cured chronic cases of many years' standing. It has cured after everything else has failed. It has cured sufferers from heart trouble, nervous prostration, headaches, insomnia, malaria, grip, coughs, gastritis, catarrh, and poor blood, as well as indigestion and dyspepsia.

Many proofs of Puritana's curing power have been printed in the newspapers, but one of the strongest proofs is the fact that the demand for Puritana is constantly increasing. The success of Puritana rests on real merit, which is shown in hundreds of cases like the following:—

Mr. L. Hebert, who now lives at 1 Coral street, has been a resident of Worcester ever since the war. For most of this period he has been engaged in active business, and therefore has built up a wide acquaintance among Worcester people, who will read with interest the following statement:

"I commenced using Puritana last April, when my stomach was in such bad shape that I could eat nothing but a little malted milk. At that time I could not eat meat, vegetables, or even bread of any kind. Before I got through with the first bottle of Puritana I had begun to eat regular meals and the condition of my stomach was much improved. My bowels were also much better.

"When I finally left off using Puritana I could eat anything, even pudding, and my health was all right. As I am a New Hampshire man, I know about all the Crosby doctors, and that first gave me confidence in Puritana. Since using it I have recommended Puritana to a number of people and know it to be a great remedy for stomach troubles. I would recommend it especially to any one who has dyspepsia. I am an old soldier, and I want to advise my old comrades who are run down and have indigestion to take Puritana. I believe it would do them good.

(Signed) "L. HEBERT, "Worcester, Mass."

Puritana is Nature's Cure.

It makes the health right because it makes the stomach right.

HOAR'S PLAN ADOPTED.

Senate Will Vote on Arbitration Treaty Amendments Next Thursday.

Davis Endeavored to Have Day Set For Final Action.

The Tariff Debate In the House Has Become Monotonous.

Washington, March 25.—In the senate yesterday the agricultural appropriation bill was reported and placed on the calendar, Mr. Cullom giving notice that he would ask consideration of it at an early date.

Mr. Cullom introduced a bill for a monument to Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg, Pa.

Mr. Allen followed up his attack on civil service by the introduction of a bill to repeal and annul the civil service act, all acts supplementary to it and all executive orders issued thereon.

In executive session, Senator Davis, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, made a determined effort to secure unanimous consent to fix a day when the final vote should be taken on the arbitration treaty, but only succeeded to the extent of securing an agreement to a time for a vote on the miscellaneous amendments. Considerable time was spent in contention over the effort to secure a time for a vote, and it was only after decided controversy that the opponents of ratification agreed to a date for voting on the amendments. They based their opposition on the fact that there were a good many absentees whom they considered it desirable to have in the senate when the vote should be taken.

The understanding as to the vote on the amendments was reached on a plan outlined by Senator Hoar. It provides that the general discussion on amendments skall continue until 2 o'clock on Wednesday of next week, when a vote is to be taken on those which may be pending at that time; that in case any of the amendments are agreed to, the treaty as amended shall be printed and returned to the senate, and shall still be opened to amendment, but that the be open to amendments, but that the final vote on the amendments shall be taken at 4 o'clock the following day, Thursday.

The main debate of the day was upon the Chilton amendment, providing for submitting all agreements for arbitration, made under the treaty, to the senate for its approval before entering upon a course of settlement. Senator Morgan supported the amendment. He announced himself as opposed to the treaty in any shape, but said that if it was to be ratified at all, the amendment should by all means be accepted; otherwise the treaty would be subversive of some of our most cherished American ideas.

Senator Lodge made a strong plea for the treaty without further amendment. He said that while always a warm advocate of the principles of arbitration, he had from the first contended for amendments which would render the treaty acceptable to the American public. He felt satisfied, he said, that the modifications made in committee had accomplished completely this purpose, and that the document, as amended, was one that would commend itself to every supporter of peaceful methods for the agreement of disputes, and every friend of humanity.

He thought no other amendments were necessary. He also held that the committee amendments would, in effect, require the submission of all agreements, under the treaty, to the senate.

Senators Davis and Hoar made brief speeches practically taking the same ground. It was apparent during the session that the friends of the treaty hold that the committee amendments will accomplish, though in more diplomatic phraseology, the end sought to be attained by the Chilton amendment. Several senators, among them Messrs. Thurston and Spooner, asked if this were the case, why it should not be explicitly stated as in the Chilton provision. They advanced the idea that the adoption of this language might have the effect of preventing future misunderstandings.

DEBATE ON DINGLEY BILL.

Equanimity of the House Unbroken by Any Startling Incident.

Washington, March 25.—The third day of the tariff debate in the house was almost as dull as the first. There were two notable speeches, one by Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio, and the other by Mr. McMillin of Tennessee, but the rest of the speeches, with the possible exception of that of Mr. Walker of Massachusetts, hardly created a ripple on the monotonous sea of speechmaking. Mr. Grosvenor and Mr. McMillin were distinctively the orators of the day. The other speakers at the session were Messrs Fox (Dem. Miss.), Sims (Dem. Tenn.), Williams (Dem. Miss.), Terry (Dem. Ark.), Sayers (Dem. Tex.), Johnson (Rep. N. D.), Evans (Rep. Ky.), Maddox (Dem. Ga.), and Adams (Rep. Penn.).

The night session was devoted to set speeches. There were only two features of the session that caused attention. Mr. Kerr (Rep., O.) severely criticised the reciprocity features of the bill, which he predicted would wholly fail to secure concessions for the surplus product of agriculture. "We should adopt the McKinley plan of reciprocity," he said, "the plan born in the brain of James G. Blaine." He characterized this as the fatal defect of the bill. The other feature was the statement of Mr. Castle (Dem. Cal.), that if "Rome had her Cataline, America has her Hanna."

First Formal White House Dinner.

Washington, March 25.—The first formal social function at the White House under this administration took place last night, the occasion being a dinner given by President and Mrs. McKinley to the members of the cabinet and their ladies. The guests included Secretary Sherman and daughter, Mrs. McCallum; Secretary and Mrs. Gage, Secretary and Mrs. Alger, Attorney General McKenna, Postmaster General and Mrs. Gary, Secretary and Miss Long, Secretary Bliss, Secretary Wilson, Colonel and Mrs. Herrick of Cleveland, Mrs. Saxton, an aunt of Mrs. McKinley; Miss Boardman, Miss Alger and Secretary and Mrs. Porter. Following the dinner Miss Ella Russell, the American prima donna, who has just returned from Europe, sang for the guests. Her wonderful voice created great enthusiasm, and she was warmly applauded.

Case of Senator Corbett.

Washington, March 25.—The senate committee on privileges and elections has received the brief in the claim of Henry W. Corbett of Oregon to a seat in the senate. It argues that equality of representation of the several states in the federal senate was an essential feature in the scheme of government provided by the framers of the constitution, and that this equality is destroyed when any state has but one senator. The appointment of Mr. Corbett is held to be strictly within the terms of the constitution providing for appointments by the governor if vacancies occur by resignation or otherwise, and many authorities and precedents are cited to sustain this view.

Capital Chat.

J. H. Raymond has applied for the position of collector of customs at Bath, Me.

Secretary Long has formally accepted the new dry dock at the Brooklyn navy yard.

Fred C. Squire of Michigan, a clerk to the house committee on private land claims, has been appointed private secretary to the secretary of war.

The president signed the joint resolution passed by congress, directing the secretary of war to purchase tents for the Mississippi flood sufferers.

Earthquake Returns.

Montreal, March 25.—Earthquake returns are just coming in. The strangest experience was that of the 12-year-old son of Mr. H. Lacroix, the city building inspector, who has been in bed for about a month with peritonitis, and had been given up by the physicians. He received a great fright, but was found to be fully recovered from his illness when the fright passed away. His father is responsible for the statement. In a Chinese laundry in the northern part of the city the earthquake turned over a stove, and caused a fire which burned out the place. The shock was severely felt at St. Vincent De Paul penitentiary, and there was a panic among the convicts.

Trying to Collect Western Union Taxes.

Indianapolis, March 25. — Attorney Ketcham yesterday began suit in the circuit court against the Western Union Telegraph company to have its Marion county property placed in the hands of a receiver. For several years the Western Union has failed to pay the difference in taxes between the old assessment and that levied by the state tax board. The latter won a suit in the circuit court, brought to collect the amount, and an execution was issued for the amount of the judgment, but the sheriff cannot get hold of enough property to satisfy the judgment, hence the suit.

Wiman Judgments Set Aside.

New York, March 25.—Judgments in favor of Booth Bros. and Hurricane Isle Granite company for $8194 against Erastus Wiman were vacated and set aside yesterday by Judge Augustus Van Wyck in the supreme court of Brooklyn. Claims were also adjusted of $5000 each in favor of the First National bank of Reading, Mass., York County National bank and J. G. Pinkham, and for $10,000 in favor of W. A. Clark of the Union Trust company of Boston, making an aggregate of over $33,000. All these claims were against Mr. Wiman.

"Fool's Gold" Dates.

Cambridge, Mass., March 25.—The public performances of "Fool's Gold," the comic opera which the Pi Eta society of Harvard will present this spring, are announced as follows: Monday, April 5, Pi Eta theater, Cambridge; Thursday, April 8, Lynn theater; Friday, April 9, Academy of Music, Fall River; Saturday, April 10, Bray's hall, Newton; Monday, April 12, Bijou Opera House, Boston. "Fool's Gold" is a light opera. The book is by Vivian Burnett, '98, a son of Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, and the music by John A. Loud, '98.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

ALMANAC, THURSDAY, MARCH 25.

The drowning of a woman is a shuddersome sight. Yet it is swift and comparatively painless, and blissful, compared to the pain and agony suffered for many years by many thousands of women. Most of the suffering endured by women may be traced to one great, aggravating set of disorders. The woman who does not take proper care of the organs distinctly feminine is sure to be sickly, nervous, fretful, and racked with pain. She is unfitted for wifehood and motherhood. Every woman owes it to herself to be strong and healthy in a womanly way. She may insure this if she will use the proper remedy.

The greatest of all medicines for weak and suffering women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly upon the delicate organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. It makes them healthy and vigorous. It cures all weakness and disease. It allays inflammation, soothes pain and stops weakening drains. The nerves become steady, and calm, and health resumes its natural sway throughout the system. It prepares for wifehood and motherhood. Over 90,000 women have testified to its marvelous virtues and all good druggists sell it.

Ignorance of her own physical nature is responsible for a great deal of the pain and suffering that woman undergoes. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is the best medical book for the home. It is now on the bookshelves of over a million American households. Several chapters of the book are devoted to the diseases and weaknesses of the organs distinctly feminine. Every woman should read it. It contains over 1,000 pages. Any one may obtain a paper-covered copy, absolutely FREE, by sending 21 one-cent stamps to cover the cost of mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. If a handsome, durable cloth binding is desired, send ten cents extra (thirty-one cents in all).

Ham Brock Dead.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., March 5. — Ham Brock, the veteran reinsman, and perhaps one of the best known handlers of blooded trotting stock on the New England turf, died yesterday after a sickness of several weeks. Hamilton Brock, or "Honest Brock," as he was called, was born in Vermont. He went to Boston and worked for his brother, William, who kept a restaurant. He won quite a reputation as a wrestler. He was interested with A. D. Peck and the late John Stetson in some of the early-day shows of Boston. Soon after that he went to New York and managed the Empire. It was while in New York that he had some difference with Ned Lyons, a bank burglar, which resulted in a shooting affair, in which Lyons was wounded. Brock married late in life a school teacher of excellent family at Barnet. They had one child, a daughter. He resided at Barnet for several years, devoting himself to training and driving trotting horses on the northern New York and New England circuits. In the last four years he was known chiefly because of his ownership and driving of Gil Curry, 2.09½, and Barney, 2.08¾.

New Hampshire Legislature.

Concord, N. H., March 25.—In the senate yesterday a handsome clock was presented to the presiding officer, Hon. Chester B. Jordan. The house bill appropriating $100,000 for new buildings at the New Hampshire asylum for the insane was postponed until the next legislature, and the concurrent resolution was passed for the appointment of two senators and three representatives to investigate the needs of that institution, and to report to the next legislature. The house laid this resolution on the table. The senate also killed the house bills exempting from taxation money loaned and secured by mortgages upon real estate situated in this state at a rate of interest not exceeding 5 per cent, and legalizing action of the town of Colebrook in exempting property from taxation. The senate passed the house bills and joint resolutions relating to the taking of ice; appropriating $5000 a year for two years for Dartmouth college, and in favor of a bridge in Hart's location. The house killed the bill to incorporate the Goffs Falls, Litchfield and Hudson electric railroad, by a vote of 147 to 101.

New Bedford Will Celebrate.

New Bedford, Mass., March 25.—The semi-centennial of the city of New Bedford will be fittingly observed in all probability, as a special committee of the council has recommended the appropriation of $8000 for that purpose. This will be done providing the citizens at large will contribute $2000 for the same purpose.

Uneasiness at Havana.

Havana, March 25.—Havana is uneasy from many causes. All eyes are upon the country near the line which divides Santa Clara and Puerto Principe, where it is now known that General Weyler will make a determined effort to cripple Gomez within a few days. If General Weyler fails to secure some decided advantage over the insurgents at this time the serious plight of Spain will become doubly clear, and the gravest consequences may be expected.

Mississippi Commission Starts Out.

St. Louis, March 25.—The members of the Mississippi river commission set out for New Orleans yesterday on board the government boat Mississippi to inspect the government work from Cairo to New Orleans. It is the regular annual tour of inspection, but is being made earlier this year on account of the heavy floods.

Missing From Home.

Attleboro, Mass., March 25.—Mrs. Sarah M. Codding, aged 57 years, the wife of George Codding of West Mansfield, is missing from home, and a rigid search by the family and friends has failed to reveal a trace of her whereabouts. No reason for her disappearance is known.

Second Ballot For Kentucky Senator.

Frankfort, Ky., March 25.—The vote for United States senator yesterday stood: Hunter (Rep.) 67, Blackburn (Silver Dem.) 49, Davie (Sound Money Dem.) 11. Necessary to a choice, 69. Tyler, Boyle, Stone and Buckner got the scattering votes.

Ivory's Claim Forwarded.

New York, March 25.—John F. McIntyre has forwarded to Secretary of State Sherman a memorial in behalf of Edward J. Ivory, the Harlem saloon keeper arrested in Glasgow, Sept. 13, 1896, on a charge of conspiracy to destroy public buildings in England and acquitted after nearly five months' imprisonment in Holloway jail. In his memorial Mr. McIntyre, in behalf of his client, asks £20,000 damages from the British government.

Japanese Colony For Mexico.

San Diego, Cal., March 25.—A. V. Lomell, the Mexican consul in this city, who has just returned from the City of Mexico, states that his government has conceded a large tract of land in the state of Chihuapas, South Mexico, to a Japanese syndicate, to establish a colony there.

Gas Well on Fire.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 25.—An explosion of gas occurred yesterday in a bore-hole at No. 2 mine of the Delaware and Hudson Coal company, and a sheet of flame fully 75 feet high shot up in the air. The fire may burn for weeks.

Anti-Department Store Bill Passed.

Springfield, Ills., March 25.—The anti-department store bill has passed the state senate with only four negative votes. The house is expected to pass the bill, but Governor Tanner may veto it on the ground of unconstitutionality.

SAVED FROM THE SURGEON'S KNIFE

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, Saves a Man From Becoming a Cripple.

Mr. Asa Ammons, a well-known citizen of Jacksonville, Florida, was afflicted by a terrible ulcer. Medical skill seemed unavailing in stopping the ravages of the terrible disease. The leg was swollen and intensely painful, as the ulcer had eaten its way down to the very bone. All medicines and treatments having failed to effect a cure, the doctors said the leg must come off. Just when it seemed that Mr. Ammons would become a disabled and a crippled man, he tried P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and the result was wonderful.

P. P. P. SAVES HIS LEG.

"Jacksonville, Fla., July 1, 1895.—Two years ago I had the worst ulcer on my leg I ever saw. It had eaten down to the bone, and my whole leg below my knee, and my foot was swollen and inflamed. The bone was swollen and painful, and discharged a most offensive matter. My physicians said I had necrosis of the bone, and my leg would have to come off. At this stage I commenced to take P. P. P. and to bathe my leg with hot castile soap suds. It began to improve at once and healed rapidly, and is to-day a sound and useful leg.

"I think P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is all a man could ask for as a blood purifier, as I have known it to cure so meterrible cases of blood poisoning in a remarkably short time.

"ASA AMMONS."

TERRIBLE BLOOD POISON.

The body covered with sores—two bottles of P. P. P. made a positive and permanent cure. This is only one of many thousand similar cases.

Catarrh yields at once to P. P. P. That smothered feeling at night, that heavy feeling in the day—can and should be removed; P. P. P. will do it if you only give it a chance.

Indigestion and constipation go hand in hand. Headaches and total loss of appetite are the results. Regulate yourself and tone up your stomach with P. P. P.

SPOILS SYSTEM EVILS.

Present Civil Service Crisis Discussed by Friends of Reform.

President and Ex-Presidents Criticised.

Distinguished Gathering at Banquet of Massachusetts Association.

Boston, March 26. — "The Present Crisis in Civil Service Reform" was the general topic of discussion at the meeting of the Massachusetts Reform club in Young's hotel last evening. There was a large attendance, and President George S. Hale presided.

About 100 members of the club were present, including Richard H. Dana, J. J. Myers, Colonel Charles R. Codman, Archibald M. Howe and Hon. Edward B. Haskell.

The President of the United States, the ex-presidents and several men prominent in political affairs were criticised and severely, too, at times. The speakers of the evening were Hon. Marriott Brosius, member of congress from Pennsylvania, and chairman of the house committee on civil service reform; Lucius B. Swift of Indianapolis, formerly editor of The Civil Service Reform Chronicle; Hon. Edward M. Shepard of Brooklyn and Hon. Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore.

The first speaker was Congressman Brosius, who devoted the greater part of his address to the recent attacks upon civil service in congress. "The subject of the evening," began Mr. Brosius, "no doubt refers to the quadrennial agitation or the outburst which we have every four years, particularly after there has been a change in administration. Like the custom of old, to serve bitter herbs at a feast," the speaker continued, "this agitation and flurry against civil service reform is prevalent at the Capitol. There is no crisis in this work of reform. You may as well say there is a crisis in a man's life when he has a boil on his arm or a corn on his toe."

Mr. Brosius here paid a tribute to President McKinley, who, he said, "stands like a stone wall to turn back the flood of office seekers and patronage purveyors, who stand like a swarm about the White House today." The congressman said the friends of civil service had two kinds of men to deal with in public life, those men who thought there was no safety unless the boiler was nearly empty, and those who thought they were making no progress unless the boiler was ready to burst. He belonged to the middle class, he added.

Mr. Brosius contrasted the appointive system in England and that in this country. He said that in the former country not more than 20 places could be called a spoil after an election, and that here the president had hardly time to perform the duties of his office the number of applicants for office was so large.

"Why should a system carrying on its wings such immeasurable benefits," the speaker continued, "produce such dissatisfaction? There are two sorts of complaints. In some instances there are serious grounds for complaints, as the civil service system unhappily affords an asylum for the spoils system within the service. The party in power extends favors to its own friends. The next administration comes in, and if a change in political complexion puts in its own men if possible. The extension of the competitive system is done to cover friends of the party in the ascendancy. Candor compels me to say that the changes in the last administration were too numerous not to have been made for political reasons. The removals in the departmental service at Washington amounted to 29 per cent of the whole number from March 18, 1893, to June 5, 1896, 15 per cent of the total force resigned during that time, 43 per cent were promoted, and 15 per cent reduced. How many removals were due to the proper reduction of the force, or how many whose resignation were refined modes of removal, I do not know."

The congressman then declared with vehemence: "The spoils devil being driven from the gateway found shelter within the gate, and did his devilment within the very shadow of the altar."

"Politicans no longer had the opportunity to do the work on the outside," the speaker continued, "and had entrenched themselves inside to do the work the spoils system did on the outside. Until the spoils system shall be destroyed and the abuses stopped, periodical seasons of agitation will continue, and sooner or later, will put the whole civil service system in peril." Mr. Brosius, during his address, complimented both ex-Secretary of Navy Herbert and Secretary Long.

Hon. Lucius B. Swift of Indianapolis, the next speaker, arraigned President McKinley for "appointing men to important positions, unfit to represent the people of the United States." The appointment of ex-Chairman Gowdy of the Indiana Republican state committee as consul general at Paris, his choice of a minister to Mexico, and several appointments in Indiana were criticized at considerable length. Mr. Swift did not forget Senator Fairbanks in his general arraignment. Mr. Swift was given three cheers at the conclusion of his vigorous address.

The last speaker was Hon. Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore. During his spirited address he also scored past and present administrations at Washington for ignoring the principles of the civil service.

NEW ENGLAND GREEKS.

Many Are Willing to Fight For Their Country but Cannot Get Transportation.

Boston, March 26.—The registering of Greek residents of New England at the consulate of that country in this city, in response to King George's action in calling out the reserves in case of a conflict with Turkey, has brought to light a peculiar feature of the Greek laws. All male Greeks in this country between 21 and 58 years of age, unless naturalized, who are drafted for military service at home, are obliged to return to their native land, or forfeit property, if they have any, to their government, and run the risk of imprisonment if they ever return.

Consul Timayenis of this city has circulated the order recalling to Greece all the reserves in this country. The order is final, and the time in which to respond is short. The government makes no provision to help the poor Greeks return home, and they are unable to go. Their inability to secure the means does not exempt them from the law. Six hundred Greeks from Lowell, 350 from Boston, and 40 from Woburn have registered with the consul for service, and only six have started on the homeward journey. Consul Timayenis intends to inform his government about what the New England Greeks have done, in hopes that some aid may be sent for their passage home.

BABY'S THROAT CUT.

Three-Weeks-Old Infant Found In Seaweed. Mother Under Arrest.

New Bedford, Mass., March 26.—Minnie Mooney, 23 years of age, and a native of Prince Edward Island, is under arrest on a charge of infanticide in causing the death of her 3-weeks-old child. The baby was found with its throat cut, under a heap of seaweed, on the Fairhaven side of the Acushnet river.

The woman says she gave the child to a foundling asylum in Boston, but Mrs. Henry A. Robbins, at whose house the child was born, identified the blanket around the body as a piece of a blanket she gave the woman. She also identified a piece of skirt found on the child as a portion of the mother's skirt.

The police inspectors went with the Mooney woman to the house where she said Lizzie Legier lived, to whom she said she gave the child. No such woman was found. After telling several stories, which were more or less conflicting, the woman declared that the woman to whom she gave the child must have killed it. The police seem quite certain that the baby died at its mother's hands. The woman has live here about one year. Little is known about her.

Marsh Prosecution Closed.

Montpelier, Vt., March 26.—The state rested its case in the Marsh murder trial yesterday. Constable W. W. Holden of Northfield testified that Mrs. Marsh and Buzzell came to his house a few days after Marsh was buried and asked if the body was to be disinterred. She said it was queer the authorities could disinter a body without the wife's consent. A letter was introduced, written by Mrs Marsh to a woman to whom Buzzell once paid attention, warning her to leave Buzzell alone if she valued her life and reputation. Professor Linsley was recalled and testified that he did not find a fatty degeneration of the heart and liver upon examination of the body. The state rested here, reserving the right to submit letters as testimony later. Drs. W. B. Mayo of Northfield, B. C. Goodrich of Randolph and F. C. Fletcher of Roxbury, for the defense, testified of treating Mr. Marsh at different times for a disease of the stomach, which they diagnosed as chronic dyspepsia. H. S. Fuller and F. J. Eastman testified to hearing Mr. Marsh complain about his stomach trouble. Dr. J. H. Judkins then took the stand and testified as to the appearance of the organs at the autopsy.

Validity of Subway Contracts.

Boston, March 26.—A case of great import, it is claimed, having a bearing on the Boston subway, was heard in the supreme court in this city yesterday. It was that based on a demurrer of the defendant in the suit of Contractor Jones, of Jones & Meehan, against the city of Boston to recover $39,000, the balance due on the first section of the subway. The action is brought against the city on the ground that the contract made by the transit commissioners was void and illegal, inasmuch as the commission exceeded its authority by making the contracts in the name of the city of Boston. It is claimed the action is brought to test the validity of every contract made for subway work. If the court decides that the contracts are void, all the contractors on the subway may then sue the city for their work and recover, not the low contract price, but a reasonable value of the work, which may be double the contract price. If any of the contractors bid low figures, and lost money, they could recover the full amount of their work in the event of a favorable decision.

MALAXA FORT FALLS.

Moslems Are Put to Flight by the Christian Insurgents.

European Fleet Bombarded the Cretans.

Victorious Forces Blow Up Blockhouse and Then Retreat.

Canea, March 26.—Fighting in the vicinity of Malaxa continued throughout yesterday. It was especially desperate at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the village of Tsicalaria, where the insurgents set fire to a number of houses.

The fleets fired 90 shells upon the insurgents around Malaxa, and some of these fell inside the blockhouse. Of the Turkish garrison, numbering 64, one escaped to Nerokhuri and 18 others to Suda. It is believed that the others perished.

News Received at Athens.

Athens, March 26.—The news of the dynamiting of the Malaxa blockhouse at 8 o'clock last night as the culmination of a day of fierce fighting and a prolonged siege has made a tremendous sensation here. It is regarded as an event of far reaching importance, both in its effect upon the insurgents themselves and upon the Greek mind at this stage of the crisis.

It confirms the belief generally entertained here in official circles, as well as by the people at large, that the Christians in Crete are not in the least deterred by the blockade and not in the least beguiled by the appeals of the admirals or the implied arguments of the autonomy proclamation.

Advices from Canea as to the details of the day's fighting show that the insurgents displayed the most desperate valor and left the Turkish garrison of the blockhouse no choice but flight. Evacuation by the Moslems was followed immediately by occupation by the insurgents, who were close upon the heels of the flying foe.

To hold the blockhouse in the face of a rain of shells from the Turkish warships in Suda bay was impossible. The commander of the insurgents having resolved that if they could not keep it neither should the Moslems, blew the whole structure into fragments with successive heavy charges of dynamite. At 8 o'clock last night the long-fought-for blockhouse was a mass of burning debris, and the flames lit up the blockade waters of the bay.

Immediately on receipt of the news, M. Delyannis and the minister of war drove together rapidly to the royal palace, where they had an audience with the king. What happened there can only be guessed at, but one thing is significant, King George and the cabinet have given the consent they had withheld for the last four days to the formal gazetting of the Crown Prince Constantine as commander-in-chief of the Greek army in Thessaly, and the decree is published today. The crown prince did not wait for the actual appearance of his commission in print, but started for the frontier at 4 o'clock this morning.

The departure of the crown prince with the full approval of the king and the cabinet, to take supreme control of the army, can have but one meaning. The Greek government is determined not to accept the terms offered by the powers for a peaceful settlement of the Cretan difficulties. His presence among the troops is certain to have the most exhilarating effect upon them, and it is notice to Turkey that if a conflict comes the Greek troops will enter it under the leadership of their own choice. The step thus taken is momentous.

The official Proia denies that the government has made any proposal to the powers respecting Crete beyond its original reply to the identical notes of the powers.

Thousands of signatures are appended to a protest by Cretans against the blockade, which runs in part as follows:

"We, Cretans sojourning in Greece, protest before God and man against the unjust and inhuman death which some of the great potentates of the earth seek to impose by famine upon our fellow countrymen, whose only crime is that they are seeking for freedom, as those potentates themselves have formerly done."

On the Frontier.

Salonica, March 26.—It is still rumored here that Edhem Pasha, commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces, has resigned, owing to the conflicting orders he receives from the palace and from the war minister. A well-equipped hospital has been established here with 1000 beds. Field hospitals have been established at Elassonoa, Monastir and Janina, as well as other points.

It is reported that an advance is imminent. Fresh divisions are mobilizing at Prevesa and Katrina. The consuls are quitting the frontier districts. Re-enforcements continue to arrive from Feredjek. Over 70,000 men are now on the frontier. A thousand horses, with tons of provisions, tents and ambulances are going forward. Siege artillery was sent to the frontier, but it broke down at Kosani, owing to the lack of draught horses. Ten thousand Mardini rifles have been sent to Janina.

MUCH is being said of late about whist playing for prizes, and gambling is charged, but is it gambling any more than a prize speaking contest at our High school, the exercises of the Adams academy for the Adams gold medal and other prizes, or the presentation of awards in our Sunday Schools for superior excellence? The charge of gambling cannot be sustained, and it is a mistake to make such charges. There is a difference between a wager and a card party at which prizes are given. At home parties none of the guests contribute money either directly or indirectly, and the playing is usually more for amusemeat than for prizes. The prizes are given more as a souvenir of the occasion. At the more public parties the money from tickets is not used for prizes, they being usually contributed, and the people attend for amusement. Those who do not win prizes lose nothing, as when money is wagered on a prize fight or horse race.

Unity Club.

The programme for the Unity club, which meets in the Wollaston Unitarian church vestry this evening, is as follows:—

Napoleon I and his empire, Mr. W. E. Simmons.

Empress Josephine, Mrs. Wm. F. Washburne.

Dumas, senior, Rev. James E. Bagley.

"Jordon Experiences," Mrs. F. H. Bishop.

Singing, Mrs. F. A. Page and Mrs. E. A. King.

38—Reed vs. Dresser.

The Noon Fire.

A small building situated on Copeland street, owned by T. J. Lamb and occupied by Edward Lennan as a fruit store, was damaged $25 by fire this noon. The fire caught about the chimney and there was quite a blaze for a few minutes. Before the department arrived James O'Dowd rendered valuable aid with a lawn hose.

TODAY'S COURT.

Theodore Lemereaux, engineer for Fagan & Ballou, was arraigned for operating a steam engine without a license and was fined $10.

The continued case of Henry H. Burrell of Weymouth was called and again continued for one month.

New Norfolk County Town.

The bill to incorporate West Dedham as a town was passed to be engrossed in the House on Thursday. The first draft of the bill called the new town Nahatan, but this was stricken out and Westwood substituted.

I desire to attest to the merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as one of the most valuable and efficient preparations on the market. The Outlook of Washington Street Congregational Church Bright.

The annual parish meeting and supper of the Washington Street Congregational church was held in the vestry Wednesday evening. At half past six a large number sat down to a bountiful supper served by the Ladies' Aid society, and a very enjoyable occasion it proved to be.

At half past seven the venerable clerk of the parish, Mr. E. H. Starbuck, called the meeting to order and read the warrant. Mr. H. M. Federhen was elected moderator. Several persons were proposed for membership in the parish and were elected.

The report of the treasurer, Mr. George A. Sidelinger, was listened to with great interest. It was a carefully prepared statement and showed to the intense satisfaction of all present that after the payment in full of all obligations a small balance would remain in the treasury.

The statement that the society was now free from debt was greeted with great applause. To Mr. G. A. Sidelinger, the treasurer, is due much credit for the successful management of the finances of the parish for the past year. Mention should also be made of the noble work of the Ladies' Aid, which contributed nearly $500 to the society during the year. The parish showed their appreciation by an enthusiastic vote of thanks at the latter part of the meeting.

The following officers were elected:

Clerk, E. H. Starbuck.
Treasurer, G. A. Sidelinger.
Auditor, T. H. Newcomb.
Prudential committee, G. A. Sidelinger, T. B. Pollard and W. F. Sidelinger.

The society voted unanimously to concur with the church in the reelection of the pastor, Rev. M. H. Turk, at an increased salary.

The outlook for the coming year is exceedingly encouraging. With the finances well in hand and a wholesome spirit of activity in the church an increased prosperity is assured.

The general sentiment seems to be that this was one of the best parish meetings in the history of the society.

Among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Newcomb, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Pollard, Rev. and Mrs. M. H. Turk, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Federhen, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Sidelinger, Mr. Luther M. Hersey, Mr. Chas. Tower, Mr. Harry Sherburne, Mr. Walter Holmes, Mr. Chas. Carter, Mr. E. H. Starbuck, Mr. Marcus E. Wight, Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. George Bailey, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Webster Newcomb, Miss Eva Phillips, Miss Bessie Carter, Miss Lillian Carter, Miss Mildred Sampson, Mrs. Fanny Sampson, Mrs Kittredge, Miss E. M. Freeman, Mrs. Chubbuck, Mrs. Walter Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hayden, Mrs. Eunice White, Mrs. Thomas Lincoln, Jr., Miss Gertrude Sampson, William Sidelinger, Frank Melville, Miss Mae Drake, Miss Annie Mead, Mrs. Needham, Mrs. Chas. Mueller, Mrs. Joseph Lapham.

Dramatics at Sociable.

The Wollaston Unitarian Society held its last church sociable of the season in the church vestry on Thursday evening. There was a large crowd of people present. It was one of the best if not the best sociable of the season. This was owing largely to the fact that several of the young people connected with the society gave a dramatic entertainment.

The entertainment consisted of a short skit entitled "Per Telephone" and also a farce "Sublime and Ridiculous," and a piano solo by Avery Bennett. The characters in both were well taken and played with a dash and spirit through the whole performance.

Fifty-Ride Books.

The prospects of 50-ride as well as 100-ride tickets is more encouraging. The report of the Committee on Railroads was adverse, but the Legislature sees the justice of the measure, and on Monday the house substituted a bill for the report.

Representative Callender of Dorchester who supported the bill claimed that it was a hardship to people of small means to scrape together enough money at one time to pay for a 100-trip ticket, while it was much nearer their ability to buy fifty-trip tickets. He stated that the only railroad in Boston which does not now issue fifty-ride tickets is the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, and that the counsel for that corporation, opposing the bill in committee, could say only that it should have been referred to the railroad commissioners. He said that was the only objection put against the bill by anyone while it was in hearing before the committee. He claimed and declared the railroads admitted that the proposed change injured no one, but on the contrary was only an act of justice to the people.

QUINCY BREVITIES.

Notes from Quincy Point, Wollaston, Atlantic, South and West Quincy.

Mrs. Herbert F. Doble is sick with the grip.

The excitement over the postmastership at Atlantic has subsided somewhat.

Two Hurdy Gurdy parties tomorrow afternoon and evening at Faxon hall.

The Columbias will be here this evening to play the Granites in the City bowling league.

The Union male quartette of Wollaston Park will sing at the Universalist church tonight.

There must be something in the air at West Quincy for nearly everybody has a touch of the grip.

Miss Abbie Nutting, bookkeeper at E. H. Doble & Co.'s store, is confined to her home with a severe cold.

The rails for the new street railway tracks between the West Quincy depot and Granite street have arrived.

The show windows of D. E. Wadsworth & Co. are as artistic as any of those seen in the large stores of Boston.

Atlantic people say, Oh! for good spring weather that the street railway may give us that new track we have waited so long for.

The prospects are that there will be considerable building at Quincy Point this spring as a number of new houses are proposed.

The Panton house and store occupied by John H. Gillis are offered at auction. They will be sold by Auctioneer Kincaide next Thursday.

The conditions are promising to fair weather, with slowly rising temperatures tomorrow; westerly winds. Probably continued fair and warmer Sunday.

Philedian Senate, K. A. E. O., worked the initiatory degree for the first time Thursday evening. The work was performed in a very creditable manner.

The largest whist party ever given in Quincy is to be at Faxon hall this afternoon for the benefit of the Quincy hospital. All the prominent ladies of our city are interested in making this the whist party of the season.

State officer Kaler has been in the city for some days past looking after parties in charge of boilers and engines to see if they were provided with a license as required by law. Several parties were found who were not supplied one of whom was brought into court this week and fined.

During the storm Wednesday, the toy bell on the Engine House in Ward 6 could not be heard more than one hundred feet away and many children got a good soaking before they knew the no-school signal had been given. Why the delay in changing the striker to the church bell?

At a meeting of the board of directors of the T. R. & S. Co.'s Base Ball Association held this week, Mr. John H. Whitehead was elected manager for the season of 1897. In the matter of players the management is to be congratulated upon securing the services of that rising young star in the base ball firmament, Mr. Martin Cunniff, who played such a phenomenal game for the Quincys last year, and who will be captain of the T. R. & S. Co.'s B. B. A. this year.

Capt. Devlin to Fight.

George A. Devlin formerly of Quincy, and recently captain of Co. F, Sixth Regiment of Marlboro, is interested in the militia investigation now being held by the Committee on Military Affairs of the Legislature. On Thursday his counsel, Col. Hesletine, appeared at an executive session and requested that several witnesses be summoned, that the administration of Col. Henry Parsons may be investigated. The witnesses will probably be summoned.

MAYFLOWER LOG.

Its Presentation to Bay State an Act of Courtesy and Friendship.

London, March 26.—The Times, commenting editorially this morning upon the decision of the consistorial court to present the original log of the Mayflower to the state of Massachusetts, says:

Everyone will rejoice that so considerable an authority finds it possible to gratify a natural desire of the American people. Yet it must not be supposed to be a light thing thus to part with documents having a national significance.

Proceeding to argue that while the manuscripts which Philadelphia returned to England concerned England alone, the Mayflower documents are as much a part of England as American history, The Times continues:

It is the more necessary to claim full credit for such acts of courtesy and friendship because the act of the American senate renders it impossible to draw the countries together by the stronger bonds which our government has shown itself ready to forge.

The Daily News editorially describes the gift as a graceful act, and adds:

English interests will be abundantly satisfied by the copies of the log which are retained, and senatorial amendments will look more foolish than ever when this precious volume goes across the seas.

NEW ENGLAND LAWMAKERS.

New Hampshire Legislature.

Concord, N. H., March 26.—In the house of representatives yesterday the petition of the Manchester Ministers' association against kinetoscopic reproductions of the Carson City fight was referred to the committee on national affairs. The following bills were passed: An act appropriating $300 a year for the New Hampshire Horticultural society; act relating to education and maintenance of dependent minors; joint resolution for placing buoys in Squam lake; act for the preservation and protection of shade trees in highways; act separating the offices of superintendent and treasurer of the industrial school; act limiting the expenses of certain state departments. The act appropriating $100,000 to the insane asylum, which was killed in the senate, was revived, the mode of raising the money being the only change. An extended debate ensued, the bill finally passing.

The senate passed a joint resolution in favor of the industrial school; an act in relation to state lunacy commission; act relating to swamp lands; acts for the maintenance of dependent minors, limiting certain state department expenses, and providing for the distribution of 30 sets of Hitchcock's Geology. The house bill in favor of an horticultural society was indefinitely postponed.

The senate passed an act for the preservation of shade and ornamental trees in highways; joint resolutions providing for buoys in Squam lake; for continuing the work of indexing records in the office of the secretary of state, and for a bridge in Shelburne.

Joint resolutions in favor of a state industrial school and limiting the expenses of special departments of state government, and an act regulating the investments of savings banks, were killed.

The house received a message from the governor vetoing the bill relating to scholars, and the veto was sustained, 217 to 6. The report of the minority of the committee, ought to pass, was substituted for that of the majority report, should be indefinitely postponed, on the bill to incorporate the Berlin street railroad, by a vote of 139 to 138. The bill was passed.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, March 26.—In the house yesterday the bill to incorporate the town of Nahatan, out of a part of Dedham, was passed to be engrossed, the bill being amended by striking out the name Nahatan wherever it occurred in the bill and substituting therefor the name Westwood. The resolution relative to the struggle of the Cuban patriots for political liberty was assigned for Monday. The committee on mercantile affairs reported reference to the next general court on all of the so-called anti-trust bills. The committee on metropolitan affairs and street railways, sitting jointly, took up the petition of the Boston Elevated company for an amendment to its charter.

The house passed to be engrossed a resolve for the representation of the state of Massachusetts at the Tennessee centennial next May by the governor, six members of his staff and three special commissioners. The expense for sending the delegation is limited to $500. The original plan was for a delegation nearly three times as large, and an expenditure of nearly $5000.

In the senate the bill providing for the licensing of gas fitters in Boston was ordered to a third reading. The bill to prevent danger from escaping gas from unlighted burners was killed.

Maine Legislature.

Augusta, Me., March 26.—In the senate yesterday the bill to prevent the reproduction of prize fights by photograph, kinetoscope, etc., was passed to be engrossed. The senate also finally passed the bill changing the name of the state college at Orono to the University of Maine, and the caucus regulation bill. In the house the bill appropriating $15,000 for the cattle commission with which to fight tuberculosis was defeated. An attempt to reduce the appropriation to $8000 was tabled.

The house voted to adhere to its indefinite postponement of the Newport Soldiers' Home bill, thus killing it.

The committee on conference on the Eastern insane hospital bill, being unable to agree, was discharged and a new committee appointed.

German Naval Crisis Ended.

London, March 26.—A dispatch to The Times from Berlin says it is believed there that the political crisis brought about by the refusal of the budget committee of the reichstag to meet the naval demands of the government has ended. The government has decided to refrain from pressing its demands for cruisers at present, in the hope that these will be voted next year. Admiral von Hollmann, therefore, has withdrawn his resignation.

Pilgrim Suicide Identified.

New York, March 26.—The man who is supposed to have jumped overboard from the Fall River steamer Pilgrim on her trip to Fall River, Mass., Tuesday night, was Thomas R. Harris of Elizabeth, N. J. His son has identified the clothes found in cabin 12 as those of his father.

MILTON.

William D. Parsons has been one of the most earnest advocates of the measure before the Legislature for the issue of 50-ride tickets between stations which now have 100 ride tickets at proportionate rates. Since the bill has been substituted by the Legislature he has circulated a petition in Milton with good success asking Representative Pierce to support the same. It is signed by leading citizens of the town, who believe it is for the interests of the patrons that the law should pass.

The service at the Congregational church last Sunday evening was very much appreciated by a large audience. The pastor, Rev. A. S. Gilbert, seems to have solved the problem: "What to do with the evening service," and we are glad that his efforts are meeting with such marked success. The solos, choruses, and service of song were enjoyed by all; and the sermon by the pastor was excellent.

There is some disappointment at East Milton over the appointments made by the Selectmen last Tuesday.

A sunlight party will be held at Ellsworth hall, April 19.

The matter of the East Milton post-office is not settled as yet but it is thought that John Graham has the inside track for the appointment.

About 275 of the good people of East Milton assembled in Ellsworth hall on Wednesday evening, to witness the presentation of the comedy "Raising the Wind," by a company of home talent. The names of the characters were sufficient to insure that every effort would be put forth to make the occasion a success, and in this no one was disappointed. The audience was most enthusiastic over the merits of the performance. Our congratulations to Mr. Aleck and his talented company, and we hope to hear from them again soon. The characters:

Mr. A. Smart Aleck,	Mr. Quimby
Mr. Drawit Milde,	Mr. Parsons
Bridget O'Slithergan,	Mrs. Varney
Miss Lavender Silk,	Mrs. Smith
Miss Posy Blossom,	Miss Beals
Miss Hortense Van-de-Relia,	Mrs. Wheeler

To Mrs. Huckins and Mrs. V. M. Smith the managers, much of the success is due.

Quarterly Conference.

The fourth quarterly conference of the M. E. church at West Quincy convened Wednesday evening at the parsonage. The attendance was the largest during the present pastorate, and transacted the business of the conference expeditiously and with characteristic good will. The presiding elder of the district, Dr. J. H. Mansfield, was present and expressed himself as well pleased with the result of the pastor's labors for the past year, also with the present status and outlook of the society. The reports from the various officials were in evidence showing that good work had been done.

The pastor reported sixteen received on probation and others by certificate within the conference year, and repairs on the church property amounting to $361.

The financial committee reported more money for all purposes has passed through their hands this year than for some previous years, though the much needed repairs are responsible for some of the obligations not being met in full up to date. The financial committee are persistant, however, and are determined to meet these claims by the close of the conference year, April 7th.

A petition, honored by the entire church and its communicants, and asking for the return of the pastor for the ensuing year, passed into the hands of the presiding elder and received all the favor that he has power to grant. As the pastor is not a member of this annual conference his return is visionary at most, involving a much larger element of uncertainty than is characteristic of a regular member of conference.

After a unnanious vote on the part of the conference expressing their desire for the elder's reappointment to the district for the ensuing year. The conference adjourned, having enjoyed a most pleasant and profitable session.

INVESTIGATION BILLS.

Norfolk County Commissioners Vote to Stop Payment.

The last of the Norfolk county investigation has not been heard yet, for bills to the amount of $6,872.81 which the Commissioners of 1896 approved are not yet paid. Messrs. Morrell and Bowker of the board incurred the bills in their own defence in the investigation by the Legislature a year ago. Last year an injunction was asked to prevent payment, and the new board of County Commissioners has taken formal action by adopting the following order. Melville P. Morrell, the late chairman, does not coincide with his associates evidently for his name does not accompany the other two which are signed to the order, which reads as follows:

"That the following sums of money, heretofore ordered to be paid out of the County Treasury to the persons hereinafter named, respectively on their several accounts, examined and allowed, and now on file with the County Treasurer, shall not be paid by the County Treasurer until the further order of the County Commissioners:

R. M. Morse, $2500—Approved June 16, 1896.

Doe, Hunnewell & Co., $200—Approved June 16, 1896.

Irving & Casson, $200—Approved June 16, 1896.

Hamilton A. Hill, $200—Approved June 16, 1896.

Alfred Brooks Fry, $200—Approved June 16, 1896.

William H. Herrick, $125—Approved June 16, 1896.

Misses Sargent and Cox, $26.25—Approved June 16, 1896.

Charles T. Bovell, $21.56—Approved June 16, 1896.

T. E. Grover, $2100—Approved June 16, 1896.

Bryan's Mistaken Policy.

Aren't Bryan and his friends making a great mistake by continuing the discussion of the silver question at this time? It is nearly four years until the next presidential election, and the people can learn a whole lot about silver and the effect of cheap money upon wages and savings in four years. They learned much that Bryan didn't want them to know during the four short months of the last campaign. It is noticeable that in the states where the question was most discussed the majorities against Bryan were heavy or his majorities were unexpectedly small.

If the silverites will think of the great amount of work done in the states west of Pennsylvania, east of Colorado and north of Tennessee and reflect upon the result of the election, they will, if they are wise and want to win in 1900, conclude to drop educational work and to proceed on some less dangerous line. If Bryan and his friends would stop talking about silver for three years, it would be difficult for the "goldbugs" to get people to listen to their convincing arguments. If our hard times should unfortunately continue, Bryan might step out a few days before the 1900 election and say, "I told you so," and a majority of the voters, without having given the matter much thought, might conclude that perhaps the "crime of 1873" was responsible for the lack of prosperity. But if they study the question for four whole years they will be certain that neither silver nor any kind of cheap money ever brought prosperity to any country, though they have often brought hard times. The wage earners will understand that 16 to 1 is an underhanded scheme to lower wages and the farmers that they cannot, by juggling with cheap money, get any advantage of the rest of the world in the matter of prices of farm products. This educational work must be stopped short, or the cause of free silver is lost.

No Free Silver Bimetallism.

The free and unlimited coinage of silver, when it does not preserve its parity with gold, cannot be a condition in true bimetallism because in its effects it is directly antagonistic to the system. Whenever practiced, it always results in monometallism, and silver at that. Such is the case now in all silver countries, as Mexico and China, and such was the case in the United States in the 40 years prior to 1884.

Large Currency.

Sneak Thief Sam—Pity 'twuz erbout Jimmy! He wuz making big money, and the perlice broke him all up.

Footpad Sim—Big money, wuz he? What wuz his lay?

Sneak Thief Sam—Coining silver dollars.

Women will have to organize a new crusade against wrinkles, and the leatherlike growing old sort of look of the skin if they persist in following up all the open air pursuits which belong to man's kingdom. Fresh air in all kinds of weather may be conducive to health, but it is very trying to delicate skins. Women who row and ride bicycles should substitute oatmeal or boiled bread and milk for soap. The dry skin is especially sensitive to the effects of sun and air, and needs all the precaution it is possible to find to keep it smooth and white.

HUMOR OF THE HOUR.

One of the most entertaining wags in the United States is Dick Wintersmith. It was Dick, I believe, who wanted to be appointed commissary general of the army in order that he might feed the soldiers on steak and waffles. Dick wanted a consulship a little while ago from Mr. Cleveland and made no bones about it. When he wants a thing, he walks up and takes it. The president hemmed and hawed a good deal in reply to his importunity because he had another man for the place. Seeing that the game was going against him, Dick suddenly broke out with:

"Mr. President, if you don't give me this appointment, I'll marry your sister Rose and camp on you."

Cleveland chuckled away down under his girth, and Wintersmith secured his consulship. The innocent cause of it all had never met Dick in her life.—New York Press.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

People who live in glass houses should have the panes frosted.

There is no more deadly poison for love than a lie about a little thing.

It is generally conscience that makes a man look over his shoulder when he passes a small boy with a snowball.

After he has been married a couple of years a man has just about as many buttons off as his wife has pins in her clothes.

A woman can never quite believe another woman's religion is all it should be after she has disagreed with her about the depth to plant petunias.

A woman always urges her husband to go into politics so she may have a chance to get pictures of herself and all the children in the newspapers.—Exchange.

A Momentous Issue.

The representatives of the great nations were in council. The presiding diplomat, pale with the responsibilities of the awful crisis, addressed them.

"Gentlemen," he declared, "the time has come for instant and decisive action. The great powers of Europe must do something. I suggest"—

The immense import of the move he was about to propose almost overcame him.

—"that we prevent anybody else from doing anything!"

At this proposition, so fraught with revolutionary possibilities, even the stanchest turned pale.—New York Press.

Bitterness of a South Carolina Editor.

The Lord loves a cheerful giver. He'll take care of the editor. He has a charter from the state to act as a doormat for the community. He will get the paper out somehow and stand up for the town and whoop it up for you when you run for office and lie about your pigeontoed daughter's tackey wedding and blow about your big footed son when he gets a $4 a week job and weep over your shriveled soul when it is released from its gasping body and smile at your wife's second marriage. Don't worry about the editor. He'll get along. The Lord only knows how, but somehow.—Hartwell Sun.

A Tough Contract.

"Talk about unreasonable people," said the real estate agent. "That man wants me to rent his farm to somebody who has had experience."

"What's unreasonable about that?"

"The idea of anybody who has had experience with a farm wanting to live on one!"—Washington Evening Star.

Crushed Again.

He (dejectedly)—And don't you think that you could ever learn to love me?

She (thoughtfully)—Well, I might—

He (excitedly)—Oh, Helen!

She (still thoughtfully)—But I don't think it will be worth while.—Somerville Journal.

Evening Things Up.

As Lot's wife perceived that she was turning to salt her tears broke forth afresh.

Her feminine instinct, so prone to conventional symmetry, impelled her to even things up thus opportunely.—New York Press.

He Knew Better.

Gaylor—I'll bet you—

Nailor—I never gamble, sir.

Gaylor—Beg pardon. I didn't know that you were a minister.

Nailor—I'm not. I'm a dealer in a faro bank.—New York Sunday Journal.

So Like Them.

Rural Ragges—Say, Tatts, do you know why we's like slot machines?

Tramping Tatters—No, I don't. Why is we?

Rural Ragges—'Cos we never work.—New York World.

After Taking.

"Mamma, I know why these clothes of mine are too tight."

"Well, Willie, why is it?"

"'Cause when the tailor measured me for 'em I hadn't had my dinner."—Chicago Tribune.

On His Hands.

Bacon—Cousins says he can count all of his relatives on his two hands.

Egbert—Well, I don't see why he shouldn't. That's where he seems to have them most of the time.—Yonkers Statesman.

Pleasure by Proxy.

"They say Boston children enjoy Wagner music very much."

"Of course, poor little creatures! You know, they never get to make any racket themselves."—Chicago Record.

Bashfulness Cured.

Bashful man, timid maid,
Lonesome road. Who's afraid?
Starlight night, balmy air,
Man and girl young and fair;
Horse and cart; tight and snug.
Girl can drive. Little hug!
Beating hearts. Oh, what bliss!
Stifled scream, little kiss.
Home at last, dark as jet,
One more hug, day is set.
Bashful man's perfect cure;
Timid maid's got him sure.

STILL TALKING TREATY.

Chilton Amendments Occupy Another Day In Senate.

Close of Four Days' Tariff Debate In House.

Amendments Will Be Debated Under Five-Minute Rule Until Final Vote.

Washington, March 26.—The senate held a half hour open session early in the day, and then, after two hours in executive session on the arbitration treaty, resumed the open session in order to go on with the bankruptcy bill. The latter measure, generally known as the Torrey bankruptcy bill, was read at length, and Mr. Nelson of Minnesota offered a substitute, differing in a number of particulars from the committee bill. The debate has not yet opened.

Amended credentials were presented in behalf of John W. Henderson, appointed by the governor of Florida to the seat vacated by Mr Call. It brought out a statement from Mr. Hoar, acting chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, that action on the pending election cases was delayed by the uncertainty as to committee organization in the senate. The revised credentials were referred to the election committee.

The senate took up the arbitration treaty immediately after going into executive session. The Chilton amendment was still the immediate subject of discussion, and Senator Chilton, the author of the amendment, was the first senator of the day to speak at length upon it. He urged the change as necessary to protect American interests, and said they were not safe under a less explicit provision.

The executive session was concluded at 3 o'clock on a motion of Senator Hoar. The debate on the treaty had not been very animated and there appeared to be no one prepared to continue the discussion. Mr. Hoar, therefore, suggested that the bankruptcy bill could be taken up with profit, and that it would be wise to go out of executive session for this purpose. The suggestion was accepted without dissent. The discussion of the treaty yesterday was largely colloquial in character. Aside from the speech made by Senator Chilton, Senator Morgan talked at some length. The Chilton amendment was under discussion from first to last, and this involved a general discussion of the scope of the treaty, as amended by the committee on foreign relations. Senators Davis, Fry and Gray, of the committee, contended that the ground was entirely covered by the committee amendments. The speeches of Messrs. Chilton and Morgan were directed to showing that they did not. They involved technical legal construction and were without popular interest.

The senate confirmed the following nominations:

Boyd B. Jones of Massachusetts, to be United States attorney, district of Massachusetts; Chester H. Brush of Connecticut, to be recorder of the general land office, and Bernard Bettman of Ohio, to be collector of internal revenue, for the First district of Ohio.

In the House.

Washington, March 26.—The four days' general debate in the house on the Dingley bill closed last night. Beginning today the bill will be open for amendment under the five-minute rule until next Wednesday, when the vote will be taken.

Mr. Bailey of Texas, the opposition leader, who was to close the general debate for his side, was unable to make his speech, owing to a severe sore throat, and a mutual arrangement was made for an hour's debate on a side just before the final vote is taken. The debate will consequently close in a blaze of oratory. The speech making yesterday was not of a very lively order, but the crowds in the galleries continued.

Guess What the Captain Said?

Boston, March 26.—An amusing incident occurred on the last passage from this port to Savannah of the steamer Nacoochee, Captain Smith. On last Friday, while the steamer was proceeding under full steam, a rowboat was sighted off Cape Hatteras. The men in the boat signalled the Nacoochee to stop, and thinking that they might be shipwrecked sailors from the unfortunate French steamer Ville de St. Nazaire, Captain Smith slowed down. When within hailing distance of the boat he was informed that it belonged to a fishing schooner, which was seen in the distance. The men in the boat simply wanted to know who had won the championship fight in Carson City.

L. A. W. Secession.

Minneapolis, March 26.—The first official action looking to secession from the League of American Wheelmen in Minnesota was taken last evening by Minneapolis and St. Paul cyclists. The steps taken look to the organization of a national body by the name of the United Wheelmen of America, of which Minnesota will be a division and have control of its own racing matters. Temporary organization was perfected, which will make arrangements for a meeting to be held by cyclists of the state of Minnesota in this city April 21.

Some Difference.

Pittsburg, March 26.—The United States board of viewers appointed in the condemnation proceedings of the property and franchises of the Monongahela Navigation company has fixed upon the sum of $3,761,000. The figure asked by the company was $6,500,000.

Reception to Sanguilly.

Philadelphia, March 26.—General Julio Sanguilly, the American citizen recently released from Morro castle, after being imprisoned there since the beginning of the Cuban revolution, was given a public reception last night in the Academy of Music.

No Kentucky Senator Yet.

Frankfort, Ky., March 26.—The third ballot for United States senator to succeed J. C. S. Blackburn resulted: Dr. W. G. Hunter (Rep.), 67; Blackburn (Silver Dem.), 49; Davie (Sound Money Dem.), 13; 69 necessary to elect.

North Lubec Will Have Bible School.

Springfield, Mass., March 26.—At the conference of paid Y. M. C. A. secretaries yesterday it was voted to hold a school for Bible study at North Lubec, Me., during the summer.

SPORTING NEWS.

James Kenna broke the five-mile indoor bicycle competition record at San Francisco by riding the distance in 11:17 1-5.

A joker in the pool selling bill recently passed by the Missouri legislature legalizes prize fighting in that state. The governor has not signed the bill.

The lacrosse team of the Crescent Athletic club of Brooklyn won their first game at London yesterday by a score of 7 to 3, against the Southern champions.

Owing to the withdrawal of the Indianapolis association from the grand trotting circuit the Northern New York Trotting Horse Breeders' association has been given dates from Aug. 17 to 20 at Glen Falls.

The Harvard 'varsity crew, during its first time row of the season yesterday afternoon, was swamped, and the barge sunk in the Charles river basin. The men were picked up by the coach's launch and the boys towed home.

Carson, Nev., is to have a rival in the prize fight industry. Reno is preparing to build an arena and a hotel for the accommodation of fighters, trainers and others connected with the sport. The law partner of the United States district attorney for Nevada is behind the scheme.

At a general meeting of the New York Yacht club Commodore Morgan presented a suggestion governing the ocean race to be held this year. He suggested that the race be started from Vineyard Haven to the eastward to a rendezvous, with the ultimate stop at Bar Harbor, Me.

The Hon. "Tom" Marshall, for 12 years mayor of Keithsburg, Ills., won the fifth annual grand American handicap, which was shot at Elkwood park, N. J., yesterday, having killed 25 birds straight. His nearest competitors were Dr. H. C. Koegel of Newark, N. J., and Dr. W. F. Carver of Chicago, both of whom lost a bird.

At a meeting of the New England Trotting Horse Breeders' association at Boston the grand circuit dates were finally settled, as follows: Week of Aug. 17-20, Glen Falls; Aug. 24-27, Readville; Aug. 31, Sept. 3, Hartford; Sept. 6-10, Fleetwood. The breeders' purse entries for their first meeting, June 1-4, will probably close on May 24.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The president took a new form of out door exercise yesterday afternoon. In company with Civil Service Commissioner Proctor, he went horseback riding.

Senator Wolcott, who has interested himself so much in international bimetallism, expresses the opinion that the recent action of Japan, in attempting to depreciate silver, will hasten international action to restore the equality of the two metals.

A committee of Philadelphia clergymen, of various denominations, called upon President McKinley to promote the proposition advanced by David Lubin of California, looking to the payment of export bounties on farm products, to equalize the tariff protection afforded to manufacturers of the country.

Senator Jones of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has recently received two letters from England regarding the prospects of bimetallism by international agreement One of them says the gold standard is more firmly fixed in England now than ever before, and the other says that the times seems to be very favorable for bimetallism, and expresses the belief that in case the United States should make the proper effort that bimetallism might be brought about.

Representative Sulloway of New Hampshire has introduced a bill providing for the erection of an equestrian statue of Major General John Stark in the city of Manchester. Fifty thousand dollars is appropriated for the purpose but it is provided that the statue shall be erected only after a suitable site has been conveyed to the United States and the city of Manchester has provided for satisfactory means of access to it. Mr. Sulloway also introduced a bill making an appropriation of $100,000 to be used toward the construction of a dry dock at the Portsmouth navy yard, of sufficient size to contain the largest battleships. The limit of the total cost is fixed at $600,000.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.

Mrs. Elizabeth Peace, aged 75, while smoking in her chamber at Appleton Me., set fire to her clothing and burned to death.

George Wheeler of Lempster, N. H., while at work in his sawmill, fell on the circular saw and had a leg cut off. His condition is extremely critical.

Frank Nielann, a resident of Oakland, Pa., shot and probably fatally wounded his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Stallock, and then shot himself through the heart, dying instantly.

Wallace M. Halsey, son of Edmund Halsey, one of Yonkers' (N. Y.) oldest citizens, is charged by his young wife, Phoebe H. Halsey, with an attempt to poison her with carbolic acid.

Fire destroyed the Buchanan building at Beaver, Pa., occupied by the postoffice, Star Publishing company, Western Union Telegraph company, Shilloty's dry goods store and a number of lawyers and dentists. Loss, $50,000; fully insured.

Charles J. Roberts, 23 years old, a Washington hotel clerk, was arrested at Boston as a fugitive from justice, being wanted in Washington on a charge of larceny of jewelry from Colonel Thomas P. Ochiltree and other jewelers. Roberts has been taken to Washington.

LABOR NEWS.

The differences which have arisen between the finishers in the factory of the American Watch company have come to an end by the former abandoning the fight.

Mayor Walter L. Ramsdell made an effort to settle the strike at the shoe factory of Williams, Clarke & Co. at Lynn, Mass., but was not successful. He called upon the members of the firm at their factory yesterday forenoon and proposed that the adjustment of the trouble be left to arbitration by a board of three men, one to be named by the firm, one by the labor unions and a third by the first two or by the mayor. The firm would not agree to the proposition.

The troubles at the factory of Whitman & Keith at Brockton, Mass., are increasing. The sole fasteners and edge makers were called out yesterday by the union because the firm refused to pay piece prices.

Charges Against License Commissioner

Springfield, Mass., March 26.—Charges of gross malfeasance in office have been preferred against Fred L. Hinkley, chairman of the Chicopee license commission, by A. A. M. Moore, a hotel keeper, and Peter Tuper, a retail liquor dealer of that city. The charges state that Mr. Hinkley is guilty of drunkenness, disorderly conduct and larceny of liquors from a licensed saloon. They also state that he tried to coerce certain liquor men to vote for Alexander Grant when he was a candidate for mayor in the autumn of 1895, and that one Sunday afternoon last summer Mr. Hinkley tried to induce Mr. Tuper to open his saloon and sell him liquor in direct violation of the law. Mr. Hinkley has an excellent reputation in Chicopee, and many citizens of that city consider the charges against him preposterous.

Uneasiness About Transvaal Situation.

London, March 26.—There is increasing uneasiness in regard to the Transvaal situation. The Birmingham Post, the organ of Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, says it hears that Germany will send 3000 troops to southwest Africa at the end of April, and that a special German envoy will shortly be sent to interview President Kruger of the Transvaal and President Steyn of the Orange Free State. It is elsewhere reported that owing to preparations for eventualities in the Transvaal the arrangements for the Anglo-Egyptian expedition to Khartoum have been suspended. Officials here express strong belief that if President Kruger persists in his claim for indemnity as a result of the Jameson raid into the Transvaal serious trouble will ensue.

Judge Baldwin Injured.

New Haven, March 26.—Judge Simeon E. Baldwin of the Connecticut supreme court was the victim of a painful injury last night while returning home from Hartford on the train. As the train was passing near the Newington station a stone crashed through the window, and Judge Baldwin was struck by pieces of glass, one of which lodged in his left eye. It is uncertain yet as to whether he will lose the sight or not.

Attempted Holdup at Newton.

Newton, Mass., March 26.—A bold attempt to rob William Armstrong, the cashier of the local agency of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in this city, was made last night. The attempt proved unsuccessful, but Mr. Armstrong was pretty well used up in defending himself before help arrived, and his assailants made their escape.

Vandal at Grant's Tomb.

New York, March 26.—Some vandal, actuated doubtless by a mania for curio collections, desecrated what will be the last resting place of General Grant on Monday night or early Tuesday morning by chipping away a considerable quantity of stone from the upper surface of one of the granite pillow blocks which support the head and foot of the great sarcophagus.

Rushing Exports to America.

London, March 26.—The announcement that the new United States tariff bill will not be retroactive has resulted in a rush of exports to America, and for the moment every industry is pushing this work. Shipowners are finding difficulty in handling the business offered.

NEURALGIA BOUND HIM WITH BANDS OF PAIN

He is now Cured, and He Thanks God and P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, For It.

Mr. George Briggs, of Moore, Okla., suffered almost indescribable torment for three long years. Neuralgia held him captive. The right side of his face was so badly affected that the slightest touch would cause the unfortunate man intense agony. For several weeks he could open his mouth just wide enough to be fed with liquid nourishment, and in this manner life was sustained. Read the following extract from his letter: "Truth is stranger than Fiction."

NEURALGIA, CATARRH AND RHEUMATISM COMPLETELY CURED.

George Briggs, of Moore, Oklahoma, writes that P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him of catarrh, facial neuralgia and rheumatism, after three years of intense suffering. The pain lay in his cheek bone and temple, down the right side of his face, along his upper lip, and from the slightest touch he suffered agonies for weeks at a time. Could only open his mouth wide enough to admit a teaspoon, and any acid in his food would put him in torture. He had a consultation of the best physicians in Texas, but all to no purpose.

Catarrh and rheumatism were also causing him much trouble, until he tried P. P. P. He says he is well and will swear that there are no cases of neuralgia, catarrh and rheumatism, no matter how chronic or how old the cases are, that P. P. P. will not make a total cure of.

Mr. Briggs winds up his testimony by saying he thanks God and our medicine, P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, for the great cure.

Kidney troubles, if neglected, bring about serious and painful and very often fatal results. P. P. P. removes the irregularities, and cures the diseased parts.

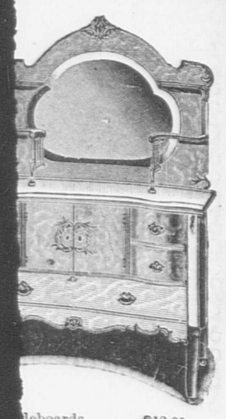

Dyspepsia and indigestion, skin and blood diseases, can be speedily removed by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

Ladies, take P. P. P. and rid your face of pimples, blotches, freckles, yellow or muddy skin, wrinkles and vulgar redness.

Boleros retain their great popularity and cling even more closely to the figure. There are as many designs of boleros as there are new gowns and each one appears to be equally popular. They are made of braid of lace, a variety of cloths, and many of the more expensive ones of jewel-studded velvet.

THE JOLLY THIRTYS.

Many Handsome Dresses Worn by the Ladies.

The society event of Braintree was held in the Town hall last evening, when the Thirty Associates held their 14th annual concert and ball.

The hall never looked prettier than it did last evening. Flags and streamers were strung from the large chandelier to the corners and sides of the hall and small flags hung around the hall. The decorating was done by the veteran decorator, Thomas B. Stoddard of South Braintree.

A fine concert was given from 8 to 9 by Bates' orchestra of Boston. At 9 o'clock the grand march was formed and was led by Louis W. Thayer and wife, followed by 75 couples.

Dancing was kept up till three this morning. At intermission an excellent supper was served by caterer Maynard of Plymouth, and was highly enjoyed by those that sat down.

The success of the affair is due to the whole association, of which L. W. Thayer was chairman, H. A. Simonds secretary, and Harry S. Bates treasurer. The floor was in charge of Louis W. Thayer, who was assisted by C. G. Batson, G. H. Williams, H. W. Mansfield, F. M. Buzzell, H. A. Simonds, L. M. Hobart, John W. Burnham and C. R. Richards.

Among the merry throng were noticed the following ladies and the dresses they wore:

Mrs. Louis W. Thayer, brown silk, brown trimmings, pinks.

Mrs. George W. Stevens, green satin, organdie overdress, white ribbons.

Mrs. W. F. Woodsum, brown silk and silver and brown trimmings.

THERE'S A BOY IN THE HOUSE.

A racket, a rattle, a rollicking shout
Above and below and around and about.
A whistling, a pounding, a hammering of nails,
The building of houses, the shaping of sails.
Entreaties for paper, for scissors, for string,
For every unfindable, bothersome thing.
A bang of the door, and a dash up the stairs
In the interest of burdensome business affairs,
And an elephant hunt for a bit of a mouse
Made it easy to hear there's a boy in the house.

But, oh, if the tods were not scattered about
And the house never echoed to racket and rout;
If forever the rooms were all tidy and neat,
And one need not brush after wee, muddy feet;
If no one laughed out when the morning was red,
And with kisses went tumbling all tired to bed.
What a wearisome, work a day world don't you see,
For all who loved wild little laddies 'twould be,
And I'm happy to think, tho' I shrink like a mouse
From disorder and din—there's a boy in the house!

—Galveston News.

A DOCTOR'S STORY.

The doctor began:

Our friend the sheriff has just told us a harrowing tale of the brutality of doctors. In defense of my profession I wish to say that, although some medical men are butchers, a greater number are tender hearted men. When all goes well, people consider doctors an evil necessity, but the moment sickness visits a household they are immediately appealed to, and all the hopes of a family are centered in the doctor. No profession is judged more harshly than that of medicine, because to acquire its science many revolting and seemingly cruel operations are necessary, and people in general think that the student takes a special delight in carving human flesh; that their sole object in life is to make money by the misfortune of others, and to live, as my friend the sheriff put it, the lives of refined butchers. While I admit that in many cases this is true, I wish to show you by the following story that a man may be a Christian and a doctor at the same time.

When I was at college, I had a chum named Charley Baker. Charley was a great student and the most cheerful soul I ever met. Into every life will come times of depression, under which most people sink and give themselves up to despair. Such times visited us at the college, where, far away from home and friends, the barometer of thought often predicted storms, which always came in the form of extra hard examinations. In such moments I envied the most humble calling as something that was at least happy, and often seriously thought of packing my trunk and starting for home. Charley, however, always came to my rescue with some optimistic view of the situation and persuaded me to remain.

At last we graduated and began to practice. Charley went to a large city, hung out his shingle and patiently waited, for he is indeed a poor doctor who has not patients. Charley was as poor as a church mouse, but that did not trouble him in the least. As long as he could pay his rent Charley was hopeful and happy. He understood medicine thoroughly but, like many other people who understand their business, did not have the patronage enjoyed by some less competent.

One wild, stormy night, the "office hours" having passed without a call, Charley was preparing to go to bed when there was a loud ring at the bell. The hour was late, and this strange sound was somewhat startling, but Charley immediately opened the door, and a handsome young girl hurriedly entered the house.

"Is Dr. Baker at home?" she asked timidly.

"Yes, madam; I am Dr. Baker."

The girl looked a little surprised and blushed. Then she said excitedly: "My little sister is very sick, and I fear that she may die in my absence, as she is all alone. So please hurry." She faltered a moment, and then continued: "I must tell you, though, doctor, that at present I have not money to pay for your services. Other doctors, on whom I have called, turned me away politely when they heard this, but, oh, sir, it is an urgent case, and you will come, won't you?"

"The matter of money is a secondary consideration," returned Charley. "First let the service be performed."

The girl's pretty face lighted up, and gratitude was expressed in every feature.

Dr. Baker was soon ready, and they set out through the blinding rain and sweeping wind for the bedside of the sick child.

The girl led him to a tenement house and up stairs to a room on the top floor. The room was small and bare, but neat and cozy after the wild street. On a bed in the center of the room was a beautiful little girl about 4 years old. Her silken hair was laced about the white pillow cover, and her little feverish face in its center made the picture of an angel sleeping on a pillow of gold.

Dr. Baker made an examination, and, after asking many questions relative to the little one, prescribed some medicine. All that he could do at present being done, he resolved to find out something about this fair young lady, whose handsome face had made an impression on him.

"Doctor," she said, "is this medicine expensive?"

"Well, yes, it is," he answered, "but I'll tell you how that can be overcome. I happen to have some at my office, and I will bring it around tomorrow." This was not the truth, but Charley Baker would do anything for a person he liked.

"You are very kind, doctor, and I thank you from my heart."

"You have a very neat apartment here, Miss—er"—

"Robinson," she said.

"Miss Robinson. Are your parents living, if I may ask?"

"No. Both were killed in a railroad accident some time ago, and since then Mabel, my sister, and I have lived here alone."

"Well, well, it must have been very hard on you to be so suddenly thrown on your own resources."

"It was rather hard at first, but I managed very well until lately, when ill luck seemed to single us out for its victims."

They chatted pleasantly for some time, and then Dr. Baker went home.

Many visits followed this one. The child was ill for a long time, and many a night, when the great city was wrapped in the silence of sleep, did Dr. Baker watch beside the bed of that little child, stealing his own rest and health that the little one might not suffer. I don't know why it is, but sickness seems to bring human hearts closer together. It may be that anguish born of a common cause finds sympathy and balm in the heart of another who suffers. It may be that God transmits to them a silent speech which is only heard in the still watches of the night, when the tongue is dumb and fancy has its sway. Be the cause what it may, sickness lights in the breast of those who watch the flickering flame of affection, and the oil of sympathy steadies the flame into love, and when all the outside world is dark and drear this little flame disperses the shadows of depression and warms the soul with its tender heat, making on the dreary shore of life a beacon which the winds of adversity cannot destroy, but brighten by their wrath—a beacon which shall live when all others fade to guide the troubled heart into the safe harbor of its double.

Night after night as the doctor and the girl watched that beautiful child they felt that the flickering flame had been kindled, and well it was, for soon the oil of sympathy would be needed to steady the flame and keep warmth in the breast of the girl.

When God's children are too pure for this world, he calls them home, that their purity may never be contaminated. And so he called little Mabel Robinson.

It was just at dawn, that dreamy hour of indecision, when the world seems to meditate between the night and day. The shades were up, and the first shafts of the newborn day crept silently through the windows and melted the shadows of the room. The doctor held the child's little hand, and the girl, with tear dimmed eyes, watched the little form whose life was slowly ebbing away. A bar of sunlight struggled through the morning mist and shone on the face of the child, bathing her hair in golden light and whispering some message in her ear, for she smiled and looked to heaven.

The doctor folded the little arms across her breast and kissed her smiling lips, while the sister stood staring, but seeming not to see. Dr. Baker led her to a chair and gave her some stimulant. This revived her, and she asked for Mabel.

"Mabel has gone away," he answered. "God called her home by the first shaft of sunlight."

"And now I am alone!" sobbed the girl.

"Nay, not alone," replied the doctor softly, taking her hand. "Though my skill could not save Mabel, my heart may save you from some of the dreariness and loneliness of the future. Let us bear together this sorrow, and let me share in all these coming years the joys and sorrows of your life, that I may try and comfort you."

"My dear doctor, the tender care you took of Mabel won my heart, and under that same care my life can know no sorrow."

* * * * * * *

The little child was laid away, and nothing but her memory remained, but the lamp that was lighted in two breasts during the midnight watches of the long sickness burned steadily and bright like a true beacon through the remainder of two lives.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Military Training—What Is It?

Some persons are of opinion that it is not wise to cultivate in the young, by drilling and marching exercises, a military spirit. When these exercises are introduced into private schools, it is with a view to improve the bearing of scholars and to provide healthful exercise. But certainly in these, as well as in our army and naval schools, great pains should be taken to imbue the pupils with a desire to excel in those qualities and characteristics which belong to truly brave soldiers. One might imagine, from reading the accounts of what is called "hazing" in the schools, that the object was to produce an army of brigands who would insult an unarmed traveler, or kill any one carrying money. Persons of refined feelings find it difficult to believe that the practice should ever be thought amusing. Boys either stronger or more in number than their victims are cowardly enough to assail them when they cannot defend themselves and adopt some means of terrifying them or inflicting pain. Can such men ever grow up into gentlemen ready to defend the oppressed, or protect the weak, or refrain from cruelty to a vanquished enemy if in early life their feelings are so blunted? It is preposterous to say that those in charge of the schools cannot prevent these outrages. If they cannot, they are unfit to train boys. Some initiation ceremonies can be devised which are neither coarse nor brutal. A good joke, which should be one to please both parties, is illustrated by the following anecdote:

A young German prince, walking with his tutor, noticed that a peasant at work in the fields had left his wooden shoes under a ledge. "Let us put stones in them," said the boy, "and hide near to witness his discomfiture." "Let us put some money into each one," suggested his tutor, "and then conceal ourselves to witness his surprise and pleasure."—Southern Churchman.

The Vinegar Bible.

The "Vinegar Bible" was thus named from a ludicrous typographical blunder, the "parable of the vineyard," in the twentieth chapter of Luke, being made to read the "parable of the vinegar." This edition of the Bible was published in 1717, and most of the copies were destroyed by the publishers, though several got into circulation before the blunder was discovered. It is asserted that not more than a dozen copies of this book are now in existence.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 28. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—What Christian heroism is and does. —Luke ix, 18-26, 51-62.

Christian heroism consists of principles and not of definite, specific actions. What may be heroic at one time or in one place at another time or in another place may be the merest commonplace action. In Christian America it is an honor and a privilege to confess Christ. In heathen China or India confession of Christ may require the noblest kind of heroism. To kneel in prayer at our bedside when surrounded by loved ones of our own Christian homes is a matter of no thought so far as courage or boldness is concerned. To do the same in a room occupied by companions or schoolmates who are not Christians may demand a martyr spirit indeed.

The principles of Christian heroism are expressed by Christ when He says, "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, take up his cross daily and follow Me." These are the principles which He Himself followed, and the servant is not greater than his Lord. The Christian hero is not necessarily the one who is burned at the stake or slain by the sword or left to rot in damp prison cells. He is the one who, in will, surrenders his life entirely to God and daily bears the cross of Jesus and follows Him.

1. Christian heroism includes self denial. "Let him deny himself." The man who becomes a Christian hero must deny himself. He must lose himself absolutely in the will of God. He must be able to say with Paul, "I am crucified with Christ, and it is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me." When we lose self in Christ and God, hardships and sacrifices become easy for us, for it is no longer a question as to what we want to do, but what God in Christ wants us to do.

2. Christian heroism includes cross bearing. "Take up his cross daily." Christ not only denied Himself, but He also bore His own cross. So must it be with His disciples. Every life has its crosses—yea, even its daily crosses—and we not only have to deny self, but to take up and carry these daily crosses that come to us in the home, in the schoolroom, in the office, in the workshop and even in the church itself.

3. Christian heroism includes following Jesus. "And follow Me." As the Alpine tourist places his foot in the footprints of his guide, so we are to follow in the footsteps of Christ. To do so the dead may be left to bury their dead, the farewells may be left unsaid, yet still Jesus is to be followed.

And what is the result of such self denial and cross bearing? It saves the life. Those that debase themselves shall be exalted. They that lose their lives shall find them. The cross on earth will bring the crown in heaven. It will pay to be a Christian hero, though it costs us dearly.

Bible Readings.—Ps. xxvii, 1-6; xxxi, 1-5; Math. v, 10-12; x, 28; John xvi, 33; Acts v, 29-42; xiii, 44-52; xiv, 19-24; xv, 25, 26; I Cor. xv, 27-33; II Cor. xi, 21-23; Gal. vi, 17; Phil. iv, 13; Heb. xi, 32-40; Rev. ii, 10.

Young People's Proverbs.

Fretting raises the temperature a few degrees higher.

The world smites by heat of excess or freezes by icy neglect.

Man hears only what he heeds.

The disciple of Jesus looks at the world through the Master's eyes.

The ice decreases, but the comfort increases.

To be holy is to be wholly from sin.

Envelop your prayer with praise, and soon all will be praise.—Christian Standard.

He Who Truly Loves.

Some one has well said that he who truly loves the church of God is he who truly loves the God of the church. Church membership is a solemn obligation, and he who neglects the house of the Lord does so at a fearful risk. On the other hand, he who becomes a faithful attendant upon the services of the sanctuary will find a constantly increasing delight in taking his place among the people of God.—Presbyterian Messenger.

For Christians to Ponder.

A convict in the Indiana state prison has written these words, that are worth pondering by every Christian: "Had the same care and interest been manifested in my behalf in bygone years that Brother Curry and our prison Christian Endeavor society now afford me I would never have been a convict."

Shadows.

As a father in a garden stoops down to kiss a child the shadow of his body falls upon it. So many of the dark misfortunes of our life are not God going away from us, but our Heavenly Father stooping down to give us the kiss of His infinite and everlasting love.—T. De Witt Talmage.

Neglect of the Church.

The blood of Jesus was shed for every man, and every man that goes down to eternal ruin because of the neglect of the church will at the judgment bar of God stand as an accuser of the church for the wasted blood of Jesus.—Lutheran.

A Duty Enjoined.

It is not an act of charity to contribute to the support of the gospel minister, but a duty enjoined by him who calls men to the work of the ministry. —Free Methodist.

Resenting Insults.

There is no need to cringe and ignore insults. We have a right, duty and ability to resent.—Jewish Voice.

Duty.

Duty is a powerful charm and sovereign remedy against all melancholy fits. —Central Presbyterian.

So Close We Cannot See It.

Sin may be clasped so close we cannot see its face.—Archbishop Trench.

ITALY WANTS OUR BIKES.

Consul Johnson's Report on Cycling In King Humbert's Dominion.

H. A. Johnson, United States consul at Venice, sends an interesting report to the department of state at Washington on the conditions of bicycling in Italy and the prospects of increasing the American trade in that country. He says that in his district alone there are 10,000 bicycles in use. In the entire kingdom of Italy there are ten bicycle factories, the two most noted and most patronized being Prinetti & Stucchi and Orio & Marchand, both houses established at Milan.

Italian factories turn out very fair work, but they are lacking in several important elements—first, the material used in construction; second, lack of necessary capital; third, the want of confidence on the part of the buyer. The material used comes in the main from abroad, and, the bicycle being an object placed in the category of luxuries and used almost exclusively for amusement, the purchasers in the main are more prone to invest in a foreign article than in one produced in their own country, for the same reason that a fashionable woman prefers to have her gowns made in Paris rather than in Italy.

The Italian machine costs from $70 to $100 and is from four to six pounds heavier than the English machine.

"The Italian peninsula is in large part mountainous, and for general use here," says the consul, "it is not a disadvantage to employ a machine slightly heavier and more solidly constructed than those destined to be used in cities and level country. It may be roughly stated that about four-fifths of the bicycles used in Italy are of foreign make, being chiefly English or German, the former excelling in finish and the latter being superior in strength and solidity. The prices of these machines range from $60 to $130, the general opinion among wheelmen, however, being that a good machine cannot be had for less than $90.

"The prospect for opening up a large export trade to this place in American bicycles is, in my opinion, most favorable for the following principal reasons: First, bicycling here is in its first stages, and it is destined to increase enormously; second, almost any novelty placed upon the Italian market, if well and judiciously advertised, stands every chance of being a pronounced success; third, the bicycle being rather an article of luxury than of necessity, the cycling class seems hardly satisfied with the European product and much prefers using machines of American make. The only obstacle at present worthy of notice to the successful introduction of the American bicycle is its high cost.

"As yet, in Italy women have not taken very enthusiastically to bicycling, but their interest is daily increasing, and it seems to be considered quite the proper thing for a woman of a smart set to be an expert bicyclist. With Italian women in general there seems to be a strong, deep seated, traditional prejudice against all forms of athletic sports, but the bicycle has been a most active agent in encouraging them to abandon such prejudice. It may be stated approximately that at present in Italy only 5 per cent of the people using bicycles are women."

The consul thinks that three grades of American wheels, costing respectively $115.80, $86.85 and $57.90, would sell well in Italy.

Never to Late to Learn.

We are often told by middle aged people that if they were younger they would go in for cycling. Now, the benefits of cycling may be enjoyed by people of almost any age with advantage. It should be remembered that some of the world's greatest men undertook herculean tasks at advanced ages. Cato at 80 commenced learning Greek; Franklin, the great philosopher, did did not commence the study of philosophy until he had reached his fiftieth year. These are only two instances which go to prove that it is never too late to acquire useful knowledge, and very few need hesitate to learn to ride a cycle on account of age when one considers the number of veteran cyclists.—Detroit Free Press.

Effect of Cycling on the Mind.

"The Probable Effect of Cycling on Mental Evolution" is the somewhat startling title of a lecture by a well known wheelwoman. To the poor wheelman who is already suffering from the various physical disorders induced by a cyclist's hand, a cyclist's face, a cyclist's back, a cyclist's foot, a cyclist's glare and a few other and similar complaints, the knowledge that a cyclist's brain is apparently to be added to the already long list of his infirmities will prove the last straw which may break the back of his philosophical fortitude.—New York Advertiser.

A Novel Tandem.

A novelty in bicycles has been got up in Germany. It is called the Eiffel tandem. The rear seat is at the ordinary height from the ground; the other rider is perched aloft some 20 feet, reaching his elevated position by a sort of ladder, presumably after the man in the rear has got the vehicle under way. There must be considerable difficulty in keeping the machine balanced. Such a vehicle can have no practical use, although it is suggested that the rider up aloft is in a position to keep a good lookout.—New York Tribune.

To Keep Tires Hard.

Puncture proof tires have so far proved anything but a success in England, so ingenious inventors have turned their attention to other means of lessening the inconvenience caused by punctures. Mr. Nicholls of Weybridge has a new idea in the shape of an automatic inflator which always keeps the tires of a bicycle pumped up to 30 pound pressure. This inflator is simply kept in action by the weight and vibration of the rider's body on the saddle, working a piston which forces the air into the tires.—New York Post.

The Long, Long Weary Day.

National Editorial Convention.

LETTER NO. III.

We arrived at Galveston, Texas, on Monday evening, Feb. 15, after a long and somewhat tedious ride from St. Louis; and most of the delegates found quarters at the Beach hotel; a large and attractive house situated within one hundred feet of the Gulf of Mexico.

It was built for the comfort of summer visitors to the shore, the same as the hotels at Nantasket beach, and is closed during the winter months; and it was opened the day before we arrived, to accommodate the delegates to the convention. For this and other reasons it was not in as good condition as was expected or desired. After enjoying a good supper most of the delegates sought their rooms.

The next morning it was quite mild and pleasant on the piazzas, but the fine view of the water, usually expected by summer sojourners at beaches, was obstructed by a long row of large bath houses, erected on piles in the water in front of the hotel, ten feet or more above the waves.

Harmony Hall, where the convention was held for four days, was about one mile from the hotel, but as the electric cars passed the house and carried the delegates and ladies about the city free, it was very convenient to get to the hall. There was much of interest to newspaper publishers discussed at the convention, and the city papers gave reports of several columns per day of its doings. The News in its editorial of welcome said:

"This week Galveston tenders the National Editorial Association the freedom of the city. Where there is grass in public places, the editors will be allowed to walk on it. They will be permitted to play in our front yards and halloo down our rain barrels. What they want is theirs without the formality of asking for it. We have no latch strings hanging on the outside which the strangers must pull, for the doors are already open. These editors are the greatest people on earth. They are nation, state and city builders; the most aggressive self-reliant set of men and women the country produces. Any community would be glad to welcome them, and Galveston is doubly glad. We have something to show them; something for them to go home and talk about."

Galveston is very flat and low: only a foot or two above the water in the gulf. For a day or two before we arrived it rained considerably and many of the side streets were full of water from curb to curb, two or three inches deep. The city is obliged to raise its streets one or two feet and pave them to have them passable.

Galveston is situated on an island, long and narrow. It is claimed that at some time the city will have a population as large as New York has today. Its present population is about 50,000. A long bridge, 2 1-7 miles, connects it with the mainland. It is the principal seaport of Texas, and is said to be the fifth largest exporting city in the United States.

Galveston has many handsome public and private buildings and it is said to be the third richest city in the United States in proportion to its population. The available assets of its eight banks are $13,600,000; and the bank clearing for 1896 amounted to over $262,000,000. The assessed value of property in the city is $25,200,000.

During our stay in Galveston, between the sessions of the convention, the city did everything to make it pleasant for the editors and their ladies.

On Wednesday afternoon they were invited to an oyster roast at Woollam's Lake, which was greatly enjoyed. In the park by the lake, tables were set for 400, and decked with generous dishes of celery and an array of catsups, sauces and peppers for seasoning of the bivalves. A committee on entertainment presided as waiters, and a dozen or more cooks busied themselves at the fires. A railroad gridiron interested the visitors and provided them with roasted oysters by the bushel.

"Eat, drink and be merry" was the order of the day, and all ceremony was dispensed with. Oysters raw, oysters fried, oysters broiled, oysters roasted, disappeared with the suddenness and smacks of lips that clearly chronicled the fondness of the guests for the bivalve. Galveston brewed beer was dispensed and light-heartedness reigned supreme.

Although it was the middle of February the feast was much enjoyed on the lawn in the park, and after all had eaten oysters to their heart's content, speeches were in order. To make it more enjoyable, a large leather medal, nearly a foot in diameter, had been expressly prepared to present to the champion oyster eater. It fell to the lot of Benj. B. Herbert, first president of the Association, whom it was claimed ate 990.

The face of the medal bore the following inscription in gilt letters: "National Editorial Association; Presented to B. B. Herbert of Chicago, champion oyster eater of the National Editorial Association. Woollam's Lake, Galveston, February 17, 1897.

On returning from the park the editors and ladies were invited to the grounds of the Garten club, which were beautifully illuminated with fancy lanterns. There they enjoyed themselves in bowling, dancing, swinging etc., etc. G. W. P.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF COURTESIES.

The New England delegates to the National Editorial convention, returning from Galveston and the city of Mexico, hereby express our hearty appreciation of the many courtesies extended to us by the Fitchburg railroad, West Shore railroad, Grand Trunk railway, Wabash railroad, The Frisco Line, The Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe railroad, The Southern Pacific railway, Mexican International railroad, Mexican Central railroad, Illinois Central railroad; to the Western Union Telegraph Co., and to Wagner Palace Car Co., for the manner in which it carried out its agreement in furnishing for our use the palatial car "Tagus." Especially do we desire to express our satisfaction with the services of our porter, Joseph B. Hughes of Boston, whose unfailing courtesy and faithful labors contributed much to the comfort and pleasure of the trip.

The Unity Club.

The members of the Unity club listened to three interesting papers, which were read at the regular meeting of the club in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry last night, and owing to the absence of the presiding officer of the club, Mr. Charles E. Finch, Jr., was elected president pro-tempore. The evening was in charge of Mrs. George W. Bennett.

Mr. W. E. Simmons read the opening paper, which was upon "Napoleon I, the Man of Fate." In twenty years his victorious army had entered nearly every capital on the Continent, not one had been able to resist him, but he left the country at last, poorer, weaker and geographically smaller than he found it."

Mrs. William S. Washburne read an instructive paper upon Josephine, tracing her life from her birth at Martinique, in 1763, to her death at Malmaison, in 1814.

After the usual intermission, when the miscellaneous programme was taken up, Mrs. Frederick H. Rishop read an exceedingly bright paper on "Garden Experiences."

Miss McKenney of Cambridge favored the large audience with readings which were enthusiastically applauded.

The singing by Mrs. F. A. Page and Mrs. Edgar A. King was equally as well received as was Avery Bennett's piano solo.

The Hospital Whist Party.

The largest and most successful matinee whist party ever held in Quincy was that given at Faxon hall yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of Mrs. Samuel Crane and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse for the benefit of the City Hopital. Something like two hundred tickets were sold, of which number 168 were present, or enough for 42 tables. Play commenced at 2 o'clock and lasted until shortly after 4 o'clock, at which time the scores were ascertained and the following handsome prizes, which had been contributed, were awarded for the best scores:

1—Book, Mrs. Ira Litchfield.
2—Cut class dish, Miss Rideout.
3—Cut glass ink stand, solid silver top, Miss Reed.
4—Hand painted plate, Mrs. Sprague.
5—Box perfume, Miss Ring.

THE NEW PASTOR.

Rev. E. W. Preble Installed at Universalist Church.

Pastors of Other Denominations Assist in Services.

The Sermon by Rev. S. H. Roblin of Columbus Avenue Church.

Rev. Edgar Watson Preble was installed as pastor of the First Universalist church last evening in the presence of a large gathering, including not only the members of this church, but of the other churches of the city as well.

The exercises were of a very interesting nature, and held the closest attention throughout the whole service, and were as follows:

Organ prelude.

Anthem by the choir.

Introductory sentences and invocation, Rev. Edwin N. Hardy of Bethany Congregational church.

Hymn 808, read by Rev. S. H. Roblin.

Scripture reading from the second chapter of the second epistle of Paul to Timothy.

Music, "Israel's Battle-Cry," by Union quartette of Wollaston, composed of A. W. Polk, C. W. Page, Ernest Tribou and W. S. Comee.

Sermon by Rev. S. H. Roblin, who took for his text the words found in the second chapter of Revelations, the 17th verse: "To him that overcometh I will give him a white stone, and in the stone a new name." He said in part:

If a stranger were to walk through Park square, Boston, how would he describe it? If a builder he would describe the massive buildings; if a railroad man, he would describe the railroad station; if interested in rapid transit, the subway; if a philantrophist, he would describe the statute of Lincoln; but only an African who had known the horrors of slavery would see the power of the God Almighty in the 19th century of the Christian era. This service might be of some value to a stranger but only one who loves this church can truly enter into the spirit of the occasion. The estimate is that which comes from within rather than without, yet after all it depends upon the point of view. If you are filled with the spirit of Almighty God you will know it comes from the spirit. He who has been called here realizes how much of value and inspiration there is here.

We find valuable suggestions in the words I have quoted: "He that overcometh." It is a phrase that relates to the most practical thing in life. It is the mission of the human to overcome. This service means that you as a people shall overcome the difficulties that stand in the way of making this a prosperous church. The white stone has been intimately associated with the highest thing in life. Why a new name? What is the work of this church if not the gaining the name of attainment or character?

The name of people under this minister has a new significence. Let it be believed every day so that this pastor shall so love his people and the people so love its pastor that naught but death shall overcome. When we pass over we shall be known by these character names, because we have overcome them. Here is the work to go on here. Let it go on until you shall have that character name and may you so overcome the difficulties that Jesus shall be continually in your midst.

The service continued with Hymn 815, read by Rev. B. F. Eaton.

Installing prayer, Rev. Edward Morris.

Response, "Rock of Ages," quartette.

Address to pastor, by Rev. C. R. Tenny.

Mr. Tenney said he came to offer the congratulations of the convention that you are coming into this pastorate. We have confidence in you, the enthusiasm and energy we know you to possess. Courage that you are willing to come here and lay hold of this work. We feel that you are going to succeed in regaining of interest on the part of those who attend your ministry.

Address to Society, Rev. I. P. Coddington.

Mr. Coddington congratulated the society that they were to have Mr. Preble as their pastor. The more you know him the better you will like him. The relation between pastor and people should be mutual, not a one-sided thing but one of mutual respect and helpfuless. No minister can possibly pull the whole load. The whole church depends upon this mutual interest. With it you will be a success; without it, a failure. Each must do his own work. He comes here as your leader and if you want success you must remember this. Uphold him and give him encouragement and you will have success. You can not help him by staying at home reading the paper. You have called him here and have no right to stay at home. Come in the true spirit, not as though coming to a funeral or circus, but come devoutly. A congregation can make a miserable preacher or a great one. It is the great hearers that make the great preachers.

Welcome address by Rev. Ellery C. Butler of Unitarian church.

Mr. Butler was pleased to say to Mr. Preble what he said to him a long time ago in Beverly. He liked him then and he liked him now. He could not tell why unless it was, perhaps, because he is a good fellow. A good fellow is one who wears well. It is many years since we first met and I find you wear wonderfully well. He wondered if the people knew they had a poet preacher,—you are also a man. There are five of him. The people of Quincy were a peculiar people, but did you ever see a church where the people were not peculiar. It does not follow because they do not agree with you that they do not like you. He thought the people of New England liked a bold leader, and he says what he means, means what he says, and does not mince matters. I congratulate your people upon having such a man as you are, and I welcome you to this old historic town.

The service closed with hymn No. 347, benediction by Rev. Edgar Weston Preble, and organ postlude.

BRAINTREE.

The Braintree Brass Band has four new members.

Master Ibraham Morrison has recovered from scarlet fever.

Thirty-four new machines have been put into the shoe string factory at East Braintree.

The Universalist society's annual meeting was held on Tuesday evening in Pythian hall.

Mr. John V. Scollard has put in an application for the position of Superintendent of Streets.

Mrs. Worster of Weymouth sang in the First church last Sunday morning. In the afternoon Mrs. Low of Holbrook, Mrs. Albert E. Avery, Mrs. Charles Kohles, and the Young People's quartette assisted the chorus.

It is reported that a large manufacturing concern from New York is negotiating for the purchase of the Hollingworth paper mill. It is hoped that some arrangement may be made by which the valuable plant may be put in motion.

The Literary club will meet with W. E. Dow next Monday night.

The Daughters of Rebekah will hold their anniversary in the Town Hall on April 8.

Next week the Choral society will meet on Friday night owing to the fact that the chapel is to be used for the church fair.

Capt. Morrison of Co. K is opposed to the bill of Capt. Richard W. Sutton, late of Co. B, requiring 60 days notice to a command deemed inefficient, that it might recuperate, and will be heard Monday as a remonstrant.

Mr. L. F. Gomez is going to the Odd Fellows' Home, and the lodges in town propose to give him a grand benefit April 16th. Mr. Gomez has always been ready with his song and guitar to aid others and this call should meet with ready and liberal response.

The Anderson Land Improvement Company has already completed two houses and has five cellars in process on Pond street.

The Braintree Brass Band has been engaged to play in Braintree in the forenoon of Decoration day and at Norwood in the afternoon.

The second monthly reception and social will be given in the Chapel of the South Congregational church on Wednesday evening next by the members of the Young Men's Union.

The meetings held at the Baptist church have been increasing in interest and numbers throughout the week. Mr. Gillam has given some strong impressive sermons and Mr. Estey has delighted the large audiences with his singing. On Sunday morning, at 9.30, Mr. Gillain will talk to the boys and girls. All the children on of the town are invited to this service. The general service at 10.30. Special service at 3 o'clock. Evening service at 7. At all of these services Mr. Gillam will speak and Mr. Estey will sing. The public is cordially invited to attend all these services.

The base ball season will open here on Monday, April 19. The Thayer Academy team has placed a strong nine in the field and manager Waite is confident that his team will make as good a showing as the foot ball eleven did.

The Young Peoples' Christian Union held a very pleasing entertainment in Pythian Hall, Thursday evening. The programme consisted of a piano solo by Miss Bertha White; song by Miss Addie Houlton; reading by Miss Rubie Neil; song by Ernest Cain. The Little Shaking Quakers and a shadow pantomime proved very interesting.

CARD OF THANKS.

We the undersigned wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all who so kindly remembered us in our sad bereavement. To those who ministered at the bedside of our loved one. To those who sent such beautiful letters and magnificent flowers, also to the Welch Glee Club who so kindly rendered their services.

What Was the Trouble?

Health Broken Down, Heart Troubles, Torpid Liver, Consumption, Rheumatism

Whatever It Was, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured by Its Power as The One True Blood Purifier.

Discouraged people are numerous now — some because of lost business, others because of lost health. All may find fresh inspiration and valuable suggestions in the following:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen: For 12 years I have been a commercial traveller, and owing to the hardships of my life, long railroad jumps, all kinds of exposure, and sudden changes of climate, etc., my health gave way. Physicians did not help me and I was given up to die. My illness developed a

Complication of Diseases.

I was without ambition or appetite. All strength had left me. One doctor said I had heart disease, another torpid liver, a third said it was lung trouble and another consumption, and so on. I have no doubt, symptoms of all these complaints and even that of rheumatism, judging from the stiffness and pains in my joints and legs at times, were manifest. I was unable to attend to business, was confined to my room and frequently lay in a comatose state for hours. I was so feeble, and so little encouragement was offered, that I began to wonder

Where I Would be Buried.

Finally, as a last effort to help myself, I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The effects of a few doses of the medicine seemed almost magical. The depressed feeling left me, and when one bottle had been taken, I had regained an appetite, and strength was coming back. After finishing the third bottle I was able to go about my commercial duties. I continued to improve, and to satisfy my mind that I had fully regained health, I submitted myself to a doctor for examination. He pronounced me 'sound as a dollar.' Three months later, I passed a rigid examination for insurance. I have since been in the best of health, notwithstanding my travels, and I give

All the Credit to Hood's

Sarsaparilla, as each season since I have taken several bottles. It keeps my blood in good circulation, gives me a keen appetite and leaves no room for that tired feeling which naturally finds easy prey among those of my calling in the summer months after an early spring hustle. I consider Hood's Sarsaparilla the means of saving my life, and I gladly speak in its favor." A. J. LEITCH, home address, Cass House, Saginaw, Michigan.

The City band is to hold a grand fair in April at Hancock hall.

Bussell took a photograph of the new Savings Bank Building this morning.

The Senate engrossed on Friday the bill relative to the employment of women and minors in mercantile establishments.

Miss Chisholm, music teacher, has removed from Paine street to No. 6 High street, where she will be pleased to receive pupils.

Tramps who are under the influence of liquor would do well hereafter to give Quincy a wide birth when looking for a night's lodging.

The last dance in the series given by the Massachusetts Bay Colony of Pilgrim Fathers will be held in Music hall Friday evening, April 2, and a jolly good time may be expected.

A large sale of building lots at Wollaston belonging to the estate of the late Charles Marsh will be sold by Auctioneer Crane on Patriots' day. The property is worthy of investigation.

An important sale of horses, carriages and livery stable stock is advertised by Auctioneer Crane. He will sell on Monday, April 5, at executrix's sale the property of the late Joseph T. French.

Special attractions are announced for Sunday at the Calvary Baptist church, including address and singing by Mrs. Deojay, who was recently converted from a public opera singer into the service of Jesus Christ.

The young people have found Quincy so dull of late that the announcement of a Hurdy Gurdy to be given tonight by the Unitarian society was greeted with delight. The young ladies are intending to make the dance more dressy than the previous one.

The Randolph Register says: "William Tisdale of Quincy, purchased a venerable looking house on North street, which was well located, repaired it, put plazza around front and south sides, painted it, making a comfortable place for the ones now occupying it."

If there are many more cases in the District Court where such vile language is used as that uttered by a woman prisoner this morning, the court would do well to follow the course of the Judge at Malden and keep everybody out who has no court business.

Quincy citizens should be interested in the Quincy boulevard hearing at the State House at ten o'clock next Wednesday morning. We hope there will be a large attendance as it is time Quincy awoke to her interests and tried to make the city a more attractive place to live in.

Mr. James M. Beckford, who resided in Quincy for many years and was engaged in the tailoring business, but a few years ago sold his residence on Hancock street and moved to New Hampshire, has had recently two shocks of paralysis and is expected to live but a few days.

The Boston Advertiser's story of the Henry Flynt fund would be more complete if it told of the valuable present which was given to Tutor Flynt by the students of Harvard college as told on page XII of the History of Quincy. The income of the fund is $5 30, and goes to the "senior tutor in the university."

If people will remain out late at night they must expect to be held up by our ever watchful police and asked their names, residence and a thousand of other questions. Therefore the gentlemen who were thus held up on the Quincy Point bridge early Friday morning should not have been surprised.

Last night two men, who gave their names as Andrew Sutton and Edward Smith, applied at the police station for lodging. The men were under the influence of liquor and were therefore locked up on the charge of drunkenness and taken into court this morning. Having no money they will lodge for the next thirty days at Dedham.

The Levy of 1896.

To the Editor of the Daily Ledger:

In a recent issue of the LEDGER there is an editorial reflecting upon the Board of Assessors, which is liable to give your readers the impression the board of last year exceeded its authority and did something which it ought not to have done. The very elegant English word you use (viz "monkeying") to indicate what the board did, is capable of embracing so much that may be funny or wrong, that this article will not attempt to deal with so uncertain a word, but will answer the more easily understood part of your editorial.

As must always be the case when an article is started from false premises, most of what follows must be false and misleading, and when you say that "it is not for the Board of Assessors to determine that a smaller sum shall be raised than the City Council deems necessary," you start from a false position which leaves most of your criticism of no value whatever. Is it not perfectly plain that if the City Council should vote to raise a larger sum than the law allows that it would be illegal? Is it not equally plain that if the Board of Assessors should make a tax levy upon an illegal act of the City Council, that the tax levy would also be illegal and of no binding force? Is it not perfectly true that any tax payer might by injunction, prevent the collection of an illegal tax levy? These questions carry their own logical answers and ought to show that Board of Assessors are subject to the vote of City Council only so long as that body keeps within the law and confines its action within proper legal bounds.

Fortunately for Quincy there is no intent to do wrong upon the part of any of the various branches of the government. Last year there was a failure to take into account $12,000 of receipts, and when the fact was brought to the attention of the Board of Assessors, that sum was very properly deducted from the amount to be raised and under the law the board could not have done otherwise.

In Tax Document No. 1, 1896, Section 34, are these words: "The Assessors may deduct from the amount required to be assessed, the amount of all the estimated receipts of their respective cities and towns which are lawfully applicable to the payment of the expenditures of the year." This is just what the board of last year did and ought to have done. I agree with you that every effort should be made to economize and thereby lessen the tax rate.

Yours Respectfully,
JOHN FEDERHEN, 3D,
Principal Assessor.

The Principal Assessor intimates that the order of the City Council of 1896 that $202,500 00 should be levied for city purposes was illegal. But there is no evidence that that was the case. The amount that could be raised in 1896 under the $12 limit, as determined by the Mayor in his inaugural address, was $207,864 09. It will be seen that the order was less than this.

The Principal Assessor further claims that the receipts were not considered by the City Council, but did he know this for a fact. The city appropriations in the annual budget amounted to $227,968.00, yet it was voted to raise but $202,500 00; some receipts certainly must have been considered.

The City Council voted that $202,500.00 should be raised; the City Auditor and City Treasurer have said the amount should have been raised; yet the Assessors of 1896 constituted themselves a financial board, and saw fit to reduce the amount which appears to have been a legal one. What would have been the remedy had the Assessors overestimated the income, and the amount raised had been too small to meet the appropriations? If the Assessors can raise only such sums as they think best we must hold them responsible instead of the City Council for our taxes. This burden we never intended to lay at the door of the Assessors, and don't believe it belongs there now; and the board is making a mistake to add unnecessarily to its burdens by assuming to be the financial regulators.

If the Assessors can raise a smaller sum than ordered by the City Council, they can on the other hand raise a larger sum, provided of course it is within the limits of the law, but there may be more objection and possibly an injunction about that time. It would seem that a tax levy order of the City Council amounts to nothing if it is not to stand. Wonder if the Council of 1897 will dare to pass a tax levy order!

It is undoubtedly a fact that the City Councils have been lax in passing the tax levy orders. It would seem that they should be considered with the appropriation orders; that the financial position of the city should be known and recorded, as to debt limit, tax limit, balance in treasury from appropriations of preceding years, and the estimated receipts which should be itemized. The calculation whereby the Finance Committee reach the amount required to be raised should be a matter of record as a guide for years to come.

—The largest council of the American Legion of Honor in New York has withdrawn from the order.

Hood's Pills

A Little Hero.

John, the 4-year-old son of Alexander Soudan of 128 Water street, proved himself a little hero Friday afternoon by rescuing from a watery grave Bertha Smith a 4-year-old playmate. The children were playing in the field in the rear of Smith's polishing shop on Water street when the little girl fell into the water. She sank once and was going down the second time when the Souden boy rushed to her rescue. He grabbed her, and although the girl struggled, as a drowning person will, the little fellow held on, and shouted for help. His cries were heard by some men working near by who went to his assistance. It was a brave heroic act on the part of the boy and one that the Humane Society might well recognize.

Attempted Suicide.

Dennis Reardon, a blind peddler, aged 65 years, attempted suicide at the Quincy Police station at 4 o'clock this morning, by cutting his throat with a pocket knife. Yesterday Reardon had trouble with his teeth and was given some wood alcohol by a friend to ease the pain. The fluid produced an attack of delirium tremens, in which condition he was found crawling about the street early this morning by officer Bradley, who locked him up for safe keeping. Shortly after being confined he cut a gash in his throat. Dr. Welch was called and took four stitches in the wound, which was not a dangerous one.

Convict Stone.

A bill to prohibit in this Commonwealth the use of stone quarried, cut, dressed or hammered by convict labor came up for a third reading on Friday.

M. Baldwin of Boston said that on two buildings now being erected in Boston, stone that was dressed in the Joliet (Ill) penitentiary is used. The bill is intended to bar out this stone.

Mr. Pierce of Milton considered the bill unconstitutional.

Mr. Barnes of Chelsea raised the point of order than the bill was broader than the scope of the petition on which it was based. The speaker decided the point well taken, and the bill was thrown out.

Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. McPhee, who is to speak at the men's meeting Sunday, is the compiler of "Athletics in the Bible," the outline used in the Gymnasium Bible class. He will conduct the Bible class tomorrow.

Secretary Colton returned yesterday from the New England Secretarys' conference, which was held in Springfield this week.

Keith's Theatre.

Mr. Robert Hilliard's engagement has been the most brilliant that has ever been played at Keith's, as "The Littlest Girl" is certainly the best piece that has so far been seen in vaudeville. If there was any doubt as to this noted actor's success, it has all been swept away by the cordial reception he received at every performance, as curtain calls were the rule and not the exception. The little play will be seen for one week longer. In the variety for the week of March 29 will be the Marco twins, an oddly assorted couple, one of them 6 feet, 3 inches tall, the other 3 feet, 6 inches short, who give an irresistably comic act; Williams and Walker, "real coons," great dancers and vocalists; Maziotta, talented musical artist. There will be new views in the biograph, and several other pleasing features. The noted actor, Maurice Barrymore, will be at Keith's the week for April 12, and Pauline Hall, the opera queen, is scheduled for the week of May 3.

The most valuable Bible in the world belongs to a Chicago man. He bought it at the Brayton Ives sales of rare books for $14,800.

More Bicycle Talk.

THE More we learn of the world and its ways it becomes apparent to us that for every responsible position, there is someone eminently fitted to fill it

We have felt it our mission to establish in the heart of this city of ours, a strictly reliable, reputable, first-class bicycle store. We have, at considerable expense, remodelled our old furniture store to an up-to-date bicycle store, secured the agencies of all America's standard and leading bicycles, fitted up a bicycle repair department second to none, secured the services of an expert repairer, fitted up a department with bicycle sundries, and we can with wisdom say that your new bicycle store is one Quincy, her citizens and neighbors can be justly proud of. Bicycles of repute only; our expert opinion is yours for the asking. Ladies' and Gents' '97 models are here for your inspection. Columbia, Victor, Crawford, Monarch, Defiance, World, Cooper Track Racer, B. & D. Special Roadster and Road Racer, Tandems, etc.

Bradstreet's Says Unfavorable Influences Predominate.

Anti-Trust Decision Threatens Railroad Rates.

Prices In Cereals and Iron Products Have Downward Tendency.

New York, March 27.—Bradstreet's says:

While the week is not without favorable features, unfavorable influences have been more numerous. Leading money markets show no improvement. Mercantile collections continue slow, as heretofore, and the volume of funds offered is in excess of demands for discounts. The tendency of investments to improve has temporarily disappeared under the influence of the supreme court "anti-trust decision," which apparently threatens arrangements for the maintenance of railway rates, as well as railway trades union activity, so far as it may effect interstate commerce.

The tendency of prices is downward, quotations being lower for wheat, Indian corn, oats, coffee, cotton and for pig iron and steel billets, on the outlook for lower priced ore. Open sales of copper at recent privately cut quotations are due to disappointment in the demand. Stormy weather, high water and floods in the Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri valleys and in the country drained by tributary streams, have interfered with interior trade, and, in addition to loss of life, have damaged country roads, houses, farms, bridges, telegraph lines and railway tracks.

The gradual increase in the number of industrial strikes is the outcome of a movement to secure higher wages, and in instances moderate advances have been obtained. Staples for which prices are higher include wool, raw sugar, wheat flour, petroleum, linseed oil and turpentine. Prices are unchanged for print cloths, refined sugar, lard and pork. Recent activity in raw wool continues, and the prospect for an increased tariff on imported woolens causes merchants to purchase American goods more freely. The movement of cottons is not up to expectations, and in some lines is disappointing. The most noticeable improvement in trade is confined to dry goods, hardware, leather, agricultural implements and shoes.

Bank clearings at 77 cities throughout the United States are disappointing, the total being only $888,000,000 for the week, 6.6 per cent less than last week, and 1.2 per cent less than in the like week one year ago. There is practically no change compared with the last week in March, 1895, but as contrasted with the corresponding week in 1894, when the volume of business was at low ebb, this week's total shows an increase of 20 per cent, but as compared with like portions of 1893 and 1892, the decreases are 27 per cent and 22 per cent respectively. Bear selling and liquidation of railroad securities on a large scale, with irregular breaks in prices, followed the decision of the supreme court in the trans-Missouri Traffice association case. Railroad authorities interpret the decision as a substantial condemnation of all agreements to maintain transportation rates. Hopes are expressed that the decision may be modified when the government's appeal in the suit involving the Joint Traffic association's legality comes before the supreme court, and it is argued that the possible general demoralization of rates will force congress to adopt legislation authorizing pooling. The trunk lines are continuing their organization, but many Western roads have withdrawn from the Western Traffic association, and virtually suspended its workings. Liquidation in the stock market now seems exhausted, and the New York stock market is very irregular and sensitive under successive bear selling and covering movements. The industrial stocks are relatively steady, but sugar has yielded under reports of a new opposition refinery. Coal stocks have been heavy, and Jersey Central especially weak at first, followed by covering of shorts and a recovery on reports that the dividend will be maintained, or only slightly reduced. Foreign exchange is higher at 4.87¼ and 4.87½ for demand sterling.

Exports of wheat (flour included as wheat) from both coasts of the United States, and from St. John, N. B., this week, amount to 1,749,419 bushels, compared with 1,629,000 bushels last week, 1,744,000 bushels in the week a year ago, 2,562,000 bushels in the week two years ago, 2,966,000 bushels three years ago, and as contrasted with 2,875,000 bushels in the like week of 1893. Exports of Indian corn continue heavy, amounting to 5,862,687 bushels this week, against 5,939,000 bushels last week, 1,727,000 bushels in the week a year ago, 672,000 bushels in the week two years ago, 1,667,000 bushels three years ago, and as compared with 614,000 bushels in the same week of 1893.

The rate of commercial mortality continues the decline shown in recent weeks, the total number of business failures throughout the United States being 221 this week, compared with 231 last week, 276 in the like week in 1896, 232 in the last week of March, 1895, 246 in the corresponding portion of 1894, and as contrasted with 170 in the corresponding period of 1893.

Wool Still Booming.

Boston, March 27.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin says today of the wool market: Last week's activity has developed a further boom. All previous records of weekly sales are broken. Michigan X wool has advanced to 18 cents and Territory delaine to 40 cents, the highest prices paid since the repeal of the McKinley tariff. One lot of scoured wool was sold three times in three hours, each time at a profit. Sales in Boston for the first three months of 1897 are three times those of the same three months last year. The sales in Boston alone since Jan. 1 exceed the amount of wool ever sold in an entire year at any time in any other American markets. American purchases at the current London auctions are expected to reach 75,000 bales. Prices there have advanced 1 penny a pound. American mills are again running overtime for the first time in years. Advances in price have been established on cheviots, clay, worsted, flannels and certain all wool dress goods.

HARVARD BEATEN.

Yale Again Defeats the Crimson on the Rostrum.

Cambridge, Mass., March 27.—For the second time in the competitive debates between Harvard and Yale the Crimson fell last evening before the orators from New Haven. The contest was a very close one. At the end the judges withdrew, and after remaining out 20 minutes reported that although it had been very hard to determine who should be proclaimed the victor they had decided, after serious deliberation, to decide in favor of Yale.

The question was: "Resolved, That the United States should adopt definitely the single gold standard even if Great Britain, France and Germany should be willing to enter a bimetallic league."

There seemed to be a different idea existing between the teams as to the interpretation of the question. The visitors maintained that the question meant that the present administration should adopt bimetallism, while the Harvards thought that it was simply a question of gold monometallism against bimetallism. In this way the speeches were not exactly opposed to each other, and the defeated orators are not well satisfied with the result for these reasons.

The speeches brought out much keen, logical reasoning and some splendid bursts of oratory. Perhaps the best speakers of the Yale team were, in point of delivery, McFarland, and point of substance, Studinski. Fletcher Dobyns of the Harvard team made the best oratorical effort of the evening.

Harvard had the affirmitive. Each speaker was allowed five minutes' rebuttal. Governor Roger Wolcott presided. The judges were Professor Davis R. Dewey of technology, Professor Franklin H. Giddings of Columbia, and Judge E. A. Aldrich of the United States circuit court.

After the debate a supper was served at the Colonial club in Cambridge.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, March 27. — More time was given yesterday to the testimony in favor of the Boston Elevated Railway company's transit plans; and the militia investigation was turned into a hearing on the bill to provide remedies for the various abuses and causes of grievances which have been mentioned since the subject was brought up. The judiciary committee reported several bills, one of which is for the legalization of the recent election in the town of Melrose.

The order for an investigation of Barnstable jail and its management, which was passed by the senate on Thursday, was thrown out by the house without a division. Mr. Keenan of Boston offered an order for information as to the preservation and whereabouts of original deeds of the land on which Bunker Hill monument stands. All the anti-trust bills, which the senate referred to the next general court, were laid over to April 13, and the committee on insurance was given until April 12 to report on matters now pending before it.

The senate ordered the Dedham sewerage bill to a third reading, laid over the street railway consolidation bill until Tuesday, substituted for an adverse committee report the bill to provide for the establishment of a new monetary standard, and then sent the bill to the ways and means committee.

A bill to prohibit use in this state of stone quarried, dressed, cut or hammered by convict labor, was thrown out.

Reception to Governor Ramsdell.

Manchester, N. H., March 27. — The Calumet club, a leading local social organization, gave a reception last evening in honor of Governor Ramsdell. The governor was accompanied by Miss Ramsdell. In his party were also General John H. Andrews, General George E. Anderson, General Frank P. Maynard and Mrs. Maynard of Claremont, Captain W. S. Edgerly, U. S. A.; General Fred S. Towle, Colonel W. M. D. Swart of Nashua, and Colonel and Mrs. W. B. Rotch of Milford. A ball followed the reception, and a continuous banquet was a feature of the event. The affair was one of the notable social events of the year.

Pine Tree Legislature.

Augusta, Me., March 27.—In the house yesterday, the Oxford village corporation bill was passed. The Brewer Light company's bill was indefinitely postponed. The sum of $3000 was appropriated to care for the Eastern Maine insane hospital buildings. The cattle commission bill was reconsidered and an appropriation for $15,000 passed, after restricting the commission in their privileges. The senate concurred with the house in referring to the next legislature the bill providing for a board of examiners for admission of law students to the bar. The Indurated Fibre company bill was killed by a vote of 20 to 4.

New Hampshire Legislature Adjourns.

Concord, N. H., March 27.—The session of the general court was brought to a close by Governor Ramsdell at noon yesterday. The business of the last day comprised the passage of the "omnibus" appropriation bill and of minor matters. Suitable presents were given to the officers of the house by the members. A summary of the business of the session shows that 509 measures were introduced, of which 142 bills and 45 joint resolutions were passed, 212 bills and 84 joint resolutions failed to pass the branch in which they originated, and 26 were non-concurred in by one branch or the other.

To Be Christened the Dupont.

Bristol, R. I., March 27.—Torpedo boat No. 7, which has just been completed at the Herreshoff works, will be launched at high tide on Monday afternoon. The boat will be christened the Dupont, and Miss Lillian Shelby Converse, the third daughter of Commander George A. Converse, now in charge of the torpedo station at Newport, will break the bottle over the bow of the little fighter as she slips into the water.

Dartmouth's Debaters.

Hanover, N. H., March 27.—The final trial debate for Dartmouth's representatives in the annual Dartmouth-Williams debate was held last night on the same subject as that to be debated finally, and resulted in the choice of G. A. Greene of Brooklyn, F. E. Shaw of Lynn, Mass., and E. P. Seelman of Brooklyn, with H. L. Sampson of Middleboro, Mass., as alternate.

Daughters of Veterans' Convention.

Boston, March 27.—The annual convention of the Massachusetts department, Daughters of Veterans, was opened in this city yesterday, with Miss Cora B. Pike, the department president, in the chair. Committee appointments were announced, and reports of the year's work presented.

Well-Known Teacher Advocates the Decoration of Schools With Portraits.

New York, March 27.—Ross Turner, artist and teacher in the Institute of Technology at Boston, spoke yesterday before the Public Education association. No nation, he said, could compare with us in the matter of education. Naturally we could not remain still. We progress and advance and are in a condition to encourage art in America. Our museums and art schools were good, but we would have to bring our people in closer relations with art and its purposes than could be done by art schools and museums.

In Salem, Medford, New Bedford and other New England towns the walls of the schools were decorated, Mr. Turner said, with pictures, etc. Works of art and photographs did more for the pupils than books.

He thought that in every school there should be a bust or portrait of some Revolutionary hero, statesman or very prominent man. In the hallways of the higher grades he believed there should be portraits. These pictures seen by children would impress them and teach them much.

Mr. Turner said more should be made of drawing. We lacked skill in this country, were clumsy, and did not know how to use our hands. Drawing was the first step for the cultivator of the hands. The work of making beautiful things ought to be cultivated. Facilities, he said, should be increased for additional work in the schools. We should build up our own art through the rising generations.

In conclusion, he said that art would have to be brought in among the people. No people were so well adapted to bring out this spirit as the women of America, who had brains and money.

Captain Reed Charged With Cruelty.

New York, March 27.—The hearing in the case of Captain Reed of the T. F. Oakes, which was to have begun yesterday before the United States shipping commissioner, was put off for the present. It is said that all the witnesses are not ready to testify. Twelve of the sailors of the T. F. Oakes charge Captain Reed with cruelty. They are now in the marine hospital at Clifton, S. I. The vessel was 259 days coming from Hong Kong, and had a tempestuous voyage. Six of the crew died on the way. The sailors in the hospital are suffering from scurvy in an aggravated form. They say they had poor and insufficient food.

The Marsh Case.

Montpelier, Vt., March 27.—The defense in the Marsh murder trial continued to introduce testimony yesterday tending to show that Marsh was a sufferer from dyspepsia and heart disease; that he took much medicine, some of which contained poison, and regarding which the doctor had warned him not to take an overdose. Henry Buzzell, father of the male defendant, testified that the relations between Marsh and his son were always friendly, and that the former had often invited him to visit the Marsh home. Dr. Johnson of Northfield testified of his treatment of Marsh during his last illness, and the medicine he prescribed.

May Affect Labor Unions.

New York, March 27.—In an interview regarding the recent decision of the United States supreme court sustaining the anti-trust law, Senator Edmunds said: "According to the judgment of the majority of the court almost any combination is illegal if it be deemed an unreasonable restraint of trade. Trades unions are liable to be decided to be unreasonable combinations. There are unions of labor that may be decided to constitute 'unreasonable contracts affecting trade.' There is a great field for litigation created by the decision." Mr. Edmunds was the author of the law which forbids combinations and trusts.

Price of Milk Fixed.

Boston, March 27.—A meeting of the directors of the Milk Producers' union was held yesterday, and the question of fixing the price of milk for the six months from April 1 was discussed. A majority of those present were in favor of having the farmers withhold the supply of milk until some agreement could be reached with the contractors, but as less than two-thirds required by the constitution voted in favor of the measure the attempt proved a failure. The contractors, however, conceded several points, and after the vote the directors closed the contract for milk at the same price as last summer.

England Will Reject Treaty.

London, March 27.—In an interview, Mr. William R. Cremer, formerly member of parliament for the Haggerston division of Shoreditch, Radical, who has for many years been secretary of the International Arbitration league, and who is editor of the society's organ, The Arbitrator, is quoted as saying that he considers it inadvisable to ratify the amended arbitration treaty. He adds that the British government will almost certainly refuse to accept the treaty in its emasculated form, and asserts there is good reason to hope that in a few months it will be carried as originally proposed.

Burned From Head to Foot.

Toronto, March 27.—Yesterday in the works of the gutta percha manufacturing company at Parkdale, George and Percy Holden, 23 and 19 years of age, were boiling some varnish. The fumes ignited and the blazing fluid was thrown over the two men. Both made for the door, and plunged into a pond in the yard, extinguishing their burning clothing, but as they inhaled the fumes, and are burned from head to foot, their recovery is extremely doubtful. The damage to the building and plant was trifling.

The murderer who, at dead of night, creeps, stealthily out to bury the dead and mangled body of his victim inspires men with horror and dread. There is a murderer abroad who yearly slays one-sixth of all the human race who go down to untimely deaths. This dread monster is called consumption. The approach of consumption is slow and insidious. First there is a slight disorder of the digestion. The appetite is poor and the nourishing properties of the food are not properly assimilated. The blood becomes thin and impure. The body begins to starve. Old tissues of the body are not properly replaced by new. The lung tissues are not properly nourished and are inert and half dead. In this condition they offer a good soil for the germs of consumption which invade and attack them.

This operation is promptly reversed by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It invigorates the digestion and appetite and makes assimilation perfect. It builds up and purifies the blood. It makes new and healthy tissue to replace the old, inert matter which it causes to be carried off. It drives out all disease-germs. Thousands of cases given up as hopeless have been cured.

Miss Laura Piersel, of East Bethlehem, Washington Co., Pa., writes: "I must write you telling you of the great benefit derived from the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Last summer my friends thought I was surely going into consumption, and having tried doctors with no satisfactory results and hearing your medicine so highly spoken of, I took one bottle. My cough left me together with all the distressing symptoms, and in fact the cure seemed almost miraculous to all who saw me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated granules that are an unfailing and permanent cure for constipation.

CATARRH

DEFEATED

For Three Years He Suffered—Could Hardly Breathe at Night—One Nostril Closed for Ten Years.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of De Leon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch glad for the night's coming, he went it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him.

DE LEON, TEXAS.

Messrs. Lippman Bros., Savannah, Ga.

GENTS: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily.

I have not slept on either side for two years, in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night.

I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.

Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY.

Puritana in the Spring.

The universal custom of taking a spring remedy is founded on a natural instinct implanted in us for our own good.

The heat-producing foods of winter leave the system clogged. Confinement in warm rooms, with lack of outdoor exercise, makes all the organs weak and torpid. Those who neglect to use a remedy or fail to get the right one are inviting serious troubles. Most chronic diseases start in the spring. The end of winter finds thousands with such symptoms as these: A general unfitness for work with either head or hands. A worn-out, tired-out feeling that cannot be overcome. There is sleeplessness, or restless sleep. Numbness of hands or feet. A sense of pressure in the head, with a feeling of gloom or despondency. There may be fluttering or palpitation of the heart. Frequently a pain in the heart or under the left shoulder. There may be rushes of blood to the head, or throbbing in the ears at times.

Kidney and liver troubles may be looked for if your digestion has not been perfect. There is fulness of pain in the right side, or pain under the right shoulder. Distaste for food, with nausea in the morning. Complexion is blotched or sallow. Tongue is coated or mouth foul. There is a dull, sleepy feeling, with disinclination to breathe deeply. If the kidneys are in danger there will be pain, weakness, or soreness in small of back, and perhaps occasional sharp pains. Urine is scanty, high colored, and on standing becomes cloudy, or deposits a red sediment. There are apt to be frequent headaches. Sores and skin eruptions frequently come.

All these various symptoms are common to spring, and show that the vital organs need renovating and prompt repair. Bright's disease, jaundice, rheumatism, and heart troubles start from such conditions as these. No two persons will have the same set of symptoms, but any of those enumerated are important. The organs must be strengthened and repaired. Repair can only come through active digestion, and Puritana is the remedy to rely on. It will vitalize the entire body and give you a spring of buoyant, vigorous health. Clear complexion, sharp appetite, and the power to do things, is the sure reward of taking Puritana.

SENATE AND HOUSE.

Civil Service Commission Again Ridiculed by Senator Gallinger.

Dingley Bill Being Amended Under Five-Minute Rule.

Discussion Covers Wide Range of Political Topics---Controversy Over Trusts.

Washington, March 27.—Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire again attacked the civil service commission in the open session of the senate yesterday. He ridiculed the rules made by the commission, and said Phil Sheridan would never have served the government if he had been compelled to pass a civil service examination.

A resolution was adopted asking the president for information as to the death of two American sailors at Santiago de Cuba; also resolutions asking the attorney general for information of any proposition to sell the Union Pacific railroad. Owing to the public demand for copies of a recent decision of the supreme court sustaining the anti-trust law as applicable to railroads it was determined to print the majority and minority opinions as a senate document.

The debate on the Anglo-American arbitration treaty was continued by the senate in executive session. Senator Gray, a member of the committee on foreign relations, held the floor during the two hours that the question was under consideration, but he yielded to numerous interruptions, some of which amounted to independent speeches. Mr. Gray defended the treaty as one which would reflect credit upon its authors and upon the two nations which it was intended to bind together even more closely than they are at present bound. He ridiculed the fears of those who consider the treaty a trap for Americans, and said that if as originally negotiated it could be construed as prejudical to American interests (and he did not believe it could be) certainly all defects were cured by the amendments of the committee on foreign relations. He made an argument to show that these amendments would accomplish the result which the Chilton amendment aimed at.

Senator Thurston took occasion to explain his position, which was that there should be a declaration so explicit on the character of disputes to be settled under the treaty as to leave no room for misunderstanding on this point in the future. He said it should be made entirely clear that all questions of American policy, whether foreign or domestic, were to be reserved from the operations of the treaty, and he would vote for the amendment that would bring out this fact in the clearest language.

Quite a pronounced tendency developed in the direction of an amedment similar to the first amendment originally reported by the foreign relations committee, excepting all questions of policy, and it was suggested by some that there should be a return to the original position of Lord Salisbury favorable to the arbitration of only pecuniary claims, leaving out all questions of policy and of territorial rights.

The senate adjourned to Monday.

UNDER FIVE-MINUTE RULE.

Tinkering of Dingley Tariff Bill Now In Full Blast

Washington, March 27.—Seven hours were spent yesterday in debating amendments to the tariff bill under the five-minute rule. The Democrats offered many amendments, but they were all rejected.

Three slight committee amendments were adopted, and also an amendment offered by Mr. Mahany (Rep., N. Y.) to increase the duty on white lead from ½ to 3 cents per pound, the rate in the act of 1890. The present duty is 1½ cent. Mr. Mahany said the increase was asked for by a concern which was independent of the Lead trust. It was adopted by a strict party vote. The discussion covered a wide range of political topics, and at times was both interesting and exciting. By far the most important feature of the day was the attempt of Mr. Dockery of Missouri, Mr. Cooper of Texas and others, backed by the entire opposition, to secure a vote on an amendment offered in a multitude of forms, which provided that in case any article made dutiable by the bill was controlled by a trust or combination, the duty upon such article should be suspended. Mr. Dingley made the point of order that the amendment was not germane to the dutiable list and would not be in order until the free list was reached. For almost three hours this point of order was fought over and made the subject of criminations and recriminations. The Democrats contended that if the amendment was ruled out it never would be voted upon, as the free list, in all human probability, would not be reached before the final vote was taken. The chair sustained the point of order. An appeal was taken, but the chair was sustained by a strict party vote, 158 to 104.

Tariff Bill Amendments.

Washington, March 27.—An amendment to the cotton schedule of the tariff bill has been agreed upon by the Republican members of the ways and means committee, and doubtless will be adopted by the house. Underwear valued at less than $1.50 per dozen has been rated at 35 per cent ad valorem in the Dingley bill, which is the McKinley rate. The present rate is 50 per cent, and on representations that quantities of these goods, chiefly made in Switzerland, are being imported into the country, the 50 per cent will be retained. Rough material for eye glasses and spectacles worked into the form of discs have heretofore been admitted free, but in the new bill a duty has been placed upon them. The committee has learned that all of the discs used in this country are imported, and they will be returned to the free list.

Protectionist Democrats.

Washington, March 27.—Four Democratic members of the house, it is understood, will vote for the Dingley tariff bill. Three of the four are in the Louisiana delegation, and the other is from Texas. The Louisiana men are induced to vote for protection mainly on account of the sugar schedule of the bill, which meets their approval. While the wool schedule has won the member from Texas, there are six members of the Louisiana delegation, all of whom favor protection on sugar.

Hawaiian Annexation.

Washington, March 27.—It is reported that a joint resolution for the annexation of Hawaii to the United States will soon be presented in congress.

Capital Chat.

The committee on legislation, which was appointed by the Indianapolis monetary convention of last summer, called on Speaker Reed and talked with him concerning legislation for currency and banking reform. The spokesmen of the delegation were George Foster Peabody of New York, John P. Irish of San Francisco and H. H. Hanna of Indianapolis. They spoke of the desirability of the passage of a bill authorizing the president to appoint a commission to investigate the banking and currency system of the country, and to recommend changes.

Another factor in the policy of the postoffice department was announced yesterday by First Assistant Postmaster General Heath. It is that offensive partisanship will not be considered provocation for removal unless such action is shown to have been detrimental to the administration of the postal service.

Secretary Gage has ordered the discontinuance of the office of shipping commissioner at Mobile, and will follow this with another closing the corresponding office at Brunswick, Ga. The animating purpose is an economical one.

Representative Griggs of Georgia has introduced a resolution to have the constitution so amended as to give congress the power to impose and collect an income tax, without regard to population or to the census enumeration.

Legality of Half-Holiday Questioned.

Fall River, Mass., March 27.—The attempt to question the legality of the Saturday half-holiday, with full day's pay, which is granted to city employes, will not be abandoned, and may be carried into the courts. Some weeks ago Councilman Smith introduced an order calling for an opinion from City Solicitor Wood on the matter. The order was promptly tabled, and all attempts to take it from the table have been unavailing. Councilman Smith, being determined that the right to so disburse the city's funds shall be questioned, has sought legal advice, and will probably seek an injunction to restrain the city treasurer from paying money for this purpose.

Charged With Selling Liquor.

Concord, N. H., March 27.—The local Law and Order league brought on considerable excitement yesterday by having papers served on James H. Dolan, manager of the Eagle hotel wine room. The Eagle is owned by a stock company, comprising several leading men of Concord. A few years ago this room was raided by the same organization, but the matter was settled. Two local druggists, on whom papers were served for selling liquors to county authorities, as shown by the county books, were bound over to the supreme court in $200 each.

Increased Requirements Announced.

Cambridge, Mass., March 27.—The Lawrence scientific school of Harvard university announces an increase in the requirements for admission, making them substantially equivalent to the requirements for the college. Both German and French will be demanded, and Latin, Greek, drawing, shop work, several scientific subjects, trigonometry, and advanced algebra, together with advanced German and French, will be placed on the optional list. This increase will be made gradually, beginning with the examinations held in 1898.

Dunkards Migrate.

Chicago, March 27.—Chicago is to be made the rallying point next week for hundreds of Dunkards, gathering for their fourth annual migration to the newly established colony of that faith in North Dakota. Large parties will come from Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia and Pennsylvania. The united company will leave Chicago Tuesday afternoon. Overcrowding of the land where the Dunkards have hitherto been settled is the cause of this general movement. The North Dakota community now numbers about 3000.

Deadlock In Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., March 27.—The third joint senatorial ballot, which was taken yesterday, found Dr. W. G. Hunter two votes short, although only 66 were necessary to a choice, there being three pairs. The vote was: Hunter, 64; Blackburn, 46; Davie, 13; Boyle, 6; Stone, 1. On motion of the Hunter side, the joint session adjourned without taking another ballot.

Mayor Noble Collapses.

Lewiston, Me., March 27. — Mayor Frank L. Noble, who started a week ago for Lakewood, N. J., in search of health, returned from Everett, Mass., last night in a state of collapse. He is suffering from nervous prostration, and his health is in a precarious state.

Well-Known Resident Missing.

Portsmouth, N. H., March 27.—Charles Foster, a well-known resident of this city, has been missing from his home for over a week. The police are investigating the case, but are unable to gain a clew of his whereabouts. Mr. Foster is over 60 years of age.

Edgartown Votes For Water Works.

Edgartown, Mass., March 27.—The citizens of this town voted favorable for the water works bill, which is at present tabled in the house of representatives, at a meeting yesterday.

DEATH RECORD.

Edmund Charles Yon, the well-known French etcher, engraver and painter, is dead.

Ralph Cheney, aged 991, one of the founders of the well-known firm of Cheney Bros., silk manufacturers, died at Manchester, Conn., yesterday.

William C. Avery, aged 60, for many years agent of the Warren Woolen company of Stafford Springs, Conn., died yesterday. The deceased was well known to the woolen trade throughout New England.

John W. Graeton, aged 74, died yesterday at Brooklyn. Early in life he was a gold pen manufacturer. He studied chemistry, and also became an assayer, carrying on the business of refining gold and silver. He invented a solder of copper that would not eat through gold, and for that discovery he was offered $50,000. He thoroughly understood the alloy of metals, and when the government began the coinage of 5-cent nickel pieces it was Mr. Graeton who showed the men at the mint how to alloy the metal so that the coin would not break in the die.

GERMANY WITHDRAWS

Report That European Concert in Crete Has Been Broken.

Insurgents Continue Hostilities in Canea.

Austria Suggests That Blockade Be Extended to Grecian Coast.

Constantinople, March 27.—It is asserted here, on what is regarded as reliable authority, that in consequence of the refusal of Lord Salisbury to join in the blockade of Greek ports, Germany has given notice to the powers of her intention to withdraw from the concert.

It is understood that Turkey sent her squadron through the Dardanelles on the advice of Germany.

The ambassadors of the powers held a meeting to consider a dispatch from the foreign admirals in Cretan waters, which states that it is becoming more evident that continuance of Turkish authority in Crete is impossible, and suggesting that a European governor general be appointed and that the Turkish troops be withdrawn.

Still Fighting Near Canea.

Canea, March 27.—Fighting went on all yesterday around Tsikalaria, Nerokuru and Daxan. The Greeks in the blockhouse at Malaxa are said to have fired on the Turkish fleet in Suda bay. Rami Pasha, the Turkish admiral, has landed with a quantity of munitions of war.

The Christians tried to build earthworks on the hills above Malaxa, but they were bombarded by the foreign warships.

In addition to continuing the work of burning the property of Mussulmans at Perivolia, the Christians have attacked the village of Darabos, and have begun to bombard the fortress of Butounaria, which protects the springs supplying Canea with water.

It is understood here that the admirals have invited the Turkish commander to reoccupy Malaxa under the protection of the international fleet, with the promise to shell the insurgents should they attack him. But the commander declines to make the attempt on the ground that his troops are too much demoralized.

Colonel Vassos says that the blockade at Malaxa is outside the neutral zone, but if the admirals had asked that the Turks be allowed to withdraw they would not have been molested.

Throughout the island the Mohammedans think they may do what they like now because they have European backing. In all directions they are pillaging and burning the property of Christians.

Proposal to Extend Blockade.

London, March 27.—A dispatch to The Daily News from Vienna says the Austrian foreign office has proposed to extend the blockade along the entire Greek coast, with special stringency at the Piraeus bay and the gulfs of Volo, Arta and Corinth. England, having abandoned the condition that Turkey and Greece must be asked to withdraw their troops from the Thessalian frontier before the blockade is extended to the gulf of Volo, will be content, it is assumed by the Austrian office, if the admirals so arrange the blockade as to spare the susceptibilities of certain powers.

A dispatch from The Daily Chronicle's Athens correspondent says that the crown prince will start to assume his command this evening at 7 o'clock, going by sea to Volo, and thence by railway. The crown princess will accompany him as far as Larissa, where she will inspect the arrangements made by the Red Cross society. She will remain there two days and then return to Athens. In order to avoid popular demonstrations this program has not been published at Athens.

A dispatch to The Daily News from Rome says that the powers have decided not to consult Greece on the details of autonomy for Crete. Instructions have been sent to the admirals giving them full power to extend the blockade to Greek ports if they deem it necessary.

The Athens correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says: It is madness for the powers to suppose that Greece, in order to form a neutral zone, will withdraw 60,000 eager troops to a region without barracks, stores or military base of any kind and there rest calmly while the powers work out their pleasure in Crete.

A dispatch to The Times from Athens says that the royal decree appointing the Crown Prince Constantine to the command of the army on the Thessalian frontier was published yesterday.

The Times' correspondent at Salonika says that a Turkish merchantman has arrived there with torpedoes, which are being laid across the harbor.

A dispatch to The Times from Salonika says that Edhem Pasha, commander of the Turkish army on the Macedonian frontier, reviewed 20,000 infantry at Elassona yesterday. It is still asserted that he complains of the insufficiency of the troops, and will be recalled at his own request. He considers that at least 200,000 Turkish troops are needed to meet the emergency. The health of his forces is fairly good, but there have been outbreaks of smallpox and many cases of dysentery.

Salisbury and Hanotaux Agree.

Paris, March 27.—Lord Salisbury, who is here on his way to Cimiez, where he will act as minister in attendance upon Queen Victoria, had a conference with M. Hanotaux, minister of foreign affairs, yesterday. It is understood that the two ministers concurred in the view that the proposed blockade of the Piraeus, the port of Athens, and the port of Volo, Thessaly, should be enforced if Greece refused to assent to the establishment of a neutral zone extending one mile on either side of the Greco-Turkish frontier.

Quincys vs. Murrays.

The Quincys had a picnic with the Murray & Irwin team in the City league last evening on the alleys of the latter. They set a very rapid pace in the first string, which they won by 157 pins. The Quincys lost the second by 7 pins but increased their lead in the finals, winning the match by handsome score and 230 pin s

The Quincy players were closely bunched, there being a difference of but 38 pins in totals, while the singles ranged between 138 and 190. None of the Murrays went over 171 on singles while seven were below 138. The Quincys averaged 156 and their rivals but 141.

Greeks Leave New York.

New York, March 27.—On board the French line steamship Champagne, which sailed today for Europe, are 150 Greeks, who are going home to fight against Turkey. They were given an enthusiastic farewell by their compatriots in this city. A procession was formed, and with bands playing, colors flying and the populace cheering, the volunteers, followed by 800 Greeks, who are not yet ready to leave for the front, marched through various streets to the French line pier. There speeches were made and good-byes were exchanged.

WOMAN AND FASHION.

Leading Features of Fashion—Stylish Neckwear of the Time—The Fashionable Woman's Jewels.

Silks are to the fore again for the incoming season. Hard to please will be the woman who does not have a silken gown to her taste, for the shops are displaying a variety in silks all the way from rich brocades to foulards. Foulards, by the bye, afford the fabric for the practical silk gown for summer wear. One of the most popular silks are the new surahs. A novelty is the moire taffeta.

The accordion plaited skirt has been revived and promises to be popular again. Evening toilets are, if possible, more elaborate than ever. The demitrain is growing more and more in favor for important occasions, and most evening gowns are made in this fashion. There is daily evidence of the increasing popularity of trimmed skirts and bolero bodices.

AFTERNOON DRESS.

A charming afternoon dress for spring wear is in gray cachemire drap, trimmed with satin pipings. These pipings simulate triple epaulets and numerous vest fronts. They also describe festoons and chevrons on the skirt. The blouse is in white silk muslin, headed with an 1840 necktie in black velvet. There are a small turndown collar and upper epaulets, with lapel ends knotted at the points in guipure lace.

Stylish Neckwear.

High standing ruches are made of various fabrics. Taffeta silk in light colors, bound with narrow black velvet, is pretty. There are three rows of the silk ruffles gathered into a plain band. These are intended to be basted inside the high collar of the bodice. Another variety of these neck ruches is made of moire silk. A high silk collar has a series of stiff upstanding leaf shaped tabs bound with very narrow velvet binding. Inside of these tabs is a very full plaited double ruffle of satin edged chiffon. These collars fasten at the back, ending there with two full rosettes of satin ribbon.

Broad satin ribbon is made up in stock effect, with overhanging ruffles of soft lace or chiffon or stiff, upstanding ruffles of mousseline de soie.

Another fashion of collar is made, stiff and high, of satin, and used as a foundation for a double row of loops formed of two ribbons, white and black or white and pink, for instance, the white ribbon showing beneath the black or colored outer ribbon. These ruches tie at the back and give a quaint and effective finish to the neck of one's bodice. For street wear full ruffs of silk or chiffon are still popular. Large jabots of white lace are much employed. In addition to the foregoing description illustrations of spring fashions in linen collars are given in Vogue.

The Fashionable Woman's Jewels.

The fashionable woman's collection of jewels includes, in addition to the important gem collars, tiaras and shoulder pieces, an assortment of lesser ornaments mounted as clasp pins and in form of stars, crescents, sprays and the like. These are fastened on the costume whenever a dazzling effect is required.

The Entr'acte Cigar.

Man has demanded and obtained the abolition of the obnoxious theater hat. Now The Puritan suggests that he in return consent to the abolition of the entr'acte beverage and cigarette, at least until the managers consent to seat their patrons less strictly upon the sardine principle.

A Novel Woman's Club.

A mutual benefit society of a novel character has been organized at Hagerstown, Ind. It is told that the members are young women from the best families, and their one and sole object is to help one another to be fascinating. They call themselves the Orioles.

The Woman's club organized in Denver labors, it is said, in a broad field. It is modeled on the Chicago plan and has 650 members. There are six departments in the Denver club, devoted respectively to "home," "reform," "art and literature," "science and philosophy," "philanthropy" and "education."

CURRENT MISCELLANY.

One of the most beautiful and without doubt the costliest materials ever woven in Lyons is the magnificent and unique brocade manufactured for the German empress. The ground is silvery white silk, and the highly raised design consists of bold sprays of flowers and foliage, among which bright plumaged birds disport themselves. Every petal, leaf and feather is perfect, and the whole stands out in such strong relief that at a distance the effect is as though the pattern was laid lightly upon the silk beneath.

One weaver alone was capable of producing this masterpiece, and it took him many long months to complete a piece of sufficient length for a gown. The wages he received in addition to his ordinary pay were at the rate of 100 francs ($20) per yard, the eventual price of the brocade being 600 francs ($120) per yard. The stuff had been specially ordered for a state gown for the empress, but when her majesty beheld it she instantly exclaimed that it was far too beautiful to cut up and gave the command that curtains should be made of it instead of utilizing it for the purpose originally intended. Up to that date the most expensive material on record was the cloth of gold bought by Louis XIV for a dressing gown, which cost, according to modern reckoning, the respectable sum of 414 francs per meter. —New York Journal.

Trying Her In a Squall.

A good story is told of the lake captain, R. B. Forbes, who was interested in some 70 sail of fine vessels, and who built many clippers for the India and China trade before the general application of steam. It seems that while testing the sailing qualities of a clipper schooner she was struck by a squall in Boston harbor, fell on her side, filled with water and went down. Fortunately she had a boat in tow, which saved all hands. He would not start a sheet nor luff her into the wind to prevent her being capsized. He was determined to know what she could do in a squall, even at the risk of his life and the lives of a select party of nautical friends he had with him, and, although this experiment may have been of interest to Captain Forbes, it is doubtful whether his invited guests relished their position. Later she was raised without much trouble and had her spars reduced. For years afterward she was famous along the coast of China for her speed. —Harper's Round Table.

The Passing of the Dry Goods Jobber.

A factory having produced a stock of goods from the best designs to be obtained by its agents here and abroad, the next step is to sell at a profit. Twenty-five years ago the mill or factory sold all its goods to the jobbers, who in turn distributed them to the retailers throughout the country. Each mill had its selling agents, who undertook to dispose of its product to the jobbers. A retailer could buy nothing directly from the agent of the mill. Within the last 10 or 15 years the small jobber has been eliminated. In 1850 there were half a hundred dry goods jobbers in New York city and as many in Boston, all doing a good business. Today the number has dwindled to half a dozen in each city. The same thing is true of Philadelphia and Chicago. Only a few of the very largest jobbing houses have survived.—Philip G. Hubert, Jr., in Scribner's.

The Kaiser and the Lover.

A pretty story, savoring of the romantic, is told in the French press about the kaiser. His majesty went to the Berlin barracks alone. The corporal on guard recognized the kaiser immediately and saluted him. The kaiser was pleased and, approaching the soldier, said, "Why do you look so sad, corporal?" The corporal did not reply. The emperor then asked if he was disappointed in love. At this the corporal found his tongue and replied that he wished to marry Marguerite, the daughter of his sergeant major, but that her father would not give his consent until he became a sergeant. "And do you love her very much?" asked the kaiser. "Oh, yes!" was the reply. "Then," said the emperor, "go and tell your future father-in-law that William II makes you a sergeant."—London Globe.

The Bicycle.

This century, some one was heard to comment the other day, has been kind to the middle aged. It has given to women the woman's club and to men and women both the bicycle, which emphasizes a doctor's advice that it is the adult more than the child who needs a wheel, for it is the adult who has to be coaxed out of doors. A growing boy or girl should have other exercise in connection with riding the wheel, which does not develop, except in one movement, but the parents may consider they have done very well for themselves if they have accomplished the bicycle.—New York Post.

Old Time Ballots.

Discussions about the best form for a ballot and the best method of casting it are a part of the after talk of elections. When corn and beans were used for ballots "in the good old colony times," this particular kind of political debate did not prevail. Corn was "to manifest election" and beans an opposing vote. The expression "to corn" (a man) meant to choose him. This primitive simplicity did not prevent cheating, for it was provided that "if any freeman shall put in more than one Indian corn or Beane he shall forfeit for every such offense Ten Pounds."—Youth's Companion.

There were two Brutuses. One, Lucius Junius, the grandson of Tarquin, whose son having violated Lucretia, Brutus aroused the people to expel the family and proclaim him consul. The other was Marcus Junius Brutus, who was believed to be a natural son of Cæsar, by Cato's sister. It was he who joined the patriots that killed Cæsar.

Castle Square Theatre.

The attraction announced at the Castle Square Theatre for the coming week will be a notable event in the season's happenings, as Director Jaxon has arranged a revival of Balfe's old time favorite opera "Satanella." This tuneful work has not been heard here for a quarter of a century and there is every reason to anticipate as great a success for it as that which has always attended the same composer's "Bohemian Girl." The story of "Satanella" is of facinating interest, dealing with the love of Count Rupert and Lelia, his foster-sister, which has a succession of interruptions but is finally triumphant over all obstacles. Balfe has made the cavatina "The Power of Love" the central musical idea of the score which has numerous evidences of the genius that gave the "Bohemian Girl" to the world and made its composer known to the lovers of music of both continents. The action of the opera affords splendid opportunities for senic and costume displays.

SHOT TWICE IN BACK.

Body of Walter H. Debbins Found In Wood Near Medford.

Authorities Completely Nonplussed at Mystery.

Murdered Youth Had No Known Enemies or Love Affairs.

Medford, Mass., March 29.—Walter H. Debbins, aged 20, son of an ice contractor of this place, was assassinated Saturday in the woods near here by some unknown person. The assassin fired two bullets into the young man's back, killing him instantly. Young Debbins' chum, F. W. Woods, is detained by the police, but he apparently knows nothing of the crime. Woods and Debbins had an appointment to meet in the wood, and when the former went to the appointed place he found the dead body of his comrade.

The murder is one of the most peculiar and mysterious that has occurred in Middlesex county for a long time. The police are unable to discover a motive for the crime. Young Debbins is not known to have had an enemy in the world. He lived with his father, William T. Debbins, and his mother and sister at 47 Forrest street, and up to a short time ago drove an ice wagon for his father. His chum, Woods, a hostler by occupation, was also out of work, and the two young men have been in the habit lately of spending their afternoons roaming about in the woods of Middlesex Fells. They had an appointment together Saturday afternoon at the Melrose pumping station. Two 15-year-old boys who live in Melrose, and were riding their bicycle through the woods, discovered the body, and were the first to notify the police. While the patrol wagon was being rapidly driven to the scene young Woods was met walking hurriedly toward Debbins' home. He told the officers he was going to notify Mr. Debbins of his son's death, saying that he had come upon his chum's dead body, which was still warm, lying in the woods. Woods was without any overcoat, and it was afterwards found by the officers near the body. He claimed to have thrown it aside so as to run faster. The ground where the murdered boy's body was found showed no signs of a scuffle, and it is thought the person who committed the deed must have planned his work well, for he must have crept up behind Debbins and fired the two shots without any warning. Woods tells a good, straightforward story, and the police are of the opinion that as far as the case has been investigated his story is all right.

The autopsy by Medical Examiner Durrell showed that one bullet had entered under the left shoulder and passed into the heart. The second bullet entered four inches to the right, and in a diagonal line, so that it struck the first bullet in the heart. The murder was hardly for robbery, although his watch and ring have disappeared, yet his pipe lay where it had dropped from between his teeth when he fell. It was talked about that Debbins had had a love quarrel with a young woman with whom he kept company, but if there were any sentimental attachments mixed up in the tragedy it is more likely that another suitor of the woman's, if there was one, might explain it. There are no known witnesses of the shooting, but several men driving teams who passed that way saw the body and took it for that of a drunken man sleeping off his potions.

The Medford police and the state officers detailed on the case are all at sea. On the supposition that the story told by Woods was true, and thereby clearing himself, the police went to work on another clew, which has failed to bring out anything. The autopsy was held, and it determined that the weapon was a 38-calibre one, probably a revolver. The shot was probably fired from a distance of several feet, and presumably the murderer stood in a gully across the road from where the body was found.

MAYOR NOBLE DEAD.

Lewiston's Executive Passed Away Early This Morning.

Lewiston, Me., March 29. — Mayor Frank L. Noble died at 1:15 o'clock this morning. The end was painless, and at his bedside were his wife and son and law partner, H. L. Crockett.

Francis L. Noble was a son of Eleazer R. and Harriet S. (Lamb) Noble, and was born at Fairfield Corner, July 22, 1854. He fitted for college at the Maine state seminary, now Bates college, from which institution he graduated in 1874. Choosing immediately the legal profession, he read law in the office of Strout & Holmes in Portland, where he remained for three years, being admitted to the Cumberland county bar in 1877. He practiced law in Lewiston in partnership with James Nash from 1877 to 1879.

Returning in 1881 from Minneapolis, where he practised for two years, he, in 1885, took as his partner J. F. Merrie, which partnership was dissolved at the end of one year. In 1894 he became associated with R. L. Crockett, with whom he has since been associated.

Mr. Noble has served the city three successive terms, and was re-elected last month by a large majority. He has also represented the district in the legislature since 1891.

He always had been an ardent Republican, and prominent on city and county committees. On Christmas day, 1882, he married Miss Clara P. Spofford. By a former wife he had one son, who is now living at Portland.

"THE ELMS" DESTROYED.

Magnificent Residence of Colonel Tyler at New London In Ashes.

New London, Conn., March 29.—"The Elm," the magnificent residence of Colonel A. C. Tyler on Pequot avenue, with all its elaborate furnishings, valuable paintings, bric-a-brac, musical instruments, silver, etc., was totally destroyed by fire yesterday, causing a loss of over $200,000; insurance, $75,000. The family records of the Osgoods, from whom Mrs. Tyler is descended, and the records of the Tylers for generations, as well as many heirlooms, were also destroyed, and both Colonel Tyler and wife feel the loss of these most keenly.

The residence was a spacious three-story wooden building. The fire is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in the music room, where painters have been working for several days. Colonel Tyler resides in Washington during the winter, and preparations were being made to have the home in readiness for his return next Thursday. The butler was the only occupant of the house yesterday morning, and he was awakened by the strong smell of smoke. The fire was burning briskly at the time, and he escaped with difficulty. It was impossible to save anything, and the fire department found their efforts to check the flames futile before the residence was entirely reduced to ashes. The family silver had been returned from Tiffany's only a few days ago, and was still uncased, but it was impossible to save any of it. Thirty thousand dollars' worth of jewelry was also destroyed.

Boston Horse Show.

Boston, March 29.—The entries for the Boston horse show, to be held in Mechanics' building during the week of April 19, closed at midnight Saturday, and up to that hour 550 entries were received. This does not include the entries mailed last Saturday, which will not be received at the office of the show until some time today. It is estimated that when the New York and other entries come in the total list will be close to 800. Last year the entries numbered 620, and the big increase promised for this year is evidence of the great interest taken in the Boston horse show by breeders and owners of fancy stock. This year's list includes the names of horse owners and turf devotees from all parts of the United States and Canada. There are 104 classes, including thoroughbreds, trotters, harness horses, hackneys, hunters, jumpers, polo ponies, Shetlands, tandems, four-in-hands, and saddle horses. A grand total of $15,000 is offered in prizes, and this amount is divided among the different classes.

War on Pittsfield Schoolmaster.

Pittsfield, Mass., March 29.—Pittsfield's school war still rages fiercely. At a late hour Saturday night the window of the office where the school board had long been in consultation, on the case of Schoolmaster Bailey, was opened, and the announcement made to the excited crowd in the street that the board had decided to retain Professor Bailey as master of the grammar school. The announcement was greeted with a howl of rage and dissatisfaction, for the crowd had expected a different verdict. There was a storm of groans, hisses and oaths, and some suggested tar and feathers for the offending schoolmaster, and a special town meeting to elect a new school board that could turn Bailey out. This case, in which Professor F. P. Bailey is accused of so brutally punishing La Forest Humphrey, one of his pupils, that the boy has become partially paralyzed, has stirred up the greatest excitement in Pittsfield that the town has known since the war.

The Indian Plague.

London, March 29.—The Daily Mail prints a dispatch from Bombay which says that the fanatical Mohammedans there display the bitterest opposition to the measures taken by the government for suppressing the bubonic plague. For instance, on Saturday a Mohammedan, while leaving the city with his wife, refused to allow her to submit herself to the prescribed inspection. The officials insisted, whereupon the Mohammedan suddenly drew his dagger and stabbed her to the heart. Then he stabbed the official physican and attempted to kill himself. The plague is spreading rapidly in Bubar Bulsar and Gujerat, where its ravages are terrible.

CRETANS STARVING.

Food Supplies Have Given Out and Situation Is Most Desperate.

An Uprising Among Mohammedans Imminent.

Bodies Lie Unburied by the Roadside---Dispatches From Other Points.

London, March 29.—According to the latest advices from Canea there is danger of a Mohammedan uprising in the interior of the island of Crete on account of the scarcity of food. The situation is so desperate, it is said, as a result of the famine and hardship, that even lepers are leaving the Lazar house; the inhabitants are panic stricken, and the dead lie by the roadside unburied.

During an attack on Fort Izziden, near Apokevona, yesterday, the Italian warships in Suda bay fired upon the Christians and in aid of the Turkish garrison.

A dispatch to The Times from Canea says that one of the correspondents of that newspaper, who was present during the fight at Malaxa, was captured by the Italians and held as a spy. He would probably have been shot but for the opportune arrival of an American journalist and the insurgent leader Manos, an old Oxford man, who is at the head of a band of young Cretans whom he personally equipped. Manos was the first to enter the blockhouse when the Turks evacuated, and says he prevailed on the insurgents to spare the lives of 43 Turkish prisoners.

It is reported that the bombardment by the international fleet on Friday wrought serious havoc among the Christians.

A dispatch to The Times from Vienna says that owing to the keen anxiety felt at St. Petersburg as to what may occur in the near future at Constantinople or in the vicinity the czar has ordered the concentration of 200,000 troops in the four governments of South Russia. The Russian volunteer fleet is now available to transport troops whenever required.

The Daily Mail's Rome correspondent says today that Admiral Canevaro, commanding the international fleet in Cretan waters, has wired the Italian government to send immediately a large land force, which is imperatively necessary to cope with the Cretan insurgents.

The correspondent of The Times at Athens says that a vigorous movement has been set on foot against the proposal to establish Crete as a principality under a Greek prince. The Ethnike Hetairia has published a manifesto declaring that this is the most impracticable solution yet proposed, and conceals a deliberate design to separate the island from the Greek race and to subject it to foreign control. The manifesto says:

"All the calamities that could be involved in the defeat of the Greek army would be preferable to the internal convulsions which the acceptance of such a project would entail."

The Daily Graphic understands that the British proposal to Greece and Turkey to withdraw their armies from the frontier actually originated at Athens.

The Turks now occupy all the passes in the mountains and the best strategical positions. According to The Daily Graphic the Greeks proposed a simultaneous withdraw in order to be able to capture these positions by a rush attack after making a feint of compliance.

News From Athens.

Athens, March 29.—The Crown Prince Constantine has arrived at Volo. During the passage of the canal Egripos, Prince George went on board and bade his brother a touching adieu.

The ministers of the powers held a conference yesterday and, it is stated, drew up the terms of a collective note to the Greek government requesting that the Greek troops be recalled from the frontier. It is understood that a similar note will be presented to the porte, and that if either power refuses its principal ports will be blockaded.

A meeting of the Cretan delegates will be held shortly at Athens to draft a reply to the admirals' proclamations of autonomy.

Minister Terrell's Fears.

Constantinople, March 29.—Owing to fears of further disturbances in the vilayet of Sivas, United States Minister Terrell has asked the porte to resume the military guards at the residences of the American missionaries. There is a feeling of uneasiness here because of the rumor that the Armenians who participated in the attack on the imperial Ottoman bank have returned to the city. The fact that the authorities have materially increased of late the military precautions against outbreaks indicates that they share in the feeling of apprehension.

A BICYCLE TOUR

Three gentlemen for a European tour purchased new hundred dollar bicycles. One a Columbia—the others of well-known high-grade manufacture. They had an agreeable trip—particularly the Columbia rider. Before returning to America, it being late in the year—and wishing to buy new machines in 1897—they sold their wheels to a London dealer. The Columbia bicycle brought $65.00. The others $40.00 and $35.00 respectively. But one of the many proofs of Columbia superiority. If you look a year ahead there is wise economy in

The Boulevard.

The Metropolitan boulevard from Boston to Squantum, Quincy and the Blue Hills reservation is favored by many, but there is need of a big showing at the State House on Wednesday. Not only should Mayor Adams be there, but members of the City Council, the Board of trade, our ex-Mayors and influential citizens. The Metropolitan district has done much for the cities and towns north of Boston but very little for those on the south.

The Blue Hill reservation is of no benefit to Quincy unless there are means of approach, and where Boston people can get a sight of old ocean en route the advantages of the proposed route are twofold. The boulevard will connect Quincy's pretty natural park with the Metropolitan parks, and the avenue will be popular for pleasure riding and bicyclists.

Extensions or branches of the boulevard will come in future years, one of the most important perhaps being along the shore from Merry Mount park to Great Hill at Houghs Neck.

Prize Whist.

Judge Carter of Haverhill, who raised the hopes of the crusaders against prize whist, has dashed them as suddenly, by qualifying what he said. In an interview he says:

"In some way I have been misunderstood, for I did not say that all whist playing for prizes contained all the elements of gaming. If a hostess invites her friends to come to her house and play whist, and procures her own prizes, this form of whist contains none of the elements of gambling.

"It is the practice of the ladies chipping in at the end of a session from ten to fifty cents each to procure the prize for the next meeting that makes their pastime illegal. This they do in many cases, not thinking that it is against the law or that it is a form of gambling. My idea is that this form does contain all the elements of gambling. They might just as well play for the money. It is the same as the game of loo, where men chip in and the winner takes the stakes. They might just as well put the money on the board and play for it.

"Gambling generally embraces the condition of gain and loss—gain from others, and loss to self. Where money is contributed by each player there is a hope of gain and the risk of loss. It is not so where the hostess procures the prizes, for the offering of prizes is nothing more or less than an incentive to good play. It is just the same in sports and horse racing. The purse makes the contest a better one, and it is not gaming unless the money is chipped in by all competing. Otherwise it is a clear case of gambling.

"Take the matter of playing in a club room, the club offering the prizes. In a way every member of the club contributes something toward the cost of the prizes. This will approach pretty near the line of illegal play."

QUINCY BOY APPOINTED.

John Downs, Jr., to Become a Cadet at Annapolis.

President McKinley favors the son of naval men for the navy, and his appointment of John Downs, Jr., the son of Lieutenant John Downs, the superintendent of the National Sailors' Home in this city, to a cadetship at Annapolis meets with favor.

The Downs family has long been identified with the American navy, since 1802, when the young cadet's great grandfather, John Downs, entered the service. He fought in the war of 1812 on board the famous Essex, and was executive officer on that vessel under Captain Porter. In 1832 he was given command of the Potomac, and was ordered to the coast of Sumatra to punish the natives of that place, who, a year or two before, had siezed and burned the American ship Friendship. On his return home he was given command of the Charlestown navy yard and when he died, in 1854, he held the rank of Commodore, the then highest office in the navy.

The boy's grandfather entered the navy in 1837 and served throughout the civil war. He was in command of the U. S. S. Grand Gulf when he died at New Orleans in 1865. Lieutenant Downs, his father, entered the navy in 1867 and served constantly till 1891, when he was retired in the line of duty, and has been superintendent of the home here ever since, giving good satisfaction.

Young Downs will go to Annapolis Sept. 1.

Over Indulged.

John McCarthy of Roxbury, aged 45 years, employed as an iron moulder, was taken to the City Hospital this morning from the police station suffering from over indulgence in alcoholic stimulants, from which he will probably die.

McCarthy came to Quincy Saturday night to visit his son-in-law, Albert O'Neil of Quincy avenue. It is alleged that he spent the night drinking, and Sunday morning he became so boistrous that O'Neil sent for the police. Officer Ferguson went up after the fellow and with some difficulty got him to the police station, where he lapsed into unconsciousness, in which conditions he has since remained.

Dr. Welch saw McCarthy Sunday and said he was suffering from over indulgence of liquor. This morning when the doctor called he found McCarthy much worse and gave it as his opinion that he could not live, and ordered his removal to Hospital.

New Division, A. O. H.

A new division of the A. O. H. to be known as Division 18, A. O. H., was instituted Sunday evening, the installation taking place in French's hall. The outlook for the new division is very promising, as manifested by the large number present. The instituting officers were County President W. Smith O'Brien, and C. V. P. James O'Dowd.

After the institution of the new division, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place which resulted as follows:
President,—James P. Flannagan.
Vice President,—Edward J. Parker.
Recording Secretary,—Richard J. Gray.
Treasurer,—John J. Phelan.

After the election of officers, remarks were made by the newly elected officers and members of divisions of surrounding towns, all complimenting the new division on their bright prospects.

Vespers.

The lengthening twilight makes a Sunday vesper service the most enjoyable feature of the day. Early Sunday services seem to meet spiritual needs, while the later forenoon which has been so usually appropriated to church worship, seems to be needed as a veritable time for rest and for family reunion. Can we not have in one of our various churches always, a four o'clock vesper service? Yesterday at five o'clock, the large congregation that issued from our First church was a happy sight. The venerable interior, inspiring preacher, fine organ music and beautiful singing are a good ending of a Sabbath and a better preparation for the a beginning of a new week.

DEVASTATING WIND.

Texas Visited by Cyclone Which Wrecks Many Buildings.

Austin, March 29.—This city and the surrounding country was visited yesterday by a terrific cyclone that did great damage to property. The wind came from the southwest, and blew about 60 miles an hour for nearly 20 minutes. Several large electric light towers were blown down and a number of houses in the residence portion of the city were demolished. In several cases narrow escapes from death have been reported. The residence of Burt McDonald crashed against the home of William Vining, knocking in one side of the building. Two little children who were in a room playing narrowly escaped death. The wind b[illegible] piles of lumber in every direction and scattered ruin and waste on every side. The roofs of a number of houses were torn off. The state university suffered seriously. The force of the elements lifted the roof off a dormitory, letting the rain drive with full effect into the four-story building. Great damage was done to the building and property of the 200 students therein, many of whom fled for their lives when the crash came. The roof was carried 100 yards, crushing in the top of a cottage in which were four people. No one was injured, though they were entombed by falling debris. A church just to the north of the university had its entire east wall destroyed, and was unroofed, the debris being carried a block away. The residence of Dr. Graves was lifted from its foundation, twisted completely around and set down in the same place, so badly damaged, however, that none of the doors could be opened to permit the escape of the frightened inmates.

The small town of Clarksville, near this city, was swept by the winds and many horses were killed by flying timber and debris. A number of small houses were toppled over. Fortunately the inmates were not killed, but many were badly injured. With the terrific wind came a driving rain that was little short of a flood, and swept everything before it. Persons arriving on the trains tell a story of ruin, and reports from the surrounding country are to the effect that the storm was general in this section. The small town of Buda, near here, was badly handled by the storm. Quite a number of houses were demolished and one or two persons killed, though their names are not obtainable, owing to the fact that most of the telegraph wires are prostrated. The storm is the worst that has ever visited this vicinity, and it has laid waste everything in its track. The sun came out brightly after the 20 minutes of havoc.

An Cuban Expedition Landed.

Philadelphia, March 29.—The famous fillibustering steamer Laureda arrived in the Delaware Saturday night, after having successfully landed the most important expedition yet sent from this country to Cuba, and is anchored in the river below Wilmington. The expedition was in charge of General Carlos Roloff, the insurgent minister of war. There were 40 horses on the Laurada when she left, and in her hold were stowed 7000 rifles, 1,700,000 rounds of ammunition, 25 tons of stick dynamite and a large supply of food and medicine. The entire expedition was fitted out by the Cuban junta for General Garcia, the second in command in the Cuban army, and was landed in the province of Santiago, where a large force had been sent to meet and convey the supplies to the headquarters of the army in the interior.

Mississippi Settlers Warned.

Washington, March 29.—Professor Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, has issued the following special bulletin: There is great danger yet to come from the flood in the region from Helena, Mont., southward to New Orleans. The river will continue to rise for at least 10 days in the region from Helena southward to Vicksburg, and to rise during a longer period from Vicksburg southward. If no break occurs before, levees will be subjected to the greatest strain about April 10, in southeastern Arkansas, western Mississippi and in Louisina. Should the levees break, the result will be one of the most disasrous floods ever known. Weather indications now indicate additional heavy rainfall in the middle and lower Mississippi valleys, which will materially intensify the flood conditions.

Made Homeless by Fire.

Portsmouth, Va., March 29. — Fifty families made homeless and a property loss of $100,000 were the results of a fire which originated yesterday in Whitehurst's hall on the corner of Green and Glasgow streets and burned the block to London street. It was six hours before the fire was gotten under control. Assistance was rendered from Norfolk, and while the fire was at its height the militia was called out to protect property and aid the firemen. The occupants of nearly all the houses destroyed lost their household effects. The Catholic church was burned. It was erected at a cost of $60,000, and the total loss on all of the property destroyed will reach over $100,000. Several firemen and a number of spectators were more or less injured by falling timbers and flying embers.

Danced Herself to Death.

New York, March 29.—Fanny Alward, a young actress, who was expected to appear at the Gaiety theatre, Brooklyn, this evening, died a few days ago. The doctor who attended her said that she had danced herself into her grave. Two years ago Miss Alward, despite the wishes of her father, who is said to be very wealthy, left her home in Memphis. Her natural ability for dancing secured her a livelihood and comparative success. During the last week the company to which Miss Alward belonged was playing in the New England states.

Artistic Furniture.

YOU can pay a great deal of money at some stores and your home will be filled with gaudy, unharmonious pieces of Furniture.

At this store things are different. In addition to our wonderfully popular line of substantial low priced furniture, we carry a large assortment of artistic furniture, the very newest notions in odd and novel pieces.

To the average man, the dollars come too sparingly to be spent in a manner soon to be regretted and the longer you use the furniture we sell you, you realize as comparison only teaches, that our furniture is built for service.

Occasionally a customer leaves us, but returns soon again with the same story, "I have tried elsewhere, but come back after wasting my time."

April Magazines.

The April number of The Delineator is called the Spring number, and spring styles of toilettes, wraps, shirt-waists, skirts, dress goods, trimmings, millinery, etc., are faithfully reflected and prefigured in its handsome and artistic color plates and monochrome illustrations. The general features of the number include an article on Washington Social Life by Charlotte Everett Hopkins, in which the complex relations of the official, political, diplomatic and other circles of the National Capital are interestingly set forth. A clever short story by John J. a' Becket "Why Did He Come?" shows how much a ghost can do to take the kinks out of the course of true love. Poor girls seeking a college education cannot afford to miss Carolyn Halsted's account of societies formed to aid them.

Table Talk for April is a "red-letter" number inside as well as out. Among the notable articles is the first of a series of three on "Garnishes" by Mary Ronald,—this one taking up those most attractive and appropriate for use with hot meats; Mrs. M. C. Myer, a delegate to the Mother's Congress held at Washington, D. C., gives a digest of the most helpful and instructive points touched upon during the sessions.

George Randall.

Mr. George Randall, whose burial took place in Attleboro today, claimed his home in Quincy, as he grew up from babyhood and received all his school education here.

He was born in Newburyport May 6, 1845, and was the eldest son of the late John C. and Elizabeth L. Randall of this place. Five brothers and sisters survive him, residents of Quincy. A widow and three children are left in Attleboro. Mr. Randall was a born student, possessed of a remarkable memory and a purely intellectual cast of mind and character. While in his teens he enlisted for three months in the civil war sharing his fate closely with his school mate, Mr. John Hersey, and forming a close friendship which lasted his life. He was always a loyal member of the G. A. R. A good writer, a poet in private circles, although many poems of his live; a journalist nearly all his life; his work connecting him with the press in Hyde Park, Attleboro, Providence, New York, Boston and other places. His life ceased in its meridian; and after a recent visit to Quincy, when he renewed the associations so dear to him, he went home to his bed a few weeks ago and never arose from it.

He has left a sweet memory wherever he was known, for a character of integrity, high ideals and simplicity and purity of soul. Alive to the needs of the future in all reforms, he laid down his share of it all, in dignity and beauty. One of his best works was an historical article on Attleboro, illustrated and published in the New England Magazine.

Hurdy Gurdy Parties.

The Hurdy Gurdy parties at Faxon hall on Saturday were both enjoyable affairs. In the afternoon there was a large attendance of young gentlemen and ladies who found the music of the street organ and tambourine delightful for dancing. The hurdy gurdy was located near the Canal street entrance so that it was playing for those on the platform. In the evening the party was smaller than the afternoon, but large enough for comfort. Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Perkins and the other ladies of the Fragment society, who arranged for the parties, have reason to be pleased at the success.

Birthday Gathering.

Mrs. Sophia Lovell of North Weymouth observed her 84th birthday Saturday by a gathering of her children and grandchildren at the residence of her daughter, Mr. John S. Gay on Newcomb place, this city. Mrs. Lovell, who is remarkably smart for one of her age, entered into the spirit of the gathering with a zest that would have done credit to a much younger person. She was the recipient of a number of remembrances among which was a cluster of roses and pinks from her grandchildren.

A Musical Treat.

The concert to be given in the Wollaston Congregational church, on Tuesday, April 6, by the Y. M. C. Association orchestra, promises to be of unusual interest. The orchestral class under the direction of Prof. L Edw. Chase, of Boston, has been one of the most successful features of the Association, educationally this year. There will be at least twenty-three participants in the concert, including some of the best talent in the city. Miss Elvie Burnett, one of the most promising readers of recent years, will assist.

Grand Bath Houses.

Revere beach will be transformed with the completion of its $100.000 bathing establishment now under way. It will have accommodations for 602 men and 402 women, and there will be bicycle sheds to shelter over 1000 bicycles. It will be necessary to go through subways under the boulevard to reach the beach from the bathing houses. The improvements are under the direction of the Metropolitan Park Commissioners.

TODAY'S COURT.

John C. Miller was arraigned for drunkenness at Weymouth. Case continued two weeks.

William Bennett was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued one month.

Christopher Jefferson came into court and paid his fine of $5 for drunkenness.

The continued case of Maurice Dowd for keeping a liquor nuisance at Weymouth was called and again continued until April 12.

CURRENCY ELASTICITY.

INFERIORITY OF OUR OWN AS COMPARED WITH SCOTCH AND CANADIAN CURRENCY SYSTEMS.

Need For More Money to Move Crops Is At Once Supplied In Other Countries, but Not In This—Red Tape, Cost and Delay In Obtaining Currency Make Our System Inelastic and Increase Rate of Interest In August and September—Better Banking and Currency Systems Alone Can Rid Us of the Silver Question.

Secretary of the Treasury Windom said in his treasury report for 1890:

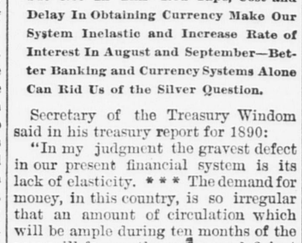

"In my judgment the gravest defect in our present financial system is its lack of elasticity. * * * The demand for money, in this country, is so irregular that an amount of circulation which will be ample during ten months of the year will frequently prove so deficient during the other two months as to cause stringency and commercial disaster. The crops of the country have reached proportions so immense that their movement to market, in August and September, annually causes a dangerous absorption of money. The lack of a sufficient supply to meet the increased demands during those months may entail heavy losses upon the agricultural as well as upon other business interest."

How hard and inelastic is our present unscientific currency system, or lack of system, is apparent when a comparison is made with the currency systems of other countries. In a pamphlet recently issued by the sound currency committee of the Reform club Mr. L. Carroll Root illustrates the relative elasticity of 20 different banking systems in 16 different countries. He says:

"The data secured includes weekly or monthly statements of the outstanding circulation of the leading bank currency systems of the world. The period covered in each case is the two years 1894 and 1895. The method of preparation of diagrams has been to take the minimum circulation of the period as a base line and to reduce the amounts on other dates to percentages of this. In this way a common measure has been secured, and comparison of one diagram with another is facilitated."

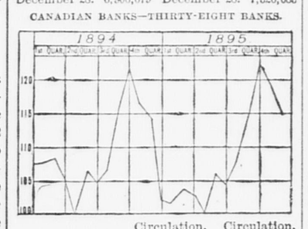

We reproduce below three of Mr. Root's diagrams which show in a striking way the great difference in elasticity of currencies in Scotland, Canada and the United States.

These diagrams show that in Scotland there is about 20 per cent more of currency in circulation in November than in February. In Canada there is 22 per cent more currency in circulation in October than in May. In the United States there was only 6 per cent change in circulation during the two years 1894 and 1895, and the most of this change is accounted for not by the changing needs for currency at different periods of the year, but by the sales of United States bonds, which made it convenient for banks to increase their circulation. Mr. Root thus explains the changes in Canada and Scotland:

"For instance, on comparing the circulation of Canada and Scotland, the first thing noticed is that in Scotland there are two upward movements, one culminating in May and the other in November, while in Canada the former movement is entirely absent and the other occurs one month earlier than in Scotland. The explanation will without doubt be found in the Scotch practice of making payments on mortgages, interest, annuities, etc., at those dates—a practice not followed so extensively in Canada.

"In general a single annual movement may be said to characterize agricultural communities. This occurs in the fall, and is due to what we have come to call 'moving the crops.' Its explanation may be found in the fact that farmers, as a class, are not accustomed to make use of bank deposits, and consequently when payments are made to them for their crops (largely at a single season of the year) the surplus over immediate payments is required by them in the form of notes—it being unquestionably true that in any of our agricultural communities in this country the average farmer has in his possession during the six weeks following the sale of his crop a much larger amount of currency than during the rest of the year. The result in the aggregate is an extraordinary demand, such as that which leads in Canada to an annual expansion of 20 per cent in the bank circulation."

Undoubtedly the needs for currency in the United States change about as much as in Canada, but the cost of buying bonds at a high premium on which notes can be issued only to 90 per cent of their par value, the red tape necessary to obtain these notes from the government and the tax on circulation make a delay and cost in increasing the circulation which practically prohibit an increase until the need for such increase is past. Therefore interest rates in this country run up rapidly in August and September without appreciably affecting the supply of currency.

In Scotland and Canada the machinery necessary to increase the supply of currency is simple and is entirely in the hands of the banks; hence the cost and delay necessary are much less than with us. Thus in Canada a few big banks with numerous "branch banks" supply all parts of the country with currency. When more money is needed in any province — as in Manitoba when the wheat crop is being harvested—rates of interest begin to rise. The profits of supplying currency in this province are increased, and immediately additional supplies of currency are sent from the big banks in Montreal, Quebec or Toronto to their branch banks in Manitoba. Thus the cost of moving the crops is much lower in Canada than in the United States, where rates of interest go up and down without materially changing the supply of currency. Of course the farmers, through increased competition of bidders, who obtain plenty of money at low rates of interest and can afford to pay high prices, reap most of the benefit.

There are other advantages connected with "branch banks" which it is unnecessary to explain here. It is sufficient to say that in Canada there is no silver question to disturb business and occupy the time of politicians and legislators. It is not likely that we will have financial peace until we greatly improve our banking and currency systems.

Mr. Bryan on Equality.

In his speech at New York on Feb. 26 Mr. Bryan said: "If any person believes a government should single out a few people and give them advantages over others, he does not understand equality under the law."

This is very true. But, in demanding that silver mine owners be permitted to take 50 cents' worth of bullion to the treasury and have it stamped as $1, is not Mr. Bryan advocating the very inequality under the law which he rebukes? Would not free coinage of silver at a fictitious ratio be to "single out a few people and give them advantages over others?" The owners of silver bullion in this country are very few indeed.

Again Mr. Bryan says, "No just government ought to enable or permit one citizen to injure another citizen."

True. But would not the government do this if it enabled one class of citizens, the debtors, to discharge their obligations to another class, the creditors, in dollars worth only half as much as were the dollars loaned? If the government were to make wampum or conch shells legal tender for the payment of debt, would it not enable one class of citizens to injure another class? And would it not do the same in depreciating the currency of the country to a 50 cent basis? The people so decided last November.

The Only Good Paper Currency.

All propositions for the retirement of the legal tenders and the abolition of the treasury reserve as a feature of our currency system are coupled with the demand for a banking system that would afford a large note circulation, one more responsive to the fluctuating demands of business and one whose reserve would be maintained by banks which would be compelled by the conditions of their existence and by law to protect their notes, and which, through their discount business, have the necessary machinery for increasing their reserves or decreasing their liabilities. Such a banking system would provide the paper currency which the American people would rather handle in their daily transactions and carry about as pocket money than specie. —Iron Age.

Afraid of 16 to 1 Fire.

The Democrats of Rhode Island will, it is said, ignore the currency question in their coming state convention. They will ignore it for the same reason that a burnt child stops playing with fire. It is to be hoped that the Democrats will profit by past mistakes. It would be a pity not to have the two great old parties in the field in 1900.

Japan's Progressive Step.

Japan shows both its progressiveness and its financial honesty and sense in providing for gold and silver coinage at a ratio of 32½ to 1. This is the commercial ratio enforced by Jefferson and sought by every succeeding administration until the Blandites tried to make a dollar out of 50 cents.—New York World.

WEAK WOMEN AND WEARY MEN

Are peculiarly benefited by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, the most wonderful Tonic and Blood Cleanser in the world.

P. P. P. restores shattered nerves, gives strength and tone to the entire system, revives the worn out, nervous and debilitated. You cannot but be nervous if your blood is impure.

P. P. P. gives the proper nourishment to the blood, and cures nervous prostration, debility and nervous headache.

P. P. P. cures that tired, languid, "all gone" feeling, cures dyspepsia, indigestion, and that awful distress of the stomach.

P. P. P. cures that weak, nervous condition, that dreadful jumping of the heart, followed by dizziness and sinking spells. Make your blood pure by taking P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and you will be well and happy. Women are benefited, their organization regulated, and their weakness and lassitude cured by P. P. P.

WEAK, TIRED PEOPLE

should take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, without delay. While not actually sick, you feel weak and tired, ready to get sick, and what you need is strength to drive out of your system that which is the cause of Spring Fever. P. P. P. is needed at once.

Mr. Hattie Mylius, of 70 East 86th street, New York, says that she was in poor health, and that her case developed into nervous prostration. She suffered from nervous headaches, and at times was unable to do any work at all. She could not sleep, and was so nervous that she would have to get up at all hours of the night and walk the floor, and the opening of a door would startle her. But her weakness and nervousness is all gone. P. P. P. was what saved her. Her appetite improved, her nervousness is a thing of the past, and she thanks P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, for her complete restoration to health.

TARIFF---ARBITRATION

Busy Days Ahead For Both Branches of Congress.

Vote on Dingley Bill Begins Wednesday.

Friends of Arbitration Treaty Hope For Final Action This Week.

Washington, March 29.—On Wednesday at 3 p. m. voting on the Dingley tariff bill will begin. Closing arguments on the measure will be made by Mr. Dingley, for the bill, and Mr. Bailey of Texas, in opposition. Each speaker will have an hour in which to present arguments. The bill will undoubtedly pass by a party vote. It is known that four Southern Democrats, and perhaps a Populist or two, will vote for the passage of the bill.

Mr. Dingley, who has engineered the bill through the eddies of debate with great skill, will devote his energies to pressing the consideration of the bill forward with the utmost expedition in order to complete it before the vote is taken. But the Democrats are pursuing a course which has thus far rendered progress extremely difficult. But 14 of the 162 pages of the bill were disposed of in the two days of last week. At this rate it would require 21 days for the house, sitting seven hours a day, to complete the consideration of the bill under the five-minute rule. If the present tactics of the opposition are persisted in, it is not improbable that night sessions will be held. The policy of the Democrats, thus far, has been to attack every item and make it the text for general assaults on the bill. It is understood that they will make a particularly strong stand against the steel and sugar schedules. They do not hope to accomplish anything, however, in the way of amendment. They have made trusts the keystone of their opposition, up to this time, and the only thing which they believe they can accomplish is to secure a record vote on an amendment such as was offered on Friday, providing for the suspension of the duty on any article controlled by a trust or combination. They propose to do this if possible by a motion to recommit with instructions, after the bill is reported from the committee of the whole. There seems to be a question, however, whether this motion will be entertained under the special order under which the house is operating.

The fact that the reading of the bill may not be completed under the five-minute rule will in no wise interfere with the powers of the ways and means committee to perfect it. Their amendments are in order to change any part of the bill at any time and when it becomes apparent that the bill cannot be completed Mr. Dingley can assume charge and clear up all the amendments he desires to offer.

After the tariff bill is passed on Wednesday, the house will probably adjourn three days at a time until the appropriation bills are returned to it. If they are amended by the senate, the house probably will accept the opportunity offered for talking.

STATUS OF TREATY.

Amendments to Be Voted on Wednesday by the Senate.

Washington, March 29.—The week in the senate will be devoted to consideration of the arbitration treaty. It is hoped by several friends of the treaty that final action will be reached. The greater portion of each day, beginning today, will be spent in executive session on the treaty amendments. On Wednesday voting on miscellaneous amendments will commence.

The consideration of the amendments is to continue Thursday, providing new ones are offered after Wednesday's proceedings. Later than that the senate procedure is not clear. Consent to naming a date for the voting on the treaty itself is still withheld and will not be given until after the fate of the amendments becomes known. It is surmised that if the Chilton amendments should be accepted the debate on the treaty would soon come to a conclusion, but that if they should be beaten the subsequent discussion would be of indefinite duration.

The appropriation bills are expected to be reported to the senate after the meeting of the committee on appropriations tomorrow, but they will not be taken up in the senate until the treaty is disposed of. The question of organizing the committees continues to press for attention and may reach a climax during the week. The tariff bill will reach the senate late in the week and be referred to committee, which, however, already has the various schedules under consideration.

BATCH OF APPOINTMENTS.

White and Draper Slated For German and Italian Missions---Other Selections.

Washington, March 29.—The Post this morning says: A number of important nominations will be sent to the senate today unless something unforseen occurs.

While the president's selections for several offices are not definitely known it is believed they will include the following:

Ex-Representative Shallenberger of Pennsylvania, second assistant postmaster general; Mr. Baxter of Elmira, N. Y., third assistant postmaster general.

Thomas Ryan of Kansas, first assistant secretary of the interior.

O. L. Spaulding of Michigan, first assistant secretary of the treasury.

Ex-President Andrew D. White of Cornell has, it is said, been tendered the German embassy, and accepted it.

Charlemagne Tower of Philadelphia, who was originally named for the German embassy, will probably be minister to Austria, and ex-Representative Draper of Massachusetts, ambassador to Italy.

Ex-Representative E. H. Conger of Iowa, minister to Brazil; Franklin Fort of New Jersey, solicitor general; Benjamin Butterworth of Ohio, commissioner of patents, are also understood to be on the list.

Secretary Sherman Has Rheumatism.

Washington, March 29.—Secretary of State Sherman is confined to his room with an attack of rheumatism which manifested itself yesterday. It is not regarded as serious and the secretary is expected soon to be out again.

SIXTEEN PICKED UP.

More Survivors of Ville St. Nazaire Rescued From Small Boat.

London, March 29.—The British steamship Yanariva, Captain Weston, which left Newport News, Va., on March 10, bound for Glasgow, arrived at Greenock last night. The captain reports that on March 12, while in lat. 31, lon. 71, he picked up a small boat containing 16 survivors of the steamship Ville De St. Nazaire, foundered in the great storm on the Atlantic coast of March 7 and 8, off the Virginia capes.

They had been without food and water for four days and were in a state of extreme exhaustion, a state bordering on madness. The officers and crew of the Yanariva did all in their power for the unhappy victims of an ocean horror, and finally learned their pitiful story piece by piece.

They say that four boats were launched, two containing 29 each, the third 17, and the fourth six. The boat picked up by the Yanariva was one of the two that took off 29, but 13 of these succumbed to exposure, hunger and thirst. The last the survivors saw of the other boats was on the day the vessel foundered, when they descried two of them lashed together and empty.

For some time after the rescue, the captain of the Yanariva kept an officer at the masthead, sweeping the horizon with a glass, in the hope of getting some trace of the other boats, but there was no sign of them. As night was falling rapidly, and the sea and wind were increasing, with mist and rain, the Yanariva proceeded. The second officer of the Ville De St. Nazaire is among the rescued, who will be taken in charge by the French consul at Glasgow.

According to the list of the crew of the Ville St. Nazaire, not generally published, the "second captain" was Pierre Nuoali, and the first lieutenant, Andre De Andreis. Nuoali is probably the officer rescued by the Yanariva.

Onions Cornered.

Kansas City, March 29.—James McKinney, a wholesale produce and commission merchant, apparently has succeeded in cornering the onion market. He has contracted for 27,000 barrels of fancy, kiln dried stock, that will keep fro months, and has stored them, awaiting an advance in price. Many wholesalers, needing immediate orders, have been compelled to pay $3.50 a barrel for the same stock which previous to the present scarcity could have been bought for $1.75 and $2.25. Local dealers have many orders from New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other cities to be filled, but the receipts have been so light here, outside of those to McKinney, that no shipping orders could be filled, it being almost an impossibility to supply the local demand.

Call For Good Citizens' Convention.

New York, March 29.—A call for a national good citizens' convention, to be held at Nashville on May 18, 19 and 20, has been issued by an organization of church workers at Nashville, of whom Rev. R. W. Binkley is chairman. The purpose of the convention, as stated in the circular, is to discuss matters relating to the many evils of the day.

Naval Fleet Will Visit Portland.

Washington, March 29.—In response to the request of Speaker Reed, the secretary of the navy has issued an order to Admiral Bunce, commanding the North Atlantic squadron, to visit Portland, Me., this summer with the fleet. It is expected that extensive fleet maneuvers will take place this summer off the New England coast.

Precautionary Measures.

Fez, March 29.—The Sultan of Morocco has prohibited the annual pilgrimage of Moslems to Mecca for the present year on the ground that the prevalence of plague along the usual line of route would render it dangerous. This is the first time such a prohibition has been issued in the history of Morocco.

Collapse Not Unlikely.

Chicago, March 29.—The Tribune today publishes a story to the effect that "the Elevator trust" at Buffalo is soon to collapse as the result of an invasion of the field by Chicago elevator firms. The rivals to the present elevator system are given as Armour & Co. and Bartlett, Fraser & Co.

Three Days In June.

New Haven, March 29.—Delegates representing nine cities and 10 Turnvereins met at Turner hall yesterday afternoon and completed preliminary arrangements for the next annual fest, which it was decided to hold in Holyoke, Mass., in June. The fest will continue three days.

DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. Margaret J. Preston, the well known writer of Southern war poetry, died at Baltimore yesterday, at the residence of her son, Dr. George S. Preston. Mrs. Preston was the daughter of Rev. Dr. George Junken, founder of Lafayette college, and was born in Pennsylvania. In 1857 she married Professor J. T. S. Preston of the Virginia Military institute, who afterwards served on General Stonewall Jackson's staff, with rank of colonel. Her sister, Eleanor, was General Jackson's first wife. Among her best known works are "Beechenbrook," "Old Songs and New," "Colonial Ballads" and "Aunt Dorothy." Mrs. Preston was known throughout the South as the "Mimosa of Southern Literature." Her remains will be taken to Lexington, Va., for interment.

Perley Derby died at his home at Salem, Mass. Mr. Derby was 75 years old and widely known for his genealogical researches and his writings for the Essex institute publications. He was born in Menthesborough, Tenn., and went to Salem at an early age to learn the watchmaking trade. He afterwards became a portrait painter of more than ordinary ability.

John R. Bond, the veteran expressman of Manchester, N. H., died yesterday almost without warning. He was 67 years old, and for 32 years was in the employ of the American Express company.

Rev. David S. Sutphen, for 20 years pastor of the Reformed Dutch church at New Utrecht, L. I., dropped dead Saturday night in his home at Bloomfield, N. J.

William F. Field, a well known shoe man of Brockton, Mass., died yesterday.

Police Raid Dog Fight.

Nashua, N. H., March 29.—A raid upon John Peters' barn, where a dog fight was in progress yesterday, resulted in the arrest of 24 of the spectators. John Hillard, one of the number, who attempted to escape, was shot in the leg by Police Officer Rogers. The police received a tip that the fight would take place and made arrangements for the affair. The raiders, under Chief of Police A. S. Eaton, had the barn covered before the scouts could give an alarm. When the alarm was sounded a wild break for the doors was made by the 51 sporting men inside. The arrested men all belong in Lowell, Mass., and include, it is said, several office holders and several saloon keepers. The men were arraigned in court, and all pleaded guilty and were fined $15 and costs, the whole amount aggregating $507.84, which was paid by the men or their friends in Nashua. The men gave ficticious names.

Funeral of Late Captain Black.

Augusta, Me., March 29.—The funeral of the late Captain R. W. Black, United States pension agent at Augusta, was held yesterday at St. Mark's Episcopal church, Rev. A. W. Snyder officiating. Trinity commandery, Knight Templars; Seth Williams post, G. A. R.; Augusta and Bethlehem lodges, F. and A. M., and H. G. Staples camp, S. of V., attended. The remains were placed in the tomb at Mt. Pleasant, to be later interred in Palermo, the old home of the deceased.

Spiritualistic Anniversary.

Belfast, Me., March 29.—The 48th anniversary of modern spiritualism was observed by the spiritualists of this city at a special service yesterday. There was also a memorial service to Mrs. Abbie Morse of Searsmont, recently deceased, a medium of 40 years' experience and widely known throughout the state. The anniversary address was by Mrs. Wentworth of Knox.

Oliver Optic No More.

Boston, March 29.—William T. Adams (Oliver Optic) died at his home in Dorchester Saturday, at the age of 75 years. Of all writers of stories for boys Oliver Optic stood at the head, and justly so. His stories were always wholesome, as well as thrilling, and not one line of evil ever crept into them.

German Society's Beer Confiscated.

Manchester, N. H., March 29.—Yesterday the police descended on one of the numerous German singing clubs and confiscated 10 kegs of lager. This is an unusual proceeding, as the German element for many years has enjoyed immunity.

ANXIOUS DAYS IN EAST

Movements of Greeks and Turks In Macedonia Closely Watched.

Immense Armies Facing Each Other Awaiting Command.

Even If Powers Effect a Settlement Anarchy Is Sure to Follow.

London, March 30.—Developments in the Greco-Turkish question are looked for soon. The basis of operations has changed to the Macedonian frontier, where the armies of the two countries are massed. That a conflict cannot be avoided is felt on all sides.

The Times correspondent reviews the situation as follows:

"The Greek army is now so large that it is absolute arbiter of the situation. I am very much struck by the independence and impatient temper of the troops. They seem only prepared to accept orders to execute the extreme Hellenic program. The peasantry also is armed as irregulars. Even the school boys there are being armed with rifles, bayonets and ammunition. It is no uncommon sight to see lads of 13 or 14 fully equipped.

"If the island of Crete were now conceded to Greece it is evident that the soldiery will demand immediately an extension of the continental boundaries over Greece. No permanent peace is otherwise possible in this region.

"If Europe forces Greece to recall her army from Thessaly a large part of it will become insurgents. It will continue an independent guerrilla warfare in the mountains of Macedonia and practice brigandage on the frontiers. External peace will be paid for by internal anarchy, and the state of Thessaly may relapse into conditions like those of 1878, or worse.

"Ten thousand Greeks have been stationed at the east end of the frontier, with their base at Rapsani, on the hillsides north of the vale of Tempe. From this point they are watching the Turkish positions from Platamona to Elassona. The vale of Tempe itself is not fortified, as the Greek line is drawn from 10 to 20 miles further north.

"Indeed, the Greek forces have no fortified lines in Thessaly. The Greeks seem to consider themselves only in the light of an invading force, and not as a force occupying a territory likely to be invaded. As the result of this they could not stop a very numerous army anywhere north of Thermopylae. They are relying far too little upon material defences.

"The Turks hold the coast road with a strong force from their base at Katerina. The Greek commissariat corps is slender, though the Greek officers have all along insisted that the Turks themselves are miserably supplied in this particular, and that there is much insubordination in the Turkish ranks. But it is very rare indeed to find any one taking a reasonable view of the real strength of the Turks or of the character of the coming struggle."

The Times' correspondent at Rome says that the view entertained in Italian official circles as to the outcome of the Greco-Cretan affair is pessimistic in the extreme. Little, if any, hope is expressed that a conflict between the Greeks and Turks can be averted by the powers.

Another dispatch from Athens says: All the best judges of popular feeling here agree that the determination of the Greek people to accept no solution of the Cretan difficulty but the annexation of Crete is increasing steadily. The cry is for no surrender. The opposition newspapers denounce the government for showing a disposition to abate the national pretensions, and they characterize any tendency to compromise as high treason. All feeling of despondency has vanished, and the multitude is eager for hostilities to begin.

The Daily Chronicle's Athens correspondent, Henry Norman, says that he has it from a reliable source that Emperor William has offered the sultan the services of General von Goltz and of other German officers if the Turkish government desires to avail itself of them in the difficulty with Greece.

The special correspondent of The Times at Salonika says that everything there indicates that the situation is becoming more and more critical. Fifty thousand men are now encamped around Elassona, and there are 300 Krupp guns between Elassona and Arta.

To Protect Canea's Water Supply.

Canea, March 30.—Austrian troops landed in Suda bay yesterday, and some of them came to Canea.

Two hundred and twenty-five French, Italian, Russian and English soldiers, with three mountain guns, took possession of Fort Subachi yesterday morning. This was done in order to protect the water supply of Canea. Bashibazouks accompanied them.

Insurgents on the hills fired a few shots from their outposts, but on the whole the first move of the Europeans toward the interior was uneventful, but the impression made on the Cretans by the occupation of a fort by Europeans and Turks is very unfortunate.

Russian officers here have been making trouble, and affairs reached a climax last night, when a Russian officer of high rank went into a cafe and fired about him with his revolver.

Constantine With His Troops.

Larissa, March 30.—Crown Prince Constantine, the commander-in-chief of the Greek army in Thessaly, his wife, the Princess Sophia. Prince Nicholas of Greece, and the Princess Marie of Greece have arrived here. The whole garrison was under arms to receive the crown prince and his party, the streets were thronged with people and gaily decorated with flags, the windows were filled with spectators, and many ladies threw flowers in the path of the Princess. The crown prince was welcomed by the superior military and civic authorities and, later, Prince Constantine, amid the enthusiastic acclamation of the crowds present, reviewed the troops.

ENGLAND'S POLICY CRITICISED.

Motion Made In Parliament to Bring About Discussion of Cretan Policy.

London, March 30.—In the house of commons last evening a spirited debate followed the motion of Hon. P. J. Stanhope, Radical member for Burnley, who formally proposed a reduction of the salary of the Marquis of Salisbury as foreign secretary, in order to discuss the Cretan policy of the government.

Mr. Stanhope said that the opposition wanted the government to secure the immediate withdrawal of all Turkish troops from the island of Crete, and to co-operate with the Greeks in the restoration of order. "If the powers will not agree to such a course," he exclaimed, "then England should withdraw from the concert." (Opposition cheers).

Mr. Balfour, replying with some irritation, said that the powers, and Great Britain in particular, felt themselves pledged to give autonomy to Crete, an autonomy which meant "absolute freedom from Turkish interference in local affairs."

Professor Bryce, Radical member for South Aberdeen, contended that the Turkish troops must first be removed before any other steps were taken, otherwise no step that could be taken would pacify the island and satisfy the aspirations of the insurgents.

Mr. Dillon, in the course of an impassioned speech, charged the government with taking the side of the Turks.

Mr. Balfour (interposing): "I wish the opposition would have the common courage to move a vote of censure." (Ministerialist cheers).

George Curzon, under secretary for foreign affairs, said that Mr. Dillon's speech was either an outrage or a farce. It was absolutely false, he declared, that the government had taken, or would take, the side of the Turks. The action of the international troops in Crete had saved thousands of Christians from massacre. It was a monstrous travesty, the grossest perversion of truth, to say that the powers were siding with Turkey. In reply to the assertion that it was the policy of the powers to exterminate the insurgents by starvation, he said that the admirals were taking steps to convey provisions to the inhabitants.

After several other members had spoken, Mr. Stanhope's motion to reduce Lord Salisbury's salary as a protest against the government policy as to Crete was rejected by 163 to 60, and the house adjourned.

Traffic Officials Confer.

St. Louis, March 30.—An informal conference of traffic officials and railroad organizations representing St. Louis lines was held yesterday in the office of the Southwestern Traffic association to discuss the recent ruling of the supreme court. It was suggested that it might be well to continue the existing organizations for the purpose of classifying freight, and to serve as a clearing house for regulating joint rates That is to say, lines desiring to make through rates in conjunction with a connecting line must of necessity have some central bureau where such rates may be regulated. The officials do not believe such an organization would be a violation of the law. A committee was appointed to formulate a plan of action.

Spanish "Child God" Arrested.

Madrid, March 30.—A strange affair has occurred at Saragossa, capital of the Spanish province of that name, which has caused the wildest excitement. A boy 11 years of age, entitled locally the "Child God" because of his remarkable endowments, was introduced to a Carlist club, where he made a speech in favor of the Carlist propaganda. He referred to Don Carlos as "our king." Some of the officials present interfered and a violent uproar followed, during which there were a number of free fights. The police raided the hall, ejected the audience and arrested the "child god" and others.

Harvard's Strongest Men.

Cambridge, Mass., March 30.—The 5 strongest men in Harvard university were announced by Dr. Sargent of the Hemenway gymnasium last night. The ten whose total strength is the greatest, according to Dr. Sargent's system, are as follows: A. Lovering, 1660; C. W. Bronson, 1299; R. H. Burnham, 1291; A. S. Hawkes, 1240; G. L. Paine, 1233; P. C. Robinson, 1229; E. H. Fay, 1206; W. A. Peal, 1205; H. H. Pickert, 1202; R. A. Leeson, 1190.

SPANISH TAKE RIVERA.

Commander of Cuban Army Now Weyler's Prisoner.

He Was Wounded Three Times In Battle.

His Life Spared by Intervention of Spanish Officer.

Havana, March 30.—General Rivera, Maceo's successor in command of the Cuban army, is a prisoner of war. The Cuban forces were attacked at Perico Pozo by the Spanish yesterday. During the battle Rivera was wounded.

Rivera opened fire immediately on seeing the head of the column. Lieutenant Colonel Jose Roco advanced with the extreme vanguard, and Major Sanchez Bernal leading another division under the protection of artillery, which shelled the trenches held by Rivera, who was already wounded in the thigh.

One company of the Reina cavalry galloped forward, capturing the trenches and seizing as prisoners five men, who lay severely mutilated by the shells. Colonel Bacallao, on learning that Rivera had been wounded, hurried to the trenches and begged the soldiers not to kill him. Rivera and Colonel Baccallao were taken into the presence of General Velasco, who shook hands with Rivera and introduced him to the officers of his staff, giving instructions that the first thing to be done was to give him surgical relief. Lieutenant Terry and Colonel Bacallao were also wounded at a fight at the same place on March 15.

Castilla's battalion secured important documents, as well as the arms and money of General Ruiz Rivera. The money consisted mostly of American gold coin. A number of splendid watches were left with General Velasco. The villagers of San Cristobal, who went out to receive the small column of Spanish troops, enthusiastically cheered the victors.

General Ruiz Rivera, who remains quietly in prison, eulogizes the escort of Spanish soldiers. He said the troops treated him with the greatest consideration. He also said the families of the insurgents now in the camp of the Cubans were in a critical situation. They suffered greatly from hunger, and are compelled to go out in search of vegetables whenever it is possible to avoid the Spanish troops. The insurgents are well supplied with meat, but have no spices.

General Rivera would say nothing concerning the war or Cuban political situation. He was surprised to learn that some Cubans had been captured with arms in their possession. When asked his name by General Velasco, Rivera replied, and made the following request: "Give me the honors of war and stretch out to me your hand."

Rivera afterward conversed with some of the chief officers, and offered them tips for services rendered. Velasco, noticing this, said: "Soldiers need no money, but honor, which they have."

General Velasco continued military operations in the vicinity of Cabezadas, dispatching two companies to San Cristobal.

One of the shells exploded in the insurgent camp, wounding many members of Rivera's staff. Rivera himself received a Mauser ball, which caused three serious wounds in the thigh. The moment the Spanish infantry entered the trenches Colonel Bacallao raised General Rivera on his shoulders as if to carry him off. After his capture General Rivera, speaking of the Spanish soldiery, said:

"They have treated me very carefully." He complained much of the pain of his wounds.

Captain General Weyler received the news of Rivera's capture at Cienfuegos, where the intelligence was loudly cheered. The captain general is described as "satisfied" with the result, and has received cablegrams of congratulations from the Spanish minister of war, and the Spanish premier, who congratulates him in the name of the Queen of Spain. Velasco will be honored with a title. Lieutenant Henry Terry died from his wounds. He was a naturalized American.

General Ruiz made a forced march from Majagua, in the central part of the Jucaro trocha, where he found the forces of the insurgents once more concentrated. He supposed that the insurgents belonged to the bands of Gomez. The insurgents were dispersed with a loss of 30. Of the Spanish two were killed and 25 wounded. He afterward met Leader Gonzales, and the local groups of Loma, Manuel and Gato. The insurgents left 23 killed and 16 stands of arms, as well as considerable mail. Nine of the Cuban officers were also captured with arms in their possession. Of the regulars three were killed and none wounded.

Reasons for a Change.

The special commission appointed in 1896 by Gov. Wolcott, consisting of the Hon. William F. Wharton, Dr. Charles F. Folsom and Prof. Davis R. Dewey, has recommended that all prisons be placed under the control of the Commonwealth. It says that by such a change the following results may be attained:

1. The abolition of unclassified prisons.
2. The initiation and development of reformatory measures for a larger number of prisoners who are susceptible to reform.
3. Uniformity in the management of the prisons and the prisoners.
4. Uniformity in the terms of sentences and in the granting of permits to be at liberty.
5. The better regulation of labor in the prisons.
6. The more complete separation of the sexes.
7. The abandonment of prisons now quite unfit for their purpose, as, for instance, the house of correction at South Boston, and wiser provisions for relieving our overcrowded prisons.
8. The more intelligent study and treatment of the problem of drunkenness.

The "Oak Hall."

Next Saturday will witness the opening to the public of one of the finest and most completely stocked clothing establishments in Boston. The event will take place on every floor of the big five story building facing on Brattle Sq., Washington and Elm streets, and the firm to thus greet the public will be the popular and widely known Oak Hall Clothing Co.

For over 80 years the firm has been located on but one site in this city and the last 57 of those years have been spent within the walls of the famous North street, "Oak Hall."

Few houses which commenced in the clothing and kindred branches 50 years ago in Boston are now in existence, and the vigor and success of the Oak Hall Clothing Co. are attested by the very necessity of the move which it has recently made.

The Sloyd School.

The Sloyd school at Wollaston has just closed its second successful year. Two classes, with sessions twice a week each have been substance for nineteen weeks. Not a single member has left the class, and the progress made has been truly wonderful, especially some of the wood carving. The outfit will be moved at once to the Association rooms at Quincy, where the spring class will be organized for a term of eighteen lessons next Tuesday. Mr. J. M. Nowland will be the instructor. As the class is limited to twelve no time should be lost by any boy desiring to register.

Reception to Wheelmen.

CLOSED WITH A BANQUET.

A Happy Gathering of the Training School for Bethany Church.

A Training School for Christian service was opened in Bethany Congregational church September 28, and sessions have continued weekly upon Monday evenings since, and it was evident from the post prandial speeches last evening that the course has been a most helpful one, as well as interesting. The surprise has been that for the nominal fee of fifty cents for the course that the committee has been able to secure such prominent speakers and at the end provide a seventy-five cent banquet. But there was a practical illustration on this evening. The committee were bemoaning and making excuses because they had not provided for so many, but like the story of the loaves and the fishes there was enough and to spare.

Each of the weekly meetings have been divided into two parts, the lesson and the lecture, and the lesson for the closing night was on "Revelation" by Rev. E. N. Hardy. The pastor's study of this mysterious book of the Bible was helpful and instructive.

Shortly after eight o'clock an adjournment was made to the dining room where the tables were spread for 200, with sandwiches, Charlotte Russe, fancy cakes, olives, ginger, nuts, raisins and coffee. Dr. Gallagher of Braintree offered the blessing.

After the gastronomic exercises the pastor acted as toastmaster and happily introduced the speakers. All were in a happy mood, and seldom has there been a banquet in Quincy where the speakers were so facetious and entertaining. Interesting remarks were made by Theophilus King, J. O. Hall, Jr., E. W. Branch, Frank F. Prescott, T. B. Pollard, Miss Burns, Dea. R. D. Chase, H. Walter Gray, Dr. C. T. Sherman and Dr. Gallagher. A quartette composed of Robert Kennedy, Charles Bishop, Harry Lillicrap and Richard Bishop rendered several numbers and responded each time to encores.

A vote of thanks was extended to the DAILY LEDGER for its extended and interesting reports of the lectures in the course, and also to all the out-of-town speakers who made addresses.

The happy gathering came to a close with the singing of one verse of "Blessed be the Tie That Binds."

Braintree Town Meeting.

Braintree had a red hot meeting last evening, when the salaries of the Town Clerk and Water officials were discussed, and some light shed on the hose wagon controversy. Judge French criticised the Water Commissioners at length in his usual calm manner, but it stirred up Dr. Dearing, also Mr. Scollard the Moderator, who resigned the chair to participate. Some tart insinuations were made over the hose wagon investigation by John Cavanagh and others.

Adjourned for one week.

To Offer Substitute.

The Committee on Railroads of the Legislature reported ought not to pass on the bill to authorize street railway companies to carry crushed stone, gravel, sand and other road building material, but the House on Monday rejected the report 64 to 26. Representative Newcomb of this city gave notice that he would offer a substitute bill.

EDITORS FEAST.

Suburban Press Association of New England Holds Reunion at the Hub.

Boston, March 30.—Members of the Suburban Press association of New England, to the number of about 100, including guests and ladies, met in the 15th annual reunion of the association at the Parker House yesterday. The guests of the association were Governor George A. Ramsdell of New Hampshire, General Edgar R. Champlin, Samuel Walter Foss, the poet; Mrs. Mary Alden Ward, president of the New England Woman's Press association; Senator W. H. Cook, president of the Massachusetts Republican Editorial association; Benjamin Anthony, president of the Massachusetts Press association, and Colonel W. B. Rotch of Governor Ramsdell's staff.

An informal reunion and social was enjoyed, and a more formal ceremony occurred in the reception of the members by the guests. The latter were in charge of President J. O. Hayden of the Somerville Journal, and the members were presented by Rev. A. E. Winship of the New England Journal of Education, George M. Whittaker of the New England Farmer and Charles A. Lee of the Pawtucket Gazette and Chronicle.

The Ladies' Arion Mandolin and Banjo club furnished music. The reunion closed with a banquet.

Berlin Starts Out as a City.

Berlin, N. H., March 30.—This city celebrated the inauguration of her first municipal government yesterday, when Mayor Marston and the members of the city council took their oath of office. One councilman was absent on account of sickness. The city council elected city officers as follows: J. A. Letourneau, the former town treasurer, clerk; John Youngcliss, one of the patrolmen, city marshal. Two members of the old board of education were re-elected, and the administration of affairs divided into six departments. The three assessors chosen were former selectmen. Mayor Marston's inaugural address briefly criticised the system of bookkeeping of the former town officers, whereby about $30,000 of assets were shown which he considered worthless. He commended the school and library systems, and recommended liberal appropriations for both. He urged an economical administration as far as possible without using false economy.

Maine Civic League Organized.

Waterville, Me., March 30.—The Christian Civic league of Maine was organized here yesterday, 100 members being in attendance. President Hyde of Bowdoin college acted as temporary chairman, and in his opening address said that the temperance people of Maine made a mistake when they decided that no further work was necessary after passing the prohibitory amendment to the constitution. A constitution of the league reported by a sub-committee favors the education of the people to good citizenship, the arousing of reverence for law, the enactment of the best laws and the impartial enforcement of them through the selection of right officials. The following permanent officers were then elected: President, George C. Purentin, principal of the Farmington normal school; secretary, Rev. W. F. Berry, Waterville; treasurer, Horace Purinton, Waterville; executive committee, Hiram Knowlton, Portland; R. T. Hack, Portland; J. M. Frost, Bangor; A. T. Dunn, Waterville.

Water Higher Than Ever Before.

Washington, March 30.—Colonel Gillespie, president of the Mississippi river commission, has telegraphed General Wilson, chief of engineers, from Vicksburg: Gauges along the river from Memphis to Vicksburg give flood readings from 1½ feet to 3 feet above any previously recorded readings. Feeling everywhere is one of great uneasiness, and all state levee boards are battling against rising floods, regardless of cost. As yet no widely spread damage has been reported, though several breaks in levees above Greenville on both banks have occurred. Levees are seriously strained at all points. Commission will give all possible aid by applying money balances to protection of banks. Water is rising slowly below Helena.

Maritime Powers Invited.

Washington, March 30.—The secretary of state has sent the following identical note to all maritime powers, about 30 or 25 in number: The Grant municipal inaugural committee has requested the president to officially invite the maritime nations to send warships to participate in the ceremonies on April 27 next, when the Grant Monument association will formally deliver to the city of New York the tomb of General Grant, erected by voluntary subscription, at Riverside park. It will be gratifying to this government if this courteous invitation could be accepted.

Hotel Closed by Police.

Boston, March 30.—The police closed last night the Columbian hotel, one of the largest hostelries in the South End, for alleged violation of the liquor license law. The authorities charge the proprietors with selling liquor after the closing hour, illegally, thereby attracting a large number of men and women to the hotel after midnight. A short time ago Governor Wolcott investigated the place and then notified the state police of the nature of the resort. Before the state authorities, however, could act in the matter, the local police closed the hotel.

Investigating Subway Exp'osion.

Boston, March 30.—The public investigation into the cause of the recent subway explosion at Boylston and Tremont streets began yesterday. B. Leighton Beal, secretary of the transit commission, was the first witness. His evidence related to contracts. Oliver A. Roberts testified that on the morning of the explosion, at about 11 o'clock, he telephoned the gas company that gas was escaping somewhere near the Masonic building.

Artistic Furniture.

YOU can pay a great deal of money at some stores and your home will be filled with gaudy, unharmonious pieces of Furniture.

At this store things are different. In addition to our wonderfully popular line of substantial low priced furniture, we carry a large assortment of artistic furniture, the very newest notions in odd and novel pieces.

To the average man, the dollars come too sparingly to be spent in a manner soon to be regretted and the longer you use the furniture we sell you, you realize as comparison only teaches, that our furniture is built for service.

Occasionally a customer leaves us, but returns soon again with the same story, "I have tried elsewhere, but come back after wasting my time."

I. O. G. T. ANNIVERSARY.

Merry Mount Lodge Celebrates and Entertains Visiting Delegations.

It would have been next to impossible to get many more people into Faxon hall than the number that gathered there Monday evening, at which time Merry Mount lodge, I. O. G. T., celebrated its third anniversary. Invitations had been sent to all the neighboring lodges and each must have responded with a large delegation.

So late were some of the delegations in arriving that it was nearly 8 30 before the programme for the evening was commenced. At that time every seat in the hall was taken while upon the platform were seated the grand officers of the order and the chief templars of the visiting lodges, and in the little room back of the platform were many more who were unable to find seats in the hall.

The exercises opened with a brief address of welcome by Chief Templar Charles Hobart, who said that three years ago Merry Mount lodge was instituted at Doble's hall with sixteen members, and that the membership now numbered 91. At that time there were no Good Templar lodges in this vicinity, whereas now there were six lodges within a radius of three miles, all of which were in a flourishing condition and each was doing a good work. He closed by giving all a cordial welcome and an invitation to those not members to become affiliated with them.

The programme consisted of readings by Miss Goldie Jones, Miss Rubie C. Neal and Miss Gertie Walker; piano duets by Miss Ida Chisholm and Miss Nonie O'Connor; piano solos, Miss Ida Chisholm and Mr. Edward Brooks; selections by the Monatiquot quartette composed of Messrs. Weldin, Wilson, Torrey and Miss Torrey; guitar solo, Miss Lillia Kibble; vocal solos, Mr. William Powers and Mr. Gus Livendale; violin solos, Mr. William Powers; selections by the Merrymount quartette composed of Mr. Charles Bishop, Mr. Robert Kennedy, Mr. Richard Bishop and Mr. Harry Lillicrap and by Curtis orchestra, child impersonator, Frank Lawler.

Between the several numbers on the programme there were brief remarks on the good of the order by Grand Chief Templar, Joseph A. Fancy, Deputies Joel T. Watson and D. C. Pease, District Chief Templar, P. J. Chisholm, Grand Councillor Turnbull, Rev. E. W. Preble, Henry H. Faxon and by the Chief Templars of the visiting lodges.

It is needless to say that each number on the programme was encored and that the several artists responded.

At the conclusion of the evening's exercises an adjournment was made to the lower hall, where a bountiful collation was served by the sisters of Merry Mount lodge.

City Expenses.

The appropriations of the city of Everett will be of interest at this time, while those of Quincy are under consideration. The following have passed the board of aldermen of Everett:

Advertising, $500; contingent expenses, $1500; engineers' department, $500; City Hall maintenance, $2700; labor service, $100; law department, $1000; city debt, $48,108.59; extra clerk hire, $250; fire department, $3200; hydrants, $1484; insurance, $1000; interest on ordinary debt, $6500; interest on sewer bonds, $9000; observance of Memorial day, $200; military aid, $50; parks, $1500; police department, $13,500; poor department, $5500; printing and stationery, $2000; Public Library, $2200; salaries, $11,650; support of schools, $85,000; maintenance and repairs of streets, $17,500; new street signs, $100; street construction, $3000, allowing $500 to each of the six wards; side-walks, $1000; soldiers' relief, $500; crosswalks, $500; street lighting, $11,000; street watering, $2500; total, $248,042.59.

It will be noticed that this small city appropriates more for streets than Quincy, if the special sums are included.

The Question of Branch Banks.

If small national banks are to be encouraged in the more sparsely settled portions of the country, the question arises whether they should be purely local organizations or branches of the great metropolitan banks. The old United States bank had branches which, by virtue of their connection with a large central institution, had some advantages over the local banks with which they competed, but were in more than one instance the objects of adverse state legislation. This spirit of local hostility to a bank located in another city, and perhaps another state, left memories which still survive and which account in part for the opposition to branch banks.

But the experience of England and Scotland, Canada and Australia, is strongly and uniformly in favor of large central banks with many branches. The banks of Canada are able to maintain a singular uniformity in the rates of interest in the great commercial centers and in the remote agricultural regions because the banks of Montreal and Toronto have their branches in Manitoba and the Pacific region and can transfer the surplus capital of one locality to meet the deficiency in another as it cannot be done by wholly independent banks. The conditions in Canada are very much like those of the United States, and the success of the Canadian banks in doing what we recognize the importance of having done is entitled to great weight in our considerations. In Scotland it is well known that the branch system has greatly favored those agricultural interests which in our own country are so much in need of financial accommodation.

The preponderance of financial testimony is decidedly in favor of the branch system, most of the opposition to which comes, or would come, from local financial interests, jealous of strong outside competition. There is a feeling of distrust of all banks which is born of ignorance. It increases rapidly with the increase of a bank's capital and the extension of its operations, which are supposed to prove the bank to be a monopoly.—Iron Age.

Killed by Stray Spanish Bullet.

Havana, March 30.—C. E. Crosby, correspondent of the Chicago Record, was killed at an engagement which took place recently at Arroyo Blanco, in the Sancti Spiritus district of the province of Santa Clara, between a Spanish force under Colonel Arjons, and a body of insurgents commanded by General Maximo Gomez. Mr. Crosby was in the camp of the insurgents, from which place he was watching the fight through field glasses, when he was killed by a stray bullet fired from the Spanish ranks.

Dr. Luiz Sentenced.

Baltimore, March 30.—Dr. Luiz of the Cuban junta, convicted of violating the United States neutrality laws in sending an expedition to Cuba, has been sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment and fined $500. The case will be appealed to the United States supreme court.

Progressive Gloucester Citizens.

Gloucester, Mass., March 30.—Two men have signified their intention of subscribing $25,000 each toward the forming of a company to bring the fresh fish business here. George R. Bradford, president of the First National bank, subscribed $10,000, and it is thought that the $100,000 needed for the purpose will be taken up in a few days.

Mrs. Dr. Hamilton Awarded Alimony.

New York, March 30.—Mrs. Florence G. Hamilton, wife of Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, has been awarded $2400 a year alimony, payable monthly, and $250 counsel fee, pending the determination of the suit for a separation which she has brought against her husband.

SHORT WHEEL NOTES.

When buying a bicycle, it is a good thing not to forget to take a receipted bill.

George H. Orr of Toronto has been elected president of the Canadian Wheelmen's association.

For originality the French cannot be beaten. A bicycle club composed entirely of actresses has recently been formed in Paris.

A visit to a secondhand bicycle shop is the best thing in the world for a man who wants to study the advances made in bicycle construction.

Previous to the introduction of American bicycles into New Zealand lady riders were a rare sight. Now they are almost as numerous as male riders.

The New York park board has asked the city government for an appropriation of $10,000 for the construction of additional cycle paths in the park system.

General Joseph Peebles of Cincinnati is a bicycle enthusiast. He has succeeded in getting his stenographer to ride a wheel also, and the general dictates letters speeding away at the rate of 25 miles an hour.

Before Mr. and Mrs. William Irving were made man and wife at Stephens, near Columbia, Mo., recently the groom made the bride solemnly promise at the altar that she would never wear bloomers or ride a bicycle.

Professor Garner of England has returned from a stay in Africa, where he has been entertaining himself with the monkeys, trying to learn their language and telling them stories of their brethren in England. He has brought home with him a monkey that he has trained to ride a bicycle.

Prisoners Carried by Wheel.

Josh Messerger, a deputy sheriff of Grayson county, has a brand new device for bringing in prisoners whom he has arrested. He is probably the first peace officer in the United States to adopt it. The device is nothing more nor less than that of bringing them on the rear step of his bicycle.

Mr. Messerger weighs 175 pounds himself, and as his prisoner on a recent occasion weighed about as much it will be seen that the total weight on the wheel was considerable. It is a regular $100 wheel of a well known make, weighs 25 pounds and has no special features except that it has a step on each side in the rear instead of only on one side. This slight variation was made for the special accommodation of the prisoner, who has to stand behind. Messerger is contemplating buying a tandem, on which he expects to be able to bring in two prisoners at a time instead of one.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Squaws on Bicycles.

A band of 15 or 20 North Carolina full blood Cherokee Indians passed through Mansfield, Mo., the other day, en route to the Indian Territory, where they expect to visit among their western brothers and to try to induce some friendly tribe to sell them a body of land that they can hold in common, as they have become dissatisfied with their allotment back east and desire a change.

Some of the red men were afoot, some on ponies and others on bicycles. A novel feature of the bicycle brigade was two old squaws, one in the latest cut bloomers and the other wearing only a breechcloth. Each carried a little black eyed papoose, strapped strongly to its mother's back, and, although the thermometer was hoverng between the freezing and zero mark, it had no apparent effect upon their good nature, for all the while the little fellows were busy jabbering at each other in their native tongue.—Kansas City Times.

A Variable Chain.

It is often the case that a chain becomes tight and slack as it runs around the sprocket wheels. If the alteration takes place with each revolution of the pedals and if there is no dirt on the periphery of the front sprocket wheel, very probably the crank axle is not fixed centrally in the rear sprocket, in which case a competent repairer may perhaps put matters right. But there is no need to trouble about it unless the defect is considerable. On the other hand, if the alteration is observed to have some relation to the position of the chain or with each half revolution the cause probably depends partly on whether the chain is new or not. If it is new, there may be a stiff link which does not properly straighten out after leaving the sprocket, but may work loose in time.—Boston Globe.

A Grewsome Bicycle Ad.

A grewsome advertisement of bicycle fixtures is displayed in the window of a store on Market street, above Tenth. A bicycle is rigged up in the window, and upon it sits a skeleton scorcher. The bony fingers clutch the handle bars, and the fleshless feet are firmly fixed to the pedals. The skull is fitted with a powerful electric lamp, and the light gleams very weirdly through the hollow sockets where the eyes had once been. An electric motor supplies the power which drives the wheels around, and the leg bones rattle up and down rapidly, and the jawbone moves regularly, as though the skeleton were busily chewing gum.—Philadelphia Record.

Have Your Wheel Overhauled.

If one intends to ride the same bicycle this year that was used last, one should have it overhauled before the fine riding weather comes. Look particularly at the tires. Rubber wears out more quickly when not in use than one may imagine, and it may be found that the tires are not in a desirable condition. If in bad shape it will be the best policy to have a new pair fitted at once and thus start the season in comfort and without fear of a breakdown from this source. Should any repairs be necessary to the wheel, this will be found to be the best time to have them made, as later the shops will be busy.—New York Press.

IN THE SPRING.

Puritana Is the Safest and Surest Remedy.

THE universal custom of taking a spring remedy is founded on a natural instinct implanted in us for our own good.

The heat-producing foods of winter leave the system clogged. Confinement in warm rooms, with lack of outdoor exercise, makes all the organs weak and torpid. Those who neglect to use a remedy or fail to get the right one are inviting serious troubles. Most chronic diseases start in the spring. The end of winter finds thousands with such symptoms as these: A general unfitness for work with either head or hands. A worn-out, tired-out feeling that cannot be overcome. There is sleeplessness, or restless sleep. Numbness of hands or feet. A sence of pressure in the head, with a feeling of gloom or despondency. There may be fluttering or palpitation of the heart. Frequently a pain in the heart or under the left shoulder. There may be rushes of blood to the head, or throbbing in the ears at times.

Kidney and liver troubles may be looked for if your digestion has not been perfect. There is fulness or pain in the right side, or pain under the right shoulder. Distaste for food, with nausea in the morning. Complexion is blotched or sallow. Tongue is coated or mouth foul. There is a dull, sleepy feeling, with disinclination to breathe deeply. If the kidneys are in danger there will be pain, weakness, or soreness in small of back, and perhaps occasional sharp pains. Urine is scanty, high colored, and on standing becomes cloudy, or deposits a red sediment. There are apt to be frequent headaches. Sores and skin eruptions frequently come.

All these various symptoms are common to spring, and show that the vital organs need renovating and prompt repair. Bright's disease, jaundice, rheumatism, and heart troubles start from just such conditions as these. No two persons will have the same set of symptoms, but any of those enumerated are important. The organs must be strengthened and repaired. Repair can only come through active digestion, and Puritana is the remedy to rely on. It will vitalize the entire body and give you a spring of buoyant, vigorous health. Clear complexion, sharp appetite, and the power to do things, is the sure reward of taking Puritana.

New England Republicans Criticise Dingley Wool and Cotton Rates.

House Proceedings Livened by Republican Break.

President Sends More Diplomatic Appointments to the Senate.

Washington, March 30.—The consideration of the tariff bill in the house yesterday recalled former times when tariff bills were under discussion, and the debates were always attended with more or less political feeling on both sides. It was also noteworthy as bringing several of the Massachusetts members into the debate and presenting the rare spectacle of two Republican members from Massachusetts protesting and denouncing the extreme protection of the bill.

The most interesting feature of the day occurred toward the close of the session when Mr. McCall and Mr. Lovering, two Massachusetts Republicans, successively assaulted the bill, the former charging that the duties were higher than necessary, and the latter that the manufacturers wanted a tariff that would live. "We do not want to be stranded by free trade," said he. "Neither do we want to be smothered by protection."

This was the first Republican break over the party traces, and led to some very plain words from the Republican leaders. It was a family row which the opposition enjoyed hugely. Mr. Russell, one of the members of the ways and means committee from Connecticut, poured hot shot into the camp of the Massachusetts dissenters, exposing the fact, in the course of his remarks, that Mr. Lovering, who is a cotton manufacturer, had asked for increases in fine grades of cotton yarns. Mr. Walker of Massachusetts also attacked the position of his colleagues, and the extraordinary discussion, as Mr. Dingley termed it, drew from the majority leader a vigorous statement concerning the cotton and woolen schedules. Not Mr. Fitzgerald (Dem., Mass.) then made his contribution to the debate, calling the attention of his Republican colleagues from Massachusetts to the fate that had overtaken the Massachusetts Republicans after the enactment of the McKinley law, when the state went Democratic three successive years. Mr. Moody (Rep., Mass.), in reply, admitted that Massachusetts had gone Democratic on the issue raised, but he said the people of Massachusetts had been deceived, as the people of the whole country had been. But they had learned their lesson, and learned it well. They realized now that they could not secure prosperity at the expense of other sections, and they were now willing to accord to others what they demanded for themselves.

None of the bill was read, the committee on ways and means retaining the floor throughout the day with committee amendments. About 20 of these were offered and adopted. Most of them were not of great importance. The most important placed copper on the free list.

MORE NOMINATIONS.

President Sends Batch of Diplomatic Appointments to Senate.

Washington, March 30.—In the open session of the senate yesterday a resolution by Pettigrew of South Dakota, asking the interior department for information regarding national forest preserves, was agreed to, as was Gallinger's resolution regarding civil service matters.

The president sent to the senate the following nominations:

Charlemagne Tower, Jr., of Pennsylvania, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Austria-Hungary.

Anson Burlingame Johnson of Colorado, to be consul of the United States at Fuchan, China.

William S. Shallenberger of Pennsylvania, to be second assistant postmaster general.

James D. Gill of Massachusetts, to be collector of internal revenue for the third district of Massachusetts.

Thomas Ryan of Kansas, to be first assistant secretary of the interior.

Henry Clay Evans of Tennessee, to be commissioner of pensions.

The first phase of the tariff in the senate made its appearance in a resolution by Mr. Allen of Nebraska, declaring that tariff taxes on articles of daily consumption should not be laid so as to enrich one class at the expense of the masses. It went over.

Mr. Hoar, from the judiciary committee, reported favorably the bill to prevent kinetoscope exhibitions of prize fights in the District of Columbia and the territories, and to prohibit the shipping of material for the exhibition. Mr. Morgan of Alabama submitted a minority report on the bill for a commission to settle the Central Pacific railroad indebtedness to the government. The bill was passed for the settlement of an account between Arkansas and the United States. It involves a payment by the state of a balance of $160,000. The rest of the day was spent in executive session.

Upon going into executive session, the senate promptly took up the arbitration treaty, and Senator Bacon of Georgia took the floor in advocacy of his amendment to exempt claims against Southern states from the operation of the agreement. He spoke at some length, going into the general merits of the treaty.

McKinley's Cuban Agent.

Washington, March 30.—The announcement that President McKinley had decided to send a special commissioner to Cuba received full confirmation by the presence in this city of Judge William R. Day, a well known lawyer of Canton, O., and a close personal friend of the chief executive. This is the gentleman selected by the president for the important mission. Judge Day goes to Cuba officially and specifically for the purpose of representing the United States in the proposed judicial investigation of the alleged murder of Dr. Ruiz.

Fall River Officials Resign.

Fall River, Mass., March 30.—Alderman John F. Johnston and Councilman Charles E. Baker of ward 8 resigned last night. Mr. Johnston is a plumber, and resigns so that he may bid for city contracts. Mr. Baker resigns to run for alderman. Both are Republicans.

THE MARSH CASE.

Testimony Introduced to Indicate That Deceased Committed Suicide.

Montpelier, Vt., March 30.—The Marsh murder trial was resumed yesterday by the reading of a deposition from Mrs. Eliza Crocker, mother of Mrs. Marsh, who is too feeble to attend court. It stated that Marsh was at her house a short time before he died. She heard him complain of pains in the heart, stomach and head, and he declared that if it was not for his children he would put himself out of the way.

Nina Greene, daughter of Mrs. Marsh, who lived with her grandmother, gave testimony confirming the deposition.

A letter was read written by Marsh to Walter Hill, under date of Jan. 2, 1896, nine days before his death, in which he complained of poor health. Albert Huntington testified that he heard Marsh say in December, 1895, that he would not live long, and was tempted to put himself out of the way.

Professor E. H. Bartlett, chemist at Dartmouth college, testified that arsenic introduced in the body after death would in time permeate all tissues. The report of a stenographer at a preliminary hearing was read, showing that Hiram Henry's testimony was different then than now in regard to seeing Buzzell give Marsh a white powder. Albert Dunham of Northfield said he filled a prescription for horse powders for Marsh in which was arsenic. It is expected that the case will go to the jury on Saturday.

BAY STATE LAWMAKERS.

Brief Summary of Work Done Yesterday on Beacon Hill.

Boston, March 30.—The house yesterday rejected resolutions memorializing congress in behalf of the Cubans by a vote of 21 to 66. Representative Thomas F. Keenan of Boston gave notice that he would move a reconsideration.

Although it was intended last week to have the house sit mornings and afternoons, beginning this week, it was yesterday decided to postpone the morning sessions until next Tuesday, the house continuing to meet at 2 o'clock meanwhile. This was to allow six or eight committees more time in which to finish their business without hindrance. The bill for separation of several charitable departments in Boston was assigned for April 7; the order as to the present custody of the deeds for Bunker Hill monument was laid over until Itoday; the bill relative to approval of plans for county prisons was discharged from the orders and tabled. It was announced that Governor and Mrs. Wolcott will give a reception to members of the legislature and their wives from 5 to 6:30 on the evening of April 5, at 173 Commonwealth avenue.

Looking For Debbins' Murderer.

Medford, Mass., March 30.—State Detective J. H. Whitney and Chief Holmes of Medford, who are at work on the Debbins murder mystery, now want to find a man who passed along Woodland road on a bicycle about 10 minutes before Hugh Reynolds, the Stoneham pedler. The bicyclist is described as a man of about 40 years of age, and when last seen he was opposite the Langwood hotel and going in the direction of Medford. The police have been unable to find this wheelman, and they think he should be able to throw some light on the murder. He was going in the direction from which Debbins was coming, and it is thought must have passed him on the road before Reynolds saw him. The bicyclist must also, it is argued, have seen Reynolds, and he should be of considerable assistance in fixing the time of the murder, if nothing else. If there was another man on the road beside Debbins, it is likely that he saw him.

Maine Railroad Extension.

Sanford, Me., March 30.—The managers of the Mousam River railway are negotiating for the construction of the extention to Cape Porpoise. The estimated cost of construction and equipment is from $150,000 to $200,000, and two offers at these figures have already been received. The receipts from that part of the road now being operated last year were $23,000. A line of schooners will be put on between Philadelphia and the terminus of the road at Cape Porpoise, to bring coal and freight. It is said that a line of passenger and freight steamers will ply between Kennebunk and Boston.

Damages Recovered From Railroad.

Lowell, Mass., March 30.—In the superior court here yesterday, before Judge Wardwell, the case of Moynahan vs. the Boston and Maine railroad was finished. There were five counts, charging assault and battery and falsely causing arrest, digging defendant's land and giving annoyance and charging malicious prosecution. On all these the jury, after being out four hours, returned verdicts for the plaintiff, the total finding being $4579.

Lumber Season Drawing to a Close.

Lancaster, N. H., March 30.—This week will end the lumber operations for the season in northern New Hampshire. The season has been exceptionally good and the logs have been "yarded" and hauled out to the mill yards and landings at a less expense than usual. An estimate of the stock of logs landed and ready to be manufactured April 1 by the concerns of Coos and northern Grafton counties is 140,000,000 feet.

Sale of Boxes at Horse Show.

Boston, March 30.—The auction sale of boxes for the Boston horse show took place in Music hall yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance and the bidding was of a very lively nature while the more favored locations were under the hammer. The total amount realized from the sale was $12,000, which is several thousand dollars short of last year's sale.

Priest Lectures at Bates College.

Lewiston, Me., March 30.—For the first time in the history of Cobb divinity school of Bates college a Catholic priest in the person of Rev. Father Butler of St. Joseph's church, Lewiston, upon invitation, addressed the theologians, taking for his subject, "Spiritual Affairs."

Kid McCoy has arrived in London from South Africa, and has issued a challenge to fight Dan Creedon for the middleweight championship of the world for any purse offered.

The lacrosse team of the Crescent Athletic club of Brooklyn was defeated yesterday by the South Manchester club team. The score stood eight goals to two in favor of the Englishmen.

Chairman Mott of the L. A. W. racing board has announced the indefinite suspension from all L. A. W. racing tracks of James Michael, the Welsh racing crack. It is also announced that Fred Gerlach of Chicago will probably be tendered the seventh and only vacant place on the racing board. Whether he will accept is not known. Mr. Gerlach was a member of the former board.

George L. Theobald of Concord, N. H., has purchased of Hon. Warren F. Daniell of Franklin, the fast young trotting horse Clayton, by Mambrino Wilkes, and will campaign him during the coming season. Clayton is without a mark, but in private trial at Mystic track, Medford, Mass., last fall, without special preparation, he was timed a mile in 2:16. Competent judges predict that with proper handling he will go in 2:10 or better this year.

Chicago Anarchists Restive.

Chicago, March 30.—The Post says: According to anarchists in Chicago, an extensive movement of a revolutionary nature has just been set on foot. Systematic agitation is to be begun May 1, outdoor meetings are to be held, whether or not police permission is obtainable, and just such preparations and speeches as preceded the Haymarket episode are being made.

"2 A healthy woman experiences the greatest happiness of all her life when her first-born nestles in her neck. Motherhood is a woman's duty and should be her joy. There are thousands of women to whom motherhood is a torture because of weakness and disease of the organs that make it possible. This is wrong and need not be. If a woman will but study the physiology of the organs distinctly feminine, and learn to take the proper care of her health—to take the proper remedy for weakness and disease peculiar to her sex, motherhood will become an unalloyed pleasure, where now it is dreaded and avoided for its pains and dangers.

The best medicine for a woman to take during the period preceding motherhood is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the only medicine for this purpose invented by a regularly graduated, skilled and expert specialist in the treatment of the peculiar diseases of women. It cures all weakness and disease of the organs that perpetuate the race. It makes them strong and vigorous. It rids the expectant period of its usual discomforts. It insures baby's health and makes its coming easy and almost painless. It is the discovery of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Women who wish to know more of the "Favorite Prescription" should write him.

Frederick Frederick, of No. 1114 S. Second St., Camden, N. J., writes: "My wife is a customer of yours. She has used 'Favorite Prescription' to prevent miscarriage. She had a sickness last July, and suffered untold misery from a severe pain. I repeatedly told her to use your medicines, but she persisted in going to a so-called specialist, whose treatment only made her more sick and miserable. Then she used the 'Favorite Prescription' and was cured."

Pleasure. It is a matter of health alone. Nothing else. A healthy man can't be unhappy if he wants to. Much sickness is caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

DYSPEPSIA DID IT

Weakened One Man's Constitution Until It Brought Him to Death's Door.

Mr. James S. Harrison, a well-known and highly respected citizen of Cleveland, O., was for years a sufferer from dyspepsia and general debility, and in his weakened condition, resulting from the above causes, he had the additional ill-luck to fall a victim to malaria from this complication of disorders. Mr. Harrison's condition was becoming very serious, when he commenced to take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy. Its effects were marked and immediate. Read his letter to us. Its earnestness is apparent:

GENTLEMEN: For the benefit of all suffering from dyspepsia and general debility I beg to submit my testimonial as to the efficacy of your P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, as a positive cure for all the distressing complaints from which I suffered.

My system was also full of Malaria and my condition was growing very serious; I had no appetite, was losing strength and was completely broken down in health, but now my health is completely restored, and I can eat like a field laborer, without the slightest fear of any serious results.

I take great pleasure in telling the world that P. P. P. did the grand work of restoring me to my accustomed health. Yours truly,

JAMES S. HARRISON,
Cleveland, O.

If you get up feeling tired and stupid, P. P. P. should be taken—it will make you feel well.

P. P. P. cures eczema, that torturing, itching disease of the skin and blood. If your blood is kept pure, you will not be disfigured with pimples, boils and blotches.

P. P. P. is the deadly foe and vanquisher of rheumatism. Its effects are immediate and lasting, and it not only relieves, but permanently cures.

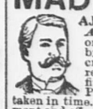

Scrofula, which is hereditary and deep-seated in the blood can be cured by P. P. P. It is the one and only positive cure for this dread disease.

Sufferers from kidney troubles find immediate relief when they take P. P. P. as it cures all irregularities and restores to nature her proper functions.

NOVEL TARIFF POLICY.

Attempt Will Be Made Put Dingley Duties Into Effect Immediately.

Republicans Will Probably Adopt the Plan.

All Goods Contracted For Before Passage of Act Will Be Dutiable.

Washington, March 31.—The project for preventing orders for foreign goods by making the tariff duties retroactive was determined upon by the Republican majority of the ways and means committee last night.

General Grosvenor of Ohio is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the plan, because he represents a wool growing state and desires to arrest the flow of foreign wool to the American market. He and two or three other members of the committee are determined to prevent importations as far as possible.

Governor Dingley, and the more conservative members, were opposed to this proposition, believing it might injure the credit of the party and provoke stubborn opposition to the bill in the senate, but the sub-committee, consisting of Representatives Grosvenor of Ohio, Tawney of Minnesotta and Dalzell of Pennsylvania, which was authorized to report on the proposition, presented an amendment to this effect, which they had written, and their colleagues instructed Mr. Grosvenor to offer the amendment today in the house. There is no doubt that it will be adopted by a party vote.

The theory of the amendment was explained by a member of the ways and means committee in these words:

"It only relates to goods contracted for subsequent to the date on which the bill passes the house, and the importer will make all purchases with notice of the purpose of congress to impose and collect certain duties on goods imported after a certain date. In other words, he knows that goods which he imports will be liable for a higher rate of duty, and therefore he could not avail himself of rules usually applicable to bonafide purchases. The law, when enacted, would simply relate back to impost duties on goods purchased for import after the importer knew that such duties were to be imposed. This will not be retroactive, but retrospective legislation."

GENERAL DRAPER APPOINTED.

President McKinley Formally Offers Him Italian Ambassadorship.

Washington March 31.—President McKinley formally offered General William F. Draper, and he formally accepted, yesterday, the ambassadorship to Italy, and the nomination will be sent to the senate in a day or two, with that of Andrew D. White, to be ambassador to Germany, Mr. McKinley desiring to send the two in together. The delay has been due to the necessary and customary process of inquiring of the governments to which ambassadors are to be accredited as to whether they will be acceptable, and the favorable responses of Germany and Italy having been received, the nominations to the senate will follow.

President McKinley sent to Massachusetts for General Draper, who arrived yesterday, and repaired to the White House, where he was one of the favored few admitted to see the president before the cabinet meet. The president, in a very complimentary manner, made him the formal offer of an embassadorship to Italy, and General Draper accepted it with expressions of appreciation.

Cigarmakers Protest.

Washington, March 31.—A committee from the Cigar Makers' International union, headed by J. J. Lynch of Chicago and T. J. Tracey of Boston, is in Washington. The union enrolls about 150,000 people, and has made a formal protest against the changes in the duties on tobacco as made in the Dingley bill, claiming that they will deprive many workers of employment by causing a larger proportion of the cigars consumed in the United States to be made abroad. They declare that the advances of unmanufactured tobacco in the bill are so much higher than on cigars that importers will find it more profitable to have their cigars manufactured abroad than to import the tobacco to be manufactured into cigars in this country.

Justice Field to Retire.

Washington, March 31. — Justice Stephen J. Field is to retire, and Attorney General McKenna is to succeed him on the supreme court bench in July, according to the Californians, who even name the day as July 15. W. H. H. Hart of San Francisco is already here as a candidate for attorney general to succeed McKenna, on the understanding that the retirement of Justice Field and the succession of Mr. McKenna have been definitely arranged for July 15. Justice Field's health has been failing for a year, and of late he has been unable to attend to the duties of his position.

President Never Received Letter.

Washington, March 31.—It is said at the White House that President McKinley has never received the letter written to him by General Gomez of the Cuban army, appealing to him for support, and which was published in the Chicago Record. In the absence of its reception the president has nothing to say on the subject.

VIOLATION OF STATUTE.

Colonel Scannell Prefers Charges Against Chairman of Boston Police Board.

Boston, March 31.—The charges which Colonel Roger Scannell has prepared against General Augustus P. Martin, chairman of the board of police of Boston, have been presented to Governor Wolcott. The governor has forwarded them to General Martin. The charges against General Martin are to the effect that in violation of the statutes he is,

First, president and director of the Pearl Hill Lithia Springs company.

Second, president and director of the Freemont Gold Mining company.

Third, president of the New England Accident association.

Fourth, president of the Dorchester Savings bank.

Fifth, director of the Howard National bank.

Sixth, director of the United States Trust company.

The statute regarding the police commissioners of Boston provides that none of them shall be engaged in any outside private business.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, March 31.—Revere people were at the state house yesterday to speak for or against the bill to annex their town to Boston, but the outcome of the hearing makes it appear that the project is unlikely to be carried through at present. On the question of authorizing towns and cities to own or lease their street railways—the bill put in by Robert Treat Paine, Jr., for the citizens' committee of Boston—a large number of well-known people were present to speak favorably. Further laws against bicycle thieves were urged by the bicycle men, who appeared before the judiciary committee on Senator Robert's bill, and City Solicitor Pevey advocated the bill to enable cities and towns to construct, maintain or lease conduits for electric wires. George L. Smith, the new member from the Tenth Worcester district, was sworn in and appointed a member of the committee on public service.

The senate ordered to a third reading the bill of Senator Lomasney exempting from the civil service law messengers in the employ of cities of the state. The house rejected the order allowing the committees on metropolitan affairs and harbors and public lands to go to New York to inspect the dock system there. The effort to reconsider the Keenan free Cuba resolution in the house failed. The senate referred to the next general court the Hayes bill to tax collateral inheritances.

Mrs. Marsh's Defense Closed.

Montpelier, Vt., March 31. — At the Marsh murder trial yesterday, Miss Nellie Monty of Montpelier testified from stenographic notes taken at the inquest held after the death of Marsh. Dr. A. B. Bisbee of Montpelier testified that if the evidence given by Dr. Linsley was correct Marsh suffered from chronic Bright's disease. He described symptoms of this disease, many of which tallied with those shown in Marsh's condition. His testimony was of material benefit to the defense. John Blanchard of Northfield testified that he had purchased arsenic for Mrs. Marsh twice, and had purchased other ingredients, presumably for horse powders. Dr. Bisbee was recalled and examined as to the condition of a person suffering from Bright's disease. The defense rested here. For the state, in rebuttal, were called Hiram Henry, C. H. Dutton, L. C. Fletcher, George Bailey, John McCarthy, Rollin Lyons and Joseph Garney of Northfield, all of whom testified as to Marsh's apparent good health for a year previous to his death. The arguments commenced today.

Three-Cornered Fight For Federal Job.

Boston, March 31.—A sharp contest is liable to arise over the appointment of immigration commissioner at this port. There are three leading candidates, P. J. Conlan of Boston, George W. Brown of Chelsea and George W. L. Dockum of Everett. Mr. Conlan is supported by seven of the Republican representatives in congress and a large number of local leaders. But the appointment is generally supposed to belong to Congressman Barrett's district, and the whole of these three candidates belong there. Mr. Brown is Mr. Barrett's candidate, while Mr. Dockum is an anti-Barrett man, and just how the senators will dispose of the controversy in making their recommendation to the president is a matter of some interest.

Decision Affecting Guardians.

Boston, March 31.—The full bench of the supreme court yesterday, in the case of Margaret M. Ryan, administratrix, vs. the North End Savings bank, in an action to recover the amount of a deposit which was in the defendant bank in the name of Catherine J. Ryan, the plaintiff's mother, and which was withdrawn by James F. Ryan, as guardian of the plaintiff, who was insane, decided that the payment by the bank to the guardian was to a person whose claim in any case was purely formal and not beneficial, so that when the formal right failed all justification for the payment is gone. Judgment for the plaintiff was, therefore, entered.

A TURKISH BARK SUNK.

Cretans Swim Out to Vessel and Successfully Use Explosives.

European Troops to Occupy Fort of Izeddin.

Reports From Other Points Give Details of Sharp Fighting.

Canea, March 31.—The insurgents at Spina Langa have accomplished a most daring feat in sinking a Turkish bark. Carrying explosives with them, the Cretans swam to the vessel and sent her to the bottom, escaping unscathed back to shore.

Any one who thinks the Cretans do not take the situation seriously has but to consider such a heroic deed as this to realize that to them the question of annexation is a matter of life and death.

European troops will occupy the fort of Izeddin, which commands Suda bay. The insurgents, 5000 in number, are not more than 600 yards from the fort, and have declared their intention of taking it in a few days. The cannon of the European fleet may once more be directed against the Cretan patriots.

Several shots have been fired at the foreign occupying force at Butsunaria. The French commander has obtained reinforcements to replace the Turkish outposts, which are said to be absolutely unreliable.

The fighting at Spinalonga lasted 48 hours. The Turkish garrison met with a heavy loss. A French warship has been dispatched to render Turks such assistance as may now be practicable.

Admirals Will Distribute Supplies.

London, March 31.—In answer to a question in the house of commons yesterday as to the steps taken to relieve those suffering from lack of food in Crete, George N. Curzon, parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, said that the admirals in command of the fleets of the powers in Cretan waters were fully alive to the food necessities of the peaceful inhabitants of Crete, and have arranged to distribute supplies where they are most needed.

Mr. Curzon remarked that the recommendations of the admirals relative to the speedy appointment of a European governor of Crete and the gradual withdrawal of the Turkish troops from the island have the entire support of her majesty's government, which, he added, has lost no opportunity of urging their importance. Mr. Curzon assured the house that these recommendations are now under the consideration of the powers.

Cretans Appeal to Powers.

London, March 31.—A dispatch from Athens to The Times says that a committee of the Cretan delegates at Athens has addressed an appeal to Queen Victoria, President Faure, Emperor William, Emperor Franz Josef and the czar, imploring them to revoke the cruel decision of the admirals of the international fleet, who would "compel 300,000 Cretans by the tortures of famine to accept a constitution which would expose them to fresh sufferings in the future."

The appeal concludes with the demand that the Cretans be allowed to unite with Greece, where all is flourishing.

The Times' correspondent at Constantinople says that the sultan believed implicitly in the fulfillment of the prediction that an Armenian dynamite demonstration would occur in Constantinople on Friday, Saturday or Sunday last. Highly amusing accounts are given of the perturbation of the imperial tenant of the Yildiz Kiosk. His abject terror necessitated a sleepless vigil of 56 hours by all the members of the palace household, who strove in vain to allay the fright of their master. As nothing occurred at the palace everything is serene there now. The whole scare was a trick of certain Hamidians to maintain their ascendency over the cowardly and superstitious sultan.

Suspicious of Russia.

Athens, March 31.—It is rumored here that Russia has intimated that she will not participate in a blockade of Greek ports. This apparent change of front is viewed with suspicion in Greek official circles.

It is understood that the admirals have called on their respective governments for more warships, as well as more troops.

Revising Rhode Island Constitution.

Providence, March 31.—The commissioners appointed by Governor Lippitt to revise the constitution of Rhode Island met yesterday, and upon recommendation of a sub-committee, headed by United States District Attorney Gorman, voted to give a series of public hearings on the different points of the constitution as a preliminary to the work of revision.

KOTZSCHMAR CONCERT.

A Delightful Entertainment Largely Attended at Wollaston.

The Wollaston Unitarian church was filled on Tuesday evening with a fashionable audience to hear the concert given by the Kotzschmar Ladies' Quartette consisting of Mrs. Alida Shaw-Littlefield, first soprano; Miss Elizabeth D. Harlow, second soprano; Mrs. Jennie Weston-Litchfield, first alto; and Miss Etta R. Harlow, second alto; assisted by Mrs. Susan Gertrude Connor, violinist; Miss Grace Bullock, violoncellist; Miss Mary Virginia Hastings, soprano; Mr. Alton Faunce, tenor; and Mrs. Alma Faunce-Smith and Mrs. Maude M. Moorhouse, pianists.

The patronesses of the affair were: Mrs. Eugene H. Sprague, Mrs. Percival Moorhouse, Mrs. Frank A. Page, Mrs. Walter M. Hatch, Mrs. James E. Bagley, Mrs. Charles M. Bryant, Mrs. George Weston, Mrs. Walter E. Simmons, Mrs. Charles T. Baker, Mrs. Henry O. Fairbanks, Mrs. Albert R. Moulton, Mrs. Charles K. Crane, Mrs. George W. Bennett, Mrs. Herbert W. Lull and Mrs. Charles R. Sherman.

The ushers were Miss Hall and Miss Fairbanks, who were gowned in pink; Miss Blanche M. Taylor and Miss Eugenia M. Hatch in blue; and Miss Isadore Chase Lull and Miss Zannetta Sprague in white.

The audience presented a brilliant spectacle, the ladies to a large extent being in evening dress, and the gentlemen in the conventional swallow tail.

The concert was of the highest order, as it would be impossible to be otherwise under the direction of Mrs. Alma Faunce-Smith.

All of the numbers on the programme were received with enthusiasm.

Quincy Yacht Club.

The coming season of the Quincy Yacht club promises to be an unusually brilliant one. The House Committee at its meeting on Tuesday evening voted to request the Executive Committee to allow appropriations for a smoke talk, and also a band concert, similar to the one given by Baldwin's Boston Cadet Band last season. These, in addition to the regular club hops, series of open races, annual cruise and ladies' day will make the season a particularly lively one. A large number of new members have already been voted in.

THE BOULEVARD.

Quincy Well Represented at Today's Hearing.

A Good Case in Favor of the Petition Presented.

The Route from Boston to Squantum and Blue Hills.

The petition of Mayor Adams of Quincy for a boulevard or parkway from Squantum Head to Boston and via Merry Mount park and Quincy to the Blue Hills reservation came up for a hearing today at the State House before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs.

The hearing was scheduled for 10 A. M. but the committee did not get together until 10.45 and then disposed of three other matters first, so that it was after 11 o'clock before the Quincy petition was reached.

Mayor Adams said that the petition had received favorable attention last year, but not having a specific appropriation the appropriation for Metropolitan parks and boulevards was spent in other ways, on work already begun.

Mayor Adams contended it was a petition of interest to the Metropolitan district, not to Quincy alone. It was in the line of the takings of the Metropolitan Park Commission, and was contemplated as early as 1893. He quoted from reports of the board in the years since.

In the district north of Boston was the Middlesex Fells and on the south the Blue Hills reservation. The north had also the fine Revere Beach reservation, but on the south not a foot of sea shore was reserved for public use, bathing etc.

A map was exhibited showing the proposed boulevard and its connection with Franklin Park of Boston, and the Blue Hills reservation. The main object of the petition was to reserve the seashore front, said Mr. Adams.

Mayor Adams them submitted an estimate of the cost made by H. T. Whitman, the civil engineer. The entire distance of the boulevard was seven and four-tenths miles, of which one and one-quarter miles were over public streets. Two miles and one-half were along the water front. A roadway 40 feet wide with a green on either side was contemplated. The land damages were estimated at $110,000, and the entire cost at $275,265. The reservation along the Neponset river between Atlantic and Milton Lower Mills would add $100,000 if deemed expedient to take.

When asked if the project could not well be postponed one year without materially increasing the expense, he said that at present there were many large holders of land, but there was a demand for the shore front, and it was being sub-divided. Now the land would be largely given.

Whether more than the land taking was desired this year, Mayor Adams said the land would not be given unless boulevard was to be constructed right away. They naturally had a right to expect some return for their gift.

Mayor Quincy, of Boston, was introduced and gave his endorsement. He said it was a very desirable thing to do and that now was the time. Each year's delay endangered the prospects as well as increased the cost. This sea shore reservation would balance the Revere Beach taking on the north of Boston and equalize assessments in the district. Believe it wise to secure the land but was not so sure about the advisability of doing the work. But the proposition to give the land if boulevard was built forthwith, should be considered. Said land owners and abutters should make fair contributions of land or money for the improvement.

Mayor Quincy was aware that there were two other boulevard bills under consideration, and that the three involved over a million dollars. Believed these three should be reported favorably if no further appropriation for Metropolitan boulevards were made.

Mayor Adams said he could present many others who would favor the bill, in fact all Quincy favored. He would not bind the Park Commissioners to construct the boulevard unless they found the situation as represented.

Several questions were asked by members of the committee.

No remonstrants appeared and the hearing closed about 12 o'clock.

Among others present were Representatives Thompson and Newcomb, ex-Senator W. N. Eaton, Nelson V. Titus, Harry L. Rice, Councilman N. G. Nickerson and Frank F. Prescott.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers recently performed a great deed of charity, although it was not designed as a charity, being nothing more nor less than an advertising scheme. It however resulted in great good just the same. They gave away 1,000 bottles of their Digestive Cordial to those suffering from stomach derangements.

It was so effective in curing those who used the remedy that they were loud in their praises of it and in consequence a large demand for the Cordial was at once created.

The druggists of this town have little books that tell all about it. Digestive Cordial creates an appetite, aids digestion and bring about a rapid increase in flesh and strength.

SEWER HEARING.

City Solicitor Blackmur Before Committee of Legislature.

Committee on Metropolitan Affairs gave a public hearing at the State House last evening, on the bill to take from Boston its outlet and sewerage plant and put the same into the hands of the Metropolitan Sewerage Commissioners.

Quincy is in the bill against its wishes. The city was represented by City Solicitor Blackmur and Mayor Adams.

Mr. Blackmur put in as evidence the city of Quincy's contract with Boston, which is a perpetual one; and submitted plans showing Quincy's system and its shore line. Also, where the system of sewerage is connected with Boston; together with the report of the State Board of Health, giving authority and endorsing Quincy's present system.

The arguments on behalf of the cities and towns were opened by Mr. Blackmur, who said in part, "That Quincy opposed the bill in the first place because she believes that Boston was the proper custodian of the outlet at Moon Island, because of the great interest which she had in the preservation of her harbor and shore front from the careless and improper discharge of sewage matter at the outlet. That Quincy shore line was adjoining, which was composed of deep bays and indentations, along which was considerable valuable shore property, and that in view of the short-sighted policy of the Metropolitan Commissioners discharging sewerage at all tides in order to save expense, across the harbor on the north side, the city of Quincy felt safer to leave the management of the outlet in the hands of the city of Boston. Furthermore Quincy was perfectly satisfied with the contract which she had made with Boston, by which she had agreed to pay to Boston her proportion of the expense of cost and maintenance of so much of the sewerage plant which she used in part with Boston; that the contract had been made with the approval and under the direction of the late Albert F. Noyes, engineer, who was at the time a member of the Metropolitan Sewerage Board; that Boston was willing to make the same contract with the other cities and towns, and as under the contract, they only paid their share of what they got, he thought it was perfectly fair that if the committee should see fit to take this system out of the hands of the city of Boston, then they should make some separate provisions for Quincy, as Quincy did not belong to the Neponset River Valley system, as but a very small part of her territory was within its water shed.

Police Notes.

Timothy J. Bowler filled up with fire water on Tuesday and was about the street making a nuisance of himself. In the latter part of the afternoon he went to Whicher's factory, on Union street, where he proceeded to create a disturbance, so much so that the police were telephoned for. Officer Connelly went down and brought him to the Police station.

Tuesday afternoon George Collier while under the influence of liquor, was driving through the streets in a reckless manner when the attention of Officer Ferguson was called to him. Getting into a team of Calvin Dyer, the officer started after him. The two teams went down Canal street, Collier leading the way. Collier turned up Washington street and drove into the yard of Penniman & Son where he was arrested.

The Morning's Fire.

The alarm from Box 64 at 10.30 this morning was rung in for a fire in an unoccupied barn, on Atlantic street, owned by F. C. Pope. Just previous to the alarm boys had been burning grass near by and unbeknown to them the fire had crept up to the barn and set fire to it.

When the department arrived the fire had worked all through the structure and was burning briskly. Two streams from a hydrant soon had a telling effect and the flames were extinguished.

The loss will not exceed $200.

Spring Medicine

Experience teaches the importance of special care of the health.

And fixed among the important principles of hygiene and health is the acknowledged necessity of a good Spring Medicine.

Just as firmly established by the experiences of millions of people, is the positive fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla is "far and away" the best blood purifier and spring medicine ever produced.

The necessity is found in the impure condition of the blood at this season, owing to the close confinement and breathing vitiated air in office, store, shop, house, schoolroom or factory; excessive eating and drinking too rich and hearty food; late hours and social indulgences. With the blood thus thick and impure, the machinery of life grinds hard.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, builds up and strengthens the nerves and tones the stomach. It oils up the machinery of the whole body; the liver takes up its work anew, the kidneys resume activity, the ache goes out of the back, the bowels are regulated, the appetite restored, the food is relished and assimilated.

Don't wait till you are thoroughly sick before you begin to take a Spring Medicine.

Lock the door before the horse is stolen.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now as a preventive and it will pay you a thousand fold in health and strength through the coming summer.

"We always take several bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family every spring as a tonic and blood purifier and we find that it overcomes that tired feeling gives new life, and keeps us well all summer." WM. RINGEL, 813 5th Ave., Peoria, Illinois.

Excellent Spring Medicine.

"For a number of years I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring, not for any particular ailment, but on general principle, that the system needs a tonic at this time, and I have always found Hood's Sarsaparilla a most excellent spring medicine." HAKON HAMME Engineer, Pottstown, Pennsylvania.

That Tired Feeling.

"I was troubled with that tired feeling all the spring. I purchased three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken about half of it I was feeling well again. I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be an excellent blood purifier and tonic." MISS ORA E. MORGAN, Busey, Illinois.

Builds up the Health.

"We take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a tonic in the spring. Two of our children had tonsilitis and their blood was in a bad condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla built them up, and we have taken it again this spring with much benefit." MRS. P. H. CAHOON, Pleasant Lake, Mass.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. There is no substitute for Hood's.

TODAY'S COURT.

Tobias Buckland was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued one week.

George A. Collier was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Andrew Tracy was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. He was fined $10.

Timothy J. Bowler for the third time within a year, was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. He was sent to the Massachusetts Reformatory.

The continued case of John C. McLennon was called and again continued for three weeks.

The continued case of Robert E Townsend for selling adulterated milk at Quincy was called. Case continued for one month at which time a fine of $50 will be imposed.

The continued cases of Walter D. Grant for assault on Charles H. Chandler and Mrs. Inez M. Chandler, at Quincy were called.

Mr. Chandler testified that in consequence of a note sent to him Grant came to his house on the night of March 19, about 7.45. Witness asked Grant what he meant by calling his wife a damned dead beat. Grant replied that he did not call her a beat. Witness then told Grant he was a liar, upon which Grant hit him twice in the mouth. Grant then struck Mrs. Chandler in the chest and then in the face and the blood was flying about the room. After some trouble he got Grant out of the house.

Mrs. Chandler testified that Grant called upon her on March 18, to collect a bill of $5.05. Witness told him that she could not pay until next week; you know how it is yourself not to pay your bills. Grant then put his fist in her face and said "Yes it is just such damned beats as you that made me fail."

The witness story of the events of the 19th was practically the same as that of Mr. Chandler.

Grant had sixteen witnesses besides himself. Grant's story was that he went to see Mrs. Chandler March 18, to collect his bill. She said she had no money as her husband had been out of work. Witness told her it was the same old story and she must do something or he would bring suit. Mrs. Chandler then said you had better be careful you have failed yourself. Witness replied it was on account of such dead beats as you are that caused it and did not propose to have it occur again. On the night of March 19, witness went to Chandler's in response to a letter. Met son on the back step who said his folks were at the neighbors. He went after them and Mrs. Chandler came through the house and let him in. Chandler then accused witness of insulting his wife and said he intended to make witness settle for it. Witness replied that he should bring suit. Chandler then struck him in the face and he defended himself. Did not remember much about when Mrs. Chandler appeared on the scene.

The other witnesses for the defense testified as to the character of Grant.

The court found Grant not guilty on the complaint for assault on Chandler as it was in the nature of a mutual assault.

In the case for assault on Mrs. Chandler the court imposed a fine of $25. Appealed.

Of Local Interest.

The New England Magazine observes the centennial of the inauguration of John Adams of Quincy as President by the publication of an article of unusual interest and value upon "The Friendship of John Adams and Thomas Jefferson," by Mr. E. P. Powell, the article being accompanied by fine reproductions of the well-known portraits of Adams and Jefferson by Gilbert Stuart, the former constituting the frontispiece of the magazine. The Editor's Table is also devoted to an interesting side of Adams's life, that of his friendship with his great kinsman, Samuel Adams, which was an association as memorable as that with Jefferson.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

A Teacher Congratulated Upon Forty Years of Service.

A Committee Appointed to Consider Accommodations.

Several Anxious to Transport Germantown Pupils.

Mr. Breed was the only absent member at Tuesday night's meeting of the School board.

Chairman Porter, reported that he had met the Finance Committee of the Council in relation to the budget and he thought it would go through.

Dr. Ash, sub-committee for the Willard school, reported that the electric bells in the building were not working properly.

Applications to take the school census in May were received from D. Vinton Pierce, W. H. Sampson, Jr., J. A. S. Pierce and Charles H. Johnson.

Upon vote D. Vinton Pierce was appointed as census taker.

Applications were received from Gallagher Bros., B. F. Hodgkinson, S. Penniman & Son and John Hall to transport the Germantown pupils.

The Superintendent was instructed to advertise that the Committee on transportation would receive bids for transporting the Germantown children.

The matter of reference books for the High school was referred to the committee on supplies.

Miss Gragg of the Willard school asked why a distinction was made between her and Miss Kelley in the matter of payment of salary when out of school.

A month ago Miss Kelley was absent from school on account of illness of her mother and she was paid the difference between her salary and that paid the substitute. A year ago Miss Gragg was absent on account of illness of her father but she was not paid the difference between her salary and that of her substitute.

The amount in question was $7 50 and the impression expressed was that this board were not called upon to correct any matter of the old board unless a rule had been violated.

It was moved that Miss Gragg be paid the amount $7 50, but the motion was lost.

Miss Cashman of the Willard school was granted a leave of absence from April 5 to April 9.

It was voted that the present school term close Thursday April 8 instead of April 9.

Mr. Burrell of Wollaston petitioned that his child who would enter school for the first time the next term be permitted to attend the Wollaston school instead of the Massachusetts Fields. The request was granted.

A preamble and resolutions of approval for her long and successful service as a teacher were passed, to Miss Caroline A. Newcomb of the Willard school, who with the closing of the present term will have completed 40 years of service as a primary teacher at the Willard school.

Mr. Ash moved that any teacher who has served as a teacher satisfactory to the board for 40 years be paid a salary of $600.

Upon motion of Dr. Record this matter was referred to the Committee on Finance.

A special committee consisting of Chairman Porter, Messrs. Breed and Field were appointed to consider school accommodations in the crowded districts and report at the next meeting.

IN PATH OF CYCLONE.

Many Killed and Hundreds Wounded In Oklahoma Town.

Kansas City, March 31.—A special to The Journal from Guthrie, O. T., says:

At 6 o'clock last evening a terrific tornado, followed by hail and flood, swept through the town of Chandler, 40 miles east of here. Three fourths of the residences and business houses of the place were totally wrecked or badly damaged; scores of people were injured and many were killed.

Darkness at once came on and the work of rescue was carried on under the greatest difficulties.

The telephone office was destroyed, and at 10 o'clock last night a telephone was connected with the wire two miles away and a message was sent here for assistance. Up to that time Mr. and Mrs. Woodman, Mrs. Henry Mitchell, Mrs. Thomas Smith, Attorney John Dawson and two unknown persons had been found dead, and fully 150 people were known to be badly injured.

A large number of physicians and citizens have left for the scene with surgical instruments, drugs and other supplies. A later message states that a large number of people known to have been in business buildings are missing and it is feared they are dead under the ruins.

Levees Give Way.

Memphis, March 31.—There are now three breaks in the levee that protects the Mississippi delta. One is seven miles below Greenville, Miss., at Wayside, which is 1200 feet wide; one 40 miles north of Greenville, at the head of the Delta, which is 1000 feet wide, and cutting rapidly at the water rushes through, and the third is seven miles north of a point opposite Arkansas City, and at last reports a stream as wide as the Hudson was rushing through it and flooding the country for miles in the interior. A break of immense proportions occurred last night in Bolivar county, seven miles south of the Perthshire break, four miles below Gunnison. The crevasse is in an immense levee, and the water will join with that of the Perthshire break and add to the distress of the people. Almost superhuman efforts have been used to save the levee in the section of the break.

General Rivera In Prison.

Havana, March 31.—Several reporters went to San Cristobal to interview General Ruis Rivera, the commander of the insurgents in the province of Pinar del Rio, who was captured by the forces of General Velasco during an engagement near Cabezdas on Sunday last. The reporters found General Rivera, who was confined in the quarters of the Guardia Civil, resting more easily than he did Monday, his wounds having been attended to by Spanish physicians. He was very reticent regarding the condition of affairs among the insurgents in the province, refusing to answer any questions on the subject. He spoke freely enough on other topics and dwelt at length upon the history of the 10-years' war, in which he played a prominent part.

L. A. W. Secession.

Boston, March 31.—Considerable talk about secession from the League of American Wheelmen comes from various sections of the country, and it is reported by those in a position to know that the movement is stronger than many think. A call has been issued for a meeting of all the prominent bicycle track owners in the United States, which will be held in the near future. It is possible that the results of that meeting may have an important bearing on the secession question. Too much law, too much regulation and too much punishment is said to be the cause of the secession movement, and discontent abroad even among the most loyal.

Captain Reed Arrested.

New York, March 31.—Captain Edward Reed of the ship T. F. Oakes was arrested yesterday by United States marshals and taken to the federal building, and charged with cruelty on the high seas. The warrant was issued by Commissioner Shields. The captain, who was accompanied by his wife, was arraigned before the commissioner, who set the preliminary examination for next week. The captain was released under $1500 bail. Four of the crew of the Oakes were arrested, and will be held as witnesses against Captain Reed.

Wheatcroft Was a Bigamist.

London, March 31.—The death of Nelson Wheatcroft, the actor, has brought to light an extraordinary story of a double life. It has developed that Mrs. Wheatcroft got the first intimation that her husband had a wife in New York in the accounts of his death published in the New York papers. All the time that he was living with this wife in New York he was maintaining his family in England, sending his wife money regularly every month. Mrs. Wheatcroft, according to her marriage certificate, was married to him in 1875.

Oliver Optic Laid to Rest.

Boston, March 31.—William T. Adams (Oliver Optic) was buried from his late home on Dorchester avenue yesterday. There was a large attendance of friends, neighbors, literary workers and business associates. Rev. Eugene B. Shippen of the First Parish church, Dorchester, and Rev. Christopher R. Eliot, formerly Mr. Adams' pastor, conducted the services. They were very simple and after the form of the Unitarian church. The burial was at Cedar Grove cemetery.

New York Strike Growing.

New York, March 31.—Eighteen hundred union building trades mechanics are on a strike or locked out in consequence of the differences between the Steamfitters' and the Plumbers' unions, arising out of thermostatic work. The board of walking delegates of the Building Trades union has decided to order sympathetic strikes on every job where non-union steamfitters and helpers may be sent to work, and where union men of other trades are employed.

To Abolish Civil Service Pensions.

Ottawa, March 31. — The postmaster general has introduced in the house of commons a bill abolishing the civil service superannuation system and establishing instead a retiring allowance fund. The bill provides that a certain percentage will be deducted from the officials' salaries, and this amount, with interest added half yearly at 5 per cent per annum, will be given to the official when he retires or to his relatives should he die in the service.

END OF TARIFF DEBATE.

Last Day's Discussion Was Marked by Usual Display of Party Feeling.

Democrats Attempted to Cause Split In Majority.

Allen Talks Tariff In Senate---Frank Palmer Named For Public Printer.

Washington, March 31.—The windup of the debate on the Dingley tariff bill in the house yesterday was warm and at times quite sensational, although there were no startling features. Party lines were strictly drawn, and feeling was quite intense. The discussion, of course, was entirely political, and the parliamentary work done was simply maneuvering for party advantages.

The Democrats strenuously endeavored to cause a split in the Republican ranks, but their efforts were unavailing. The Democrats pressed the question of a duty on hides for the benefit of the farmer with such vigor that Mr. Hepburn, an Iowa Republican, was drawn into the debate and made a strong plea for dutiable hides. He demanded that the house be given an opportunity to vote on this question, and declared that every Western Republican was in favor of it. Mr. Cannon of Illinois also gave a qualified endorsement to this demand.

The Republican leaders defended their bill with vigor. The ways and means committee held the floor with their amendments from 10 in the morning to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. About 35 were offered and adopted. Among them was one admitting free of duty "books, scientific apparatus, charts, maps, etc., for scientific and educational purposes." After that five more pages of the bill were read, making 29 pages in all of the 162 pages of the bill.

Today the bill will be open for amendment until 1 o'clock, an attempt to extend the debate having failed, after which an hour on a side will be allowed to close.

The voting will begin at 3 o'clock. The Democrats displayed a good deal of anxiety yesterday to get in an amendment to strike out the differential on sugar, but they probably will be frustrated in this. The only motion they may be able to secure a vote on is one to recommit with instructions. This motion has been prepared in the shape of a resolution and is the Dockery amendment to suspend the duty on articles whose prices are controlled by trusts or combinations. Even this motion may be held to be out of orded under the special order. There is some talk of a number of Republican votes being cast against the bill, but after investigation it seems probable that those who may be dissatisfied with particular provisions of the bill will line up on the final vote and there will be no break in the Republican ranks.

HOAR'S AMENDMENT.

Senator Endeavors to Meet Objections to Arbitration Treaty---Palmer Nominated.

Washington, March 31.—The senate spent nearly all of yesterday in executive session on the arbitration treaty. In the open house Senator Allen of Nebraska made the first tariff speech this session. He argued that tariff taxes beyond those needed for revenue are unconstitutional. Mr. Allen asserted that trusts are the only beneficiaries of our present tariff system.

Cuba may come up in the senate again today. Senator Morgan's resolution asking the president for copies of letters said to have been written by General Gomez to ex-President Cleveland and President McKinley is set for the afternoon.

At the beginning of the executive session Senator Hoar introduced an amendment to the arbitration treaty, which is intended to meet the objections which have been urged in the recent debate against the agreement. The Hoar amendment exempts all questions of foreign and domestic policy from the operations of the treaty, including also territorial questions, and leaving it practically such a document as was suggested by Lord Salisbury.

Mr. Hoar made a lengthy speech in favor of the measure. In reply to a question from Senator Platt of Connecticut, he said that his amendment was preferable to that offered by the committee, because it was more explicit and would leave no excuse for doubt upon the part of either Great Britain or the United States as to its purport.

Senator Morgan said that the acceptance of either of the amendments by the senate would result in the improvement of the treaty as a whole, but that no change proposed could render such a treaty desirable. He said he was opposed to the treaty in any form.

According to agreement the voting on the amendments offered by individual senators will begin at 2 o'clock today. The amendments so far offered are those suggested by Messrs. Hoar, Chilton, Foraker, Chandler and Bacon. Senator Hoar's amendment is in the nature of a substitute for Senator Chilton's, and Senator Bacon has announced that if Senator Foraker's is accepted he will not press his.

The president sent to the senate the following nominations:

Frank W. Palmer of Illinois, to be public printer.

Alexander M. Thackar of Pennsylvania, to be consul of the United States at Havre, France.

Reward For Abductor.

Brockton, Mass., March 31.—At the meeting of the board of aldermen last night it was voted to offer a reward of $300 for the detection and conviction of the person who abducted Clara T. Kelly on March 8. The Kelly girl, who was the adopted daughter of Elijah Kelly, was taken from the Grove street school by a woman dressed in black, and since then nothing has been heard of either.

General Lee Gets Notice.

Chicago, March 31.—A special to The Tribune from Washington says: General Fitzhugh Lee, consul general at Havana, has been notified by cable that his services will not be needed after April 15. The notice from the state department comes nominally in the form of a leave of absence, beginning at that date.

CABLE SPARKS.

The total number of deaths in Bombay for the week ending last Friday was 1111. Of these 455 were due to the bubonic plague.

Great misery is being experienced at San Cristobel, province of Pinar Del Rio, Cuba, owing to the prevalence of smallpox.

The revolutionary leaders in Uruguay have effected a junction and several small conflicts have occurred between the insurgents and the troops.

The Berlin Kreuzeitung says that the secretary of the navy, Vice Admiral Von Hollmann, whose reported resignation has frequently been discussed, has been granted a "prolonged sick leave."

J. Henniker Heaton, member of the house of commons, is trying to arrange an international chess match, to be played by cablegrams, between the house of commons and the American congress, with seven members on each side.

A dispatch from Manilla, Philippine Islands, announces that in an engagement which has just taken place between the Spanish troops and the insurgents forces 30 insurgents were killed and 1097 surrendered. Three thousand families from the insurgent camp have reached Manilla.

The French senate committee has decided to permit the prosecution of Senator Bevrey, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the Panama scandals. M. Bover, one of the deputies accused of having received bribes from the Panama lobbyists, was discharged by the examining magistrate.

Miss Isabel Mary Murphy, youngest daughter of the late Daniel Murphy, the California millionaire, died recently in London. An inquest upon the remains was held, and a verdict was rendered that death was due to chronic alcoholism. Two sisters of Miss Murphy married English baronets, and a third sister is the wife of the secretary of the legation at Paris. The late Miss Murphy willed her fortune, said to amount to $300,000, to a Catholic priest, Father Smullen, at whose house she lived. Her relatives have decided to contest her will.

ACCIDENTS AND CRIMES.

The State bank at Oneida, Ills., was robbed Monday night. The safe was blown open with dynamite.

Mrs. C. H. Tollinger, her 3-year-old daughter and Miss Ryan, burned to death in a fire at 61 West One Hundred and Fifth street, New York.

The schooner Charley Hastings is believed to have foundered in Long Island sound, and her crew, consisting of six men, it is thought, have been drowned.

The steam tug El Rio Rey, chartered by the St. Louis Republic as a flood relief boat, sank in 40 feet of water in front of Memphis yesterday. No lives were lost.

Willie Heoneicke, 12 years old, fell into a kettle of boiling maple sap in a sugar camp of H. I. Paplin at Middlesex, Vt., and was so badly scalded that he is likely to die.

The nude body of Mrs. John W. Miller, a farmer's wife at Black Lick, O., was found. She had been assaulted and murdered by a tramp employe in the temporary absence of her husband. The tramp escaped.

Richard Gallagher, Perry Abbott and Isador Cutler pleaded guilty at Laconia, N. H., to breaking and entering cottages at the Weirs and at Lake Massabesic. They were sentenced to eight years each in state prison.

Officer Curtis barely prevented "Toby" Lyons of Boston, a well-known baseball player and actor, from throwing himself from the roof of a five-story building. Lyons was suffering from an attack of delirium tremens.

Dr. Twitchell Dead.

Keene, N. H., March 31.—Dr. George B. Twitchell, aged 76, died at his home here yesterday. He was born in Petersburg, Va., and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1843. He began practice with Dr. Thomas Twitchell, one of the most eminent physicians of his time, in this city the same year. He enlisted as surgeon of the Thirteenth New Hampshire volunteers, and was promoted surgeon-in-chief of the Seventeenth corps, with the rank of major. He was one of the best known physicians and surgeons in the state, having been for years president of the board of trustees of the New Hampshire asylum for insane, and was instrumental in the establishment of the Elliot hospital in this city. He was a staunch Republican in politics, and had held almost every office within the gift of citizens. He leaves two sons, Dr. George P. Twitchell of Greenfield and Dr. Edward T. Twitchell of Ashmont, and two daughters.

Wool In Sharp Demand.

Boston, March 31.—There has been a sharp demand in the wool market this week and indications are that manufacturers will continue to buy wool until the price gets so high that they will be content to rest. Territory wools have met with a large demand and are selling on the scoured basis of 34 and 35 cents, while lots of good staples are selling for 37 and 38 cents. Fleece wools are quoted higher all along the line, but the market is largely nominal on many grades. Australian wool is very active and dealers have no trouble in disposing of their supplies at full prices.

Seven Ballots and No Senator.

Frankfort, Ky., March 31.—The legislature, in joint assembly, balloted seven times for United States senator yesterday without result. There is no material change in the situation, but the Bradley forces and the friends of Boyle are watching closely for a possible break in the Hunter column.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

Oliver J. Walp of Walp & Co., shoe dealers at New Haven, has assigned.

Rev. W. W. Peck of Middletown, Conn., has been tendered a unanimous call to the pastorate of the Unitarian church at Chicopee, Mass. He will accept.

Of late Wall street has been rather panicky as a result of war scares and the anti-trust decision by the supreme court. Railroad securities are very erratic.

Rev. E. J. Prescott was installed as pastor of the old First Unitarian church at Salem, Mass., yesterday. The church over which Rev. Mr. Prescott was installed is the oldest in the city, and one of the most influential, though by no means the largest. It was organized in 1629.

The fourth district conference of the Women's Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian association of Eastern Massachusetts was held at Newton yesterday. Delegates were present from Boston, Cambridge, Charlestown, Malden, Marlboro and other cities and towns in the district.

In a circular issued by the American Tobacco company to its customers the company makes known the fact that it has formally abandoned its factor agreement. From an outside source it was said that the company had been led to take this step by reason of the recent decision of the United States supreme court in the trans-Missouri railroad case.

LABOR NOTES.

Fifteen hundred men employed by the different tanneries in Chicago went out on a strike yesterday.

A strike occurred in William H. Pendergast's woolen mill at Pascoag, R. I., yesterday. The weavers were dissatisfied with their pay, which is said to be about the average of that given in the other mills in New England. The advance demanded was one of 12½ per cent.

Twenty-three Goodyear turned workmen, employed in the shoe factory of F. B. Abbott & Co. in Lynn, Mass., are now on strike. The strikers state that the help in the finishing and other departments of the shop will join their ranks as soon as they finish the cases on which they are at present engaged. An increase in wages is demanded.

By specifications which have been received from the war department, Major Reilly, commandant at the United States arsenal at Watertown, Mass., is led to the belief that the shops will be taxed to their capacity all through the year, and that it will be necessary to employ both the day and night shifts continually to accomplish the work laid out.

Granite Veterans' Annual Encampment.

Concord, N. H., March 31.—Preparations are being made for the annual camp fire of the New Hampshire department of the G. A. R., April 14 and 15. The public reception to Commander-in-Chief T. S. Clarkson promises to be the feature of the occasion. Among those from without the state who have announced their intention of being present are ex-Commander-in-Chief Adams of Lynn, Mass.; Secretary of State Olin and Insurance Commissioner Merrill of Massachusetts.

Subway Investigation.

Boston, March 31.—Leaks at various places and various times, decayed and honey-combed pipes and delay in answering calls. This was the burden of the testimony given before the gas commissioners yesterday at the second day's session of the investigation into the causes of the explosion of March 4. Seven witnesses were examined, and ex-Leighton Beal, secretary of the transit commission, was also recalled.

Dobbins Murder Mystery.

Medford, Mass., March 31.—The mystery surrounding the tragic death of Walter Delbbins in Medford becomes more perplexing each day. Clew upon clew, no matter how apparently insignificant, has been grasped at and investigated by the police with unsatisfactory results. Story upon story, upon inquiry, has faded away, and the hard-working officials, though not discouraged, are disappointed.

RHEUMATISM

THE EXPERIENCE OF A COUNTY JUDGE

The Honorable J. P. Greer, one of the best known and most highly respected county Judges of the State of Florida, writes of his horrible sufferings from Inflammatory Rheumatism:

OFFICE OF J. P. GREER, COUNTY JUDGE, Green Cove Springs, Clay Co., Fla.

GENTLEMEN: Twenty-three years ago I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism. I was attended by the most eminent physician in Georgia, I visited the great Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the noted Hot Springs of Arkansas, and many other watering places, always consulting with the local physicians of each, and finally came to Florida ten years ago. About two years ago I had a severe attack, which confined me to my room for twelve weeks, and during that time was induced to try P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, knowing that each ingredient was good, a compliment of the blood. After using two small bottles I was relieved. At different times since I have had slight attacks and each time I have taken two small bottles of P. P. P. and have been relieved, and I consider P. P. P. the best medicine of its kind.

Respectfully, J. P. GREER.

James M. Newton, of Aberdeen, Ohio, says he bought a bottle of P. P. P. at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and it did him more good than three months' treatment at Hot Springs.

Rheumatism, as well as sciatica and gout, is cured by a course of P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is a friend indeed to weak women. It is a positive and speedy cure for general weakness and nervousness.

All skin diseases are cured by it; anything from pimples to the worst cases of eczemas succumbing to the wonderful healing powers of P. P. P.

Dyspepsia and indigestion in their worst form are cured by it. As a tonic to restore the appetite and to regain lost vigor, it is simply marvelous.

P. P. P. is the best spring medicine in the world. It removes that heavy, out-of-sorts feeling and restores you to a condition of perfect physical health.

For Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Headache, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Heart Failure, Fever, Chills, Debility and Kidney Diseases, take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, the most wonderful medicine in the world

Sold by all druggists.
